One of the greatest motion picture palaces in the West—indeed, one of the greatest in the world—is Sid Grauman’s million dollar theater in Los Angeles. It is therefore gratifying, not only to the patrons, but to the respected studios, Inc., which handles the Gaumont Semi-Weekly News Service on the Pacific Coast, but to the Gaumont Company, to be able to announce that Mr. Grauman is now running the Gaumont News and Gaumont Graphic exclusively in this theater. In the past it has been Mr. Grauman’s custom to make up his own news reel by selecting a thousand feet of the most interesting subjects appearing in all of the news-reels.

Freak Auto Crash Captured For Leah Baird Serial

A LUCKY as well as spectacular effect was obtained during the filming of one of the "Stunt" scenes in the serial starring Leah Baird, being filmed by Western Photoplays. The particular incident involving Leah was the crash of a touring car over a 150-foot cliff. Four cameras took all angles—two at the top and two below when the auto landed, it hit squarely upon its four wheels, having turned over completely, and seemed to land up in the air and then STOP into a thousand pieces. The chassis with the four wheels still attached made a direct run head on to one of the cameras, demolished the tripod and damaged the camera, but upon developing the film it was found unfinished and intact.

Outside of a slightly bashed skin, the cameramen escaped injury and the spectacular incident proved to be a wonderful "shot."

Mabel Scott Engaged For “Ashes of Love”

MABEL JULIENNE SCOTT has been engaged by Director Ivan Abramson for one of the principal roles in his new production "The Ashes of Love," and which it is said will afford her splendid opportunities for the display of her talents.

Miss Scott is well known to picture theater patrons, having appeared in several productions, including "The Sign Invisible," "The Sign Invisible," and "Reclaimed."

Director Abramson is about ready to commence filming "The Ashes of Love," and, when finished, this picture will be released by Graphic Film Corporation.

Territory Sales on "Zongar" Announced

James E. Williamson, general manager of Physical Culture Photoplays, Inc., has returned from a tour of the country, diapazoning the Ashes rights territory on the five-reel feature, "Zongar, the Dare-Devil of Romance."

His last two sales were to Josiah Pearce & Sons Amusement Company, of New Orleans, covering Louisiana and Mississippi, and a similar company, covering Georgia, Florida, Alabama, North and South Carolina, and Tennessee.

The only states which remain to be assigned are Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Maryland, District of Columbia, and Delaware.

“His Day Out” is Sixth Jester.

The sixth of the series of the Jester (Super) comedies, "His Day Out," will have its initial release August 1. This release completes the first half year of the Jester comedies.
Second Draft Drawing Pictured in Gaumont Graphic

Work of Railroad Administration in Keeping Rolling Stock in Good Condition.

German Liquid Fire Projectors, Signal Service Laying Telephone Wires on Battlefield and Other Interesting Items Shown.

The second selective drawing, in which 216 was the lucky number first chosen by Signal Corps Baker, is pictured in Gaumont Graphic No. 11, together with views of the work of the Great Northern railroad in keeping the rolling stock in shape to handle the freight and passenger traffic. One of the new Western locomotives are being repaired weekly.

Other scenes include the burning of German Books in the wreck in Utah which resulted in one death and fifty injuries; the production of one shallow salt nozzles; in the Salton Sea, in the Colorado Desert, one of the hottest spots in the United States, where the feet are 122 feet; and from Italy come pictures showing the delivery of our U. S. Liberty Bonds to the Italian soldiers who subscribed for them, and the decoration of American Red Cross officers for exceptional valor on the Plave front by the Duke of Aosta.

No. 15 of the Gaumont News shows an instructive photograph of the Flamen Waters, liquid transparent which were captured in "No Man's Land" by our boys; The Nerves of the Army," picturing the work of the U. S. Army Medical Corps, and the presentation of a number of Italian soldiers to President Wilson by the Italian ambassador, among others. It is also an entertaining subject showing how the American Pigeon Service is aiding the allied armies on the French battle front.

Sales and Bookings

On "Topics of Day"

TopCON of the Day Film Company announces that Jesse Linnick & Schaefer, Chicago, has contracted for the Illinois and Northern Wisconsin rights to "Topics of the Day," the screen novelty consisting of timely "punch" paragraphs selected from material propounded to the world and prepared in co-operation with the Literary Digest.

This film, which has now in its eighteenth consecutive week at the Strand, New York, and has been booked for the entire Michigan Mark and Speigel circuit starting this week at the Palace in Schenectady and the Market theater in Newark.

S. L. Lesser, who has secured the rights for "Topics of Day" for California, Arizona and Nevada, reports that it is being well received by audiences in his territory.

Petraeva Extends Tour

The tour of Madame Olena Petraeva in behalf of the war saving stamp movement is said to be meeting with such success that the promoter has planned to extend the trip so as to cover the entire summer months. Up to date, she is credited with bringing in over a million dollars worth of stamps. Numerous requests have been received from prominent exhibitors in every country requesting Madame Petraeva's appearance in their theaters, and she also recently received a request from the Director of War Saving Stamps for Ohio together with the Executive Secretary of the National War Savings Committee requesting her appearance in that state.

This change in his plans will necessitate the postponement of the film production on which she expected to begin work immediately on her return to New York.

W. H. Productions

To Handle "Mickey"

THE Western Import Company's special production "Mickey" starring Mabel Normand, is now ready for release and in accordance with arrangement recently consummated will be offered to buyers on the 15th. W. H. Productions Company announces that in addition to issuing an elaborate campaign book, it will also inaugurate special campaigns in particular localities in order to help exhibitors secure maximum results.

D. W. Russell III

D. W. Russell, New York representative for the W. H. Productions Company, has sold all offices in the Golffrey Building, 729 Seventh avenue, has, for several days been confined to his home on account of a severe attack of rheumatism. Latest reports indicate that he is rapidly improving, and will be on the desk again to return to his office within a short time.

Picture Theaters Projected.

BROOKLYN, NY.—Butterworth-Judson picture company, Brooklyn, New York, will erect moving picture theater in connection with $2,000,000 industrial city development. The theater will be 8,000 square feet and will be built as a retail store.

HENTON, H.L.—Mars theater is undergoing extensive improvements.

CHICAGO, IIL.—Norman E. Field succeeds Harry Earl as manager of Rialto theater on Sinto street.

DARTGHT, IIL.—Garde and Russell Biever have leased opera house and purchased moving picture business from W. V. Leham.

KIRKWOOD, IIL.—Amphitheater will be erected on La Harpe Fair grounds, with seating capacity for 3,000 persons.

GARY, IN.—Pastime Theater Company purchased license to build theater, and will make improvements.

GRANITE CITY, IIL.—R. G. Kirsh has purchased tract, St. Louis, Mo., for a moving picture house beside St. Louis, Mo., No. 11, preparing plans for two-story theater and office building, 100x125 feet, to cost $90,000.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—Kokomo Grand Theater Company has been incorporated with $50,000 capital by Ivan W. Arnold, Minnie M. Arnold, and Fannie M. Owen.

ALGONA, IIL.—Will Stewart has sold Princess theater.

DES MOINES, IIL.—Plans under way for moving picture theater at 6th street and 1st Avenue.

DES MOINES, IIL.—Palace theater has been purchased by group of Des Moines and Omaha business men from Jacob M. Salomon, and will be operated under management of Harry B. Watts.

OSSEO, IIL.—Elks theater has been purchased by S. Newton.

ALEXANDRIA, I. A.—Beauregard Amusement Company has disposed of its plant to William C. Clark, who is to organize to operate house under management of Henry B. Watts.

ALMA, MICH.—Idle Hour theater has been taken over by L. F. Murphy of Detroit, N. Y., and will be operated under management of A. H. Ashley.

(Continued on page 857.)
Activities of Picture Men in New England

Harry I. Wasserman Elected Head of Committee to Confer on Operator Difficulty —William C. Franke Goes to Boston Appliance Company—Other Interesting Items.

By Robert N. Howe, 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

Operator Question Taken Up. BOSTON.—At a recent meeting in this city of representatives of film executives, exhibitors and representatives of the Motion Picture Operators' union, Harry I. Wasserman was appointed a committee to confer with the Vitagraph company on its difficulty with the operators' union. It is charged by the union that the Vitagraph and other organizations employ non-union operators and pay non-union wages, although, it is said there is no shortage of operators in Boston.

Mr. Smith of Boston, representing the operators' union, stated that "in case of a shortage there are plenty of mechanics in the city, who can easily learn the operation of motion picture machines, and thus safeguard Boston. We are against what we consider a wage squeeze." For an operator of motion picture machines." It is understood that an assistant operator is not needed if the switch-switch is done away with.

It was voted that no action would be taken until the committee conferred with the Vitagraph Company.

Franke Makes New Affiliation. Boston.—Manager William C. Franke, of the Boston Motion Picture Supply Company, concern of this city has resigned and will take a position as a projection engineer, he being an expert in the business. William Franke has been training in the motion picture business having been business manager for the Boston operators' union for four years with the Boston Motion Picture Supply Company for two years. He will now be with the Boston Picture Appliances company. Boston beginning July 1. He is also editor of a trade publication well known in Boston called "The Bean Pot."

Allied War Films Going Strong. Patriotism of New England exhibitors is shown by the heavy bookings received by Manager Stanley H. of the Boston Globe exchange on the New Allied War Films that are to be released for New England distribution July 15. The films show the war activities of the Allied countries of Italy, France, England, and the United States. The following theaters have booked them for the first three days of release: Strand of Lowell, Pollis of Hartford, Conn., Merrimac of Lowell, Shea of Fitchburg, and the Maine theaters incorporated.

Boston Appliance Company Gets Clark. Fred. A. Clark, expert projection engineer, who has been traveling with George K. Robinson of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation on his visits to New England, is taking the Paramount and Arcterra service, has resigned and accepted a position with the Boston Motion Picture Appliance company.

Original "Little Eva" Guest of Honor. Mrs. Cordelia H. MacDonald, who played the role of "Little Eva" in the original cast of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in 1852, was a guest at the opening of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation at the initial presentation of that picture in Boston, starring Mary Douglas. Mrs. MacDonald is now the living member of the original cast and resides in Cambridge, Mass.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" Good for Schools. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has been considered by the Massachusetts Teachers Federation as a suitable picture for school children and will probably be shown in many of the schools in New England. The Massachusetts Teachers Federation expresses their gratitude to the operators of motion picture machines.

Run of Porch's Film Extended. The original run of "Porch's Cabin" at the Shubert theater was extended owing to the large houses which were attracted daily to this big Boston house. Many big manufacturing plants bought out the entire house for special nights and sent their employees to the show.

Loew Closes the St. James Theater. The St. James theater, located in the heart of the Back Bay and one of Boston's largest neighborhood houses, has been closed for the summer months. It was under lease to the Loew interests and their lease expires in September. They chose to close the house for the summer and will not renew their lease. The house will return to the management of M. H. Gueliace, the owner of the house. Mr. Loew states that as soon as war conditions permit he intends to build a large house in Boston.

Trimount Theaters, Inc., Gets Charter. The Trimount Theaters, Inc. of Boston, has received a charter at the State House. The new company will erect a new theater in this city. The incorporators are: G. A. Giles, Cambridge; W. H. Newton, Brookline, and Mary E. Corrigan, Medford.

Levine Reports Good Business. Manager Levine of the General Film company, who has been handling Parallax plays for the past four months, reports a big business in those productions. The Park theater at Nashua, which opens July 1, has booked "Go Henry" for one of their opening features.

Globe Entertains Drafted Men. Clinton, Mass.—When the manager of the Globe theater in this town discovered that several hundred drafters had lost their local train connection and had four hours to wait for the next train, he hastened to the station and invited the men to his playhouse for the afternoon. The men saw a fine program and were loud in their praises for the thoughtfulness and kindness of the Clinton manager.

New England Brevities. White River Junction, Vt.—Manager Keenan, of the Crown theater has been drafted in the army and is expected to be called by July 15.

The Pastime theater will open here July 3. The theater will be managed by L. R. Howard, a local theater owner.

Boston, Mass.—Probably the youngest exhibitor in New England is Paul W. Kenne, manager of the Orpheum theater in this town. Manager Kenne is only sixteen years old but is one of the liveliest exhibitors in the territory.

Mr. H. C. Baldwin of the Scenic theater in this city has reopened the Majestic theater that he recently bought from Harry Campbell of Boston. He is now running the Majestic one day a week and the Scenic every day.

Dayton Trade Brevities. By P. J. G., Dayton Theater Building, Dayton, Ohio.

Rialto-De Luxe Film Draws Crowds. THE Unchastened Woman," the Rialto-De Luxe film, opened well the other day. George Kleinemeier, system, opened to extra large crowds at the Dayton theater this city Sunday, July 1. This showing was the second pre-release showing in the United States of this feature, the other having been held at the New symphony theater, New York City. The picture pleased Daytonians by the score, for although the Dayton seats 2,066 a lockout was in effect all of the Sunday evening. It takes a large crowd to fill the Dayton, but one man was the only exception Sunday in line to see the film it will be understood that this is an unusual happening.

Low Foster with Fox Film. L. W. Foster, former manager of the Arcterra-Paramount exchange at Cincinnati, Ohio, and who recently left that concern, is now with the Fox Film Company, acting as special representative for that company and Paul C. Rooney, district manager, Mr. Foster made the announcement of his new connections to the world correspondent at Dayton the day after having accepted the position and stated that he would cover five exchanges in his territory, which is exceptionally large, namely Detroit, Cincinnati, Cleveland, St. Louis and Indianapolis. Lew Foster had made a large circle of friends while in Cincinnati and will continue to do so with the Fox company.

Dayton Brevities. Martin G. Chandler, author of "Parentage," was in Dayton last week.

Julius Leopold of the Mecca theater, denies the report that John Lyons has an option on the Mecca.

The managers of the managing director of the Dayton theater here, was in Cincinnati several days last week booking pictures. We have it from good authority that Paul Gray, of the Dayton theater, has been appointed vice president of J. Robert Thomas' company, "The Photoplay Journal."
Protracted Hot Wave Reduces Business

By T. A. Church, 1507 North Street, Berkeley, Cal.

San Francisco, Cal.—Business in the picture territory, taken as a whole, is well below normal, with the most unsatisfactory showing being made in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, where extremely hot weather has been experienced in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, this ranging as high as 100 degrees in some places, and many moving picture houses have been closed for the summer. Others have been closed for two or three weeks, and even then are being but poorly patronized. A prominent film exchange here noted every theater in the interior makes the estimate that exhibiting days have been reduced within the past month by not less than thirty-five per cent, with other houses scheduled to close, or to operate on fewer days in the future. Some air conditioners have been opened, but this year the daylight-saving plan has interfered with their operation.

In the San Francisco Bay district conditions are much better than in the interior valleys, where weather is always experienced and so much industrial activity is noted. The shipbuilding industry is interesting, as increased wages and as extremely high wages are the rule, amusements are being well patronized. Some houses are doing, and others are doing, greatest business in their history, and the only complaints are coming from some theaters in the neighborhood of.

Pathé Sales Manager Visits Cal.

F. A. Quayle, sales manager for the Pathé Exchange, has arrived here recently for a short stay, coming by the way from the hothouse of Los Angeles and returning to his home by the southern route. He declared that as far as the Pathé interests were concerned conditions in this territory were never better, bookings being at a high mark. In discussing the new policies of this house he expressed the belief that the house would be much more pleased with the arrangements that have been made for the handling of serials in the future, and where a good sale is made a duplicated form in advance of the release date and exhibitors will not only be privileged to inspect serials here, but house managers will be able to look over the full line of advertising. They will also be able to book of their own volition, and are encouraged to offer these as frequently as they desire. Special salesman will be attached to each office, and this policy will be followed exclusively, and this policy will be followed in the other branches of the business.

"Pershing’s Crusaders" a Stellar Attraction.

The premier presentation of "Pershing’s Crusaders," under the auspices of the State Council of Defense, was made at the Clifton, and the audience that included many of the leading state officials, including Governor Stephens, was on hand to see the film. The house is on a different order at the Columbia theater in San Francisco, but this is under the immediate direction of the Division of Films of the Committee on Public Information. Whittaker Tay and W. H. Fullwood, representatives of the committee, have charge of the local presentation.

Griffith’s Picture Doing Big Business.

"Hearts of the World," which recently opened for a indefinite run at the Alcazar theater, has proved the screen sensation of the season. Large crowds are being turned away every performance. It is being offered at prices ranging from 25 cents to $1. This production has been booked for presentation at the Kineama theater in Oakland and will be offered there at the same time it is being shown in San Francisco.

Old Trade Name Abolished.

The California Film Exchange, Inc., 121-125 Golden Gate avenue, which has distributed Universal pictures for years, will change its name to Universal Film Exchanges, Inc. No change is being made in policy, and M. L. Markowitz will continue as president.

Strand Theater Makes Fine Showing.

The Strand theater has taken an active part in the recent Liberty Loan and War Savings Stamp drives and has set up an enviable record for subscriptions on the part of employees. Liberty bonds to the value of $3,950 were taken, while $2,750 were invested in War Savings Stamps. This house recently completed its fourth week on "A Dog’s Life," featuring Charles Winninger in the male engagement being a howling success.

Breaks Record With Artcraft Picture.

All records for attendance at the Imperial are being broken, and today the opening day of the engagement of Artcraft’s "San, Young Fellow," featuring John Barrymore being more than $100 greater than on any previous day in the past six years. May was the last day of the house, and the June record will exceed this by a comfortable margin. What July will bring forth is a question, but Manager J. A. Partington has recently returned from a flanking trip to the Feather River district, and if the dash of "pap" will not be content to rest on past laurels.

Rialto Theater News.

C. Sharpe Minor, the famous Rialto organizer, is not only an authority on music but takes keen interest in astronomy as well, and on the occasion of the recent total eclipse of the sun observed the phenomena of the eclipse and timed his vacation trip to be in the path of totality.

Howard J. Sheehan attended the opening of the new Rialto theater at Eureka, Cal., on June 25, as did also Robert Young, general manager of the town, who superintended the installation of the projection equipment. The opening attraction was "Revelation," featuring Miss Nazimova.

Girl usheris are now being used exclusively in the Rialto, the head usher being one who has been with the house almost since the opening day.

The finishing and developing and film title work was handled completed at 1112 Market St. by Al. Williams under the name of the Art Slide Studio, Inc. has been taken over by the Western National of Los Angeles. A Specialty is being made of title work and Mr. Ilae is doing work for several houses in other parts of the United States.

"Eyes of the World" at Alhambra.

"Eyes of the World," which has been shown in this city only at the Savoy theater, has been booked for presentation at the Alhambra, Ma, for the week of July 7. This production was recently acquired by the M. & J. Feature Film Exchange.

Harry Schwabke Visits City.

Harry Schwabke, of Philadelphia, secretary of the National Exhibitors’ Circuit, was here recently on a tour of inspection of the exchanges of the facilities of the Turner & Dahnken Circuit, which is a unit of the National circuit, and with the manner in which its releases were placed in this territory.

"Parentage" Booked at Rialto.

The Consolidated Film Corporation has booked "Parentage" for a two-weeks’ run at the Rialto theater, commencing Aug. 1. It is considered by those interested as a feature out on the road as a special attraction.

San Francisco Trade Jottings.

Harry A. Harrison, assistant manager for the Western Poster Company, and former manager of the Folk theater, has left for Vancouver, B. C., to take charge of a crew getting out timber for aero-plane construction. He leaves on the first draft and started for France, after training at Camp Lewis, but was turned loose because of his eyes.

The Empress theater on Church street has been re-opened after having been closed for some time.

Walter A. Preddy has installed no-carbon lamp units in the theaters of J. H. Nichols at Mendocino, Cal., and the Monarch Company, Lone Pine, Cal.

The Valencia theater, conducted by Ben Levin, manager, has been changed from a movie theater to a vaudeville house. Elmer Benjamin, formerly with the Macdonough theater, Oakland; the Victor theater, San Francisco, and the best vaudeville house, Stockton, is now with the film exchange department of the Turner & Dax Films, Inc.

Henry Bredhoff, of Honolulu, who has been here for several months, has returned.

M. L. Markowitz, manager of the Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., is making an excursion to Los Angeles, accompanied by his family.

The Liberty theater at 554 Haight street has been purchased by Irvin George and Howard C. Greene.

Recent visitors have included C. E. Hunter, of the Fox theater, Portland, Ore.; L. D. Stanford, of Chico and Marysville, Cal.; W. G. Warren, Tarrant, Tex.; N. E. Carlsen and M. Kappier, Carlin, Nev., and C. C. Kaufman, Colusa, Cal.

Donald Thompson, who handled "The German Curse in Russia," was here recently on his way to Russia to secure additional material.

Northern California Brevities.

Oakland, Cal.—Charles Jerantie has reopened the home theater on Thirteenth avenue, which was owned and run as an out-of-town, under the name of Paducah, now out of town from G. A. Metcalfe of San Francisco.

Stockton, Calif.—Fred Brooks, formerly of San Francisco, has purchased the World theater from Mrs. A. M. Wicker.

Stockton, Cal.—The Empire theater, one of the oldest moving picture houses in central California, has been closed permanently.

Kentucky News Letter

By Ohio Valley News Service, 1404 Starks Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

Damon Renovates Kozy Theater.

PADCUAH, Ky.—Manager Rodney Davis, of the Kozy theater, here, has just returned from Washington and New York, where he handled some work in connection with his position on the National Board (Continued on Page 423.)
Theater Owners Cameras

AT LOW PRICES

MAKE your own local weeklies. There is big money in it. We'll show you how to make the pictures. This will increase your income TREMENDOUSLY!

We have introduced hundreds into this phase of the moving picture business. EVERYONE of them is making money—making it big and fast.

We offer special camera bargains for this purpose in our BARGAIN LIST NO. 7. Here are A FEW OF THE SPECIALS:

$705—405 Ft. Capacity Prestwich Photo Cine. Professional model, regular and trick crank, forward and reverse take-up, automatic dissolve, outside reflecting finder. Fitted with the famous Prestwich Claw Movement. A 50 M. M. Tessar F:3.5 lens in focusing mount. Direct finder. A beautiful camera for professional work; also can be used for titles and trick work. The list price is $275.00. Condition, like new .............Our Price, $120.00

$305—1917 Universal. Brand New, direct from factory; as quoted in the Universal catalog (price on request). The new 1917 Universal is a machine of wonderful endurance and efficiency. We offer the complete equipment, consisting of camera fitted with 50 M. M. B. & L. Tessar F:3.5 lens in focusing mount, and two magazines of aluminum, at the unprecedented low price of ......$125.00 net

$715—180 Ft. Capacity Vista M, P. Camera, regular and trick crank, fast and slow in- termittents, fitted with F:6 lens. Condition, like new ..................Our Price, $45.00

Every camera is Bass Tested and guaranteed. You are allowed ten days" trial on any apparatus you order, with money back privilege. The services of our Mr. Bass, specialist in Moving Picture Cameras, are at your command. Write for our LIST NO. 7, TODAY, and full information about making local weeklies.

BASS CAMERA COMPANY, 109 N. Dearborn Street
M. P. Dept. 13, CHICAGO, U. S. A.

Harvey Motion-Picture Exposure Meter

A NEW DEPARTURE IN METERS

Shows Cuts of the Shutter Angles thus instead of fractions of a second.

Gives All Stops to Be Used for Any Lens, at Various Cranking Speeds. FOR EXTERIOR WORK ONLY.

Costs No More Than a Few Feet of Film

Price $2.50

YOUR DEALER OR

G. L. HARVEY
105 South Dearborn Street, Chicago
Telephone, Central 6491
The DOLL-VAN FILM CORPORATION

wishes to be judged by its achievements.

It has achieved success by and with the following pictures:

"Hearts of the World"
"The Cold Deck"
"Today"
"The Mad Lover"
"Carmen of the Klondike"
"Zeppelin's Last Raid"
"Those Who Paid"
"Public Defender"
"The Belgian"
"Nine Tenths of the Law"
"Crucible of Life"

Exhibitors who want big pictures— producers who have big pictures, should call on the

Doll-Van Film Corporation
Chicago Office—207 S. Wabash Ave.
E. M. Vandawalker, Jr. Vice-Pres. and General Manager
Indianapolis Office:
Merchants’ Bank Bldg., Henry Dollman, President

EXHIBITORS!

THIS IS THE DAY OF CONSERVATION. IT IS YOUR PATRIOTIC DUTY.

INSTALL A Kineto
Automatic
Ad Clock
IN YOUR LOBBY OR AUDITORIUM

AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY
AND AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM COMBINED
CONNECTS TO ANY ORDINARY LAMP SOCKET

A combination of correct time and 12 ads. which automatically change at regular intervals by means of a single mechanism.

An attractive feature to the most beautiful theatre, adding a delicate touch of dignity and refinement.

An absolutely perfect and unmatched medium-making possible the use of several ads. at a time.

Aids your patrons by announcing coming features, as it requires no attention from the operator.

Allows your operator to concentrate entirely on his films.

Satisfies your patrons by eliminating screen advertising.

Satisfies your advertisers by guaranteeing each one a uniform amount of advertising per day.

Inquiries for prices and details solicited.

KINETO MACHINE CO., Inc.
329 PLYMOUTH COURT, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Cremona
Solo Theatre Orchestra- Organs

SOLE STYLE "O"".

The instrument with the human voices. Unsurpassed for manual playing.

Plays all 88 note player rolls.

Improved duplex roll system enables operator to follow picture with ease and satisfaction.

Does not require an operator with our special 134 note reproducing SOLO roll. Instruments suitable for every theatre.

The Marquette Piano Co.
General Offices and Factory:
2421-2439 Wallace Street, Chicago

6 NEW FEATURES FOR SURE RESULTS

The CAMERA that keeps abreast of the Science of Motion Picture Photography.

THE UNIVERSAL MOTION PICTURE CAMERA has New Framing adjustment—Better film transmission—New Focusinig Tube—New Footage Indicator—New "Stere" prevention, etc. More Speed—better results at less than half the price of similar cameras.

A postal will bring you complete description of the world's greatest value in motion picture cameras.

BURKE & JAMES, Inc.
Sole Wholesale Agents
210 E. Ontario Street, Chicago
Eastern Branch: 225 Fifth Avenue, New York City
ELECTRIC FANS

Owing to trade conditions there will be a scarcity of ELECTRIC FANS this year, so we advise everyone who contemplates purchasing to place their orders at once. We can quote all sizes at attractive prices but cannot guarantee present prices to last.

Write for complete price list today.

Amusement Supply Co.

Largest Exclusive Dealers to the Moving Picture Trade.

300-302 Mullens Building
5 South Wabash Ave.

CHICAGO, ILL.

Dealers in Mutoscope, Standard and Simplex Moving Picture Machines, National Cartons, Manual Screens and Everything for the Theatre.

We sell on the Installment Plan.

RAW STOCK PRINTING DEVELOPING

Art Titles and Cartoon Films

Motion photography in all its branches

CAMEL FILM COMPANY

950-954 Edgecomb Place, Chicago, Ill.

SHOW YOUR COLORS! with our edge-glow electric sign—suitable for display in box office, lobby or auditorium, attached to any lamp socket—makes a distinct impression. SENT ON 5 DAYS' APPROVAL—$8.50 EACH.

We manufacture single and double faced indicator signs and REFLECTORS of all kinds in any material or finish.

EXIT and FIRE ESCAPE SIGNS

Made of steel with sprayed bronze finish, either gas or electric light. Furnished with double process sand blasted glass.

OUR PRICES:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Dozen Lots</td>
<td>$8.10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50 Lots</td>
<td>$33.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>100 Lots</td>
<td>$65.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

We manufacture special signs of any kind to meet your requirements. All goods guaranteed.

T. L. ROBINSON & CO.

105 W. Monroe Street
CHICAGO
U. S. A.
The Human Appeal of Pictures That Move

Harness the attraction power of motion to your advertising and you tie one of the greatest forces in nature to your campaign. Forge this most effective link in selling to your chain of sales-producing sources, and you inject the human appeal of moving pictures into your product that paves the way for your salesman. Pictorially prove to wholesaler, jobber, dealer or public—that the printed words of your advertising are facts that are found in your product, and you win their confidence. Investigate—

The Eye Is Pathway to the Brain

Through it you can sway your prospect's judgment and favorably influence opinion. Motion is eye-catching. Utilize it and you build the first step of any sale.

Put the sales demonstrating influence of living truths into animated pictures of your industry and you arouse buying action at lowest cost through this form of intelligent appeal.

Pictures Are the Universal Language

Pictures know no race, creed or country. Their appeal is equally intelligible to the educated and the illiterate. All mankind is their audience—every class of prospect is susceptible to their advertising value. Put your trade mark into action.

Dramatize Your Industrial Story

Put it into motion—into pictorial form. Surround it with a scenario—with an advertising punch in every foot of film. Draw out its sales points in an interesting, action-arousing, result-getting story. Eight years specializing in industrial exploitation has given us control of signal advantages in industrial pictures.

We create, design and produce industrial moving picture advertising with logical, impressive effects. We accentuate each sales value—furnish the ideas—film your story complete, at a very economical cost. We guide you in obtaining its circulation before any audience.

Animated Cartoons and Superior Titles

Our title room contains apparatus for production of superior titles. Mystery of animated cartoons, art titles and trick-photography is controlled here. Intricate instruments actinize drawings to the highest power of realism.

Rothacker Ideas Get Results Quick

Whether your problem is sales-demonstrations, employees, instruction, distribution through wholesaler, dealer or public—Rothacker Idea-films will prove the solution in an economical way.

Write for FREE Booklet

which describes our plant and plan, and shows how motion pictures are made to advertise.

Rothacker Film Mfg. Co.
Watterson R. Rothacker, Pres.
1339 Diversey Parkway
Chicago, Illinois
U. S. A.
Must Project Censor Title at Each Showing

Police Judge McGann of Cleveland Rules in Case of Jack Kuhn That Ohio Censorship Leader Must Be Given Each Time Pictures Passed by State Board Are Exhibited.

By M. A. Malaney, 607 Belmont Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

CLEVELAND—Exhibitors must show the censor leader of the Ohio Board of Censors each time a film is projected. This was the verdict of Police Judge McGann of Cleveland. It was charged that Jack Kuhn, manager of Loew's Stillman theater, of that city, was guilty of violating the Ohio censor law by not keeping the censor leader attached to a print of "Prunella," with Marguerite Clark.

Kuhn was assessed $5 and costs. He claimed that he showed the feature the last time and that it first took if after that, being under the impression that it was not necessary to show it at every performance.

Mrs. Maude Murray Miller, chairman of the censor board, came from Columbus to Cleveland to hear the case.

J. Hemstreet Buys Yale Theater

Cleveland—The Yale Theater building, Cleveland, has been sold by the Yale Realty Company to J. Hemstreet, and back of this deal is a very important and far-reaching transaction. The Yale project was a stock proposition, shares being sold to many people of this city. Mr. Hemstreet took over the building a long time to erect the building, and then after it was completed the company decided to sell out and lease it out to some experienced exhibitor.

After several months of slow business the company finally leased the theater to Fine, Kramer and Schuman, who ran the theater. It has been a success ever since. They are ready to lose it to some film company.

Erdmann Out of Foursquare

George W. Erdmann has sold out his interests in the Foursquare theater to the Foursquare Cleveland Exchange offices to the Foursquare Pictures company. He also relinquished the management of the office on June 22.

Mr. Erdmann has other plans in mind and expects to back in the business about the middle of July. At present he is taking a short vacation in Buffalo and at the same time enjoying himself in the company of his baby daughter born a few weeks ago.

News from Maritime Provinces

By Alice Fairweather, "Standard," St. John, N. B.

Death of A. E. Wall

T. JOHN, N. B.—A very general regret will be felt all through the Maritime Provinces at the news of the death of the late A. E. Wall, New Bedford, a prominent member of the Nova Scotia Bar.

Mr. Wall was a most popular official and a great favorite with all who knew him, and his loss is a great one to the community.

He was travelling on the train from Truro, N. S., and was taken ill with appendicitis. At the time of his illness he was taken to the hospital there and his wife sent for from Halifax. After a week's illness he succumbed to the disease and was buried in Halifax.

I. Zack Takes His Desk

Abe Smith of the Famous Players St. John office announces that his new assistant I. Zack of the Toronto head office has arrived in the city.

Daughter Born to the March

Congratulations are being offered to Mr. and Mrs. R. March upon the birth of a daughter this week. Mr. March is the local manager of the Specialty Film Company in St. John.

J. J. Mooney in France

Friends of John J. Mooney, formerly of the St. John office of the Fox film, will be glad to learn of his safe arrival in France, Mr. Mooney having gone over in the American Army.

Interesting Trade Notes

Mr. Wall was a native of Digby and was interested in politics, running for the provincial legislature at one time. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah Wall, Halifax.

The Lyric has made it very pleasant for the Convalescent Soldiers in the city. Every night a soldier wearing the blue band on his arm which marks the convalescent is admitted free to the show last week. Not only the soldiers, but many civilians who have come in late have been welcome and the place was packed.

Mr. Minton, manager of the Imperial, St. John, have been reduced to fifteen and ten cents for the summer months. This was intended to make the place attractive for the crowds attending the pictures.

Mr. McCafe of the Vogue theater, Woodstock, B. E., was married last week. He booked from J. Lieberman the Sunshine comedies and the Mutt and Jeff cartoons. He also has Paramount and Universal.

J. H. Bustin of Windsor, N. S., has booked the Mutt and Jeff cartoons which are getting very popular in the territory.

E. J. O'Neill of the Broadway theater, St. George, N. B., reports that business is very good in that city for better business shortly. The weather has been against good attendance and people are looking for something for summer changes to country places.

St. Louis Letter

By Mary Moore, 6055 Kingsbury Place, St. Louis, Mo.

Ragland to Manage Select Exchange.

T. LOUIS, MO.—J. C. Ragland has been appointed manager of the Select Exchange offices in St. Louis, terminating a mooted question as to the disposition of this office here. Mr. Ragland has a number of friends and, having visited St. Louis many times in the last few years as agent for the Pacific States Protective Associations, after several months, Eddie Dustin who went with the Select.

Sherry to Open Exchange in St. Louis.

The William L. Sherry Exchange has a representative in the local field last week making arrangements for the opening of the Select Exchange company office. The location or management has not yet been decided on.

Dickson in State Rights Field.

Roy Dickson, son of the late manager of the Dickson Film Exchange, is getting ready for business with offices over the Select company in the Plaza building. He will handle Sherry pictures.

Koplar Takes Over Two More Houses.

Harry Koplar has taken over the Lafayette, and the Russell theaters to add them to his string which now, under the regulation of Mr. Koplar, number at least 10 theaters.
The Human Appeal of Pictures That Move

Harness the attraction power of motion to your advertising and you tie one of the greatest forces in nature to your campaign. Forge this most effective link in selling to your chain of sales-producing sources, and you inject the human appeal of moving pictures into your product that paves the way for your salesman. Pictorially prove to wholesaler, jobber, dealer or public—that the printed words of your advertising are facts that are found in your product, and you win their confidence. Investigate—

Rothacker Industrial Motion Pictures

The Eye Is Pathway to the Brain

Through it you can sway your prospect's judgment and favorably influence opinion. Motion is eye-catching. Utilize it and you build the first step of any sale.

Put the sales demonstrating influence of living truths into animated pictures of your industry and you arouse buying action at lowest cost through this form of intelligent appeal.

Pictures Are the Universal Language

Pictures know no race, creed or country. Their appeal is equally intelligible to the educated and the illiterate. All mankind is their audience—every class of prospect is susceptible to their advertising value. Put your trade mark into action.

Dramatize Your Industrial Story

Put it into motion—into pictorial form. Surround it with a scenario—with an advertising punch in every foot of film. Draw out its sales points in an interesting, action-arousing, result-getting story. Eight years specializing in industrial exploitations has given us control of signal advantages in industrial pictures.

We create, design and produce industrial moving picture advertising with logical, impressive effects. We accentuate each sales value—furnish the ideas—film your story complete, at a very economical cost. We guide you in obtaining its circulation before any audience.

Animated Cartoons and Superior Titles

Our title room contains apparatus for production of superior titles. Mystery of animated cartoons, art titles and trick-photography is controlled here. Intricate instruments actionize drawings to the highest power of realism. We suggest and invite your inquiry.

Rothacker Ideas Get Results Quick

Whether your problem is sales-demonstrations, employees, instruction, distribution through wholesaler, jobber or public—Rothacker Idea-films will prove the solution in an economical way.

Write for FREE Booklet

which describes our plant and plan, and shows how motion pictures are made to advertise.

ROTHACKER FILM MFG. CO.
Watterson R. Rothacker, Pres.
1339 DIVERSEY PARKWAY
Chicago, Illinois
U. S. A.
Must Project Censor Title at Each Showing

Police Judge McGannon of Cleveland Rules in Case of Jack Kuhn That Ohio Censorship Leader Must Be Given Each Time Pictures Passed by State Board Are Exhibited.

By M. A. Malaney, 607 Belmont Ave, Cleveland, Ohio.

C LEVELLAND.—Exhibitors must show the censor leader of the Ohio Board of Censors each time a film is projected.

This was the verdict of Police Judge McGannon of Cleveland, who, in his new capacity as censor, has given the court in the case of Jack Kuhn, manager of Loew's Stillman theater, of that city, was guilty of violation of the censor law by neglect of keeping the censor leader attached to a print of "Trunella," with Marguerite Clark.

Kuhn was assessed $5 and costs. He claimed that he showed the feature the same night the leader with the leader attached on it, but took it off after that, being under the impression that it was not necessary to show it at every performance.

Mrs. Maude Murray Miller, chairman of the censor board, came from Columbus to Cleveland on Monday for the hearing.

J. Hemstreet Buys Yale Theater.

Cleveland.—The Yale Theater building, Cleveland, has been sold by the Yale Realty Company to J. Hemstreet, and back of this deal lie the interests of several realtors.

The Yale project was a stock proposition, shares being sold to many people in the city. It took a long time to erect the building, and then after it was completed the company decided not to operate it, and leasing it out to some experienced exhibitor.

After several months of slow business the company finally leased the theater to Fine, Kramer and Schuman, who ran the theater on a Cresta basis until the last side. They are having fair success with it.

Authorities Seize Anti-War Picture.

Cleveland.—"Lay Down Your Arms," an anti-war picture made and distributed several years ago, is now reposing in the vaults of the Cleveland Federal building, having been seized from a Cleveland theater, June 23. The picture was shown throughout the country before America entered the war, but was only recently resurrected by some traveling film man.

Erdmann Out of Foursquaro.

George W. Erdmann has sold out his interests in the Foursquaro Cleveland offices to the Foursquaro Pictures Cleveland company. He also relinquished the management of the front office of this building to John J. Erdmann.

Mr. Erdmann has other plans in mind and expects to be back in the business about the middle of July. At present he is taking a short vacation in Buffalo and at the same time enjoying himself in company of his baby daughter born a few weeks ago.

News from Maritime Provinces

By Alice Fairweather, "Standard," St. John, N. B.

Death of A. E. Wall.

ST. JOHN'S, N. B.—Very general regret will be felt all through the Maritime Provinces at the news of the death of Mr. A. E. Wall, of the local branch of the Censors of Nova Scotia. Mr. Wall was a most popular official and a great favorite with all the members of the fraternity.

He was travelling on the train from Truro, N. S., and was taken ill with appendicitis on the way to the hospital there and his wife sent for from Halifax. After a week's illness he succumbed to the disease and was buried in Halifax.

I. Zack Takes His Desk.

Abe Smith of the Famous Players St. John office announces that his new assistant I. Zack of the Toronto head office has arrived in the city.

Daughter Born to the March.

Congratulations are being offered to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. March of St. John this morning, on the birth of a daughter this week. Mr. March is the local manager of the Specialty Film Company in St. John.

J. J. Mooney in France.

Friends of John J. Mooney, formerly of the St. John office of the Fox film, will be glad to learn of his safe arrival in France, Mr. Mooney having gone over in the American Army.

Interesting Trade Notes

Mr. Wall was a native of Digby and was interested in politics, running for the provincial legislature at one time. He later became a film manager in St. John.

The lyric has made it very pleasant for the Convalescent Soldiers in the city last evening to wear the blue band on his arm which marks the convalescent is admitted free to the show given last evening by Mr. Mooney.

The Theatre was immediately invaded by a host of better crowds attended the pictures.

Mr. McAfee of the Vogue theater, Woodstock, B. B., visited St. John. He booked from J. Lieberman the Sunshine comedies and the Mutt and Jeff cartoons. He also booked A. L. Sherry and J. H. Bustin of Windsor, N. S., has booked the Mutt and Jeff cartoons which are getting very popular in the territory.

E. J. O'Neill of the Broadway theater, St. George, N. B., reports that business is dead in the town. He is scouting around for better business shortly. The weather has been against good attendance and people are getting ready for summer changes to country places.

By Mary Moore, 6635 Kingsbury Place, St. Louis, Mo.

Ragland to Manage Select Exchange.

T. LOUIS, MO.—J. C. Ragland has been appointed manager of the Select office in St. Louis, terminating a mooted question as to the disposition of this office here. Ragland has a number of friends here, having visited St. Louis many times in the last few years as agent of the "Bittern" and "Two Tickets Out," after several months, Eddie Dustin who went with the Select.

Sherry to Open Exchange in St. Louis.

The Sherry Exchange has had a representative in the local field last week making arrangements for the opening of the Select office here. The location or management has not yet been decided on.

Dickson in State Rights Field.

Roy Dickson, son of the late manager of the Select office in St. Louis, is now ready for business with offices over the Select company in the Plaza building. He has a good deal of business here.

Koplar Takes Over Two More Houses.

Harry Koplar has taken over the Lafayette, and the Russell theaters to add them to his string which now, under the joint management of himself and Billy Goldman, number at least 10 theaters.

The MOVING PICTURE WORLD.

July 20, 1918

423

(Continued from page 418.)

Council of Defense, and also arranged for state rights in Kentucky and Tennessee for the following pictures: Capt. Robert Warwick in "The Accidental Honeymoon," Florence Reed in "The Struggle Everlasting," "Power," "Sons of Am- bition," and the "Traitor Within the Gate," the latter a war picture. The organization has also arranged for a booking right on "Pershing's Crusaders," which will first be shown at the Mary Anderson theater in Madison, Ind.

Mme. Petrova to Appear in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky.—Announcement has been made to the effect that Mme. Olga Petrova in Miss University will bring her summer campaign will come to Louisville on July 25 and appear at the Majestic theater, during which time "Tempered Steel," one of her latest productions, will be running at that theater.

Rialto and Ivan Head Visits Louisville.

Louisville, Ky.—I. E. Chadwick, head of the Rialto and Ivan film interests, was recently in Louisville, where he stopped off for a short time on his way to Cali- fornia. Mr. Chadwick was surprised by the size and excellent character of the theaters, which are about as good as can be found anywhere.

Louisville Small Items.

J. S. Grimes, of the Dream theater, of Corydon, Ind., was a recent visitor in Louisville.

Due to the large volume of business in spite of the draft and hot weather.

Fred Dolle, of the Alamo theater, Louis- ville, stated that the usual summer dull- ness was settling down on the picture business into a regular one, and they were look- ing toward the coolest possible house.

E. W. Penrod, manager of the Universal exchange, Indianapolis, was in Louisville recently, where he called on Local Man- ager A. C. Farrell and some of the ex- hibitors.

Notes for Leaving the World

By J. L. Shipley, 615 Locust street, Des Moines, Iowa.

Petrova Nets $12,000 in W. S. S. Sale.

During the opening evening of the week in local circles was the visit of Madame Petrova who spent one day here en route from New York. The famous screen actress attracted record breaking crowds at the Garden theater where Man- ager J. E. Delamater reported for the feature. They spoke both afternoon and evening. Man- dame Petrova sold nearly $12,000 worth of War Savings Stamps during her two appearances and gave a patriotic address that rang true. She also went out to Camp Dodge and addressed the soldier boys late in the afternoon. Her latest picture "Tempered Steel" was shown the first three days of the week at the Garden to large business. Madame Petrova went to Omaha from here.

Hostetler Purchases Plaza Theater.

The announcement of the sale of the Plaza theater Waterfior by Bryant Broth- ers to A. E. Hostetler, also of the city, created considerable comment in motion picture circles. The Plaza was built by the Bryants and is one of the oldest and under their management for several years. Fred Hostetler, who has been manager for the past two years and announced his intention of relinquishing the lease on the theater be- cause of his health, is now a realtor. The new manager, is also manager of the Crystal theater in East Waterfor and will make a trip over the Casino at Mar- shalltown.
Carmichael Is To Represent Fox Abroad

Manager of Film Manufacturers' Exchange in Detroit Will Leave Shortly for London—To Cover United Kingdom, France and Italy—Has Been Associated with Organization Since Its Inception—Other Fox Changes.

By Jacob Smith, 719 Free

DETROIT.—Moses Field Carmichael, who is in charge of the Detroit office of the Fox Film Corporation, has been promoted to American representative of the corporation, Ltd., of the United Kingdom. This means he will make his headquarters in London, England, and the firm has been associated with the territory of France, Italy and Spain. It's a tremendous advancement for Field, but not one which he has not earned every success.

Mr. Carmichael went with the Fox Film Corporation from the time it was opened, opening the Denver office. Then he was transferred to Los Angeles, where he remained for two years. When he was transferred to Detroit, dozens and dozens of his friends in the film business in the city were excoried him by the doctors with a brass band, showing that he was very popular. In the short period that he has been in Detroit Mr. Carmichael has tripled the business of the Fox Film Corporation; when Mr. Fox and Mr. Sheehan of the company were last month among American right person to go to Europe, is it any wonder that they selected Mr. Carmichael? He reports to New York on July 15 and takes up his duties with Fox on Monday, July 15. Previous to his connection with the General Mr. Bailey was for a number of years Detroit manager for the Universal.

Frank Stuart Succeeds Bailey

Frank Stuart, who is connected with the General Film Company for the past four years in Detroit and recently appointed assistant manager, has been appointed manager of the Detroit exchange, succeeding Mr. Bailey. Mr. Stuart was in New York last month and the appointment was made by Mr. A. Tishenker, vice-president of the General Film Company, who gave Frank a "fatherly" talk and wished him success. He has no doubt in the least that Mr. Stuart will make good. He knows the film business—knows the Michigan exhibitors—and is himself a good salesman.

Activities of Dawn Mainport Company

The Dawn Mainport Company, which owns "Hearts of the World" for Michigan, now operate the Majestic theater, Detroit, and the Grand, Detroit. Frank Horwitz, taking charge of the latter on July 1. They are running both theaters for the summer months of July and August. The company announces the purchase of two more state rights pictures—"The Struggle Everlast-

Horwitz Purchases Two More Pictures

Joseph Horwitz, Detroit manager for Foursquare Exchange, of which he is halfowner, and with whom is associated Cleveland Foursquare Exchange, has just purchased for Michigan "The Mad Lover," with Captains Field and Rock, and "Today," with Florence Reed.

Salesmen Resign to Await Draft

Nat Lefkowitz and Jack Osserman, Pathe salesmen, severed their relations with the Detroit exchange on Saturday, June 25, and moved to their home city, where they will await the July draft call. Nat Lefkowitz, better known as DG, is a two-year veteran through his long career as salesman for Standard and Pathe. As for Jack Osserman, he is a brother to the famous Jack Osserman of Cleveland, and during his short stay here he built up a large circle of friends.

Lieut. Rathbun Receives Promotion

Warsaw, Poland, June 22.—Mr. Jerry H. Rathbun, of Battle Creek, son-in-law of Col. W. S. Butterfield, has been again promoted to transportation quartermaster at Baltimore. Lieut. Rathbun tried to enlist as a private but was turned down for underweight. He then took a course at one of the offices' training camps, passed, and was accepted. He was recently a lieutenant in the quartermasters corps, and now he is made transportation quartermaster, showing his real business ability.

Baltimore News Letter

By J. M. Shellman, 1902 Mt. Royal Terrace, Baltimore, Md.

Film Transportation Company Expands.

In order to give the film exchanges in Baltimore an opportunity of securing better service for the quick hauling of film between the two cities, the Warner Film Transportation Company, is now building an office and garage. The building will measure 30 by 100 feet and will have an office and room to accommodate two trucks and auto and rental space for five more cars. The company does hauling of film for 12 companies, and Mr. Durkee states that in the new office they will be able to give better service and attention to the work.

Shofter Hours at Wilson Theater

In order to employ a little more time to themselves during the hot months of July and August Guy L. Drinkwater, manager of the theater, 483 West Baltimore street, has arranged to have his performances start at 11 o'clock instead of 10, and to last until 11 at night.

W. S. Drive at Three Theaters

The war savings stamp drive was aided considerably by three theaters of Baltimore recently by benefit performances. The sum of $1,700 was secured in cash and stamp pledges at the Goodtime theater, 1401 North Milton avenue, through a performance which was given under the auspices of the Women's Section of the Mary-

Out-of-Town Theaters Patriotic

Frostburg, Md.—With the view of making Thrift Day, June 25, one of the days to be remembered in this city, celebration events were carried out to their full extent. A. C. Frey, manager of the Lyric theater, entertained the local patriotic women with a special performance of music and moving pictures. There were many patriotic songs, and vaudeville throughout the day.

Annapolis, Md.—A big mass meeting was held in the Annapolis Armory, under the courtesy of Strange Brothers, the proprietors, on Sunday afternoon, June 20, to which 150 members of the Naval Academy band orchestra rendered fine selections; moving pictures of war scenes were shown and patriotic speeches were made.

Abbeville, Md.—Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. H. McPherson, operators of the Opera House in this city, the Harford County Council of Defense held a meeting at this playhouse on the night of July 1, and a permanent organization of the Aberdeen precinct was effected.

Three Tax Rates.

Frederick, Va.—The county commissioners fixed the tax rate for Frederick County at $1.25, on Monday, July 1, for 1918, an advance of 20 cents over the 1917 rate.

Elkton, Md.—The tax rate for 1918 was fixed by the county commissioners for Cecil County at $1.12, on Wednesday, June 26. This is a reduction of eight cents from the 1917 rate.

Centerville, Md.—At a meeting of the County Commissioners recently, the tax rate for the county was fixed at $1.18 for 1918. This rate is eight cents less than the 1917 rate.

Munition Workers at the Maryland.

The annual meeting of 1918 of the members of the Ordnance Department of the United States Armies, from Edgewood, Md., was held at the Ordnance Theater, Edgewood, through the courtesy of F. C. Schanberger, the manager, by a program of vaudeville and patriotic songs.

Frederick C. Schanberger, manager of the Maryland theater, has been appointed chairman of the working committee on Commercial Amusements of the War Camp Community Service Committee of Balti-

Baltimore Brevities.

Mrs Ethel M. Heath, who for some time acted as private secretary to L. A. De Hoff, manager of the New theater and associated manager of the publicly, and has more recently been associated with the Union Trust Company in the stock transfer department, has come into the employ of the National Film exchange.

E. W. Eder, who has been associated with the Parkway Theater Company for nearly two years in the capacity of cashier, has resigned. Mr. Eder has not associated himself with the Baltimore Dry Docks and Shipbuilding Company as typographer, department, Mr. McLaughlin, manager of the Auditorium theater, has two brothers in the United States. Mr. Stevan McLaughlin, a member of the 15th Infantry, has just reached the other side, while the other Joseph V. McLaughlin, Jr., is in the navy.
Buffalo News Letter

By Joseph A. McGuire, 152 North Elmments, Inc., Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—According to C. P.

Sheehan, special representative of the chain, the entire line of C. P. Sheehan company are going over big in the Buffalo territory. “Woman and the Law” has a baby on the way in the Strand, Troy; Strand, Syracuse; Majestic, Utica, and other houses throughout the state.

Harry M. Robinson, general manager of the Fox Corporation, recently visited the Buffalo branch. He motored from Utica to Buffalo, where he was entertained by Arthur L. Skinner, who has been added to the Fox sales force.

He is covering the southern New York area for the Fox Corporation.

Patriotic Stage Setting at Shea’s.

“America Comes Across” was the title of a patriotic stage setting at Shea’s Special Theater. It is a setting to bring out the truth, and was very well received. An English and a French soldier were shown in to the show, and the French soldier in the background, with his millions of comrades pressing after him. The orchestra was heard in art from “The Merry Widow.”

Musical Director Alfred Moulton was with the original Merry Widow Company for several months.

J. S. Savage Leases the Abbott.

J. S. Savage, Jr., has bought the lease of the Abbott on Abbott road and Bailey avenue. Mr. Savage and his father are the owners of the Como moving picture theater in Triangle street.

The Abbott is a ten-cent house. Mr. Savage has installed two Simplex machines and changed the policy of the house, which is in the heart of a great industrial center on the south side, where the neighbors are yearly millions for ship yards and munitions.

The success of the Como induced Mr. Saye to buy the Abbott. He is planning to Hickey of Goldwyn Once a Stage Star.

George A. Hickey, Buffalo manager of the Goldwyn, who won second prize of $500 in sight picture contest, conducted by that company, takes delight in showing to his friends old theatrical programs on which his name appeared in big type. For several seasons Mr. Hickey

was a member of the Imperial Players, conducted by the company. He is planning to make his first appearance in the theater business, as he says, he wanted to “settle down” and “eat regularly.”

Gardiner Handling W. H. Reissues.

The Gardiner Syndicate, 47 West Swan

street, is booking the following W. H.

Production reissues for all of New York

Majors: The Great Lagoon, Twenty-six Chaplins, twenty-eight Mack Sennett

comedies, sixteen Shorty Hamiltons, four

William Bendix, four stories, and four Bessie

Barriscale features.

The contracts are coming in faster than we can get them published. Mr. John Sitterly, formerly part owner of the Popular Film,

has been appointed sales-manager of

Goldwyn, which has been enlarged. Mr. Sitterly and Al

Sheehan are local representatives of this concern.

BUFFALO SAVING STAMPS

July 22, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

425

Film Trade Notes of Week for Minneapolis

Hot Weather Causes Slump in Business of Theaters and Exchanges—Southern Theater Bought by J. S. Woodhouse—Other Items.

By John L. Johnston, 715 Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Summer Slump Evident in Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS.—Business at moving picture exchanges in this city continued to fall off last week, and the theater slump has been more noticeable during the last several weeks than at any other time in several years here-

The theater trade, following the change from scorching hot to cool, has been much quieter during the past week, and theatrical business everywhere is feeling the effects. The Minneapolis Strand played George Gershwin in “Hit-the-Trail Holliday” a week to a good business, and the New Garrick played Mary Pickford in “How Could Ye, Jean?” for a week to a good business, but at neither theater was the attendance as general as it should have been or would have been a month ago.

The Northwest theaters by the score are shutting down for a week, while others are cutting down their showtimes. The latest word has it that about ten per cent. of the territory’s theaters are now closed and about twenty per cent. have, cut down on their presentations.

Woodhouse Purchases Southern Theater

Minneapolis.—J. S. Woodhouse, former manager of the Goldwyn and Finkel-stein’s Exchanges. The Goldwyn and

Calhoun theaters, has purchased the

Southtown theater at 1300 South Corners

from John Hedlund, and has named the show house again, after redecorating it being used in the current engagements

of “The Sun.” Woodhouse is featuring his orchestra, and is starting his new venture off by booking a number of pictures to be had on the open market.

Fire Destroys Film at Brown Theater.

Wahpeton.—A fire starting from unknown cause burned up several hundred feet of film stock and an important exchange, conducted by that company, takes delight in showing to his friends old theatrical programs on which his name appeared in big

type. For several seasons Mr. Hickey

was a member of the Imperial Players, conducted by the company. He is planning to make his first appearance in the theater business, as he says, he wanted to “settle down” and “eat regularly.”

Gardiner Handling W. H. Reissues.

The Gardiner Syndicate, 47 West Swan

street, is booking the following W. H.

Production reissues for all of New York

Majors: The Great Lagoon, Twenty-
six Chaplins, twenty-eight Mack Sennett

comedies, sixteen Shorty Hamiltons, four

William Bendix, four stories, and four Bessie

Barriscale features.

The contracts are coming in faster than we can get them published. Mr. John Sitterly,

formerly part owner of the Popular Film,

has been appointed sales-manager of

Goldwyn, which has been enlarged. Mr. Sitterly and Al

Sheehan are local representatives of this concern.

BUFFALO SAVING STAMPS

July 22, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

425

Film Trade Notes of Week for Minneapolis

Hot Weather Causes Slump in Business of Theaters and Exchanges—Southern Theater Bought by J. S. Woodhouse—Other Items.

By John L. Johnston, 715 Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Summer Slump Evident in Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS.—Business at moving picture exchanges in this city continued to fall off last week, and the theater slump has been more noticeable during the last several weeks than at any other time in several years here-

The theater trade, following the change from scorching hot to cool, has been much quieter during the past week, and theatrical business everywhere is feeling the effects. The Minneapolis Strand played George Gershwin in “Hit-the-Trail Holliday” a week to a good business, and the New Garrick played Mary Pickford in “How Could Ye, Jean?” for a week to a good business, but at neither theater was the attendance as general as it should have been or would have been a month ago.

The Northwest theaters by the score are shutting down for a week, while others are cutting down their showtimes. The latest word has it that about ten per cent. of the territory’s theaters are now closed and about twenty per cent. have, cut down on their presentations.

Woodhouse Purchases Southern Theater

Minneapolis.—J. S. Woodhouse, former manager of the Goldwyn and Finkel-

stein’s Exchanges. The Goldwyn and

Calhoun theaters, has purchased the

Southtown theater at 1300 South Corners

from John Hedlund, and has named the show house again, after redecorating it

being used in the current engagements

of “The Sun.” Woodhouse is featuring his orchestra, and is starting his new venture off by booking a number of pictures to be had on the open market.

Fire Destroys Film at Brown Theater.

Wahpeton.—A fire starting from unknown cause burned up several hundred feet of film stock and an important exchange, conducted by that company, takes delight in showing to his friends old theatrical programs on which his name appeared in big

type. For several seasons Mr. Hickey

was a member of the Imperial Players, conducted by the company. He is planning to make his first appearance in the theater business, as he says, he wanted to “settle down” and “eat regularly.”

Gardiner Handling W. H. Reissues.

The Gardiner Syndicate, 47 West Swan

street, is booking the following W. H.

Production reissues for all of New York

Majors: The Great Lagoon, Twenty-
six Chaplins, twenty-eight Mack Sennett

comedies, sixteen Shorty Hamiltons, four

William Bendix, four stories, and four Bessie

Barriscale features.

The contracts are coming in faster than we can get them published. Mr. John Sitterly,

formerly part owner of the Popular Film,

has been appointed sales-manager of

Goldwyn, which has been enlarged. Mr. Sitterly and Al

Sheehan are local representatives of this concern.

MORE DES MOINES NEWS.

BOOKINGS HEAVY ON PATRIOTIC FILMS.

Sam Goldfain, Kansas representative for the A. H. Blank Enterprises, spent two days in Des Moines last week in conference with Mr. Blaine and Manager C. F.

Holah. Mr. Goldfain has been doing wonderful business in the Kansas territory on “Pershing’s Crusaders.” This is the other first National Specials. He is making everal large towns in Iowa before returning South. The office is besi-geed with applications on “Pershing’s Crusaders” and several additional prints are expected. The usual volume of bookings. Eddie Bonn, who has been acting as special representative for the above mentioned exchange, and was recently transferred to Des Moines, resigned last week and left for his home in New York, where he will spend several days before joining the exchange.

Roper, Rialto Soloist. Featured.

S. N. Roper, soloist on the Robert

Mor-
Meeting of International Association Attended by Many Moving Picture Men—Conspicuous for Its Patriotism and Enthusiasm—Of the Ten Prints
Made One Each Will Be Sent to England, Canada, and Cuba.

By Kansas City News Service, 115 Railway Exchange, Kansas City, Mo.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Kansas City entertained the International Association of Rotary Clubs during the week of June 23 to 29, to speak for War Savings Stamps. She was accompanied by her manager, Bobby North. The audience packed the theater and the street curb side. Her talk resulted in the one thousand persons pledging themselves to buy an average of $75 worth of stamps for any one who would buy $75 worth in a year. She apologized for the procedure, but remarked that the Government didn’t make the method so long as the result was “stamps.”

Interesting Items.

F. H. Castle, formerly connected with the Rialto theater, Tulsa, has joined the sales staff of the Kansas City branch of the Fox Film Corporation.

Richard Robertson, manager of Goldwyn Kansas City, said on July 15 that a ten side. Her talk resulted in the one thousand persons pledging themselves to buy an average of $75 worth of stamps for any one who would buy $75 worth in a year. He apologized for the procedure, but remarked that the Government didn’t make the method so long as the result was “stamps.”

Interesting Items.

F. H. Castle, formerly connected with the Rialto theater, Tulsa, has joined the sales staff of the Kansas City branch of the Fox Film Corporation.

Richard Robertson, manager of Goldwyn Kansas City, said on July 15 that a ten side. Her talk resulted in the one thousand persons pledging themselves to buy an average of $75 worth of stamps for any one who would buy $75 worth in a year. He apologized for the procedure, but remarked that the Government didn’t make the method so long as the result was “stamps.”

Interesting Items.

F. H. Castle, formerly connected with the Rialto theater, Tulsa, has joined the sales staff of the Kansas City branch of the Fox Film Corporation.

Richard Robertson, manager of Goldwyn Kansas City, said on July 15 that a ten side. Her talk resulted in the one thousand persons pledging themselves to buy an average of $75 worth of stamps for any one who would buy $75 worth in a year. He apologized for the procedure, but remarked that the Government didn’t make the method so long as the result was “stamps.”

Interesting Items.

F. H. Castle, formerly connected with the Rialto theater, Tulsa, has joined the sales staff of the Kansas City branch of the Fox Film Corporation.

Richard Robertson, manager of Goldwyn Kansas City, said on July 15 that a ten side. Her talk resulted in the one thousand persons pledging themselves to buy an average of $75 worth of stamps for any one who would buy $75 worth in a year. He apologized for the procedure, but remarked that the Government didn’t make the method so long as the result was “stamps.”

Interesting Items.

F. H. Castle, formerly connected with the Rialto theater, Tulsa, has joined the sales staff of the Kansas City branch of the Fox Film Corporation.

Richard Robertson, manager of Goldwyn Kansas City, said on July 15 that a ten side. Her talk resulted in the one thousand persons pledging themselves to buy an average of $75 worth of stamps for any one who would buy $75 worth in a year. He apologized for the procedure, but remarked that the Government didn’t make the method so long as the result was “stamps.”

Interesting Items.

F. H. Castle, formerly connected with the Rialto theater, Tulsa, has joined the sales staff of the Kansas City branch of the Fox Film Corporation.

Richard Robertson, manager of Goldwyn Kansas City, said on July 15 that a ten side. Her talk resulted in the one thousand persons pledging themselves to buy an average of $75 worth of stamps for any one who would buy $75 worth in a year. He apologized for the procedure, but remarked that the Government didn’t make the method so long as the result was “stamps.”
Moving Picture Operators' Union demanded that all film exchanges recognize the Film Inspectors Union—recently organized. The operators said that they would refuse to handle the films of exchanges where the girl inspectors were not permitted to organize. The difficulty was solved, however, and film exchanges and the two unions are now on good terms following the reaching of a practically general agreement.

Davis of General Film is Promoted.
James B. Kelly ("Smiling Jimmy"), manager of the General, announces that Sol Davis has been promoted to the position of assistant salesman of the General. He will also handle the output of the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation. Miss Pearl Varvel has been appointed as secretary to Mr. Kelly. Kelly, Kelly, by the way, is smiling even a happier smile than usual. The General's "Last Raid of Zep- pindle Lady" has made a big hit in Texas. It was released July 1, and Dallas people crowded to see it at the Crystal theater.

J. C. Fanning Recuperating Rapidly.
John C. Fanning, of the Crazy theater, Mineral Wells, is out again, and is as cheery as ever after six weeks' serious illness. He walks with a cane, but is getting better rapidly. He received congratulations from James B. Kelly, Douglas Hawley, and other film men when he visited here.

Paxex Film Opens Branch at Austin.
Permit to do business in Texas has been granted to the Paxex Film Corporation, of New York. Capital stock is $1,000, and headquarters will be at Austin.

Boland President of First National.
Tom M. Boland, of Oklahoma City, has been chosen president of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, of Oklahoma. Jack H. Brainard, formerly of the Mutual, has been appointed manager. His headquarters will be at Oklahoma City.

Lytle Building $20,000 Theater.
W. J. Lytle, of the Princess, Empire, and other theaters at San Antonio, has launched another successful venture. He is constructing a $20,000 theater at Del Rio in the border country.

Dallas Film Row Jottings.
Charles Gladstone Buchanan, of Metro, is an enthusiast over "To Hell with the Kaiser." He has circulated little red stickers bearing this prophecy of the ultimate destruction of Wilhelm far and wide over Texas. Texans generally seem to warmly approve the sentiment.

L. Nickel, manager of the Dallas Metro branch, returned home the last week in June after making a complete tour of Texas. He reports that exhibitors are in a good humor and doing good business despite the unusually warm weather. They are all hunting for live stuff.

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

J. W. Allender Purchases Majestic Theater

Acquires Structure from Messrs. Knipe, Coons and Bowman—Will Continue Adding to His Chain of Picture Houses—Files Articles of Incorporation for J. W. Allender, Inc.

By S. Clark Patchin, E. 1511 Eleventh Ave., Spokane, Wash.

Allender Takes Over the Majestic.

POKANE.—Manager J. W. Allender, of the Lyric theater, continues to add to his acquisitions, and has just purchased the Majestic theater from J. C. Knipe, H. W. Coons and C. D. Bowman at a reported cost of $5,000 cash. The above trio purchased the Majestic last August from Long and Bungay, who had W. H. McMillan as manager.

Mr. Allender contemplates adding more picture theaters to his chain, and with that in view has filed articles of incorporation for the J. W. Allender, Inc., to be capitalized for $100,000. He combined the Majestic with the Lyric and sold a minority interest to J. G. Maddux, who has been an operator in the city for years. Mr. Allender is having the Majestic renovated, and is improving the projection. He announces that he will use the Artcraft, Paramount, and De Luxe pictures in the place, and that "Intolerance" will be shown at the Lyric starting July 14. He also reports that "The Little Girl Next Door" is playing to big audiences at the Auditorium. He will run "Hearts of the World" at the Auditorium for three weeks starting July 4.

Would Provide Seats for Every Ticket.
Spokane.—A city ordinance providing that the public may not be admitted to Spokane theaters unless there is a seat for every ticket sold and paid to the city council by Corporation Counsel J. M. Geraghty.

Discussion of theater seating arrangements arose when E. Clarke Walker, manager of the Pantages theater, which is a vaudeville and moving picture house, appeared before the council to deny that his show house is "balking the public." Mr. Walker was aroused by a complaint made by Commissioner J. C. Argall that the Pantages management was misleading the public in announcing the price of its seats. The Pantages is loosing money on its shows, and has been since April 1, according to Mr. Walker, who said that the monthly loss had been $500.

The complaint included that patrons purchased tickets for admission on the price charged for first floor seats then were directed to the balcony by ushers inside who told them that there were no seats downstairs.

Coffy to Exploit "Eyes of the World."

Spokane.—E. P. Coffy, who has been manager of the Pantages Company for some months, tendered his resignation effective July 1, and has associated himself with H. O. Haunbursi and W. J. Howell, who have purchased the state rights for Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas for "The Eyes of the World." He will leave here July 4 for the Coast to exploit the picture there for a time, and on September 1 will go East for his work in the three states above mentioned.

Spokane Film News Notes.

O. Dahl, of Troy, Mont., who manages the Opera House at that place, visited the Universal exchange here for some special pictures this week.

P. C. Quinby, of New York City, general manager of the Pathe exchanges, visited P. L. Carroll, local manager, for several days while on a tour of the Western exchanges.

W. Potter, of the Universal, returned from a trip into Montana and left for Wallace and other Idaho towns.

Liberty Now Has Girl Ushers.

To release the boys and young men ushers for war work in factories and agricultural pursuits, Manager Sam W. B. Cohn, of the Liberty theater, Spokane, has substituted girls as ushers and floor managers. The uniforms are of tan, and the illustration on this page shows the girls in their costumes, which are plain, natty, and not overly expensive, thus carrying out the economy plan.

Cohn Decorates Liberty for Summer.

Manager Sam W. B. Cohn, of the Liberty theater, Spokane, has spent $200 on lobby and interior decorations for the summer, and a picture of the lobby and floral decorations is in it. It shows below, together with the colored cleaners who keep scraps of paper off the floor, also Manager Cohn at the right, where he was unexpectedly caught by the photographer while trying to keep people from passing in front of the entrance until the picture was taken. The interior decorations include a number of hanging baskets, and a large array of potted flowers greet one entering the theater. These are lightied by electric lights shielded by curtains, so as not to interfere with the pictures being shown.

Join the Production Army
Buy
War Savings Stamps
Features Secured Chautauqua's Patronage

Seattle—A Chautauqua which has traveled all through the northern states this month has had a hard time. The city of Seattle, Wash., where it is stationed, is the home of Paramount Theatre, and it has been a hard fate for the Chautauqua to get a foothold here. The theatre is the hardest in the country to get a booking for, and the Chautauqua has had to work hard to get a booking for here.

The Chautauqua opened with an admission charge of $1.00 and the box office has been doing well. The theatre is situated in a part of the city where there are few other attractions and the Chautauqua has had to work hard to get a foothold. The theatre is the most prominent in the city and the Chautauqua has had to work hard to get a booking for here.

The Chautauqua is the most prominent in the city and the theatre is the hardest in the country to get a booking for. The Chautauqua has had to work hard to get a booking for here.

Heavy bookings on Anti-Vice Film

Miss Grace Marby Sanderson, prominent in the anti-vice society, appears in the picture "The Finger of Justice," which opened at the Strand Theatre in Seattle. Miss Sanderson is the director of the society and she has been active in the movement for several years. She has worked hard to get a booking for here.

Miss Sanderson is the director of the society and she has been active in the movement for several years. She has worked hard to get a booking for here.

Film Employee Joins Colors

Film employee is answering the "How the Colors" question. The film is not as if the entire office force of all the exchanges would soon consist of girls only. Every week, at least one or two names are added to the list, but this week there are more than usual. The list is maintained under the supervision of Miss Sanderson, who has been active in the movement for several years. She has worked hard to get a booking for here.

The list is maintained under the supervision of Miss Sanderson, who has been active in the movement for several years. She has worked hard to get a booking for here.

More Dallas Trade Notes

Oscar Corn, of the Palace theater, and W. J. Ballinger, of the Alvarado, will open a week to look "Pershing's Crusaders." Charles Kimball, of McKinney, and W. J. Ballinger, of the Alvarado, will open a week to look "Pershing's Crusaders."
The Photodrome "Pulls" Street Stunts.

The Photodrome, a downtown Toronto theatre, has good reason to be pleased with two young walking advertisements in the person of two boys garbed as characters of current attractions. Quite an bit was won recently during the showing of a Chaplin picture when one boy was dressed as Chaplin and the other as a policeman. At frequent intervals they were seen in wild chases and other stunts in the vicinity of the theatre.

Two Theaters at Training Camp.

Two moving picture theaters are in operation at Valcartier Camp, which is the training cantonment for overseas troops in Quebec. The theaters are located about twelve miles from the city of Quebec. The theaters are the Telegraph and the Victorian.

Princess Innovates Strip Tickets.

The Princess theater, Edmonton, Alberta, has made a further development with its policy of selling admission tickets in quantities. Regular cash admissions at the theater are 15c., 20c., and 25c. The theater also sells strips of tickets at the same rates. The strips are good at any time. By the use of the strip tickets, the admissions charged are 10c., 15c., and 20c. Regal and other theaters that sell admission tickets are purchased at the box office.

Several Theaters Close for Summer.

Several Ontario moving picture theaters have been closed down for the summer. One of these is the Auditorium, a large theater of Sarnia. The Princess theater, London, is closed for five weeks. The Patricia theater, London, Ontario, is to be closed for several weeks, during which time definite alterations will be made in the structure.

W. P. Covert Honored.

W. P. Covert, business secretary of Moving Picture Operators' Union, Toronto, Local No. 175, has been awarded the fifth vice-presidency of the International Association of Theatrical Stage Employees. Mr. Covert received a wire from President W. P. Shay which intimated his appointment.

Canadian Exchange Personalities.

M. Lubin, a well-known film salesman of Montreal and Toronto, has been inducted into the Canadian Army. He joined the colors in New York.

The Specialty Film Import, Limited, Calgary, has been purchased by new owners. It is announced that they have secured the rights for "The Barrier." Mr. M. Friedman, formerly general sales manager of the Independent Film and Theater Supply Company, has resigned in order to take charge of the Metro branch in Minneapolis.

Pictures. The theater is continuing to change program twice weekly.

The Strand recently blossomed forth in some new ways. The auditorium was painted in appropriate hues and the interior was hung with chintz drapes. The ceiling and walls of the theater are decorated with many plants and dowers. Business at the Strand shows definite signs of improvement in spite of the summer's influence.

New York Manager Visits Toronto.

Manager Nathan of the Broadway theater, New York, is in Toronto for the purpose of conferring with Manager Pomeroy of the Holman theater, and the taking up of the direction of the Canadian Universal Film Company. The object of the visit, it is said, is to arrange for the presentation of special attractions at the Holman after their release in New York. The first attraction to be presented is "The City of Tears," and its initial showing at the Holman theater on July 4.

Quimet Reports Bright Outlook in West.

After visiting various cities of the Canadian West, President L. E. Quimet of the Highway Pictures Company, returning, reported, on his return to Montreal, that the outlook in moving picture circles in the West is very bright. At the present time the exhibitors are charging advanced prices for their attractions and there is still getting the crowds. Admission prices in the Canadian West are quite a bit higher than in Eastern cities. Mr. Quimet visited Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary and other centres and in each place he found the same prospects.

Grand Theater Celebrates Anniversary.

When the Grand theater, Calgary, was opened six years ago, the first showing was "The Passing of the Third Floor Balcony," and the anniversary of the theater was celebrated a few days ago by the presentation of the same film. It was also found a good actor in film form. It was shown twice daily for three days and the evening prices were 25c. and 50c. The general admission for matinees was 25c.

Dominion Films Its Child Patrons.

The Dominion theater, Winnipeg, staged a special stunt for Saturday, June 25, and Saturday, July 6, of particular interest to children. As the young patrons left the theater after a special child's matinee on the first Saturday, a moving picture cameraman was on the job to take their smiling faces. On the following Saturday, the picture was shown on the screen at all performances.

Gerard Film Makes Big Hit.

Gerard's story, "My Four Years In Germany," made such a decisive hit during its regular week's run at the Regent theater, Toronto, that it was repeated by Manager Roi and Roberts for the week of July 1. The picture played to big business during the whole two weeks. It was shown entirely alone.

Theaters Increase Operation Time.

There is a tendency on the part of Toronto exhibitors, generally speaking, to increase the hours of operation for their theaters. His Majesty's theater is now advertising performances daily from 9:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. and the Astor theater, 233 Ossington avenue, is also advertising a daily matinee. Allen's Beaver theater also has been giving a matinee daily. Various downtown theaters, including the Colonial, Rialto, Globe, Red Mill and Photodrome, are also in operation now all day long. The large first run theaters, of course, operate from noon until 11 p.m. as well. The latter include the Regent, Strand and Allen.
Interesting Film News from Philadelphia

M. V. Coll, a Prominent Newspaper Man of Hazelton, Takes Over Management of Campbell Theater—Jack Levy Succeeds Denbow at the Fox—Manager Flynn of Peerless Exchange Joins the Marine Corps—Other Items.

By F. V. Armato, 144 North

"Pershing's Crusaders" at Forrest.

Philadelphia, Pa.—The wonderful success attending the showing of "Pershing's Crusaders," now being presented at the Forrest theater, is due to the capable management and dignified management of Mr. Trowbridge. Mr. Trowbridge was formerly connected with the Official British War Pictures, which were shown here some time ago. Since early in May he has been in charge of the showing of the United States Official War Films in all the leading cities of the Mid-West.

Associated with Mr. Trowbridge in the showing of films is Shannon Cormack, of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, who went to Canada at the age of 16, enlisted in 1914 and enlisted in the Fifth Royal Canadian Field Artillery, and has served three years, the latter part of which he was in General Leigh's 1st Division. He has been wounded twice, and is now on convalescent leave pending his return to Canada. His experiences in the trenches and his explanation of the life "over there" have interested all who have heard him.

Coll Managing Campbell Theater.

Mr.Coll, noted scribbler of one of the prominent dailies of Hazelton, has assumed active management of the Campbell theater, and is meeting with considerable success.

Murphy Running Arcadia Temporarily.

Joseph A. Murphy, manager of the Family theater, has been appointed temporary manager of the Arcadia, which is owned by Al Boyd. A few important and significant improvements in the display of tickets have been made. Mr. Donjeon, who is the permanent manager of the Arcadia, has gone on a vacation for two weeks, and will undoubtedly be much pleased when he returns and discovers the interest that Mr. Murphy has taken in the theater.

Shindler Appointed Manager of Leader.

Ben Shindler, formerly manager of the Leader and who has been recently engaged as film salesman of the Masterpiece, has been appointed manager of the Leader theater. Mr. Herbert Ellison, of the Strand, will begin active duty on Monday, July 8.

Levy to Succeed Denbow at Fox.

Jack Levy, who is credited with having opened the first exchange in Philadelphia for William Fox, has arrived here after an absence of over two years, and will succeed George Denbow, who will be leaving ready to answer his country's call.

Schwalbe to Return in July.

Harry Schwalbe, of the Electric Theater Supply Company, who left some time ago accompanied by his wife to attend the wedding of their daughter, Dorothy, on June 19 to Lieut. Raymond Connell in California, is expected to return here during the latter part of July.

Armato Now with Philadelphia Press.

The Evening Telegraph, of Philadelphia, the first newspaper with the Associated Press, is now maintaining a successful motion picture department in addition to its attractive theatrical column. According to the latest information, further publication on Saturday, June 25. However, it will be remembered that the Evening Telegraph combined with the Philadelphia Press some six months ago, and in view of the recent events the entire motion picture column with all of its theater advertising has already been transferred to the Press, a daily and Sunday proposition, through the efforts of its motion picture editor, Frank V. Armato, the pioneer in this field of newspaper work. The first motion picture department was inaugurated in the Philadelphia Daily and Sunday Times by Armato in September, 1912, and from August, 1914, to June, 1918, he conducted the photoplay department in the Evening Telegraph. Beginning Monday, July 1, he will be manager and editor of the classified and display motion picture department in the Philadelphia Press.

J. M. Flynn Joins the Marines.

J. M. Flynn, the popular and successful manager of the Peerless exchange here, has joined the Marines. Mr. Flynn goes into the Marine Corps with the best wishes of all his friends bestowed upon him. He is now stationed in Barrack No. 3 at League Island, Philadelphia.

Franklin Closes for Repairs.

The Franklin, the latest theater to have been acquired by Charles Segall, closed Monday, July 1, for extensive alterations and repairs, and will reopen about September 1.

Segall Takes the Apollo Theater.

Charles Segall of the Apollo theater has recently acquired the Franklin, the only house in the immediate vicinity which can really be classed as a competitor.

Morton Wolf Files Reply.

A reply to the Federal charges which were instituted some time ago by the Some Amusement and others, have been forwarded to Washington by Morris Wolf attorney for the Metro and other parties involved in them. Each count has been carefully considered and all of the charges were categorically denied.

Rochester Trade Notes.

By L. B. Skedington, 61 Main St., East, Rochester.

Fennyvessey's Ability Recognized.

Rochester, N. Y.—Paul Fennyvessey, who recently left the Strand theater here as manager to take charge of the Liberty theater at Camp Howie, Fort Worth, Texas, has received substantial recognition at the hands of the Government of his ability as a showman. He has been assigned the important job of booking all films used in a large string of Liberty theaters in the South. To relieve him of the extra burdens thus imposed he has been given an assistant manager for the theater.

Theaters Employing Girl Ushers.

Owing to the ruling which prohibits the use of young able-bodied men as ushers in theaters, Rochester theaters generally are following the lead of a few of the downtown theaters. Among time have employed only girls in this capacity. On every hand it appears that girls make the most satisfactory ushers.

Phillips Enlists in Heavy Artillery.

William J. Phillips, operator at the Temple theater in Holley, near Rochester, has resigned and enlisted in the Heavy Artillery, Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. Phillips is not in the draft, but after running off many war pictures during the last couple of years he felt that he would rather help to make history than go merely view it in film.

Rochester Theater Notes.

The Grand theater is now running on a reduced summer-time schedule, being open only every other day, and Saturdays and Sundays.

"The Unbeliever" held up strong all last week at the Piccadilly theater, although in the first place it had only been booked for the first half of the week.

The Family theater is making good headway in its summer-time contest. Votes count on the ratio of tickets bought during the past summer. The prizes are courses in the Rochester Business Institute.

MORE DETROIT NEWS.

Admit Soldiers and Sailors Free.

Through the splendid efforts of Police Censors of Motion Pictures, Loyal A. Baker and William E. Potter, Detroit theaters are now admitting soldiers and sailors in uniform absolutely free—exclusive of the tax which everybody must pay. Some of the theaters simply admit them at the door when the tax is paid, while some of the other theaters have placed a certain number of passes with the chairman of the recreation commission for soldiers and sailors, from where they are properly distributed. The movement will likely spread over the entire state in a short while. It's a splendid patriotic movement and one that is worth while.

Majestic Theater Closes for Repairs.

The Majestic theater, Detroit, closed Sunday, July 6, and according to General Manager M. W. McGee, will not reopen until sometime in August—probably the last of the month. It is the first time in the history of that house that it has been closed. The auditorium will be redecorated, the stage will be rebuilt and other improvements made in keeping with the Majestic policy, "where we do things bigger."

Employ Women Ticket Takers.

Two Detroit theaters are now employing women ticket takers—the Colonial and the Washington—and the management of both theaters contend that they are a big improvement over men, being more courteous, polite and interested in their work.

When you buy War Savings Stamps you do not give—you receive.
SOON TO APPEAR IN THE LIGHT OF WESTERN STARS
BY ZANE GREY

Sincerely,

Dustin Farnum

SHERMAN PRODUCTIONS
LOS ANGELES  NEW YORK
To the Exhibitor

Desiring a change from being on one subject at a time from one to two years, when the story does get slightly monotonous, I look forward, with a great deal of pleasure, to doing some shorter pictures and getting the relaxation of an occasional change of story during the year.

Many years ago, I used to do pictures known by the name of "Biograph." In the last four years, my staff and I have produced "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," and recently, "The Hearts of the World." I am very glad to say that the people seem to like "The Hearts of the World" about as well as "The Birth." Nevertheless, according to a promise made some time ago to the Artcraft people, we are going to deliver to you six six-reel subjects done absolutely under our personal direction.

We are very happy to again be with you, and to renew the pleasant relations that existed between us in the days of "Pippa Passes," "Judith of Bethulia," "The Sands of Dec," "The Battle of the Sexes," "The Escape," and "The Avenging Conscience" in the days gone by.

Most sincerely yours,

[Signature]
"WITH ALL DUE RESPECT TO HIS RIVALS, MR. GRIFFITH HAS DEMONSTRATED HIS CLAIM TO THE SOLE AND ONLY RIGHT TO PROVIDE A PICTURE THAT WILL GO ON THE 'BIG TIME' AND STAY THERE AT TWO-DOLLAR PRICES."

(Washington, D. C., Herald)

THIS HOLDS TRUE FROM LONDON AROUND THE GLOBE

D. W. GRIFFITH'S
"The Birth of a Nation"
"Intolerance"
"Hearts of the World"

These are the only productions directed personally by Mr. Griffith during the past four years

"The Great Love"

A Drama of Today—Soon to be Released
The First of a Series of Six Six-Reel Pictures to be Released on the Artcraft Program

All the Griffith Productions carry the name "Griffith" and the Trademark, "DG" on the Border Line of the Main Title

D. W. Griffith Pictures
A. L. GREY, General Manager
4500 Sunset Blvd.
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD"

Fourth Month in New York and Boston at $1.50 and $2.00 prices.
Third Month in Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia.
Over Eighteen Thousand Dollars more than "The Birth of a Nation" for the same length of time, which did over Ninety-eight Thousand Dollars.
Washington, D. C., during summer weather played to over Twenty-eight Thousand Dollars in two weeks.
Now beginning third week.
To the Exhibitors

G. M. ANDERSON

(Creator of the Broncho Billy Character)

Will Be Presented in a Series of

FEATURE PICTURES

All Particulars and Information
Will Be Announced Later

Watch This Paper
PARAMOUNT,
like the apex of the tallest mountain stands

"ME UND GOTT"
A Tense Drama of Human Emotions
A Gusher of Suspense and a Cyclone of Action
It Goes "Over the Top"

This is unquestionably the greatest motion picture produced during the war. It deals with the American viewpoint and dramatizes that awful struggle that is going on within some of our own families where the old generation still leans toward the Kaiser while the hearts of their sons and daughters beat true to the United States.

We pin our faith upon this production.

See It—Buy It—And Clean Up On It!

The picture will be screened in Chicago on July 15, 16, 17, 1918. Mr. H. Y. Romayne, president of our company, will be at the Sherman Hotel during his stay in Chicago. The picture will be screened at New York during week commencing July 25th, 1918. Mr. Romayne will be at the Hotel Astor during his stay in New York.

This picture will be sold to State Rights Buyers Only

Romayne Super-Film Company
221 Marsh-Strong Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.
Mr. Edwin A. Frazee
(The Man of Mystery)

Presents

A Two-Reel Photo Picture

Entitled

"THE HAUNTED HOUSE"

Made in California

by

FRAZEE FILM PRODUCTIONS

A COMEDY DRAMA, full of original and sensationally funny situations, different from the hackneyed and tiresome misnamed "Comedies" foisted upon theatre managers through false advertisements.

"The Haunted House" contains a love interest, a heart interest and logical thrills of suspense. In addition there are puzzling delusions, mystical illusions and weird magic, together with a screen visualization of theatrical "Black Art" never before accomplished in Motion Pictures. Behind all is a feasible plot that does not insult the intelligence of audiences by inaneness. The production is an interesting entertainment.

Mr. Frazee for many years attained vogue by directing for Keystone Company its most successful comedies. During the past year he has been perfecting his inventions. He wrote and directed "The Haunted House" which will be released on State Rights Plan in July, 1918. All letters of inquiry should be addressed to

CHARLES I. BOLLES, Executive
Frazee Film Productions
Studios and Laboratory—Boyle Heights
Los Angeles, California
“Pacific Coast Center of the Motion Picture Industry”

We enjoyed a large business a year ago; it has grown one hundred per cent. since then.

A record of the prominent directors and artists placed by us during the last few months reads like a “Who’s Who” of Filmdom.

Our Agency is an “Institution” and a necessity. Our Personal Publicity Bureau is the biggest of its kind in the country. Our Book and Play and other departments are doing more real business than ever.

References to anyone connected with the Picture Industry.

WILLIS AND INGLIS
Wright-Callender Building
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA
To The
Exhibitors and The Public

The following are my latest, and, in my opinion, my best pictures. They are released only on the Artcraft program. All other pictures are old, and, in many cases, renamed.

"The Narrow Trail"
"The Silent Man"
"Wolves of the Rail"
"Blue Blazes Rawden"
"The Tiger Man"
"Selfish Yates"
"Shark Monroe"
"Riddle Gawne"
(Released August 19)

Very respectfully yours,

[Signature]
The Robert Brunton Studios
5341 Melrose Avenue
Los Angeles, Cal.

SOME RECENT PRODUCTIONS

Madam Who?
Rose o' Paradise
Within the Cup Blindfolded
Patriotism
Maid o' the Storm Conscience
An Alien Enemy
Shackled
Wedlock
The Little Sister of Everybody
Carolyn of the Corners
A Man's Man
Turn of a Card
One Dollar Bid
Carmen of the Klondike

Alimony
His Robe of Honor
"Humdrum" Brown
With Hoops of Steel
The Bells
More Trouble
The Orleans Stage
Twenty-one
The Ghost of the Rancho
All Wrong
The One Woman
Inside the Lines
The Man of Bronze
Blue Blood
Honor's Cross
Social Ambition
The Temple of Dusk

Perfectly equipped studio space for independent units.

Productions made to order at flat price or cost plus, with or without personal supervision.
Harold
Lockwood
Metro Star
Jewel Carmen

Starred in Photoplays Supreme
by
Fox Film Corporation

Recent Releases:

"CONFESSION"
"YOU CAN'T GET AWAY WITH IT"

"THE BRIDE OF FEAR"
"THE KINGDOM OF LOVE"
"ABOVE THE LAW"
CHARLES RAY

With Compliments
Compliments of
MARY ANDERSON
Roy Stewart

TRIANGLE COWBOY STAR

And

His Director

Cliff Smith
Recent Releases:

“Hell Morgan’s Girl”
“Doll’s House”
“Treason”
“The Field of Honor”
“The Reed Case”
Etc.

Dorothy Phillips
Jewel Star

Recent Releases:

“A SOUL FOR SALE”
“The Mortgaged Wife”
“Paid In Advance” “DISCIPLINE, and GENEVRA”

Allen J. Holubar
Feature Director
ALBERT ROSCOE
PLAYING OPPOSITE
THEDA BARA

Compliments of Peggy Hamilton

"Lucile of the West"
TRIANGLE DESIGNER

Compliments of Alma Rubens
Triangle
King W. Vidor
Producer—Director—Writer

CURRENT RELEASES—
Judge Brown Boy Stories

COMING—
A Most Wonderful and Thrilling
Romantic Serial

Address
HOLLYWOOD
CALIFORNIA

Eugene B. Lewis
WRITER
Harry Carey Productions

“Hell Bent”
“Three Mounted Men”
“Hell’s Neck”
“The Eagle”
With MONROE SALISBURY

Margarita Fisher
American-Mutual Star

Current Releases:
“Molly Go Get ’Em,” “Jilted Janet,” “Anne’s Finish,” “The Primitive Woman,” “The Square Deal,” “Impossible Susan,” “Beauty To Let.”
Phil Dunham

Comedy Lead and Director

Address
C/o Arcade Apartments
Hollywood, California

Tom J. Geraghty

Writer

“A Man’s Man”
“One Dollar Bid”
“Turn of the Card” with J. WARREN KERRIGAN

“Country Kin” with BESSIE BARBUSCALE

“The Man from Brodney’s” with EARL WILLIAMS

“With Hoops of Steel” with HENRY WALTHALL and other features

Address
HOLLYWOOD
CALIFORNIA

Lewis J. Cody

NOW WITH
LOIS WEBER and PHILLIPS SMALLEY

Late Releases:
Three Productions opposite Edith Story
One Production opposite Mae Murray
Two Productions with Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley BILLY CARR assisting
JAMES YOUNG
In the Production of HAWORTH FEATURES
Starring
SESSUE HAYAKAWA

HARVEY GATES
Photoplaywright

UNIVERSAL CALIFORNIA

AUTHOR
"HELL MORGAN'S GIRL"
"BROADWAY SCANDAL"
"THE SPAWN"

Robert T. Thornby
Director Fox Film Corporation
Directing, JEWEL CARMEN

Formerly Director for PATHE WORLD FILM CORPORATION VITAGRAPh
STERLING KEYSTONE

Directed such Stars as:

Kitty Gordon
Ethel Clayton
Bessie Love
June Elvidge
Gail Kane

Vivian Martin
Wallace Reid
Earle Williams
Sessue Hayakawa
Etc.

"The plays the thing"

Hampton DelRuth
Editor and Supervising Director
GLADYS BROCKWELL
"Conscience," "For Liberty"

THEDA BARA
"East Lynne," "Eternal Sappho"

BILLY ELLIOTT
"Comrade John"

HENRY WALTHALL
"Beulah," "Nemesis"

Current Release

"VENGEANCE IS MINE—"
Featuring Michell Lewis, Thomas Santschi, Margaret Landis and an All Star Cast

Bertram Bracken
Director and Writer of Features
The Los Angeles Offices of the
Moving Picture World

are open to you for information and, in fact, for any service it is possible for a trade paper to render to any individual or organization connected with the moving picture industry.

Wright & Callendar Bldg.
405 South Hill St.
Los Angeles, Cal.

Neal Hart
Starred in Universal Westerns!

FEATURED IN THE 101 BISON  GOLD SEAL and UNIVERSAL

New
Two Reel Special Releases
Critical Reviews and Comments
Upon Current Productions

"THE EMPTY CAB"
Five-Reel Bluebird Presents Franklin Farnum in Role of Cub Reporter.
Reviewed by Robert C. McClavy.

This five-reel Bluebird number of "The Empty Cab," is a light-running story, rather conventional in its opening scenes, but developing to an amusing close. The plot is hardly strong enough for five reels, but the fact that the close is really worth while makes the number as a whole a success. The hero, Farnum, will pass as an average subject of the light, agreeable type.

Franklin Farnum appears in the role of Henry Eberly Xerxes, the spendthrift son of a wealthy father. The latter is exasperated by Henry's fondness for exerting himself in any way and sends him a note, saying "For God's sake go to work." The youth decides to act upon this advice, being out of funds, and attaches himself to the staff of a newspaper. The editor of the paper, who had not seemed very enthusiastic about employing him, finally sends Henry out to trail some counterfeiters. Henry observes the mysterious actions of a girl with whom he had been trying to flirt that very morning and follows her. He and a private detective enter the premises of a seemingly deserted house and have a series of knockabout adventures with a gang of men who have apparently made the girl captive. In the end it develops that the girl is society editor of Henry's paper and the men are all members of the staff. His father had planned a little surprise for Henry with the aid of the editor.

Eileen Percy appears as the girl in the case. Others in the cast are Harry De Mor, Frank B様々なue, Harry Lindsey and Fred Kelsey. The story was written by P. McGraw Willis and directed by Douglas Gerrard.

"THE SAFETY CURTAIN"
Select Pictures Presents Norma Talmadge in Strong Six-Reel Release.
Reviewed by Robert C. McClavy.

A compact, well-built screen production in six reels has been fashioned by Sam Franklin and Paul West from the novel called "The Safety Curtain," by Ethel M. Delli. It provides an interesting role for Norma Talmadge, a screen performer who neither fears nor skimps the dramatic end of her work for the sake of merely looking pretty. She takes hold of her situations intelligently and is fortunate in this instance, as in many others, in having a part that calls out her best. Eugene O'Brien, the soldier-hero, also does first rate work, playing with fine repression until the dramatic moments come.

The story is one that contains much human feeling convincingly set forth. Miss Talmadge appears as Puuck, a dancer of the London music halls. She is married to the "strong man," a brutal fellow named Vulcan, who beats her unmercifully and holds her to a strict social regime while he does not hesitate to make love to other women. There is a real fire scene in the theater, during which Captain Merryon, the hero, rescues Puuck and takes her to his apartments. Both the captain and the girl are comparatively friendless and naturally fall in love. Vulcan is presumed to have died in the fire and the captain takes Puuck with him to the Army Post in India.

The dramatic moments, which are splendidly presented, come when Sylvester, a former inhabitant of the dance halls, recognizes Puuck. The girl will not yield to his advances and Sylvester commences with Vulcan, who has also appeared on the scene. The latter eventually succumbs to the plague and Puuck and Merryon are happily wed.

Gladden James has the part of Sylvester and Andrews Bondell appears as Vulcan.

"THE CLEMENCEAUX CASE."
Riciss of Five-Part Adaptation of the Dumas Novel Featuring Theda Bara.
Reviewed by Margaret I. Mac Donald.

The reissue of "The Clemenceaux Case," which Dick Whittington and Theda Bara, will no doubt meet with its former success with the type of audiences who bothered with last fall's interpretation and the super-melodramatic flavor given the production in its development. A plot is played up as the central pivot of the story, to an extent that will be offensive to some, for the reason that it prevails as analyzed, neglects the importance of the characterization and purpose of the story.

The story tells of the wicked manipulations of an artist's model when her lot lies between money and position and love. Discovering that a certain rich nobleman, whom she has hoped to marry has decided to follow the advice of his mother and go to a union with the model on account of their difference in station, she marries a sculptor for whom she appeared to have had an affection. Finally a crossing of love affairs, all of which prove the fickleness of the woman's affection.

As told in the film the story has only the charm of melodrama and Bara featured to establish a more serious objective.

"THE WHIRLPOOL."
Select Picture Starring Alice Brady Contains Numerous Dramatic Moments.
Reviewed by Edward Weltz.

VICTORIA MORTON'S novel "The Whirlpool" has been put into picture form by Eve Unsell and produced by Select with Alice Brady as the star and Alan Crosland the director. William Marshall was the cameraman. The story is dramatic in the extreme, the heroine, Bella Cavello, being the decoy for her stepfather's gambling house. It belongs to the class of films that will not avoid the test of plausibility, but has sufficient fervor excitement to keep the spectator forgetting whether the scenes are real or not.

Several of the characters belong to the higher circles of the underworld, and the inside of an actual gambling house is shown in full blast, although New York is supposed to have shut the doors of all but the legal. Mayor Hyland started his reform administration on its artistic side there is much to recommend. The dramatic moment in the story is sufficiently attractive as the decoy, and acts with force and skill.

Bella Cavello is the creation of circumstance. Her instincts are those of a re-
January 18, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Frank Losee as Uncle Tom, Henry Stanford as St. Clair, Walter Lewis as Simon Legree, Effie Hayley Morrisson as Ophelia, and Florence Carpenter as Eliza stand prominently in the well chosen cast.

"CAPITOL COMEDIES."

"Smiling Bill" Parsons Featured in Two Subjects of Two Reels Each.

Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

For these two-reel comedy numbers, released by Goldwyn, prove but moderately successful. They do little more than make fair observer wish he could see the hero, "Smiling Bill" Parsons, in stories with a better comedy swing to them. He has an engaging personality and would certainly prove highly successful in the right mediums. The events in these two offerings would be very funny if they happened in real life, but on the screen they are only mildly amusing.

"Dad's Knockout" features Mr. Parsons as the widowed father of a gay youth named Jimmy. The son loves an actress and the father decides to put an end to the affair. He attends the theater and promptly falls in love with the actress herself. The later events concern the rivalry between father and son for the heart of the actress. "Smiling Bill" is not very attractive in the latter role and Neil Burns is agreeable in the role of Jimmy, but the plot does not develop much humor.

"Widow's Mite," the second subject, features Mr. Parsons as a salesman for a corset house. He wants to be manager of the house and finds himself in competition for the job with the star salesmen. The place is promised to the man who gets the first order. "Smiling Bill" is already in love with Miss Doris Nolan, who is just as pretty miss portrayed by Molly Malone, but he makes love to a Mrs. Stacey, who owns a department store, and with which he is already acquainted. The widow becomes wise to his game, but he finally gets both the girl and the job as manager.

"THE CLAWS OF THE HUN.

Reviewed by Edward Weitze.

One more screen drive at the Kaiser! "The Claws of the Hun" is a contribution of the Paramount to the list of photoplays that are engaging in showing the American people the kind of foes the Allies are fighting abroad and the choice collection of German spies that are undermining our own country. All the scenes of the picture take place in the United States; but John Stanton, the hero, seen through enough danger to satisfy the most ardent lover of melodramatic situations. The plot is constructed after the accepted formula and the material has seen much honorable service in the cause of the drama. Skillful handling of the entire five parts, by both the dramatist and the director, and Charles Ray's sympathetic acting of the young American who proves his courage and ready wit before joining the ranks places "The Claws of the Hun" among the best of the Paramount releases in which Ray has appeared. John Stanton is the son of a wealthy manufacturer of munitions, and has never cared for his country's call, and is determined to enlist, until his invalid mother begs him not to do so. Her plea that his going will cause her death wins him over.

That night he discovers that Alfred Werner, the factory's most trusted assistant, is a German spy.

The elder Stanton and Werner are at the office of the works, going over some important papers. John learns that the factory has been secretly wired and that the spy intends to blow it up and his father with it unless he gives up papers belonging to the United States. The young fellow is caught by Werner's accomplices and is tortured, in an effort to make him tell the combination of his father's safe.

Neither of the Stantons, father nor son, will betray his country.

John escapes from his captors and rescues his father in a highly sensational manner. The last scene of him is marching away to war with his mother's blessing and his father and his sweet-heart cheering him on.

June Novak, Robert McKim, Dorcas Matthews and Melbourne MacDowell have the leading parts in the Ray production. All are excellent.

"EVERYWOMAN'S HUSBAND."

Gloria Swanson Effective in Triangle Picture of Modern Life.

Reviewed by Edward Weitzen.

Gloria Swanson has a starring role in a Flag day picture "Everywoman's Husband," which she handles with much ease, on the screen as on the stage.

The play, which is a morality, in itself, is a vehicle of sorts for the stars, who are quite capable of handling it.

The Triangle picture, written by John Clymer and G. Loague and starring Gloria Swanson, is a morality play, but it contains a terrible commonplace of what happens to a man when he isn't enough of a man to boss his own house. Fortunately, for the peace of the world, woman of the Mrs. Jonathan Rhodes class are not in the majority but there are enough of them to make the warning conveyed in the story impressive. Spectators with a well developed sense of humor will get considerable amusement out of the situations, and everyone will be able to recall prototypes of all the characters in real life. Gilbert P. Hamilton has directed the picture expertly, and Tom Luecking, the photographer, has kept his share of the work up to the mark.

The plot of "Everywoman's Husband" is not at all complicated. Six people are the story. Mr. Rhodes, their husband, their son-in-law, one of his friends, the opposite sex. Mrs. Rhodes is the ruler of her home. Before her daughter marries she instructs her in the art of becoming a husband. Daughter tries it on when she becomes Mrs. Frank Emerson and succeeds in driving his head and heart, and to another woman for peace and comfort.

The picture is capably directed, and the acting is good. Robert B. Kurrie, a minute man, has added a new character, and Bert Lytell, having been out of the picture for some time, is again seen in a motion picture role. It is much more interesting for the performances in it.
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

July 20, 1918

CUPID BY PROXY.

Five-Reel Pathe-Diano Subject Tells Delightful Story of Home Life.

Reviewed by Robert C. McIlvray.

This five-reel Pathe-Diano offering features Baby Marie Osborne in a thrilling and realistic story of two neighboring families. The plot is a slight one, but the story gains rather than lessens from this. The action is well directed in effect, and the natural swing of the events pictured and its faithful reflection of real life.

Hugh Brown is the delightful Cheever, next door neighbors in the suburbs of a city. Between them they own a Ford car and one of the early incidents shown is a picnic which all attend in this car. The picnic is a joyous event, abounding in amusing and humorous happenings. Hugh Brown is very much in love with Jane Stewart, and Marie Osborne and Tommy Brown are very good friends.

As time goes on Mr. Stewart begins maniacs and the world changes in partnership with a man named Woods. Mr. Stewart becomes rich and his family begins to draw closer to their neighbors. Hugh Brown wants to marry Jane and her parents encourage the match. But Ralph Brown wants to buy the clothing mill and the clothespin factory, refuses to give up the girl. In the end, an exciting fire and a murder follows, but well directed, will Little Marie plays an important part in bringing the two together.

Other interesting cast, offering, which will appeal to a family audience strongly, are John Stepping, J. N. McDowell, Mildred Collum, Wallace Beery and Kenneth Norden. William Bertram directed.

"WE CAN'T HAVE EVERYTHING." Interesting Story of Marriage Revolt Released by Arctraft.

Reviewed by Louis Reeves Harrison.

LIVE issue, that of "Marriage Revolt," probably second only to the great European War in general public interest, and Mr. De Mille has pictured the Hughes story with keen realization that any good comprehensive survey of the aspirations of the modern woman cannot fail to interest a very large portion of the average audience. Considerable preparation and carriage to society as now constituted it is a matter of wonder that more plays of this type are not more.

Mr. De Mille is certainly on the right track to bring out this kind of story, enlivened with a great cast of characters to re-adapt the whole subject rather superficially, as he is in taping the story with interest fails himself and those producing humbug vehicles to explain some exacting star of limited histronic ability. His visualizations have an added charm in their beautiful appeal to the senses—they reach thought and judgment through sentiment. He has taken various groups of men and self-indulgent people in easy circumstances and clearly set forth their lack of finesse in such a way that her moral by methods so subtle that the motive is felt rather than seen. They are Charity Cheever, social worker (Kathlyn Williams); James Dickman, a millionaire (Eliot Dexter); Keddie Thropp, an actress.

Get him in a corner.

Comments

General Film Company.

SISTERS OF THE GOLDEN CIRCLE.—One of the best of the two-reel O. E. Productions. Ann Jeffres and Edna McClure as Edward Earle appear in the leading roles. The story deals with two brides, and most of the scenes are on the top of a Fifth Avenue "bus" in New York. This story affords an excellent combination of human interest, comedy, humor and action.

THE BRIEF DEBUT OF TILDY.—This two-reel picture is an adaptation of a stage hit with Alice Terry and Florence Lawrence. Alva Faye and Dorothy Grimsby both make effective work. Alice Terry is well cast in the leading role, while Lletcher the daughter, has an effective performance. Miss McTray is a well cast in the leading role.

Bluebird Photoplays, Inc.

THE EMPTY CAB (Bluebird).—A five-reeler, written by P. McDevitt Willis and directed by A. Douglas McFadden. This features Franklin Farnum as a cab driver, who is sent out by his paper to capture some counterfeiters. It develops that the assignment was a hoax and this leads to a most amusing close. The story is too slight in plot for five reels, but will average up quite well for a number of the better type.

Review at length elsewhere.

Famous Players-Lasky.

THE CLAWS OF THE HUN (Paramount).—Jules De Clerco and the star of this five-part photoplay which has an engrossing plot and is capital for the entire cast. A longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN (Paramount).—July 15.—Margarette Clarke, Claude Gillingwater and Little Eva in this five-part screen version of the celebrated story. The production is elaborate, the river scenes being especially realistic. A longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

Fox Film Corporation.

OTHER MEN'S DAUGHTERS (Fox), July 7.—A five-part production featuring Peggy Hyland and a competent cast. The picture draws attention meant for a special appeal to the indifference with which men of loose morals handle the careers of other people's daughters. A full review will be found elsewhere.

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation.

DADDY'S KNOCKOUT (Capitol Comedy).—This is a fairly good comedy number which features "Smiling Bill" Parsons as the father of a youth who loves an actress. The father attempts to check the romance, but fails in love with the person himself. The characterization and settings are very good, but this does not develop much humor. Review at length elsewhere.

WIDOW'S MIGHT (Capitol Comedy).—A two-reel number, featuring "Smiling Bill" Parsons as the father of a youth who loves an actress. He makes love to a widow who owns a department store for the purpose of getting a large sum of money. He finds out, but he wins the promotion he was seeking. This is only fairly well reviewed. Review at length elsewhere.

Greater Vitagraph, Inc.

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS (Vitagraph), July 8.—Henry is the author and actor, in a well developed story featuring Edward Earle and Anne Ayres and directed by Kenneth Webb. The scenes are laid in New York and the story is one of whimsical humor. It is reviewed at length on another page of this issue.

Jewel Productions, Inc.

THAT GREENER OF BERLIN (Century-Jewel).—A two-reel burlesque on "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," written by Frank Howard Clark and directed by Arthur Hatolaing. This caricatures the German court and burlesques numerous events pictures the Kaiser offering. It winds up with the captured war lord hanging to a rope from an airplane. Review at length elsewhere.

Metro Pictures Corporation.

NO MAN'S LAND (Metro), July 8.—A five-part screen version of a Louis Joseph North story, "The Kaiser's-Prize Work," directed by-filter the hero. The subject deals with the war in an interesting manner. It is reviewed at length on another page of this issue.

TO HELL WITH THE KAISER (Metro-Safe, Classic).—A seven-act production, written by June Mathis and directed by George Irving. This is a story of the war, portraying scenes in the German court since 1900, the Belgian atrocities, the entrance of America into the conflict and the entrance of the Kaiser into battle. A strong combination of grim war and-
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

July 20, 1918

W. S. S. Thriftette Trailers Issued for Exhibitors

W. S. S. THRIFETTES, consisting of short animated cartoon trailers, will be attached to features released during the ensuing three months. Each trailer will be a complete story, the design and each of the thirteen releases will be a different subject. A synopsis of each trailer is given below.

To encourage thrift and the buying of War Saving Stamps, the National War Savings Committee, Picture theaters to run these trailers with features as they appear and to announce their appearance on the screen, in the lobby, in programs and in the newspapers. Expecting their appearance, the patrons will be better able to appreciate them.

The National Association of the Motion Picture Industry through its committee on public relations (Chairman, Marcus Loew; J. E. Brulatour; Walter W. Irwin and George K. Spoor) has arranged with the National distributors to attach these trailers to features as released.

SYNOPSIS OF THRIFETTES

For Week Ending June 30 and July 7

The Kaiser and the Bees

The Kaiser with field glasses is viewing the battlefield from a hill on the "Western Front." From the beehive (U. S. Treasury) comes a swarm of W. S. S. bees, who attack the Kaiser and sting him into Berlin, where he surrenders.

No. 2—OurTwo Greatest Enemies

Opens with parallel scene of the "Kaiser and His Horde" and the "Miser Jury." Kaiser is shown rescuing the Miser from a novel by Virginia Morton, this five-part picture deal with the underworld. It is directed by Allen Croft and Brady. The plot is dramatic and the cast has been ably directed by Alan Crossland. The picture is given a longer review on another page of this issue.

Triangular Film Corporation

EVERYWOMAN'S HUSBAND (Triangular). July 7—Gloria Swanson leads the cast of this first effort of Jules Clymer and G. Logue. The picture is fairly interesting and was directed by Gilbert J. Heyward. A longer review on another page of this issue.

FATTY AND MABEL ADIRLFT (Triangular). A farce, and a type of the best Keystone comedies ever made. The finish is a loud yell of amusement. Fatty Arbuckle and Mabel Normand are immensely. This sequel is now on the Triangular program.

Universal Film Company

ANIMATED WEEKLY, No. 16 (Universal). June 29—This cartoon of a long-running Stamp campaign. "Doughboys," collecting garments for Belgians, is a prize Holstein-C traveling in the field building, French guns and silencing supercannon, and other features are included in this number.

CURRENT EVENTS, No. 60 (Universal). June 29—This opens with scenes showing the training of Naval rookies and includes many other war subjects of interest.

"The Geezer of Berlin" Will Be Released Soon

"The Geezer of Berlin," which was produced by The Comedy Company, is a travesty on the Kaiser's successful dramatic production, "The Kaiser, the War and Gold." It will be released during the summer.

According to Harry M. Berman, sales manager of Jewel and Julius Stern, president of The Comedy Company, it was directly due to the former's success in handling "The Kaiser" that the idea of a travesty upon that feature were enunciated by the Century company. It was believed—"The Kaiser" was to be released first in the list of films being handled by that organization.

"The Geezer of Berlin," which is in three reels, is said closely to parallel the action of "The Kaiser." It, however, the latter production sounds the dramatic note throughout, the former is burlesque purely.

According to Julius Stern, the newest jewel release is the most ambitious undertaking in the history of the Century Company and without doubt one of the most expensive comedies produced.

Frank Howard Clark prepared the script for the Jewel Comedy, while Arthur Hotaling directed the picture.

The Moving Picture World

Hooke is a notable one, the following players enacting the principal roles: Ray Hanford, as "The Kaiser, Little Willie A'Mighty"; Dick Stewart, as "The Belgian Quince"; Marvin Loback as "Von Hindenburg"; Walter Bytell, as "Von Turpentine"; Richard Poxall as Chancellor Von Mann-Bowlegs; Earl Lynn, as the "Official Palace Cop"; Hughie Mack, as the "Duxon Village Baker"; Bartine Burkette, as his daughter; Monte Banks, as the Baker's Assistant, and Bert Roach, as the "German Gnome."

"The Geese of Berlin" is the second short subject to find a place on the list of the Jewel releases. The first was "The Sinking of the Lusitania."

Affiliated Extends Scope to Include All Exhibitors

The cooperative booking plan of the Affiliated Distributors Corporation, whose representative was made public last week, according to an official of the company, when the executives of that organization arranged to extend the scope of the movement so that it could include every exhibitor desirous of associating with it.

"Originally it was intended to limit the benefits accruing from co-operative booking to the number of exhibitors necessary to complete a quota of 2,500 days on each picture for the country," said this official. "This quota was to be divided among twenty-five exhibitors booking corporations, each of which were to guarantee, by a sure fund, an average of one hundred days a picture."

"Exhibitors guaranteeing these trust funds were to have participated actively in the low rentals effected and the excess profits derived. Exhibitors not members of the booking associations allied with the Affiliated were to pay the regular rentals."

"The manner in which exhibitors all over the country have rallied to the Affiliated, however, has caused its sponsors to let down the bars to some extent. With the quota for the entire country now practically completed, after only two months' organization work, it has become apparent that any restrictions as to the scope of the Affiliated plan would be unfair to the many exhibitors who have been diligent in taking advantage of it, and would nullify the purpose of its organizers to make the co-operative movement representative of all exhibitors."

"Accordingly, the directors of the Affiliated at their recent meeting approved a form of participating certificates which will enable exhibitors who have not joined their territorial booking corporations to gain the same low rentals enjoyed by the original subscribers to the units' trust fund."

"Whether exhibitors holding these participating certificates will be extended a share in the excess profits of the booking corporation is a matter which has been left to decide as it seems fit."

"It is expected that this expansion of the Affiliated will give it a booking strength greater in excess of the usual number of days for which the average picture is booked. This, naturally, will further lower prices and encourage increased quality of production, as the producer shares with the exhibitors in excess profits."

"Waifs" a Summer Feature.

"Waifs," which will be released by Pathé on the program of August 4, should prove an ideal summer attraction, for Gladys Hulette and Creighton Hale have a very small role in the plot. Hale has a very likable role in that he is a poor newspaper reporter who throws his protection over the runaway daughter of a wealthy man and quite without knowing her circumstances falls in love with her.

THE BIOSCOPE

The Leading British Trade Journal with an International Circulation
85 Shaftesbury Avenue, London, W. Specimen on Application

BE SURE and visit the home of the ATLAS KIDDIES at the ATLAS STUDIOS

NEWTON HIGHLANDS MASS.

Watch for Early Comedy Announcement

Picture Theaters Projected.
(Continued from page 410.)

BLUE EARTH, MINN.—E. D. Evans has purchased Converse theater, and will operate shortly.

DEER RIVER, MINN.—Bents & Gunn, owners of Grant theater at Grand Rapids, have purchased Lyceum theater, and will develop it to moving pictures.

MORRIS, MINN.—S. P. Kennedy has resigned as manager Strand theater.

WINONA, MINN.—Theater is to be built at Broadway and High Forest streets by H. A. Robichek.

LEXINGTON, MISS.—Earl M. Hooke will remodel but small $40,000 theater, for moving picture theater, 40 by 71 feet; two-story frame; composition roof; wood floors; stove heating; electric lighting; concrete sidewalks; work started.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—H. A. Drake, $16,000 improvements were made in this theater, which was closed last year; the new theater is a big $16,000 picture theater, 97 by 127 feet, with seating capacity for 2,000 persons, and costing $500,000.

HYANNIS, NEB.—Mr. Mocrow will establish moving picture show here.

CLAY CENTER, NEB.—Dickle theater has been taken over by G. Summer.

GOTHENBURG, NEB.—Baldwin & De Woody, of Denver, have purchased interest in G. Burke in Sun theater.

HASTINGS, NEB.—Wonderland theater has been leased by Mrs. J. Welden.

HOSKINS, NEB.—E. Puls will establish moving picture theater at opera house.

OMAHA, NEB.—A. H. Blank plans to remodel American theater.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Beverly Amusement Co., 220 Broadway, New York, has plans by M. Straub, 147 Fourth avenue, New York, for two-story moving picture and store building, 54x70 feet, to cost $50,000.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Max Spitzer, 46 W. 54th street, New York, has plans by C. M. Straub, 147 Fourth avenue, New York, for one-story theater, $20,000, to cost $40,000.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Theater costing $100,000 is being erected on site of old Payton's theater, Lee avenue and Taylor street, by M. Solomon & Sons.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Dean Theater Company has plans by M. A. Canter for $35,000 theater at 25th street and Flatbush avenue.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—H. J. Krapp, 116 E. 16th street, is preparing plans for two-story theater and store building at 166th street and Fort Washington avenue, to cost $100,000.

WASHINGTON HEIGHTS, N. Y.—William M. McElhatstick has completed plans for theater and store at 166th street and Fort Washington avenue, while E. Keith's Theater Corporation will erect at cost of $100,000.

WAHPETON, N. D.—W. L. Brown, manager and lease of opera house, has taken over Braun theater.

CLEVELAND, O.—Fairland Theater Company has incorporated with $20,000 capital.

URBANA, O.—William Clifford, care Robert C. Gotwald, Springfield, O., plans to erect moving picture theater, 112 by 90 feet, to cost $40,000.

EXETER, PA.—Joseph Walsh plans to remodel one-story moving picture theater, 22x80 feet, to cost $2,000.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Mark W. Jones has taken over 172.11 by 72.3 feet, $2,000.

POTTSTOWN, PA.—Chesnutt Street theater will be remodeled and conducted in future under management of William H. Engel and J. William Schaeffer.
Advising Aids for Busy Managers

“HELL’S END”

Triangle Presents William Desmond in Anna Steese Richardson’s Story of the Good Society, the Woman Who Went Down It.

Cast.
- Jack Donovan
- William Desmond
- Mary Pickford
- Charles Chadlin

Directed by J. W. McLaughlin.

The Story. While slumming in "Hell’s End," where she lived before her father became wealthy, Mary Flynn meets Jack Donovan, her childhood sweetheart. Belle Burns, one of the characters of the district, is in love with Jack, now the successful son of wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Donovan. Enraged, she inspires a plot between Jack and and Jack speaking. Enraged, she inspires a fight between Jack and Hank Dillon, who aspires to become leader. During the fight a gangster strikes Jack over the head, rendering him unconscious. Later, while he is in the hospital, Univac decides to make a position for him in his father’s iron works, but as a result of her interest in the man, she is ostracized by her wealthy associates. Jack later goes to settle with Hank, but is told that Mulligan is the man who knocked him out. A fight ensues between the gangsters and Jack, the latter winning. Later, when Jack and Mary are doing Red Cross work in the district, a realization of their happiness when they were children comes to them when the same younger is playing in the streets. The old love for each other is awakened by the sight, and the story ends with Mary and Jack looking forward to a life of happiness.

IN THIS ISSUE.
- The City of Tears (Bluebird).
- The City of Shadows (Paramount).
- The Deciding Kiss (Bluebird).
- The Glorious Adventure (Goldwyn).
- Hell’s End (Triangle).
- Her Moment (Universal).
- Her Body in Bond (Universal).
- Her Price (Fox).
- Marked Cards (Triangle).
- More Trouble (Pathe).
- News of the World (Triangle).
- One Dollar Bid (Paramount).
- Uncle Tom’s Cabin (Paramount).
- Woman Must Have Everything (Artcraft).
- Winner Takes All (Bluebird).

“UNCLE TOM’S CABIN”

Adolph Zukor Presents Margarette Clark in the Dual Role of Topsy and Eva in a Superb Picturization of an Immortal Work.

LITTLE EVAs]
- Margarette Clark
- Topsy

CAST:
- J. W. Johnston
- Fred Astaire
- Florence Carpenter
- Uncle Tom
- Frank Losee
- Marks
- Milly Red
- Lee
- Walter Lees
- Mrs. St. Clair
- Augusta Anderson
- Mr. St. Clair
- Henry Stanford
- Cassy
- Legree’s Slave
- Ruby Hoffman
- Aunt Chloe
- Susanne Willis
- Ophelia
- Eva’s Aunt
- Mrs. Priestley Morrison

The Story. Uncle Tom is a Kentucky slave who was sold and sent to the South. When on a steamboat on the Mississippi he saves the life of Eva St. Clair, whose father purchases him as a reward for his bravery. St. Clair proposes to set him free, but the former’s death, which occurs, prevents Uncle Tom from leaving St. Clair’s ship, and Uncle Tom is sold to Simon Legree, a brutal planter, who maltreats him mercilessly until he dies from his injuries just as the son of his former owner arrives to repurchase him and give him a comfortable home for the rest of his days.

Feature Marguerite Clark as Little Eva and Frank Losee as Uncle Tom.

Program and Advertising Phrases:
- Picturization of the Most Widely Read Story in America.
- Author of "Uncle Tom’s Cabin" Now on the Screen in Sumptuous Production.
- Margarette Clark Reaches Climax of Her Artistic Career with "Uncle Tom’s Cabin" Story.
- The Most Widely Read Book and Most Popular Play Now Screened in Sumptuous Revival.
- Story of the First War for the Safety of Democracy.

Stunt Suggestions. There is just one way to get the money on this. Handle it precisely as you would a road Tom show. Get up as many three and twenty-four as you can post to advantage, and go into the nearby towns along the trolley. Use plenty of newspaper displays, but avoid the company mats, which are not convincing. See if you can dig up some old Tom cuts in the newspaper office or use straight type and large letters. If you can, swing a street parade with a brass band and real brass bands, and if you can possibly get a negro quartette and add this feature to your show and use them in the lobby for a ballhoily, singling the old plantation songs and spirituals. The more noise you make the more money you get. And in all your work play up the fact that Miss Clark plays two roles. Capitalize her popularity for all it is worth.

Advising Aids: Two each one, three and six-sheets. One 24-sheet. Lobby display of 12, 24, 36, 48, 60, 72, 96, 120, 144, 168, 200, and 250. Advertisement layout mats. Slides. Press book.
WINNER TAKES ALL
Bluebird Presents Monroe Salisbury and Betty Schade in the Story of the Rudder of Wind River.

Cast:
Alan MacDonald..............Monroe Salisbury
Saul Chardon..............Alfred Allen
Nola Chardon..............Betty Schade
Frances Breslin..............Mae Bessell
Directed by Elmer Clifton.

The Story: Alan MacDonald, a saltwater dog, was the owner of the largest schooner in the port of San Francisco. The men who worked on the ship were the best of friends, but one day a new man joined the crew. His name was Ted, and he was a hard-drinking, shiftless drunkard. The men were shocked when they discovered that Ted was actually a hermit who had been hiding out on a deserted island. They had to convince him to join the crew, but when they finally did, they realized that Ted was the key to unlocking the secrets of the ship.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Romance of the Far East. Adventure in the Heart of the Unknown. The Story of a Man's Triumph over Adversity.

Feature Monroe Salisbury as Alan Macdonald and Betty Schade as Nola Chardon.

“THE CITY OF DIM FACES”

Cast:
Jang Lung..............Sessue Hayakawa
Margaret March..............Elizabeth Mandell
Wing Lung..............James Cruze
Tse Lung..............Finnis Grant
Wong Lung..............Togo Yam "Poker" Lung

The Story: In the bustling city of San Francisco, a young Chinese-American named Tony is on the run from the law. He has been accused of a murder he didn't commit, and he has nowhere to turn. But when he meets a beautiful woman named Maria, he starts to see a glimmer of hope. He begins to trust her, and together they work to clear his name and bring justice to the city.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Romance and Adventure in the Exotic Lands of the Orient. The Story of a Man's Battle Against Injustice.

Feature Sessue Hayakawa as Jang Lung and Doris Pown as Marcella Matthew.

“THE CITY OF TEARS”
Bluebird Presents Carmel Myers and Edwin August in a Story of the People, But Presenting Many Unusual Angles.

Cast:
Carmel Myers..............Tony
Edwin August..............Billy
Rosita spouses..............Leatrice Joy
Kathryn.....................Lottie Kruse

The Story: In the heart of the city, a young couple is trying to make a life for themselves. They work hard, but they are always one step behind the law. One day, they are caught in a violent brush with the police, and their lives are forever changed.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Romance and Adventure in the Heart of the City. The Story of a Man's Struggle Against the Law.
Argus-Sheck Universal Adapter

LIGHTING PROGRESS.

In recent years there has been rapid progress and many new ideas advanced that have increased lighting efficiency generally. The invention of new incandescent lamps and improvements in older styles have been responsible for much of this progress.

An example of this which you will appreciate is in the matter of store lighting. It is only a few years since carbon-arc lamps were used almost exclusively—now they are almost obsolete in that field and incandescent lamps have replaced them. The result is better lighting, at less cost and with less attention.

Similarly, Mazda Projector Lamps will replace carbon-arcs for motion picture projection in the great majority of theatres. And the results will be just as great as the savings and improvements in store lighting.

The adoption of Mazda Projection by the use of Argus Equipment greatly simplifies operating—all the operator's attention may be directed to the head of the machine and to improving projection.

The Argus Lamp & Appliance Co.
General Offices: CLEVELAND, OHIO for Mazda Lamp Projection

ARE YOU FROM MISSOURI?

LIKE every important invention, there are some people who hesitate to consider the new idea justly—they are skeptical and must be shown.

So if you are "from Missouri" we want to show you the advantages of projecting with Argus Equipment and Mazda Projector Lamps. We have shown and proven our case to hundreds of theatre owners, large film producers, colleges, schools, etc.—a few of the pioneer users are listed here.

The great majority of picture theatres can adopt Argus equipment, profitably. In a few cases conditions are not right. Before accepting your order we will make sure the conditions in your theatre are correct for Mazda Projection.

The adoption of Argus Equipment will eliminate the cost of carbons, plano lenses, arc-lamp jaws, terminal wires, etc., that are now a constant expense.

It will pay you to learn the real facts. If you can get the benefits we claim, you will want to make the change, so we ask you to simply mail the coupon below for particulars.

WE WANT TO SHOW YOU!

MAIL THIS COUPON  FOR PARTICULARS—NOW!

A Few of Many Theatres to Adopt This New Idea

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Theater</th>
<th>Location</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Airdrome</td>
<td>Douglas, Ariz.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Auditorium</td>
<td>Hastings, Fla.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Avenue</td>
<td>Cleveland, O.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Banner</td>
<td>Los Angeles, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bijou</td>
<td>Corning, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blythe</td>
<td>Blythe, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cline</td>
<td>Los Angeles, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Columbia</td>
<td>Phoenix, Ariz.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comique</td>
<td>Bedford, O.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crazy</td>
<td>Mineral Wells, Texas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dyme</td>
<td>Lake Mills, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Empire</td>
<td>San Pedro, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harold</td>
<td>Harold, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hippodrome</td>
<td>Huntington, W. Va.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ideal</td>
<td>Cleveland, O.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King</td>
<td>Cleveland, O.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leon</td>
<td>Leon, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Majestic</td>
<td>San Pedro, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minor</td>
<td>Davenport, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McCallahan</td>
<td>Douthat, Okla.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palace</td>
<td>Tyler, Texas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palace</td>
<td>Trinidad, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pearl</td>
<td>San Antonio, Texas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess</td>
<td>Florence, Ariz.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Queen</td>
<td>Corpus Christi, Texas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Savoy</td>
<td>Quincy, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shaffer</td>
<td>Earlham, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Star</td>
<td>Ohio, Ill.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Star</td>
<td>Leavenworth, Wash.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Starland</td>
<td>Syracuse, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Clinton, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Fort Worth, Texas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Straw</td>
<td>Calexico, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Temple</td>
<td>Lawton, Okla.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thirteenth St.</td>
<td>Harrisburg, Pa.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U &amp; I</td>
<td>Des Moines, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wonderland</td>
<td>Buckeye, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yale</td>
<td>Muskogee, Okla.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

These Progressive Film Producers Are Using Argus Equipment in Their Projection Rooms

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Company</th>
<th>Location</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Erbograph Company</td>
<td>New York</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. W. Griffith Studio</td>
<td>Los Angeles, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wm. S. Hart Studio</td>
<td>Los Angeles, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mack Sennett Film Corp'n</td>
<td>Los Angeles, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Universal Film Co</td>
<td>Universal City, Cal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vitagraph Co</td>
<td>Flatbush, Brooklyn, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Installation in Colleges, Schools, Institutions, etc.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Institution</th>
<th>Location</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Chautauqua Bureau of Motion Pictures</td>
<td>Joplin, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iowa State College</td>
<td>Ames, Ia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jefferson College</td>
<td>Convent, La.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

They have cut their operating costs, and get better illumination.

SO CAN YOU!

You may give me full particulars regarding the Sheek Universal Adapter, with the name of your nearest distributor. This will place me under no obligations. My name and address are written on the margin below.
"MORE TROUBLE"

Pathé Presents Frank Keenan in a Tragi-Comic of Two Men of the Same Name But Different Tastes.

CAST:

Lamuel Deering.............. Frank Keenan
Harvey Deering.............. John Gilbert
Mrs. Deering................ Ida Lewis
Michelle Deering............ Roberta Wilson
Cecil Morrow................ Joseph J. Dowling
Harold Morrow.............. Jack Rollins
Horatio Wells.............. Helen Marlowe
Jack Wells.................. Al Ritz
Barnabas Handwig........... Clyde Benson
Mary.......................... Aggie Herring

Directed by Robert Warde.

THE STORY: Lamuel Deering, a wealthy iron manufacturer, is surprised to learn from his son, Harvey, who has just graduated from college that he neither drinks nor smokes, and that he wishes to follow a serious life. The father, therefore, takes him into the business, but it is suddenly swamped with bills from liquor dealers, taxi companies, tobacconists, etc., charged to Deering, Jr. Harvey demands that he be contracted from them. When a note which comes from the bank and which Harvey says he did not sign is repudiated by Mr. Deering it results in driving the iron man to the point of bankruptcy. More trouble comes to the father when Harvey on a trumped up charge of murder lands in jail. Then there appears the son of a plutocrat and roommate of Harvey, who, after getting Harvey out of jail, confesses that it was he who signed Harvey's name to the note because his father refuses him spending money. Mr. Deering, to save his business, gets the gangster to work for him and then he puts Harvey and his college chum to work at hard labor in the iron works.

Feature: Frank Keenan as Lamuel Deering.

Stunt Suggestions: In your press work and advertising play up the story, but withholding the smoke gets out in the head of the pica type that came to the Deerings, but do not explain how it is all cleared up. For distributed matter use manila envelopes printed up with a big "More Trouble" and with a simple message inside. Seal the envelopes, and the contents will be more apt to be read.

Advertising Aids: One oneshot, two three-sheets, six-sheets, one twenty-four sheet. Lobby displays, 11x14, both in sepia and color.

Released July 15.

"ONE DOLLAR BID"

Parlata Plays Presents J. Warren Kerrigan in a Story Dealing with a Unique Phase of the Kentucky Law and the Regeneration of a Man.

CAST:

Toby......................... J. Warren Kerrigan
Virginia Dace................. Lois Wilson
Colonel Dace.................... Joseph J. Dowling
Emily Dace..................... Leatrice Joy
Ralph Patterson................ Arthur Allard
Dink Wallerby.............. L. A. Harring
Elvira Wells.................. Ethel Clark

Directed by Ernest C. Warde.

THE STORY: Toby, an eccentric village character, was exalted under an ancient law and auctioned off into servitude for one year. Virginia Dace, daughter of the dukes for whom he takes and to her father's farm. Toby overcomes the curse of drink, and Virginia realizes she loves him. A messenger comes for him to go back to the moonshine country, for a child of one of his friends is sick and calling for him. On the way his companion kills a revenue officer with Toby's knife. Toby is tried for murder, but the jury is in confusion. Later a judge, who is visiting the Daces, meets Toby, and proclaims him as his son. Virginia creeps into his arms, and both find happiness in his regeneration.

Feature J. Warren Kerrigan as Toby and Lois Wilson as Virginia Dace.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Old Kentucky Law Furnishes Basis of Clever Playopay Pounded on Human Slavery.

Girl Buys for One Dollar the Husband of Her Choice. First-class Husband Sometimes Sold for a Dollar in Kentucky.

Stunt Suggestions: Attach dollar bills to window cards with a picture of the star and ask if the reader will bid more than one dollar for Kerrigan's services for one year, adding that one Dollar will show him in one of the most unique stories in which he has ever been seen.

Mark the same idea for the lobby with "For J. Warren Kerrigan. Come in and bid for his services for one year." Draw a contrast between the money offered for his services and his probable annual salary. A paragraph on an auction bill would make good distribution matter.

NEIGHBORS

The Story: In a sleepy New England village Mrs. William Hastings-Harding (whose husband is plain Bill Harding) plans to marry son several pegs up the social scale and frowns on his love for Ruth Leigh, a school teacher. But Paul Harding, and no one else, become engaged. But the mother's opposition is still further strengthened by the fact that Ruth's sister outshines her own little daughter. Clarissa gets the better of innumerable affairs. When she saves the Harding child from death even the mother relents and Paul Henry is pronounced. Feature: Madge Evans as Clarissa Leigh and John Hines as Paul Harding. Program: Directed by Frank Craven. "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself" is Easy When She's a Mighty Pretty Girl. Dan D. Rapid Wins a Happy Contest in Strange Surroundings. Charming Story of Youthful Love Brought to Life. Engagingly Lifelike and Charmingly Natural Love Story of Youth. Youthful. Directed by Franklin. The Achieving True Love in a Little New England Town. Stunt Suggestions: If you have the film for a ballroom dance, offer the title of a doll for the most original costume and just the opening of the front of the theater just before the matinee or first evening show. This is about the only stunt you can work with this story. Offer the stars as the drawing card in your newspaper work and lay stress upon the charm of the simple story, but do not brag too much about it. Advertising: Girls: Two styles each one, there being three advertisement posters. Lobby displays, 8x10, 11x14 and 22x28. Two-color heralds. One and two-column cuts. Window signs sheet. Released July 29.

THE DECIDING KISS

Bluebird Presents a Charming Film Version of the Novel of the Same Title by Ethel M. Kelly. Cast: Eleanor Hamlin, Edith Roberts, Buelah Page, Whitfield Woodard, Jimmy Sears, Hal Cooley, Peter Bolling, Thornton Church.

The Story: Buelah Page, a wealthy New York woman, to break the monotony of her social life, takes a trip to the farmland of her orphan Hal, orphan, living with her grandparents in a sodden surroundings of a little Cape Cod village. But Buelah soon tires of her little charge, and sends her to a finishing school, from which she emerges not as her father's cultured young woman. Eleanor captivates Peter Bolling, whom Buelah has decided to capture herself. Buelah, vengeful, informs Eleanor that Peter and she are engaged as originally, so Eleanor goes back to her grandfather. Peter follows, but, according to instructions from his grandfather, tells him that Eleanor has not come home. Returning to New York, Peter hears that his beloved has been married Christmas day, when Eleanor arrives, the matter is straightened out, and a happy reconciliation between the two young people is effected. Character: Edith Roberts as Eleanor Hamlin and Hal Cooley as Jimmy Sears. Program and Advertising Phrases: The Romance of a Forlorn Orphan Who Found and Gained Happiness in a Great City. How a Cape Cod Orphan Made New York Police Take Notice. Good Old New England Stock Wins a Sturdy Battle Against Adversity. Love Between Brother and Sister Under Strange Circumstances. Newest Bluebird Photoplay Tells Fascinating Story of Requited Love. Edith Roberts, Daintiest of Screen Queens, in Prettiest of Photoplays. Stunt Suggestions: The best selling angle of this story is the fact that the heroine not only can't give up her beloved once only cuts out her selfishly posing benefactor in her original guise, but when sent to finishing school is more racy and proud than ever and again turns the tables on her pseudo benefactress. Try up this angle in as many other particulars. Use such lines as "This ugly duckling was not ugly at all," Try and get the book-sellers to arrange for a novel for which they have it in stock. Little can be done in the way of special stunts. Advertising: Adapt A surprise to each one, there being three advertisement posters. Lobby displays, 8x10, 11x14 and 22x28. Two-color heralds. One and two-column cuts. Window signs sheet. Released July 15.

THE GLORIOUS ADVENTURE

Goldwyn Presents Mae Marsh, the Wonder-Star, in the Story of a Glorious Adventure Up the Road of Romance. Cast: Carey Wetherbee, Mae Marsh, Hiram A. Ward. Wyndham Standing, Bob Williams, Natal Stant, Scott, the butler. Alice B. Francis, Cushman, A. Voorhees Nood for the studio manager. Ivan Christy, Carey's Aunt. Sara Alexander, Carey's Aunt as a girl. Mabel Ballin. Directed by Hobart Henley. The Story: Carey Wetherbee, who lives in seclusion with her spinster aunt in an old southern mansion, becomes imbued with a desire to see the world upon the death of her relative. Arriving in a small town at night she seeks shelter in the home of Hiram A. Ward, a wealthy mill-owner. The capitalist permits her to stay, and Carey does not realize that she is defying convention in remaining at his house as Ward's invalid visitor. Visiting the mills she is shocked at the conditions and becomes a reformer. He realises the neglect of his employer. She sells Ward an old coin which he had long desired for his collection, and distributes the money thus realized among the mill-workers, thinking that she may thereby relieve their plight. Carey's generosity incites a strike, and Ward's mills are wrecked. Ward accuses a certain man, but Carey's presence at the scene that he innocent, and appeals to the mill-workers.

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

July 20, 1918

---

“NEWMAN” Brass Frames and Rails

Read What C. A. Morrison of The Princess Theatre, Hartford, Conn., says about Newman Quality

We have purchased quite a number of "Newman" Frames and Rails with neat little brass lamp brackets that could be used on the fronts of the frames. All of these goods reached us in perfect condition and the quality was the best. We have told several other managers in the city of your goods and in a few short weeks you have received quite a few orders and it is good to show that your best customer is a satisfied customer.

PRINCETON THEATRE CO., Inc., 441 Market St., C. A. Morrison, Mgr.

---

Watch for coming announcement of SESSE HAYAKAWA PRODUCTIONS

Haworth Pictures Corporation

---

“BEYOND” Brass Frames and Rails

Read What C. A. Morrison of The Princess Theatre, Hartford, Conn., says about Newman Quality

We have purchased quite a number of "Newman" Frames and Rails with neat little brass lamp brackets that could be used on the fronts of the frames. All of these goods reached us in perfect condition and the quality was the best. We have told several other managers in the city of your goods and in a few short weeks you have received quite a few orders and it is good to show that your best customer is a satisfied customer.

PRINCETON THEATRE CO., Inc., 441 Market St., C. A. Morrison, Mgr.

---

Insist on the Name “Newman” When Buying Frames

Write for New 1918 Catalogue

We manufacture only the best finishes which do not require polishing.

ESTABLISHED 1882

117-19 Stremore Street, Cincinnati, O.

60 W. Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

Canadian Representatives—J. T. Malens, Rialto Theatre, Toronto.

Pacific Coast—O. A. Macabie, San Francisco, Cal.

Frames, Egyptian, Spanish, Italian, Chippendale, Hickory, Plateau, Door Bars

---

Adopt a SOLDIER and Supply him with “SMOKES” for the Duration of the WAR!

Y ou know that our fighting men are begging for tobacco. Tobacco shops are of necessity selling what they have left. Send our more cigarettes. "We can’t get half the kind of cigarettes we have been used to." The soldier is the first thing a wounded man asks for. Almost every man of our forces sends in thousands of such requests. $1.00 a Month Keeps a Soldier Supplied—Will you "IN THE NAME OF YOUR BROTHER" or a "BIG SISTER" to a Lonely Fighting Man? Every dollar sends four 45c packages of Cigarettes. Mail the money and coupon right now.

OUR BOYS IN FRANCE TOBACCO FUND

19 West 44th Street, New York City

Dossantos: Irving National Bank, New York

"I wish you all possible success in your admirable effort to get our boys in France alive and well—" THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

---

THE AUTOMATIC TICKET SELLING AND REGISTER CO., MANUFACTURERS OF AUTOMATIC TICKET MACHINES and all kinds of Theatre Tickets USED UNIVERSALLY

1735 BROADWAY N. Y. CITY

---

TranVéR

Automatically supplies only such voltage as are required. No waste of current in ballast.

HUBERT E. FUCHS CO. W 11th St. Cleveland, Ohio
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD
July 20, 1918

owner to remove the charge. He agrees to do so if she will marry him. She denounces him and then sets about to free the man. When she has done this proof comes to her of Ward's love and she finally accepts him.

Feature: Mae Marsh as Carey Wethersbee and Wyndham Standing as Hiram A. Ward.

Stunt Suggestions: Paste an old silver dollar (the older the better) on a card and label it: "A dollar of 1812 brought Mae Marsh happiness and a husband. Look over your old coins, then see The Glorious Adventure and learn how to dispose of them to the best advantage. It's at (house and date)." If you have the time, obtain a colorized photograph and offer to appraise old coins. You can work up a lot of excitement and direct it toward the play. Play up the name and portrait of the star and make this the foundation of your hobby work, using the company's displays.

Released July 14

"WE CAN'T HAVE EVERYTHING"

Jesse L. Lasky Presents Cecil De Mille's Notable Production of the Stage Success by Rupert Hughes with a Cast of Unusual Quality

Casts:
Charity Cov Cheesev....Kathlyn Williams
Jim Dycvman............Eliott Dexter
Kdthc..Tho.,...Wctla Boaaw.
Zada L'Etoile............Sylvia Bremer
Peter Cheesev............Thurston Hall
Marquis of Stralthene, an aviator, Raymond Hatton

Directed by Cecil B. De Mille.

The Story: The wealthy Peter Cheesev neglects his wife, Mary. Charity Cheesev, his wife, is loved by Jim Dycvman, but after giving up hope of ever winning her, he becomes infatuated in the meshes of a motion picture actress and marries her just as Charity is granted a divorce from her husband. Later, Dycvman's wife becomes infatuated with a British aviator, and securing a divorce from her husband, marries him. Charity is involved in the divorce proceeding, but her reputation is saved by Jim. The Uncontrollable stars of the war. Jim becomes a captain and Charity a nurse, and at a base hospital in France they are married. The actress becomes the return of her aviator husband to the front because it spells their honeymoon, but she is pacified somewhat when he tells her to be satisfied, as "we can't have everything" in this life.

Feature: Kathlyn Williams as Charity Cov Cheesev and Raymond Hatton as Marquis of Stralthene, an aviator.

STUNT SUGGESTIONS: Use "We can't have everything but— in large letters, following it up with the same line that you have got the last production of Cecil De Mille's. Also try: "Are you going to accept this marriage proposal?" Using a 24-point type for the line save that "married" and "divorced" are set in 12-point, once above the other. Then go on to tell that this play is a study of marriage and divorce and should be studied by bachelor and married. But, above all, stress upon the fact that this is one of the pictures so carefully done that the director instead of the numerous stars is featured above the players. Also play up the fact that it throws a light on a certain side of the motion picture business.

Advertising Aids: Two each one, three and six-sheets. Poster Lobby display. 8x10, 11x14 and 22x28. Cuts from one to three columns on star and production. Advertising layout mats. Slides. Press books.

Released July 8

"HER MOMENT"

The General Film Company Presents Anna Luther in a Love Story That Starts in the Balkans, Moves to Arizona and Winds Up in New York.

Cast: Katinka................Anna Luther Directed by Frank Beat.

The Story: Jan leaves his childhood sweethearts, Katinka, and emigrates to America, where he expects to become a civil engineer. Soon after Jan's departure, Katinka falls into the clothes of Dravich, a despotic character who promises to let her go home at the end of two years, but a volcanic eruption occurs and obliterates the little village. Dravich takes her to America, and in Lone Gulch, Arizona, she falls in love with Jan. Clicking her that she is not fit for him, he lies to her that she is lying to him. Later Dravich is killed by Boris, a violent who has Katinka. He comes in Europe, but Katinka has gone, she meets and is reconciled to her lover after some difficulty.

Feature those listed in the cast.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Unusual Story Revealed in Gripping Photoplot. Two Continents Contribute Atmosphere to Gripping Picture Story. Stunning Daring Dudes and Sensational Scenes Feature Gripping Photoplay. Thrilling Situation Follows Incite Interest in Drama of Romantic Adventure. Talented Anna Luther Bewitching Star of Fascinating Photodrama. Mystery Plot Lands Tenacious to Outcome of Thrilling Story. Stunt Suggestions: This story will best be advertised through the newspapers. Dwell on the changing scenes and tell how it reveals life in that much-tortured section of Europe. Not much can be done in the way of stunts, but there are plenty of talking spots for the newspapers and program work.

SPECIAL ROLL TICKETS

Your own special Tikle. Any printing, any colors, accurately numbered; every roll guaranteed. Complimentary tickets for Price Drawings, 2.50. Prompt shipments. Cash with the order. Send names. Send 50c for Reserved Seat Complimentary Tickets, serial or blank. Single tickets 50c to 25.000. Fifteen cents per thousand, 50,000 ten cents, end nine cents.

P R I C E S

Five Thousand...11.25
Ten Thousand...2.50
Fifteen Thousand...3.75
Twenty-five Thousand...5.50
Fifty Thousand...7.50
One Hundred Thousand...10.00

National Ticket Co., Shamaan, Pa.

We have for sale Twenty Million Dollar Mystery, 22 reels; Zudora, 18 reels and Million Dollar Mystery, 46 reels. We also have large stock of new and commercial films in all lengths for all parts of the globe.

Established 1905
THE FILM EXCHANGE
626 West 46th St., New York City

FOR SALE

$5.00 for $4.18

W. S. S.

25 cents Starts You.
SITUATIONS WANTED.
CINEMATOGRAPHER-DIRECTOR — Educational, industrial, scenic and feature films, of national reputation, seeks change. With present employers seven years. Beautiful artistic photography and direction guaranteed; take charge of productions from start to finish; industrial or educational film order put into my hands will result in picture equal in interest to good feature drama. Occasionally in departure and appearance. Have own complete B. & H. camera outfit. Will connect with A.I. concern only, or will consider partnership with live advertising man acquainted with the film business. UN- USUAL OPPORTUNITY, care M. P. Wordy, N. Y. City.

WANTED—Position as manager of picture theater. Canabie and efficient; excellent record; eight years' experience; also first-class operator. Would purchase interest in business. F. Perren, 609 Fourth avenue, S., Nashville, Tenn.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES.
COMPLETE FILM exchange, full line advertising, one to five-reeel subjects, cheap to quick buyer. C. Seid, 145 West 45th St., N. Y. City.

HELP WANTED.
ORGANIST wanted, experienced in playing picture. Good salary to high class musician. Large Kimball organ. Leader Theater, Washington, D. C.

THEATERS WANTED.
WANTED to rent moving picture theater or opera house for moving picture show. Address Manager, Jewel Theater, Kretton, Tenn.

THEATERS FOR SALE OR RENT.
FOR SALE—Must sacrifice my 300-seat modern staco theater, fully equipped, account of health. Opposite 14 blocks; doing fine. Can easily be enlarged. Location thickly settled; Chicago suburb of 15,000. R. B. F., 1343 S. 14th Street, Cicero, Ill.

FOR SALE or trade a fully equipped picture house and airfime in the best oil town in northwest Texas. Write direct Dave Thorne, Burk Burnett, Texas.

FOR SALE, lease and equipment of high class motion picture theater in one of the finest locations in Washington, D. C. Now operating at full capacity. Must dispose of same at once, and will make suitable terms to right party. Rm. 304, Al Fish Building, N. Y. C.

EQUIPMENT FOR SALE.
FOR SALE—200-300 theater seats. Herman Ellis, Perh Ambey, N. J.

CAMERAS, ETC., FOR SALE.

LISTEN—Cameramen, managers, exchanges, operators, stamp bring in valuable novelty catalogue concerning you. Elber Hard Schneider, 219 Second Avenue, N. Y. City.

FILM FOR SALE OR RENT.
FOR SALE, the following serials: Crimson Slave Mystery, 32 reels; Mysteries of Myrian, 40 reels; Beatrice Fairfax, 30 reels; also the following features: Ocean Wave, 5 reels; Jack of Death, 5 reels; Jaffery, 6 reels; Flower of the Marsh, 5 reels; all new. Price—$50; also for sale, old prints. National Film Exchange, 145 West 45th Street, New York City.

STAGE SCENERY.
SCENERY—Drops painted to order in any size up to 12 x 20 feet, $10. Boon Scenic Studio, Hicksville, Ohio.

In answering advertisements please mention The Moving Picture World
List of Current Film Release Dates
ON GENERAL FILM, PATHÉ AND PARAMOUNT PROGRAMS

General Film Company, Inc.

(For notes—Pictures given below are listed in the order of release.)

BROADWAY STAR FEATURE.
Sisters of the Golden Circle (One of O. Henry Stories—Two Parts—Drama).
Dismissal of Silver Phil (Wolfville Tale—Two Parts—Drama).
The Other Half (One of the O. Henry Stories—Two Parts—Drama).
The Coming of No Nell (Wolfville Tale—Two Parts—Drama).
Mammon and the Archer (One of the O. Henry Stories—Two Parts—Drama).
Winning of the Mocking Bird (Wolfville Tale—Two Parts—Drama).

BLUE RIDGE DRAMAS.

The Raiders of Sunset Gap (Two Parts—Dr.—D.).
O'Garry Rides Alone (Two Parts—Drama).
The Man from Nowhere (Two Parts—Drama).

CHAPLIN COMEDIES.
The Tramp (Two Parts—Comedy).
His New Job (Two Parts—Comedy).
A Night Out (Two Parts).

CLOVER COMEDIES.

From Caterpillar to Butterfly (One Part).
A Widow's Cottage (Two Part).
Love's Lucky Day (One Part).
Oh! the Women (One Part).

CRYSTAL FILM COMPANY.

What's in the Trunk? (One Part—Comedy).
Reuben's Roman (One Part).
The Lady Detective and His Wedding Day (Spilt Reel—Comedy).
Troubled Waters (One Part—Comedy).
Her Necklace and His Hoodoo Day (Spilt Reel—Comedy).

DIAMOND COMEDIES.

Way Up in Society (One Part).
His Fatal Fate (One Part).
Her Ambitious Aunt (One Part).
His Matrimonial Moans (One Part).
His Blooming Bloomers (One Part).

DUPLEX FILMS, INC.
Shame (Seven Parts—Drama).

ERBY COMEDIES.

The Bully (One Part).
The Janitor (One Part).
The Man You Shouldn't Laugh At (One Part).
A Reckless Rover (One Part).
Are Working Girls Safe? (One Part).
Barnacle Bill (One Part).
Barnacle Bum (One Part).
The comeback of Barnacle Bill (One Part).
Some Baby (One Part).
Good Luck in Clothes (One Part).

ESSON COMEDIES.

A Snakeville Epidemic (One Part).
A Hot Time in Snakeville (One Part).
Snakeville's New Sheriff (One Part).
Sophie's Birthday Party (One Part).

EXPORT AND IMPORT FILM CORP.

Why—the Bolshevik (Five Parts—Drama).

HANOVER FILM COMPANY.
Camille (Helen Hesler—Six Parts—Drama).
The Marvelous Maids (Six Parts—Drama).
Monster of the Deep.

HIGHGRADE FILM ENTERPRISES, INC.
Billee in Society (Two Parts—Comedy).
Bunco Bily (Two Parts—Comedy).
Billy in Harpers (Two Parts—Comedy).
Booze and Bombs (Two Parts—Comedy).

OAKDALE PRODUCTIONS.

The Locked Heart (Five Parts—Drama).

COSMOSOPTOFILM.

Hyperrites (Six Parts—Drama).

AUTHOR'S PHOTOPLAYS, INC.

Her Moment (Six Parts—Drama).

INTERSTATE FILM COMPANY.

The Last Raid of Zeppelin L-21.

JUDGE BROWN STORIES.

Dog vs. Dog.
The Three Fives.
A Boy Brought City.
The Case of the Nervous.

PROGRESSIVE FILM.

On a Fox Farm (One Part—Educational).

RANCHO SERIES.

(All Two-Part Reality Shorts).

In the Shadow of the Rockies.

VICTORY FILM MFG. CO.
The Triumph of Venus (Five Parts—Drama).

Paramount Pictures Corp.

PARAMOUNT-MACK Sennett COMEDIES.
June 3—Love loops the Loop.
June 17—Two Tough Tender Feet.
July 1—Her Hooligan (Two Parts).
July 15—Ladies First.
July 29—Her Blighted Love.

PARAMOUNT-ARRUCKLE COMEDIES.
Mar. 14—The Bell Boy.
July 8—Moonshine (Two Parts).
July 8—Good Night Nurse.

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP.

Paramount Features.
June 23—The Firefly of France (Five Parts—Drama).
June 23—A Desert Woofing (Five Parts—D.).
July 1—The Kibler's Shadow (Dorothy Dalton—Five Parts).
July 1—Sandy (Jack Pickford—Five Parts).
July 8—The Claws of the Hun (Charles Ray—Five Parts—Drama).
July 12—The City of Dim Feces (Sessue Hayakawa—Five Parts—Drama).
July 15—Uncle Harry in Cabin (Marguerite Clark—Five Parts—Drama).
July 22—Two Vagabonds (Ed Bennett—Five Parts—Drama).
July 29—Less Than Kin (Wallace Reid—Five Parts—Drama).

Artcraft Pictures.
June 16—Say! Young Fellow (Five Parts—Drama).
June 16—Three of a Kind Holiday (Five Parts—Drama).
July 3—How Could You, Jeane? (Five Parts—Drama).
July 8—Shark Monroe (Wm. S. Hart—Five Parts—Drama).
July 8—We Can't Have Everything (C. B. De Mille—Five Parts—Drama).
July 22—The Great Love (Lillian Gish—Five Parts—Drama).

PARAMOUNT-BRAY PICTURES.

July 1—Subjects on Reel: Schematography, the Art of Correcting Injurious Postural Habits; With the Deep Sea Anglers; Animated Technical Process by Dean Parmalee.
July 8—Subjects on Reel: Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy No. 1; Beauty to Order, the Advanced Art of Dermatology; Cartoon by Wallace Carlson.
July 15—Subjects on Reel: Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy No. 2; Preparing the Victory Army; In Nature's Gardens; Cartoon by Earl Hunt.
July 22—Subjects on Reel: Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy No. 3; An African Game Hunt; Motion Analyzed—First of a series analyzing motion; Cartoon by Bray Studios.

PARAMOUNT-BURTON HOLMES.

July 1—Auckland; the Metropolis of New Zealand (Scenic).
July 8—Rotorua, the Wonderland of the New Zealand Interior (Scenic).
July 15—Among the Maoris of New Zealand (Scenic).
July 22—Wellington, the Capital of the North Island of New Zealand.

BENJAMIN CHAPIN'S—PARAMOUNT SERIES.

Apr. 15—Under the Stars (Tenth Release—Two Parts).

Producers.—Kindly furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.
In the Battle for Business You Must Have Good Fighters

In your battle for business the most important engagement is in the projection room. To win, you must have the right guns at the port-holes, in order that your ammunition may hit the mark.

"LET THE Simplex TWINS FIGHT YOUR BATTLES"

Everybody drags in the war nowadays. For once, we’ve done it, too. But we believe we have shot home a point you will appreciate.

Another gain: It also costs less to keep the Simplex Twins in fighting trim.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Universal Film Mfg. Co.</th>
<th>Mutual Film Corp.</th>
<th>Metro Pictures Corporation.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ANIMATED WEEKLY.</td>
<td>STRAND.</td>
<td>METRO PICTURES CORP.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 3—No. 31 (Topical)—03086.</td>
<td>May 21—My Lady Nicotine (Comedy)—21-C.T.1.</td>
<td>May 20—The Winning of Beatrice (Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 17—No. 32 (Topical)—03096.</td>
<td>July 25—Her Rustic Romeo—22-CST.1.</td>
<td>May 27—Lend a Name Your Own (York—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 29—In Dutch (Two Parts)—03070.</td>
<td>June 11—By Foul Means—24-CST-1.</td>
<td>June 5—The Only Road (Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 17—Comedy Challenge (Alice Howell—Two Parts)—03066.</td>
<td>July 20—A Darksome Life (Billie Rhodes—Two Parts).</td>
<td>June 16—Social Quicksticks (Five Parts—Dr.—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 19—Romance and Dynamite (Two Parts—Comedy)—03060.</td>
<td>July 16—Like Mother Made (Billie Rhodes)—29-CST-1.</td>
<td>July 8—No Man’s Land (Hett Lytell—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 10—The Pursuing Package (Harry Mann—Comedy)—03065.</td>
<td></td>
<td>METRO RE- ISSUES.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JULIUS.</td>
<td></td>
<td>Destiny (Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 10—Butter Again (Comedy)—03060.</td>
<td>June 3—No Release This Date.</td>
<td>The Shooting of Dan McGrew (Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 17—Paving the Road (Comedy)—03059.</td>
<td>June 10—A Square Deal (Five Parts—Drama)—21-FP-5.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 1—Two Blondes (Elisir Sedwick—Comedy)—03078.</td>
<td>July 15—No release this date.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 8—Oh Man! (Elisir Sedwick—Comedy)—03079.</td>
<td>July 22—Impossible Screen (Margarita Fisher—Five Parts—Drama)—21-FP-5.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 15—The Pursuing Package (Harry Mann—Comedy)—03065.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UNIVERSAL SPECIAL ATTRACTION.</td>
<td>MURAL.</td>
<td>SCREEN CLASSICS, INC., SPECIALS.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 22—Smashing Through (Five Parts—Drama)—03077.</td>
<td>June 19—Screen Teleg—(Topical)—32-T.1.</td>
<td>Last We Forgot (Eight Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 29—No Release This Week.</td>
<td>June 23—Screen Teleg—(Topical)—32-T.1.</td>
<td>My Own United States (Frohman Production—Eight Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 13—No Release This Week.</td>
<td>July 3—Screen Teleg—(Topical)—32-T.1.</td>
<td>Toys of Fate (Seven Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 20—Her Body in Bond (Mae Murray—Six Parts—Drama)—03009.</td>
<td>July 10—Screen Teleg—(Topical)—32-T.1.</td>
<td>METRO COMEDIES.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE.</td>
<td>July 23—Screen Teleg—(Topical)—32-T.1.</td>
<td>Apr. 8—Youthful Affair (Drew).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 22—The Lion’s Claws (Episode No. 12— &quot;The Spite Cave&quot;—Two Parts—Drama)—03060.</td>
<td>July 30—Screen Teleg—(Topical)—32-T.1.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 29—The Lion’s Claws (Episode No. 13— &quot;In Disguise&quot;—Two Parts—Drama)—03067.</td>
<td>July 1—Screen Teleg—(Topical)—32-T.1.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS.</td>
<td>OUTING-CHESTER PICTURES.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 22—Issue No. 20 (Topical)—03063.</td>
<td>June 20—Ex-Cannibal Carnival—1-0-1.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STAR COMEDIES.</td>
<td>Goldwyn Distributing Corp.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyon-Moree Pictures.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 22—The Koala—03008.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 29—Berth Control—03077.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 6—Bad News—03057.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 13—Shot in the Dumbwaiter—03066.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 20—Almost Welcome—03106.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WESTERN AND RAILROAD DRAMAS.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 20—The Flying Flier (Two Parts)—03074.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 9—Naked Fists (Neal Hart—Two Parts—Drama)—03053.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 13—The Brand Man (Helen Gibson—Two Parts—Drama)—03065.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 20—The Shooting Party (Mignon Anderson—Two Parts—Drama)—03104.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Producers.—Kindly Furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.
ERBOGRAPH
For SERVICE

PRODUCERS OF
MOTION PICTURE FILMS
COMMERCIAL DEVELOPING and PRINTING
Telephone Audubon 3716

ERBOGRAPH CO.
LUDWIG G. B. ERB, President
203-211 WEST 146TH STREET NEW YORK

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
AMERICAN STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CORP.
130 West Forty-sixth Street, New York City.

BETZWOOD FILM COMPANY.
Betzwood, Pa.
sandy Burke (Louis Bennison).

BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAYS.
Midnight Madness (Five Parts—Drama)—
W9350.
Which Woman (Five Parts—Drama)—49306.
The Eagle (Five Parts—Drama)—49362.
The Declining Kiss (Greek—Cuned)—Five Parts—
Drama—49362.
July 6—The Empty Cab (Harry Carey—Five Parts—
Drama)—6005.
Winner Takes All (Monte Salsbury—Five Parts—Drama)—4956.

CHRISTIE FILM CORPORATION.
Los Angeles, Cal.

FOX SPECIAL FEATURES.
June 16—We Should Have Married (Five Parts—Dr.)—
June 21—The Scarlet Road (Five Parts—Dr.)—
June 5—The Kid Is Kinder (Five Parts—Dr.)—
July 7—Other Men's Daughters (Peggy Hyland—Five Parts—Drama).

FOX STANDARD PICTURES.
Mar. 17—Woman and the Law (Five Parts—Drama).
Mar. 24—Rough and Ready (William Farnum—Five Parts—Drama).
Apr. 7—The Blindness of Love (Five Parts—Drama).
June 16—Under the Yoke (Theda Bara—Five Parts—Drama).

FOX RE-ISSUES.
The Bondman (William Farnum—Five Parts—Drama).
A Pool There Was (Theda Bara—Five Parts—Drama).

FOX SUNSHINE COMEDIES.
Apr. 7—A Wailer's Wasted Life (Two Parts).
May 5—A Neighbor's Keyhole (Two Parts).
June 2—Wild Women and Tame Lions (Two Parts).
June 30—Who's Your Father?
July 25—A Tight Squeeze.

MUTT AND JEFF ANIMATED CARTOON.
June 20—Life-Size—G safely Two Parts.
June 23—Meeting Theda Bara.
June 30—The Seventy-Five Miles Gun.
July 7—The Hurklian Alarm.

JEWEL PRODUCTIONS, INC.
The Price of a Life Time (Seven Parts—Dr.)—
The Doctor and the Woman (Seven Parts—Drama).
The Kaiser, the Healer of Berlin.
A Soul for Sale (Phillips—Five Parts—Drama)—3067.

GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM.
(Montgomery Flagg One Reel Comedies, Made by Edison.)
Apr. 21—A Good Sport.
May 8—The Starter.
May 22—The Spoiled Girl.
June 5—The Lonesome Girl.

ESSAYAN (Broncho Billy Serials).
May 19—Broncho Billy's Squawcreek.
May 17—Broncho Billy's Secret.
May 24—Broncho Billy and the Greaser.
May 31—Broncho Billy's Fatal Joke.
June 1—Broncho Billy's Grit.
June 14—Broncho Billy's True Love.
June 21—Broncho Billy and the Western Girls.
June 28—Broncho Billy Wins Out.
July 5—Broncho Billy Trapped.
July 12—Broncho Billy's Deserted.

HINTO DELUXE PRODUCTIONS.
June —The Unchastened Woman (Seven Reels).

SELECT PICTURES.

WORLD PICTURES.
June 17—The Man Hunt (Five Parts—Drama).
June 24—A Woman's Redemption (Five Parts—Drama).
July 1—Heart of a Girl (Barbara Castleton—
Five Parts—Drama).
July 8—Tinsel (Kitty Gordon)—Five Parts—
Drama).
July 15—The Golden Wall (Carlyle Blackwell—
Five Parts—Drama).
July 22—Joan of the Woods (Jane Elvidge—
Five Parts—Drama).

WORLD COMEDY RELEASES.
May 27—Main Street (Two Parts—Fay Tincher).
June 10—Fired (Two Parts—Marie Dressler).
June 19—Broncho Bob (Frank STEIN).
July 8—Agonies of Agnes (Mario Dresler—Two Parts).

State Right Releases

ARROW FILM CORPORATION.
Times Building, New York.
The Struggle Everlasting (Harry Rapf Produc-
The Adventures of Ichabod Bragg (Five Parts—Drama).
The Million Dollar Mystery (Six Reels—Dr.).
The Finger of Justice (Drama).

ATLANTIC DISTRIBUTING CO.
Times Building, New York City.

COMMONWEALTH PICTURES CORP.
Chicago, Ill.

Producers.—Kindly Furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.
Nights of Gladness

Carry on your audience through the realm of Filmland with a fuller spirit of the Photoplay and a deeper meaning of screen action by a correct musical interpretation.

The FOTOPLAYER

awakens that finer sense of feeling and real heart interest through its potent emotional influence.

Fotoplayer organ tones ranging in mellow sweetness and soft harmonies to the power of symphonic grandeur transport your audience to a greater appreciation of the evening's entertainment.

The FOTOPLAYER may be played manually or by the use of the double-tracker device permitting the operation of two rolls and furnishing an accurate musical accompaniment to the pictures and a sympathetic appeal to your audience.

Hundreds of enterprising exhibitors testify to the successful music rendered by the FOTOPLAYER. It enhances the beauty of delicate scenes — adds power to the drama — furnishes further laughter to your comedies.

The American Photo Player Co.

62 West 45th Street
NEW YORK CITY
J. W. Jenkins Sons Music Co.
KANSAS CITY, MO.
W. J. Dure & Co.
ST. PAUL, MINN.
64 E. Jackson Boulevard
CHICAGO, ILL.
Frederick Kuhl Music Co.
OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA.
E. Witten & Co.
MEMPHIS, TENN.
Sherman, Clas & Co.
SEATTLE, WASH., and
PORTLAND, ORE.

109 Golden Gate Avenue
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
737 South Olive Street
LOS ANGELES, CAL.
Parkway Building
PHILADELPHIA, PA.
Geo. L. Parker
120 Broadway Street
BOSTON, MASS.

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
List of Current Film Release Dates

CHESTER BEECCROFT.
501 Fifth Ave., N. Y. C.
Reclaimed.

COSMOPHOTOFILM COMPANY, INC.
220 West 42d Street, New York City.
The Hypocrites.
I Believe.

CREST PICTURES CORP.
Times Building, New York.
The List of the Ages.
A Grain of Truth.

M. S. EPSSTEIN,
1455 Broadway, N. Y. C.
The Depths of the Sea (in a Series of Four Parts—Educational).

FOURSQUARE PICTURES.
729 Seventh Avenue, New York.
The Eagle's Eye (Episode No. 10—"The Invasion of Canada")—Two Parts—Drama.

GAUDEAM CO.
Flushing, L. I.
Gumont News—Released every Tuesday.
Gumont Galadry—Released every Friday.
The Hand of Vengeance (a serial in ten two-reel episodes).

GENERAL ENTERPRISES, INC.
Longacre Building, New York.
Mothers (Six Parts—Drama—McClure Pictures).
The Warrior (Seven Parts—Drama—McClure Pictures).
The Lilac (Six Parts—Drama—General Enterprise Feature).

JESSE J. GOLDBURG.
1105 Times Bldg., N. Y. C.
The Chinese Musketeer.
Foot and Feat.
Cheerful Liars.
Fat and Fortune.
Parson Pepp.
The Ring and the Ringer.
My Husband's Friend.

GRAPHIC FILM CORPORATION.
729 Seventh Ave., N. Y. C.
When Men Betray (Drama).

HILLER & WILK.
Raffles, the Amateur Crackman.
(The Following Are Keystone-Mack Sennett Features.)
Daisy Heights and Darling Hearts.
His Wild Data.
Walters' Ball.
His First False Step.
Amorous Cup of Woe.
(The Following Are Frank Reesman Productions.)
The Sins To Do.
Birds of Hate.
The Crab.
(The Following Are Normal Talmadge Productions.)
The Devil's Needle.
The Social Scarecrow.
Fifty Fifty.
(The Following Are Wm. S. Hart Productions.)
The Devil's Double.
Truthful Tulliver.
The Gunfighter.
The Square Deal Man.
The Nest of Spies.
Wolfe Lowry.
(The Following Are Douglas Fairbanks Productions.)
The Half Breed.
Manhattan Madness.
American Aristocracy.
The Matrimoni.
The Americano.

IVAN FILM PRODUCTION.
130 West 46th Street, New York.
Two Men and a Woman.
Human Clay.
Life or Honor.
Conquered Hearts.

JESTER COMEDY CO.
220 West 42d Street, New York.
(Featuring Tweedie-Dane.)
March—His Golden Romance (Two Parts).
April—All I'm Askin' (Two Parts).
May—The Wrong Flat (Two Parts).
This Is the Life (Two Parts).

KING BEE FILMS CORP.
729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.
May 15—The Handy Man.
June 1—Bright and Early.
June 15—Straight and Narrow.

ORO PICTURES CORP.
729 Seventh Avenue, New York.
Who Knows? (Six Parts—Drama).

PHYSICAL CULTURE PHOTO PLAYS, INC.
Forlorn Building, New York.
Zongar (Drama).

PIEDMONT FILM CORPORATION.
729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.
His Daughter Pays.

PIONEER FILM CORP.
150 West 46th St., New York City.
The Still Alarm (Seelig Production).

PYRAMID COMEDIES.
220 West 42d Street, New York.
In and Out (Two Parts).
Love and Lunch (Two Parts).
Beach Birds (Two Parts).
Beauties and Bombs (Two Parts).

HARRY HAYER.
1402 Broadway, New York.
The Hand of the Hun (Four Parts—Novelty).
The Master Crook.

RENEWED PICTURES CORP.
1600 Broadway, New York.
The Public Defender.
20,000 Leagues Under the Sea.

SHEIRMAN PRODUCTIONS.
The Light of Western Stars.

ERNST SHIPMAN.
17 West 44th Street, New York City.
Josh Binney Comedies, Featuring Funny Fatty Flahert, One Release a Month.
June—Fabulous Fortune Puffers (Two Reels).
July—Fred's Petticoat Foundling (Two Reels).
Aug.—Fred's Fainting Father (Two Reels).
Sept.—Patty's Fast Flivver (Two Reels).
Oct.—Fred's Frivulous Fiance (Two Reels).

W. H. CLIFFORD PHOTOPLAY COMPANY, INC.
Featuring Shorty Hamilton, One Five-Reeler Per Month.
May—Denny from Ireland (Five Reels).
June—The Small (Five Reels).
July—The Ranger (Five Reels).

S. & S. PHOTOPLAYS, INC.
1476 Broadway, New York.
Redemption (Six Parts—Drama).

STATE RIGHTS DISTRIBUTORS, INC.
Carmen of the Klondike (Seven Parts—Drama).

STERLING PICTURES CORPORATION.
729 Seventh Avenue, New York.
Great Bradley Mystery (Five Parts—Drama).
The Mystic Hour (Six Parts—Drama).
When You and 1 Were Young (Five Parts—Drama).
The Golden Girl (Five Parts—Drama).
The Peg of the Sea (Drama).
(The Following Are Cartoon Comedies, Each 500 Feet in Length.)
Mr. Coon.
Mose is Cured.
Zippy's Insurance.
Zippy's Pets.
The Unknown.

TRIANGLE FILM CORP.
1457 Broadway, New York City.
The Servant in the House.
The Siren in the House.

U. S. EXHIBITORS' BOOKING CO.
Times Building, New York.
The Belgian.
Those Who Pay.
The Zeppelin's Last Raid.
Just a Woman (Steiger Production).
Men.
The Crucible of Life.

WESTERN IMPORT FILM COMPANY.
71 West 23rd Street, New York.
Mickey (Seven Parts).

W. H. PRODUCTIONS.
71 West 23d Street, New York.
(The Following Are Multiple Real W. H. Hart Subjects, Released in Order Listed.)
The Two-Gun Man in The Bargain (Six Parts—Drama).
The Bandit and the Preacher (Five Parts—Drama).
The Hell Hound of Alaska (Five Parts—Dr.).
(The Following Are Two-Real Hart Productions, Released in Order Listed.)
The Bad Man.
The Fugitive.
A Gentleman from Blue Gulch.
The Silent Stranger.
The Marked Deck.
(The Following Are Mack Sennett-Keystone Comedies, Each Two Reels in Length.)
A Desperate Roundel.
Soaked and Sorehead.
A Farm Yard Romeo.
The Hula-Hula Dance.
(The Following Are Bessie Barriscale Productions.)
Satun's Pawn.

M. WEISSBERG.
Wm. A. Brady Photoplay, 187 W. 48th Street, N. Y. C.
Stolen Orders (Eight Reels—Drama).
IN SPITE OF THE WAR

We Still Have in Stock the Imported

Pathe, Debrie
Moy and Prestwich

MOTION PICTURE CAMERAS

Complete Line of Universal Cameras, Tripods and Accessories always on hand.

The New Precision Ball Bearing Tripod is in a class by itself.

See It and Be The Judge

MOTION PICTURE APPARATUS COMPANY
110 West 32nd Street, New York City

Phone Farragut 4779

4500 CINE-MUNDIAL 4500

4500 What?—4500 Monthly Readers—and Growing Ever

Such is the circulation achievement as it stands on our books this July 1, 1918. For three years our total of readers has mounted upward, ever upward, and just now new plans are being worked out which will literally add new thousands to the list.

At times last year we printed a total monthly run of over 7,000 copies (including those sent gratis for missionary purposes) and on one occasion more than 8,000.

Unless all signs fail to materialize these circulation records will be surpassed in 1918

Chalmers Publishing Company
516 Fifth Ave.,
New York City

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
DICKS DAVID DEVELOPER lasts longer than any other medium now used and gives a perfectly clean bath.

Now in use by leading film laboratories, with uniformly satisfactory results.

DICKS DAVID CO., Inc. 299 Broadway New York, N.Y.

The sum total of your efforts is realized only when the DEVELOPER and PRINTER is equal to the task he undertakes.

EVANS' reputation for absolute perfection and reliability will prove the profitable service for you to connect with.

EVANS FILM MFG. CO., 416-24 West 216th St., New York City Telephone:

BERTIE BADGER MOYERS

La Cinematografia Italiana ed Estera

Published on the 15th and 30th of each month

Foreign Subscription: 20 francs, per annum

Editorial and Business Office: Via Cumiana, 31, Turin, Italy

PERFECTION IN PROJECTION

Gold King Screen

10 Days' Trial

Factory, ALTUS, OKLAHOMA

PORTER EQUIPS THEATRE FOR GRIFFITH'S

SUPREME TRIUMPH "HEARTS OF THE WORLD." Installs Two Up To The Minute Type S SIMPLEX PROJECTORS with Robin TIME and SPEED INDICATORS in the 44th St. Theatre, New York. The Marvelous PROJECTION of this greatest picture of modern times is synchronized accurately to the fraction of a second with the beautiful music and effects.

B. F. PORTER, 1482 BROADWAY, AT TIMES SQUARE, NEW YORK

Educate Your Audience to Help Fight Censorship

Introducing a bill providing for the Censorship of Moving Pictures is a favorite indoor pastime in legislative halls throughout the country. Eternal vigilance is the price of the Exhibitor's mere safety if not his success.

Presented in the proper manner, the Censorship of Moving Pictures is just as obnoxious to the Exhibitor's audiences as it is to the Exhibitor. And public opinion aroused in behalf of moving pictures and against their unfair and discriminatory control is the surest weapon to defeat Censorship.

We have prepared a series of nine different stereopticon slides which crystalize the argument against Censorship; one of the slides is shown herewith.

These slides shown repeatedly in any theatre cannot fail to influence public opinion in that locality against Censorship. They will line up the general public on the side of the Exhibitor.

You Ought to Be Showing Them Now! Legislatures Everywhere Are Convening

Set of Nine Slides, carefully packed, will be sent postpaid on receipt of $1.00.

MOVING PICTURE WORLD

516 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Bausch and Lomb
Projection Lenses

have long been considered standard equipment by the leading motion picture machine manufacturers. The product of America's greatest lens specialists, who have been producing high grade lenses of one type or another for 65 years, they are unexcelled in the clear-cut, evenly illuminated pictures they produce on the screen.

Because of the demand made upon our resources for some of the Government's most important military needs, we are unable to make projection lens deliveries for the present. While proud to be of such service in this world crisis, we shall expect to serve our other patrons even more efficiently than before, when the world is again at peace.

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co.
566 St. Paul Street
Rochester, N.Y.

A prominent motion picture manufacturer, having a surplus of Motion Picture Stories suitable for reproduction as single, two, three, four and five reel subjects, will sell them individually or as a group at very much less than market prices.

The lot includes stories by RICHARD HARDING DAVIS, O. HENRY, PETER B. KYNE and other authors of prominence.

Correspondence invited.

Address, A B C, Care Moving Picture World
516 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Goerz Vignetting Devices

There is an imperative demand today for results. Camera men cannot afford to take chances. They must be sure of their equipment. The Goerz VIGNETTING DEVICES and Goerz MICROMETER MOUNTS are sure and do produce results. They may be fitted to nearly every standard equipment on the market. Send or call for our very latest descriptive matter about Goerz VIGNETTING DEVICES and the well-known Goerz Kino Hyper F.35 lens.

C. P. GOERZ AMERICAN OPTICAL CO.
318 East 34th Street, New York City

Moving Picture Machine Patents My Specialty

PATENTS
WILLIAM N. MOORE
PATENT ATTORNEY
LOAN AND TRUST BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D. C.

The first important step is to learn whether you can obtain a patent. Please send sketch of your invention with $5.00 and I will examine the patent records and inform you whether you are entitled to a patent, the cost and manner of procedure.

Personal Attention Established 25 Years

STANDARD
MOTION PICTURE CO.
An institution conducted and equipped to give the best service, workmanship and quality in—

DEVELOPING PRINTING TITLES
TINTING TONING

Expert cameramen furnished for all occasions on short notice.

1620-21 MALLERS BLDG., CHICAGO
Phone: Randolph 6692

Screencraft

BY LOUIS REEVES HARRISON

An invaluable help to the writer who is making a serious effort to evolve stories for screen production.

Of great interest too to the individual who is watching the development of the silent drama.

$2.00 PER COPY, POSTPAID
Published and for Sale by
MOVING PICTURE WORLD
516 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY

SCHILLER BUILDING, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
WRIGHT & CALLENDER BUILDING, LOS ANGELES, CAL.

The importance of safe-guarding a reputation is not under-estimated at the Eastman factories.

EASTMAN FILM

means a film that is absolutely dependable and uniform—rigid tests and careful inspection prevent its ever meaning anything else.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.
Wanted to Purchase
for GREAT BRITAIN and IRELAND
THE RIGHTS of 4, 5 and 6 Reel Subjects
Sound plots, good photography.
Also open to entertain
BRAND OF COMEDIES AND SERIALS Reply
MUNDELL, LIMITED
183 West George St., Glasgow

Gundlach
Projection Lenses
give clean cut definition with the utmost illumination. This is all that you can expect from perfect lenses. The universal use of these lenses is the best evidence of their superior quality. They are sold on approval by all dealers and furnished as the regular equipment with the best machines.

Gundlach-Manhattan Optical Co.
808 So. Clinton Ave., Rochester, N.Y.

The Essential Requirements
for Improved Projection
ARE SPEER CARBONS

Speer Alterno Combinations
for A. C. Work
AND Speer Hold-Ark Combinations
for D. C. Work
Produce Incomparable Results

Write today for descriptive folders.
Read the unbiased opinions of operators.

Place an order now with your Supply House.

“The Carbons with a Guarantee”
MANUFACTURED BY
SPEER CARBON COMPANY
ST. MARYS, PA.
THE STANDARD DIRECT CURRENT MOTION PICTURE CARBONS

The Silvertip carbon used with a Columbia upper gives a light source that is hard to beat. The Silvertip is a quality product that has received the stamp of approval of the best operators in the country.

The Columbia-Silvertip combination gives:

1. Absolutely steady screen illumination free from flickering shadows. The small diameter of the Silvertip causes it to burn with a sharp point which keeps the arc steady, and also eliminates the shadows on the screen.

2. A powerful, flexible light source. The arc can be varied at the will of the operator, according to the density of the film, within a reasonable limit of the rated amperage of the combination used.

NOTE: Silvertips are for direct current only.

For Alternating Current Projection Use

WHITE A. C. SPECIAL CARBONS

These carbons give perfect projection without additional equipment.

Write today for our circulars

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio

LABORATORY INSURANCE CORCORAN TANKS

Why invest your money in expensive chemicals and pay salaries for competent men to mix your developing solutions, in order that your negatives will receive proper chemical attention, but overlook the fact that a cheaply constructed and leaky tank will jeopardize your result? Interest yourself in this statement and send for our circular number 10.

A. J. CORCORAN, Inc.
PATENTEES AND MANUFACTURERS

INSTALLED BY

Biograph Co. Burton Holmes
Vitagraph Co. Fox Film Corp.
Thomas A. Edison Famous Players
Gaumont Co. Solax Co.
American Film Mfr. Co. United States Government
Kine-macolor Co. Thanhouser Film Co.
Mutual Film Corp. Universal Film Co.
Kineto Co. of America Pathe Freres
Goldwyn Corp. Falem Co.
Rothacker Film Co.

Office and Factory: Burton Holmes
Jersey City, N. J.—JERSEY AVE. and 13TH ST. Telephone: Montgomery 238 War Times
CALL FOR Fortification!

Mr. Exhibitor Have You Fortified Your Business?

Fortification means to you modern Power's Projectors, Hallberg Motor Generators, Gardiner Velvet Gold Fibre Screen, and a complete stock: National Carbons, "UTE" Condensing Lenses, Film Cement, Asbestos Covered Cable, Oil, Lugs, Tickets, Edison Incandescent Lamps and other small supplies and equipment of the High Standard supplied by the United Theatre Equipment Corporation

DON'T DELAY! ORDER NOW!!

Our Stock is Full and Complete today. The Lord only knows the conditions which may exist in a month from now. Don't gamble on the war!!

We Guarantee Perfect Screen Results

Distributors of

POWER'S PROJECTORS—HALLBERG MOTOR GENERATORS—GARDINER VELVET GOLD FIBRE SCREEN—"FULCO" PRODUCTS—NATIONAL CARBONS—ACME PORTABLE PROJECTOR—EDISON MAZDA LAMPS—NOVELTY SLIDES AND M. P. SUPPLIES OF HIGH GRADE.

"EVERYTHING FOR THE M. P. THEATRE EXCEPT THE FILM"

United Theatre Equipment Corporation

H. T. EDWARDS, Pres.
J. H. HALLBERG, Vice-Pres.

Executive Offices: 1604 Broadway, New York
Largest Moving Picture Equipment House in the World

BRANCH STORES AND WAREHOUSES:

NEW YORK
BOSTON
OMAHA
PHILADELPHIA
KANSAS CITY MACHINE & SUPPLY CO., INC., KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI
DETROIT
MINNEAPOLIS
CLEVELAND
CINCINNATI
CHICAGO
The Essentials of a Perfect Picture Projector

PROJECTION. So perfect that it eliminates all flicker on the screen and sharply defines every detail of the film subject.

STRUCTURE. Of the best material, solidly built in every respect—made to stand the daily grind—yet so perfectly adjusted as to assure easy and practically noiseless operation.

Power's Cameragraph maintains its reputation and success through the possession of all these essentials for perfect service. The Exhibitor can best accomplish His essential—Success—by installing this

"Pioneer Projector of the World"

This Company will exhibit at the Motion Picture Exposition, Boston, July 13-20, occupying spaces 42-43-44.
The Picture that will never have a Competitor

"The SINKING OF THE LUSITANIA"

Winsor McCay's Blood-stirring Pen Picture of the Crime that Shocked Humanity Made from 25,000 Separate Drawings
Requiring 22 months of Work.

Special Ads, Special Posters, Reserve now.

JEWEL Productions, Inc.
1600 Broadway, New York City
THE George K. Spoor comedy-dramas are the hits of the year, because they have struck that psychological keynote of the present need. They are new and distinctive in character, clean, wholesome, bubbling with life and fun. They are what the public is demanding right NOW: Look them over.

A Pair of Sixes
Uneasy Money
Two Bit Seats
Efficiency

Ruggles of Red Gap
A Small Town Guy
Fools for Luck
Edgar's Courtship

with TAYLOR HOLMES

The Fibbers
Filling His Own Shoes
The Prince of Graustark
Skinner's Dress Suit
The Man Who Was Afraid

with BRYANT WASHBURN

Distributed by
George Kleine System
All The World’s
Biggest News FIRST—Every Week

UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY and CURRENT EVENTS

With the constantly increasing power of The Allies on all battle fronts, the Nation is alive to see all the doings of “The Boys” in pictures. Don’t you understand the tremendous drawing power and profits this means to you if you book the Universal Animated Weekly andCurrent Events and—

ADVERTISE THEM REGULARLY EVERY WEEK

If you don’t—start with this week’s release and devote part of the advertising space you use to these WEEKLIES—Keep it up a couple of weeks and you’ll establish a crowded and regular WEEKLY night. Why deliberately turn away from the biggest money feature of the week—one that costs you immeasurably less than the cheapest feature you can back? Begin this week. Book them both. Advertise them. Use them once—you’ll use them always.

Book thru your nearest Universal Exchange or communicate with the UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO., Largest Film Mfg. Co., in the Universe. CARL LAEMMLE, President, 1600 Broadway, New York.

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
the appealing figure of NORMA TALMADGE

(presented by JOSEPH M. SCHENCK) signals Success! every time it appears upon the screen. Here she is again—superb!—in "THE SAFETY CURTAIN"

by Ethel M. Dell

directed by S. A. Franklin the latest of her

SELECT PICTURES
John Barrymore

"ON THE QUIET"

REMEMBER John Barrymore's "Are You a Mason?" Of course you do, and so do all your patrons.

John Barrymore's first new Paramount Picture is going to be funnier than anything he ever did before. It is "On the Quiet" (played on the stage by William Collier), a riotous side-splitter that will start off John Barrymore's new series with a whoop and a roar. Chet Withey is directing these pictures.
"Come On In"

The receipts are going to be fine on days that the Shirley Mason-Ernest Truex Paramount Pictures are shown. Their first one—a John Emerson-Anita Loos production—is "Come On In," a comedy of the training camps. These popular stars are going rollicking into great popularity with their very first production.
Dorothy Gish

She created in D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World" the most distinctive character in motion pictures—the saucy French street singer, the lovable little soul whose spirit is the spirit of France.

Dorothy Gish will bring that character into Paramount Pictures. She'll be as wonderful in these as she is in "Hearts of the World."
Fred Stone

"Under The Top"

FRED STONE, the marvel of musical comedy, is going to be a sensation in motion pictures. His first Artcraft Picture will be "Under the Top." John Emerson and Anita Loos wrote it, Donald Crisp directed it, and you know that means it will be jammed full of laughs and thrills.

A wonderful comedian who is a great acrobat, wire walker and stunt man unexcelled, in the finest circus comedy ever written. That's "Under the Top."
KNOWING the overwhelming financial success of the original JEWEL Production, "The KAISER, the Beast of Berlin," producers are rushing madly to the front with all sorts of junk imitations of "The KAISER" in their wild scramble to steal some of the money and glory of the original picture. Some of these producers are publishing criticisms (the direct result of paid advertising) while carefully hiding the ridicule of recognized authorities, trade press and newspapers. It's an attempt to "put over" rank imitations by means of frenzied advertising mis-statement. JEWEL warns all Exhibitors to beware of these spurious imitations. JEWEL advises all Exhibitors to see "The KAISER, the Beast of Berlin," and make their own comparisons. The result will instantly expose the imitator.

"The KAISER, the Beast of Berlin," is still cleaning up for Exhibitors. It has played as high as four return dates and has each time packed them in. Beware of imitators. Take our tip—

Book the Original—the Only

"THE KAISER

— The Beast of Berlin"

JEWEL Productions Inc.
1600 Broadway, New York City
To every Exhibitor who has played "The KAISER, the Beast of Berlin"—show this screaming travesty without fail. First reason—"The GEEZER" is without question the one big comedy howl of the year. Second reason—the advertising you did on the original "KAISER" will make good for you all over again for only a fraction of additional expense. Third reason—all those thousands who saw the original will be wild to see the travesty and will boost it for you as the most delicious burlesque they've ever seen on any screen.

First come, first served! The absolutely sure money in this best advertised travesty on the market has already loaded our booking sheets. Act quick and act now. Every application booked in the order received, so that every man who showed the original "KAISER" will do well to reserve "The GEEZER" as fast as he can. Remember! The original "KAISER" was the best advertised picture on the best advertised subject—and "The GEEZER" gets the advantage of all that spent money for hardly a penny's extra cost. Get action on this today.

SEE AND BOOK AT ANY JEWEL EXCHANGE, OR AT THE HOME OFFICE, 1600 BROADWAY, N. Y.
Breaking Every
William Fox

WILLIAM
Les MISER

in a William Farnum
the supreme drama

NOW BOOKING AT FOR IMMEDIATE Theatre's Record!

presents

FARNUM ABLES

Deluxe production of modern times.

RENTAL PRICES
PLAYING DATES
NOW SWEEPING

WILLIAM FOX Present
THEDA
IN THE THEDA BARA
CLEOPATRA
THE SIREN

GET IN TOUCH WITH NEAREST FOX EXCHANGE
BOOK NOW ON RENTAL
BASIS—MOST GORGEOUS FILM ON EARTH
Make your booking

STANDARD PICTURES
THE COUNTRY!

The greatest love story of all time

BARA SUPER-PRODUCTION

ATRA

OF THE NILE

GREATEST $1 ATTRACTION
RELEASED AUGUST 1ST
AT RENTAL PRICES
WITHIN REACH OF ALL EXHIBITORS

TODAY

FOX FILM CORPORATION
IT'S ALWAYS FAIR WEATHER

When these two birds get together,
Always fair weather When good fellows get together, With a Season 1918-19 beginning Sept. 1

William Fox presents

Best Mirth Makers
Bud Fisher's
MUTT and JEFF

Animated Cartoons
52 uproarious performances a year 52 with as many encores as you wish

For open time apply today at any Fox branch office

FOX FILM CORPORATION
GAMBLING UNNECESSARY

BOOK A SURE THING

BIG 6

CHosen by 5000 Exhibitors
Have swept nation by storm
Hold all box office records
Known to public everywhere
Biggest summer attractions will bring you smashing crow

AVAILABLE NOW TO EVERY EXHIBITOR
First come, first served

THEDA BARA in
"THE TWO ORPHANS"
"THE CLEMENCEAU CASE"
"A FOOL THERE WAS"

WILLIAM FARNUM in
"A SOLDIERS' OATH"
"THE BONDMAN"
"THE PLUNDERER"

FOX FILM CORPORATION
WORLD PICTURES present
CARLYLE BLACKWELL
EVELYN GREELEY in "The Golden Wall"

with JOHNNY HINES
and
MADGE EVANS DIRECTED BY DELL HENDERSON

Motion Picture News—
"A good production."
Exhibitors Trade Review—
"Will have a wide appeal. A good box office attraction."
Moving Picture World—
"The story is an enjoyable one."

Sunday Telegraph—
"Has a particular appeal for film fans of feminine persuasion. Will delight matinee audiences."
Exhibitors Herald—
"A beautiful romance. Fills a niche in the hall of good entertainment."
Wakes Up Washington!!!

KITTY GORDON
MONTAGU LOVE

CARLYLE BLACKWELL
JUNE ELVIDGE

IN

WILLIAM A. BRADY'S

Great Spy Picture

"STOLEN ORDERS"

Played to Capacity at Poli’s Theatre Week of July 7th

The Washington Papers Tell the Tale!

“Flashes thrills like chain lightning throughout eight reels of exciting complications.”

—Star.

“William A. Brady, the producer, has put into the eight reels of this picture more sensational scenes than are possible on the legitimate stage—will delight all who see it—a cast of unusual excellence.”

—Times.

“Piles a Pelion of sensations upon an Ossa of thrills. Employs every conceivable device known to the movie world. No film magnate could imagine more. The spectacular episodes of the screen play are staged with much effectiveness.”

—Post.

“A genuine masterwork of the films is ‘Stolen Orders.’ Is the most pretentious production of the celluloid ever put out.”

—Herald.

What “Stolen Orders” Has Done in New York and Washington It Will Do For You

Territorial Rights Selling World Over

ADDRESS
M. WEISSBERG
The Playhouse, 137 West 48th St.
New York
EVERY MAN, woman and child in the country wants to see pictures that show what Uncle Sam is doing to help win the war. "Pershing’s Crusaders" tells the story fully of the first months of activity, and finally shows the welcome of our own boys to the shores of France, with General Pershing at their head.

Fathers and mothers, sweethearts and wives, big sisters and little brothers want to know what their boy is doing, how he is being cared for, and how their money is being spent.

Show "Pershing’s Crusaders" at your theatre and so answer these questions—answer them with pictures that tell the truth—that give accurate information.

Many exhibitors have already booked "Pershing’s Crusaders" for an early showing. Numbers of requests are coming in daily. Is yours among them? If not, get behind the Government and announce to your patrons they will have the privilege of seeing this great patriotic film in your theatre.

Distributed by First National Exhibitors’ Circuit, Inc., 6-8 West Forty-eighth Street, New York

Presented by
COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC INFORMATION, George Creel, Chairman
Through the DIVISION OF FILMS, Charles S. Hart, Director, Washington, D.C.
ROLL OF HONOR
THE NAME OF EVERY THEATRE WHICH EXHIBITS
PERSHING'S CRUSADERS
THE FIRST U.S. OFFICIAL WAR FEATURE

will be published in this Roll and the United States Government Division of Films will present a handsome "Victory Screen Pledge" to its proprietors to be used for lobby display and as a memento of their patriotic action.

Colorado—N. Mex.—Utah—Wyo.
And All Counties in Idaho North of and Including Idaho County
Universal .......... Holyoke, Colo.
Emerson .......... Brush, Colo.
Grand .......... Pueblo, Colo.
Wray .......... Wray, Colo.
Orpheum .......... Steamboat Springs, Colo.
Lyric or Empress .......... Ft. Collins, Colo.
Iris .......... Bondur, Colo.
Stirling .......... Greeley, Colo.
West .......... Trinidad, Colo.
Ogden .......... Ogden, Utah

Oregon—Washington—Alaska—Montana
And All Counties in Idaho North of and Including Idaho County
Empire .......... Anacortes, Wash.
Victory .......... Tacoma, Wash.
Rialto .......... Bremerton, Wash.
Majestic .......... Cornwallis, Ore.

Illinois
Oakley .......... Chicago, III.
Iris .......... Chicago, III.
Plaisance .......... Chicago, III.
Paulina .......... Chicago, III.
Majestic .......... Streator, Colo.
Windsor Park .......... Chicago, III.
Julian .......... Chicago, III.
Opera House .......... Rankin, III.
Curtis .......... Downers Grove, III.
Brookfield .......... Brookfield, III.
Illinois .......... Clue Heights, III.
Minsdale .......... Minsdale, III.
Garden .......... Harvey, III.
Joliet .......... Joliet, III.
Hyde Park .......... Chicago, III.
Rogers .......... Chicago, III.
Bugs .......... Chicago, III.
Empress .......... Decatur, III.
Bijou .......... Carrollton, III.
Americus .......... Chicago, III.
New Apollo .......... Chicago, III.
California .......... Chicago, III.
Pine Manor .......... Chicago, III.
De Luxe .......... Lake Forest, III.
Marquette .......... La Salle, III.
Orpheum .......... Ottawa, Ill.
Marshall Sq .......... Chicago, Ill.
Hillington .......... Chicago, Ill.
Orpheum .......... Chicago, Ill.
Lyric .......... Earlville, III.
Avon .......... Chicago, Ill.
Empire .......... Morris, Ill.
Princess .......... De Kalb, Ill.
Star .......... Oregon, Ill.
Grand .......... Harrisburg, Ill.
Ear .......... Chicago, Ill.
New Brookline .......... Chicago, Ill.
Southern .......... Oak Park, III.
Grand .......... Macomb, Ill.
Opera House .......... Buda, Ill.
Strand .......... Freeport, Ill.
Rialto .......... Renewe, Ill.
Majestic .......... East Moline, Ill.
Mirror .......... Moline, Ill.
Spenser Sq .......... Rock Island, Ill.
Dreamland .......... Prophetstown, Ill.
Olympia .......... Arcole, Ill.
Star .......... Newton, Ill.
Strand .......... Robinson, Ill.
Ade .......... Olney, Ill.
Strand .......... Petersburg, Ill.
Majestic .......... Paxton, Ill.
Illinois .......... La Grange, Ill.
Lyric .......... Chicago, Ill.

Indiana
Alhambra .......... Knightstown, Ind.
Luna .......... Lafayette, Ind.
Starland .......... Anderson, Ind.
Princess .......... La Porte, Ind.
Circle .......... Indianapolis, Ind.
Iris .......... Dana, Ind.
Empire .......... Jasonville, Ind.
Gem .......... No. Manchester, Ind.
Dreamland .......... Mt. Vernon, Ind.
Starland .......... Michigan City, Ind.
Crumps .......... Columbus, Ind.
Prince .......... Rushville, Ind.
Musie Hall .......... Crawfordsville, Ind.
Iris .......... Kokomo, Ind.
Orpheum .......... Clinton, Ind.
Colonial .......... Logansport, Ind.

Iowa—Nebraska—Kansas
Strand .......... Clinton, Ia.
Strand .......... Tuniuil, la.
Palace .......... Burlington, la.
Grand .......... Estherville, la.
Orpheum .......... Fairfield, la.
Grand .......... Neokuk, la.
Strand .......... Marshalltown, la.
Grand .......... Davenport, la.
Grand .......... Mt. Madison, la.
Palace .......... Muscatine, la.
Iris .......... Hamburg, la.
Phoenix .......... Nelo, la.
Fraser .......... Spencer, la.
Casino .......... Melecher, la.
Princess .......... Sioux City, la.
Royal .......... Sibley, la.
Majestic .......... Fort Dodge, la.
Opera House .......... Algona, la.
Royal .......... Carroll, la.
Martha-Ellen .......... Central City, Neb.
Community .......... David City, Neb.
Stirling .......... Superior, Neb.
Lyda .......... Grand Island, Neb.
Auditorium .......... Norfolk, Neb.
Rex .......... Arkansas City, Kan.
Royal .......... Hutchinson, Kan.
Royal .......... Newton, Kan.
Empress .......... Paola, Kan.
New Elks .......... Parsons, Kan.
Columbia .......... Coffeyville, Kan.
Orpheum .......... Leavenworth, Kan.
Cozy .......... Topeka, Kan.

Minnesota—Wisconsin—S. D.
Cozy .......... Long Prairie, Minn.
Metropolitan .......... Owatonna, Minn.
Lyric .......... Pequot, Minn.
Grand .......... Mahtowa, Minn.
Grand .......... Faribault, Minn.
Opera House .......... Sleepy Eye, Minn.
Grand .......... Crosby, Minn.
Cozy .......... Pine River, Minn.
Gem .......... Liptstone, Minn.
Rex .......... Bomidge, Minn.
Barrymore .......... Marshall, Minn.
Broadway .......... Albert Lea, Minn.
Moseum .......... Atkin, Minn.
Strand .......... Fairmont, Minn.
Grand .......... Jackson, Minn.

(Continued next page)
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>State</th>
<th>Cities</th>
<th>State</th>
<th>Cities</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Texas—Arkansas</td>
<td>Empire ........................................ Jonesboro, Ark.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Princess ....................................... Hot Springs, Ark.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Majestic ..................................... Marianna, Ark.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Majestic ..................................... Clarendon, Ark.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Grand ......................................... Newport, Ark.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Best .......................................... Pine Bluff, Ark.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Crazy ......................................... Mineral Wells, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Amnsu ........................................ Corpus Christi, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Palace ........................................ Farmersville, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Star .......................................... Eagle Pass, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Strand or Hipp ................................ Ft. Worth, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Airdome ...................................... Del Rio, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>King .......................................... Sherman, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Queen ......................................... Ennis, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Princess ..................................... Denton, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Liberty ...................................... Orange, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Opera House .................................. Mexia, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Texas Grand .................................. Ballhart, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Peoples ...................................... Beaumont, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Alvorado .................................... Alvorado, Tex.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kentucky—Tennessee</td>
<td>Manring ..................................... Middleboro, Ky.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Gaines ..................................... Pineville, Ky.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Cumberland .................................. Harlan, Ky.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Empress ..................................... Owensboro, Ky.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Capitol ...................................... Frankfort, Ky.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Majestic ..................................... Johnson City, Tenn.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Mary Anderson .............................. Louisville, Ky.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oklahoma</td>
<td>American ....................................... Eland, Okla.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Liberty ...................................... Hugo, Okla.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Empress ..................................... Sapulpa, Okla.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Empress ..................................... Oklahoma City, Okla.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>New Garden ................................... Stillwater, Okla.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>North &amp; South Carolina—Va.—</td>
<td>Fla.—Ala.—Ga.</td>
<td>North Dakota</td>
<td>Lyceum ....................................... Kemmere, N. D.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Missouri

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>City</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Criterion</td>
<td>Poplar Bluff, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Orpheum</td>
<td>Mexico, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Moberly, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess</td>
<td>Kirkville, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Orpheus</td>
<td>Excelsior Springs, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bloomfield</td>
<td>Bloomfield, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Higucy</td>
<td>Albany, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rex</td>
<td>Ridgeway, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McGraw</td>
<td>Brookfield, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trio Amusement</td>
<td>Hale, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alamo</td>
<td>Fayette, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Star</td>
<td>Louisiana, Mo.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyric</td>
<td>Liberty, Mo.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Ohio

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>City</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Castanha</td>
<td>Shelby, Ohio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jewel</td>
<td>Troy, Ohio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Majestic</td>
<td>Mansfield, Ohio</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Delaware—Md.—D. C.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>City</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Queen</td>
<td>Wilmington, Del.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Garden</td>
<td>Baltimore, Md.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

New York

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>City</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Stratford</td>
<td>Poughkeepsie, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Proctor's</td>
<td>Mt. Vernon, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Armory or Palace</td>
<td>Schoenectady, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amsterdam O. H.</td>
<td>Amsterdam, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elsmere</td>
<td>Bronx, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spooner</td>
<td>Bronx, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burland</td>
<td>Bronx, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Majestic</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Broadway</td>
<td>W. Ennurgh, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Empire</td>
<td>Port Richmond, S. I., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Proctor's</td>
<td>Yonkers, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baker</td>
<td>Dover, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plaza</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Greenpoint</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manhattan</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Steinway</td>
<td>Astoria, L. I., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Photoplay</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schuyler</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Plaza</td>
<td>W. New Brighton, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Glen</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Standard</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U. S. Military A.</td>
<td>West Point, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Liberty</td>
<td>Canandaigua, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Geneva, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Ithaca, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fordham</td>
<td>Bronx, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Concourse</td>
<td>Bronx, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Times</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dyckman</td>
<td>Patchogue, N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unique</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Columbia</td>
<td>Maspeth, L. I., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Atlas</td>
<td>N. Y. C., N. Y.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

New Jersey

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>City</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Englewood</td>
<td>Englewood, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Park</td>
<td>Ocean City, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U. S. Temple</td>
<td>Union Hill, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Main St.</td>
<td>Freehold, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arcade</td>
<td>Princeton, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Hightstown, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyons Park</td>
<td>Morristown, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Montauk</td>
<td>Passaic, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hoys</td>
<td>Blairstown, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Vineyard, N. J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Keith</td>
<td>Jersey City, N. J.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

New England States

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>City</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Seabury Square</td>
<td>Boston, Mass.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

West Va. & Western Pa.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>City</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Consisting of and Including Fulton, Huntington and Potter Counties</td>
<td>Happy Hour</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Garden</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Regent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Palace</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Pastime</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Martin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Strand</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Grand</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Commons</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Jack Marks</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Eastern Pa.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>City</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Orpheum</td>
<td>Chambersburg, East. Pa.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Unequaled publicity and exploitation. Geraldine Farrar brings you these. The first of her six Goldwyn Star Series are:
 "The Turn of the Wheel," by Tex Charwate
 "The Hell-Cat," by Willard Mack
You, as an exhibitor, insure your own prosperity for the coming season with the fifty remarkable productions bearing the Goldwyn imprint of quality.
Madge Kennedy

in a scene from
"THE KINGDOM OF YOUTH"

Goldwyn Pictures Star Series: The Quality Output of the Screen With No "Deadwood" Stars.

SCREEN audiences make their own favorites. They have made Madge Kennedy by their liking for her. You are taking no risk with your dollars when you bring her into your theatre in "The Kingdom of Youth," by Charles A. Logue "A Perfect Lady," by Channing Pollock & Rennold Wolf

These are the first two of her eight Goldwyn Star Series productions that will quadruple her popularity with the public. You need Madge Kennedy for your audiences.
No comedian has ever before leaped into nation-wide popularity within three months after the release of his first picture. Because no one ever before attained an instantaneous success as a screen comedian, Goldwyn is tremendously proud of

"Smiling Bill" Parsons

in Capitol Comedies

26 a Year
Every Second Monday

who is now playing in the biggest first run theatres and is approved by the owners of those houses for his cleanliness, his speed, his originality and his popularity. Today these successful exhibitors are bringing new crowds into their houses by advertising the presence of Capitol Comedies:

Strand, New York
Loew’s New York
Stanley, Philadelphia
Strand, Omaha
Valentine, Toledo
Hippodrome, Buffalo
Rialto, Atlanta
Liberty, Colorado Springs
Liberty, Portland, Ore.
Liberty, Sacramento
New Garrick, Minneapolis
Park, Johnstown, Pa.
Majestic, Jackson, Mich.
Tumberg, Niagara Falls
Newark, Newark, N. J.
Grand Central, St. Louis
Grecian, El Paso
Superba, San Diego
Rialto, Charlestown, W. Va.
Regent, Rochester
Regent, Indianapolis
Royal, Sioux City
Clemmer, Spokane
Harris, Pittsburg
Garrick, St. Paul
Bijou, Roanoke, Va.
Castle, South Bend
Rialto, Eureka, Cal.

McVicker’s, Chicago
America, Denver
Madison, Detroit
Miller’s, Los Angeles
Butterfly, Milwaukee
Empire, Montgomery, Ala.
Colonial, Lincoln, Neb.
Coliseum, Seattle
Strand, Scranton
Regent, Jersey City
Palace, Newport News
Republic, Annapolis

all of Marcus Loew’s metropolitan theatres, New York, and several hundred others.

Have you booked Capitol Comedies for YOUR theatre?

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
16 East 42nd Street
New York City
EXHIBITORS THEMSELVES URGE YOU TO BOOK THIS PRODUCTION

"Heart of the Sunset" has played to tremendous patronage in hundreds of the country's big first-run houses; to record-breaking business on most of the big circuits—the Marcus Loew and Fox chains and others. The wonderful success of

REX BEACH'S Screen Classic of the Great Southwest

HEART of the SUNSET

Directed by Frank Powell is so genuine and big that we, as its distributors, no longer have to tell you of its profit-making values. We now refer any and all exhibitors who have not booked "Heart of the Sunset" to Every one of these exhibitors has made a record with "Heart of the Sunset" and today, for an equivalent period of time, it is a greater box office attraction than even "The Spoilers," "The Barrier," "The Ne'er-Do-Well" or "The Auction Block." In the heart of the summer its bookings are showing a constant increase that proves the patronage-power of this production. Why don't YOU book it now?

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDWYN President

16 East 42nd Street New York City
LEONCE PERRET
presents
E.K. LINCOLN AND DOLORES CASSINELLI

"LAFAYETTE—WE COME!"
(PERSHING-'17)

Under the auspices of

The French Government

COMBINING the inspiration of Pershing's immortal words at the tomb of Lafayette, the supreme art and finesse of a Frenchman and the consummate skill of a pastmaster—

WITH a story of mystery and intrigue, flavored with a throbbing romance of love and war, portrayed and enacted with genuine artistry by an exceptional cast and a subtle, yet stupendous, patriotic appeal—

RESULTING IN the Supreme Cinema Spectacle.

Perret Productions
LEONCE PERRET
1457 B'WAY NEW YORK CITY
DOING BIG THINGS—SAYING LITTLE

In the coming sixteen episode serial it is suffice to say that the wizardry of Director Joseph A. Golden is combined with the rare dramatic ability of the star

LEAH BAIRD

(THE PICTURE GIRL BEAUTIFUL)

Supported by SHELDON LEWIS and other serially-famous photplayers, including

BETTY HOWE   CHARLES HUTCHINSON

Full American releasing particulars to follow

Title now being voted upon by representative exhibitors of the U. S. and Canada

WESTERN PHOTOPLAYS, Inc.

Executive Offices, 8th Floor
Longacre Bldg., 42d St. and Broadway
NEW YORK CITY

JOS. A. GOLDEN, Pres.
A. ALPERSTEIN, Treas. and Gen'l Mgr.

S. ROTHENBERG, Vice-Pres.
WESTERN PHOTOPLAYS, Inc.

Announce the Disposal of World's Rights (Exclusive of the United States and Canada) to their

SERIAL SUCCESS
STARRING

LEAH BAIRD

( THE PICTURE GIRL BEAUTIFUL )

Sidney Garrett, President of J. Frank Brockliss, Inc., saw just one screening of the opening episodes and said, "This is destined to be the biggest success of the year. I don't need to see any more or even know the title."

But He Did Know These:

The Producers,—
Messrs. Golden and Alperstein, vetar film men of integrity and ability.

The Director—
JOSEPH A. GOLDEN, successful builder of film structures of artistic and box-office worth.

The Star—
LEAH BAIRD, beautiful, popular, talented, internationally famed for screen triumphs and beloved by "fans" of every clime.

Supported by

SHELDON LEWIS

WITH A GALAXY-CAST, INCLUDING

BETTY HOWE
CHARLES HUTCHINSON

and a host of other celebrated picture players

16 Episodes
2 Reels Each

Dramatically a Sensational Whirlwind
Replete with thrills, with winsome love, and adventures afoot and on horseback and under and over the sea.
Nowhere at any price can you get better comedies than the following:

HAROLD LLOYD

comedies which will be released during the hot months. Quality sticks out all over them as thick as bumblebees in a clover field!

Kicking The Germ Out of Germany (July 21st)
That’s Him (August 4th)
Bride and Gloom (August 18th)
Two Scrambled (September 1st)

Get Them - They Are Trade Getters!

Produced by Rolin
One Reel Each
Why fear the "hot weather" and the "slow months" when you can play a truly special feature of special attractiveness and with thousands of dollars worth of the very best kind of newspaper publicity behind it —

MORAL SUICIDE

with

John Mason, Leah Baird and Anne Luther?

Two one sheet posters, one block one sheet, two three sheets, one six sheet and one twenty-four sheet; attractive lobby display of 11 x 14 photos; a 22 x 28 scene photo; four slides, newspaper cuts and Campaign Book with music plot; every aid to the successful exploitation of this picture has been given you!

Presented by Graphic Film Corp.
Written and directed by Ivan Abramson

Distributed by PATHE
"And so as we two old people sat in the darkened theatre, suddenly there flashed upon the screen pictures of muddy men marching, clad in the uniform that marked them as British 'Tommies', fresh from the shock of battle and scenes of carnage, yet smiling as only brave men can smile; then came more pictures, this time of the men who said and made good their words 'they shall not pass', the heroic French who for four years have borne a terrible burden and borne it well; then more pictures of other great fighting men, the Italians, proving their mettle on the Piave; and then, with the audience rising and cheering, down a dusty road in a never ending line, our own boys with the sun of France glittering on their helmets, on their way to the trenches to take up Civilization's burden. Our eyes were wet, for among them, probably, was our own boy who is 'Over There'! We have the Allied Governments and Pathé to thank for the thrills we got from the 'Allies' Official War Review.'"

Such is the way that the Great Public has received the

ALLIES' OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW comprising the official war pictures of the United States, France, Great Britain, Italy

In it may be found weekly, pictures that give unforgettable impressions of the great war.

It belongs to YOUR house!

Presented by

Committee on Public Information
George Creel, Chairman
Division of Films
Chas. S. Hart, Director

Distributed by PATHÉ
Charming, dainty, dashing IRENE CASTLE is presented with ANTONIO MORENO
in
THE FIRST LAW
a heart-throb drama that tells the tale of how a beautiful, gently reared girl became enmeshed in the toils of a gang of blackmailers.

Adapted from the novel
by Gilson Willets
Produced by Astra
Directed by Lawrence McGill

The famous sunshine baby
BABY MARIE OSBORNE is announced in her latest human interest photoplay
CUPID BY PROXY
assisted by little Sambo, the mirth provoking
pickaninny.

COMING SOON
Our Task is to Furnish the Folks at Home with Wholesome Amusement and Diversion These War Days

Watch Triangle Go

“Over The Top”

WITH THE PLAYS THAT PLEASE AND PROFIT

Distributed by the Successful Organization Established Upon a Foundation of Efficient Business Principles

TRIANGLE DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

1457 BROADWAY

NEW YORK
Clean Pictures

vs.

Censorship

What Causes Censorship

1. Self-constituted "Regulators."
2. Professional reformers.
3. Suggestive and misleading titles.
4. Fake advertising.
5. Extreme sex pictures, camouflaged with alleged scientific and hygienic excuses.

A LATE picture paved the way to its filth with a sub-title reading, "To the Pure Mind All Things Are Pure."
Then followed a full description of how to sniff cocaine from the thumb-nail. Possibly the "coke" was pure.
Why hang out signs in cities where we do not have censorship reading "Children under fourteen years not admitted today?" If, by these "exhibitors" own admissions, the productions are unfit for children—then they are unfit for adults.
We have been proclaiming to the skies that this industry has become a potent factor in the educational world, and that we are teachers. This is generally true—but—there is room for improvement. If we are moulding character for this and the next generation, are we doing a truly wholesome work in depicting the underworld, hypodermic needles, gauze-draped vampires, assaults of women and other depths of depravity?

Producers Please Note:

Prohibition is here. Professional reformers will seek new fields. The exhibitor is going to have something to say about the making of the productions to be shown on his screen. Keep these few thoughts in mind when you are preparing a production for the Affiliated Distributors Corporation and the Exhibitor Booking Corporations affiliated with it.

We have taken a decided stand for clean pictures because it is the surest way to wipe out censorship.

Nothing but clean pictures for the next twelve months would put all censor boards out of business, because the picture public will not stand for idiotic and senseless rules and regulations which now in most instances operate as a persecution of one of America's most useful industries.

AFFILIATED DISTRIBUTORS CORP.

1476 B'way (523-4-5 Longacre Bldg.),
New York
"By Their Works
Ye Shall Know Them"

The "Works" of the Hodkinson Co-partner ship Plan

1—It is a going, profitable business.
2—Fifteen Paralta plays have been released to date.
3—Twenty-eight offices actively engaged in selling
Hodkinson Service.
4—Sales totalling over One and one half Million Dollars ($1,500,000).
5—Douglas Natural Color Pictures being released in first run houses.
6—Plaza Pictures ready for the market.
7—Additional product from well-known producers coming in the Fall.
8—Big exhibitors of Roth and Kehrlein type tied in.
9—Smaller exhibitors joining in all parts of the country

These are the facts—the "works" that assure you that the Hodkinson Co-partnership Plan has something besides a "face."

Remember—
The "face" may look all right but it is the "works" that count.

When considering the so-called cooperative plans now in the market, disregard the face and look behind for the works. Are they "going" businesses or are they only on paper? Are the big exhibitors allied with them?

Have they product—leadership—prestige or profits?

Have they any of these qualifications that stamp the Hodkinson
Co-partnership Plan as practical—efficient and sincere?

In analyzing the established organizations in the field, ask yourself whether they are geared to protect and help the exhibitors to bigger and better business, or whether they are built to dispose of the producer's product at a profit to him regardless of whether the exhibitor makes money or not.

Results count and you cannot expect results without "works."

W.W. Hodkinson Corp.
527 Fifth Ave. New York City
Hodkinson Service At All General Film Exchanges

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
A timely comedy drama of the West in which Miss King displays her unique ability as an athlete and "two gun" woman. A satirically humorous story of woman suffrage and its battle against "graft ridden" politics in Nevada.

A production that will appeal to everyone as a wholesome relief to war conditions and war pictures. Five reels of photoplay—no padding.

Released as part of Hodkinson Service.
Watch for announcement of new stars.

W.W. Hodkinson Corp.
527 Fifth Avenue, N.Y. City—Hodkinson Service at all Film Exchanges
LOUISE GLAUM

IN HER THIRD PARALTA PLAY

WEDLOCK

By

DENNISON CLIFT

Produced under the personal supervision of

ROBERT BRUNTON

Directed by Wallace Worsley

In the role of Margery Harding, Louise Glaum will be seen as a young telephone operator, who, persecuted by the family of the man she loves, clings to her high ideals, until, after a series of climaxic situations, the hand of fate strikes at her persecutors. The untangling of the web gives Miss Glaum exceptional opportunity for displaying her rare histrionic abilities to their greatest advantage.
A sunshine picture of rare charm and appeal presenting a child star of the first magnitude. This "Baby Joy" feature is an intensely diverting drama in which the love of a small child opens the locked door of a father's love.
Margaret Fisher in "Impossil't's Susan"
Released by Mutual July 22

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
MARGARITA FISHER

STAR IN A SERIES OF PRODUCTIONS OF CONSISTENT BOX OFFICE VALUE INCLUDING "MISS JACKIE OF THE NAVY," "MISS JACKIE OF THE ARMY" AND "A SQUARE DEAL."

IN "IMPOSSIBLE SUSAN"

WHICH DEALS CLEVERLY WITH THE QUESTION OF WHETHER CLOTHES MAKE THE WOMAN OR WOMAN MAKES THE DUDS AND INVOLVES THE DISILLUSIONMENT OF TWO CYNICAL BACHELORS.

PRODUCED BY AMERICAN FILM COMPANY, INC., UNDER THE DIRECTION OF LLOYD INGRAHAM FROM THE STORY BY JOSEPH POLAND.

AVAILABLE JULY THE TWENTY-SECOND AT EXCHANGES OF THE MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION.
Field Reports confirm

A tremendous Box
The big city-

From thousands of reports

TO HELL WITH

Featuring Lawrence Grant as the Kaiser and Olive Tell

A SCREEN CLASSICS INC. PRODUCTION - Showmanship wins!
our Prediction !!!

Office clean up for
The smaller city-

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

WE pick these two -

THE KAISER

Written by June Mathis - Directed by George Irving Distributed by Metro Pictures Corporation -
Maxwell Karger, Mgr. of Productions.

Book it now and cash in!

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
Miss Allison with her beauty, her exceptional talents and her great charm has captivated the motion picture public. Her triumph in this production surpasses her previous successes.

METRO PICTURES CORPORATION presents

The star of charm

MAY ALLISON

in the June Mathis play

A Successful Adventure

Adapted by Miss Mathis and Katherine Kavanaugh
Directed in 5 fascinating acts by Harry L. Franklin.

RELEASED BY METRO JULY 15th.

MAXWELL KARGER Mgr. of Productions.
We Solicit Laboratory Work

Because:

The Quality of Our Work Is of the Highest;
Our Facilities Unequaled;
Our Responsibility Unquestioned;
Our Service Unexcelled;
Our Prices RIGHT.

Ask for Quotations

There's an iron-bound guarantee for you—Mr. Manufacturer—in dealing with a laboratory backed by twelve years of knowing how. Kalem's record spells Quality, Responsibility and Service.

This Security and Satisfaction is yours at a price that will interest.

Let's talk it over!

KALEM COMPANY

235 West 23rd Street
New York City

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
TO CONTENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PICTURES</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>First Nat'l Ex. Circuit, Inc.</td>
<td>561-62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fox Film Corp.</td>
<td>462-67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“Geese of Berlin”</td>
<td>491</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goldwyn Pictures Corp.</td>
<td>263-66</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iseworth Pictures Corp.</td>
<td>593</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jewi Productions, Inc.</td>
<td>182-83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Metro Pictures Corp.</td>
<td>522-24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mutual Film Corp.</td>
<td>541-42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oakdale Productions</td>
<td>515</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paralaya Plays, Inc.</td>
<td>518</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pathe Exchange, Inc.</td>
<td>510-13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peerless Productions...</td>
<td>557</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Select Pictures Corp.</td>
<td>485</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Topics of the Day Films</td>
<td>591</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triangle Distrib. Corp.</td>
<td>522-23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Universal Film Mfg. Co.</td>
<td>584</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Western Photoplays, Inc.</td>
<td>508-09</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wm. A. Brady</td>
<td>609</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Film Corp.</td>
<td>517-18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. W. Hovdkinson Corp.</td>
<td>517-18</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TO ADVERTISERS

- Hampton Del Ruth...
- Harvey, Geo. L...
- La Cinematografia Italiana...
- Moore, Wm. N...
- M. P. Directory Co...
- M. P. World...
- M. P. World Circulation Coupon...
- National Ticket Co...
- Our-Days-In-France Teharoa Fund...
- Robinson, T. L. & Co...
- Williams, A. P...

MOVING PICTURE CAMERAS
- Base Camera Co...
- Burke & James, Inc...

MUSIC & MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
- American Photoplayer Co...
- Marquette Piano Co...
- Peabody Piano Co...

PROJECTION MACH. MFRS.
- Power, Nicholas Co...
- Precision Mech Co...

PROJECTION SCREEN MFRS.
- Gold King Screen Co...
- Minuma Sone Screen Co...

The Advertisers Who Use the Columns of The Moving Picture World
Represent the "Class" of the Industry

We Exercise a Strict Supervision Over the Business Announcements Which We Print
This Protects the Prospective Purchaser It Also Adds Force to Our Advertisers' Messages

Advertising for Exhibitors...
Advertising Aids for Busy Managers...
Al兼s Open Theater in Cobourg, Ontario...
American Plans Fully Outlined...
Army Men at Showing of "The Unbeaten"...
At Leading Picture Theatres...
Australian Notes...
Basing Prefix on Production...
Be-H. Private John, U. S. A...
British Notes...

Capital City Complains of Express Delay...
Catalogue of Educational and Selected Pictures, Released Between April 1 and June 30, 1918...
Chicago News Letter...
“City of Dim Faces, The” (Paramount)...
Cinncinnati Theaters May Raise Admissions...
Critical Reviews and Comments...
Crowder Classifies Industry As Essential...
“Danger Mark, The” (Arclight)...
Day of the Painter Coming, Says Earle...
“Deciding Kiss, The” (Bluebird)...
Educational, Broad Interpretation on...
Exchanges Take Action Against Thieves...
Expressing Films Uncertain Business...
Facts and Comments...
Fairbanks to Make a "Pep" Film...
“Fight for Millions, A” (Vistascope)...
“Firefly of France, The” (Paramount)...

CARBON & CARBONS ACCESSORIES
Speer Carbon Co...

ELECTRIC & MICAL EQUIPMENT
Amusement Supply Co...
Hertvger Electric Co...
Porter, B. F...
Swaab, Lewis N...
Typhon Sales Co...
United Theater Equip. Co...

FILM EXCHANGES
Film Exchange, The...

LOBBY DISPLAYS
Kraus Mfg. Co...

MFRS. OF MOVING PICTURES
Duhem M. P. Co...
Empire City Film Laboratories, Inc...
Esqrtograph Co...
Evans Film Mfg. Co...
Kalem Co...
Kochbacker Mfg. Co...
Standard M. P. Co...

MFRS. OF INDUSTRIAL PICTURES
Affiliated Distributors Corp...
Committee on Public Information...
Dewaray Film Mfg. Co...
Famous Players-Lasky Corp...

Film Trade Notes of Week from Kansas City
Foreign Trade News...
Punkhouse Trial Near Its Close...
Getting Away from the Curse of “Stills”...
Goldwyn Announcement Meets Approval...
Government’s Picture Activities Described...

“Hand of Vengeance, The” (Gaumont)...
“Hell’s End” (Triangle)...
“Her Moment” (General Film)...
“Her Price” (Fox)...
Interesting Film News from New England...
Kansas City Exchanges Will Aid Buyers...
Killed Obnoxious Law by Enforcement...
Laemmle Goes After Summer Closers...
List of Current Film Release Dates...
“Love Watches” (Vistascope)...

“Man’s World, A” (Metro)...
Manufacturers’ Advance Notes...
“Marked Cards” (Triangle)...
Mastrbaum Memorial Dedicated...
Motion Pictures—An Essential...
Motion Picture Educator...
Music for the Picture...
National Association Goes to Boston...
First Nat'l Ex. Circuit, Inc. | 561-62 |
Fox Film Corp. | 462-67 |
“Geese of Berlin” | 491 |
Goldwyn Pictures Corp. | 263-66 |
Iseworth Pictures Corp. | 593 |
Jewi Productions, Inc. | 182-83 |
Metro Pictures Corp. | 522-24 |
Mutual Film Corp. | 541-42 |
Oakdale Productions | 515 |
Paralaya Plays, Inc. | 518 |
Pathe Exchange, Inc. | 510-13 |
Peerless Productions... | 557 |
Select Pictures Corp. | 485 |
Topics of the Day Films | 591 |
Triangle Distrib. Corp. | 522-23 |
Universal Film Mfg. Co. | 584 |
Western Photoplays, Inc. | 508-09 |
Wm. A. Brady | 609 |
World Film Corp. | 517-18 |
W. W. Hovdkinson Corp. | 517-18 |
Kill Obnoxious Law by Enforcement

When Lexington's Churchmen Invoke Blue Laws to Close Sunday Theaters, City's Mayor Favors Shutting Down Everything

THF fight at Lexington, Ky., relative to closing the moving picture theaters on Sunday is taking on a most serious aspect, and it is beginning to look as though the theaters may be forced to close on the Sabbath. The trouble started on July 1, when members of the Ministerial Union, backed by the Layman's Committee and other church workers, started a movement to close the Sunday theaters, on the grounds that they were interfering with church services, and were in violation of the state law, namely, the old blue laws which were upheld by the Court of Appeals last winter in the case of the Capital Theater, at Frankfort. Under this law it is illegal to operate theaters on Sunday.

Since July 1 the churchmen have been very busy. A delegation was sent to Mayor Rogers, and made a strong plea for the officials to enforce the state law without the necessity of the churchmen entering the courts, and having warrants issued. Mayor Rogers frankly told the committee that he was opposed to closing the Sunday theaters, and that he believed public sentiment backed him in this stand. The other commissioners gave no public expression and took no action on the matter. Chairman Combs then stated that the matter would be taken into the courts.

The exhibitors immediately started issuing coupons to be used in a ballot to be taken throughout the city in an effort to learn just how the majority felt on the subject, and finally stated that they would see the thing carried to a close.

A committee from the Layman's League was pressed into service to attend the shows at every picture theater in the city on Sunday, July 6. Ministers fired broadside protests against pictures on Sunday from every pulpit in the city. On Monday a mass meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. hall, and at this meeting the collected evidence was submitted and arrangements made to push the fight. It was reported that the committee had sufficient evidence to handle the prosecution. The city attorneys and commonwealth's attorney have expressed a willingness to cooperate with the churchmen, and the entire membership of all of the church groups reporting is behind the movement.

On July 9, the churchmen went before Magistrate Orville C. Boone, and swore to warrants against the management of the Ben Ali Theater Company, the Phoenix Amusement Company, and J. H. Stamper, operating the Orpheum, charging that these concerns had violated the state laws in running their houses on Sunday. It was stated at the same time that warrants would probably be sworn to against the employees and machine operators of the houses.

This action was followed by a counter-blow on the part of Mayor Rogers, who caused somewhat of a stir when he directed Corporation Counsel Denny to draft an opinion as to the legality of other Sunday businesses. It was intimated by Mayor Rogers that if the law was enforced regarding picture theaters, which are alleged to interfere with the church, that the law would probably be upheld and closed up every classification of business to a point where the drug stores will be open to sell drugs only, and newspapers, confections, cigars, shins, etc., will be unobtainable on Sunday. In other words, the old blue laws are to be enforced to a point where the citizens will become so bored that they will go before the next legislature and endeavor to have the law changed. An effort along this line was made during the last session of the legislature, but was defeated.

Lieut. W. B. Marxsen, adjutant, at Camp Buell, as a representative of the officers and men at that camp, both those there at the present time and those to be trained there in the future, stated to the press that he hoped the Churchmen would consider the matter carefully before steps were taken to close the amusement.

The city is fairly well divided on the subject, but from all indications and returns in the balloting indications are that the majority are in favor of the Sunnies. The movement of the Mayor to either let the shows run or close everything also will have considerable influence.

The worst feature of the controversy is that in event Lexington closes on Sunday many other towns in the state will follow the lead of Lexington, which is one of the largest and best cities of the commonwealth.

Screen "Coming Back" in Mexico

Many Picture Theaters Being Constructed on Border—General Castillo of Mexico City Tells of Improving Conditions

WITH Mexico finally eliminated from the first page of the metropolitan dailies as the home of banditry, revolutions, murder and sudden death the attention of the film men and exhibitors of the Southwest has been turned to the land of the Aztecs as an almost virgin field for unlimited business. Mexican exhibitors are coming more and more frequently to Texas and a good trans-border trade is being rapidly built up with the advent of stable conditions under Carranza and the peace which reigns from Matamoras to Juarez along the Rio Grande border line. Texas motion picture exhibitors are putting up theaters on the American side of the border and they are patronized not only by the United States troops in isolated stations but by Mexicans from the other side of the line as well. All sorts of inquiries are being made regarding the Mexican situation, and pioneers are already in the field establishing Mexican motion picture theaters. William Epstein and Walter McCombs have sold out their interests in San Antonio and are planning to cross the river after business in a foreign field. Others are working along similar lines.

- Mexican film men and exhibitors are now becoming common visitors along the film rows of Dallas and San Antonio. One typical Mexican movie pioneer was in Dallas to visit J. B. Dugger of the Vitagraph a few days ago.

He was General R. J. Castillo of the Imperial Cinema Company of Mexico City, for two years an exile from his native land, but now owner of half a dozen playhouses in the Mexican capital and adjoining towns and villages. General Castillo, who owns vast tracts of ranch land in Northern Mexico, is a millionaire who believes there is a great future in his country for the screen. On his visit here he gave away twenty pesos gold pieces of the new Carlist 1914 currency as souvenirs to his friends in local film branches.

"Business conditions in Mexico are rapidly adjusting themselves with the advent of peace," General Castillo says. "In six months the percentage burned was made suitable, silver coinage has taken the place of paper money. We accept only gold and silver now for theater tickets. On a given date all the Mexican paper was called in. It was worth 20 cents on the dollar and patriotic Mexicans were called upon to burn or destroy all the government rather than force the government to cash it in. Rich people burned all their paper money. Poor people burned only a portion of it. Millions were hated the government by this campaign.

I carried back a bushel basket of paper money and did many others. This did much to put business on a firm basis on our side of the border."

Castillo won his title of "general" while opposing Huerta's revolution. But property and city government property were confiscated and his picture shows were closed up.

"I quit the picture show business and went into the revolution business with about 3,000 men," continued Castillo. "I am a general and I had to be with the troops. A cameraman could have made some great pictures of my army."

General Castillo's troops got in action, all right. They were marching in Mexico City during the fighting under General Reyes when some one turned a machine gun on them. About 100 were killed or wounded and the general got a machine gun bullet through his leg.

However, everything ended happily. Carranza gave back the Chihuahua ranch lands and the Mexico city motion picture houses and the general is on the job boosting Mexico as a motion picture field.

Under present conditions Castillo says all pictures shown in Mexico are Mexican. The government has done so much for the sake of safeguarding the morals of the Mexican public, but to prevent the display of any picture which might hurt the feelings of any foreign nation. There are no non-union Mexican and non-union operators. If they do use a non-union operator their film is put on a blacklist and no union operator will touch the film or run it off again.

The order hits many of the exchanges in Boston, as very often they have had to go over and order the work to be done, and employ a union operator by the week costs $33. Formerly they paid operators from twenty to twenty-five dollars a week, and when the operator was not showing pictures, was assisting the shipper or was engaged in some useful work about the exchange. If the exchange wants to hire the operator by the day it will cost 50 cents a reel, and the operator will only work a six hour day.

JULIAN LA MOTHE AT CAMP DIX.

For the last five months Julian La Mothe, the scenario writer and author of Bessie Barriscale's last Paraiba picture, "Patriotism," has been at Camp Dix, New Jersey. He is a sergeant of the first class and a member of Evacuation Hospital, Number 10. Sergeant La Mothe was born in New Orleans, and started working on dime immediate after leaving college. During that time he lived in Los Angeles and Santa Barbara, and had never been north until he came on to report in the Medical Corps. He expects to leave for the other side very soon. His last scenario work was a picture for Bessie Barriscale.

SHERMAN AND FARNUM GOING TO BOSTON.

Harry A. Sherman and Dustin Farnum are en route from Los Angeles to Boston to attend the Motion Picture Exhibitors' convention. Sherman will most likely show his new production entitled "The Tattered Flag" at the Boston Picture Show. E. J. O'Donnell advises that the showing will take place in the ballroom of the Touraine Hotel, Boston.
Universal Branch Managers Meet in Chicago

By James S. McQuade

Convention of Universal Film Managers Opened in Chicago

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD, July 27, 1918

Universal Branch Managers Meet in Chicago

By James S. McQuade

Convention at Hotel Sherman Briskates with Topics of General Interest to the Trade--Demand Reported for Good Two-Reelers

A CONVENTION of branch managers of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company was held at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago on Monday and Tuesday, July 8, 9 and 10. It was practically a meeting of all the branch managers of the organization, as the far West and Canada were represented by telegrams and correspondence which showed the prevailing conditions in those territories.

Among the officials present were Carl Laemmle, president, and Joe Brandt, assistant treasurer, of Universal; Harry Berman, sales manager of Jewel Productions, and Julius Stern, president of the Century and L-KO Comedy companies.

Sunday's Proceedings.

The convention was opened Sunday afternoon by Mr. Laemmle, who extended a warm welcome to the exhibitors present, and in a short speech outlined the general plan for the year beginning September 1. He was succeeded by Joe Brandt, who practically had charge of the convention while it lasted.

One of the chief objects of the convention was to ascertain from the branch managers whether the program feature, of one feature a week, or an open booking plan of different attractions and features, should be adopted and put in effect September 1. After thorough discussion it was found that the consensus of opinion among exhibitors throughout this country and Canada was in favor of the open booking plan.

The chief reason given by exhibitors for the adoption of this plan is that in contracting for a series of pictures for the year they are forced to lose considerable money, from the fact that when other big pictures are booked by them they are obliged by their contract to pay for pictures which are on the shelf.

Another important point was also brought up Sunday afternoon and thoroughly discussed. This had to do with the renting of advertising accessories, such as posters and lobby displays. A thorough investigation made by Universal branch managers revealed that it was advisable to discourage this system. The report submitted by the branch managers showed very conclusively that exhibitors to-day are more careful about the advertising displays in front of their houses than ever before, and that fresh, clean lithographs, which are a positive necessity in order to catch the eye and excite the interest of the public. In other words it is becoming a watchword that "a clean, attractive front indicates a clean and attractive show inside."

Monday's Proceedings.

On Monday the important subject of the abuse of films, while being handled by incompetent operators, was thoroughly discussed. The evidence submitted by branch managers showed a heavy loss from this source alone, particularly from the burning of films while being presented. In most of the cases where films had been burned, the cause has been traced to inexperienced operators, who have taken the places of men drafted for the Army. Wherever a fire has occurred the exhibitor has a falling off in attendance, as patrons fear for their children and themselves.

It was strongly recommended during the discussion of this subject that the owners and managers of theaters should see to it that only experienced and competent operators be employed, and that makeshifts, such as house electricians, ushers or ticket takers, should be kept strictly in their proper places.

Women in many cases are now working alongside with men operators who are of draft age, so that they may be able to take up this important work when the men are called. It was urgently recommended at this point that the plan just outlined should be adopted by exhibitors at once, instead of waiting until their operators are called to camp, as the cost involved is the cheapest and safest kind of insurance.

Tuesday's Proceedings.

During Tuesday's business the abuse of misleading the public by means of banners bearing false information concerning the films shown by certain exhibitors at their theaters was taken up. It was pointed out that some unscrupulous exhibitors, with small houses, had even gone so far as to use the titles of features shown at larger houses by their competitors. Experience showed that such practices hurt both the exhibitors and the exhibitors who were wronged, as moving picture patrons are very distrustful of all exhibitors in their city or neighborhood.

It was given out that several exhibitors have been, and are now being, prosecuted for such practices. One of the cases cited occurred in Boston recently, when an exhibitor made an attempt to steal the patronage of a theater which was showing "Pershing's Crusaders." In this especial case the government took care of the offender.

Two-Reel Subjects in Big Demand.

A vote was taken of the branch managers present Tuesday afternoon to decide if two-reel subjects were now in demand. The officials present were surprised to learn that good two-reel subjects, in many cases, were bringing as large a rental as some of the standard features.

Reissues of Certain Films Discussed.

Reissues of certain films were next discussed, and it was ascertained that exhibitors do not seem to object to the reissue of big successes, providing no attempt is made to disguise the fact that it is a reissue. Thereupon Carl Laemmle gave one of his big successes, "Scandal," in five reels, should be reissued as an experiment.

Serials and Comedies Discussed.

It was found by a comparison of the experiences of the branch managers present, that serials are just as popular as ever; but that the adult patronage, which formerly was in the vast majority, preceded, is now limited to the juveniles. On hearing this Mr. Laemmle directed that the Universal studios be notified to prepare all future scenarios for serials so that they shall be devoid of all crime situations and the sex appeal.

The comedy situation was next discussed, and it was concluded that there was a dearth of comedies of a refined type, for which there is at present quite a demand. It was advised, therefore, that branch managers henceforth should tone down the slapstick type of comedy and aim at producing a more refined product of this kind.

Evasive Contracting Exhibitors Scored.

The abuse practiced by certain exhibitors when contracting for features was brought to the attention of the convention, with the result that a definite plan of ever showing them, was duly considered and strongly condemned by the convention. In such cases it was shown that certain exhibitors make a practice of seemingly booking a picture, by putting down a definite showing date. By this means the bona fide opposition house has been deprived of the chance of booking the feature in question, this entailing the loss of actual money by the exchange and also the loss of actual money by the legitimate exhibitor who would have booked it and made a handsome profit by its presentation.

The following branch managers and assistants were present at the convention: I. L. Leserman, Morris Heilman, S. J. Goldman; Julius Bernheim, I. Gettleman and Irving Mack, Chicago; C. C. Smith and Joe Roderick, Milwaukee; Joe Schnitzer, R. W. Abbott and D. Adams, Indianapolis; Sam Reva, Cincinnati; H. E. Chamberlain, Cleveland; W. J. Ward, Detroit; R. R. Evans and L. H. Cohn, Minneapolis; Barney Rosenthal, St. Louis; S. Benjamin, Oklahoma City; M. J. Frisch, Des Moines; Mr. Feld, Kansas City; "Curley" Calabria; Edward Armstrong, Denver, and John McAlear, Pittsburgh.

FRANK LAWRENCE MARRIES.

Frank Lawrence and Miss Vaia Mollyard were married June 15 at Los Angeles, California. Mr. Lawrence was for many years in the negative department of the Vitagraph Company. He was considered the most expert editor of the negatives in the world. Before he was married he was appointed superintendent of the negative and photographic departments. Miss Mollyard was employed in the negative department at the time, and went to California with several other employees when Mr. Lawrence took charge of the negative and trimming department of the Universal at Universal City.
Crowder Classifies Industry as Essential

Test of the Order Issued by Provost Marshal General Fixing Status of Motion Picture Men.

MOTION picture artists are classed as "legitimate theatrical performers" in an order issued on July 5 by Provost Marshal General ZUKOR, an announcement received by the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry. The draft boards have been directed to consider motion picture artists, musicians and actors for enrollment in the military as legitimate performers, and that picture subjects as engaged in productive employment.

The official order as issued from Washington is as follows:

Draft executives in all States B-1895. Communicate to all local and district boards at once. Subdivision C, Section 121-K. Selective Service Regulation, is hereby amended as follows: Motion picture, including ushers and other attendants occupied and engaged in and in connection with games, sports and amusements, except owners and managers, actual performers, including musicians, legitimate concerts, opera, motion picture or theatrical performers and the skilled persons who are necessary to such productions, performances or presentations.

CROWDER.

The amended order settles the question of enlisting the motion picture industry under the so-called "work or fight" order which became effective July 1. The expression "skilled persons" is interpreted to include photographers, operators, projectionists, and skilled attendants, and they will hold their present classifications under the draft law.

Dolliver and Ochs Issue Statement.

Editor Moving Picture World:

Dear Sir: A conference was recently held between representatives of the industry and gentlemen representing the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Machine Operators. An order, based on a supposed shortage of moving picture machine operators, was issued by the Department of Labor.

Included you will find a letter which was submitted to the conference and other persons, with instructions to forward copies to all the theatrical and motion picture journals.

Their request is that you will give the matter the publicity which we feel it merits, we are,

Very truly yours,

L. G. DOLLIVER,

Assistant President, International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada.

LEE OCHS,

President, Moving Picture Exhibitors League of America.

Editor Moving Picture World.

Dear Sir: For some weeks prior to July 1, 1918, the motion picture operators affiliated with this organization were uneasy owing to the issuing of the order for the enlistment of all persons in the motion picture industry who are over twenty. The question of whether they were in the Provost Marshal-General's office would consider an essential occupation.

Numerous local draft boards had notified individuals that they were no longer thinking of a non-productive industry, and would have to seek other employment before July 1, or be subject to be drafted and mustered into immediate military service. These rulings had the effect of causing considerable confusion not only to the operators, but also to the exhibitors, and in several cities the employees raised considerable sums of money for the purpose of obtaining exemption certificates and those over twenty years of age.

We presume that in the majority of instances the exhibitors were advised that the draft boards numbered medley combinations, and that the question was not to whether they were in what the Provost Marshal-General's office would consider an essential occupation. The members of the industry, who are manufacturing for the public, and not engaged in the manufacture of a product of that nature, with its attendant responsibilities.

Therefore, we have decided to advise our members to employ an operator of their choice instead of having his services requisitioned by the Government and to employ an operator of their choice instead of having his services requisitioned by the Government.

But to those exhibitors who have in the past cooperated with our organization, by their united efforts to help us in any manner we may ask, we want to say that the Public will not permit the Government to continue in its policy as indicated above.

"GETTING TOGETHER" WILL BE THE "COMMON CAUSE."

Commodore J. Stuart Blackton has announced definitely two important details of the big propaganda picture, elaborated from "Getting Together," which he has been commissioned to film, after the signature of the Armistice, to be in connection with the recruiting movement in the light of the Armistice and the work of the United States.
Race for World’s Trophy On

Director Hart of the Division of Films Says Bronze Medal to be Awarded to Exchange Recording Largest Proportionate Booking for “Pershing’s Crusaders” Is Worthy Efforts of any Manager

GETTING off to a flying start the race for the beautiful bronze trophy to be presented by the Moving Picture World to the exchange booking the largest percentage of houses in its territory with “Pershing’s Crusaders” is already under way. Searcely had the issue containing the announcement reached the hands of the exchange managers before they got after their salesmen, and by September 1, when the contest closes, the splendid war film—first offering of the United States Government to its patriotic citizens—will probably be the most widely distributed motion picture in the entire list.

One of the first letters received in regard to the contest comes from Charles S. Hart, Director of the Division of Films, of the Committee on Public Information, who writes: "Editor Moving Picture World: "Dear Sir,—In the current issue of The Moving Picture World we have just read with deep interest the announcement of the splendid co-operation your publication is giving in helping to promote ‘Pershing’s Crusaders.’ The bronze medal you propose giving to the successful contestant is appropriately designed, and is well worthy the efforts of any exchange manager. I feel that your efforts will do much to arouse the theater managers of the country to greater activity, and I desire to express the thanks and sincere appreciation of the Division of Films for your patriotic work.

"CHARLES S. HART, Director."

Mr. Hart is keenly interested in the success of "Pershing’s Crusaders," for he feels that through the medium of film the country can best be kept fully informed as to the efforts of the Government in a situation unique in the history of the world. This film is but the forerunner of other releases dealing with the army of the United States and the efforts in the field and at home, and the Division of Films is closely watching the results.

Entirely apart from the patriotic angles of the release the film has been a money-maker since its initial showings at the Lyric theater in New York, and the exhibitor who books this subject finds that patriotism is its own reward, but to assure the fullest possible bookings this publication has offered a bronze trophy, to be awarded the distributing agency making the largest percentage of bookings within its territory. This applies to all First National exchanges handling the film and to those public societies in the states which previously had arranged with the Division of Films to market its output.

The basis upon which this award will be made is the proportion of bookings to the possible openings for the film, placing all contestants upon a plane of absolute equality. There is no advantage to be gained through holding large territory. All distributors have an equal chance, and the award may be made to one of the smaller exchanges, provided it shows the most hustle. In the event of two or more exchanges reaching a booking percentage exactly equal the World will, in that event, present to each contestant thus coming into a tie an exact duplicate of the trophy and specified as first prize.

And the trophy is in itself worthy the effort, entirely apart from the sentimental considerations. It is a magnificent bronze relief, with a spread of three feet between the tips of the eagle’s wings. With the flag, which forms a part of the trophy, the width is slightly more than six feet. As an office decoration it is superb, but apart from the intrinsic value it will stand for patriotic endeavor and selling ability, for the exchange that places this artistic bronze upon its walls will be proclaimed the most enterprising of a body of hustling film salesmen.

In offering this trophy the Moving Picture World is actuated by two motives. It naturally wishes to serve the cause of loyalty and to promote the widest distribution of this film, which is an eloquent and visual reply to the Hun-inspired critics. But entirely apart from this it feels that in putting out this subject the Government is subjecting the great motion picture medium to the test. Upon the success of this picture (and success is to be judged by the number of public showings) depends the issuance of other and perhaps even more important releases. The fighting fronts are dotted with motion picture cameras in the hands of skilled photographers, and much of their product is being released to the news weeklies, but the strongest related scenes, made primarily for preservation in the Government records, will be given the public now only if widespread circulation is assured.

It will stand rebooking, and the smaller houses may profit from the advertising earlier done by the larger theaters. Every one can and every one should book this film into his house and give it the most adequate production possible, both for reasons of financial gain and from patriotic motives. It is to help promote this end that this publication offers the handsomest trophy ever given in a motion picture competition—a trophy that is one of the orders of merit for the army at home.

The award will be made by means of the certified returns of the booking agencies as soon after the close of the contest—September 1—as is practicable, and the jury of award will consist of Sydney Cohen, president of the league for New York State; Epes W. Sargent and Sam S. Spedon of this paper.

It is too early yet for the distant exchanges to be heard from as this issue goes to press, but it is hoped that in the following issue some hint of the progress of the contest may be given, though the fight will stay open until the night of August 31.
Broad Interpretation on Educational

N. A. M. P. I. Reaches Agreement with Committee on Public Information Regarding the Export of Films.

THE following report submitted by the officials of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, which we print verbatim, will be of interest to all the New York film producers and Allied ex-ports who have been working on the problem for the past month on a settlement of the shipping question:

The Committee on Public Information as part of its educational work has been working with the War Trade Board to facilitate the granting of licenses to export motion pictures.

Paul H. Cromelin, representing the export division of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, and Carl Byoir, associate committee chairman of this section, have given the following working arrangement under which the committee will carry on its work in connection with the export of motion pictures:

The Committee on Public Information desires to secure as part of its educational work the cooperation of the War Trade Board in the making possible of moving pictures showing American life and ideals. To this end the committee has made an agreement with the War Trade Board to facilitate the granting of licenses to export motion picture films.

During the present war emergency all export shipments of whatever nature are carefully scanned to determine the character of the goods, to avoid shipment of items that might be used by the enemy. It is not unusual for the Committee on Public Information with the War Trade Board is based on the fact that motion pictures constitute a desirable article of export, because of the educational messages they convey. In order to successfully maintain its interest in assisting exporters the committee requires the following working arrangement with the War Trade Board.

The committee is willing to accept in lieu of a hard and fast arrangement for a certain percentage of the value of shipper's bill of lading, the absence of the names of motion picture manufacturers and exporters that reasonably large number of the motion pictures exported by this country will be shown in foreign countries. The committee confines its list of shipments to pictures made for countries other than the United States and its possessions, as it is understood expressively that the National Association undertakes to guarantee that negatives and positives, or prints from negatives, exported to allied countries are used only for educational purposes or without special permission.

The committee believes that the motion picture is to be considered as educational material and that all films which tend to show American life, ideals, as newsweslis, screen magazines, American travelogues, American industries, and the like, under suitable conditions will be classified as educational. Films purely entertaining in nature, but which clearly portray or some idea of American life and purpose, will be classed as educational.

Materials against the public, which are derogatory to the interests of the United States, or to its Allies or friends, and motion pictures which may give aid and comfort to the enemy will be excluded.

All manufacturers are urged in their own interest in the making of new productions to avoid monotonous and riposts which might be entirely ignored in them, but are distinctly inimical to the interests of the United States.

The Committee on Public Information desirous to secure, as far as possible, the cooperation of the War Trade Board in the presentation of pictures which might appeal to the public, and which, in their opinion, are sufficiently educational to be granted licenses for their exportation.

"HAVE NOT BEEN CONSULTED," SAYS HOWELLS.

"We know nothing about the agreement—officially, I mean," said David P. Howells, temporary president of the Film Exporters of America, Inc. "I went to Washington yesterday to discuss the situation and did my best to co-operate with the other members of the industry present at the capital, but as far as the agreement referred to is concerned we have neither been consulted nor approached on the subject. It is feared there may be trouble with the committee and on the export division of the N. A. M. P. I., which, unless there has been some addition during the past few days, is composed of Paul Cromelin (chief of the War Trade Board's cooperation with the committee)." Wardle, of the Windmill Pictures, and Pallard Jordon, of Australasian Films.

Now I want to make it quite plain that the above remarks are purely in a spirit of inquiry. The situation is too serious for petty squabbles. If this matter is not settled in an intelligent fashion it will mean a hard blow to the exporters and a harder one to the cause of the Allies, and America in particular, in neutral countries.

"This is the reason why I hold that the film exporters should have been consulted. It is notorious that American film producers pay very little attention to foreign countries, confining their scope to the home market, Canada, and, in some cases, Great Britain. At least 50 per cent. of the film shipped from America to neutral and allied nations is, with the possible exception of the United States, export, proper, handled through New York exporting houses, which have thorough knowledge and local connections in foreign territory and do not pay much time and energy taking all risks on the transactions. In the membership of the film exporters are to be found over thirty houses of standing, practically every one in the business outside of the United States, and in a few cases with first-hand knowledge on conditions abroad, would not their advice and counsel be an invaluable help to the Washington authorities in arriving at a clear understanding of the matters involved and consequently an intensifying our educational campaign in foreign countries?"

North Carolina Exhibitors Elect Officers

Percy Wells Chosen President for Fifth Term and Varner Again Is Named Secretary

PERRY W. WELLS, of Wilmington, was elected for his fifth consecutive year as president of the North Carolina Motion Picture Exhibitors' League on the concluding day of the regular annual convention, held at Wrightsville Beach, N. C., July 9 and 10. H. B. Varner, of Lebanon, was re-elected second vice-president, and P. J. J. Varner, at Washington, was re-elected secretary, and A. F. Sams, of Winston-Salem, again becomes treasurer. R. D. Craver, of Charlotte and H. B. Varner, of Lebanon, are the first and second vice-presidents, respectively.

The convention was very poorly attended owing to an eleventh hour change of date, and its sessions as a whole were without important incident. However, the principal, larger theatrical interests of the state were represented, and the action of chief interest was the ratification by the league of the affiliation recently made by R. D. Craver, of Charlotte and H. B. Varner, of Lebanon, with the Affiliated Distributors' Corporation, whereby the territory embraced in ten southern states, known as the southeastern group, was taken over.

While the plan of the different units provides that the small issue of stock shall be distributed throughout the different states comprising the various units, North Carolina, with the small handful of men at the convention, subscribed every available share of stock within thirty minutes, and this state will control the major operations of the southeastern unit. A meeting of the subscribers to stock will be held in Charlotte on July 23, at which time the permanent organization will be effected and arrangements made for opening exchanges at Washington, Atlanta and Charlotte. The organization will not only control the distribution of the pictures throughout the southeastern states, but, will, through a subsidiary corporation, the Carolina Booking Office, handle independently other state rights productions.

The annual winter meeting of the Carolina league will be held at Charlotte, beginning December 11. No delegates were appointed to attend the convention of the American Exhibitors' Association, to be held in Detroit during the month of August, although it is likely that several prominent exhibitors of the state will attend.

GRiffith's Artcraft Set for August 12.

The release date for "The Great Love," the first of the D. W. Griffith Productions to be released through Artcraft Pictures, has been set for August 12.

There are many factors which combine to explain the "Great Love" to this high position. There is the greatness of its theme—the transfiguration of the womanhood of England by the Great Love, the love that places country above all else. There is the fact that in the accomplishing of his difficult task Mr. Griffith had the backing of the British Government and not only the encouragement but the active assistance of many of England's most distinguished people.

QUiNn AND GRIFFITH GET INTO UNIFORM.

Say good-bye and good luck to Harry Quinn, office manager of Universal's Denver exchange, and to C. H. Griffith, head of that office's bookkeeping department. Both are on the way to the Brazilian far north. Their duties as Exhibitors of the Denver territory are losing a couple of mighty good friends in their departure and the allied armies are getting what should be a couple of first class fighting men.
National Association Goes to Boston

Will Give Banquet to "Tay Pay," Hold Its Annual Meeting and Attend Exhibitors' Ball

EXTEMPORANEOUS plans were perfected at a meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry held today to co-operate with the Exhibitors' League convention being held this week in Boston.

The most important event will be a banquet on Thursday evening, to be given in honor of T. P. O'Connor, M. P., who is the Cinema Censor for Great Britain. The executive officials of the important producing and distributing companies as well as the supply and equipment companies have all agreed to leave for Boston on the 1 o'clock train Thursday, so as to attend the late afternoon session of the Exhibitors' League and the banquet to be tendered to Mr. O'Connor in the evening.

A gala event will be the annual meeting of the members of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry will be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel, president, Edward W. Wint, and executive vice president, William A. Brady. One of the big events of the week is the ball which is to be given on Friday night and which celebrated screen stars are planning to attend. Arrangements are being made by President Brady to run a special car to the train from New York on Friday afternoon to carry the artists. This car is to be held for their return on the 1 o'clock train Saturday morning. Through this arrangement the stars will not lose practically any time in the arrangements for the banquet to be tendered to T. P. O'Connor are in charge of President Brady of the National Association and President Ochs of the Exhibitors' League, and it is understood that the Governor of Massachusetts as well as the Mayor of Boston and other state and city officials will attend this function.

The executive committee was presided over by Chairman Walter W. Wint and other members present were President William A. Brady, P. A. Powers, J. E. Brulatour, Gabriel L. Hess, Lee A. Ochs, Louis F. Blumenthal, William L. Sherrill, Louis L. Levine and Frederick H. Elliott.

Goldwyn Announcement Meets Approval

Exhibitors Indicate Special Interest in Six Farrar Productions of Six Beaches Entertain

A three-day tour of New York for the six-film year of Miss Farrar and the Six Beaches Entertain at the National Association's annual meeting has met with enthusiastic approval from the exhibitors.

In twenty territories where Goldwyn maintains its sales offices the company's managers at once began closing contracts with the six-film year of Miss Farrar, and three of the six are devoted to the making of six Geraldine Farrar productions and six Rex Beach stories. During her screen career the greatest number of pictures ever made by Miss Farrar in any year has been two and Mr. Beach's maximum has been one.

The Goldwyn reasoning has been that instead of giving exhibitors weeks of box-office prosperity based on Miss Farrar's popularity it would be more desirable to give them six weeks of assured patronage by increasing the number of her productions. Miss Farrar has completed her first Goldwyn production, "The Turn of the Wheel," written by Texas Guinan and directed by Reginald Barker, and is now at Cody, Wyoming, making her second picture, "The Hell Cat," with Willard Mack, with Mr. Barker as the director.

Getting Away From "The Curse of Stills"

Tag an Actor for a Certain Line of Roles During His Entire Motion Picture Experience.

WHEN an experienced motion picture actor applies for work at a new studio he is compelled to show "stills" of the roles he has assumed in former productions for other studios. From these "stills" the director casts the actor and, naturally, casts him into the same sort of role that he played in the other pictures. By this system a motion picture actor is tagged for a certain line of roles during his entire motion picture experience. It may be for roles that he dislikes, roles that he cannot play as well as other parts but he simply can't get away from his tag—he's got to keep on playing for his entire motion picture career the same sort of a role that he played upon his first interview.

As an actor is usually the first director for whom he worked grabbed him out of a crowd and hustled him into a make-up without trying him out or testing his ability in any manner. So World Pictures is now trying the use of "stills" in casting as much as possible, and are casting actors after screen tests and tryouts. In this way actors are being cast in the parts for which they are best fitted by training and temperament and not because they have been in similar roles in other studios.

And the splendid results attained by this plan are being shown in the perfect casts and superb acting displayed in the new World Pictures.

Day of the Painter Coming, Says Earle

Metro Scene and Title Creator Talks of the Possibilities of His Special Field.

ONE of the secrets of the exceptional finish of Screen Classics, Inc., "To Hell With the Kaiser," now running at the Broadway theater, New York, is the scenery and the painted background. Exhibitors are buying a liberal number of unusual visions of the Infernal regions, several battlefields peculiarly lighted, two Gothic cathedral interiors, and fifty other views of Europe and America. When interviewed at the studio the other day, in his den piled to the ceiling with sketches and oil pictures and for the shortly-to-be released May Allison production, "A Successful Adventure," the young artist switched the conversation to his plans for creating costume and fairy plays on the screen, and futuristic dramas, in a painted world of his own making.

"You see that little temple interior?" indicating a canvas 18 by 25 inches, or thereabouts. "Well, I could put you and all your relatives into those halls, with all the animation of a cabaret and all the splendor of an Egyptian orgy, and have it dissolve and blend, as by enchantment, into a Jupiter meeting house scene.

The interviewer enthused over how much money could be saved by such a process, but Mr. Earle knew the game: No, we will spend more money than ever before, but a thousand dollars will look like a million. The day of painters, architects, sculptors and poets is at hand—especially men of vision and inventive instinct. The most valued person in pictures has been the book who could most caramelic and dash and detail and design, but he is not the man of ingenuity, originality, and imagination. And so the path of the aesthetic pioneer is not entirely paved with roses. An artist adventurer in screendom rarely received the support of producers, but his work is well worth the effort of the artist, although he is the most needed in the world.

Mr. Earle calls his work motion painting, and attain a kind of Tintoretto-fresco effect as fresh and charming in spirit as an Este or Baskit design.

At Leading Picture Theaters

Programs for the Week of July 14 at New York's Principal Motion Picture Houses.

THE RIVOLI—"We Can't Have Everything," a Paramount picture directed by Cecil B. DeMille, with Theodore Roberts, Tully Marshall, Kathryn Williams and a strong cast, was the screen feature at the Rivoli the week of July 14. The story was written by Rupert Hughes and put into scenario form by William C. DeMille. A comedy, the Animal Pictorial and animal lovers will enjoy. The soloists were Desere L Salle and Martha Atwood.

THE RIALTO—Enid Bennett in the Paramount comedy drama, "The Vamp," was the leading player at the Rialto. Jerome Storm directed the production and Douglas Macdonald, was the cast. "Paris the Beautiful," was the scenic. The Animated Magazine and the Fox comedy "A Tight Squeeze," were the other two new programs.

THE STRAND—Marguerite Clark as Eva and Topsy in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" held the top position on the Strand program. This stage classic is excellently produced. A new Charles M. Jones cartoon, "Mr. Mite," the third installment of the Official Allied War Pictures, a comedy cartoon and the Strand Topical Review completed the picture bill. Grace Hoffman was the vocalist.

EIGHTY-FIRST STREET THEATER—Douglas Fairbanks in "Say! Young Fellow" the entire week.
Film Colony Assists in Patriotic Meet

By A. H. GIEBLER

Film Colony Assists in Patriotic Meet

Hollywood Officers Training Corps Holds Regular Show, at Which Cecil De Mille Enters in Airplane.

EMBERS of the Los Angeles film colony took prominent part in the monster film meet and military pageant held at Exposition Park on June 29, under the auspices of the Hollywood Officers Training School. Baby Marie Osborne, Francis Carpenter and Virginia Lee Corbin assisted Mayor Woodman in firing the opening salute which started the proceedings.

The Lasky Home Guards acquitted themselves with glory in the drills, and the rodeo staged by the Triangle and Universal cowboys and cowgirls in friendly competition was one of the highlights of the afternoon. Lieutenant Wells of the Aviation Corps performed some thrilling feats in the air, after which Cecil B. De Mille, director general of the Lasky studios, made a spectacular entry to the grounds in an air machine driven by himself, Marie Osborne, Virginia Lee Corbin and Francis Carpenter then appeared in a patriotic costume act. Drills and maneuvers by the Hollywood Officers Training Corps, which includes a number of famous players and studio employees, were executed with dash and spirit which speaks for the future success of those of the corps who will later on be engaged in the great war for liberty.

Ship Workers to Have Picture Show.

The buildings that are to be erected to house one thousand shipyard workers at the Southwestern Ship Building plant on Terminal Island, are to include a moving picture theater. Work on the structure will be started at once.

Pasadena Doesn’t Want Young Studio.

The Real Estate Board of Pasadena has passed a resolution opposing the erection of a studio which Clara Kimball Young proposed to build in that village, according to a statement made by C. V. Sturdevant, president of the board.

The action was taken because it was felt the location of a moving picture studio in the town would result in lowered values and a general depreciation of property. There has been considerable controversy over this matter.

The Rev. W. C. Loomis preached a sermon at the Lincoln Avenue church on June 30 on “Shall the Crown City give its crown to the movie queen?” Mr. Loomis is said to have declared, among other things, that the moving picture industry was a mushroom industry.

On the other hand, a petition indorsing the plan and bidding Miss Young a cordial welcome was circulated and signed by merchants, business and professional men as well as wage earners and property owners.

Santa Ana to Stage Local Film.

The West End theater of Santa Ana, Cal., has just closed a popularity contest which was held to select the leading players in a film to be produced by home town players and staged in local settings. Mary Grubh and Mark K. Todd were the winners. Casby, who received more votes than Todd, but as Mr. Paul is ill, the honor went to Todd, who was next highest on the list. The filming of the play will begin at once.

M. P. S. A. to Give Big Patriotic Benefit.

The Los Angeles Motion Picture War Service Association is planning to give a monster ball at the Shrine Auditorium on August 3. Patriotism and “Help win the war” will be the slogan of the evening, and the proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the charity and relief divisions of the organization. The promoters of the ball are planning to make it a big success, and invitations will be sent only to those connected with the industry. An admission of three dollars will be charged.

Stars Help in Balloon School Opening.

Players from the Fox and Sunshine studios helped to make a success of the elaborate program staged at the opening of the United States Balloon School at Arcadia, Cal., on July 4. Theda Bara and the players from the Lehmans studio staged an aquatic farce. Tom Mix and his cowboys performed stunts, and Mae Esclleton did some spectacular work in the high diving line.

Menlo Park, Cal., to Have New Theater.

Triumph Hall, on the state highway at Menlo Park, Cal., is to be remodeled and made into a five hundred seat capacity picture theater. The alterations are under the supervision of J. G. Mason, who will probably manage the theater.

They Almost Loved Mary to Death.

When Mary Pickford’s latest film, “How Could You, Jean?” was being shown at the Kinema theater Little Mary made a personal appearance in behalf of the Red Cross Commission for the invalided soldiers of France. The immense audience became so enthusiastic and displayed so much eagerness to show their appreciation to the star that she was almost mobbed by her admirers as she emerged from the theater. It took a squad of police as well as several mounted officers to keep the crowd in order.

Second Broncho Billy to Come First.

“The Yellow Streak,” the first of the new Broncho Billy films, has been finished and work has been started on the second feature. According to a statement made by G. M. Anderson at the offices of the Golden Producing Company in Glendale, the second feature of the series, which will be called “The Son of a Gun,” will be put on the releasing schedule first, and the date of release will be early in September.

M. Zecca of Pathé in Los Angeles.

Production Manager Zecca, of the Pathé forces in America, was in Los Angeles the week of the Fourth with M. Franchon, head of the cutting and editing department, looking over the western studios of his company. As M. Zecca cannot speak English he escaped many interviews with future captains of the industry who usually pester film magnates and others officials from the East when they visit the West Coast studios.

Fire at Fairbanks Studio.

A fire that caused $50,000 damage was started at the Douglas Fairbanks studio in Hollywood at 6 o’clock on the morning of July 4. The fire is thought to have been started by a firecracker that was thrown on the roof of the assembling room. This room, together with Fairbanks’ dressing room, and the scenario department was destroyed before the fire could be got under control. The European negative of “Headin’ South,” the negative of “Sweat the Kaiser,” and the first print of “Bound in Morocco,” Fairbanks’ latest film, were destroyed.

Theater Jobs for Liberty Boys’ Dependents.

Michael Gore, owner of a chain of motion picture theaters on the Pacific coast; Matthew Bridge, manager of the Superba theater, Los Angeles; and F. Jackson, proprietor of a Huntington park theater, have pledged themselves to give positions of members of the soldiers and sailors to preference to others in the management of their several houses. The movement was inaugurated and launched by Colonel B. B. Ray of the Soldiers and Sailors Welfare Association.

Hunting the Hun.

Joseph Hennaherry, director for the Douglas Fairbanks Corporation, has been called to the colors of his country and is now at Fort McDowell, San Francisco. Mr. Hennaherry is well known to the picture industry as a capable actor as well as a director of brains and ability. Among other things, he directed the opening of Abraham Lincoln in “The Birth of a Nation,” and as a director his most recent achievements were “The Man From Painted Post,” and “Say, Young Fellow,” Douglas Fairbanks’ Artcraft release.

Two more boys from Triangle will soon be in training to hunt the Hun. They are Cyril Gardner from the cutting room and John Curtis Gault of the transportation department. These boys have just turned twenty-one and their number can be counted by the large clock on the wall in the office.

Gus Inglis, of the well known firm of Willis & Inglis, has enlisted in the Officers' Training School of Hollywood, Calif.

Richard Marshall, of the Majestic theater, is now going to see the big show from the front row. Dick has gone into training at Camp Kearney.

Harry Edwards, film actor, has enlisted in the navy.

Quinn Now Sole Owner of Rialto.

The partnership between J. A. Quinn and D. D. Sayer, who operated the Rialto theater on South Broadway, has been dissolved. Mr. Quinn purchased Mr. Sayer's interest in the property and will continue to operate the theater on his own account.

The Grauman Has a House Organ.

The Grauman Weekly Magazine is the name of the new house organ that is being published in the interests of the Grauman theater, at Third and Broadway. Aside from informing the patrons about the program for the current and the coming week, the periodical contains interesting bits of screen gossip and other matter pertaining to the film industry. The little magazine will be mailed out to anyone asking to be put on the mailing list, and is also distributed to the audience at each performance.

The Miller Is the New Name.

Carly Ray, who recently purchased Miller's theater at Ninth and Main, has changed the name of the house to The Miller. Mr. Ray is giving the house a complete overhauling, and has added $1,700 worth of carpets and draperies to the interior decorations of the house.

At Tally's Broadway Theater.

Extensive alterations are being made in Tally's Broadway theater. A new system of lights is being installed and the stage is being reconstructed in a manner that will give it several additional feet in depth. A new scheme of hand-somely painted sets and draperies has been added to the new beauty to the house. Manager Tally is rushing the work in order to have the house ready for the personal appearance of Mme. Olga Petrova, First National Exhibitors' star, who will come to Los Angeles shortly on her tour.

Rabbernecking in Filmland

Personally Conducted by Giebler.

Looking through the blimp windows of large white buildings we are approaching the Triangle studios. The windows arrange them in a triangle. In picture play plots, however, as you will note, these edifices are called the Triangle. They are the most architectural of all the film plants on the Pacific Coast.

You will see that the people are employed here, among whom are a number of actors who will enter this interesting place. These are the executive offices of the studio, where the heavy thinking of the picture is done by General Manager O. L. Sellers and his force of assistants.

Follow me down this corridor and out on the lot. You will find yourself in the paddock and a gentleman leaning against the door is Ivan, sometimes called Ike, St. John, the historian of the institution. The cigarette from his mouth is Tom Buckingham, cameraman, and off we go.

You will note that Triangle is as handsome inside as it is outside. The beautifully designed and lavish sets are maintained to keep the actors in a pleasant frame of mind.

Two long ladies you observe walking near the geranium hedge are Olive Thomas and Gloria Swanson, and approaching them is Frank Borzage, Miss Thomas' director.

If you will step into this glass-covered stage, you will find the large building in the country, you will see Director Helikon staging a scene for "The Price of Applause." This scene shows Bohemian life as it obtains in the neighborhood of Washington Square in New York. Happily we California sunbathers are far removed from such.

Jack Livingston, Claire Anderson and Joe King are the leading players in this picture. The others in the set are some of the attractive swells who attend the Triangle's own exclusive registration bureau.

We step into the next stage we have W. Christy Cabanne working out a spirited situation in his forthcoming comedy-drama, "The Mayor of Filbert Street." This is the Triangle's only exclusive registration bureau.

Walk along the street in the next stage we have W. Christy Cabanne working out a spirited situation in his forthcoming comedy-drama, "The Mayor of Filbert Street." This is the Triangle's only exclusive registration bureau.

Observe Mr. Cabanne closely. He is one of the interesting personalities of the film industry. He is a sailor, actor and traveler before he became a director. Mr. Cabanne is a son of one of the oldest French families living in the country. His family settled in St. Louis, a large town on the Wabash railroad in Missouri, when the Mississippi River was but a small brook. Various parts of the town have been named after the Cabanne family. To live in the Cabanne district in St. Louis entitles one to an invitation to all the dances and parties, including the annual Veiled Prophet's Ball.

Burnley, Belize, Bert Richardson, Joe Singleton and Olga Gray are the principal players in "The Mayor of Filbert Street."

The buzzing sound you hear comes from the scenario department, and is exposed to your ear as plots this department is under the supervision of Charles Stocking, who is very clever at knitting yarns of all kinds.

The street is crowded, the automobile is worthy of your close attention. The tall man wearing the cowboy make-up is Roy Stewart, the leading man in the movies who has never pressed his foot on the ragstones of that mecca of all action Broadway.

Roy has never been to New York, and says he is a perfect New Yorkite.

At Mr. Stewart's side to the north is Cliff Smith, his director. Smith made his debut in the movies by jumping into a creek in Oklahoma from a beeting bluff fifty feet in height on horseback. Cliff then joined out with the movies, and his knowledge of the wild life of the west, his skill as a rider and roper, coupled with a natural dramatic talent, soon made him a director.

Cliff directs all of Roy's pictures, and the one he is now working on is called "Cactus Crandall."

South of these two interesting persons is Jean Hersholt, an actor, who has just had his appendix removed.

As we journey to the next point of interest we may very profitably stop in the time by a consideration of the flora and fauna of this section, evidence of which we will see in a later section.

The waving fronds of the plants in the distance indicate a bean orchard. Thirty seven distinct varieties and kinds of beans, including the air-light bean of commerce, are bred for the local climate. The fruit of these bean plants are much esteemed as a food by the people of our sisterable-Mexico—and by the inhabitants of the city of Boston.

Oranges, lemons and other citrus fruits are also grown in this section.

The small mounds of earth at the side of the road are gopher villages. These gophers are the embodiment of the newspapers, and are referred to locally as "dampets," a word taken from the Latin and meaning troublesome.

The gopher, the mountain lion and the sand flea are the last three representa-tives of wild life that have refused to move on before the advance of civilization.

Ah, here we are at the Metro studios! The action being shot on this stage is part of a drama entitled "Boston Blacker's Little Pal." The beautiful lawn in front of the house is about to succumb to the persuasion of the villain is Rosemary Thoby, and the person sitting on the stairway with the gray flannel suit is Olga Gray, better known as the Lone Wolf. Roy is not garbed in this outfit because his things have not come back from the laundry, but because his part in the scene being shot, in which he plays the part of a burglar, demands that kind of dress.

E. Mason Hopper is directing this picture. He is the individual with the air of deep concentration.

The man with the van dyke beard is George Bakes, also an actor, and the photographer at this producing at this plant. Mr. Baker not only acts as overseer of all the films, but does off stories in his odd job, and is the author of "Judgment," a story of great power now being produced by Will S. Hays.

Anna Q. Nilsson, the most perfect natural blonde in the movies, and Franklyn Farnum, late with Universal, are now the leading parts.

Mr. Baker, in addition to his many duties during the last few weeks, also found time to have his appendix removed.

The number of appendectomy patients in the picture industry is increasing daily.

The individual wearing the new straw hat in this picture is one of the most consummative villains in pictures.

Mr. Northrup was brought here recently from Yorkville, New York, to do the parts of the protagonist of one picture, and the brand of dastardliness he brought with him from the east was so effectively done that he was retained for three more productions.

In a recent play Northrup was supposed to be a fancy Californian, but although it is conceded that the female of the Crotalus Horridus species of serpent is more dangerous in the male, when Priscilla—which was the snake's name—playfully bit Harry on the off leg she immediately succumbed to the villainous venom that permeates his system and curled up and died.

Our next trip, ladies and gentlemen, will take in, among others, the famous Mack Sennett studios.

Heart Interest Stories of the Week

Punch Lost.

OM GERAGHTY has been going around with a story, which he says is not true, but the story of a man with a lot of cigars in his vest pocket which made him resemble a hippie. Told over the water cooler it was the story to a lot of people, but has drawn very few laughs. In fact, the only ones who laugh are the good natured and foolish idiots who laugh at every story they hear for fear some one will think they are not listening. The story concludes the demand a well defined punch to their stories before they step on the gaggle vary and laugh at all.

Somebody has undoubtedly held out
Vile Calumny

A writer on a San Francisco paper, in describing the opening of a tea shop, in which Clara Kimball Young assisted while visiting that town, caught other things, about Miss Young: "... and a black picture hat was worn over these blond curls.... This is base slander. Clara was born with hair just as blond as the whispering wind and her tresses are as yet innocent of H₂O₂.

Studio Shorts

D. W. GRIFFITH has received word that the entire British Parliament adjourned session to attend an afternoon showing of "Hearts of the World," when the feature was given its initial showing at the Palace Theater in London. This is said to be the first time in history that an action of such a nature was ever taken by either House.

Frank Darro, the writer for Mary Pickford, is working on three stories at once. Besides a new play for Miss Pickford, he is working on an original plot for Fred Stone, and during her one-week vacation the writer for Douglas Fairbanks' new picture, "He Comes Up Smiling," Lasen entirely different from anything herefore done in connection with a picture play.

The advance publicity campaign which has already been started is designed first, to serve the Government in the elimination of insidious German propaganda, and second, to publicize the picture by the indirect method of making the "yellow dog" as an individual as intensely hated as the Kaiser himself.

Calumny's story created a furor when it appeared in the May 4 issue of a popular weekly and thousands of letters have already been received complimenting the author upon having conceived so valuable a plan for the suppression of pacifism.

"The Yellow Dog" though a pure story of adventure, suggested so practical an idea for the elimination of a dangerous form of communism that the Jewish company decided to abandon all regular forms of advance publicity and devote its energies to making a reality of Mr. Dodge's fictional campaign against "yellow dogism." To this end an unusual large appropriation has been set aside and the work of forming Anti-Yellow Dog Clubs and organizing companies of boy detectives is going forward under the auspices of prominent men and women and state and city officials in all parts of the country.

In "The Yellow Dog" a vivid picture was drawn of the desppicable men who add to the tremendous task of winning the war by making discouraging statements and create misery by repeating false rumors and insinuating disaster. So impossible are the possibilities of Mr. Dodge's idea that each detail of the plan will be put into actual practice.

Much Publicity for "The Yellow Dog"

Advance Campaign Instituted by Jewel Is Designed to Serve the Government.

In connection with the publication of Henry Irving Dodge's great win the war story, "The Yellow Dog," Jewel Productions, Inc., is conducting a publicity campaign in Jewels, Inc., is conducting a publicity campaign in newspapers and motion picture houses.

It is essential that the public be kept aware of the simmering danger button and that every one—tell them the story all over again.

Grace Henderson in World Pictures.

Grace Henderson has been engaged by World Pictures for an important role in support of June Clyde in "The Love Walk," which Travack is producing. He then left New York for the former scenarist at Paramount, left Los Angeles on July 1 for Australia.

Fred Stone is working out some of the scenes of "Johnny Get Your Gun" on the lot at the Douglas Fairbanks studio in Hollywood.

Charles McCoY, former Keystone, is to be seen at the Mack Sennett unit playing a part in a forthcoming comedy.

Fred Stone has leased a house in Laughlin Park, near Los Angeles, and with Mrs. Stone and his three children, will reside there while attending to studio activities at the Lasky studio.

The former scenarist at Metro left Los Angeles on the last day of June for New York, where he will begin work on his next production under the direction of Edwin Carewe within a few days.

Antonio Moreno is in Los Angeles, and will soon be at work on a new Vitagraph serial.

Frank Keenan is returning to the Brunnston studios for his next picture production, which will be started im mediately.

Beatrice Barriscale is working in a comedy written by Tom Geraghty entitled "Call to Arms," for the Brunnston studios.

A daily diversion from the O'Connell studio is the disposing of a Five Dollar War Savings Bond. Here, too, is the Ever-Lone Christie-tie so far which has taken the stamp two days in succession.

Charley Crawford is due the last week to go to the White Mountains with her father and sister. Miss Earle will return the Los Angeles Film colony early in September.

Charles Gunn, of Paraita, is entertaining his mother, Mrs. Georgia Gunn, of Oakland.

Theda Bara Making 32d Picture.

Counting "The She-Devil," upon which she has just begun work at the William Fox Studios at Hollywood, Calif., Theda Bara has done thirty-two pictures for William Fox. This is a record which is looked upon with pride by both Miss Bara and the company.

Among the productions in the list are "Vengeance," "The Home," "The New Fool There Was," "The Clemenceau Case," and "The Two Orphans."

GRACE HENDERSON IN WORLD PICTURES.

Grace Henderson has been engaged by World Pictures for an important role in support of June Clyde in "The Love Walk," which Travack is producing. He then left New York for the former scenarist at Paramount, left Los Angeles on July 1 for Australia.

Fred Stone is working out some of the scenes of "Johnny Get Your Gun" on the lot at the Douglas Fairbanks studio in Hollywood.

Charles McCoY, former Keystone, is to be seen at the Mack Sennett unit playing a part in a forthcoming comedy.

Fred Stone has leased a house in Laughlin Park, near Los Angeles, and with Mrs. Stone and his three children, will reside there while attending to studio activities at the Lasky studio.

The former scenarist at Metro left Los Angeles on the last day of June for New York, where he will begin work on his next production under the direction of Edwin Carewe within a few days.

Antonio Moreno is in Los Angeles, and will soon be at work on a new Vitagraph serial.

Frank Keenan is returning to the Brunnston studios for his next picture production, which will be started im mediately.

Beatrice Barriscale is working in a comedy written by Tom Geraghty entitled "Call to Arms," for the Brunnston studios.

A daily diversion from the O'Connell studio is the disposing of a Five Dollar War Savings Bond. Here, too, is the Ever-Lone Christie-tie so far which has taken the stamp two days in succession.

Charley Crawford is due the last week to go to the White Mountains with her father and sister. Miss Earle will return the Los Angeles Film colony early in September.

Charles Gunn, of Paraita, is entertaining his mother, Mrs. Georgia Gunn, of Oakland.

GRACE HENDERSON IN WORLD PICTURES.

Grace Henderson has been engaged by World Pictures for an important role in support of June Clyde in "The Love Walk," which Travack is producing. He then left New York for the former scenarist at Paramount, left Los Angeles on July 1 for Australia.

Fred Stone is working out some of the scenes of "Johnny Get Your Gun" on the lot at the Douglas Fairbanks studio in Hollywood.

Charles McCoY, former Keystone, is to be seen at the Mack Sennett unit playing a part in a forthcoming comedy.

Fred Stone has leased a house in Laughlin Park, near Los Angeles, and with Mrs. Stone and his three children, will reside there while attending to studio activities at the Lasky studio.

The former scenarist at Metro left Los Angeles on the last day of June for New York, where he will begin work on his next production under the direction of Edwin Carewe within a few days.

Antonio Moreno is in Los Angeles, and will soon be at work on a new Vitagraph serial.

Frank Keenan is returning to the Brunnston studios for his next picture production, which will be started im mediately.

Beatrice Barriscale is working in a comedy written by Tom Geraghty entitled "Call to Arms," for the Brunnston studios.

A daily diversion from the O'Connell studio is the disposing of a Five Dollar War Savings Bond. Here, too, is the Ever-Lone Christie-tie so far which has taken the stamp two days in succession.

Charley Crawford is due the last week to go to the White Mountains with her father and sister. Miss Earle will return the Los Angeles Film colony early in September.

Charles Gunn, of Paraita, is entertaining his mother, Mrs. Georgia Gunn, of Oakland.
American Plans Fully Outlined
Films Direct to Exhibitors Through American’s Personal Representatives—Physical Handling by Pathe Exchange, Inc.

PRESIDENT of the American Film Company, Inc., Samuel S. Hutchinson, has formally announced the consummation of arrangements for the selling of future American productions direct to exhibitors, the films to be handled through the Pathe system of exchanges, as announced in the Moving Picture World last week. Contracts by which Pathe will handle the physical work of distribution on American made features were recently signed in New York by President Hutchinson, of the American, and Paul Brunet, vice president of the Pathe organization.

“Yes,” said Mr. Hutchinson upon his return to Chicago from the East, “future American Film Company productions will be sold direct to exhibitors by the American Film Company’s representatives in Pathe exchanges. These productions will star Mary Miles Minter and Margarita Fisher. The contract also calls for the release of the William Russell productions, which will be handled through Pathe exchanges. Pathe will be authorized to represent a certain percentage of mine will be found at each of the thirty Pathe exchanges in the United States, on and after Monday, July 22, and will be pleased to meet all exhibitors and to explain to them the details of the arrangements we have effected, and to show them the first completed subjects and take applications for bookings.

“You will note that we are not asking the exhibitors to return to Pathe on sight-unseen,” said Mr. Hutchinson. “The first of the new American releases will be actually on hand and can be seen on the screen at least sixty days in advance of their first presentation. American will absolutely control the productions from the moment the story is selected until it is turned over to the exhibitor for showing to his patrons. Pathe will attend to the physical handling of the film, but American will both supply the production and control the selling organization. The salesmen who will be found in each Pathe exchange on and after Monday, July 22, will be personal representatives of the American Film Company, and when an exhibitor calls upon them it is exactly the same as though he were dealing with the American Film Company direct.

“The forthcoming pictures are being staged by Directors Edward Slough and King Ingham, and I am confident they will be voted superior to any we have ever offered in the past. However, we are letting the pictures speak for themselves, and we invite exhibitors to book them only after they, themselves, have seen them on the screen at any Pathe exchange.”

Funkhouser Trial Near Its Close
Public Opinion Continues Strong on the Major’s Side and His Acquittal Is Expected.

WHILE on the stand Monday, July 8, Major Funkhouser referred to the “mighty conspiracy” held in Acting Chief Alcock’s office, in the city hall, March 27 last, to which he had been summoned by the acting chief. The official stenographer of the acting chief was present to take the conversation for filing purposes. A motion by one of the major’s counsel was made that his client be withdrawn from the stand and that the stenographer take his place to read the report of the conference. Major Alcock, I am confident, will be voted superior to any we have ever offered in the past. However, we are letting the pictures speak for themselves, and we invite exhibitors to book them only after they, themselves, have seen them on the screen at any Pathe exchange.”

A Testament to the majors on trial is the sure public opinion that the present state of the law, organization, and manufacturing film concerns. This occurred when one of the opposing counsel wanted to know why certain suits had not been started. President Frazier of the commission hastily interposed, and relieved the situation by ruling that it was not necessary.

On Friday the major charged from the stand that certain interests are leagued in a conspiracy to oust him from his job, but all attempts made by his counsel to introduce the evidence were frustrated by the commission board. The evidence which it was attempted to submit was a reprint of unfavorable editorials from certain Chicago newspapers, charged to have been circulated by the moving picture interests. The board, however, declared the entire matter immaterial.

It was expected that the trial would close Saturday, July 13.

Oakland Square Theater Manager Robbed.
Saturday night, July 6, Charles Doll, assistant manager of the Oakland Square Theater, Oakland and Drexel Boulevard, owned by the Ascher Brothers, left the theater about 10 o’clock to deposit the receipts for the day in the bank, across the street from the theater. On the way he was accosted by two men, one of whom struck him over the head with a blackjack and seized the money, amounting to $400, and made his escape. The police are still working on the case, but up to the present writing have not located the robbers. Mr. Doll was still abed, Friday, July 12, suffering from the attack.

S. S. Hutchinson Goes to Santa Barbara.
Samuel S. Hutchinson, president of the American Film Company, Inc., leaves for Santa Barbara about the middle of the week beginning Monday, July 15. Mr. Hutchinson stopped it by saying: "It has been understood specifically that the question of censorship does not enter into the case in the small way covered by the charges that violations of the ordinance were not prosecuted.

Attorney Miller protested that his client had testified that censorship is the very spirit of the case, and that he would prove it.

The commission board had ruled out a report bearing upon this point earlier in the day, and it is believed that the document in question is the "missing report" which Actin Chief Alcock says showed that a private citizen, not connected with the vice world, had been shadowed by one of Funkhouser’s vice investigators. It is whispered that this document is in reality a report on the activities of an attorney who is identified with the effort to eliminate or modify the present Chicago plan of censorship. Major Funkhouser completed his testimony on direct examination, Monday afternoon.

During cross examination Tuesday, July 9, the major’s attorneys again tried to bring out the secrets of the "missing report," but opposing counsel objected strongly. The counsel for defense insisted that the acting chief had made the charge and that they intended to justify it, but President Frazier ruled that the acting chief’s statement was not followed up by any evidence, that it had made no impression on the commission board, and that it will be given no value in the board’s reorganization.

One of Tuesday’s important contributions during the trial of Major Funkhouser was a signed, formal statement issued to the Woman’s City Club of Chicago, by Miss Jane Addams, Miss Harriet E. Vitium and Mrs. Edith R. McDowell. These three women are appointed by the board of directors of the organization to act as a special committee in the matter. The statement is lengthy and reviews the police government of Chicago since the reorganization ordinance was passed in 1912 and of Major Funkhouser’s discharge of his duties as second deputy. The statement praises the major for his campaign against commercialized vice and for his work as a censor of moving pictures.

During Thursday’s session the suspended second deputy at one time offered to name city officials who had interceded to help the prosecution of Captain Alcock in film concerns. This occurred when one of the opposing counsel wanted to know why certain suits had not been started. President Frazier of the commission hastily interposed, and relieved the situation by ruling that it was not necessary.

On Friday the major charged from the stand that certain interests are leagued in a conspiracy to oust him from his job, but all attempts made by his counsel to introduce the evidence were frustrated by the commission board. The evidence which it was attempted to submit was a reprint of unfavorable editorials from certain Chicago newspapers, charged to have been circulated by the moving picture interests. The board, however, declared the entire matter immaterial.

It was expected that the trial would close Saturday, July 13.
Open Market Hope of the Exhibitor

J. D. Williams Expresses Belief That "Programs" Will Soon Pass With Longer Runs and Individual Bookings.

FORCED attractions," said J. D. Williams to a representative of The World, "should be the term used to classify those programs that ask the exhibitor to select the trade—for that is exactly what 'programs' amount to."

Mr. Williams made it clear that he was speaking as an individual in the expression of his opinion and not as general manager of the Vitagraph company. He further said:

"Booking a program means that the exhibitor, to secure the stars that he desires to satisfy the demands of his patrons and not those that have been 'forced attractions' distributed by the 'program' firm. This is just not alone to the exhibitor but to his audiences," added Mr. Williams.

He said that stars most in favor would in future demand that they shall, through a personal representative, have a share in fixing the price their pictures shall collect from the exhibitor. Mr. Williams made his point clearer by indicating how dictating how "everything on the program," as now exhibited by the manufacturer, would be an important factor in bringing about the open market.

"The Charley Chaplins, Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickfords and other stars who have won exceptional favor with the public will not long be content to serve as the main attraction in a plan of distribution that uses them as a means to sell six or eight or dozen dollar programs," said Mr. Williams. "The big moneymakers for the distributor and exhibitor are going to have their 'say' as to who shall play their pictures and how much shall be the price. They will not be pleased if they are forced to demand a share in the profits of the 'big fellows' who they enrich by their talents and popularity."

Such being the case Mr. Williams declared that exhibitors would insist upon going into the open market to secure all of their attractions. If the highest bidder should secure pictures made by a certain star in a specified territory (something the stars will, eventually, insist upon, as they participate in the chief attraction in the program), this demand for an open market would be made by Mr. Williams to leave the exhibitor in a position to then insist upon an open market for every feature he shall play.

"Take the star out of a program," continued Mr. Williams, "and the 'forced attractions' would be brought into competition with every picture of equal merit pictures without 'big names,' but, nevertheless, good pictures. Freed from the requirement of not to 'force an attraction' when there were no 'big names' to use as a leverage to make him sign contracts, the exhibitor will be able to give his patrons better pictures and with longer runs. He will get the public, and get them in the theatre, and sooner than he ever did before will he get the full pager out of attractions.

"When film stars with money-drawing personalities realize that they are being used to perpetuate the 'forced attraction' plan and demand a share in the profits of their 'force attractions' the 'open market' will be quite out of order," continued Mr. Williams.

"The 'open market' is so near at hand that showmen and manufacturers who have their own best interest at heart might just as well accept the 'open market' as have been deprived."

Mr. Williams advocates longer runs, citing Australia, with more than 1,500 exhibitors, where there is not an instance of daily changes. Mr. Williams declares that in the matter of population alone to draw from the theaters of America we have every advantage over those of Australia. With an exhibitor able to pick his own offerings Mr. Williams believes that longer runs will be the logical result—for the exhibitor will have an evenly balanced line of attractions that will warrant more days for every picture a theater shall present.

Hodkinson Gets Many Applications.

"In spite of our raising the barrier so high, and making it perfectly plain that we wanted only the highest grade of men, the response to our advertisements in last week's trade press has been enormous," This is the comment of one of the officials of the W. W. Hodkinson Co., the well-known advertising calling for big calibered men to compose a sales force to cover the entire territory.

This official further stated that an interesting fact developed in analyzing the large number of applications that came in, and that is the number of men in the field who have very clear ideas of the diseases this industry is suffering from, and what the remedies are. It also appears that the industry may have a clean bill of health and continue to a prosperous, successful future.
Our purpose in taking this step is to put the Moving Picture World in line with the movement for the conservation of National resources which has become necessary that we may, as a united Nation, meet the demands for war purposes. Already the Government has called upon the newspapers of the country to cut off all non-essential circulation for the purpose of saving paper. Soon, it is expected, a similar order will be issued to magazines and trade papers. Consequently, in making the Moving Picture World non-returnable, the publishers hope to anticipate the Government's action by getting in line with the conservation movement.

Another potent reason for this action is the recent extraordinary increase in postage on second-class periodicals caused by the act of Congress governing such matters. This act divides the United States into eight zones, carrying an increase in the postage rate all the way from 25 per cent. to 225 per cent. per pound. This extra cost must be taken up in some way. In going over the situation the publishers decided at once that no attempt would be made to pass the tax on to its subscribers, but would make up the loss in some other way. Making the publication non-returnable seemed to be the best solution. It is estimated that the saving thus effected will nearly cover the increased cost of postage without further curtailing our efforts to give the trade its favorite publication in its usual comprehensive form. In this emergency the thing for our newsstand buyers to do is to place their orders with their newsdealers at once or, better yet, send in to the home office an order for a year's subscription— it's the most economical in the long run.

* * *

The appearance in the East of a representative of the Motion Picture War Service Association, which was organized in Los Angeles some months ago, brings out the fact that there is to be a duplication of effort in the legislative acceleration business at Washington unless there is an immediate getting together among the film men. In the first place the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry has taken steps to open headquarters and to maintain a staff of influential members at Washington for the purpose of providing Congressional committees with information regarding the trade that will help in shaping tax schedules. In the second place the announcement is made that the M. P. W. S. A. of Los Angeles has engaged Ewell D. Moore of San Francisco, said to be a recognized tax expert, who will proceed to Washington to use his influence with Congress and that the coast association will open headquarters there. The question is: Who pays? And the answer: Wouldn't it be a good idea to get together to save hotel bills?

* * *

There is a more serious view of this matter which must not be overlooked. William A. Brady, president of the N. A. M. P. I., has been in Washington for some time for the purpose of getting things properly straightened out. He says that the affairs of the trade in general are in good shape—100 per cent. good—and that the situation will not be improved by a multiplication of effort. We agree with Mr. Brady and would join him in insisting that a unity of action be determined upon at once.
War Realism
By Robert C. McElravy.

Just how far should the producer of moving pictures go in depicting the horrors of warfare? This question has been asked many times in the past few years, and will no doubt continue to be asked for some time to come. It is a question that requires thought from several different angles in order to get anything like a satisfactory answer.

The first essential of any art is to entertain. That much may be put down as certain. It may astound or instruct or moralize or preach as much as it chooses, but to be welcomed by the public—or, in other words, to be successful—it must, over and above all else, entertain.

To successfully entertain the public it is necessary to have at least an approximate idea of the condition of the public mind. This varies greatly, and is swayed continually by events and changes of all sorts. The happenings in the world since August, 1914, have altered the public mind in many respects. They have brought into play deeper emotions and called up a welling of human sentiment beyond all precedent.

When the war began in Europe the disposition of our people here in America was to think and talk as little as possible about it. The magazines, many of them, decided not to mention the war at all. But this attitude, of course, was altered when America at length entered the conflict. War is now, very properly, the thing of first interest, and the main concern is how we and our allies may press it to a successful conclusion.

From the first moving pictures and the daily press have led the way in bringing home the full facts to the American people. The news dispatches have carried their verbal descriptions of events, and moving pictures have recorded them graphically upon the screen.

At just what point must the realism cease? Obviously it is not possible for the screen to deal with the subject of war without picturing much that is unpleasant. To exclude absolutely the horrors of war would be to miss the truth entirely. It would not be wise to do this, even to save the feelings of sensitive people. We are all sensitive when it comes to that, but by some providential process we harden and strengthen with the passing of time until we finally are able to face what comes resolutely.

Moving pictures have done much to strengthen our endurance. They have given us a valuable foretaste of the perils that were upon us. It has been much better to witness German atrocities upon the screen than it would have been to sit back quiescently until such atrocities were committed upon the streets of our towns and cities. The screen must be given credit for doing its part in arousing the nation to its present state of preparation.

The condition of the public mind has demanded this. It would be interesting or attracted by nothing less than the truth. To bring this truth before the people it has been necessary to picture much of the violence of war, but in doing this we can but feel that the rules of good construction have usually prevailed. Even the most graphic productions have used moderation, and careful editing has usually excluded the lurid and impossible.

It is generally quite possible to tell in editing pictures after completion just what scenes are too strong or unnecessarily painful. There is certainly no desire on the part of the wise producer to overdo in these things, for in such an event he is the one who suffers. What the producer is trying to do is to keep the public alive to actual conditions and by so doing to help win the war. In this undertaking he has done much to deserve the thanks of this same public.

Let the screen reflect the realism of war within proper bounds so long as the safety and well-being of the country demands it. That is the answer to our question. When we and our allies are able to dictate a real peace the screen will be glad to turn to other fields of interest.

What Are Stories Worth?
By Epes W. Sargent.

Recent announcement by a film manufacturer that he was ready to pay as high as $25,000 for a motion picture story worth that much raises the interesting speculation as to how much stories really are worth. It is safe to say that there will be few, if any, stories valued at the top price, and yet another “Birth of a Nation” would be cheap at any price. Yet the story of that production was not, in itself, the secret of success. It was not until it had been cleverly adapted to the screen that its value as a film play became apparent. In its original form it might not have carried similar appeal.

It is to be presumed that if $25,000 ever is paid for a single story for the screen it will be for a widely advertised play or book right, and four-fifths of the value will be in advertising rather than in story. Twenty-five thousand dollars would represent a fair return for the average best seller, and not many best sellers are worth that sum as film material, for few will transfer to the screen the elements which made the printed story so successful; indeed many stories which have given pleasure on the screen have been but indifferent fiction material, for the very reason that they were better suited to photoplay presentation.

It is only logical to assume that the best photoplay story is one written with the film-medium in mind rather than one first written as fiction, because fiction commands better prices, and then made over into a film play. But few direct-for-the-screen plays would be worth the top price, and few authors capable of writing material worth these prices will care to bother with the uncertainties of film production because he knows that a poorly produced story will detract from his reputation and he has found that his stories do not translate well to the screen, largely perhaps because he has not made a sufficient study of the new medium.

Photoplay is not a matter of story alone, though story is the foundation of success. It is a good story plus sympathetic production, plus intelligent acting and adequate mounting. The director, the player, the scene painter and the property man are alike factors in the success or failure of a story, along with the author, and authors capable of writing direct film plays worth $25,000 will not bother to study the new medium until they are more positively assured of intelligent cooperation all along the line. They cannot afford to play or risk their reputations as writers into the hands of so many others whose interest and ability are untried factors. It will be a long time before the $25,000 film play will be reached, but meantime, just what should be the top price for an original play?
Basing Profits on Production

By Louis Reeves Harrison.

In clinging to an autocratic commercial system, that of attaching production to distribution and basing costs on the two combined, it seems reasonable to consider a complete detachment of the two fields of effort, not on account of the quantity demand for moving pictures, but because of the character of that demand in relation to specific quality of product. It is the strictly commercial idea to think of these art products as constituting a mere commodity manufactured for home consumption to a large degree and a lesser one for exportation.

That idea has grown out of supplying a settled market for a certain amount of staples fairly well established in public demand.

Now the native beauty, charm and directness of this new art of expression, not the average examples shown, are responsible for the opulence of early birds who were bold pioneers and explorers, and for the unexpected wealth of men who are now weighing down production with distributive costs to an extent that means serious injury to the business as a whole.

It is the strictly commercial idea to push the sale of a product.

Rarely it has quality, more often it has not.

This system diverts to distributive offices, organization, employees and general expense, an outlay which might be warranted in some lines of business, but which lowers the effectiveness of motion picture production to a point where releases can only be marketed by elaborate organization and costly methods. This drain on actual picture values is due to the fact that very few producers have fully grasped the significance of what they are handling and its relation to public demand.

There are fears shown that the market may be glutted.

There are attempts at combination and exchange control.

There is no trade secret about the fact that a much shrewder degree of salesmanship and a more costly system of selling are necessary to dispose of inferior goods than in the case of those whose general fine quality markets them on sight, but your keen business man is more instinctively a seller of goods than maker of them, especially of that kind which requires novelty of design and originality of treatment to respond to each season's demands. Give him something to sell, anything from a cake of soap to a submarine, and he will manage to dispose of it at a profit. At that game he may be 100 per cent. efficient.

He fully appreciates the importance of the department he best understands, and he throws in the "overhead" when he figures manufacturing cost.

Thus it is that his features run ten or fifteen thousand dollars a reel according to his method of determining costs.

Thus it is also that actual picture values do not average 50 per cent. of the nominated cost of production.

Every man who knows the history of moving pictures knows also that many concerns capitalized in the millions, organized and managed by capable business men, equipped with fine distributive facilities, have gone down and out, almost forgotten, through managerial inability to grasp the relative value and importance of true artistry in production.

Their studios are idle or in process of gradual decay.

It will be eventually discovered that the most effective system in the long run holds out the brightest opportunity to artistry, not of the reflective and imitative kind, but that more truly scientific which treats the art as one to stand on a basis purely its own. It will consider only authors, directors and actors who understand screen requirements and are equipped by nature or experience, not for some other art of expression, but for that in which they work, to which they are best suited.

There can be no such thing as overproduction of high quality.

That kind is limited by the very nature of their composition.

Cost of production can then be based on picture values up to the completion of the negative. High quality in all departments, both artistic and scientific, at once simplifies distribution almost to the point of making salesmanship a lost art, as forgotten as the old concerns which gave it precedence a few years ago. Right production means the elimination of distributive waste and greater profits for all.

Seeing Is Believing

By Edward Weitzel.

Coming out of a moving picture theater recently, a young woman turned to her escort and delivered a terse criticism of the picture they had just witnessed:

"That was the most exasperating photoplay I've ever looked at! I couldn't see the expression on the faces of the characters more than half the time!"

The young woman was absolutely correct. There were any amount of beautiful bits of landscape in the picture, most of the action taking place in the open. The hero and his sweetheart wandered beneath giant trees or stood within the shadow of huge overhanging rocks, and the spectator was given a choice selection of scenery to admire. As to following the story by watching the faces of the men and women who figured in the plot, that was frequently impossible. The light often was so obscured that the characters on the screen were only dimly outlined, and the dramatic tension was entirely lost.

Seeing is believing. Patrons of the spoken stage expect to be able to hear everything that is said during a performance, and any member of a cast who failed to make himself heard would quickly be dismissed. Spectators at a moving picture theater have the same right to follow every thought and action of the human beings reflected on the screen, through the medium of their eyes, and no piece of natural background, no matter how striking and how wonderfully laced with shadows, offers a valid excuse for holding up the action of the plot because the faces of the characters are hidden by want of proper lighting.

Screen drama requires the services of directors who know how to keep the human interest of a story always in the foreground. The class of experts known as art directors are useful in helping to prepare the backgrounds of a picture; but the grip of the photoplay begins to weaken the moment one of these gentlemen is allowed to dominate any of the scenes.

MARROUN TO JOIN GERMAN COLONY.

Hans Marroun, the nineteen-year-old German who several weeks ago created a panic in the Globe theater, 614 Canal street, New Orleans, when he attempted to destroy the picture "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," will not worry any more motion picture patrons during the war. Marroun has been ordered interned for the period of the war and cannot see that dear Hamburg, as he calls his native place.
Catalogue of Educational and Selected Pictures
Including Adaptations of Books, Plays and Magazine Stories Released Between April 1 and June 30, 1918.

Compiled by Margaret I. MacDonald.

This list of films released between April 1 and June 30, 1918, contains the names of educational and semi-educational pictures which have been produced during that period. It also contains a number of pictures of mixed character suggested for the family group, children's matinees and Sunday exhibitions. It does not, however, include the various News Pictorials, such as the Universal Animated Weekly and Universal Current Events, Screen Telegram, Gaumont News, Gaumont Graphic, and Hearst-Pathé News. A list showing how to tell the difference between the headquarters of the different manufacturing companies or exchanges herein referred to will be found at the end of the list.

Agriculture.
Farm Drive, Everybody Helps In the Big—Universal—May 24—(Screen Magazine No. 72).
Metto's Floating Gardens—Educational.
Potato Drive, Speeding Up the—Universal—April 13—(Screen Magazine No. 91).
War Garden Hints—(Series)—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 122).

Art.
Animals and Art—Paramount-Bray—June 17—(Picture No. 124)—(showing natural poses of horses and dogs).
Needle-work—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 124)—(from pencillion to theater curtain).

Culinary.
Bread Baking as They Did It a Thousand Years Ago—Universal—May 19—(Screen Magazine No. 76).
Loaf, May It's Conservation—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 69).

Engineering and Mining.
Coal Fields, A Day in the—Gaumont—(42 parts).
Marble quarrying—Universal—May 24—(Screen Magazine No. 72).
Necaxa, The Power House of Mexico—Educational.

Floriculture.
Rose Culture, Scientific—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 160).

Forestry.
Planning for Future Generations—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 73)—(relishing the country's timber supply).

Industries.
Alligators, Farming for—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 121).
Banana Harvest, Central America—Universal—June 14—(Screen Magazine No. 75).
Building the Victory Fleet—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 118).
Caviar, Making Russian—Educational—April.
Cavalry of the Air—Universal—April 19—(Screen Magazine No. 67)—(manufacture of aeroplanes).
Chicken Drive, The Great—Universal—April 27—(Screen Magazine No. 68).

Chicken, Hatching—Universal—June 11—(Screen Magazine No. 78)—(showing how to tell the difference between fertile and unfertile eggs, and chicks in shells at different stages).
Cooper, A Twentieth Century—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 125).
Fox Farm, On a—General Film-Progressive—May—(East Northport, L. I.).
Glass, Manufacture of Window—James Ramsey—May—(exhibited at New York Athletic).
Hat, Making a Panama—Universal—April 5—(Screen Magazine No. 65).
Liberty Bond, Birth of a—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 112).
Logging in the Alps—Educational.
Lumbering for War—Paramount-Bray—May 15—(Picture).n.
Most Useful Plant in the World—(Century or MacIntyre Plant)—Educational.

New Use for a House Boat—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 113).
Orange Industry, The—(California)—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 126).

Peanut Butter, Making—Universal—June 26—(Screen Magazine No. 71).
Pine in a National Forest, Lumbering Lodges—Universal—April 12—(Screen Magazine No. 72).
Plato, Manufacture of—Universal—June 14—(Screen Magazine No. 75).
Ribbon, Designing and Manufacturing—Universal—May 24—(Screen Magazine No. 72).
Rifles, Manufacture of—Universal—April 10—(Screen Magazine No. 68).
Rubber Boots, Making—Universal—May 17—(5 parts).
Russia, Strange Fishermen—Educational.
Shad, Catching—Universal—June 26—(Screen Magazine No. 75).
Sugar Factory, Uncle Sam's—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 114).
Timber Transportation in Sweden—Pathé—April 7.
Transplanting Nurseries—Universal—June 8—(Screen Magazine No. 74)—(showing Winchendon, Mass., as the world's greatest toy manufacturer).

Women in the World of Work—(series)—Paramount-Bray—April 15—(Picture).

Gymnastics and Dancing.
Japanese Acrobats—Universal—April 19—(Screen Magazine No. 67).

History.
Masks and Faces—(period of George III of England)—World—(5 parts).
Son of Democracy, The—(Chaplins Life of Lincoln)—Famous Players-Lasky—(released in four two-reel instalments).

Literature.
(Adaptations of Books, Plays and Magazine Stories.)

ADIDSON (Thomas).
Roses of Powderville, The—("The Grand Passion")—(with Dorothy Phillips)—Hibburch.

ANGELOTTI (Marion Polk).
Over There—("The Fiery of France")—(with Wallace Reid and Anna Little)—Famous Players-Lasky—June 26—(5 parts).

ANNAPOLIS—(Louis K.).
Unchanted Woman, The—(with Grace Valentine)—Klein-Rialto De Luxe—(5 parts).

ARTHUR (Joseph).
Still Alarm, The—(with Thomas Santachi and Bessee Eyton)—Selznicker.

AYRES (Ruby M.).
Society for Sale—(with William Desmond and Gloria Swanson)—Triangle—April 4—(5 parts).

BALLARD (Frank).
Believe Me, Xantippe—(with Wallace Reid)—Famous Players-Lasky—May 27—(5 parts).

BAKER (Granville).
Prunella—(with Marzarine Clark)—Famous Players-Lasky—May 27—(5 parts).

BARON (Elwyn).
Marcel Livanian—("The House of Silence")—(with Wallace Reid and Anna Little)—Famous Players-Lasky—April 8—(5 parts).

BEACH (Ray).
Heart of the Sunset—(with Anna Q. Nilsson and Herbert Heyes)—Goldwyn.

BOLLES (Florence).
Fair Pretender, The—(with Madge Kennedy)—Goldwyn—May 19—(6 parts).

BRAINARD (Eleanor Hoyt).
How Could You, Jean—(with Mary Pickford)—Arctura—June 23—(5 parts).

BROADHURST (George).
Rich Man, Poor Man—(with Marzarine Clark)—Famous Players-Lasky—April 22—(5 parts).

BURGES (Gihett).
White Cat, The—("The Two-Soul Woman")—(with Priscilla Dean)—Universal—May 11—(5 parts).

CAINE (Hall).
Bendeman, The—(reissue)—(with William Partern)—Fox.

CAMPBELL (Evelyn V.).
Soul for Sale, A—(with Dorothy Phillips)—Jewel—(6 parts).

CHAMBERS (Robert W.).
Business of Life, The—(with Alice Joyce)—Greatest Vitagraph—April 8—(5 parts).

Conducted by REV. W. H. JACKSON and MARGARET I. MACDONALD.
CHESTER (George Randolph).

Twenty-One—(with Bryant Washburn)—Frisbie-Anderson-Branton—April 7—(5 parts).

CLARETIE (Jules).

Prince Zilo—("Her Final Reckoning")—(with Pauline Frederick)—Famous Players-Lasky—June 9—(5 parts).

CLARK (Edward).

De Luxe Annie—(with Norma Talmadge)—Select—May—(7 parts).

COHAN (George M.).

Hit-the-Trail Holliday—(with George M. Cohan)—Famous Players-Lasky-Arctera—June 16—(5 parts).

CROTHERS (Rachel).

Man's World, A—(with Emily Stevens)—Metro—June 24—(5 parts).

CRAWFORD (James Oliver).

Vivien, the Baree,—(with Neil Shannon and Alfred Whitman)—Greater Vitagraph—May 27—(5 parts).

DAVIS (Owen).

Mile-a-Minute Kendall—(with Jack Pickford)—Famous Players-Lasky—May 15—(5 parts).

DAY (Holman).

Landlord, The.—(with Harold Lockwood)—Metro-Yorke—April 1—(5 parts).

D'ENNERY (Adolph).

Two Orphans, The.—(with Theda Bara)—Fox—June—(5 parts).

ELLiot (Francis Perry).

Lend Me Your Name.—(with Harold Lockwood and Bessee Eytto)—Metro—May 27—(5 parts).

ELLIS (Edith).

My Man.—("The Strength of the Weak")—(with Alice Joyce)—Greater Vitagraph—May 13.

EMPEY (Guy).

Over the Top.—(with Empey)—Greater Vitagraph—April—(8 parts).

EVANS (Larry).

His Own Home Town.—(with Charles Ray)—Famous Players-Lasky—May 27—(5 parts).

FRANKLIN (Edgar).

More Trouble.—(with Frank Keenan)—Pathé-Anderson-Branton—July 14—(5 parts).

GLYN (Eleanor).

Reason Why, The.—(with Clara Kimball Young)—Select—April.

GRAHAM (Mildred Curt).

Bit of Jube, A.—(with Mary Miles Minter)—American-Mutual—April 1—(5 parts).

GRAY (Zane).

Heritage of the Desert, The.—Sherman.

Light of Western Stars.—(with Dustin Farnum)—Sherman—June.

Riders of the Purple Sage.—(with William Farnum)—Fox—June 16.

Wildfire—Sherman.

HARTE (Fred).

M'Liss.—(with Mary Pickford)—Arctera—May 13—(5 parts).

HAUERBACH (Otto).

Silent Witness, The.—(with Gertrude McCord)—Four Square—Author's.

HAWKES (J. G.).

Desert Woolen, A.—(with End Bennett)—Famous Players-Lasky—June 25—(5 parts).

HENRY (G.).

Brief Debut of Tilly, The.—General Film-Broadway Star—June—(2 parts).

David Farnum Cactus City, The.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

By Injunction.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

Compliments of the Season.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

Count and the Wedding Guest, The.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

Enchanted Profile, The.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

Find the Woman.—(with Alice Joyce)—Greater Vitagraph—June 10—(5 parts).

Lost on Dress Parade.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

Nemesis and the Candy Man, The.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

Purple Dress, The.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

Rudolph of a Scotch Highball, The.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

Sisters of the Golden Circle.—General Film-Broadway Star—June—(2 parts).

Song and the Sergeant, The.—General Film-Broadway Star.—(2 parts).

HOPWOOD (Avrey).

Our Little Wife.—(with Mable Kenyon and Goldwyn)—Feb.—(6 parts).

Hughes (Rupert).

Two Women—("Ghost of Yesterday")—(with Norma Talmadge)—Select—January—(6 parts).

IBSEN (Heinrich).

Doll's House, A.—(with Elsie Ferguson)—Arctera—June 2—(5 parts).

JACKSON (Fred).

For Sale.—(with Gladys Hulett)—Pathé-astra—June 9—(5 parts).

Man Hunt, The.—(with Ethel Clayton)—World—June 17—(5 parts).

JAMES (Fred H.).

La Bagarita—("His Daughter Pays")—(with Gertrude McCoy)—Piedmont.

JEROME (Jerome K.).

Passing of the Third Flower, The.—Pathe International—Browns—(6 parts).

JONES (Henry Arthur).

Hypocrites, The.—(with Elizabeth Risdon)—Cosmofotofilm.

LIE, THE—(with Elsie Ferguson)—Famous Players-Lasky-Arctera—April 8—(5 parts).

JORDAN (Kate).

Seling the Lustiana—Universal-Windsor McCay.
Sloven Orders—Brady-Weisberger—June 22—(6 parts).
Story of Old Glory—E. G. Lutz.
To Hell with the Kaiser—Screen Classics.

RELIGION.

Restitution—Mena—(10 parts).

SCENIC AND TRAVEL (including peoples and customs).
Alps, Aop the—Universal—April 20.
America's Sleeping Giants—Paramount-Bray (Picture No. 118)— (rivers and waterfalls).
British Guiana—("A Jingle Joy Ride")—Mutual-Outside Chester—
(showing habits and industries of Panamanian Indians).
British Guiana—("Kalteur")—Mutual-Outside Chester.
China—(A Monumental Memory)—Mount Assinboine—
Outside Chester.
Canada—Oblin, the Switzerland of British Columbia—Paramount-Holmes.
Crimes, The—Pathe—May 12.
Cruel of the Quickennill—The—Educational—Bruce.
Eastern States, Beauty Spots of the—General Film.
England, Beautiful Devon—the Land of Romance—Universal—April.
English Cradle of Our Liberty—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 71).
(Home of Washington Lawrence, ancestor of George Washington, in the village of Suigraive, England).
Filipino Fighting Force, Our—Paramount-Holmes—April 29.
Filipino National Guard—Paramount-Holmes—May 6.
Florida, In and Around the West—Pathe—April 17.
Following the Course of the Casye—Educational—May 22.
France, Around Central Auvergne—Pathe—Nov. 25, 1917.
France, Auville—Pathe—April 17.
France, St. Flour and Aurillac—Pathe—April 7.
Hawaii the Beautiful—Paramount—(Picture No. 115).
High Spots of Hawaii—Paramount—April 22.
Ice Age Left, What the Educational-Bravo.
Melting Pot of the Pacific, The—Paramount-Holmes—June 3.
Heart of Mexico—(Mexico City)—Educational-Wright—June.
Mexico Today—(series)—Educational—May 12.
Peru, The City of the Sun—Pathe—April 29.
Peru—"From Lima to the Top of the Andes"—Lincoln & Parker.
Pune, and Scenes Around Lake Titacara, Huirolia—Lincoln & Parker.
Rosseu's Expedition into the Wilds, Col. Theodore—Borden Commission—(Luís Reis)—(6 reels).
Russia, In Southernmost—Pathe—May 29.
Sanon, Yesterdays in—Paramount-Holmes—June 17.
Scenic Gems of America—Paramount—May 7.
Silent Wonderlands of the Educational-Bravo—(2 parts).
Southwest, Our Empire of the—Educational.
Spain, The Land of Enchantment—Beacon.
St. Thomas—The Islands—Beacon—April 26.
Sweden, Timber Transportation in—Pathe—April.
Talcoa and the San Juan, Islands—Beacon—April 21.
Tuibitas of Travel—Educational—May 1.
Tungo Islands—Paramount—June 24.
Trinidad, British West Indies—Beacon—April 21.
Venice and Her Grand Canal—Educational.
Venezuela—"A Coosist on the Orinoco"—Mutual-Outside Chester.
Waikiki, On the Beach—Pathe—May 27.
Wales, Picturesque—April 28.
What the Ice Age Left—Educational-Bravo—April 6.
Yosemite Valley—Lincoln & Parker.

SCIENCE.
Bone Relatives, Our—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 113).
Character Analysis—(studies in series)—Paramount-Bray—(Pictograph No. 129).

DEATH BOMB, The—Paramount—(Picture No. 120).
Microscopic Revelations—Paramount-Bray—(Picture No. 115)— (circulation of the blood, showing heat beats of frog and fish).
Wrez of War, Whipping—(telephone battlefield)—Pathe.

SOCIETY.
Blue Blood—Goldwyn-Selectra—(6 parts)—(problem of "sins of the parents").
Dell's House, A—Famous Players-Lasky—(6 parts).
Finn, George—Lucas, The—Pathe—(7 parts)—(variant pictures picture based on San Francisco anti-vice com-paign).
Hit-Trail Holiday—Famous Players-Lasky-Arter—June 16—(5 parts)—(suitable for temperance propaganda).
Honour's Cross—Goldwyn—(6 parts)—(based on life in the underworld).
Hypo, The—(Comes-Goldwyn)—(multiple reel).
Landlubber, The—Pathe—(5 parts).
Little Sister of Everybody, A—Pathe—(5 part love story which includes aborver troubles).
Passing of the Third Floor Back, The—Plint National—(6 parts).

MUSIC.
Gismonda—Famous Players-Lasky—June 2—(5 parts).

PATRIOTIC.
Admirals, A Day with Our Future—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 70)—
May 10.
American Rifles and Riflemen—Paramount-Bray—(Photograph No. 20)—
May 20.
British Bulwarks—(series)—Pathe.
British Cavalry on Western Front—Pathe—May 12.
Britain and Its Men in the Danger Zone, With the—Pathe—
June 9.
Engineers Win Renown "Over There," American—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 74)—June 8.
Filipino Fighting Force, Our—Paramount-Holmes—April 29.
Filipino National Guard—Paramount-Holmes—May 6.
Flying with the Marines, Committee on Public Information.
France Cares for Her Wounded Soldiers, How—(4 parts)—
National Dairy Association—April 28.
Generals, A Day with Our Future—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 70)—
May 10—(scenes at West Point Military Academy.
Guns of Our Forerunners—Paramount-Bray—(Photograph No. 121).
Italian War Pictures, Official—Hale-North American Union—(6 parts).
Messines and Its Irish Captors—Pathe—May 9.
Nations at War—Joseph L. Dunham—(8 parts).
Navy at Work and at Play, Our Fighting—(4 parts).
Pershing's Crusaders—First Nations—(7 parts).
Task—Our Fighting Ally, The—Pathe.

RETAIL.
Ruler of the Road—Path—April 21 — (railroad story).
Yellow Ticket, The—Path—June 2—(5 parts).

SPORTS AND HUNTING.
Red and Roil Champions—Paramount-Bray — (Picture No. 119).
Screen Vagabonds—(roaming roosters)—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 70) — June 21.
Sea Cow, On the Trail of the—(Universal—Screen Magazine No. 73).
Wild Animals, Capturing and Photographing—Allenbaugh-Baker.

TYPICAL.
Banking for Our Sea Fighters—Paramount-Bray — (Picture No. 117).
Building Liberty Hospitals—Paramount-Bray — (Picture No. 122).
Captains, Those—Paramount-Bray — (Screen Magazine No. 77) — June 25.
Charting the Sky—Paramount-Bray — (Picture No. 117).
Chow Dogs—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 71) — May 17.
Eating Out—(Picture No. 119).
(showing automatic device for loading and unloading express packages from swiftly moving trains).
Hair Dressing Hints from South America—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 67) —(native of British Guiana).
Horse Training by Experts—Paramount-Bray — (Picture No. 116).
Laundry, Traveling—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 69) — April 30.
Learn to Save Life—Universal—(Screen Magazine No. 71) — June 25.
Mimic—Famous Players-Lasky — (5 part drama of the war).
M’Lass—Artcraft—(5 part comedy-drama).
More Trouble—Path—(5 part comedy).
Mr. Fix-It—Artcraft—(5 part comedy).
Mrs. Shucker—Path—(5 part comedy).
Mysterious Cien—The Path—(5 part comedy-mystery).
Nine-Tenches of the Law—Atlantic—(6 part drama of the new woods).
Old Hartwell’s Cub—Travelers—(5 part comedy).
Only Road, The—Metro—(5 part drama).
On the Top—Greater Vitagraph—(5 part patriotic number).
Passing of the Third Floor Flat—First National-Dem—(6 part drama).
Patriotism—Paralta—(6 part drama).
Playing the Game—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part drama).
Prunella—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part fantasy).
Puppet Rebellion, The—(5 part comedy).
Restitution—Mena—(10 part story of Biblical interest).
Return of Quirky, The—General Film Blue-Ridge—(2 part drama of the northwest).
Riders of the Night—Metro—(5 part melodrama).
Rose o’ Paradise—Paralta—(5 part drama).
Rough and Ready—Fox—(5 part Alaskan melodrama).
Ruler of the Road—Path—(5 part railroad story).
Selma Yates—Arthcraft—(5 part western drama).
Self-Made Lady, The—Fox—(comedy).
Soap Girl, The—Greater Vitagraph—(5 part comedy-drama).
Social Brides—American—(5 part drama).
Somebody’s Baby—Christie—(5 part comedy).
Spoiled Girl, The—Edison-Kleine—(Montgomery Flag comedy).
Stout Content—Triangle—(5 part western drama).
Stolen Orders—Brady-Weisberger—(5 part patriotic melodrama).
Street of Seven Stars, The—Deserta—(5 part drama).
Treasure of the Sea—Metro—(5 part drama).
True Blue—Fox—(5 part patriotic drama).
Twenty-One—Path—(5 part drama).

FAMILY GROUP.
Accidental Honeymoon, The—Arrow-Raf—(5 part comedy).
Accusing Too, The—General Film—(2 part Judge Brown story).
Ace of the West, The—Paramount-Bray—(5 part western drama).
An Alien Enemy—W. H. Hodgkinson—Paralta—(5 part patriotic drama).
All Woman—Goldwyn—(5 part drama).
Babel—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part story).
Belle of the Greater Vitagraph—(5 part story).
Bears, Son of Kazan—Greater Vitagraph—(5 part story of the far north).
Believe Me, Xantippe—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part comedy).
Berlin Via America—Shipman-Francis Ford—(6 part patriotic drama).
Big Bear, Snow on Earth, The—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part comedy).
Billy’s Baby—Goldwyn—(comedy).
Bit of Jade, A—Mutual-American—(5 part drama).
Bluebird, The—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part fantasy).
Blue-Eyed Mary—Fox—(5 part drama).
Broadway Scandal, A—Bluebird—(5 part drama).
Boys of the Lazy "Y"—Triangle—(5 part western).
Brave and Bold—Fox—(5 part melodrama).
Bravest Way, The—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part drama).
Breakers Ahead—Metro—(5 part story of the sea).
Cabaret, The—World—(5 part Greenwich Village romance).
Cecilia of the Marion Davies—(6 part drama).
Charlie Me Charlie—Kleine—(6 part Chaplin Revue).
Claw, The—Select—(5 part drama).
Clay of Lemon Green, The—General Film—Broadway Star—(2 part drama).

POETRY.
Clyde Higgins, D. D.—Metro—(5 part comedy).
Cow Chasers—General Film—Broadway Star.
Danger Game, The—Goldwyn—(5 part melodramatic comedy).
Danger Within—Bluebird—(5 part drama featuring little Zoe Rae).
Daughter of the Rails—Path—(5 part western story).
De Luxe Annie—Select—(5 part drama).
Denny from Ireland—Shipman-W. H. Productions—(5 part comedy-drama).
Dottie from Heart of Heartland—(5 part juvenile story).
Elephant Commandment, The—Advance—M. F. Corp.—(5 part melodrama).
Enchanted Frolic, The—General Film—Broadway Star—(2 part drama).
Fair Pretender, The—Goldwyn—(6 part comedy-drama).
Find the Woman—Greene-Vitagraph—(5 part G. Henry story).
Fiddler of France, The—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part melodrama).
Girl Who Wouldn’t Quit, The—Universal—(6 part western).
Golden Goal, The—Greater Vitagraph—(5 part drama).
Guilt of Silence, The—Bluebird—(5 part Alaskan drama).
Heart of a Girl, The—Path—(5 part drama).
Heart of the Sunset—Goldwyn—(5 part drama of the Mexican Border).
Hearts and Diamonds—Universal—(6 part melodrama).
Hillbilly Mystery—Path—(5 part mystery-comedy).
His Majesty, Bunker Bean—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part comedy).
His Own Home Town—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part drama).
Hit the Trail Holiday—(6 part comedy-drama).
Humdrum Brown—Path—(5 part comedy).
How Could You, Caroline—Path—(5 part comedy).
How Could You, Jean—Path—(5 part comedy).
I’m a Man—General Film—Judge Brown—(2 part story).
Joan of Plattsburg—Goldwyn—(6 part patriotic comedy-drama).
Last Rebel, The—Triangle—(5 part drama of the Civil War period).
Lead Me Your Name—Meteo—(5 part farce-comedy).
Little Miss No Account—Greater Vitagraph—(6 part comedy).
Little Runaway, The—Greater Vitagraph—(5 part comedy).
Little Sister of Everybody—Path—(5 part love story covering labor problem).
Lonely Woman, The—Triangle—(5 part drama).
Lost in the West—Famous Players-Lasky—(5 part drama founded on Sardou’s “Gismonda”).
Magic Eye, The—Universal—(5 part juvenile story).
Masks and Faces—Ward—(5 part story).
Gaumont Co.—Flushing, L. I.
Goldwyn Pictures Corporation—25 West 44th Street, New York City.
Goldwyn’s Pictures Corporation—16 East 42nd Street, New York City.
Jewel Productions—1422 Broadway, New York City.
Kleine System—George—729 Seventh Avenue, New York City.
Lincoln & Parker—W 23rd Street, New York City.
Lute, E. G.—130 Park Avenue, New York City.
Metro Pictures Corporation—1470 Broadway, New York City.
Mutual Film Corporation—1929 Broadway, New York City.
Parade Plays, Inc.—1929 Broadway, New York City.
Paramount Pictures Corporation—245 Fifth Avenue, New York City.
Pathe Exchange, Inc.—27 West 49th Street, New York City.
Piedmont Pictures Corporation—139 West 38th Street, New York City.
Rondon Commission—(Luis Reis) 178 West 94th Street, New York City.
Screen Classics—3959 Broadway, New York City.
Selected Pictures Corporation—7209 Seventh Avenue, New York City.
Selig Polyscope Co.—38 East Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.
Sherman Productions—Broadway, New York City.
Shipman, Ernest—17 West 44th Street, New York City.
Triangle Pictures Corporation—1450 Broadway, New York City.
Universal Film Company—400 Broadway, New York City.
U. S. Exhibitors' Booking Co.—Times Building, New York City.
Vitagraph Greater—1904 Broadway, New York City.
W. M. Productions—71 West 26th Street, New York City.
World Film Corporation—120 West 46th Street, New York City.

Interesting Educational Films

One Subject, One Zoological, One Topical and One Travel Subject.

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

"Zuni Kicking Races" (Mutual-Outing-Chester).

The July 21 release of the Outing-Chester pictures through the Mutual Film Corporation brings the spectator in contact with one of the oldest races of the Zunis—the Kicking Races. Here is this interesting race of people live in the pueblo of their forefathers, following in many respects in their footsteps. The kicking race, which is the chief topic of this particular number, gives all the details, from the religious ceremonies, with which it is ushered in, to the finish. In the beginning of the race we are made acquainted with the Zunis and with their chief industry, the making of pottery. There are the clay bowls and the ornamental baking and baking of same is shown. Then we come to the race, which includes betting as keen as at any modern function of the sort. The race concerns the barefoot kicking of a piece of stick perhaps for miles over the cactus covered plains, while other Indians on horseback follow to watch and applaud. An unusually interesting reel.

"Celebrities of the Insect World" (Universal).

In Screen Magazine No. 80 beetles and scarabs and crickets are dealt with. The luminous beetle, one of the most striking of its kind, comes first, drawing attention to its queer habit of "snapping up and disgorging over. The lobes on the back of this insect are responsible for its remarkable radiance, which is sufficient to allow of reading the time on a watch in a darkened room. Male and female of the scarab family are seen, and thirdly the cricket, which is perhaps the most common. He sings by rubbing together his brittle wings. Lastly the walking-stick insect, whose heart is weak, causing him to move slowly, is introduced. He is a strange looking specimen, and is splendidly equipped by nature to foil his enemies.

"May Irwin's Farm" (Universal).

One of the most fascinating subjects in the 80th issue of the Screen Magazine takes us across the island farms of May Irwin. Here, if the picture speaks the truth, she feeds her own chickens, pickles her own peaches, milks her own cows, or some of them, and makes her own butter. Of course, we will assume in the name of wishes of help in keeping up the splendid establishment which is shown in the picture, and one cannot help envying her the milk and cream from those splendid Jersey cows.

"The Isle of Cuba" (General Film).

This excellent number of the Harold H. Horton series of "Travel Impression" gives a clear and interesting idea of modern Cuba. He doesn’t forget to draw attention to the cleanliness of the streets and the good condition of the schools which prevail in some parts of the city previous to Colonel Waring’s regime. Included in the points of interest are Moro Castle, Plaza Emperador and Case de Bonifici. Characteristic features, such as narrow streets and the walking dairy, ornate balconies and massive grilles, are shown. The colonias, or sugar cane plantations, showing the natives at work cutting and loading the sugar cane, are interesting. The towns of Camaguey and Neuvitas are also shown.

Pathé’s Contribution

Second Number of Allied Official War Review Contains Choice Glimpses from Battlefronts.

The Allied Official War Review, which is being handed to the public from the Committee on Public Information through the Pathé exchanges, is well compiled and contains more special interest. The number, opening with desert battleships in the shape of a military camel train crossing the desert, follows up with a view of Italian troops on the march and an Italian artilerie bombardment. It then presents the Italian infantry rushing into battle over shell-swept ground includes also the scaling of a mountain wall. Thousands of Austrians taken prisoners finishes this chapter of the picture. In other episodes they are, however, lacking in initiative and dependent upon their elders for community leadership.

The plea of lack of money is usually advanced for doing nothing. Some of the town leaders hold that the church, town hall, or the public hall should assume the books on the community, and that they can be used for motion pictures. The church is the logical place. Throughout the whole week it graces the landscape with closed doors when it might become the center of the social life of the community and attract the young people nightly for miles around. Your cheerful lighted church may become a beacon and a magnet for idle young people. But how can the money be found for the original investment? Some communities have been known to carry the community how easy it is to raise the five or six hundred dollars necessary to purchase a machine, screen, booth and other equipment. The funds raised locally may be supplemented by gifts of well-to-do persons born in the community, who now have a sentimental interest in their home town. If the home missionary boards and boards of Sunday school work of the different denominations would learn the lesson being taught by the War Council of the Y. M. C. A. in their cantonment work they would cheerfully offer to supplement the funds raised by these country churches. It is possible also for several towns to pool their wealth to share the expense for traveling machines and equipment, and exhibit motion pictures on succeeding nights of the week.

Years ago the story was current that good films did not exist. This may have been true fifteen years ago, but such an absolute falsehood should now be penetrated. The world is full of them now. They rank with the best books in the libraries and the best magazines on the shelves of the Sunday school libraries. Moreover, if a little business ability is displayed these films can be obtained regularly each week from the motion picture exchange. A small investment will enable the selection of such films can be obtained from the National Board of Review for the asking.

A number of widespread country ministers have discovered how powerfully the motion picture can aid them in building up their congregations and have boldly entered this field on the week nights. They have discovered that the initial investment has soon been met by the charges for the shows, and the theater's owners have been able to use for other social purposes. This does not only mean a profit, but it is a money-maker, and is tenfold more profitable than church suppers, with far less expenses. The tarians have now taken to the lead of the Rev. Moses Breeze, the tory of the Presbyterian movement in Ohio, who urges the use of motion pictures as an aid in making effective rural church centers. Fine week day entertainments in the rural districts are turning many a dying rural church into a denominational asset.

The Rivoli Theater Exhibits Pictures Showing Scenes of Military Preparation and Actual Battle.

A SERIES of views along the Piave river exhibited at the Rivoli theater during the week of June 30, give a vivid picture of the way in which the Italians are pursuing the business of war. Through these pictures which were shown through the courtesy of the Italo-North-American-Commercial Union an excellent idea of the marauding approach to the river can be had, and also the dangers which must necessarily attend that portion of Italy when the mountain streams precipitate their overflow into the valley and swell the Piave far beyond its shallow banks.

The scenes include the mounting of big guns on floats on the river, and the hauling of cannon into the interior.
Thrilling glimpses of actual warfare with here and there a man falling to his death the victim of an Austrian shell.
It is said that this is the first time that this particular group of scenes has been publicly exhibited in America.

Items of Interest.

The 82nd release of the Screen Magazine contains the life story of the bull frog presented an interesting detail, and the cutting and transporting of railroad ties obtained in our national forests as its featured subjects. This reel comes with a cartoon comedy by Hy Mayer.

The Educational Films Corporation of America re-issued during the past week two splendid scenes entitled "Wonderful Niagara" and "The Cruise of the Quickernell." The cartoon issue of the week July 7, was also of good quality, and was entitled "War Gardens" which depicts Mamma Katzenjammer being attacked by the family goat while caring for the family beans. The jumping beans devoured by the goat and a few by Mamma K. have peculiar effects.

The Rivoli Animated Magazine for the week of June 30 contained some unusually interesting material including the manufacture of locomotives, Story of the airways, philosophy of cotton, raising wheat instead of cotton, Joffre welcoming Americans in France, and American artillery-men manning a French 400.

GOLDWYN PROUD OF HIS QUINTET OF DIRECTORS.

Goldwyn begins its second releasing year the first week in September with a roster of directors of which it has every reason to be proud. Reginald Barker, Hobart Henley, George Irving, Charles Giblyn and Clarence G.
Badger are five names to conjure with in picture production.
Each is master of his craft.

Reginald Barker, with a brilliant record of achievement in other fields, has come to Goldwyn to direct Geraldine Farrar.
The carefulness of his studied craftsmanship has been shown in the making of this Goldwyn first Goldwyn Picture already developed and shown in the projection room of the Fort Lee studios.

Hobart Henley has gained nationwide fame under the Goldwyn trademark as director of Mae Marsh. Many directors have tried with mediocre success to transmit the elusive, almost intangible personality of this star to the finished film; almost as many have failed. Mr. Hobart Henley has directed three productions for Goldwyn, all with signal success. His first, "The Floor Below," a Mabel Normand starring vehicle, though highly successful everywhere, was almost entirely a success popularly by the same name was presented to the public, "The Venus Model," just now at the height of its run throughout the country. Following these two he directed Madge Kennedy's new picture, "Friend Husband," now completed and released August 11.
Mr. Badger, a former newspaper man, brought to his work for the screen the sense of story values inherent in the work of men who write for metropolitan journals together with a keen sense of the dramatic and a grasp of the comic possibilities of a script.

Charles Giblyn, now Goldwyn's new director for Mabel Normand in "Back to the Woods" following an emi-ently successful career in the service of other producing companies. Goldwyn is certain his work in this production will prove to the many thousands of his admirers his technical skill that no mistake was made in selecting him to supervise it.

Charles Giblyn's enviable record with other stars promises to be further enhanced by his work with Tom Moore, Goldwyn's newest star. The exciting robust and masculine star has made for this company. To the thouands who know Mr. Giblyn's work it is enough to say that he has surpassed his best in this production.

Mastbaum Memorial Dedicated

Late Exhibitor's Friends Attend Services at the Hospital
Structure Which Will Shelter Ten Tubercular Patients.

In the presence of hundreds of persons prominent in the motion picture and theatrical world, the Stanley V. Mastbaum Memorial Building was dedicated Sunday, June 23, at Eaglesville, near Norristown, Pa. Tributes to the late Mr. Mastbaum as a man and a friend were paid by the speakers during the simple but impressive service.

Judge M. Patterson, the principal speaker, told of his friendship for Mr. Mastbaum. "Stanley Mastbaum, a great friend and a great worker, represented work and good fel-such was the memory," said Judge Patterson. "The honor that has long been renowned for its power in the education of the people, but this man saw the possibility of spreading that influence even further through the medium of moving pictures. In every way he stood for the production of decent photoplays, and did all within his power to perfect this industry.

"Many of his hidden charities will never be known, he wont about his work quietly, leaving a trail for others to follow. Unfortunately he died before he reached the meridian of his accomplishments, but usefulness is measured by deeds and not by years, and this building dedicated to his memory is proof that hidden virtues will never die."

Lawrence D. Beggs, chairman of the memorial committee, presented the building to the Board of Trustees of the institute, and President Louis Gerstler on behalf of the board, made a speech of acceptance. The dedication of the building was made by State Senator Edwin H. Vare and Richard J.
Beamish. The services were opened with an invocation by Rev. Keon H. Emalah, and several musical numbers were offered by the Stanley theater orchestra.

Before the dedicatory exercises a bronze tablet, bearing this inscription, was unveiled: "In memory of Stanley V.
Mastbaum, citizen of Philadelphia, director of the institute, many years a valued and prominent friend of the Union.
Mastbaum Memorial Building, funds for which were obtained through Mr. Mastbaum's friends, will be used as a men's infirmary. The committee which had the funds in charge consisted of Mr. Mastbaum's crack squad, Abe Sablosky, Abe Salchosky, John McGuirk, Frank W. Buhrer, Charles
Segall, Louis Sablosky and C. J. Cunningham.

The new building has accommodations for ten patients.
The rooms are large and cheerful and there are recreation rooms and sleeping porches. It is equipped with the most modern medical appliances for the treatment of tuberculosis.
Memorial services will be held at the sanatorium April 1,
Mr. Mastbaum's birthday.

Milton Sills Leading Man for Farrar.

Goldwyn's intention to surround Farrar with all-star casts in each of her Goldwyn productions is given further proof with the news that Milton Sills will be Miss Farrar's leading man in her second starring vehicle "Deep Purple." The man
Mr. Sills will arrive in New York this week from Caliifornia ready for work, having just finished an engagement with Clara Kimball Young. His screen career has been one of unbroken successes.

A year ago he led the starting man in "The Honor System," a most successful production, and immediately thereafter was engaged as leading man in the widely exploited serial "Patria." He also has appeared in "The Deep Purple," "Chasms," "The Fringe of Society" and "Struggle Everlasting."

The engagement of Mr. Sills was made by Samuel Goldfish on his recent trip to California. It adds to the Goldwyn roster one more well known name of the theatre and screen.
Advertising for Exhibitors

Conducted by EPES WINTHROP SARGENT

House Signatures.

Trade marks are considered to be of such value that the governments of the nations provide special protection for them, yet few theaters take the trouble to design a special signature for their house names, and yet the house signature can be made an advertising factor of the utmost value. Don't be in too much of a hurry to adopt a signature. Take it easy. Have several made, and try them out before deciding upon the one you shall use permanently, but once you have decided upon a design proceed to put it on everything. Paint it over the house, and again on the glass of the box-office window, place it upon the entrance and exit doors, upon your stationery, have horse blankets made if you use a street wagon, and have cuts made in all sizes from half an inch to the width of a three-sheet if you use them. Keep the signature so prominent that the very outline will suggest the house. It will make money for you by bringing business, and it will save money by reducing the size of the display necessary to get the house name over in an advertisement. If you have the right sort of a signature you can get as good a display from a half-inch cut as you can by putting the same name in inch letters in regular type, and the half-inch display will not be so wide and will be more readily recognized. Your house is more profitable to you than any one film. Spend as much money in getting a proper signature as you would upon a single release. It will bring a far larger return. Go to a first class artist instead of a slick printer, but make certain that the design you accept is as plain as would be the work of the lesser artist, for the primary requirement is legibility in all sizes and under all conditions.

Ruff Did It.

Everyone is getting tired of seeing Bill Hart with two guns in his hands, but about the only way to get a picture of him without guns is to photograph the back of his neck or to sneak up on him in the bath tub. Ralph Ruffner did manage to get hold of a picture showing him using a cross cut saw, but that was only good for one picture, and to advertise "Selfish Yates" he used Hill's boots, which are as characteristic as his guns and a lot newer to readers of advertising. The other half of the cut shows Ruff's last effort in Portland with a reverse cut for the title balancing the signature at the head of the display. The two scene cuts do not mean much, but when few scene cuts ever do or will until manufacturers get men who can turn out decent advertising material for their press departments.

An N. O. Program.

Maurice F. Barr, of the Strand, New Orleans, one of the Sauger houses got out a special cover for the program to announce the coming of "My Four Years in Germany," with a picture of the former ambassador and caricatures of the Kaiser and the Crown Prince. The program is a sixteen and cover, but the program proper is badly cramped, the house getting but an inch and a half or two inches to each 8%4-inch type page. Even at the cost of hurting some advertiser's feelings enough space should be taken to get the program for a day on a single page, instead of two or more. In theory, at least, the program is for the convenience of the patron and not for the advertiser. Here the advertiser gets the best of it, though the underline readers are given straight pages in the back part of the issue. There is a puzzle page with prizes for answers that is supposed to keep the program in demand, but with so much space at command we think the program could be made much more interesting at no greater expense. It keeps too much to the advertising end—both its own and trade advertising.

Waiting For Ruff.

A. A. Bruce, of the Riutlo, Butte, Montana, writes that he is filling in as advertising man waiting the arrival of Ralph Ruffner, who is to replace J. C. Raligh. He sends in a couple of examples of his work. One of these is a seven-fourteens and the other four-seventeens. The latter is for The Spirit of '17. It is a fine example of sketchy lettering. It does not seem to belong to the title at all, but to be some sort of ornamentation. Everybody is doing this particular style of unreadable lettering, so Mr. Irwine is by no means alone, but custom does not make the lettering good and sixty-four column inches of space that does not give a legible title is thrown away. The Pickford advertisement is better, but the lettering is partly shadowed by sketch design. There is a lack of selling argument in this space. It is announced that "In his story Hrot Harte made Millis a wild, harum-scarum girl with a spirit as proud and undaunted as a prairie munter." That may be interesting, but what Miss Pickford makes of her is what the audience is interested in. Nothing is said about that. The layouts are well done, but there is needed some selling talk, even with the best layouts, but Mr. Irwine is not an advertising man, but assistant manager, and he has done very well for a starter.

Thrown In.

The Index, the house organ of the Penray, Martin's Ferry, Ohio, gets a red, white and blue cover for the showing of My Four Years in Germany. It looks unusually good, but the inside is still shy any column rules. A late idea is a half page on the inside back cover giving a list of advertisers with "These are the progressive business houses that enable us to give you this service. Please patronize them." As the address and line of trade is given as well as the name, it serves as a business directory. The idea is a good one where you have a large program with many advertisers. The trade directory alone is a good scheme where you have only a four-pager and cannot get more than a couple of dollars a month from any particular advertiser.

Start It Right.

The First National Publicity sent out a flimsy commenting upon the experience of an exhibitor who opened My Four Years in Germany to 1,245 persons and increased gradually to 2,224 on Friday, with 4,932 on Saturday. We do not think this so good a showing as the First National does. With an apparent capacity in excess of four thousand on the day, we think that the figures should have topped half that on the opening and have gone on to at least 3,000 for the remainder of the week. Had the subject been properly circumsized we think this would have been the case and need only point to the campaign of 8.
Barret McMorrileck with the same offering. He started off on the jump and played to more people than the city is credited with by the census.

That's advertising. Playing to only 45 per cent of the town is letting the dim see most of its own advertising after the opening.

Works For Both.

A. L. Middleton pretty well covers the science of advertising in sending a full-page display in the local paper. Mr. Middleton runs the Queen theater in De Queen, Ark., and his wives:

I know right now you are going to say, "Entirely too much copy, my boy—in fact, a plenty for two pages the size of this."

But you must remember this—a county weekly paper—the only paper read by a large majority of the people I want to reach with my newspaper advertising, and that they read every word in the BEE and then read it over again—advertisements and all, for it's a week until they have anything to read again.

Advertising in a local county weekly paper is not like advertising in the big metropolitan dailies.

There, where there is so much to read and the people who get it have so little time to read that only something that stands out with a PUNCH is noticed, but here they read, as I say, every word.

At any rate I figure my Amusement Herald should carry a more pointed and shorter message to the people in town who would probably not read any kind of an ad in the Bee, while I try to reach the rural prospect with a simple—no matter how long—article that will appeal to them, and it finds its mark and brings home the bacon.

We were not going to say too much copy, for we know that the farmer reads his weekly paper religiously. It would be entirely too much for some one, but we have frequently commented upon Mr. Middleton's Herald. But between his own Herald and the local paper he gets both classes of possible patrons just as Steve Pfarra gets his crowd with a

The three ads from our Family theater include one three-column display, which we usually use in advertising the opening of a three-day bill. The smaller ones are two styles: we would like to have you tell us which you think the best to use for follow-up advertising after the first two days. He was at Camp Wheeler, Ga., but by this time has probably been advanced to one of the "blue" circuit houses, which play only the largest attractions. He does not have to do as much advertising, but it takes real managing to run a camp theater, and his advancement shows that he has made good.

Good Advice.

The Lucas Theater Supply House, Atlanta, has been sending out cards printed up

What you do
DO IT

We think that most managers who not one of them sent it up to the operator to hang up, but one should be hung over the desk at which the manager himself plans the advertising.

Organ Prices.

Now another small house is installing a $30,000 pipe organ. This is a comedown from the usual $50,000 installation, but we think that the $30,000 is not all in cash. Why is it necessary to exaggerate so?
Moore Tarzan.

Here is the way Tom Moore, of Washington, thinks a lobby should be displayed for Tarzan of the Apes. He did not turn the job over to his property man, but hired one of the local florists to get up the display, and Washington florists of the right sort have had such experience in decorating for state receptions that they can do almost anything. This is an exceptionally well-plied lobby, and the grotto decoration is well carried out. The monks are from Waymont's animal act, a well known vaudeville specialty. One of them acts as ticket-taker, following the lead of the New York presentation. A jungle setting was used for the space, preserved palms being worked in with the painted cloths to get a good effect.

Don't Waste It.

Even though it may cost only ten cents an inch advertising space is too valuable to waste. Don't clutter it up with foolish cuts and ornamental work or try to paint pictures with type metal. Do not take a whole page if you have only half a page to say, and be brief and to the point even in the half page. On the other hand do not crowd a page into half the space. In any case, exhibitors think that taking a full page in the last word in advertising elegance, and they let the take the page when they have not that much to say, and then fill it as full of other material that is even the page is too small.

Special for Gerard

1. L. Goldberg, of the Big Feature Hiights Corp. Louisvillie, sends in a special extra written for "My Four Years in Germany," and adds that "It seems to be an effective medium for advertising patriotic and timely features." It is a single sheet about 11x25, the front page top of which is reproduced here. The extra is by no means new, but it is timely for present work, though it is more effective when run in four or eight pages and when the front page has more the semblance of a half page than the copy is well prepared, but it is too palpably an advertisement to lose its full effect, though as it stands it makes good advertising.

Used the Eclipse.

Old-timers will remember Harry E. Gardner, of Colorado Springs, who used to send in ideas some time ago. Then Mr. Gardner started to manage the Princess in that town and stopped writing, but he has broken his silence at last, and now, perhaps, he'll keep on writing again. Mr. Gardner arranged with a local photographer to send a man to Simla, where the circle where scientists had decided that the eclipse would be made clear. It so happened that clouds obscured the sun in Colorado Springs all the afternoon and nothing was seen of the eclipse, but a copy of the afternoon's paper came out with this announcement as a part of a four-eleven:

With characteristic forethought and determination to always show the very latest and best pictures, regardless of the cost, the management of the PRINCESS THEATER in Colorado Springs decided to obtain a copy of the Simla, Colo., where pictures showing the PROGRESS OF THE ECLIPSE were made. This is a distinct achievement in long-distance photography, photographs an object estimated by scientists to be MANY MILLIONS MILES AWAY.

These views will be shown exclusively at the PRINCESS THEATER MORROW AND TUESDAY. The astronomers calculated the date of the eclipse to the second, but on account of cloudy weather yesterday, the showing in Colorado Springs was postponed until tomorrow at the PRINCESS.

No advance notice was given and the copy for the Sunday issue was not sent until ten o'clock Saturday evening, when the negatives had been developed and it was certain that there would be pictures to show. Also the delay prevented the possibility of some amateur negatives. The ten pictures shown were later made into postcards from which we reproduce the set. The result was a scoop and a big business, for those who missed the actual eclipse were anxious to see it in photography at least. The pictures might easily have been faked, but they really are genuine pictures of the event, and it was a bit of real enterprise to offer them to patrons the following day.

Get the Prices.

The Crescent, Belzoni, Miss., sends in a card for comment, the chief feature of which is the scale of prices; twenty cents for children under twelve and forty cents for all others. The card is an announcement of a special feature, and though poorly printed, the copy is well prepared and it will more than do its work. It runs:

On next Friday, June 12th, we are offering an excellent Photoplay, "THE LIGHT AT DUSK."

The story of a man who narrated everything and removed every obstacle aside that he might gain fame and riches, but the way in which he went to see a great opportunity to do a Exllllliru. and repeat makes this production one of the classics of the screen.

We have personally seen this picture, and we watch for it that it is an offering you will enjoy until the very last scene. We will be delighted if you will honor us with your presence.

First show begins 9:30 sharp, second 9:45 P.M.

Very truly yours,

THE CRESCENT THEATER.

Admission — Children under 12 years, 20 cents; adults, 30 cents.

We like the tone of the announcement. It tells something of the picture, and tells also that the management has seen it and knows it to be good. We think that the card, simple as it is, will pull more than a very good show on an afternoon, with superiorities. When you can talk to your patrons that way and gain their confidence, you can get the prices you ask because they will be convinced.

HELP FOR THEATRE MANAGERS

Picture Theatre Advertising

By EPEs WUnTHROP, ARGENlT (Conductor of Advertising for Exhibitors in the Moving Picture World)

TEXT BOOK and a HAND BOOK. It tells all about advertising, printing and paper, how to frame your newspaper advertisements, posters or throw-away cards, how to make your house an advertisement, how to get mailer business, special schemes for hot weather and so many days. Practical plans that have helped others and will help you.

By mail, postpaid, $2.00. Order from nearest office.

Moving Picture World, 516 Fifth Avenue, New York

Schrier Building
Wright & Callendar Building
Chicago, Ill.

Los Angeles, Cal.
Manufacturers' Notice.

It is an established rule of this department that no apparatus or other goods will be endorsed or recommended editorially until the excellence of such articles has been demonstrated to its editor.

Important Notice.

Owing to the mass of matter swatting publication, it is impossible to reply through the department in less than two to three weeks. In order to give good service, A. C. will endeavor to place one order at a time, without delay. Special replies by mail on matters which cannot be replied to in a single number.

Both the first and second set of questions are now ready and printed in next booklet form, the second half being七十-six in number. In the second set, a sound photographic shutter of better quality than the one used in the editor, or both for 40 cents. Cannot use Canadian stamps. Every five, progressive operator should get a copy of these questions. You may be surprised at the number you cannot answer without a lot of study.

A. C. and the Three-Shutter.

From the West comes the following:

Will you kindly explain just the disadvantage of using a three-shutter on A. C., as against a two-winger? Is there any big difference? As I understand it, with a 2-winger speed 551 is made; with a three-winger, 551 there will at times be a flash or glare of light on the screen. Is there a pulsating effect of light and darkness also? My situation is this: Am using a Baird projector with a three-winger. I have been able to trim about 15 per cent of the original shutter blade off without travel ghost, but seem to get a pulsating effect. I am, however, inclined to attribute this to the arc itself, due to fluctuating line voltage, because at times it is as steady and clear as with direct current. Of course the really right thing to do would be to install A. C., owing to speed of Baird shutter, which equals, in effect, the three-winger shutter of other projectors. A. C. is, however, out of the question, and was wondering: If we replace the shutter in effect by getting into a slower shutter gear and a shutter adapted to A. C. This expense would be $20.

Another thing: I am using an Edison transformer on 110 volts. Have a special pole transformer. By "special" I mean that no one takes current through it. The juice is 50 cycles. Would it tend to brighten my film to change to 2-cycle current and get this right sort of transformer? In other words, do you consider the transformer as being equal to the Fredly and other makes? As you can see, I know but little about these matters and have come to the conclusion that you are the only one who can put me right. I am using one encave-convex lens next the arc, with an ordinary plano-convex outside, 6.5 and 7.5. Believe with steady light I would get along all right. Business in this place will not justify installation of current-regulating apparatus.

As to the transformer, the Edison is an excellent device. It is not quite as convenient to handle as making current changes as some of the others, but electrically it is O. K. Changing to 110 volts would have no effect in so far as screen brilliancy be concerned, and it is easier to handle. If the trouble is due to unsteady line voltage you might get better results from the 220, since the fluctuation may be due to overload on one side of the system. But this seems hardly probable, as the line voltage is 220, unless you are using a lot of current for your theater. Your Edison transformer will handle 220, however, so the making of the change would not cost you anything, and if they will make a trial installation of a 220-volt transformer you could easily determine the matter.

As to the shutter, here is the dope: You have a handbook. Turn to page sixteen. Study the action of A. C. You will observe that the current fluctuates from zero voltage (no voltage at all) to maximum voltage 120 times per second with 60-cycle current; 100 times with yours. This means that 100 times per second your current value is zero and the crater brilliancy is maintained merely by its own heat. But it is not maintained at maximum brilliancy. Alternating current illumination is never as brilliant as that of true direct. It is really a series of brilliant flashes and comparative dullness. True, the action is so rapid with 60-cycle, or even with 50-cycle current, that to the ordinary eye it is entirely invisible. But if by any method we could place an opaque shade in front of the crater and remove it when the voltage is at zero, and keep doing this, we would instantly discern the difference, since we would then get only the brilliancy due to the crater brilliancy at its point of lowest temperature. And that is exactly what may happen. But the effect would be obtained only when the projector is run at a certain speed, so that the shutter blades are timed to synchronize with the alternations, and that speed could hardly be maintained for any considerable period of time. The least change in speed in either generator or projector would operate to throw the shutter and alternations out of time. This, however, is true of any three-wing "flashing" effect, which is really a rather rapid change from bright to dull, or very vice versa. In 50-cycle current and a three-wing shutter we have the following: At 60 feet per minute the shutter blades cut light 2,880 times per minute. Time lights at 100 times this speed. Suppose you say? Right, but one-half of that is 3,000, and you can easily, by just a bit of change in speed, or a bit of change of speed of the power-house generator, get into synchronization with our conditions, which is sufficient to give the effect in very pronounced manner.

Perhaps. When the expert has been given understanding of what is working satisfactorily, very slowly increase the speed of projection. If you don't get the effect, then try decreasing. If you get it, try it two or three times, and if speed change brings on the trouble, you have nailed Mr. Difficulty. Remedy: Avoid speed which will synchronize or get the gears you speak of, though the two-winger will give much more trouble. If you are using a Baird projector, change speed very slowly and watching very closely, then the trouble lies elsewhere and you had best try the 220 volts. Possibly the advent of the new Westinghouse low-priced mercury arc rectified and the new low-priced Brico converter may bring current-regulating apparatus within your reach.

Spherical Aberration Useful.

John Griffiths, Ansonia, Connecticut, to whom I give credit as being, in my humble opinion, the best posed man in this country in the optical line of the projector, says:

You may possibly remember what I said some time ago about spherical aberration being useful in smoothing out the light at the aperture, friend Soler being the only one who seemed to agree with me at that time. Do you know why the corrugated lens used with the Mazda gives a more even illumination at the screen than does than other types? It is for the simple reason that it has more spherical aberration and breaks up the image of the filament more effectively.

Granting this to be true, provided the film plane be in advance of the ghost area, what "evening up" is there to be accomplished with the arc lamp beam; also, do not the ill effects of spherical aberration more than counterbalance its advantages? Lastly, is there any right intensity in the ray? Mind you, I am not certain as to just how far I am right in assuming there is very little to be broken up in the light ray, at the correct film plane. Perhaps there is considerable, but I shall continue to think it is not so much as you suppose until it is proven otherwise. Of course if the crater be in actual focus at the film plane, then I grant your contention without question, but the crater must NOT be in focus at that point, and I have been much interested in the possibility of so much advancing the crater focusing position beyond the film plane that considerable light loss through divergence of the ray can be overcome. Personally, I think the thing is impractical for two reasons, but it might be possible to sidestep the objections, viz.: ghost and increase beam diameter at film plane.

But, anyhow, it may be cheerfully conceded that the Mazda sets up an entirely different proposition, and, as applied to that, I can see possibilities in spherical aberration for good. I have been the advocate of a condenser corrected for spherical aberration, and have been watching closely for practical methods of insurance against the aforesaid breakage, mostly to that end. I shall not be satisfied that I am in error until it is proven by a practical demonstration that my position is wrong.

Department Editor Honored.

As previously set forth in the editorial pages of another issue, the editors of this department are to be proud that Frank Richardson, Secretary of the Association of Moving Picture Operators of Argentina, South America, by the Board of Directors in session in the city of Buenos Aires on May 5th.

Accompanying the notification of appointment was the statement that "the entire membership approved the appointment," and other very kind remarks. I am happy to add that the Association is giving this its kind in all Latin America; also larger than any in Spain itself. It is indeed gratifying to know that I have won so high a place in the esteem of our Spanish-speaking brothers. The Association corre-
A Question of Wage.

John Nazei, New York City, writes thusly:

Recently I inserted an advertisement reading: "Expert operator wants out-of-town position where good service will be appreciated." The offer was accepted by a company, etc., by the exhibitor astonished that the man was a woman. I advised her to the country, preferably into the mountains. I received about a dozen offers of a position, of which the one enclosed is the best! No wonder they cannot secure operators for out of town if they offer such wages.

The offer enclose came from the capital city of Pennsylvania. After asking several questions as to how long the applicant had been in the business, etc., the exhibitor says: "Salary, if you are thoroughly satisfied, French for the time being. The answer came about a week later, several times more. They have asked for a good, first-class electrician and a man who 'thoroughly understands projection' for the sum of twenty dollars a week, when an electrician of that class receives four, five and six dollars a day, with steady work; too, and Jobs in plenty. Let it be very clearly understood that this department has no sympathy with projectionists in small towns demanding extravagant wages. It may be emphatically stated that no small town is going to, or can, pay salaries which the large city exhibitor can directly afford to be paid. Living expenses in small towns are not nearly so high as in large cities. Even in these times of huge inflated living cost I would say that twenty dollars ought to be a fair figure for the small town projectionist. But in a city of the size of the one I am in, payable in five dollars a week. If I know of at this time—in cities I mean. There seems to be an impression among exhibitors that the laborers for whom and its editor are demanding the same remuneration for projectionists in cities, towns and hamlets. That is absurd. It is ridiculous. We demand for the projectionist such remuneration as will allow the classiest in each respective community, but this may and will vary widely in different sizes of different size; also in different sections of the country.

If we were to use in a City Directory the following in this discussion twenty-five dollars should, in these times, be a minimum, with thirty for first-class men, but that would be for a PROJECTIONIST— not a projectionist-house-electrician-janitor-bill-poster combination.

Brightening Up Old Film.

The Princess Film Corporation, Malone, New York, asks:

Will you kindly advise as to what is best solution for brightening up and prolonging the life of used film? also to keep it moist and flexible.

There were a number of films renovating solutions on the market at one time, but whether they are still in business in these troublous times I do not know. If they are still in existence I have a nearest local is at New Orleans, which is 117 miles from here. Am working at No. 3 theater, with two Power's 6-B projectors, but have to work with a New York City order, 1000, 24-ft., expired, tried moving my lamp house backward and forward, but it seems to be the same at any position.

You would consider the projection of the nearest local to you, but must reside within its jurisdiction for six months before you are eligible to membership. Anyhow you might find trouble pertaining the union examination. Your condenser breakage is not to be cured by "moving the lamp house backward and forward." It may be improper mounting of the lenses. Get some thin sheet asbestos and place strips in the holder so that the lens will not touch metal at any point. It may be due to overheated carbons, with consequent excessive flaming. Roughly quite obvious. Get correct size carbons for your lampcase (see page 287 of Handbook). It may be due to wrong focal length condenser lenses, which place the arc too close to the lens (see chart March 17, 1918). It may also be due to poor quality of lamp house (condensed vent lenses) which sets up excessive heat inside the lamp house. It may be due to wrongly placed fan in projection room, or to poor ventilation against which you have given no data. You have given me no data. You have given me no data. How can I help you? To merely write saying "something is wrong, what is it." Is not productive of intelligent reply. It is always better to give too much data than too little. In this case I have given the focal length of condenser lenses, amperage, kind of current and size of carbons at least.

New and Excellent Instruction Book.

J. H. Hallberg, consulting engineer for the United Theater Equipment Corporation, has submitted to this department for examination what he describes as the complete book which will be issued to date work operators of the motor generator set. The book is for the use of Hallberg motor equipment engineers. It has 42 pages, the printed space thereon being 3½ x 5 inches. The printing is legible and correct, an excellent matter, and is intended for the use of those who are familiar with the motor generator sets. A postcard to J. H. Hallberg, United Theater Equipment Corporation, New York, is all that is required to secure a copy, and it is of service.

MOTION PICTURE HANDBOOK

For Managers and Operators

By F. H. Richardson

The recognized standard book on the work of management and operation. Complete detailed instructions on all equipment and operating equipment.

MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Baltimore News, 515 Film Avenue, Wright & Caufield Blvd., Chicago, Ill.; New York City; Los Angeles, Cal.

To save time, order from nearest office.
QUESTIONS regarding music, addressed to this department, will receive a carbon copy of the department's reply by mail, when it is possible to do so. Special replies by mail on matters which cannot be answered in this column $1.00.

The Proper Presentation of Pictures Musically—Natural and Unnatural Endings.

NOTHING gives the finish to an orchestral setting like clear endings and clean attacks. And on the other hand, nothing try the patience of the patrons so sorely as the chopping off of the music in the middle of a measure and commencing the new number on an extraneous key. The science of picture fitting has advanced materially in this respect, and almost all large orchestras and many of the smaller combinations make it a point to secure without a perceptible break.

When the picture is accompanied by a special musical score there should be no interruption and few endings in the playing of it providing the arrangement knows what he was doing. Key sequence is followed with suitable modulations to join non-related keys. The score provides the only adequate musical setting from the standpoint of perfect continuity.

It is nearly impossible to select music suitable for certain scenes and at the same time with key sequence when those numbers must be picked from a published library. There is sure to be a clashing of harmonies unless the piece be accurately timed to finish on a given phrase which has a cadence relative to the following number. Accurate timing depends largely upon the coordination of the score with the picture and the frequency of the labors of the musical director are lost through the careless manipulation of the operating machines.

Assumes the characteristic tempo of a selection is changed to fit the duration of the scene. This musical distortion of the worst kind, and should be frowned upon by all those who profess a true love of the art of music.

Recently a musical director was called upon to fit a feature hurriedly, and, with a supercilious bravado, exclaimed, "It is no trouble to fit pictures. Pick out any old number and play it according to the action and tempo of your picture." We wonder how he would adapt a Spanish habenero to an interior scene showing a fond mother putting her child to bed.

We know some leaders that time every item in their library as they buy it, marking the duration in minutes and seconds upon the outside of the piano cover. This is a good practice and wonderfully helpful in selecting music that do not select our music from the standpoint of time only. Its adaptability and appropriateness must first be considered. The tendency is to pick out cut-aways perhaps a bit of music. This is an insult to the composer, and an affront to the musicians who are to be found in your audience.

To consider your cue is important, but it should not take precedence over a smooth change of music. It is always better to over-run the cue in finding a phrase upon which you can finish on the cadence than to sacrifice continuity and outrage the ears of your auditors by an abrupt break. A cadence frequently suggests itself as a possible ending just before a cue appears. If it be taken and held, with a slow diminuendo and the succeeding number be picked up pp, it gives a smoothness that detracts nothing from the picture.

The leaders of some of the smaller orchestral combinations have trained their players to finish on the tonic chord of every selection and make them hold it until the signal is given to start the new one. As the cue to change draws near the leader taps his music rack, which indicates that he is about to finish the number. He slows up the tempo, and as he comes to the end of the phrase he signals the orchestra to cut to the last chord. The only objection to this method is the tapping of the music rack. The sharp staccato sound thus made is a greater screen detractor than a bad pause, so that, although he effects a smooth change, he defeats the primary purpose intended. However, this mode of procedure is to be highly recommended if the tapping can be eliminated.

There is yet another way to gain smoothness of sequence in picture setting which, so far as we have been informed, has not been tried. We claim it as a child of our brain, and offer it as a suggestion to those theaters that have large and somewhat unwieldy orchestras. It cannot be used effectively with every number because of the nature of the instrument, but when occasion arises to use such selections as "Liebestod," excerpts from "Parseval," "Othello," or parts of large suites or symphonies (where there is no stopping place) the plan might be found of some value.

The idea consists of a series of original endings, eight or sixteen measures in length, and written without any definite melody, but based solely on a chord construction which would fit into almost any number of the same or relative key. The best results could be obtained from three forms, viz; arpeggio, sustained chords, or color figures, with possible pauses.

Fig. 1, as shown below, will give an idea of the arpeggio form of an eight bar phrase (the last bar being omitted to conserve space) which could be used with any number, allegretto in character, and in the keys of D maj, G maj, or A maj. It would also be possible to attach it to one written in B minor if care were used in connecting the selection proper with the proposed ending.

You will note the excellence of the bass progression, as well as the neutral figure which serves as a melody. With a roll towards the finish this ending can be made most adaptable. Of course this piano illustration would be arranged for orchestra, and should receive a number for filing purposes. Although marked Allegretto tempo it could be used to finish pieces marked Andantino, Moderato or Andante Con Moto. Its parts should appear similar to Fig. 2, and should be pinned or attached to the phrase at a point where the leader expects to finish. Although the melody figures might not remotely resemble that found in the original ending the finale would be decent and complete.

The sustained chord form can be utilized in much the same manner, but the writer's ingenuity will be taxed heavier to accommodate a truly musical phrase. The third form, which we have called color figures—for the want of something better—is probably the most effective and by all means the easiest to evolve, as can be seen by analyzing Fig. 3. This form can be made doubly effective when written for a special piece of music, as such as Rubinstein's Unfinished Symphony. Here you find the dominant melody figure as shown in Fig. 4, can be used as the basis of Fig. 5, and attached to almost any part of this number, making a suitable ending.

The "Liebestod" of Wagner is another excellent example to experiment upon. How effective an original ending based upon the thematic treatment of this piece would prove! Frequently your scene forces you to stop at the letter N, which is a bad break requiring a finale to Music at the Rialto.

During the week of June 30 Mr. S. L. Rothafel offered one of the biggest bills for the music that we have seen in New York Pictureland. It was not that there were more numbers than usual, but each number stood out as a feature in itself and at the same time blended so well into a composite whole. Mr. Rothafel is only human and is prone to err once in a while, but when he gives us a programme of such excellence he is instantly forgiven for those little sins of omission and consequence.

The Overture—Capriccio Italian by Tschaikowsky—was beautifully rendered by the Rialto Symphony Orchestra under the direction of the incomparable Herbert Keels. Mr. Rothafel knows the human heart and gets out of it everything obtainable.

The best scene showing the island of Cuba in all its picturequeness. The music selected for this was of Spanish atmosphere and made you feel as if you were actually present among the palms and the queer people of the Cuban Isle.

Miss Annie Rosset followed with an aria from "La Forza Del Destino." This opera of Verdi's is seldom heard though it merits a prominent place in the galaxy of famed works. Miss Rosset showed to excellent advantage in this number. She is gaining poise, and never have we heard better vocalization from this talented singer. The selection of this solo was a happy one, as it linked the scenic with the Animated Weekly, which dealt so much with the Italian troops and their good works. Mr. Rothafel divided his Weekly into A and B numbers. The first number illustrated the Italian Invasion and the second the battle with the Spanish forces. These pictures were taken by the official cinematographers of the Royal Italian Army in a territory along the Plave River, where the Italians have just inflicted such a crushing defeat upon the Austrian forces. They are shown here through the courtesy of the Italo-North-American-Commercial-Union, official agents for the Italian government. As "The French Mob" from Illegato was well sung by Carlos Mejia. This young man is new to us, but his stage presence and posture, on such subject carried the storm. His voice is light, but very sweet, and the easy manner which he uses is distinctly pleasing.

The feature called "The Claws of the Hun" was well played, principally by the orienatals. Our friend Arthur Depew officiated at the camera, and any picture is in good hands when he has charge of it. The Vitrola, playing "Over There" from back stage, was admirably timed and worked out in exact synchrony. This is a new development in picture playing that is fast coming to the fore as a pleasing innovation.

Selections from "Miss Springtime" were played as an Entr'acte with brother Fiston wielding the baton. His predilection is to dynamic effects, which spoil his musicianship and destroys his interpretation. There is enough noise in the pitioral without dragging it into a spot where it does not belong. Tempo should be well defined at the beginning of each new movement, not four measures afterwards.

The Comedy and the organ solo closed the show.

American Federation of Musicians.

The American Federation of Musicians held their twenty-third annual convention in Chicago recently, when the constitution, by-laws, and standing resolutions were amended and ratified by that body. Con mencing May 15 and lasting a week it was in all respects and from all angles the most successful, the most important, and the most beneficial of such conventions. This was not surprising, as the Chicago convention had the benefit of the experience gained in the twenty-two which preceded it.

No time was wasted in useless parliamentary camouflage nor was debate needlessly restricted: every delegate had a full and fair opportu

Masonic Suggestion Synopsis.

LET'S GET A DIVORCE (Paramount—Five Reels)—Theme—Moderato. Suggest "Till Think" from "The Rainbow Girl" by Hirsch, "Chiffonnette"—Atbertron or "Baby Sweetheart's Serenade."—Corri.

The picture is somewhat light, but you will find it most appropriate and you will have a chance to use Tosti's "Good-bye." If you deem it advisable, to couple the number filed with "The End of Sunday" beginning at the cue "But Spring Cannot Last." Close the picture with the theme. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Paramount Exchange.

This is an amusing comedy drama with a New England atmosphere. The opening is very sad, but beginning with the "T—The End of Sunday," light music can be used to contrast the gloomy opening. You will need a popular Two-step and a joyous Allegro. Two songs are some children scenes that require counter melodies. For your music being generally light will present difficulties in properly portraying them. Cue sheets can be obtained from the World Film Exchange.

SAY, YOUNG FELLOW (Paramount—Five Reels)—Theme unnecessary. This is one of the usual fire and dash comedies of Douglas Fairbanks fils. He does the usual hair-raising stunts and the action is fast throughout. Light music will be required with some special numbers that are almost direct cues. In the second reel you will need either "School Days" by Edwards or "I Can't Do That Sum" from Victor Herbert's "Babes in Toyland." Fairbanks has a habit of whistling "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms," which occurs in the second and third reels. It is suggested that the orchestra stop playing and allow the piccolo to play it as a solo, synchronizing it to the theme. Therefore, you will need a piccolo, a harp and an obligato to meet the picture demands. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Paramount Exchange.

TANGLED LIVES (Paramount—Three Reels)—Theme—Moderato. Suggest "Silent Sorrows"—Borch, "Elysium"—Speaks, or "Eve'spoint, was due to the masterful handling of the routine by the presiding officer. Lieut. John Phillip Sousa was present with a consolidated band of five hundred instrumentalists and assisted at the flag raising which took place on the lake. The band started "The Star Spangled Banner" as Old Glory was unfurled to the breeze. The twenty thousand people present, reverently and with unceasing applause, joined in the chorus which was indeed inspiring, and showed the true patriotic feeling which prevailed in that immense assemblage.

This year the A. F. of M. is moving forward in progressive lines and eliminating the dead wood which clutters up the machinery of adequate service. These laws that have stood the test of time and experience are retained, but the resolutions are adapted to fit new conditions that arise from time to time. It is not the intention of the A. F. of M. to regard these amendments as permanent. For many exequies arise that must be handled by the local board of directors that wide scope is given to the discretion of the executive board when a ruling or amendment is needed. In this country, the national committee puts it into resolution form to be voted into the constitution if deemed advisable.

This book has been brought into the American Federation of Musicians on the official program, and before has there been that keenness of purpose that so marked the proceedings of the twenty-third convention, and never before has the future held so many promising good things for the American Federation of Musicians.

Leader's Service Bureau.

Questions Answered—Suggestions Offered.

What is meant by "trite" or "cliché"?

A. This is a name given to a class of popular songs and parodies, mostly written and copyrighted by publishers who know little or nothing of music. It is based on a well-worn song or tune which they speak of as "La La," and thus the name. It is regarded as their best instrument.
Robertson-Cole in Foreign Markets
Opens New Office and Starts Aggressive Foreign Sale Campaign Throughout the World.

The Robertson-Cole Company's film department is now in new offices at 1600 Broadway and equipped with own projection room and a competent organization for the handling of picture-rights abroad and is rapidly becoming one of the important film factors in the international field. Starting a little over six months ago with the idea of providing the independent producer with a medium of distribution in foreign territory so comprehensive as to cover practical the entire world as well as secure for him the maximum returns on foreign sales, the Robertson-Cole Company's film department, under the direction of W. H. Seeley, has advanced with such rapid strides that now it is numbered among the foremost in the industry.

This company has been identified in the general exporting field for many years, and can give, therefore, to the American producer and foreign distributor the result of prestige and practical experience of long standing.

No small part of the business of this organization consists of doing the actual exporting for some of America's foremost foreign sales companies, handling the routing, shipping and taking care of collections and exchange, insurance, etc. Among the sales closed by the Robertson-Cole Company in the last few days are:

* Jester Comedies, in Scandinavia and Australia.
* "The Belgian," in the West Indies, part of South America and Mexico.
* "The Eagle's Eye," in India, Canal Zone, Chile, Peru, Bolivia and Equador.
* "Just a Woman," Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Bolivia, Equador, Chile and Peru.
* "Men" for Norway, Sweden and Denmark.
* "The Mormon Maid" for British Isles.
* "The Eleventh Commandment" for Scandinavia.
* "Nine-Tenths the Law" for Cuba, Porto Rico, West Indies and part of South America.
* "Bisby" for England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales.
* "The Finger of Justice" for Africa, Chile, Peru, Bolivia and Equador.
* "The Struggle Everlasting" for Chile, Peru and Equador.
* "Those Who Pay" for the West Indies and part of South America, and British Isles.
* "Her Fighting Chance" in England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales.
* "Passing of the Third Floor Back," England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Ceylon, India, Burma.
* "The Pendleton Round-Up" for Australia and New Zealand.
* "The Sunset Princess," Norway, Sweden and Denmark.
* "The Zeppelin's Last Raid," West Indies, part of Central and South America and Mexico.

Edna Williams, manager of the Latin-American section of the firm, has been very successful during the past six months and has made the name of Robertson-Cole familiar among the large buyers in all the neighboring republics.

Hurley Plan Helped by Films
Moving Pictures Are Paving the Way for the Introduction Of All Kinds of American Goods in Foreign Countries.

The address of Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board before the National Security League in Chicago last week is fresh evidence of the need to freely export American films, according to president Paul H. Cromelin of the Inter-Ocean Film. In this talk Mr. Hurley laid special stress on the utilization after the war of the great merchant marine now building.

"This merchant marine, declared Chairman Hurley, must not be allowed to go to rot in peace time," said Mr. Cromelin. "The Chairman told the business men that they must plant American wares so successfully in the foreign markets that all the new ships would keep busy.

"Meantime the American film is acting as publicity agent for this superb idea. It is showing in all neutral lands, familiarizing them with American hustle and go—which is made possible by American success-tools. The demand for these tools is sure to follow in the lands where ambitious men are forging to the front. This, I think, takes in every land! Establish American supremacy thus and the orders for American goods will flow in. And what channel other than our films could get such a result? A United Advertising campaign that would attain anything like it would cost our manufacturers a billion dollars. The films do this very patriotic work gratis, and it will pay Mr. Hurley and every American interested in post-hullum problems to see that they get every shipping facility to-day that can be secured."

Goldwyn and Vitagraph in South America
The Co-Operative Film Company of New York Handles The Output of Both Companies in Chile, Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia.

One of the youngest and most aggressive film men among the exporters is Jack Hoffberg, general manager and representative of The Co-operative Film Company of New York, the film department of The Mutual Export & Import Corporation, a downtown commission house that has been shipping general merchandise abroad for years. Mr. Hoffberg, who has been in the film business for a number of years and in the export branch of the industry for the past three and a half years, is widely known among producing distributors and exporters and he points to his organization of The Co-operative Film Co. for the Mutual Export & Import Corporation as his most important achievement since he became associated with the film business.

The Co-operative Film Co. of New York, with established branches in Santiago, Chile; Lima, Peru; Guayaquil, Ecuador; and La Paz, Bolivia, controls the Goldwyn and Vitagraph output and among the big special and independent productions which they handle, and are now exploiting are such well known features as, "Womanhood," "The Auction Block," "Those Who Pay," "The Zeppelin's Last Raid," "One Hour," and "Struggle Everlasting."

José Traver & Co., of Santiago, Chile, handle the South American distribution of the productions controlled by the New York firm through their local exchanges.

Within the past ten days, the Co-operative Company has acquired the exclusive rights for the territories mentioned...
Bengar Company to Handle Selig Product

Colonel Selig Closes Long-Term Contract for the Exploitation of His Brand in Foreign Markets.

A 3 result of numerous conferences between Colonel J. Frank Brickliss, Inc., Mr. Beu Blumenthal, of Export and Import Film Co., Inc., offices have been opened in New York City to facilitate the movement of Seligs throughout the world.

George Blumenthal of Mr. Garrett and Selig gives full control of all Selig productions of the past and for four years to come to the Bengar Pictures, Inc. This applies to all territories of the world, except those territories in Peru, Bolivia, Paraguay, and Great Britain.

Every civilized country has been entered and thoroughly canvassed by representatives of this exporting house and from the catalogue of Selig productions outgoing shipments are being carried by practically every boat leaving our shores.

Colonel Selig came to New York a few days after Mr. Garrett and Mr. Blumenthal's return from the Selig plant in Chicago, and during the several weeks of his stay here some far-reaching plans have been formulated. The new offices in the Godfrey Building are the scene of continuous activity and both Messrs. Garrett, Blumenthal and Selig are enthusiastic over their plans for the fall. The Colonel brought along three new feature productions that he predicts will start tongues to wagging after the trade showing they are giving shortly. These were produced after conferring with Mr. Garrett and Mr. Blumenthal on the international popularity and appeal of the subjects.

Foreign News and Comment.

José Donati, director and assistant general manager of the Cinematográfica Sud-Americana, has just arrived in town. For the benefit of those unfamiliar with the importance of this South American exchange, Mr. Donati will give a brief outline of its activities. Its capital amounts to $1,000,000 Argentinian currency (about $400,000 in American money) and it covers the territory comprised within the republics of Argentina, Brazil and Peru and has close dealings with local exchanges in Buenos Aires and branch offices or agencies in the following cities: Rosario, Tucuman, Mendoza, Cordoba, Bahia Blanca; Santiago, Valparaiso, Concepcion, Iquique, Antofagasta, Punta Arenas, Compucho; Lima and Montevideo.

It handles, on an exclusive arrangement, the whole output of the Universal, Gaumont, Tespi and Gladiator companies, in addition to whatever special productions it may deem suitable for its market.

The Sud-Americana, as presently organized, has been in business during the past three years. Attilio Liberti is the present manager of the corporation and one of the directors, acts as the general manager. Mr. Liberti, the founder of the firm, is a Buenos Aires millionaire, and his name appears on the board of directors of one or two local banks and a number of commercial enterprises.

During the past year the Sud-Americana has been working in combination with the North American Motion Pictures, Inc., a New York concern covering the same territory. Their combined program consists of Universal, World, Selig, Gaumont, Pathé, Tespi, Gladiator, First National Exhibitors' Circuit (including the new Chaplins), Billy West and numerous special productions.

Henceforward it appears that Mr. Donati's visit is connected with the purchase, in large quantities, of program and special pictures. He is a veteran of the moving picture industry and has kept in close touch during the past eleven years with the activities of most of the pictures.

Mr. Donati will remain in town for two or three months and will probably leave here a permanent buying representative.

According to reports received from Joseph Lamy, the last few weeks of the Piedmont Pictures sale's campaign have been exceptionally effective. The entire library of the Parka Pictures educational films have been placed for the Scandinavian countries.

"The Eagle's Eye" serial, of which Piedmont controls the rights in the United States and West Indies, has been conceded for Cuba to Blasco y Martinez, and for Porto Rico to J. Gelabert of the San Juan Film Exchange. It has also closed for the Empresade Teatros y Cinema Ltda., Lima, Peru, whom they represent exclusively in New York as purchasing agents, the Paralta Productions, as well as several other features like "Inside the Lines" and "The Victim."

All existing and forthcoming Select productions have been disposed of for Chile, Peru, Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay.

The serial, "The Seven Deadly Sins," has been closed for the United States, Mexico, Argentina, Peru and Bolivia. The International serial production, "Beatrice Fairfax," has been sold for China, India, Burma, Ceylon and Straits, Chile, Peru, Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay.

All the recent releases of Rialto de Luxe productions, as well as a certain number of other features controlled by the Piedmont organization, have been shipped to Porto Rico, Santo Domingo, Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay, Chile, Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador and several of them to Brazil.

Several sales have been made for the Far East, France, Spain, Portugal, several South American countries. The production "Shame" has been closed for France and a serial recently released for Spain and Portugal.

An innovation in the new quarters of the house of J. Frank Brockliss, Inc., has been installed by Sidney Garrett, its president. A visiting buyers' lobby has been furnished completely, both as a rest and conference room as well as a foreign film journal library. Every motion picture publication in America and all foreign countries is kept on file for the reference of foreign buyers.

A Blaikie Dick, general manager for McClure Pictures, Inc., announced this week considerable activity in the sale of foreign rights for the McClure series of "Seven Deadly Sins." Contracts were formulated for the foreign rights of "Seven Deadly Sins" were disposed of by a deal made with the Piedmont Pictures Corporation of New York City. In addition to this sale, Mr. Dick also announced that foreign rights have also been disposed of in the following territories: Brazil, Argentina, Paraguay, Bolivia, Peru and Uruguay.

Charles Lefebvre, Latin American representative of the Gaumont Company, with headquarters at Buenos Aires, left New York last week on his way to Rio Janeiro. Mr. Lefebvre came to New York after having visited Paris and Barcelona.

Arthur J. Lang, of the Nicholas Power Company, must have arrived in Buenos Aires by this time. The last news from him was received from Paitu, Peru, where he intended to stay for a few days only. For the present, any mail may be addressed to him in care of the London and River Plate Bank, Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Abraham Carlos, general representative of the Fox Film Corporation, will leave New York before the middle of the month for an extended trip. He will first visit Porto Rico, Mexico and Central America. He will be accompanied by Aquileo Calvo, who has recently been placed in charge of the Latin-American activities of the company.

Paul Capellani returned from Argentina about a month ago. We understand that he has brought with him a copy of the picture produced under his direction by the Platenscope Film Company of Buenos Aires.

The First National Exhibitors' Circuit has closed deals covering practically every important territory in Latin America. These results were obtained through William Vogel and David P. Howells, who are handling the Chaplins and the Petrova and other productions respectively.

R. R. Nehls, general manager of the American Film Company, has been in town quite frequently during the past month. His last trip is connected with the export situation, particularly in regard with the Spanish and Portuguese speaking markets. Mr. Nehls has started an aggressive campaign in the columns of Cine Mundial.

Calleja and Boan, of Havana, have purchased the Cuban rights from the Inter-Ocean Film Corporation on all Paralta Productions. In association with Blanco and Martinez, of the same city, they will also handle the Vitagraph output during the coming year in the neighboring republic.

Goldwyn pictures are becoming popular in South America, especially in Argentina. The exhibitors are already classing them among the best American pictures shipped to that market. A new agency, York-Rialto, exclusive representative for South America, which has been set up by Maunel Saenz and Ricardo Mai, is handling the distribution in Argentina and Uruguay.
Expressing Films Uncertain Business

Exhibitors and Distributors Suffering Because of Poor Service Under Congested Conditions and Inexperienced Employees.

Both distributors and exhibitors are suffering through a seemingly poor service from the express lines in the essential matter of delivering films and posters to the showmen and returning them to exchanges. Here in the East conditions are exceptionally bad, from four days to a week being required to deliver films to Philadelphia and to New England cities centering around Boston.

A World representative found general complaint at all of the big distributing firms called upon, and none of the men in charge had any suggestion to offer that might give any hope of improving the situation. Before railroads became congested and the express lines fell under Government control films were handled at “treasury value” and had precedence over every other item of merchandise.

In these days films take their chances it seems, and the chance is in most instances a very poor one. Often films are delivered by the express company to the exhibitor without the posters, although invoices are always marked “two on one” to indicate a double shipment. Again the posters will arrive and no films will come. Frequently neither films nor paper reach destination, and the exhibitor suffers from a “dark” house and the annoyance of making explanations that, by the patron, are not always accepted.

It is a real detriment to an exhibitor to have his house closed for even one day. The matter of “starting all over again” often means the loss of money aside from the total loss of receipts on the day the house is forced, by indifferent express service, to remain dark. Then, too, the distributor loses rentals and delay in delivering films and advertising matter returned to the exchange.

Here in New York some distributors are sending their films by parcel post as the best expedient. Some of them serve Philadelphia and Boston by special messenger service, a messenger packed in trunks with the proper label conspicuously displayed, setting forth the contents, being now accepted as baggage; but this service entails an enormous expense on expensive service, involves the doing of the same job, the messenger and the round-trip ticket required to carry man and baggage.

The express companies are suffering from the demands of the trade, and inexperienced help is contributing to the poor service. Perhaps when the employees become more efficient there will follow some relief, but just at present shipment of films by express involves in every instance an element of luck that makes the outcome hazardous and unsatisfactory.

Toronto Theaters Try Group Advertising

Toronto exhibitors are doing more newspaper advertising than ever before and with apparent results. By arrangement with the Daily News no less than thirty-five local theaters are getting an illustrated column daily, which serves as a directory of current attractions at the respective houses. This directory gives the name and address of each of the theaters, the name of the feature and the date of the show in the star. The lay-out of the column permits quick reference to each theater on the list and each house gets a neat display in alphabetical order. This is one of the best newspaper stunts for the average exhibitor yet seen in the local columns. The daily columns is entirely in addition to the “News Photoplay Calendar” which occupies large space in the theatrical section of the Saturday edition of each week. Each of the thirty-four theaters is given approximately forty lines in tabulated form for their feature, comedies, serials, etc., which are booked for each day during the succeeding week. The Saturday Calendar occupies a spread of almost a whole page. There is considerable work in connection with compiling this calendar each week but, although the cost is small to each exhibitor, the paper finds that the feature is a paying proposition.

In addition to the Calendar, a number of the local picture theaters are also using special display space for individual advertisements. These “ads” entitle a theater to special reading notices and reviews. The Daily News has shown its willingness to co-operate with the theaters by offering to print on the front page of the paper any advertisement, such as alteration, special performances, unusual incidents, changes in personnel and changes in policy.

Following the apparent success of the Photoplay Calendar in the Daily News, a similar calendar was recently started by the Star Weekly which is entitled “Daily Exhibitor’s Representative for the Week.” In this calendar has been listed the attractions of the week at more than a dozen different moving picture theaters of Toronto. The Star Weekly and the Sunday World also carry a number of the larger picture theaters regularly and each of these papers also carried many advance notices for the various houses.

The plan of The Daily News is so unusual and so successful, however, that it has aroused wide attention and interest.

Private John A. Bell, U. S. A.

WHEN one looks with admiration upon the sturdy ranks of khaki-clad boys swinging through the city's streets to the triumphant notes of some popular air and the accompanying thump, thump, thump of the big bass drum and feels a quickening of one's patriotism the thought occurs: "Where do they all come from?" In a general way we know that in those ranks are blacksmiths, clerks, bookkeepers, salesmen, farmers—men from every commercial field, but it is difficult, sometimes, to find out from that husky, up-standing, hard-eyed six-footer on the extreme fringe of the group with the smooth-voiced, obliging young fellow who used to sell you your coffee and your newspapers at your favorite 'gents' furnishing store." But that's the way it is working out in Uncle Sam's great army of democracy.

We know what we are talking about, since we have our lead up to the subject of this sketch, John Bell, first officer boy, then copy clerk, and later mail clerk in the office of the Moving Picture World, but who is now a private in the Regular Army, and on his way to France.

John was born and brought up in Brooklyn, and, as he grew to manhood, he ran more to nerves and sinews—an irrepressible spirit that knew no restraint. In the process of growing up John got a common display ad that was often read but never read: He then went to work, first with the Film Index and then with the Moving Picture World, beginning back in 1909.

Amid all the trials that beset a boy on his first job, John never lost his spirit or his nerve. He made mistakes, but he also made friends, so that while he regularly "got the goat," at some time or other of every one with whom he come in contact, he still held his job and did a lot of good work, too. Now that he has joined the army and is off for the war we are sounding his virtues and laughing at his mistakes and adventures. He is one of the great army, and will make a daring soldier. Good luck to him!

Bennett Journeys to California.

H. Whitman Bennett, assistant to Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, in charge of productions, has left New York for the West Coast studios of the company. Although Mr. Bennett has been connected with the Lasky film organization since before its affiliation with the Famous Players company, he has never visited the Western studios of that concern. Mr. Bennett will remain at the California studios for three or four weeks.

Torres to Summer in Los Angeles.

Ramirez Torres, chief of the scenario department of Pathe Exchange, Inc., in charge of the Pathe Film Corporation, where he will be associated with the studios on the West Coast that are producing pictures for Pathe. It is expected Mr. Torres will return to New York in September.
Motion Pictures—An Essential

The Screen Which Pictures Things as They Are Serves the Nation Usefully and is an Absolute Essential to Victory

THEIRs not to reason why, theirs but to do and die" may be all right from the standpoint of patriotic devotion to an ideal. And yet, if we will but reason together, perhaps it may come to pass that fewer of us with demonstrative except for patriotic subjects. You rest while before your eyes is spread the scroll of the world—the launching of a battleship, a religious ceremony in India, salmon fishing on the Columbia river, an arctic scene, the Panama canal, etc. And through it all your spirit has been soothed and ministered to by music. And when you emerge you have been rested, you have been entertained and instructed, you have seen things. Is this not an essential?

To consider the material side, one has but to refer to the magnificent showing made by the allied motion picture and theatrical team in the recent Red Cross drive when they finished second and raised over a million dollars for the cause—Some Essential?

But all this pales into insignificance besides the word Propaganda. Here the strength of the motion picture is so much that it should be utilized.

It isn’t to speak for the moving picture profession in all its branches that this is set down. Producers, exhibitors, operators, machine manufacturer, all have “come across” strong. We do hold a brief, however, for the message which the silent drama has been constantly delivering ever since we “went in.”

The fiat has gone forth, our “hat is in the ring,” and grim visaged war is at our threshold. The press keeps us well informed, but the result was that this world cannot picture a situation as the eye can visualize it.

Are motion pictures essential? Go to the theater and see. Every night, everywhere, war pictures of actual events are shown. Watch the audience as “Black Jack” Peary appears, or the marching and drilling of our boys, or the launching of a battleship with the masterbuilder—Schwab—on the job. See how the audience “rise” to it. Hear their applause as “Old Glory” is flung across the screen. And realize that this is passing on every day throughout our land and that every thrill of patriotic fervor strengthens purpose and thought—and that thoughts are things. Knowing this, can it be doubted that motion pictures are an essential?

Joseph Choate’s dying message was: “For God’s sake, hurry up,” and throughout the land is being preached the motto of Wake up and Win.

We are going to win the war, but it is no pink tea. Some of us don’t know we are in it yet. We must all wake up and stay awake.

Drive home to the American people—hit them through the eyes—the terror and magnitude of this war, and it will keep them roused to a sense of their obligations and serve as an inspiration.

No thing can win for us. Co-operation and co-ordination will do it. We need every ounce of help; and that which continually mirrors on the mind the true inwards of things and pictures them as they are, serves the Nation and is one of the greatest essentials for victory.

Of such is the motion picture.

SAILORS THANK WILLIAM FOX.

Three thousand sailors at the United States naval base at San Pedro, Cal., have telegraphed a vote of thanks to William Fox for his help in staging a mammoth vaudeville entertainment recently given for the jackies under the auspices of the Stage Women’s War Relief. Mr. Fox, as soon as he was informed that Frank Lloyd, director of William Farnum, was to be stage manager of the entertainment, wired Mr. Wurtzel, manager of the William Fox coast studios, to do everything possible to make the vaudeville a success. The result was that a small army of Fox phonofilm carpenters and electricians were soon on the spot, erecting stage and scenery for the production. Those from the William Fox studios at Hollywood, who were on the prowl there Williams Farnum, Gladys Brockwell, William Burress, Herbert Byles, A. W. Fremont, Tom Mix, the William Fox string quartet and a number of others.

ABEL TO BE FOX SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE.

Sydney E. Abel, who has had wide experience as a film specialist, has been named by the Fox Film Corporation as a special representative, it is announced from the William Fox offices.

Mr. Abel, who has been special representative of Select Pictures since the organization of that concern, is one of the best known film men on Broadway and brings to his new work qualities of salesmanship that make him a particularly valuable aide.
Olive Tell Introduced to "Secret Strangers"

Metro's Newest Star Begins Rehearsals of Picture Adapted From the Kate Jordan Play.

By Edward Weitzel.

O

NE of the property men stood on a step ladder, balanced himself on his right foot and drove a nail into the wall. From an adjoining set where Ethel Barrymore and her company were "taking" a scene of "Our Mrs. McChesney" came the sound of sharp commands, then a loud baffle of voices and the splutter of the light. At the table in the center of the poor young artist's garret home Director John C. Ince and the head electrician held an animated conversation over the importance of a brass candle stick. A carpenter stepped back hurriedly and knocked down a screen with a loud crash. The property man balanced himself at a more dangerous angle and drove in another nail, this time directly above Olive Tell's head; but the newest Metro star paid not the slightest attention to him or to any of the other distracting noises about her.

It was the wait between the rehearsals and the "taking" of the first scene of the screen version of Kate Jordan's play, "Secret Strangers," and the actress was improving the time by running over her most important bits of business with the villain. For the moment, everything else ceased to exist.

"This work requires remarkable powers of concentration, doesn't it?"

The actress dipped a large puff into a box of powder and applied it carefully to the sides of her face and as carefully avoided the tip of her nose. "Indeed it does!" she replied. "If one can't shut out everything but the thoughts one is told to think it is useless to try to become a screen actress. Here am I starting rehearsals on this Metro picture which means so much to me, and I'm having a regular fight with myself all the time not to jump up and run away. My sister Alma opens tonight in Marjorie Rambeau's part in 'Eyes of Youth' at the Maxine Elliott Theater and I'm so anxious to be with her and help her all I can! She took the part on short notice, you know."

Director Ince helped himself to one of the crackers that formed a part of the poor young artist's meager supper and smiled reassuringly at sister Olive: "Don't worry about your sister; she's one of the Tell girls and you can always tell about them beforehand."

"Thank you, Mr. Ince. I hope you can forecast a certain secret connected with 'Secret Strangers.'"

"It's no secret at all; you've never had a part like you better and you're going to be a success in it. . . . Got that candlestick fixed, electrician? Everyone ready, everybody."

Once more the opening scene was acted; this time accompanied by the steady grin of the cameraman, and the several pairs of eyes that were focused on the two people within the dingy garret searched hungrily for the slightest flaw to show itself, as a slice of life, a bit of human tragedy, was brought into being. And right here is a phase of screen acting worthy of being noted: Actors on the speaking stage are called upon to give the result of preparation before a theaterful of people who are in the most receptive mood and quick to show their approval when pleased. Every aid that can possibly spur an artist on to do his best is at hand. As the play moves forward, the men and women on the stage feel the subtle influence that comes over the footlights and lets them know, at each step of the performance, the sort of impression the play is making. With the fall of the final curtain comes a popular verdict that is not to be changed by the notices in the morning papers. The conditions under which the screen actor puts forth his best efforts are entirely different. He is obliged to throw himself into the strongest emotions for a very brief space of time, and always under the influence of human beings for whom the magic of illusion holds no secrets.

As the camera ceased grinding the indignant young woman whose husband just showed the villain the door instantly relaxed, nodded a smiling goodbye and hurried toward the stairway, followed by a chorus of good wishes for her sister's debut.

Horstmann and Schaefer Candidates

Boston and Chicago Men Rivals for League Presidency at National League Convention.

Boston, July 16.

T*HE annual convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors’ League of America was formally opened at 11:45 this forenoon at the Lenox Hotel, where the candidates for presidency were present. The indications at the beginning of the session were that it would be an uneventful meeting.

The leading candidates for president were Horstmann, of Boston, and Schaefer, of Chicago. The St. Louis boosters for the 1919 convention were out in force.

Mutt and Jeff Open Booking Bases

Fox Company Announces That Beginning July 28 Eighteen-Week-Old Subjects Will be So Released.

A DEPARTURE in the policy of selling the Mutt and Jeff Animated Cartoons has just been put into effect by the Fox Film Corporation. Mutt and Jeff animated cartoons that are eighteen weeks old will be sold on an open booking, non-contract basis.

The first Mutt and Jeff cartoon to come under this ruling is "The Decay," which was released March 28. This film will be eighteen weeks old July 28 and will be open to non-contract bookings. After August 4, "Back to the Balkans" will be in the same category, and, of course, every week thereafter will see a Mutt and Jeff cartoon put on a non-contract basis.

This policy has been adopted as a result of a demand from exhibitors. There also has been a change in the nature of the cartoons. They are becoming more topical in their subjects; in fact, the most recent titles are as up to the minute as an afternoon newspaper. As examples of this timeliness these subjects are pointed out: "The Seventy-Five Mile Gun," "Meeting Theda Bara," "Hunting the U-boats," "Joining the Tanks," "Helping McDaroo," and "My Four Years in Matrimony."

GOLDWYN BUYS "A PERFECT LADY."

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation has just purchased from Channing Pollock and Renwood Wolf the motion picture rights to their stage success, "A Perfect Lady," and to, Madge Kennedy falls the good fortune of having this as one of her first big Goldwyn pictures of the fall season.

"A Perfect Lady" was one of Rose Stahl's biggest successes in recent years and enjoyed the advantages of a run in New York at the Hudson theater and was played in the principal cities of North America by Miss Stahl on tour.

Goldwyn plans to begin production of "A Perfect Lady" within the next few weeks.

As a play "A Perfect Lady" was first presented by the Henry B. Harris estate, and in Miss Stahl's supporting cast were such well known players as Ned Sparks, Harry C. Browne and Beatrice Noyes. Miss Kennedy's role will differ greatly from any she has had since her entry into motion pictures a year ago.

LESSER GETS ELEVEN WESTERN STATES.

Supplementing his former contract for eleven western states on "Hearts of the World," Sol L. Lesser, president of All Star Feature Distributors, Inc., has secured rights for the following additional territory on the Griffith subject: Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin and North and South Dakota. Mr. Lesser's territory on this production now includes all states west of the Mississippi River. This is said to include a return of rights granted for the fall season in the amount of territory involved, but also by reason of the prices paid.

HOSPITAL WINS RUTH ROLAND'S $300 AWARD.

Ruth Roland has received $300 from a New York fashion magazine in payment of designs of a riding habit made by her. Just to prove it was not stage money Ruth turned over the check to Fannie Ward's Convalescent Soldiers' Hospital.
Determined effort to wipe out the organized bands of film thieves who for years have caused an enormous loss to the industry as the result of their depredations is now being made by the New York Managers Organization, which expects shortly to have assembled ten machines of different types. In the wall cases there is a complete supply of lenses and reels. He now has in stock 30,000 carbons, part of which are in use every day in the rear of the salesroom, which faces Seventh Avenue.

Sullivan Retires from Mutual
Former Assistant General Manager to Take Last Before Deciding on Future Course.

Denis J. Sullivan, for three years an executive of the Mutual Film Corporation, has announced his resignation effective July 13. Mr. Sullivan had the title of assistant general manager, the title of general manager of the Mutual always being carried by the president of the concern.

"I shall take but a few weeks, probably a couple of months, of vacationing and then be ready to take up and decide upon a number of film offers which have been put before me," said Mr. Sullivan. "I am glad to say that I can look upon the strenuous years I have put in with Mutual and allied concerns with considerable satisfaction—and let me say I most sincerely and fully appreciate the co-operation, support and effective service of a force of able and capable men."

Mr. Sullivan first entered the employ of the Mutual Film Corporation as a salesman traveling out of the Milwaukee office. This was a sort of preparatory course planned by John R. Freuler, to familiarize him with the business so that he could go forward with the Freuler projects which were soon to be launched. In a few months Mr. Sullivan became general manager of the North American Film Corporation and was Mr. Freuler's chief executive in the distribution of the serial "The Diamond from the Sky." The selling of the serial gave Mr. Sullivan similar supervision of the campaigns on the Helen Holmes serials sold through Mutual exchanges.

Probably the largest single project with which Mr. Sullivan has been connected in the film industry was the marketing of the Charles Chaplin comedies.

Sheldon Negotiating for More Players
Mutual President Will Add to His Roster Other Names in Addition to Hayakawa, Kane and Goodrich.

With Sessue Hayakawa at work on the third of his series of eight special productions under direction of the Brawilworth Pictures Corporation, Gail Kane producing the first, her second serial "Minnehaha," and Karl Marlowe at a New York studio and Edna Goodrich completing her second picture in New York, James M. Sheldon, president of the Mutual Film Company, said that important negotiations are in progress which will bring other important stars into affiliation with the Mutual.

Mr. Sheldon, during his brief incumbency of the presidency of the Mutual, has been able to look after the most important operations of the concern. Among these he has been able to engage some really big financial enterprises, all of which have been successful. Among these he has been able to engage some really big financial enterprises, all of which have been successful.

Porter Using Illuminated Advertising
Simplex Distributor Follows Up Installation in New Quarters by Establishing a Supply Trade Precedent.

Following his recent removal from 1482 Broadway, New York, to the eleventh floor of the Godfrey Building, 729 Seventh avenue, B. F. Porter, the exclusive distributor for Simplex projectors in New York City, Long Island and northern New Jersey, instituted a mode of advertising used by no other accessory supply house in the picture industry, and one which is made possible by the recent installation on the roof of the Godfrey building of a large electric display known as the "Talking Sign."

Quick to seize upon the advantages afforded by this latest development of illuminated advertising signs, he arranged upon settlement in his new quarters for a series of messages to be flashed every night from the roof of the Godfrey building. The first announced his change of address and was followed by a double exposure of the crowds of the pedestrians at Broadway and Forty-second street, seven blocks away, of his progressive methods. People saw against a background of black sky announcements like "Porter Simplex, Department Five, 729 Seventh Avenue," and "Selling Simplex parts," or "Selling Simplex parts," which was followed by a double exposure shot of the building's facade.

As a part of his quick service idea Mr. Porter has installed a large show case for a complete display of all Simplex parts. In this silent salesman are seventy compartments where the exhibitor can see at a glance the six hundred machine parts. The customer who does not know their names can thus easily point out what is needed for replacement in his machine.

On the floor of the new salesroom are three Simplex machines equipped with the enamelled parts which the producers expect to have assembled ten machines of different types. In the wall cases there is a complete supply of lenses and reels. He now has in stock 30,000 carbons, part of which are in use every day in the rear of the salesroom, which faces Seventh Avenue.
Laemmle Goes After Summer Closers

Universal Executive Making Determined Effort to Reach Every Exhibitor Who Shuts Down in Warm Weather.

A NATIONWIDE campaign urging exhibitors to keep their theaters open during the summer months has been inaugurated by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company. Conducted under the supervision of Carl Laemmle, a determined effort is being made to reach every exhibitor who in years past has made a practice of closing his doors with the coming of the first warm days and only throwing them open once more after Labor Day.

It is Universal's claim that every man who shuts his theater for the summer gives aid and comfort to the enemies of this industry. These ill-wishers of moving pictures are aiding in a way those who would see them classed as non-essential.

Particular attention is being paid to those exhibitors who, according to the records on file at the various Universal exchanges, are "winter showmen." To these men is being sent literature outlining the harm they are unwittingly doing to the industry. In addition to this Universal is distributing circular matter which undertakes to dispel the fallacy that the moving picture patron ceases to care for picture entertainment during warm weather.

Speaking to Universal, we heard so many negatives ahead that we could stop producing for six months without falling behind on release dates," says Mr. Laemmle. "But we're not going to shut up shop, because it would have a bad effect on our business. If anything, it probably brings others.

In scores of ways the war is causing us all to suffer hardships and losses but, after all, we are at war and so have certain duties to perform.

"A straightforward, serious-minded, successful exhibitor, who has always given me the Simon Pure facts about the existence of the end of the moving picture business, recently told me that so far as he was concerned there is just as much profit to be made during the summer as there is any other time. "According to this showman, any exhibitor who possesses real showmanship can make as much money at one time of the year as every other with the single exception of about two weeks in the spring.

"Universal has gone into the 'Keep-Your-Theater-Open' campaign with every ounce of energy it possesses. We propose to hammer away at this idea if for no other reason than to give the Government a living screen on which to flash its win-the-war propaganda. Only those men who ardently desire to have the industry classed as a non-essential will oppose this movement."

Rothapfel to Stage "America's Answer"

Government's Successor to "Pershing's Crusaders" Goes on At the request of Charles S. Hart, head of the Committee on Public Information's film division, S. L. Rothapfel will stage "America's Answer," the Government war picture which is to be released as a successor to "Pershing's Crusaders." The picture will be presented to the public for the first time on July 29 at the George M. Cohan Theater.

The assembling and titling of the various scenes which show the progress of America's military activities have just been completed, and Mr. Rothapfel started work on the details of his presentation on Monday, July 15. He will devise the stage setting, create the lighting effects, and arrange the music score which will accompany the picture. The notable success which Mr. Rothapfel enjoyed in staging his audiences at the Rivoli and the Rialto to enthusiastic demonstrations during the presentation of war pictures and news events in general led the Committee on Public Infor-

Fairbanks to Make a "Pep" Film

It Will be for the Cantonnets and Will Show Relation of Health and Courage.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS will stage a propaganda scenario for the exclusive use of the various cantonnets and has already mailed it to Washington, with the office of Mr. W. J. War Dam and as its destination.

Before starting production the Artcark star believed that inasmuch as his propaganda picture was requested by Major General W. C. Gorgas, Surgeon General of the United States Army through Major Snow of the War Department, it was the proper procedure to have its approval and official sanction of the scenario before putting it into production.

"For weeks Joseph Henaberry and Ted Reed, with Douglas, have been building their story based on a theme that athletes lead to clean living, which is of the utmost mental influence," said John Fairbanks, business manager of the company. "A man with a clean mind has a good morale, which is nothing more than pep—enthusiasm and real. To sum it all up, courage.

"This theme is applied to the soldier who deliberately sets out to do himself an injury, that will prevent him from taking part in military activities. This fellow is not clever.
His mind is unhealthy and through the lack of courage is a coward."

Copies of this Fairbanks preachment, camouflaged in an entertaining comedy-dramatic picture, will be shipped to the various training camps of the United States armed forces.

A special preview will first be held in Washington. Some of the scenes will include views of the 40,000 troops stationed at Camp Kearney, California. Permission will first be secured for this privilege to photograph Uncle Sam's boys.

Frank Reicher Engaged by World

WORLD PICTURES points with pride to the engagement of Frank Reicher, who is to direct Louise Huff in her second World picture, "The Secret of the Heart." Frank Reicher's career antedating his motion picture experience is connected with the brightest spots in the history of the theater, covering the past fifteen years.

Beginning as a chorus boy in the theater, the young man was an employee of the author himself.

Reicher's career in America, in one might say, began with the presentation, at the Savoy theater, New York, of Frances Hodgson Burnett's drama, "That Man and I," in which Robert Hilliard was the star. Following this he was seen in over thirty-five original Broadway productions, in which he has been employed by Charles Frohman, David Belasco, Liebler & Son, the Shuberts and other prominent managers and producers.

He then went on to being a stage director, and played prominent roles in productions of the late Henry B. Harris, such as "The Heights," "On the Eve"; and "A Matter of Money." He directed Elsie Ferguson in "Dolly Madison" and Hedwig Reicher in "On the Eve." His greatest piece of stage directing was in Percy MacKaye's fantastic play, "The Scare Crow," which was adapted from Hawthorne's "Mosses from an Old Manse." This was the story of "Frazier Top." Mr. Reicher not alone directed this, but scored an enormous success in the title role.

On the death of Henry B. Harris he was engaged by Jesse L. Lasky, from which time his moving picture experience dates. His record as a motion picture producer, the Disney."

Frank Reicher.

GEFFEN—GREENFIELD.

Lewis S. Geffen, assistant publicity man for the Rivoli and the Rialto, left Friday, July 12, on a confidential trip and vacation in Kennebunkport Me. He was married on that day to Miss Anne Greenfield of 830 Kelly street, the Bnx. Mr. Geffen has been on Mr. Rothapfel's publicity staff ever since the Rivoli was opened and has won a large circle of friends in the theatrical and newspaper world.
British Notes

By J. E. Sutcliffe.

The advertising devices employed by exchanges for inducing exhibitors to attend competitive trade shows of forthcoming productions are often more ingenious and effective than those displayed by the exhibitor to attract the public. About the limit is reached, though, by an exchange holding a trade show in the West End a few weeks ago in offering first-run exhibitions of the films shown free of charge to exhibitors to attend the trade show. It is charming enough, but as a trade precedent dangerous. Publicity stunts of this character are best left to the tea trade.

An action is pending in the Chancery Division of the Courts of Justice to restrain the Famous Players Film Co., Ltd., from exhibiting a film representation of Daudet's "Sapho."

Film exports to Holland and Scandinavian countries from Great Britain may now only be sent by parcels post. Private shipment is entirely stopped.

"On Trial," the first of the G. K. Spoor super-features, enjoyed a cordial reception at the Alhambra when it was shown to the trade. The interest in the new series seems to center in "Raffles." Like other Essanay productions the Spoor specials will be distributed on this side by Film Booking Offices, Ltd.

Louis Zimmerman of Apex Films has acquired sole rights of Triangle and Keystone releases, both drama and comedy, for the South African market. In a recent letter he states that central premises have been opened in Johannesburg, which he intends to make his distributing center.

Hostile air-raids are a remote possibility in New York, nevertheless it is perhaps interesting to note that London exhibitors are acting in close cooperation with the Metropolitan police when occasion demands it. In all cases the word, "Carry On," is the exhibitors' plan, even if the barrage fire of surrounding anti-aircraft batteries do provide unexpected "effects" to the picture. During the several raids at night time on London there has never yet anything in the nature of a panic at picture theaters. The English cinema audience is perhaps too accustomed to "thrills" to treat air-raids with much more than contemptuous familiarity.

It is not unlikely that certain people in London inwardly rejoiced when the announcement that the filmed experiences of Ambassador Gerard, "My Four Years in Germany," appeared in the newspaper as having been lost in a torpedoed merchantman. Cold and fleeting comfort to the friends of the Fatherland, who declared that this film should not be shown in Great Britain so close upon the revelations of Prince Lichnowsky. One of five copies of the entire unexpurgated production as it appeared in the States has already been shown to Government officials and a few members of the trade.

The Italian film, "Christus," was shown at Christ Church, Westminster during Easter, the first time a production of this character has been shown in a London church. The Rev. R. J. Campbell handed over the collection to the exhibitors of the film at the Philharmonic Hall, not as a payment for the loan of the picture, but as a token of goodwill.

The Western Import Co. is an exchange much besieged by exhibitors nowadays. The special attractions of the moment are the first of the million-dollar Chaplins, "A Dog's Life" and the Sennett-Normand drama, "Mickey."

The Gaumont exchange has acquired the title in this country to the new Paralta Plays. They will be released on the Gaumont Gaumont program at regular intervals as the uncertain arrivals of film exports from America permit.

The most notable of the pre-war successes of the London Film Company, viz., "The House of Templey," "The Mid-delman," "Prisoner of Zenda," "Bootles' Baby," and most likely others, are to be reissued on the home market by Jury's.

W. E. Burlock, the agent and impresario of D. W. Griffith, is back once more in London.

Members of the Exhibitors' Association in the Tyneside area are much perturbed that shownmen not identified as members of the association should reap benefits of its work and propaganda. Apparently they contemplate utilizing the exchange man as a cudgel, for the following resolution was passed and forwarded to headquarters: "In the opinion of members of the Kinematograph Exhibitors' Association, renters should be asked not to deal with non-members after August."

Recent shipments to the Vitagraph Co.'s premises in Charing Cross Road include the initial numbers of the Poite Comedies. Another line of short humorous subjects to arrive recently in London are the Pyramid two-reelers, secured by Mrs. J. D. Walker.

The Queen and members of the Royal Family visited the Philharmonic Hall during the showing of "Christus."

Australian Notes

By Thomas H. Imrie.

Sydney, N. S. W., Australia, May 14, 1918.

The officials of the Federal Censor Board are formulating a plan whereby all films will be personally viewed by a member of the Board before being passed for exhibition. Under the old system a detailed synopsis of each picture has sufficed, but the new procedure will require that the film be judged by that, though in doubtful cases a screening had to be given before the Board. According to Mr. Jensen, Minister for Customs, and chief of the censors, this system has been found unsatisfactory, and the new rule will take effect this month.

A War Precautions Regulation issued over a year ago prohibited the screening of any film showing the governments of any of the Allies in a bad light, or containing scenes likely to prejudice the public against the people of any of the Allied nations. Under this Act many pictures were banned, including among others "The Cheat" (Paramount) and "Sold for Money" (Triumph). The fact that Russia is now out of the war has allowed the release of several films dealing with the intrigue and atrocities in that country prior to the great conflict, and which were held up by the Customs and imported under the embargo.

To date "Anton the Terrible," "The Sowers" and "Panthea" have been released, while others will make their appearance shortly.

The Quarterly report of the Tasmanian Picture Censor Board states that during the past three months 300 films have been reviewed and registered, and no cause for complaint has been found.

The Sydney Lyceum, which has been taken over by Hoyt's Prop., Ltd., is undergoing extensive alterations, and will reopen in about a month's time, showing Standard super-features. The initial attraction is to be "Les Miserables," followed by "Cleopatra."

Changes in Regal Films Staff.

Regal Films, Limited, Canadian distributors of Goldwyn, World, Paralta and other pictures in the Dominion, have made a number of staff changes in the Canadian West. H. L. Nathanson has become manager of the Winnipeg branch, while M. Rose has become special representative for Western Canada. Manager Nathanson reports that prospects for the fall in his territory never looked better. A fine grain crop is expected, and conditions on every hand are prosperous. The exhibitors are getting good admission prices and patronage during the warm weather has continued fairly heavy.
Spokes from the Hub

By Marion Howard

"MISSING"—what a picture, best in months, and what lovely recall of scenes at the close with the allied flags coming over the top, as if to capture the house as they did, with applause seldom heard in a picture house. Well, it takes a Griffith, an Ince and a Blackton to take from the juvenile ranks such a man as Robert Harron, Charles Ray and now young Robert Gordon, of the "Huckleberry Finn" class, who is the hero in this tremendous picture distinctly English, in all its theme and photography. Being a picture in a way, it is good to see it so well done, and with new angles. It, too, is a credit to James Young, who directed it under supervision of Mr. Blackton, who gives us here his very best picture with, of course, the exception of "The Battle Cry of Peace," which was so special. One scene was most impressive—the convalescent ward in the home of a wealthy country gentleman, played by Thomas Meighan, who being a semi-cripple, turns over his estate to the heroine. She is a very fine, a very safe, acting. I, for one, fancied him "over there." To go back to the play! This is indeed a message to the women at home, but what a cat of a show! One man near me, usually hits after all. Sylvia Breamer as the heroine demonstrated the true spirit of loyalty, courage and sacrifice. What an inspiration this picture is, for war brides especially!

A trade showing of "A Romance of the Underworld" called us to the Fenway the other day, and for an hour or more we had quite an unusual series of pictures. For those who have never gone slumming in New York here we get it pressed true to life—the real-life stuff, a safe bet. Catherine Calvert, David Powell and Eugene O'Brien (some trio) were splendid all through. They depicted life as it is amid such surroundings, and through it all was the gentle influence of the sister who takes a home from a convent only to face a situation most trying. Whether or no this picture has any lessons is a matter of opinion, but it was so different from the average and so well done that it appeals and will make, perhaps, the public get a glimpse into the life of the working class. It certainly shows the evil of dope, and that is one lesson for the young men in front. With a comedy put on the same program to follow this very serious picture I should recommend it for city showings anyhow.*

So Ethel Barrymore is to be seen in Emma McCluskey. Good for Metro in doing this, for, as I recall the play, it will make some hit, especially as Miss Barrymore played it. I hope they will not cut this line relating to the business side of Emma: "Why, she could sell pretzels in London!"

I went twice to see "The Only Road" and enjoyed it better the second time, because at the first look at it there was a bunch of jibbering fans back of me, bent on disturbing the peace with which the ushers did not try to control. Little Dana has a good leading man in Casson Ferguson, and it was good to see Edythe Chapman, so long with Lasky, playing a sympathetic and somewhat dramatic part as the wife. She is very fine, altogether. Again, a special title? What had it to do with play, plot or surroundings? "A Long Lost Daughter" would have been better. However, the play's the thing, and this went well.

"Clove's Rebellion," an old picture, but ever good, filled the house on a recent Sunday night, for Anita Stewart is popular and has not been seen of late in new pictures as this was, to most of the house. To James Oliver Curwood be loyal credit for story and directing of details. This has some of the funniest scenes ever seen here, over the Ford machine, owned by the "poor hut honest" young doctor, played by "Kudy" Cameron. Here we have Charles Stevenson, the veteran stage player, once husband of Kate Claxton, and in support of Leslie Carter many years. He isjokes and fills in well. Eulalie Jensen and Julia Swayne Gordon, that pair of Vitagraph beauties; Brinsley Shaw and William Dunn were in the cast. Good for repeat years hence.

We all liked "De Luxe Annie" over here, for it was not only well directed and photographed, but it had good suspense, and the best of us like that sort of thing. Some did not like to have Eugene O'Brien play the tough, but he turned out a pretty good job of it, all the same. Milton Sils, a leading man who pleases all, and of course Normal Talmadge will put anything over. Here we get the book agent dope—that is, when it involves a pretty girl and a huge amount of work. Miss Talmadge in this does not win, as the number of work in a Jekyll and Hyde part, never slipping up. On the same program at the Exceter Mrs. Ayer gave us that fantastic little play, "Prunella," and this went strong with crowds, the lady house, in particular, taking it up. Strikes me this is rather better than "The Bluebird," done by the same master hand, yet differing somewhat. Marguerite Clark, who created the part in Winthrop Ames' "The Young Doctor," will miss it, I think, in the rendering? (always get them mixed) made a favorable impression, but it seemed a bit highbrow for the average. On the screen, however, we feel differently about it owing to the tremendous possibilities for visualization. We can see where this might not take in small communities, yet it should be shown as something vastly different anywhere.

"Cheating Cheaters" ought to be a fine picture for Clara Kimball Young and we are pleased to note that Otis Skinner has begun his screen work in "Kismet" out in Denver for the National Film. Glad also to note that Paramount has captured Fred Stone. He seems to give just about as much of a surprise as any leading man. The other picture is, of course, the happy ending. If this is not a go everywhere there is something wrong with the theater advertising it. Written as it was by a Harvard man during his college days and a prize winner put out by Paramount with a selected cast it is some picture.

Clara Kimball Young, ever a picture, is more than that in "The Reason Why," though the title is misleading, for there was no good reason why the mother should hide the fact of her motherhood, it being legitimate, and it was a poor reason, considering the life of the child and nothing was gained by it. My companion, said: "What a little fool—why, Frank Losee would have forgiven her at the outset, as her beauty wins, anyhow." You see, folks in front use names of players rather than cast names and this is good, for we learn to know their faces as on the speaking stage. Louise Markrete was a likeable man, and it is good to see Milton Sils where he belongs and in support of such a star. This picture gives joy to femininity, as Clara wears many gowns straight from Fifth avenue. Glad to see Kate Lester amid such surroundings and in "Select" company. Fine photography. Little Eldean Stewart was a pathetic chap.

"True Blue," for William Farnum, had some good touches and a lot of wild and weird atmosphere in it of this Fox player, who is personally popular with all fans. On the same program at the Park we had an excellent Bushman and Bayne picture in "Social Quicksands"—a good picture story which should be something a hit new in plot. The society butterfly of the type disliked by the stumpy hero plans to convert him and make him look like her personally anyhow, so she goes at it with vigor, posing as the most socially winning. The poor fellow cannot only turn the tables at a social function. Good picture.

Madge Kennedy and Tom Moore make a dandy pair, and we are glad the latter is being appreciated by the powers, as he has never been a public favorite. The pair is a good farce with one or two melodramatic moments and a mild satire on the society bluff. Director Miller has done his best to make it go and preserved the atmosphere well. Good, clean picture and diverting these days, when we see so much depicting the man.
Rambles 'Round Filmtown
With WALTER K. HILL.

SPECIAL DENOUNCEMENT.

THE GEORGE CREEL of this shop having declared RAMBLES one-third of the employees who have purchased tickets for a three-act farce may remain as our guests or get their money back at the box-office. This switch in program crowds out some excellent features we had promised—but if you will tolerate Mother Poodles and Vincinity in this issue and ride in the Rubberneck Wagon you will wonder where we get the luck to save even our job.

—W K H.

Margarette Courtot Adopts a Batter.

—Moving Picture World Heading.

Shocking!

—W K H.

"To the Manner Born."

In its Publicity Number the World spoke of Geo. Wash. Landon as "an alumnus of Grammar School No. 68 of Harlem, New York City, where he was born.

Small wonder that Nicholas Power, Inc., has such excellent publicity.

—W K H.

MacLaren Looks Us Over and Stays Dry.

—Moving Picture World Headline.

Holding Broadway as the horrible example?

—W K H.

Jovial Joe Farnham, being a publisher, does half his work by elision methods... but it's different when one is not publisher... of one's own paper.

As You May... Have Observed.

—W K H.

Brooklyn man, said to be a "movie actor," was fined $300 for snatching a German paper from the hands of a street-car stranger. The guilty man told the Judge it was worth more. Promptly the Judge released the agent to a ten-spot. Enter a new "drive" for a "fund-to-finance" etc, etc.

Borrowing from the Profiteer.

Promoters of many advertised articles of commerce, in other lines of industry, have out-thought the picture magnates in one seemingly important essential. Catch phrases, or selling slogans, are identified with many trade marks, very often suggesting the advertised article without even recalling to mind the brand name.

For instance: a certain outstanding of concentrated milk (we can't for the life of us think of the brand), hails from "Conte- tented cow, who do half her work by elision methods... but it's different when one is not publisher... of one's own paper.

The Full Measure of a Screen Queen.

"The formidable ability of Miss Glaum to convey in pantomime the every emotion of womanhood and passion, established her as the stellar actress of the silent drama."—J. Hesser Valravan.

—W K H.

Publicists who struggle against odds in the heat of radio, when it wins out will take courage in the fact that Justin Fair has been given charge of Pathe's publicity department, displacing the gentleman who was first announced as on the job. It was Justin Fair, you will remember, who got his toe-hold in the Pathe organization because of a series of sensible suggestions to publicists, printed in the justly-celebrated Moving Picture World, while Mr. Fair was only a "column conductor," specializing in "movie" news, on a Newark, N. J., daily paper.

Congrats! Palm-Side Up! Shake!

—W K H.

Although the W. K. Industry has been justly characterized as being in its entirety we still hold that UPPERCASE in press copy is non-essential.

—W K H.

"My Four Year in Germany." Stolen from Brooklyn. This week was "What's Headline. The thief of time has always been procrastination. Better keep an eye out for that Greek."

—W K H.

Certainly Pays to Advertise.

"No matter how good your position is to-day it can be better tomorrow if you sell your name before the right people."—Wib's. Right—of Contribute to RAMBLES.

—W K H.

It was a moment of peril for the Fifth Industry when the Kaiser's Evening Mall was commandeered by the authorities and forsook the plan of clean hands. That $10,000 Motion Picture Lovers' Contest had one mighty bad forenoon.

—W K H.

"This prayer for relief (income tax reduction), grows out of the enormous expense entailed on Uncle Scrooge in conducting business in the dozen productions that she makes in a year."—Moving Picture World.

Blaming Old H. C. L. for It.

"Britain's Bulwarks" Winding Up.

—Moving Picture World Headline.

May they never run down!

—W K H.

Blackton's Next Films to Feature Big Names.

—Morning Telegraph Headline.

Can you guess one of them?

—W K H.

Now you see it and now you don't:

"Hands Up" (Pathe).

"The Hidden Hand" (Astra).

"The Unveiling Hand" (World).

—W K H.

West and Northwest Favor Patriotic Films.

—Morning Telegraph Headline.

With the East and South joining in a dead heat.

—W K H.

Joseph O'Sullivan, director of music service for Mutual, remains in Chicago, where he will cue Montreal productions, as in the past—Morning Telegraph.

Distance lends Enchantment.

First Aid to Press Agentry.

Copy desk asserts that the P. A.'s are making a big play for it and are just lately. Suggest that good, usable words be allotted to certain months, switching seasonality to something else. Let "inducted" go for the rest of July with the following runners-up: August, formidable; September commensurate; October, histrionic; November, homogeneous; and so forth.

—W K H.

"From some of the movie ads," the New York Evening World concludes that "It is evident some of them have put the cutting in the Kitchen," for "he can better stand cursing than he can Pershing.

—W K H.

Speeding the Wave of Novelty.

"Rocking Chair Movies" have, for two seasons, been in vogue at Brighton Beach. "Rolling Movies" are now hailed as an invention of the resourceful Goldwyn press department.

Going on from a good start we may now look forward to "Snowbank Movies" for the entertainment of the Elk's Lodges, "Hammock Movies" for the verandas of summer hotels and boarding houses. "Chase-line Movies" projected in back yards of tenements.

Any further suggestions?

—W K H.

"The state rights field," says Arrow Films Bulletin, "is father of open bookings and open bookings has always been with us. Why not identify and credit the mother?"

—W K H.

Plinn Speaks at the Hundred for One City Dinner.

—Morning Telegraph Headline.

If he gets a hundred for every one he makes, it's no wonder he can live in Yonkers.

—W K H.

Dittmars Completes Another Animal Study.

—Moving Picture World Headline.

Looker over the "bull" in Henry MacMahon's publicity department?

—W K H.

Dorothy Green Leading Woman for Love. Moving Picture World Headline.

Getting salaries down within reason?

—W K H.

Scenario—Take Warning.

The way they are acting in Washington their ground gained in films will be surrendered when some省份 dry. Plots that hang on booze-fighting, crimes committed in the name of John Harleycorn and marriages performed under the influence of strong drink have been getting by under legalized rum-bartling—but how can a man get drunk in American moving-pictures if the stuff is not for sale?"

—W K H.

Ed Rosenbaum, Jr., tipped us to the newest form of war profiteering and we investigating the things we heard in the Longsere Building where many film-folk commercially congregate. Conductorlets have lately taken up the place of people in running the lights and who was first to find it out?" Harry Reichenbach, to be sure.

Now the creator of "Tarzan" hires a blond car by the hour and rides up and down.

—W K H.

Proving how little dependence may be placed upon the average mimeograph here is one of our leading publicists advancing us concerning Viny Ridge, "bloody battlefield of the Aztecs and the Americas" and expatiating on "the life idyllic in the neighborhood described as America's latent quarter."

Must Mean Latin to Anzacs.
Rambles 'Round Filmtown

Cigarettes will win the war.
About all the boys do "over there," back here, or on the high seas, is smoke the paper package.

We know this because we read the advertisements in daily papers. In these works of art Uncle Sam's land and seas forces are illustrated as heroic background for the close-up of a cigarette package.

In the first place public men, Chesterfield store owners and Yanks who have sailed their Bull Durham to the needs of better shooters. They will turn with delight to the cigarette announcements as they sense the imagination of the pen-and-ink illustrator of Canal Street Expedition bovine.

Their penance makes every bag of Bull a trophy of the publicist's Prettiest sacrifice in foregrieving their Dieties—the Bull, rampant. There's nothing Pleasure about press agents' hearts. The press agents have long ago been many Mogul of filmdom may attribute his success to his Lucky Strike in landing the right tobacco.

In the win-the-war "drive" cigarette advertisements are featuring the big guns on the home front. Known to the film industry, there's the Monroe Salisbury brand, pictured in the foreground with a doughnut acting as target for bursting shells; "makes it more pleasant while you wait" declares the text. The Meece Bulldog Brandi (touch!), appear as life-buoys for the gun-crew on a ship! The same is listed in Bayonne. Richmond Straight Cuts (smoked by film editors), do similar service to the marines, according to the near-tobacco nearer-artists.

The advertisements recall that soldiers are like a Camel in some respects—they can go many a Molo without a drink but they must be accompanied by their Fatima. That's Natural. The boys go Pull Mali (London pronunciation, please), "over the top" and are never in serious straights if they have their smokettes.

There Hassen't been a case recorded where the Black and White soldiers of the General Smokes Sins have failed or failed to make good. It's only fair to attribute a share of the cause to cigaretters.

And when the word, "kamerad" (conningly thinking the Yanks will believe they are offering a new brand of "smokes") the Yanks know how they are not selfish—they give the Hun the "butts"—of their guns!

What's the Answer? Ask Dad. He Knows.

"I have no idea," contributes Joe Lee, "of trying to break Eddie Foy's record. I think this one "Special Feature" will be all I can handle."

"The world knows," adds the father of the Blue-Byed State Rights Baby, "what native political members of the party have done to some well organized film concern."

Seven Deadly Sins in Foreign Markets—Motion Picture News Headline.
Trading with the enemy should be discouraged. If they have their smokettes, it must be enforced with extreme vigor.

Romayne Completes "Me Und Gott."—Motion Picture News Headline.
Finishing something else the Kaiser started.

Nagging Led Parsons to Screen—Motion Picture News Headline.
"Still" indicate that posies as well as nags have a certain influence in making him stay led.

Wag's Tale of Comedy Prep.
"When it's all over, I hope to say "Wow." This is occasioned by the news that "Luke," Fatty Arbuckle's comic creation, has just signed a new contract calling for fifty bones a week. This is an increase of five bones and is a reward for his recent work.—Morrie Ryskind, in Progress-Advance.

Add to your preparations for the heat term.

Geraldine Farrar, in "The Hell Cat," "Hell's End" (Pathe).

Exposing Political Trickery.
Window Display Without Mention of These Facts—A Woman Exhibitor.—Motion Picture News Headline.
We know the chap who wrote this headline and he voted "No" on the question of equal suffrage in the last election. Now he takes delight in playing up a bit of female anti-mindlessness.

Pathe Avids "Heavy Stuff" for Summer.—Motion Picture News Headline.

Cold Wave Signal Makes Good.

The exhibitor in Washington who has the Winter manner about his house declaring it to be the "coolest spot in Washington" is playing a joke on himself just now, for Washington is almost frozen to death.

Her Neglected Education.
Star of many, many features—wicked girl in some and appealing heroine in others.—Leah Baird finds that the entire mental development of her characters has not been run. Miss Baird finds that in order that the role of the serial heroine for which she is now cast it is necessary for her to go to school. In fact, two shuttlecocks are sent to him the point motor driving and swimming.

Mable Normand is a stickler for truth-telling. She will not equivocate even when asked a question she has a right to refuse to answer.

On her recent trip to Washington, where she met Mrs. Woodrow Wilson at a performance of "Joan of Plattsburg," a child asked the Goldwyn star her age.

"Honey, I'm as old," said Miss Normand, "as there are minutes in the Vespasian Model," divided by 29 and multiplied by 2. Here's a nickel for a pencil, and write me the answer.

Bathing Suit Figures Don't Lie.

John Stewart Robertson Directs Brady.—Motion Picture News Headline.
Give him credit, boys.

Shy and elusive Mae Marsh wants to be "a white lady" in what she is not in real life. She wants to "do something Oriental and be like Cleopatra," as she says.

Well, stranger things have happened. The whim girll of the screen is soon to be transformed into a clay gravity by design.

In her forthcoming Goldwyn production, "Money Mad," she promises to disclose herself swathed in veils, smothered in pearls, and clamped by snaky armlets and anklets.

Whatdya Mean—Dissolve?

Expert Opinion of Great Work.
Last week's issue of the Gibraltar of picture-trade journalism, titled our publicity number, has drawn opinions from the "ins" and "outs" of the profane. As usual the "ins" have the best of it.

When production and an honor to the craft, is that the ultimate opinion.

Industry, why? What a fine opinion those guys have of themselves, is the general plaint of the "outs."

Or words to that effect.—W.s.s.

Fox Acquires Rights to Two Selzer Stories—Exhibitor Herald Headline.
Getting the jumped on the Prohibition movement.

Reissue and Not Retitle.
"Arms and the Woman" (Pathé).
"Arms and the Girl" (Paramount).
"Exhibitor and the Gringo" (Majestic).
All of which would be appropriate in these militant times.

We need an overlooked "Arms and the Man" (Alliance).

Screen comedies are making weekly releases of "Legs and the Woman."

Tom Kerrigan, Able Seaman, in Town.
Tom Kerrigan, a Metro player, but now actually in Uncle Sam's Navy, is getting a lot of playing by this port and France, dropped in on the boys along the Eiltio line. He's looking fine and is "every inch a sailor."

Working in World's Garden.
Frank Mayo, who was once associated with June Elvidge in the "Love Wraith," has a home out in the suburbs of New York City. There's a gardener who is a rather unique character—slow, but very experienced in the ways of gardening.

In cutting a patch of lawn a space of ground Mr. Mayo was undecided whether to have it made at a right angle or diagonally with the main path.

"If you wuz to ast me," said the old fellow, "I'd hev it out dangly." At another time, speaking somewhat slightly of a landscape gardener who had offended him, he said: "I don't much opinion of them ther landscippers who come out here and git their wages and git stuck up over an' call em sail'ry."

"Third and Last."—"To Hell with the Kaiser." ("Snipe") used by the Broadway theatres.

Vengeance Is Short But Sweet.

Finally the exchequer gets into the moving picture business: "An Old Exhibitor,"—Dramatic Mirror. "Exhibitor to Exhibitor."—Motion Picture News. "This Sounds Good."—Motion Picture News Headline.

"Music for the Pictures."
Ethel Lynne and Jay Dalscope, Leota Lorraine and Pauline Godard are principals in the newly-made Christie comedy in which a piccolo, victrola, an automatic dinner and a ukulele are principal roles.—Mabel Condon's News Letter.

"The Birth of the Nation."

Both Ends Against the Middle.
When Universal abandoned the original name of Mary Roberts Rinehart's "K" for "The Doctor and the Woman" they lost the personal interest of a whole lot of people right in their own line of business. Namely, he, there's: George K. Spoor, James K. Hackett, clown, Robert Travers, Charles K. Harris, Edward K. Lincoln, Eugene K. Allen, Eastman K. Oak, well K. Industry And least of all, THE RAMBLER.
Scene from "A Flying Start" (Universal).

"A Flying Start" Gets Away for Universal August 5

The first episode of Universal's newest serial, "The Brass Bullet," entitled "A Flying Start" heads Universal subjects scheduled for release during the week of August 5. According to the announcements by Universal its newest serial effort literally lives on the title of its initial chapter in that it gets off to a flying start.

The cast assembled for "The Brass Bullet" is said to be easily the strongest that has yet appeared in a Universal serial. The players appearing in the stellar roles include such performers as Juanita Hansen, Jack Mulhall, Joseph Gerhard, Ashton Dearholt and Hal Crocker.

Among the comedies which are programmed for the week are "It Can't Be Done," a Nestor, featuring Lee Kolmar, the popular vaudeville artist; "Fools and Fiends," an L. K., which gives Billy Arning and Rube Miller an opportunity to display their amusing talents, and "Don't Shoot!" a Lyons-Moran Star Comedy.

Another of the two-reel western productions which Universal reports as meeting with hearty receptions and scheduled for release during the week is "The Trail of No Return." This short subject features Neal Hart and Eliven.

Sadegwick, and is a fine example of the frontier story.

Special announcements concerning the Bluebird and Special Attraction features for the week will be issued by Universal shortly.

"Secret Strings" Chosen for Olive Tell's First

MAXWELL KARGER, production manager of Metro's eastern studios, has selected "Secret Strings" as the initial production for Olive Tell. Originally a short magazine story from the pen of Kate Jordan, it was later converted into play form for Lou Tellegen, and its serialization has been made by June Mathis.

"Secret Strings" is a story that is rich in adventure, romance, intrigue, with a strong love interest throughout. It is one of the best screen mediums that Metro has yet secured.

John Ince has been appointed by Mr. Karger to direct Miss Tell and her company, and actual work before the camera has begun.

William J. Kelly has been engaged to play opposite Miss Tell. He will have the role formerly played by Lou Tellegen in the stage production.

Continuing Demand for "Zeppelin L-21"

"The Last Raid of Zeppelin L-21" continues to set the fast pace it established some weeks ago as a most timely short-length war feature, says General Film Company. It pictures the aerial raids on London and the sensational manner in which Zeppelins were eliminated as a vital factor in the war by a daring British aviator.

Big Advertising Campaign for Pathe's "Hands Up"

CONTRACTS just signed by Mr. Paul Brunet, vice president and general manager of Pathe Exchange, Inc., assure to "Hands Up" the new Pathe serial in which Ruth Roland stars, and which will be released on August 18, the most pretentious direct-to-the-public advertising campaign which has ever been conducted on a Pathe serial.

Practically every city and town of any size in the entire United States will be extensively posted with what competent critics declare to be a model twenty-four sheet printout to set the pace. It is designed by Burton Illece. The poster shows the Phantom Rider, the imagination captivating mystery character he created, with Ruth Roland in his arms, escaping from pursuing Indians, his big black horse coming at top speed almost directly at the observer. To illustrate the care used to make this poster the best of its kind it is only necessary to state that 100 printings were necessary to bring out the proper shadings of color.

As the posters will all be on the boards by the 5th of August this will assure a sufficient amount of time prior to the release to arouse public interest in the serial. Present indications are that many exhibitors will take the advantage of the campaign to tie it up to their own theaters through advertising in local newspapers and bill posting of their own, thus following the example of successful merchandisers in other lines who make use of national advertising on goods they stock to direct buyers to their establishments.

The list of advertising material includes three and six-sheet posters on each episode; the usual photographic lobby display; a general herald in two copies for each week of the serial; and a large newspaper cut-out as the herald which was so successful on "House of Hate"; one column newspaper cut-outs of the Phantom Rider; photo cards of George Chesebro and also mats; a two color cut-out of Summer, a mat; scene cuts and mats; black and white photos of Ruth Roland, George Chesebro, Easter Walters and the Phantom Rider.

Essanay Issues Block of Snavkeville Comedies

BEGINNING August 18, Essanay will become a new distributor of the Snakeville comedies. This is the third block of ten pictures put out on these Western comedies, featuring Slimy Slim, Mustang Pete, and Sophie Clutts.

They will be released through the General Film Company. The first twenty now on the market have been received with much enthusiasm, according to exhibitors and the releasing organization, that it was deemed advisable to issue a third set.

They are swift moving slapstick comedies of fifteen minutes in length, and have been found excellent subjects to run in combination with feature productions to enliven a night's program.

Among those to be issued in the third are "Snakeville's Beauty Parlor," "Snakeville's Twins," "Snakeville's Beauty Parlor," and "Versus Sledge Hammers."
Universal Working to Get Negatives Ahead

A CTING upon instructions issued by Cari Laemmle the producing units at Universal City are hard at work on subjects which are to be scheduled for release during the coming autumn and winter. With all plans for the most aggressive sales drive in the history of that organization already completed, it is the desire of the Universal executives to be even further ahead in negatives than is now the case.

The report issued from the office of the general manager at Universal City states that Monroe Salisbury now has a new director, William Wolbert, and a new leading woman, Adda Gleason. The picture on which Salisbury is at work has been given the title of "That Devil Bateese," and affords the Universal player an opportunity to return to his most congenial roles.

Edith Roberts, having finished "The Deciding Kiss," is at work on a screen version of "The Doings of Diana," by Rex Taylor.

The working title of the production in which Mary Pickford is starring under the direction of Robert Leonard is "Merry Mary McGuire," and among the cast will be found William V. Mong.

Bath Clifford has started a production under the direction of Rupert Julian, the tentative title of which is "Mating Time." The story is by Elliot J. Clawson, Rupert Julian and Fred Myron. Kenneth Harlan is the leading man.

Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran have a new leading woman in Dot DeVore, a former musical comedy singer.

Little Zoe Rae has been started in "Sinbad, the Sailor," a unique story adapted from the Arabian Knights. Priscilla Dean is working as the star in a story entitled "Joan of the Apaches," written by Harvey Gates and produced by Joseph DeGrasse.

Allen Holubar has started production on a story of his own for Dorothy Phillips. It is entitled provisionally, "Till We Meet Again."

Douglas Gerrard is at work on a sensational subject which has not been named as yet. The story was written by Sidney Toler.

Scene from "Petticoats and Politics" (Plaza-Hodkinson).

Anita King in "Petticoats and Politics" Is First Plaza

T HE home office of the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation announces that Anita King is to be the first star whose productions are to be released under the new section of Hodkinson service as Plaza Pictures. It has been published that the addition to Hodkinson service would consist of three star series.

The Anita King series, which, it is understood, will consist of eight pictures, commences with "Petticoats and Politics."

This production is a particularly happy one for Miss King, inasmuch as it gives her an opportunity to display that athletic ability which has won her fame in the past.

In "Petticoats and Politics," which is a satirical comedy on the development of woman suffrage in a small Nevada town, Miss King is given an opportunity of handling her six-shooter and racing over Western deserts, as well as participating in several tense scenes. A thread of humor runs through the story.

Several other productions following Miss King in special offices, and heads called, and the Hodkinson Corporation assures exhibitors that there will be no chance of a delay in release dates.

Diamond Comedies Shown at New York Theater

T HE Diamond comedies released by General Film Company, produced by Diamond Film Company of New Orleans, and directed by Frank P. Donovan, have been booked over the Leow circuit, two playing a New York theater on a recent Saturday and Sunday. The Saenger Amusement Company in the South has also booked these comedies for their fifty-two theaters for a week run.

These comedies have a small exclusive foreign agency for these comedies, and is now offering them to European buyers from his office at 591 Fifth avenue, New York.

The Diamond Film Company has a large daylight studio situated on the famous Bayou St. John. The studio is capable of accommodating ten directors, all working at one time. They have laboratories, projecting rooms, cutting and negative departments, jungles, carpenter and property shops, water tanks, and practically everything that a modern studio should have.

Director Donovan and General Manager William J. Hannon are installing new ideas in the plant that they gleaned in a recent trip to New York. Mr. Hannon has had picture experience, having been a producer and the owner of the Nola Feature Company, which the Diamond Company bought, although this company has no connection whatever with Nola. The Diamond is desirous of obtaining good scenarios from experienced writers, for which they will pay the regular rates. They want stories that feature a girl and comedian of the better class, with a little farce comedy intermingled. William Morgan Hannon is scenario editor of the Diamond comedies, and was formerly editor of the Nola Films. He is also the author of books on scenario writing. Scripts should be addressed to him.

Miss Fisher in Comedy of Clothes Heads Mutual List

M ARGARITA FISHER heads Mutual's schedule for the week of July 22 in "Isabelle Susan," a typical five-reel Fisher comedy-drama, dealing cleverly and originally with the question of whether a woman makes the clothes or clothes makes the woman. The picture casts Miss Fisher as an unsophisticated, completely awkward country girl, who, upon the death of her father, turns to a London dressmaker who has been for years housekeeper to a rich young bachelor. The relative secures the consent of her employer to bring Susan into the home, and he, convinced that "clothes makes the woman," agrees with an intimate friend a tailoress to fashionable women, to test his theory.

"On Her Account," the Strand comedy released on July 22, is a clever attempt for money for the American Red Cross. It deals with the troubles of an unbusinesslike bank balance is constantly overdrawn. Her husband lets her go to jail to teach her a lesson, but he gets a $190 fine from the court when it is revealed that the offending check has been drawn in favor of the American Red Cross.

"A White Wilderness" is the fifth of the outstanding Chester adventure pictures of the series popular at Mutual exchanges. It is scheduled for July 28. The picture is of a cameraman's visit to the ice fields of British Columbia, two hundred square miles of snow and ice, glaciers, towering mountain peaks and unexplored wilderness.

Screen Telegram, Mutual's twice a week newssheet, is to be released hereafter by exchanges, upon receipt. It carries the latest events up to the hour of closing in New York, where the editorial offices of the news weekly are now located.

Goenese Handing Laugh to Islanders.

Chaplin every day for sixty days! That record has been established by Paul Goenese, a Coney Island exhibitor, who has booked the twelve Chaplin-Mutual specials continuously for the summer season at New York's famous playground. Every twelve days all summer Mr. Goenese will repeat a Chaplin-Mutual. His summer booking gives him a total of twelve repeats on the entire series, a total of 144 days for twelve pictures.
Fay Tincher Says Writers Are Overlooking Comedies

FAY TINCHER, the famous comedienne, who is producing a series of two-reel comedies under a distribution by World-Pictures, says that everybody writes for five-reel features and overlooks the great chance for comedy stories, for which there is a great demand.

"I am reliably informed," says Miss Tincher, "that a thousand stories find their way into the hands of scenario editors each week and out and of this great number of manuscripts only a few are produced. Everybody who has seen a half dozen pictures is positive that they can write as good, if not better stories than are shown on the screen.

This peculiar mental process is true of the screen as well, and my only regret is that these same writers do not turn their efforts toward the comedy end of the industry. The hardest thing in the world to find outside of sudden riches is a good script that can be converted into a two-reel comedy. I can assure any writer that he will have an immediate reading of any script he sends me, and I am sure that other stars appearing in comedies will do the same. The one thing for the author to bear in mind is to confine the scenes to a limited number of sets, as a two-reel comedy has to operate in situations instead of scenic environments."

Butte’s Rialto Pulls Chaplin Stunt.

A novel publicity stunt put over in conjunction with the showing of Charlie Chaplin’s initial First National attraction, “A Dog’s Life,” was the means of securing considerable space in the new columns of local newspapers for the Rialto theater of Butte, Mont. The stunt consisted of holding a “Charlie Chaplin Imagination Contest” following a performance of “A Dog’s Life.” Scores of Butte youngsters responded to the invitation of the Rialto’s manager to compete for the prizes which were offered for the three most accurate imitations of the famous Chaplin eccentricities, the merits of each contestant’s performance being decided by the audience’s applause.

The stunt was a big success from a business-setting standpoint, for friends and relatives of the embryo comedians turned out en masse to cheer their favorites.

Irene Castle Leads Pathé

For the Week of July 28

IRENE CASTLE’S “The First Love” is the important feature of the program released for the week starting July 28. Antonio Moreno is Mrs. Castle’s leading man in this picture. “The First Love” is based upon the novel written by Gibson Willits, who wrote “Hands Up,” the new Pathé serial, and who is now regularly engaged by Pathé. The story is swiftly moving, and has to do with a girl who marries a scoundrel, believing herself in love with him. This marriage is kept secret, and only becomes known when the girl, realizing the madness of her step, confesses to the man she comes to love. She is attacked by her husband, and shoots in self-defense. She believes she has killed him, and falls an easy victim to the scurrilous machinations of a villainous detective. How she escapes from her predicament is cleverly and ingeniously told in the concluding part of the play.

The comedy feature on the program is supplied by Toto and a bevy of girls in “Heath Nuts,” which abounds in mirth-provoking situations.

The twelfth part of the west coast series is called “The East Indians in British Guiana.”

The week’s part of the Post Travel series is called “The East Indians in British Guiana.”

The Hearst-Pathé News No. 62 will be released on July 31, and Hearst-Pathé News No. 63 on August 3.

Famous Players-Lasky Plans Exploitation of Lila Lee

THAT within three months Lila Lee, the new Paramount star, who is now appearing in her first motion picture, "The Cruise of the Make-Believe," will be as well known as any star of the screen is the promise of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

In the next months every man, woman and child in America will know who Lila Lee is, will know her story, will know her picture. She has already displayed her, said one of the executives of the Famous Players-Lasky organization last week. "And not only will they know about her, but they will flock to the theater that shows her photoplay. Over a dozen national magazines have already displayed her picture on the front cover and last week her picture was on four different publications on the newsstands."

"A big exploitation plan, details of which we are not in a position to give at this time, is now well under way for Miss Lee. There are several new things in the way of publicity which are being used and designed to make her name a house-
Lockwood to Appear in Screen Classics, Inc.

That Harold Lockwood's appearances in the productions of Screen Classics, Inc., distributed by Metro, under which banner future Lockwood vehicles will be patiently completed, "A King in Khaki," are to be presented, will be made under the most auspicious conditions, is a fact that is indicated in an announcement of the arrangements which have been made to cover Mr. Lockwood's visits to the Cast, where he arrived with members of his company last week for an indefinite stay.

The Lockwood company is occupying the Baconer-Backer studios at 230 West Thirty-eighth street, New York. It is a new plant with a faculty known to modern picture making.

"Fa's First" has been selected as the next vehicle, and the production of it has already been started. "A King in Khaki," is a romantic drama, based on Francis Perry Elliott's novel of the same name, and is recalled as having been presented on the speaking stage, with William Courtenay and Thomas A. Wise playing the leading roles, in an adaptation of the printed work prepared by Leon Wilson Dodd.

The production of the picture is in charge of Edwin Carewe, who has staged many Metro releases and who is considered one of the genuinely successful directors working for the company. He is also "Corra," starring Emily Stevens, the first Metro picture to be marketed, and has been with Metro primarily ever since.

Anthony Adami, Gaudio's efforts in photographing Lockwood's Metro releases in the last two years have won him wide recognition, will act as cameraman.

Miss Kenyon Honored at West Point.

Doris Kenyon, star of De Luxe Pictures, Inc., took time enough off from the screening of "The Inn of the Blue Moon" at the West Point show to attend a photographing Miss Kenyon was championed by Brigadier-General and Mrs. Eil Hoyle, of the Coast Defense. General Hoyle was formerly a staff officer at West Point. The entire cadet corps was turned out to honor the star, and the moving picture star. Miss Kenyon was the guest of honor at a dinner party followed by a dancing at the base by General Hoyle and Miss Kenyon, in charge of the caviar at West Point.

Von der Goltz Should Be Authority on "Prussian Cur"

Captain Horst Von der Goltz, who appears personally in the William Fox production of "The Prussian Cur," and upon whose revelations of the German spy system in America the picture is largely based, has had a career that fairly bristles with intrigue. Von der Goltz, during a period of ten years, served the Kaiser as a secret agent in Europe, Mexico, South America, and the United States, and, in the "The Prussian Cur," he exposes the whole vast system of intrigue and espionage to which he formerly belonged.

The former secret agent, in the role of Otto Stoermer, is the source of the sly inside workings of the "invisible embassy" which Couth von Bernstorff left in America with his home, as the insidious propaganda which was set on foot by the ex-ambassador while he was representing Germany in the United States.

Von der Goltz, according to his own confession, the secrets of the spy system in this country, the more closely associated in these intrigues with Franz von Papen, formerly German Ambassador to this country. It was because Von Papen betrayed him to the English Government and almost caused his execution as a spy that Von der Goltz, as he declares, turned against his former masters and determined upon a complete exposure of the secret methods of Berlin.

Coming to America at the time of the Madure uprising in Mexico, he entered the United States army, later deserting and joining the Mexican revolutionists. He eventually drifted into the service of Villa, and left the forces of "Pancho" only when summoned to Washington to take up the work of Bernstorff and Von Papen in "Educating the American Public."

When the plot to blow up the Welland Canal in Canada was hatched, Von der Goltz was the man chosen to lead the expedition. The attempt ended in failure and Von der Goltz fled to England on a forged passport bearing the name of "Bridgeman Taylor." Later, when Von Papen was sent home to Germany, papers found on him by British officials implicated Von der Goltz in alleged acts of espionage against England, and the spy was arrested and thrown into the Tower of London. For fifteen months he faced the penalty of death, but was finally released in order that he might go to America and testify against his former colleagues in the trial of Capt. Tauchurer.

Captain Von der Goltz has laid bare, in "The Prussian Cur," the huge mass of secret information which he gained during his long period of service with America's arch foe.

Scene from "False Ambition" (Triangle).

Roy Stewart Is Cupid's Messenger in Triangle Western.

The first release on the Triangle program for July 21 is "By Proxy," third in a series of the Henry Wallace pictures. It tells of the clean, clear, brisk West, with lots of fun, and a romance in which, through mistaken identity, "Red" Saunders, the friend of a pal in distress, at last wins for himself a bride. Roy Stewart is again "Red." Saunders, with Maude Wayne as Lindy, the heroine. Like its predecessors this play was directed by Cliff Smith, with photography by Steve Rouns.

The second release on the Triangle program for the week features Alma Rubens in a production directed by Gilbert P. Hamilton, "False Ambition," from a story by E. Magnus Ingleton. It is a story of alternating personalities, of conflicting emotions. The mysteriously attractive personality of Judith is her misfortune. This independent wild girl unconsciously creates her own calamity only to be saved from ruin by the decree of fate. And finally in the solution of the mystery reveals her to a realization that she possesses a soul.

Alma Rubens is Judith, and she is supported by a cast of unusual length including Peggy Pearson, Edward Peil, Lee Phelps, and Lee Hill. The photography of this production is said to be exceptional. Jack McKenzie was the cameraman.

Entertainment Needed for Soldiers' Families at Home.

It is announced by General Sales Manager William Steiner of the American Standard Motion Picture Corporation that several new and important releases will shortly be added to the company's program.

"I find," says Mr. Steiner, "that the demand for domestic subjects is strong. There is a revolution among exhibitors against war stuff, as it is called, unless it is of an exceptionally interesting and important nature.

"These remarks of mine," continues Mr. Steiner, "are based upon reports from our exchanges. While it is true that war is the uppermost thought in all our minds, it is also true that the mind needs relaxation and relief. Look at the efforts that are being made to amuse our soldiers in France. Do you not also think that the people at home need to be entertained and amused? I do and so do most of us, I think, who give the matter a little sober reflection.

"Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war, and there is much mental suffering at home of a hero nature to be alleviated. I would like to take the opportunity of stating that the American Standard stands only for clean subjects. The screen must be kept pure, inspiring and uplifting in teaching. Sex subjects as such no longer find a place in the adult theater. We must all endeavor to show the finer and nobler things of life in our pictures. This is not for derogating human nature, but rather one for endeavoring to exalt it."
Local Color Rampant in Pathe's "Girl from Bohemia"

SINCE newspapers of general circulation and the nationally sold magazines have been very generous in the past two or three years in awarding gratuitous publicity to the alleged Bohemians who inhabit Washington Square, McDougal Alley, West Fourth street, Sheridan Square, and many other parts of old Greenwich village in New York the interest in Irene Castle's Pathe play, "The Girl from Bohemia," will be by no means local. New Yorkers who know their New York are inclined to scoff at the stories of the peculiar patrons, poets, and posturers who live in old Fourth street.

All that as it may there is a certain glamour still hovering over these men and women who propose to live the life idyllic in the neighborhood described as America's "Latin" quarter. The scene of "The Girl from Bohemia" is laid in the neighborhood of Greenwich village, and pictures "The Girl from Bohemia" will follow

Mrs. Castle's "The First Law." Further interest centers about both these pictures, for they are the last to be taken in which the widow of the dancer-aviator appears.

Coombs to Support Catherine Calvert.

Guy Coombs, formerly leading man for Madame Petrho and other stellar luminaries of the screen, will appear opposite Catherine Calvert in "The Girl with a Post." by Paul Armstrong, now being produced by the Frank A. Keeny Pictures Corporation. Miss Calvert is Mr. Armstrong's widow and starred in some of his most successful dramas, including "A Romance of the Underworld." She is now being featured in a screen adaptation of his play. All of the interiors of "The Girl with a Post" are being taken in the biograph Studios in the Bronx. Some picturesque exteriors have been filmed in the last fortnight in the northern part of New Jersey. The story is a romantic one, replete with thrills and dramatic incident.

Julius Stern Engages Avery to Direct L-Ko's

Julius Stern, president of the L-Ko Comedy Company, announces that Charles Avery has been engaged to direct some of the forthcoming pictures to be filmed by that organization. Avery is one of the industry's veteran comedy directors and comes to L-Ko with a long string of screen successes to his credit. Given his original opportunity by H. W. Griffith, Mr. Stern's new producer later became affiliated with the Keystone organization.

No less than thirty-one of the vehicles in which Roscoe Arbuckle has appeared were directed by Avery. He also produced the Hogan series in which Charlie Murray was starred. Probably the most notable comedy for which this director was responsible was "The Blockade Pirate," in which was featured Sid Chaplin, brother of the famous Charlie, Sid Chaplin appeared in six other Avery-directed pictures.

Immediately prior to his L-Ko connection Avery was affiliated with Mack Sennett. The name of his first picture, which is now in course of production, has not as yet been announced by the head of the L-Ko company.

Paramount Issues Five Productions in August

FIVE feature productions, in nearly all of which comedy is the dominant element, are established in the Paramount release schedule for the month of August. Three of them are Thomas H. Ince productions starring Charles Ray, Dorothy Dalton and Enid Bennett, while Pauline Frederick and Billie Burke will be seen as the respective stars of the others.

"A Nine o'Clock Town," issued August 5, in which Thomas H. Ince presents Charles Ray, was both written and directed by Victor L. Schertzinger. Jane Novak again appears as Mr. Ray's leading woman, and the supporting cast includes Otto Hoffman, Gertrude Claire, Catherine Young and Dorcas Mathews.

Victorien Sardou's famous play, "Fedora," first played by Mme. Bernhardt in Paris and later in this country by Fanny Davenport and in grand opera by Mme. Cavallari, will be found to be admirably suited to the dramatic talents of Pauline Frederick. This August 12 release was directed by Edward Jose. Alfred Hickman, Jere Austin, W. L. Abingdon and Wilmuth Merkly comprise the cast.

Billie Burke's starring vehicle is "In Pursuit of Polly." Izola Forrester and Manna Paine wrote the story from which Eva Parnell adapted the scenario. Thomas Meighan appears as Miss Burke's leading man and in the cast are Alfred Hickman, Frank Losee, A. J. Herreid, William Davidson and Ben Deely. Chester Withey directed.

Under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince, B. William Neill directed Dorothy Dalton in "Green Eyes," which will be released August 26. In the cast are Jack Holt, Eddy Johnson, Nels Hae, Robert McKim and Clyde Benson.

In "Coals of Fire," also set for release August 26, in which Thomas H. Ince presents Enid Bennett, Fred Niblo makes his screen bow in the leading male role. Victor L. Schertzinger directed. Melbourne MacDouwell, Billy Elmer, Virginia Southern, John P. Lockney and Donald MacDonald are in the cast.

"Smiling Sammy" a Near-Star.

Smiling Sammy, the colored lad who has been so prominent in recent Baby Marie Osborne pictures made by Dia, attains almost stellar importance in "Winning Grandma," the Baby Marie picture to be released by Pathe August 18. To see this little tike beating the beautiful grand square piano in the home of a wealthy granddame is a circus in itself.
Mutual Reports Advance

Bookings for Hayakawas

Samuel Rork, general sales manager of Haworth Pictures Corporation, who is selling direct to exhibitors in the more important United States markets for its first-run release in leading theaters the Hayakawa series of eight specials in five and six reels, to be released by Mutual, points to bookings already contracted as evidence of the Japanese star's popularity.

"Hayakawa is the best of the big theater managers of the country with whom I have come in contact," said Mr. Clune.

"A short time ago I booked the series of Hayakawa specials with W. H. Clune of Los Angeles, and was told by him that he considered Hayakawa the most finished actor on the screen, and his opinion is supported by most of the big theater managers of the country with whom I have come in contact. Mr. Clune said: "Hayakawa has been an instantaneous success in my territory, and the reason isn't hard to establish. I doubt whether there is a man in America who would have won recognition so wide as that he now enjoys had he appeared on the American screen, because there is no interpreter of Japanese drama, though his success in Japan was as complete as has been his triumph in the United States."

"The first two of the Hayakawa series, 'His Birthright' and 'The Temple of Dusk,' have been completed, and the star is now at work in Los Angeles on his third picture."

What Fox is Doing at Studios East and West

FIVE William Fox productions are now at work in the East and at the Fox West Coast studios at Los Angeles. The films are being worked on in the West Director Robert Thornby has just taken Jewel Carmen, the Fox star, and a company of players to Huntington Lake, where scenes will be filmed for "Lawless Love," which is adapted from a magazine story by Max Brand of the same name.

William Farnum and Director Frank Lloyd and a company of thirty are now in the Grand Canyon in Arizona filming scenes in the Zane Grey story, "The Rainbow Trail" and the story of the Purple Sage," another Zane Grey story just completed by Mr. Farnum.

Director J. Gordon Edwards has started on "The She-Devil," his twenty-eight production for William Fox, and while Gladys Harkiew is on "The She-Devil," his twenty-eight production for William Fox, while Director Edward LeSaint is busy cutting "Kulu." Director Lynn Reynolds is in the second week of the filming of "Mr. Logan, U. S. A."

Kerrigan Reissues Sold For Several Territories

A n indication of the demand for short length subjects in which stars of present day popularity appear, the Arrow Film Corporation points to the fact that the following buyers have already contracted for the series of ten two reel and thirty single reel reissues of J. Warren Kerrigan subjects: Benjamin Amsterdam of Masterpiece Film Attractions, Philadelphia, for eastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey; Quality Film Service, Pittsburgh, for western Pennsylvania and West Virginia; Standard Film Service, Cleveland and Detroit, for Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky; E. & H. Film Distributing Company, Atlanta, for Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, and V. H. Hoppd, Inc., Indiana, and for Indiana.

Dr. W. E. Shallenberger, President of Arrow, announces that a novel method of sales and exploitation is being pursued by this organization. Before accepting a series of reissues, inquiry is made among theaters and exchanges as to the popularity of the productions, and based upon the answers received, the policy and method of sale is determined. If the answers indicate that any specific star or character of productions is not in demand in more than two-thirds of the United States the Arrow does not exploit the release.

Essanay's "Young America" Strikes Patriotic Keynote

YOUNG AMERICA," the George K. Spoor feature which now is in the course of production at the Essanay studios, is a particularly timely play, inasmuch as it strikes the patriotic keynote of the American youth.

It shows that inherent love for the flag and country in every boy's heart no matter what his condition or station in life. While it deals with particular boys, yet they are emblems of the typical American youth, full loving, of full mischief, and sometimes overstepping the boundary lines, yet concealing an undercurrent of honor and loyalty that quickly responds either to individual kindness or to the great moments such as call the boys to service of the nation.

The leading character is the village bad boy, a lad who has run wild since early boyhood, seemingly impossible to train or control. According to conventional standards he appears to have no code of honor or loyalty, yet there is hidden in his heart a love for his dog, for which he is willing to risk his life, and a devotion and loyalty to the "country in name," for which he is ready at all times to throw down the gauntlet of battle or to sacrifice his liberty.

Then comes the touch of the woman who understands him, and the blossoming of all the idealism and manliness of a boy rapidly approaching mature years springs to the front in the determination to protect his flag and his country against all enemies at all costs.

Nothing more typical of boyhood and of the life and psychology of young America could be exemplified than by this photo-play. The boys in the picture are as truly alive and human as are Huckleberry Finn or Tom Sawyer, given to the same mischievousness, and stimulated by the same motives to good or evil.

Pathe Plans Sales Reel for "Hands Up."

Pathe will issue a special sales reel on the new serial "Hands Up." It is announced that this will be shown to exhibitors throughout the United States the latter part of July. It comprises views of the special paper and other advertising aids, scenes from the opening episodes of the serial, which is the first one of western atmosphere to be issued by Pathe, and shots of the stars, Ruth Roland and George Chesbro, and of the heavy exterior sets are included.
Sherry to Release Keeney's "Out of the Night" Aug. 4

AUGUST 4 has been tentatively set as the date for the third release of the William L. Sherry Service, "Out of the Night," by一by-wright Sherry, for a Frank A. Keeney production. Mr. Sherry is distributing all of the Keeney pictures and all of the releases which have been produced by Doris Kenyon at the head of her own company, De Luxe Pictures, Inc. The picture which Ms. Kenyon is said to be one of exceptional interest, and is alive with thrilling incidents and highly dramatic situation, is to be the first other Keeney picture thus far produced, Catherine Calvert is featured. Herbert B. Sargent is the best known leading man of the screen, plays the part opposite her. The production was made under the personal direction of James Kirkwood, who directs all of the Keeney pictures. Mr. Sheldon was the author of "The Forbidden Walls," one of Theda Bara's greatest successes.

The service newly organized by Mr. Sherry is the second company under the name of Miss Kenyon as the head of her own company, "The Street of Seven Stars," was released. The demand for both pictures has been uniformly good. Mr. Sherry says, in spite of the general lassitude of the summer season, "Reports from exhibitors show that the class of pictures I am now handling are going over big with the public," says Mr. Sherry. They are dramas, south-western pictures, but pictures with a punch and a real human appeal. I had been assured by other companies that exhibitors even before I began actual distribution that exhibitors were clamoring for high-class productions, and that the public, judging by the number of circulars they got the goods. My whole effort was directed to the end that exhibitors should be supplied with the kind of films that are more intimately familiar than anything else with the kind of picture the public is clamoring for. This distributor may have his own opinion as to what the people should have, but he cannot feel the pulse of the public as exhibitors can. Therefore the least criterion of the proper kind of picture for the exhibitor's district to handle is to be found in the needs of the exhibitor, and the general purveyor of public opinion needs the most carefully is the one who meets with the greatest success.

The next Kenyon release will be "The Fedora" With Frederick
To Be Released August 12

With the release of "Fedora" on the Paramount schedule on August 12 the public again will have an opportunity of seeing Pauline Frederick in a Sardou role. The prestige of Sardou as a contributor to the French stage may be compared to that of Shakespeare as a creator of English drama. "Fedora" was written for Mme. Bernhardt, and was produced by her in Paris in 1882. Fanny Davenport produced the play with a cast at the Fourth Street, New York, on October 1, 1883, and it was her starring vehicle for four years thereafter. Subsequently it was set to music and Mme. Cavalieri sang the title role at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, 1906. An tragic portrayal of the intrigue which permeated Russian court life during the last century. The work of adapting title is "A Law unto Itself," by Charles E. Whittaker, who spent many years in Russia. Finally, the direction of the show was in the hands of Edward Xen, Edward Jose, the veteran French actor and stage director. The result of their combined efforts is a production said to be of the greatest dramatic intensity and supremely artistic in every respect.
Atlantic City Backgrounds for Emmy Wehlen Subject

DIRECTOR Charles J. Brabin has taken Emmy Wehlen and the Metro company supporting her in "The Bonded Wife" down to Atlantic City to film several scenes depicting life at one of our American seacoast vacation resorts. Lois and Arthur Zeiller wrote "The Bonded Wife" and June Mathis made the scenario.

It is these particular scenes upon which the whole crux of the play hinges. It is here that Doris Morse—Miss Wehlen—comes incognito after leaving the wealthy home of her father, Digby Morse, which is played by Frank Currier, tired of the luxury with which she has been surrounded and desirous of just being one of a group for a change; and it is here that she meets Phil Hazzard, impersonated for the screen by Croighten Hale.

Miss Wehlen, during this portion of the play, will have an opportunity for that beauty of costuming for which she is so well known, and included in her list of distinctly smart and charming frocks are some recent Paris importations; and Miss Wehlen's bathing suits are really a whole picture in themselves, the star having had them made and hand-painted in accordance with her own original designs.

Chaplin Gets Australia's Cake.

For the first time in its history The Green Room Magazine of Australia has given the historical "Green Room cake" to a man in appreciation of his work. That man is Charlie Chaplin, the famous million-dollar comedian; the work, "A Dog's Life".

The Green Room cake is a real cake of huge proportions, which for a number of years has been given to an actress, either of the stage or films, for some special achievement in her art. The oation given to Chaplin was recently in Sydney was so great, however, that the proprietors of the magazine decided to depart from the usual custom of giving only to an actress, and so Charlie "took the cake."

The cake is on its way from the Antipodes, and its arrival at the Chaplin studios is looked forward to with keen interest.

"The Fallen Angel" (Fox).

Depicting the temptation, the fall and the disillusionment of溺妇, the preferred luxury to honor. "The Fallen Angel," with Jewel Carmen as the star, is announced as the latest of the Fox's Special Feature releases. "The Fallen Angel" is based on one of the most famous of Courvoisier's stories. "You Can't Get Away With It," which created a sensation recently when published in magazine and book form. The scenario was written by Bennett Cole and the picture was directed by Robert Thornby, this being the first production directed for William Fox by Mr. Thornby.

Miss Carmen is supported by a particularly capable cast in "The Fallen Angel," the other players being Charles Clary, L. C. Shumway, Herbert Heyes, Daisy Robinson and Lavine Monsch.

Snappy Titles for Outing-Chesters.

"Entertainment value," the well-known punch, has been put into the series of Mutual's one-reel Outing-Chester adventure pictures with clever and original subtitles. These titles were written by Katharine Hilliker on the order of the present-day popular magazine caption. The conventional dryly worded descriptive matter of this type of picture is disguised in clever, entertaining chatter, which tells the audience as much as the more laborious and serious caption did, but in a much more vivid way. The titles are semi-humorous and snappy.

"Pershing's Crusaders" Runs Month in Boston

The first United States official war film, "Pershing's Crusaders," compiled under the direction of the Division of Films of the Committee on Public Information, has completed an engagement of four consecutive weeks at Gordon's Olympia Theater, Boston. The run of the big war film at the Boston theater proved an emphatic success, capacity business having prevailed throughout the entire engagement.

N. H. Gordon, who controls the New England franchise of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, has made arrangements to feature "Pershing's Crusaders" in the entire string of theaters which he operates throughout the New England states, after which he will distribute the picture generally throughout his territory.

Mr. Gordon reports keen interest among New England showmen in "Pershing's Crusaders," and declares that he anticipates a record-breaking demand for the picture, basing his judgment upon the scores of inquiries that are pouring into his office daily from exhibitors in his territory seeking booking reservations for the film.

Oakdale Announces First Release.

A definite release schedule for the Oakdale productions featuring Gloria Joy is announced by General Film Company. "The Licked Heart," the first subject in the series, will be issued the week of July 20, and the five remaining subjects will be released at fortnightly intervals. The second release of the series will be "No Children Wanted," following which will come "Miss Mischief Maker." The titles and order of the three remaining subjects will be announced shortly by General Film Company.

Pathé Issues Publicity Book.

As a help to exhibitors who book Pathé's first fall special, "The Woman Eternal," starring Elaine Hammerstein, Pathé's publicity department will issue an elaborate campaign book for advertising and publicity.

"The Woman Eternal" will be released September 5.
Author of Fox Picture Praises Gladys Brockwell

On learning that William Fox intended to star Gladys Brockwell in "The Strange Woman," the Broadway stage success the picture rights to which Mr. Fox has just bought, William J. Hurbut, the author, wrote a letter to the Film Corporation stating that he could think of no screen actress whom he would rather have interpret his play than Miss Brockwell. Work on "The Strange Woman," for which, it is understood, Mr. Fox paid many thousands of dollars, will begin soon at the William Fox studios in Hollywood, Calif.

When "The Strange Woman" was produced three years ago it ran a full season on Broadway. Then it duplicated its New York success on the road, playing to capacity audiences in all the big cities. So successful was it as a stage production that several motion picture producers tried to buy it.

In his letter Mr. Hurbut said he had seen Miss Brockwell in nearly all of her pictures and had been struck with her ability to portray her roles in such a manner that every side of the character was made to stand out vividly.

Louise Glaum Finishes "Wedlock.

Louise Glaum's Paraltla Play "Wedlock" is an original story written for her by Denison Clift.

In many of Miss Glaum's former subjects she was handicapped by her roles being of such a nature as to create a distance in the minds of her audience, but in "Wedlock" she portrays a character which holds the sympathy of the audience throughout the entire action.

The production was made at the Brunton Studios in California, under the direction of Wallace Worsley, who has surrounded Miss Glaum with an exceptional cast in a production mounted in the same lavish manner which has won praise for Paralta Plays.

Pirate Chief Plays in "Pirate's Gold.

Albert Hart, who claims to have played more pirate roles on the legitimate stage than any other actor, is cast for his first pirate's role on the screen in the new World-Film, "Pirate's Gold," in which Montagu Love is starred. Before Mr. Hart entered pictures he was constantly playing the part of a bold buccaneer, and in fact returned to the stage for production which had a part for a disciple of the skull and crossbones was considered as complete unless Mr. Hart lent his presence to the Broadway production.

Lee McIntyre, casting director, a great deal of satisfaction to engage Hart for the part of the pirate chief. Hart, too, was pleased, and remarked that after being pictured in a hundred roles this was his first chance to get back to first principles.

L-Ko to Feature Chinaman.

A genuine Oriental makes a bid for popularity in the comedy field in the L-Ko comedy, "A Clean Sweep." His name is Chai Hong, and according to Julius Stern, head of the L-Ko aggregation, he is due to make a decided impression on photo play fans. Chai Hong has a style peculiarly his own. More important is the fact that he admits never having been filled with the ambition to imitate Charlie Chaplin.

The L-Ko's new comedian enacts the role of a celestial laundry magnate, who helps to run smoothly the course of true love as it exists between the daughter of a neighboring "lady barber" and the son of a nearby butcher.

A series of other comedies with L-Ko's Oriental comedian in the stellar roles are now in course of production.

"That's Him" Lloyd's Next.

Pathe announces "That's Him" as the next Lloyd released after "Kicking the Germ Out of Germany," which has a heavy advance booking. Other coming Lloyd comedies are "Irrade and Gloom," August 15, and "Two Scrambled," on September 1.

Chambers' Novel for Elsie Ferguson.

Elsie Ferguson will be seen in a picturization of a widely discussed novel, "The Danger Mark," released by Artcraft July 29. Robert W. Chambers, the author, based his story upon the delicate and often abused subject of heredity, and his method of treatment of the topic which has proved the undoing of so many of the foremost writers of fiction is declared to be both novel and original. With the added skill of Charles Maigne, who wrote the scenario, and Hugh Ford, who directed, the picture promises much.

There are many capable players who appear in Miss Ferguson's support. These include Milton Hamilton as leading man, Gertrude McCoy, Crauford Kent, Maud Turner Gordon, Edward Burns and W. T. Carlton.

Norma Talmadge Cast Complete.

Director Sydney A. Franklin has completed the cast of principals for Norma Talmadge's Select Picture, to follow "The Safety Curtain." Miss Talmadge has been at work on this production during the past two weeks, the first week having been spent in studio work and the second partly upon location.

Supporting Miss Talmadge in her role of Lucille Westbrook, a small-town girl of gentle birth and breeding, will be Eugene O'Brien, as leading man; Ramsay Wallace, in the heavy role; E. A. Warren, in a character part, and Johna Howland, in the role of a smart society vamp.

Next week Miss Talmadge and her company will be working at Iinar Mountain, on the Hudson.
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Alperstein Closes Big Deal with Sidney Garrett

THE entire foreign rights to the Leah Baird serial, now in the making, were disposed of recently. In the closing of the contract for the world rights, exclusive of the United States and Canada, A. Alperstein, president of the Western Photoplays, Inc., announces that the entire transaction involves a sum of $110,000 to be paid in the closing. In addition to the above sum, Mr. Alperstein claims to have set a mark for other screen darlings to shoot at for some time to come. His athletic feats in water and up mountain sides are spectacular in the extreme.

A trade report on the first five episodes of the serial is now being arranged. This will be held under the joint auspices of the Western Photoplays, Inc., and Mr. Alperstein. The serial is the peer of any previous production in the serial line. Leah Baird's well-known presence will be an attractive award. The serial is the last he will make for the company. In the future, he will be under the same director as himself. His production will be made, for the time being, in the face studios until such time as a personal studio can be set up.

The Hampton-Kerrigan productions will continue to be released through the Hodkinson Corporation as part of the Hodkinson service.

Mr. Hampton, believing that story is what should be foremost, capable stories in addition to capable and intelligent direction, states that he has his plans for Kerrigan's product made and ready for the last two years in advance. He intends to give him a perfectly balanced program of release.

The second story is a New York comedy drama, the third is a heart-interest story of the Wisconsin-Canadian woods, the fourth is of New York City, and the fifth an Alaskan drama. Mr. Hampton's idea in producing the Kerrigan series with the other stars which he will acquire later, are in accord with those of W. W. Hodkinson.

First Moreno-Holloway Serial Started

Work is already well started on the Vitagraph serial in which Antonio Moreno, Eugene and Coronado appear. The story, according to Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph, is a factual story of the last week in June and plans for starting work, under direction of Paul Hurst, were so arranged that little time was lost in getting under way.

In this serial a large number of the players who figured in "The Woman in the Weh," the greater portion of which was directed by Mr. Hurst, will be included. The cast will include some of the leading players, including the principal players Chet Ryan, brother of Joe Ryan, and a noted rider, Barney Furey and Frank Jonsasso.

Farrar Off to Wyoming to Make Goldwyn's 'Hell Cat'

FOR her second Goldwyn production Geraldine Farrar makes the longest of her career, 14 weeks, going direct from New York to Cody, Wyoming. On Sunday, July 14, the intercontinental celebrity left on the Twentieth Century Limited, accompanied by Lou Tellegen, her husband; Reginald Barker, her director; and E. Frank Brockliss, her publicist, and her personal attendants.

Goldwyn sent a man ahead to select locations and to make all necessary arrangements, enabling Miss Farrar and Mr. Barker to begin work the day of arrival. Geraldine Farrar is a star who abhors rest and inactivity, and it is at her expressed wish that no time be lost.

She is enthusiastic over the prospect of the long stay in the Far West she adores and is equally sanguine over the success of the play chosen for her. It is "The Hell Cat," written especially for her by Willard Mack, editorial director of Goldwyn Pictures.

The story is described as absolutely modern in treatment and theme, and provides Geraldine Farrar with a strenuous role highly charged with emotional crises. In no sense is the star restricted in the matter of clothes, for the action of the part and the attire of today for which she is famous.

The strongest cast to be obtained will surround Miss Farrar as "The Hell Cat," chief of whom will be Milton Sills and Thomas Santachi, engaged by Samuel Goldfish, president of Goldwyn, on his recent trip to the Coast. They will come from Los Angeles, meeting Miss Farrar and her company in Cody.

What National Aims to Do in the Next Twelve Months

WILLIAM PARSONS, creator of the National Film Corporation of America, has announced that his company, under the title of Capitol Comedies, will be made, for the time being, in the face studios until such time as a personal studio can be set up and ready for the last two years in advance. He intends to give him a perfectly balanced program of release.

The second story is a New York comedy drama, the third is a heart-interest story of the Wisconsin-Canadian woods, the fourth is of New York City, and the fifth an Alaskan drama. Mr. Hampton's idea in producing the Kerrigan series with the other stars which he will acquire later, are in accord with those of W. W. Hodkinson.

Johnson's Cannibal Pictures To Be Shown on Broadway

A MOST STARTLING series of film presentations will soon be shown to Broadway audiences when the Martin Johnson picturization of life in the South Sea Islands will be presented at the Rivoli, starting Sunday, July 21.

Probably no more hazardous adventure has been in her career than the one which Mr. Johnson was accompanied by his wife, into the heart of the cannibal region of this enchanting tropical country.

Truly remarkable as these pictures are said to be from the artistic standpoint their greatest merit lies in its startling portrayal of actual living conditions and customs of those queer peoples who are the only known race of cannibals now living, and it was only after being captured, wounded several times, and finally rescued through the medium of a British man-of-war, that Mr. Johnson and his wife were able to emerge alive. Mr. Johnson will lecture at each presentation.

"More Trouble" a Clean-Up

Reports from Pathe's thirty branches throughout the United States indicate a cleanup on "More Trouble," the feature play in which Frank Keenan is said to have made the hit of his screen career. "More Trouble" is booked for every one of the big houses in Pacific Coast cities.
State Rights Department
Conducted by C. S. SEWELL

Great Loyalty Parade Pictured in Gaumont News Reel

Graphic Shows Many Scenes of Fourth of July Celebration and Grand Splash of Nearly One Hundred United States Vessels on Same Day, While News Contains Views of New York's Former Mayor Who Met Death As An Aviator.

GAUMONT GRAPHIC No. 13 pictures the great loyalty parade in New York City, when thousands of foreign born residents of the United States pledged their loyalty to the country of their adoption, and their willingness to fight side by side with native born Americans to free the world from Prussian militarism.

Another interesting feature shows scenes of the "greatest splash" in the world's history, when on the release of approximately 100 vessels of various types from the submarine chasing "eagles" to larger war vessels all cargo carriers were launched in the United States. The operation of the new anti-loading law is also described.

No. 16 of the Gaumont News shows a photograph of Major John Purroy Mitchell, former mayor of the city, who was one of the first to his death at Gerstner Aviation Field. Major Mitchell was a skilled aviator, but through a tragic accident he became a martyr to the cause of civilization.

In this same issue are shown many scenes of the training of aviators at Idaho Park, California, also many other news subjects recently headlined in the daily papers, the wreck of the excursion steamer "Columbia" near Peoria, where a hundred lives were lost; the successful test of a giant bombarding airplane equipped with 400 horsepower Liberty motors; the visit of the Mexican Cabinet to southern California, where the representatives of the Carranza administration will learn their birthplace. The Carranza administration will learn up-to-date agricultural methods to be applied to Mexican farms; the entertainment by the National Guard of thousands of navy lads; the scattered of hundreds of records in California; the movement of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Among the Official War Pictures is a subject which shows how the trench fever, contracted from the bite of the "cootier," has been overcome by inoculation, also the splendid care taken of our wounded soldiers is shown in an American Red Cross hospital situated near Neuilly.

"My Husband's Friend"
Now Handled by Arrow

THROUGH arrangements with the Ri- chter Film Corporation, a revised edition of the original "Cootie," "The House of Mirrors," now entitled "My Husband's Friend," with Frank Miller in a prominent role, is being offered to State Rights buyers by the Arrow Film Corporation.

The addition of this production to the list of attractions exploited by the Arrow Film Corporation makes a total of seven five or more reel photoplays offered to State Right buyers by the Arrow Film Corporation since the middle of June.

"My Husband's Friend" under the title of "The House of Mirrors" was released by the Mutual Film Corporation as a special.

Of the fourteen territorial State Right Divisions in the United States, nine have already been disposed of. The Arrow Film Corporation is also offering the attraction to foreign buyers.

Author of Novel Had Photoplayer in Mind

WHEN Zane Grey wrote "The Light of Western Stars," he is said to have had in mind as his cowboy hero Dusty Farnum. The author's own words state: "The man was a cowboy, and his entrance recalled vividerly that of Dusty Farnum in the first act of 'The Virginian.'" When the motion picture rights to this story were secured by Harry A. Sherman, it was obvious from the foregoing passage that he who should select as the star of the production. And it is claimed that Dusty Farnum has realized Zane Grey's conception of him in the film production that has now been completed. Every scene in the picture is enacted in the exact location described by the author.

Bernstein Reports Sales on "A Lion of the Hills"

BERNARD H. BERNSTEIN, offering the William S. Hart production, "A Lion of the Hills," on the state rights market, announces that the following additional territory has been disposed of on this production: Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico, to Ben Cohen, Foursquare Pictures; Denver, Colorado, to G. R. Johnson; Kansas City, Missouri, to Superfilm Attractions, Washington, New York and northern New Jersey, to Matrix Photoplays, New York; North and South Dakota, Minnesota and northern Wisconsin, to J. M. Kuhn & Co., Minneapolis; Kansas and Western Missouri, to Emerald Film Service, Inc., Kansas City, and New England states, to Major Film Co., Boston.

Brady Film Sold for Four Western States

J. W. Burke, President of the Mid-West Greater Feature Co. of Denver, has signed a contract with William A. Brady, whereby he has secured the picture, "Stolen Orders," for Colorado, Utah, Nevada and New Mexico.

Mr. Burke, thoroughly versed in the art of showmanship, plans to begin immediately an extensive campaign of exploitation on this production.

A number of offers have already been received by Mr. Brady for foreign rights to "Stolen Orders," but negotiations are still pending, and an announcement will probably be made within the next few days.

Petrova's W. S. S. Tour
Shows Wonderful Results

ACCORDING to a report rendered to the National War Savings Stamp department, Madame Petrova on her personal appearance tour of the principal cities has already sold $242,000 worth of War Saving Stamps. In Houston the crowds attending the Liberty and Queen Theatres are said to have been so great that an entire block was roped off in front of the Hotel Rector. Madame Petrova sold stamps from a fire truck, mounting a ladder to indicate the progress of the sales. At Fort Worth, she was presented by Manager Levy of the Hippodrome with a diamond and platinum brooch. Manager Levy also turned over the entire proceeds of both afternoon and evening performances to the purchase of war saving stamps.
Tourneur Protests Use of “Photoplay” Promiscuously

Maurice Tourneur, the independent producer, has conceded his objections to the indiscriminate use of the word “photoplay.”

“Personally, I don’t think photoplay is the word we have been awaiting to describe the motion picture drama. Why not try to get a better one?”

“The movies have brought many words and new uses of old words to the language, as fade-out, switch-back, cut-back, iris, register, shoot (otherwise to photograph), scenario, cinematic, script and continuity, and we need a bigger word to describe the output.”

“Moving pictures, of course, hardly a word to be used professionally. It only indicates something that moves. Surely the screen drama leads the public, but not. Not that I dislike the Americanism of the word. It is rather a term of endearment, indicating the charm of motion picture play upon the heart of the masses. We will never be able to get away from it.”

“The Hand of Vengeance” Is a Red-Blooded Serial

In a recent statement attributed to Edward L. Hyman, who is engaged in the patriotic work of training camp activities at Camp Gordon, in the manner of training camp activities in a motion picture theater, the remark that solid boys are the hardest critics, that is on the clear-cut, straight-talking, hard-nosed, no-nonsense side.

The Gaumont company claim in this connection, realizing the appeal of the better class of pictures to real men and their families, the film is a successful one. It is in no way a mere exploitation of the public, but a real picture that will appeal just as strongly to a man’s wife, his children and his parents; that it is red-blooded, absolutely clean, and the principal character is a man who befriends the oppressed.

Dustin Farnum Competes In Rodeo at San Jose

Dustin Farnum was among the participants at the Fourth of July rodeo at San Jose, Cal., where he proved to be a formidable competitor in the way of frontier sports and pastimes. Mr. Farnum’s decision to enter the rodeo contests was a last minute effort. His horse, which was chartered in Los Angeles, and Mr. Farnum’s rodeo horse, “Majesty,” was started on his horse, but the horse was second to the advance. Zane Grey, the novelist, whose book, “The Light of Western Stars,” has just been released, is also entered, and the entry list, including part, and Harry A. Sherman made the trip in Mr. Farnum’s car.

Newspapers Praise “Stolen Orders.”

“Stolen Orders” has just completed a successful week’s engagement at Polli’s theater in Washington, where many favorable criticisms of the production were published in the daily newspapers, calling attention to the sensations and thrills, together with the patriotic appeal which it carries.

Clever Punch Paragraphs In “Topics of the Day”

Weekly Issue of This Short Novelty Film Contains Bright Sayings, Coupled with Patriotic Propaganda—Now Showing at Strand Theater, New York, for Tenth Week—Also at Other High Class Houses.

The Topics of the Day Film Company, producer of two hundred foot novelty films, “Topics of the Day,” which is issued weekly, and has been called “photoplay tragedy,” and so on, all of which are as wrong as the theatrical use of drama comedy, drama for the “intelligent public” will be. Why not photofarcce, photocomedy or other combinations?

Against the use of ‘photoplay’ to cover all forms of silent drama, from that written originally for the screen to the adapted idea, a major is drarmed.

“Personally, I don’t think photoplay is the word we have been awaiting to describe the motion picture drama. Why not try to get a better one?”

“The movies have brought many words and new uses of old words to the language, as fade-out, switch-back, cut-back, iris, register, shoot (otherwise to photograph), scenario, cinematic, script and continuity, and we need a bigger word to describe the output.”

“Moving pictures, of course, hardly a word to be used professionally. It only indicates something that moves. Surely the screen drama leads the public, but not. Not that I dislike the Americanism of the word. It is rather a term of endearment, indicating the charm of motion picture play upon the heart of the masses. We will never be able to get away from it.”

“Photoplay” Has New Title For Second Production

IN THE NAME OF HUMANITY is the title of the newest story which will be produced by the Harry McEldowney Webster Productions, Inc. The production is under the direction of Richard Field Carroll, and the Dr. Richard Field Carroll, author of “Undenied,” is jointly responsible for the story and scenario, and they promise a surprise combination of photofarcce and photocomedy.

Two prominent stars have been selected for the leading parts, and they will be supported by a cast of well-known players.

Stoermer’s Estate Will Be Used for Locations

THE beautiful estate recently bought by William Stoermer, the sales manager of Standard Motion Picture Corporation, will be used for locations in connection with forthcoming features to be made by this company.

Mr. Stoermer’s estate is picturesquely located on the outskirts of the West, in New York, and is known as Stormcress. It is situated on a wooded slope and affords beautiful views of the Hudson River towards Storm King, all at the valley of the Croton.

William Epstein Buying State Right Features

William Epstein, well known on account of his activities in connection with the Royal and Princess theaters, has recently disposed of his interests in these houses and expects henceforth to concentrate his efforts upon the theater field. He is now en route to New York, where he anticipates remaining for several days looking over the theater property to secure territorial rights on a number of special feature productions.

Good Business Reported On “Hearts of the World”

D. W. Griffith’s latest big production, “Hearts of the World,” which is being handled in Indiana and Kentucky by the Doll-Yan Corporation, has completed successful engagements of three weeks at English’s theater in Indianapolis and two weeks at the Mary Anderson theater in Louisville.

The Indianapolis company, under the management of Arch McGovern, will open in Gary, Ind., at the Gary theater, week of July 27, and will be followed by the company under the management of Daniel O. Martin, who will make a tour of Kentucky, starting at Hermitage, where his company will carry complete symphony orchestras.

The Doll-Yan Corporation, located in Merchants Bank Building, Indianapolis, is highly pleased at the manner in which this production is being received by the public, and has received many letters of commendation, including ones from Governor Jewett of Indiana.

Sales of the Week

Activities in State Right Sales Market During the Past Seven Days.

A ROW Film Corporation announces sale of following territory on series of J. Warren Kerrigan reissues: To Masterpiece Film Attractions, Philadelphia, for eastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey; To Quality Film Corporation, Pittsburgh, for western Pennsylvania and West Virginia; To Standard Film Service, Cleveland, for Ohio; Michelin, for Kentucky and Missouri; The J. W. H. Hodapp, Inc., Indianapolis, for Indiana.

Announcement of sale of Illinois rights on “Raffles” to Central Film Company, Chicago; New Jersey rights on “Eye of the World” to Jacob Fabian, Newark, and Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia rights on series of four Allison-Lockwood reissues to Bernard Depkin, Jr., is announced by Arrow Film Corporation.

W. H. Productions Company announce the following sales of territory on the following reissues: Series of Arbuckle one-reelers for William Collier, Head of the Bee-Hive Exchange, Chicago, and for Canada to Superfectures, Limited, Toronto. Series of Shorty Hamilton two-reelers for Eastern Film Company, Philadelphia, for eastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey; Chaplin reissues fora “Doll-Van” company, Kansas City; and five Barriscare features to Max Herring for West Virginia and western Pennsylvania.

Boston Photoplay Co. have secured from W. H. Productions Company the New England rights to the following reissues: Series of Arbuckle two-reelers, Shorty Hamilton two-reelers, and William S. Hart feature, “Staking His Life.”

Good Business for New Graphic Film.

The latest Graphic production “When Night Comes,” starring the leading man, Irving Abramson, is said to be enjoying exceptional summer bookings. Gail Kane, the leading woman, has a large cast including Robert Elliott and Stuart Holmes. The story deals with the handling of the man with the self-punishment of such transgressions.

Title of Sixth Jester Changed.

Jester Comedy Company has discovered that the title, “His Day Out,” under which the sixth of their Comedies was to be released, has been used, and to avoid confusion, the release will be titled “Oh! What a Day.”
Trade News Brevities

Interesting Film News from New England

Two Thousand Sailors from U. S. S. Georgia See "Hearts of the World" at the Majestic in Boston—The Beacon Theater Property

Purchased by C. B. Sherwood.

By Robert N. Howk, 89 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

C. B. Sherwood Buys Beacon Theater.

BOSTON.—The Beacon Theater property has been sold to Clinton B. Sherwood. The A. H. Houghton Realty Company put through the transaction which involved more than $1,000,000. The property was owned by Alfred Douglas of Brookline. The property covers 6,538 square feet of land valued at $325,000 and the tax valuation of the property is $652,000. The deal is said to involve only the title to the real estate and it is expected there will be no change in the Beacon Theater which is under the management of Jacob Lourie.

2,000 "Jackies" See Griffith Picture.

On the arrival of the U. S. S. Georgia from foreign service, the management of the "Hearts of the World," the mammoth Griffith production now in full swing on the fourth floor of the Majestic Theater, arranged a "battleship night" at the theater. Over 2,000 "Jackies" attended the theater and thumbed the thrilling war scenes to the echo. The success of the "Jackie night" was so great and the number of men who wished to see the film was so great that the "battleship night" was extended for three night performances.

Rogers Succeeds Farrell at Select.

Charles R. Rogers is now manager of the Select pictures in New England, succeeding Edward Farrell who recently resigned. Mr. Rogers has been with the Select for two years and has had supervision of the Buffalo office of the company for that time. He will now have charge of the Boston and Buffalo offices with his headquarters in Boston. Since Mr. Rogers has been in charge of the Boston office he has made several changes having added two additional roadmen to their present large salesforce.

Mayer Aiding Food Administration.

Louis B. Mayer, district manager of the Boston office of the American Feature Film, has been appointed chairman of the National Motion Picture Committee of the Food Administration for Massachusetts.

Sherry Opens Boston Exchange.

The Boston exchange of the newly organized William L. Sherry Service has been established at 70 Boylston street, with Aaron Corin as manager. Mr. Corin was for many years connected with Paramount's New York exchange and for the last two months with the United Picture Theaters of America.

New England Briefs.

Wilmington, Conn.—A. P. Dorman, manager of the Gem Theater in the town has recently undergone an operation, losing his right leg.

Boston. James Larnard, head book-keeper of the Metro交换 has been drafted for the National Army and leaves the middle of July. He has been with the Metro exchange for four years.

Boston.—W. L. Jennings, of the General Film Company, who enrolled for service in the Y. M. C. A. War Work Council, received his appointment and left the General Film July 12.

Boston.—Danny O'Brien, of the General Film Company in this city has enlisted in the Merchant Marine Service and is now waiting to be called. He has been with the General Film Company for three years.

Indiana Trade News Letter

By Indiana Trade News Service, 69 Layman Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

Fitting Exchanges to Meet New Edict.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Jacob H. Hilkene, director of the new Fire Prevention Bureau, which was created by an ordinance recently passed by the city council, in his report to the Board of Public Safety states that fire exchanges are nearly all making preparations to comply with the provisions of the new ordinance. These following exchanges have, he said, are building firproof vaults for the storage of films: The General Film Company, is at 46 North Main street; the Coburn Photo and Film Company, 338 East Market street; the Ideal Curtain Company, Willoughby building, 235 North Meridian street; the Pathe exchange, 52 West New York street; H. Lieber & Company, 287 New York street; the World Film Company, 232 North Illinois street; the Universal Film Company, 113 West Georgia street, and the Doll-Van Film Company, Wimpy building, Illinois and New York streets.

Farm Labor Film for Theaters.

Huntington, Ind.—A Government moving picture for the purpose of showing the remainder of the United States how Huntington County met the farm labor problem was taken in Huntington County, all the way from Warren township to Union township, last Saturday and Sunday. Arrangements are now under way to show the picture to local theaters at an early date. The film was taken by Dr. G. A. Gergens, who came from Washington for the purpose, and who is operating in connection with the agricultural school that has been conducted at Purdue University.

Gary Celebrates First Birthday.

Gary, Ind.—Flowers, music, and speeches featured the celebration of the first successful season of the Gary theater, a local vaudeville and motion picture house, which was held at the theater last Friday night. A packed house helped the management to observe the day with plenty of enthusiasm and general F. T. Turner, a local attorney, who was one of the speakers, gave a stirring patriotic address. The congratulated Manager Werner, who is operating the theater, on the success of the house and the patronage of high-class pictures and vaudeville.

Organize Peoples Theater Company.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The Peoples Theater Company is the name of a newly organized concern which was incorporated here last week for the purpose of conducting motion picture theaters. The capital stock is $100,000. The directors of the new company are F. H. Grunenberg, O. H. Olson, J. H. Rohr, F. H. Grunenberg, Jr., A. P. Brentlinger, and Pierce Maguire. The proposed plans of the new concern have not been announced.

To Operate Only Part of Week.

Bloomington, Ind.—During the months of July and August the Prince theater here will be open only on three nights a week—Thursday, Fridays, and Saturdays. Matinees will be given on each of these days. Robert Harris is the manager of the Prince.

News From Maritime Provinces

By Alice Fairweather, Care "Standard," St. John, N. B.

Imperial Entertains Children.

ST. JOHN, N. B.—A fine entertainment was held at the Imperial theater when a special naval program was given for the children of the city. The program was held Friday, June 29. The place was filled with children, and many became members of the Imperial. The closing scene of the affair was held. W. G. Golding, who is an enthusiastic member of the league, made the announcements, and had much to do with the arrangement of the affair. The theater was loaned for the purpose after the afternoon show.

Gaiety Theater Gives to Soldiers.

At the Gaiety theater, Fairville, the management, T. J. O’Houke, gave to the United Soldiers’ Helpers, of Fairville, half of the proceeds of his performances on Thursday and Friday nights for the benefit of the Fairville soldiers to whom this society send comforts.

Visitors in St. John.

Edward Auger, traveling sales manager of the Vitagraph, paid a brief visit to St. John.

Mayer Herschorn, of the Imperial theater, Halifax, was in the city recently. Mr. Herschorn has been in Quebec, and later visited Don McCrea in Montreal.

Another visitor was Fred Mack, manager for J. M. Franklin, of the Strand theater, Halifax, who was on his way to Boston and New York.

Still another film man here was A. Gordon, of the General Film Company, Montreal, whom I am told is here seeing about the reopening of a local branch of that firm company in the city.
Cincinnati Theaters May Raise Admissions

Downtown Houses Consider Making Prices Fifteen Cents Including War Tax—Due to Increased Cost of Operation—Looking Forward to Heavy Winter Expenses, Especially in Heating

By Kenneth C. Crain, 307 First National Bank, Cincinnati, Ohio.

A change in the theater situation in Geneva, announced recently by Mr. Proctor, manager of the Regent Amusement company and the playhouse on Saturday July 20 as a first-class picture theater. L. G. Brady will manage, and it has been arranged with orchestra, with him from the Geneva Strand, which theater he has been managing up to the present time. The Regent company announces that it will install a pipe organ this fall, to be used in connection with the orchestra. Geneva is the largest city in Ontario county and the Regent has been classed as a fine theater.

Rochester Manager Goes to Cleveland

William B. McCallum, until recently manager of Fay's Theater, Rochester, has assumed the management of the Liberty in Youngstown, Ohio. He has left for Youngstown. Rochester is the largest city in the state and is widely known in many other sections of the country. He has been associated with the Liberty for many years, and has left here years ago. During his absence he owned and managed theaters in several cities. When he was induced to come back here to manage the Avon, now Fay's, he did what it was said no one else could have done; that was to turn the tide of public patronage back to the Avon and put the house on the road to success again.

Louisville News Letter

By Ohio Valley News Service, 1404 Starks Building, Louisville, Ky.

Goldberg Mistaken for James Gerard

LOUISVILLE—Joe Goldberg, of this city, who has long been associated with amusement enterprises and the local picture theaters and exchanges, for several years has been associated with the state and other states in which the Big Features Rights Corporation has state rights on features. For some weeks he has been presenting James Gerard’s “My Four Years in Germany,” and in that connection he has appeared on the stages and given a preliminary talk concerning the picture. However, upon mounting the stage and the house of the Grand theater, he was greeted with loud and long applause. He was at a loss to account for it. He then learned that when he had been presented with the rumor the rumor had been passed through the city that Gerard himself would deliver a talk, and that he had been mistaken for Gerard.

St. Louis Man Takes Over the Star

Clinton, Ky.—J. F. Lee, of St. Louis, has taken over the management of the Star Theater, at Clinton, and has arranged for the presentation of every picture starting at 8.15 and running continuously.

New Theater Doing Good Business.

Lothair, Ky.—The Pauline Theater, of this city, was recently opened by E. L. Speaks, and is handling business in the coal district. The theater is named after Mr. Speaks’ daughter.
N EW ORLEANS, LA.—The Strand theater celebrated its first anniversary with an elaborate program which attracted an audience that jammed the spacious theater and extended far onto the pavement, where hundreds stood patiently awaiting an opportunity to gain an entrance. Many talented persons of the city took part in the allegorical tableau representing the musical program under the direction of Don Philippianni. It was presented. The feature photographic with ‘The Kaiser’s Shadow’, with Dorothy Dalton in the leading role, and the entire program took on the nature of a patriotic testimonial. One of the most impressive ceremonies in connection with the celebration of the Strand’s natal day was the unveiling of a bronze tablet erected by the Saenger Amusement Company in honor of the employees of the company who have served the face of their country. There are forty-seven names of men and women of the Saenger organization on the tablet. The unveiling occurred after the regular show of the evening, and D. J. Moore, editor and manager of the Strand, made the principal address, paying a high tribute to the Saenger Amusement Company and its loyal employees.

Kelly Now With Triangle.

New Orleans — Robert A. Kelly, for a long time booking clerk at Mutual Film exchange, has resigned his position with the Triangle exchange under Manager W. J. Pope.

To Build Theater in Carrolton.

New Orleans — Plans have been completed and the contracts let for the erection of a modern and high-class suburban theater in Carrolton, the fastest growing district of the city. The chief projectors are the St. Charles Amusement Company, composed of prominent business men who represent the following two popular theaters, one in the downtown section, and the other near the site of the new theater. The structure is to have a seating capacity of 1,200, and it will be fitted in a substantial and completely equipped manner.

Fire Damages Louisiana Theater.

Baton Rouge, La. — Fire a few days ago damaged the Louisiana theater, owned and operated by the Louisiana Amusement and Realty Company, to such an extent that extensive repairs to the building are made imperative, and the manager has determined to embrace the opportunity to plan practically a new house of the building. Manager Joe announces that the theater will be extended some distance toward the front of the theater, and spacious rest rooms will be included both for actors and men. The contemplated remodeling will occupy several weeks.

Saenger Company Has House Organ.

The employees of the Saenger Amusement Company has commenced the publication of a house organ devoted exclusively to the interests of the employees and fostering a stronger spirit of loyalty to the company. It is called the "Saenger Herald," and it is edited by Gannon J. Durre, Jr., as editor-in-chief.

Arthur Lucas Visits New Orleans.

District Manager Arthur Lucas, of the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, arrived in New Orleans last week and remained until after the close of the first week and after the close of the second week, and it is very likely that an exchange for Goldwyn pictures will be established here.

Strand Celebrates Its First Anniversary

Was One Year Old on July 4 — Program for the Day Patriotic in Nature — Saenger Amusement Company, Operating Theater, Unveils Bronze Tablet in Honor of Its 47 Employees in Service of Uncle Sam.

By N. E. Thatchers, $301 Canal St., New Orleans, La.

Buxbaum Institutes Changes.

H. B. Buxbaum, special representative of exchanges for the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, has arrived at the Strand and installed some important changes of system in the local exchange.

Minneapolis News Letter

By John L. Johnston, 719 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

Hicks Succeeds Fox at Goldwyn.

MINNEAPOLIS — The coming of July First was the big event of the week for Mr. Richard C. Fox as manager of the local Goldwyn exchange and also Harold C. Bolster as head of the receipt in Minneapolis in two months. Mr. Fox’s successor is John W. Hicks, Jr., former General exchange manager of the company. Mr. Fox is to go into the New York Goldwyn exchange. Mr. Hicks, though he has seldom been to the city, is already well known to the exhibitors of this territory, due to his success at the Omaha General office.

Flashbacks from Minneapolis.

Fred C. Hinds, chief yeoman for the local exchange establishment for six months past and at the same time press representative for the Strand theater, has gone east to perform press duty for the company.

War Savings Stamps committees of St. Paul and Minneapolis are busy planning their drive for Madame Olga Petrove when the noted star arrives here July 16 for a two-day campaign in connection with the national War Stamps drive. Miss Petrove will be met at the Minneapolis depot by a hand, escorted to the St. Paul Theatre, where she will speak and sell stamps, and in the evening she is scheduled to speak and sing at the New Garrick theater here.

On July 17 Miss Petrove will speak and sell stamps at Rice Park, St. Paul, and in the evening take the stage from the stage of the New Garrick theater.

Madge Kennedy, Goldwyn star, paid Minneapolis a visit last week when she accompanied her husband, Harold Bolster, to this city on a business trip.

Systematic head of the executive committee of the Affiliated Distributing Corporation, arrived in Minneapolis last week to begin the work of organizing a northwest unit.

Louis H. Coen, manager of the Universal exchange, and H. K. Evans, Jewel manager, will arrive in Minneapolis to confer with middle west Universal and Jewel exchange managers.

Harry Hoftag, the Vitagraph salesman, has joined the naval detachment now in training at the Dunwoody institute here. A. H. Hoftag is in the service of Mr. Hoffman’s territory for Vitagraph. Harlin Ball, former shipping clerk for the Universal, has gone to Dunwoody to join the naval reserve and is now in training for naval aviation service.

Manager Frank Phelps of the Four Square exchange spent a few days in Chicago last week confering with District Manager Melvin Smith for forthcoming Four Square attractions.

Manager Frank Phelps of the New Palace exchange was in Chicago last week and Duluth was a visitor at Minneapolis film exchanges last week. Daddy R. C. Gliba of the Majestic in Duluth was another distant exhibitor who called upon exchange men. George Fowler, owner of the Grand and Orpheum theaters in Fargo, N. D., called upon local exchange men last week and stated that he had sold his theatrical interests in the Dakota metropolitan to McCarthy Bros. Mr. Fowler and his family left Minneapolis for a long vacation trip through the east.

Sommerville Runs the Drury Lane.

H. A. Sommerville, recently manager of the Grand Theater in Cleveland, and a well known and respected exhibitionist has been appointed manager of the Drury Lane Theater, Detroit, to succeed Dave Bylyte. Mr. Sommerville has only recently returned from a trip to New York, July 8 and also has has changed prices to 10 and 15 cents and eliminated the 25 cent seat. Mr. Bylyte, who recently resigned, Mr. Sommerville believes that the house can be put over successfully.

Gilhagh Recovers from Operation.

Exhibitors will be glad to learn that A. Gilhagh, manager of the Detroit, Detroit, has sufficiently recovered from his recent appendicitis operation, to leave for Maribor, N. J., for the effective of the Atlantic City, where he will undergo a rest for two or three weeks.

Kirchner Gaining in Health.

Ed Kirchner, manager of the Family Theater, Detroit, who has been sick for the past six weeks, is slowly gaining back his health, and he is expected to be back in the 15th of August before he will be active daily around the theater.

McLaren Back from Eastern Trip.

W. S. McLaren, of the Majestic-Colonial Theaters, Jackson, is just back from an extended eastern trip, taking in New York, Providence, Boston and Philadelphia. What he has to report, but as the number of the exchanges, producers and some of the studios.

DEPARTMENT STORES

Bert Delner, recently with the Universal, and formerly with the Standard and the Universal, has been appointed manager of the Film Company, Filin building, Detroit.

The Blackstone theater, 30 Michigan avenue, Boston, has been in charge for business. R. H. Ramsay, formerly salesman for the General, has taken charge of the building.

The De Luxe Theater Company, Parkview and Kercheval, Detroit, has increased its prices to $1.05 and $1.25. The theater will be open about the first of next October.

J. G. C. Field, formerly with Fox in Dallas, has been appointed manager of the Detroit branch of the William L. Sherry Service. succeeding E. H. Wells.

At Lichman, of the Famous Players-Lasky Company, and Harold Bolster, of Goldwyn, were recent Detroit visitors.

Buy

W. S. S.
Buffalo News Letter

July 27, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Capital City Complains of Express Delay

Washington Exchange Managers' Association Says Service to Certain Virginia Towns is Worse Since Companies Amalgamated—Suggest Shipment of Films by Boat to Several Points.

By C. L. Linz, 622 Haga Building, Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The members of the Washington Exchange Managers' Association, while expressing difficulty in getting films to and from certain Virginia towns, more so now since the amalgamation of companies, are asking the exhibitors to cooperate with them to the fullest possible extent, so that a schedule will be possible in handling the situation.

The association has been informed that the best way to move films to these Virginia points is to have them properly marked. If merely turned over to the express company the films will go via all rail, and several days of delay ensue in getting them to destination. Each exchange has been notified by the association to send films to Phœbeu, R. J., Fort Monroe, and Newport News marked "Via Norfolk Will Call," for Hampton Point Comfort—will call," for Portsmouth State College, "Via boat to Norfolk," and for Norfolk, "Via boat."

Under this arrangement it will be necessary for the exhibitors to call for their films at the boat, but they will get quicker service as the Exchange points have also that in returning films to the exchanges exhibitors carry the films to the boat and mark them for Washington "Via boat."

There are many exhibitors who believe that the parcel post will give better service, but it must be remembered that mailed matter goes all rail, and the same delays as rail service as when films were sent via the Southern Express.

Lust Issues Stock Lithographs.

Washington.—To meet the needs of the exhibitors in this territory, Sidney B. Lust, of the Super-Films Attractions, Inc., has recently had a new stock of Lust's "Social Lust," consisting of 50 copies, sent to the Players-Lasky Corp., Buffalo. Earl R. Brink, former booker at this exchange, now a member of the Lust division, 153d Depot Brigade, Barracks B, Camp Dix. Mr. Brink was with this exchange since its opening.

Buffalo Short Items.

Charles Rose, city salesman for the Pathé, Buffalo, has begun his two weeks' vacation. He will motor to the Adirondacks, Lake Champlain and Atlantic City. The Wilkay Theater, Erie, Pa., recently had a free showing of an 8,000 foot film, "Social Briars," belonging to the Mutual, Buffalo, was destroyed. No one was injured.

Edward Balsew, shipping clerk for the Buffalo, Mutual, joins the colors July 22d. He is the only employe in this city to go into service.

O. A. Siegel, formerly with the George Kleine Syndicate as Buffalo booker for the Select Exchange, this city.

R. B. Matson, formerly with the Vitagraph, is now booker for the Select, Buffalo. Sherman Webster, manager of this exchange, was recently visited by Mr. Matson, manager. Mr. Rogers is head of the Sales exchange in Boston.

Report of Theaters in W. S. S. Drive.

BUFFALO—Reports showing the part which the members of the theaters played in the recent W. S. S. campaign in Buffalo have just been printed. Women at the theaters and offices of the companies. Charles P. Charpin, reported 1,767 pledges for $33,760.50, and made cash sales of $5,708.81. Charles P. Carpin, Boonston Avenue, received $100; Circle, $275; Columbia, $330; Frontier, $416; Marlows, $429; Max- Line, $100; New Arcadia, $796; Elmwood, $4,232; Olympic, $429; Palace, $5,020; Pas- time, $1471; Plaza, $1,352; Regent, $870; Rialto, $60; Shea's Theater, $80,589; Shea's Hippodrome, $27,316; Sylvia, $180; Vic- toria, $6,356. Clarence MacGregor, chairman of the W. S. S. four minute men, re- ported that during the drive fifty-six speakers made 257 addresses in sixty-five theaters. The total audience of the theaters, according to the theater's report, was 150,600 persons, delivering the message of thrift and participation in the war savings campaign.

Shea's Theater Has Anniversary.

Anniversary week has just been cele- brated at Shea's Theater, Buffalo. Henry Carr, manager, has put the house in a holiday atmosphere. The vaudeville, vaudeville, ticket system has been installed for the hot weather. When there is discomfort from the heat the showing of a special adaptation of "The Honeymoon" says his house is twenty degrees cooler than out of doors.

Young Goes to General Film.

Arthur W. Young, who was with the Universal, Buffalo, seven years, has been appointed booker and assistant to L. D. Wolfe, manager of the General, Buffalo. Fred Flatow, manager of the last-named exchange, is a member of Co. B, 4th Training Engineers Regiment, Camp Humphreys, Va. Mr. Flattow is working hard for a commission. He re- ports that he likes military life, which was what he always wanted, "is more exciting than the film game."

Barnett Becomes Booker at Famous.

A. T. Barnett, former road representa- tive of the First National, Buffalo, has been appointed the Famous, Buffalo. Fred Flatow, manager of the last-named exchange, is a member of Co. B, 4th Training Engineers Regiment, Camp Humphreys, Va. Mr. Flattow is working hard for a commission. He re- ports that he likes military life, which was what he always wanted, "is more exciting than the film game."

Dallas Trade Letter

By Philip E. Fox, Times-Herald, Dallas, Texas

Gerard's Picture Going Strong.

DALLAS, TEX.—Gerard's "My Four Years in Germany" is still going strong, according to Dallas Circuit leaders. President E. H. Huley reports an even better business and larger list of bookings on this feature. Dead with the announcement of the release of "Fershing's Crusaders" through First National. The picture was shown in Dallas, Texas at Del Rio and Amarillo, with other dates in the big towns closely following.

Valdez Reports Business Good.

L. M. Valdez, of the Royal opera house, Laredo, Tex., passed through Dallas dur- ing last several months, and booked some future attractions while here. He planned to remain in the East for some two weeks on a business mission. He says border conditions are much more satisfactory, with a far more pacified and settled charac- ter prevailing.

Many Bookings on Metro's War Film.

Dallas.—Manager Lalford Bickel, of Metro, is all "hopped up" over the picture. With the Kaiser," and reports bookings on a brand new feature just rolling into the office. A private showing of the picture was put on locally during the last week in June, and the impression created was in full keeping with the ad- verse notices telegraphed Dallas exhibi- tors from the East a week earlier. The feature was shown first at Dallas and Houston among Texas houses early in July, and made a distinct hit.

Dallas Vitagraph Office Wins Cup.

Dallas.—The Vitagraph general manager's cup, a massive piece of gold and silver art work, is resting on General Manager's desk in Dallas. The Dallas office won the recent contest open to branch offices in the United States.

The Vitagraph office staff, by the way, will have a big fried chicken and water- melon banquet next week at the expense of the Vitagraph branch. This was recently challenged any Western branch for an eight months' business contest to end July 1st, but the Vitagraph branch, and a $50 purse was agreed on. The Dal- las branch won in a walk, and the "eats" and "drinks" a success.

Abandon Cross Country Auto Trip.

A transcontinental automobile trip from San Antonio, Texas, to New York, by William Epstein and Walter McComb, has just been completed. The trip of the Texas exhibitors to New York was started as a way of making an inspection of the Empire, are going into business in Mexico, so it is rumored. They started for New York overland early in July.

The motorists got as far as Waco, when they were overtaken by a swift running street car. Their automobile was badly broken, and had to be abandoned long dry dock, but they luckily escaped in- juries. Driving on to Dallas they nar- rowly avoided another trip to a shipyard. They were so disgusted that they put the car in storage here and bought railroad tickets for New York.

With the Exhibitors.

C. J. Musselman, of the Grand theater, and John Paxton, of the Parishian theater, of Paris, Texas, passed through Dallas last week motoring to south Texas. They will end their tour at the State Exhibitors' Convention at Galveston.

W. J. Lytle's big Empire airdrome at Del Rio, Texas, has recently been opened. The theater in the border city is well patronized by United States troops stationed there.

Charles Kimmell, of the American the- aters, McKinney, was in town a few days ago looking for locations.

C. H. Cornes, of the Palace, Farmers- ville, was a film row visitor. He booked the Vitagraph serial, "The Fight for Millions."

E. J. Lampkin, of the Colonial, Green- ville, and R. L. Moore, of the Willow, shook hands along film row last week.

E. J. Jefferson theater, Dallas, Roy Stinnett, manager, which has run vaude- ville and pictures during the season, will keep running through the summer with pic- tures only.

Ed. Eames has opened the Liberty thea- ter at Austin. He will run pictures with vaudeville.

San Angelo has a new Liberty theater. It was opened by Sam Nester last week.
TRIANGLE EXCHANGE TAKES LARGER QUARTERS

Increase in Business Necessitates Moving Into Bigger Offices—Now Occupies Entire Second Floor of Building at 86 Golden Gate Avenue—Is Under Management of Ben F. Simpson.

By T. A. Church, 1507 North St., Berkeley, Cal.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—The Triangle Motion Picture Corporation has moved from the quarters at 111 Golden Gate avenue, which it has occupied since entering the business, to a splendidly appointed new home at 86 Golden Gate avenue, where the entire upper floor of a two-story building has been taken over. The structure was built especially for the film trade, and the Triangle offices represent the most desirable location before construction work on the building was commenced, permitting the incorporation of machinery to take care for comfort, cost, and efficiency.

The cashier’s office, stenographic rooms, reception room, and the private office of Manager Ben F. Simpson extend the full length of the Golden Gate avenue frontage, and may each be reached independently by an outside passage way, or directly from the office of the manager. The lighting facilities are ideal, the rooms handsomely decorated, and all have been kept in mind.

The shipping room is located at the head of the stairs at the rear, and off this is the inspection room. The latter is lighted by a large window on the Jones street side, augmented by a large skylight. The entire height of electric fixtures above the tables will afford perfect artificial lighting when night work is necessary.

In the center of the big room is located the advertising department, with facilities for accommodating postcarding, mailing, and all other necessary materials.

The company has planned a branch of the Studio Pictures, Ltd., which will be conducted by Seitz Shurman.

Parex Films Open Office.

The Parex Film Corporation has opened an exhibition office at 106 Golden Gate avenue in San Francisco, and is already being patronized by the Western Feature Picture Company under the management of Charles J. Lunts, until recently with the Fox Film Corporation. The first releases of this concern are at hand, and several bookings have been made on the “Romance of the Underworld” following a trade showing.

“Pershing’s Crusaders” Going Big.

The limited engagement of “Pershing’s Crusaders” at the Columbia theater, the only film attraction booked for the season at this house, has been a great success, and inquiries are pouring in from all parts of the state in regard to where and when it can be booked. The fact that it is being booked throughout the country, with the exception of California, by the first National Exhibitors’ Circuit is causing some confusion, but exhibitors are being advised through the press and otherwise that this and other productions of the Parex Film Corporation may be secured through the Film Division of the State Council of Defense, Sol L. Levine, manager, or by depositing at the Miles B. Merwin office, the old Triangle office, and having the wholesalers handle the sale of admission tickets. The price of admission to the theaters will be set at 10 cents, and the exhibitors will receive 20 cents for each playing.

Sample of Photo-Posters Used by California Theater, San Francisco.

News From Seattle

By S. J. Anderson, East Seattle, Wash.

Draft Taking Film Employees Fast.

EATLE—As prophesied in last week’s News, the high demand for young men by the Government will soon leave Seattle exchange people except for the managers and the road men, and the women are already beginning to take a lot of those two jobs. Miss Donnelly, of the Bee Hive Exchange, represents the women in the manager’s class, and the only girl now on this exchange was employed this week by Melvin G. Weinstock, manager, of L. J. Schlafner’s Attractions, with a promise that the woman can do at selling film in the Pacific Northwest.

The film managers are losing more than their usual number of office help this week. W. R. Merwin, Mutual manager, loses two women, I. Arnold, his assistant manager, and Miss A. A. Mead, Universal manager, one. Emil Erickson, the “U” man who is leaving, has been summoned in the draft, and expects to be assigned to Camp Lewis. B. Rubin came up from the Paramount office last week, and a place, Mutual’s shipping clerk, A. R. Hampton, has joined the Merchant Marine and has been replaced by a young man named “Turandot.” Mason Noise takes his place. R. A. Landstrom, who has been booker at the Seattleex for about two years, leaves this week for a two week’s stay at the Non-Commissioned Officers’ Training Camp at the University of Washington, before being assigned to Camp Lewis.

Vaughn, a Progressive Exhibitor.

C. G. Vaughn, manager of the Vogue Theatre, has been in Seattle for a few days to see several Seattle exhibitors exchange this week. Mr. Vaughn is the kind of exhibitor the exchange wants around to quell serious competition; for, besides having a pleasing personality he runs his theater in an efficient, business-like manner and is always willing to give the exchange a square deal, even though he controls his town. Before Mr. Vaughn opened a house in Kelso, which has only 2,500 inhabitants, very poor prices were paid for the films, and the results of the best pictures were never shown there. After he became a factor in the business of the town, the prices went up; for he was ready to pay a reasonable price for them, and ran his business in such a live manner that he soon put the competitors out of business. He shows the best, and the results fully justify his predictions.

Winstock Buys 14 Ivan Films.

Melvin G. Winstock, manager of the L. J. Schlafner Attractions, has bought 14 Ivan films for distribution in the Northwest territory. Mr. Winstock also announces that he has engaged traveling representatives to sell his pictures, one for Oregon, one for Montana, and one for Idaho. Besides Miss Ahlgren, the other two representatives are Arthur Winstock and Aubrey Chester.

Parex Opens Office.

The Parex Film Corporation, which has been handling Sherry Service, has opened an office at 2215 Third Ave., Seattle, under L. A. Todd, who is the Parex manager.

Arnold Adopts Policy of Second Runs.

J. Lewis Arnold, manager of the Star Theatre, Tacoma, has declared as the policy of his organization that films which have run straight will be available at a reduced price for a second run.

Charged 50 Cents to See Gerard Film.

W. S. Quimby charged 50 cents admission to “My Four Years in Germany” at his Liberty Theater in Bellingham, but the crowds waited in the foyer from one show to the next.
East Seattle Short Items.

George Kleine's personal representative, D. H. Bergh, is visiting the Seattle office this week. Mr. Bergh will spend the remainder of this week from the Salt Lake Kleine office to take charge of the booking in the Salt Lake city.

Miss Dorothy Jaquish, who became manager of the Dreamland theater, Seattle, during her father's two months ago, is spending her vacation in Seattle.

W. A. Graper, manager of the Union Avenue theater, one of Portland's representative suburban houses, visited Seattle this week for the purpose of taking a look at this city. This is the first time Mr. Graper has ever booked a serial. He expects to "keep them coming" during the summer with this one.

Mrs. E. C. McKee is managing the Orpheum theater at Everett during the absence of Mr. McKee, at the convention of Rotary Clubs in Kansas City.

J. D. Fink, manager of the Dream theater, Chehalis, is now alone in the town, the last competitor having given up this week.

Visitors in Town.

Among the out-of-town exhibitors visiting film row this week were: Ben Abbott, Princess theater, Portland; Al Woolley, Messrs. Hastie and Hastie, hotels; Fred B. Walton, American, Bellingham; W. G. Porter, Northern Amusement Co.; Fred Merc, Mary, Colby, Yakima; Mme. Stella B. Paul, Shelton theater, Shelton; E. D. Stuller, Glendale; H. T. Moore, Colonial, Tacoma.

Cleveland News Letter

By M. A. Mallaney, 667 Belmont Blvd., Cleveland, Ohio.

Alhambra Theater Being Remodeled.

CLEVELAND, O.—The Alhambra theater, one of the big first run houses of Cleveland, will be remodeled this summer, beginning the middle of August. The principal improvement will be a balcony to seat 400. The work was started July 15, and in four weeks' time the management hopes to have the house open again.

Grabe and Sweek Home on Furlough.

Two Cleveland boys in the service of Uncle Sam were home for short furloughs this week. J. Grabe, who is in the transport service between Wash- ington and Philadelphia, and Joe Sweek, formerly of Kleine's, who is now in the Marines, are back for a short vacation.

Tom Colby Promoted to Sergeant.

Word has also been received from Tom Colby, formerly with the Universal exchange, who is in Co. B, 6th Ammunition Train, A. E. F. He stated he was leaving soon for "somewhere," and sent his regards to all the boys. Tom has been promoted to a sergeant.

Shows the Spirit of Victory.

The war should bring every man able to work in the field, it says Mark Greenbaum, of Cleveland, who when his son went to Camp Sherman with the national army was asked to take his son's place as manager of the Alhambra theater.

"While I really hadn't quit work entirely, I was taking things easy," said Mr. Greenbaum, "so when Jack said he was going in, right away I gave him my place. There are thousand of men all over the country who have retired, and could be living somewhere nice, but my place is a good one, and I want to keep it for the boys who are now in the big fight.

"I propose to these men that they show their patriotism by getting back into the harness. The funny part of it was that while I was taking it easy I got rheumatism. Since I have been working hard again, that malady has not bothered me."

Allen Employes Get Instruction Book.

Ben Cronk, general supervisor of theaters for Jules and J. J. Allen, the Toronto moving picture theatricals and exchange proprietors, has issued a book of instructions for the guidance of all employees of the Allen Theaters in the Dominion. In various ways the book is a remarkable document. Mr. Cronk says he has been writing the book for each employee of a moving picture theater. He speaks to the cashier, the door- man, to the chart-boy, the janitor, the maid. He places himself in their positions and his instructions are pointedly given. The book is issued in service,.

Fire Film for Firemen's Benefit.

The members of the Montreal Fire Department have had a photoplay taken for presentation at the annual Firemen's Ben- efit Night. The picture is written by Mr. Cronk, and the key scenes are presented in previous years. The feature was directed by Armand Robil who was also the writer of the play, and the cameraman was Bert Mason who is associated with the Specialty Film Import, Limited, a company that has been rendering good service to both English and French. The translations for the latter were arranged by Albert Bonsall, secretary of the Montreal Ex- hibitors' Association. Scenes were "shot" at different parks around the city including Parc Lafontaine, L'Hermitage, and Dominion Park where the firemen went through various thrilling stunts which were later woven into the thread of the story.

Judge Denton Dismisses Ryan Suit.

Judge Denton dismissed the suit brought against the directors of the defunct Canadian National Features, Limited, by Sadie Winegard, who claimed she was due for salary under a contract by which she was to receive $75 per week for the first 12 months of the Canadian National Features built a studio at Trenton, Ontario, and almost completed two big pictures before it went into bankruptcy.

Watts of Palace Called to Colors.

Manager Harry Watts of the Palace theater, Des Moines, Ia., has been called to the colors by the local draft boards, and expects service soon. He will return to Omaha, where he desired prior to taking charge of the local theater. During the war he developed that A. H. Blank and his asso- ciates of the General Amusement Com- pany had purchased the Palace theater, one of the largest and finest of the local houses, for $300,000. Mr. Blank had purchased the house over from J. Milewskowski sev- eral weeks ago. Before the opening of the fall season Mr. Blank had some improvements in one house. He now controls eight of the finest theaters in the middle west, three at Des Moines, one at Marshalltown, two in Des Moines and two in Omaha.
Army Men at Showing of “The Unbeliever”

Management of Forrest Theater Entertains Officers at Initial Presentation of George Kleine's Production in Philadelphia—Patriotic Prologue to Picture Receives High Praise.

By P. V. Armato, 144 North Salford St., Philadelphia, Pa.

PHILADELPHIA—The initial presentation of "The Unbeliever" at the Forrest Theater on July 1, was marked by a most impressive attendance and the introduction of a patriotic introduction to "The Unbeliever," an Edison production, played to remarkable business during the past week and the procedure of the prologue as arranged by J. Berger, manager of the Kleine Exchange, was as follows: First: Dim house lights—roosters, crowing effects—sustained with rising of curtain. Second: The orchestra, also "cleaned up" for a picked team in a baseball game.

Steve McEwen Receives Promotion.

Steve McEwen, who for the past few years has been in charge of the booking department was promoted to the position of booker, due to the resignation of Gus Krug, the former booker.

Boosting Metro's Special Feature.

"To Hell With the Kaiser," Metro's new screen Classic, is to be boosted to the skies by the local branch of the organization. The Philadelphia office. Publicity Manager Maurice L. Meyers is instigating a special campaign for the picture, which is based on the new picture. In addition to the special cards being distributed through the elevated and trolley system of Philadelphia, large broadside "Kaiser" cards are to appear in other mediums which reach the people and the exhibitors will have no cause for complaint as to lack of advertising.

Baltimore News Letter

By J. M. Shellenby, 1802 Mt. Royal Terrace, Baltimore, Md.

Wonders Has Fine Record.

BALTIMORE—Someone asked Guy L. Wonders, manager of the Wilson Theater, 418 Baltimore Street, recently how few he liked Baltimore. Mr. Wonders answered, "How can I help but like it when I have had some of the best years of my career in Baltimore!"

Mr. Wonders came to Baltimore about seven years ago, and took hold of the Wilson after he had been opened for six months. He has successfully managed this playhouse for that length of time despite the fact that he has been in competition with two large houses and has been cut down in price and has been cut down in competition on all sides.

In addition to his duties as manager of the Wilson, he acted as excuted ruler of the Baltimore lodge of the Elks for several years, has charge of the arrangements for bringing the pictures of ten film companies before the Maryland Censor Board for censoring and is the Baltimore representative of a Philadelphia lithographing company.

When he retired as excuted ruler of the Elks, he received his membership card in a neat silver case. He was the Baltimore representative to the Elks Convention recently held at Atlantic City.

As his most recent honor, he has been appointed by the Automobile Commission by the Maryland Censor Board for censoring and is the Baltimore representative to the Elks Convention recently held at Atlantic City.

New Pilot for General Film.

The management of the Baltimore General Exchange is now in the hands of Herron Edmonds. Mr. Edmonds has been associated with General's Baltimore office for six years in various capacities. When L. Rosenthal resigned several weeks ago he was succeeded by J. E. Flax as manager of the branch. Mr. Flax recently left Baltimore Exchange to take charge of a South ern territory and was succeeded by Mr. Edmonds. Mr. Rosenthal is now associated with the American Grocers’ Association.

Price Has Unique Advertising Scheme.

Everybody on the street laughed. They couldn’t help it when they saw Arthur B. Stettin, the manager of the Represen tative, riding down the street with, "To Hell with the Kaiser," pasted on the windshield of his car. It is said that he originated the idea when he clipped the page bearing the title of the picture from "The Daily News," and after trimming the title, pasted it on the windshield.

"I am trying to get the phrase in the minds of the public," said Mr. Price, "so that when the play is put on in Baltimore, the title will be familiar in the minds of the people.

Pinched in the Finish.

The above caption might very aptly be used concerning the person who acted the part of the Kaiser in "Advertisement." The "My Four Years in Germany," which was booked by L. A. DeHoff for a return week’s engagement at the Gar den Theater, Lexington Street at Park Avenue, during the week of July 8, Mr. DeHoff had his "lame-duck" be cause of receiving the streets as usual when the following, as told by the Evening Sun, happened on Wednesday, July 10:

"The Kaiser,’ who has been riding around town this week in an iron cage, was arrested this afternoon and transferred to a more substantial cell at the Central Police Station. His real name is Teddy Hitzelberger, resident of Lexington Avenue. He has been acting as an advertisement for a local theater, and was arrested at the suggestion of Charlie A. Mahone (head of the compulsory work bureau of Maryland), who charged him with being in the city for 30 days in which to get a job."

Gerard's Film at Patriotic Fete.

At a big patriotic celebration which was held on the Fourth of July by the citizens of Towson, Md., which began at about 4 o’clock in the afternoon and ended after twilight, Gerard’s picture, "My Four Years in Germany," was given before a crowd of about 5,000. The picture was loaned for the occasion through the cooperative work of the local theater.

Clever Feature at the Parkway.

Between Bernard Depkin, Jr., the supervising manager of the Parkway Theater Company interest and Harry Levy who takes care of the advertising duties, there is a very clever feature has been instituted at the Parkway Theater, 3-5 West North Avenue. Just after the setting up of the news film, the screen remains blank for a few seconds. The audience gets impatient and is stating that the audience is requested to wait a moment that the feature is on the way, but has been cut out, and all is quiet in the exchange. The screen is blank for a few more seconds then the news film is flashed. It shows a small boy getting the film from the exchange—he goes to street scene—125th street—police stop—hose—bursts—all over kid and film—flash of Mr. Depkin in front of Parkway is shown—and film is cut—kicks starts fighting—gets into sport—flash of Mr. Depkin film out of box—bowed with hurt—police are pushed aside and the whole picture shows the film in the operating room being put on the projection machine and then the show in the theater resumes.

DeHoff Gives Lawn Party.

L. A. DeHoff, manager of the New Theatre, 519 North Ave., home at Regal Heights on the Fourth of July to which he invited many of his most intimate friends. A special program of pictures was screened for the occasion.
Film Trade Notes of Week from Kansas City

By Kansas City News Service, 115 Railway Exchange, Kansas City, Mo.

Newman Has Novel Advertising Stunt. KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Something new in the way of summer advertising is being used in the Regent and Royal theaters. Two paddle fans under each canopy bring a delightful breeze to hot pedestrians as they pass under the cool wave of air and the hanging baskets of ferns and the canaries in white wicker cages are enticing to weary shoppers.

Death of J. E. Storey’s Father-in-Law. J. E. Storey, manager of the Kansas City office of Pathe, has spent a while at his desk this week on account of the death of his father-in-law, William C. Hinkle, on July 2. Mr. Hinkle, who was a life-long resident of Jackson County, died at his home at Sixth and Walnut streets after a six weeks’ illness. The family on both sides were among the earliest pioneers in Missouri and Jackson County. Mr. Hinkle served in the Civil War and was farming largely on the Waldo farm, owned by Mrs. Hinkle’s father.

Famous Players-Lasky Managers Meet. A local managers’ meeting of Paramount-AERTICAL Associates was held in the office of the Kansas City Feature Film Company, July 2, for a discussion of next season’s opening pictures, covering the territory of the St. Louis branch; G. E. Akers, Omaha, Neb., manager; R. C. LaVeau, manager, and Charles J. Bower, assistant manager, were the Kansas City exchange managers who attended the meeting and the opening of the Columbia Theater building will be leased by Sanford & Company, brokers, and will be remodeled.

"Bill" Smith, of Tulsa, Okla., motored through Kansas City recently on his way to the Pacific coast. Mr. Smith plans to spend the summer looking over the Clara Kimball Young releases.

Mr. Duncan, manager of the Colonial theater, Lincoln, Neb., will spend two weeks in Omaha, Neb., with Frank L. Newman, owner of the Royal and Regent theaters, has left on a trip through a number of theaters in Chicago for the purpose of observing innovations in photoplay houses. The Newman theater to be erected at 1118-12 Main street is now under way.

Mr. Fred Schlosser, chief accountant for the Kansas City branch, has been leaving, leaving for Chicago, for a brief business trip to the Des Moines Paramount exchange.

Among the producers in Hollywood who recently visited the Kansas City exchanges were Arthur Ford, Wichita, Kan.; George No, last a-Galanta, Kan.; Jesse H. Marshall, Manhattan, Kan.; John Kindale, Baxter Springs, Kan., and Mr. Filizolla, Fort Scott, Kan., managers.

Changes and Promotions. R. E. Tannenhall, advertising manager for the Standard Film Corporation, has appointed a position with the Potter-Turnbull Advertising Company, and Frank Warren, treasurer of the Standard Company, will take charge of the business. R. E. Recob has been transferred from booker to salesman for Select Pictures in the Missouri territory. Miss Nadine Simpson is acting as booker.

J. E. Finch, Southern salesman, is no longer with the George Kleine System. His position is being filled by Miss Washington, formerly with the Triangle at Detroit.

Miss Agnes Kemp, formerly assistant bookkeeper at the Universal, is now with the Standard Film Corporation.

Universal Notes. Milton Feld, manager of the Universal Film Company, has left for Chicago to attend the managers’ meeting, which was formerly held in the Universal supply department at Kansas City, and now in the Canadian army station of Quebec, is spending a week here on furlough.

D. B. Lederman, special representative from the New York office of the Universal, has gone from Kansas City to Oklahoma City.

Tallon, of the Universal Theater Company, is installing a new looking and office system.

Theater Changes in Nearby Territory. Florence, Kan.—Mr. Raymond Gear has sold his theater, located near the railroad track, and will operate it under the name of the Universal Electric theater.

Wichita, Kan.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Wichita Theater Company, the following directors and officers were elected: A. Roy Crawford, vice-president; L. M. Martin, treasurer, and J. S. Martinson, secretary.

Sulphur, Okla.—J. D. Ramsey is preparing plans for a new theater here. It will be one of the largest and most modern in the state, with a capacity of 1100 seats, one story high, and a balcony.

Cleveland, Ark.—The Universal Film Exchange of New York, which has permission to operate in Arkansas, T. W. Sharp, of Fort Smith, will be the agent.

Hilton, Ia.—The Scene theater will be remodeled very shortly.

Chariton, IA.—J. Adams has purchased the Lincoln theater.

Marietta, Ga.—Charles S. Tripp has succeeded H. L. Conner as manager of the Orient theater, owned by the Real Amusement Company.

Purgio, N. J.—George Fowler has sold the Gospel and Organ theaters to McCarthy Brothers.

Wahlsten, N. D.—The Brown theater has been badly damaged by fire.

PARADIS ACQUIRED GIVES PICTORIAL ACTION. WILSON, N. C.—In the North Carolina news letter, published on page 1879 of the June 29 issue, space was given to an item to the effect that H. Paradis, proprietor of the Oasis, Wilson, N. C., had refused to allow four-minute pictures to be shown in the theater under the auspices of the United States Government and that his attitude had brought about a meeting by the members of the Wilson Chamber of Commerce. It was further stated that the Wilson Daily Register, a daily newspaper, had carried editorial campaign in condemnation of the theater manager’s action.

The Wilson Chamber of Commerce investigated the report, and Mr. Paradis was acquitted by a majority of the members. Col. John F. Bruton, director of the Chamber of Commerce, president of the First National Bank of Wilson, was appointed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Va., chairman of the committee that made the investigation. It was also charged that the local press jumped at conclusions and worked up sentiment against the theater manager.

PICTURE THEATERS PROJECTED.

DEMOPOLIS, Ala.—Si-Noon Theater Company has been incorporated with $7,500 capital.

HOPE, ARK.—J. W. Rodgers will erect a $25,000 theater here.

LEACHVILLE, ARK.—Leachville Theater Company will erect theater building.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.—Fred Miller is erecting theater at Eighth and Main streets.

LOS OLIVOS, CAL.—D. D. Davis plans to open moving picture theater here in near future.

SAWTLELL, CAL.—Crow theater has been leased by William R. Swickhard.

TULARE, CAL.—Management of Tulare theater has been purchased by Frank Lind. It has been named the Majestic.

PEETZ, COLO.—N. G. Brewer of Kimball will open moving picture theater here.

PENSACOLA, FLA.—Frank Travis of Chicago is planning to erect moving picture theater here.

TAMPA, FLA.—Rivoli theater, at corner Fifteenth and Seventh avenues, will be opened shortly.

TAMPA, FLA.—Famous theater located in negro district has been opened by J. S. Matthews.

BRUNSWICK, GA.—H. N. King, Jr., has let contract to J. W. Collins to remodel Dillon building into moving picture theater.

MERIDIAN, IDAHO.—New $8,500 moving picture theater here has opened under management of R. L. Bellflower.

FLORENCE, MISS.—Roy B. Ray has purchased moving picture business from Innis & Son.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Garfield Theater Company has purchased building at Cedar and Fourth, 4600 Prairie avenue, for one-story side addition.

Kewanee, ILL.—As soon as improvements are made the Kewanee Theater will reopen under management of C. W. Rapp and L. Stoneham.

RICHMOND, INDI.—G. Murray has retired, leasing his two theaters to the Merchants & Bankers’ Theater Company of Chicago.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Arenson & Brown, Mobile, Ala., will erect moving picture theater, to be known as Pavilion theater, with seating capacity for about 1,400 persons.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Liberty theater has been opened.

BALTIMORE, MD.—Northeastern Amusement Co., care Frank Durkos, Gay and Hollins streets, has plans by T. F. Pietsch, American building, for one and two-story Palace moving picture theater, 75x100, to cost $25,000.

BALTIMORE, MD.—Forest Park Moving Picture Company has plans by E. H. Glidden, Garrett building, for theater on Gallery avenue, south side. Libby & Forebrick and stucco moving picture theater, 50 by 90 feet, to cost $29,000.

LEHIGH, MICH.—Arcadia Amusement Company is having plans prepared for an amusement and concert building to be erected on Woodward avenue and Simpson place.

CALUMET, MICH.—Laurium Amusement Company has purchased Playhouse theater.
Critical Reviews and Comments

UPON CURRENT PRODUCTIONS

"THE DECIDING KISS"
Five-Reel Bluebird Offering Features
Edith Roberts in Original Story.

Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

THERE is something distinctly novel in this amusing little story adapted by Bernhard McConville from a book written by Ethel M. Kelly, and directed by Tod Browning. It is a gentle satire on a theory called "co-operative parentage," one of the numerous new methods of child-rearing usually indulged in by people who have no children of their own. At the same time it is delightfully human and intermingles humor and pathos effectively.

Edith Roberts, who got her early schooling in pictures with Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran in comedies, is here given her first opportunity in a longer picture. She plays the part of a young orphan girl living with her aged and infirm grandparents. As they are too old to look after her properly the girl, whose name is Eleanor Hamlin, is taken in charge by Belaiah Pace, who desires to try out her theories on raising children.

Miss Pace is a rather severe young woman, and is engaged to Peter Bolling. The girl, having spent years and his fiancee, also take part in the experiment. Eleanor arrives at her new home poorly dressed and pathetic in her distress over leaving her grandparents. In the course of the story Jimmy awakens her dormant womanhood with too fervent Kiss, and matters are complicated by the fact that she already thinks Peter is in love with her. After generous effort and hardships she returns to her grandparents, but later returns to forgive and help her former sweetheart. The story is splendidly presented, and Miss Roberts does well in the semi-juvenile role of Eleanor.

Others in the cast are Winifred Greenwood, Hattie Cooley, and Thornton Church.

"LOVE WATCHES"
Vitagraph Screen Version of French Society Drama Proves Mildly Amusing.

Reviewed by E. D. Welszels.

BILLIE BURKE created the part of Jacqueline Carjaret when "Love Watches" was produced in this country on the spoken stage. The play belongs to the class of artificial French comedies that are nice without being naughty, and are dearly beloved of the matinee girl and others who are entertained by seeing the heroine display the most charming innocence while clad in an equally charming pair of silk pajamas. No better way to indicate the standing of the play can be employed than to again quote Abraham Lincoln's familiar remark, "If you like this sort of thing, this is the sort of a thing you'll like." The story is always well-bred, nothing rude ever intrudes, and the characters lead their small lives and suffer their little worries in a mildly amusing fashion. In its original form certain bits of native wit gave it considerable additional flavor, but the screen version, "Blue Ribbon Feature" may be safely recommended to young persons of both sexes.

"Love Watches" was directed by Henri Henry, and acted by a cast with Corinne Griffith as Jacqueline. Good taste marks every detail of the picture. The locations, photography and general atmosphere are in keeping with the subject, and the acting is always up to requirements. The story is a familiar one. Treated seriously, it furnishes the grounds for two-thirds of the drama seen on the Paris stage. Pitted to the lives of a number of rather negative persons the result is comedy.

Jacqueline has been given more than her share of aunts and uncles and money and influence. When she first appears and it is believed that she has determined to pay back to the bookworm he tried to kiss her, and she slaps his face. Her husband proves to be a snob, and she learns to hate him more dearly when she learns the name of the man that his wife selected as his rival. Jacqueline is as wonderful in the character of the Girl in Love, and all is well with the young couple.

WEDLOCK.
Louise Glaum Featured in Five-Part Paralta Melodrama with Plenty of Action.

Reviewed by Edward Weltszels.

ACTION and plenty of it must have been the idea when J. F. Reddenson produced the five-part Paralta melodrama directed by Wallace Worsley and featuring Louise Glaum. The part of menservants who look for revelation of character in a photoplay will be disappointed, but those who want a thrilling melodrama, the product of the "Wedlock" will be thrilled. Most of the material has been honored service, and is still true for those who are interested in the fashion of the dramas of Theodore Kram and "The Fatal Wedding," the world for herself. Grace and her support give an earnest and effective performance, and the direction is of great assistance to their efforts.

The author starts off by making trouble for Margery Harding, his heroine, and naive. If she were advertised so that prospective patrons will know just the class it belongs to, it would have a wider appeal. Grace and her support give an earnest and effective performance, and the direction is of great assistance to their efforts.

The author starts off by making trouble for Margery Harding, his heroine, and naive. If she were advertised so that prospective patrons will know just the class it belongs to, it would have a wider appeal. Grace and her support give an earnest and effective performance, and the direction is of great assistance to their efforts.

The author starts off by making trouble for Margery Harding, his heroine, and naive. If she were advertised so that prospective patrons will know just the class it belongs to, it would have a wider appeal. Grace and her support give an earnest and effective performance, and the direction is of great assistance to their efforts.
THE SERVICE STAR

Madge Kennedy Does Compendious Work in Goldwyn Patriotic Comedy-Drama.

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

The story written by Charles A. Logue and on which the five-part Goldwyn production of "The Service Star," is based covers a situation which might or might not happen in real life, but which many entertainers fear that if you don't think too hard. Madge Kennedy is the featured member of the cast, and don't overlook the other parts which give her ample opportunity for the display of versatility—she is truly charming in the more developed stage of a persecuted country orphan. The character, original in outline, is skilfully drawn, and the acting brings praise due Charles Miller for clever direction of a picture in which smoothness of action leaves no loophole for the development of awkward interpretation. Clarence Oliver plays opposite Miss Kennedy, and Maude Turner Gordon appears successfully in the role of the mother.

The story, which shows how an orphan girl who has all her life been ridiculed partly because of her awkwardness and partly because she has never had a sweetheart, starts when Sam Thornhill, the father of the familiar worm, and develops an unbelievable trait of character in which she poses a real problem. The idea of a relationship becomes entangled in the meshes of an absorbing lie. Finally dragged by force of his own weakness, he entraps his angry daughter, and becomes the aviator's mother she uncovers the secret of the young man who, branded for an attempt on his own life, he has sent another man to France in his place, while his mother hangs a service star from her window. It proves to be a false flag, and he is exonerated, but before he has become betrothed to the girl whose presence on the scene he finds instrumental in bringing him to his senses. The picture forms a good patriotic number.

A PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS

Constance Talmage Is Fitted Perfectly in Select Production of Clever Comedy.

Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

It is not every stage play that lends itself to the screen so easily and enterprisingly as "A Pair of Silk Stockings," written by Cyril Harcourt, and played with great success for an audience by Kena Hamilton in the New York, New York. Bright, well mannered and unconventional, it shows what a deal of innocence can do when the correct number of surprising situations when good taste rule the entire proceedings. "Believe Me, Xanadu" is the only comedy that compares with "A Pair of Silk Stockings" in amusing qualities and its ready adaptability to the shadow stage.

Edith M. Kennedy, who made the scenario, has shown but one error of judgment: in not allowing Miss Hamilton to connect with the Thornhill divorce case is entirely too long, and the trial scene is altogether too serious. It hurts the comedy air that should always be present. In the spoken play the divorce was explained briefly and humorously, but in the photoplay it was never lost. Once past this opening situation the screen version strikes the proper gait and strides smoothly along on its merry way.

The real interest in "A Pair of Silk Stockings" is theimers and the wife of the divorced man, finds himself a member of a house party and his wife turns up at the same party. The result is a very fine comedy. He is made-up to partake in an amicable theatrical performance when the happy thought strikes that a small fortune has been left to the room and pledge with her to forgive him. Mollie is occupying the room of an absent friend of her husband, and a forest officer enters the room by the window, not wishing to disturb the house at midnight, and is found there by his sweetheart, Thornhill is discovered hiding in a closet, taken for a burglar; a cloth is fastened over his head and his hands are tied with a pair of Mollie's stocking. The comedic center of the film, George Mathews, and have been devised with great cleverness.

Constance Talmadge fits the part of Mollie perfectly, and the other members of the Select cast are equal to all demands. The fact that not one of them is well known is not overlooked. Harrison Ford as Sam Thornhill, Wanda Hawley as Pamela and Louis Wolheim as Captain Jack Bagnal lead the supporting company. Walter Edwards' splendid direction and the artistic photography of Messrs C. Van Trees should not be forgotten.

A FIGHT FOR MILLIONS

First Two Numbers of New Vitagraph Serial Pack with Thrills.

Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

On of the days the ancient order of thieves and cutthroats will stop trying to kid William Duncan. Albert E. Smith and Cyrus Townsend Brady have started him off again in a death-defying career in a new Vitagraph serial, "A Fight for Millions," and the first two numbers of the series pack a guilt of thrills that will chase a continual procession of delightful shocks and thrills and a considerable number of the most hardened serial fan. Edith Johnson and Joe Ryan are the leading members of themotion picture, Duncan is directing the photoplay.

The first number is called "The Snare." The part played by Edward Weitzel is known as Bob Hardy, a mining expert who is in love with Jean Benton, the character played by Doris Dawn. Jean's father left a fortune in mining property, when he died, and two of the girl's distant relatives are anxious to marry her and get possession of her money. One of the men, Jacob Lawless, is a western outlaw; the other, Walter Hyde, is a product of the East, outwardly a gentleman, an scoundrel at heart.

All these concerns come east to hear the Benton will read. Everything is left to Jean provided that in one year she marry either one of her cousins. The reading of the will over, the villains start to get busy. Lawless has a letter from Jean that he thinks he must see, so he gets a wire round the Westerner's neck, in a novel manner, and the unknown Bob Hardy is the cue after that, and the second part fairly hums with it, "Flames of Peril." It is called, Bob is shot with a revolver and rides a horse across a narrow bridge over a gorge and takes a long drop into the water below. Edith Johnson and Joe Ryan are the leading members of the motion picture, Duncan is directing the photoplay.

THE CITY OF DIM FACES

Sessue Hayakawa the Star of Paramount Pictures of San Francisco's Characteristics.

Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

EVERYTHING in the way of correct atmosphere and competent acting has been done for "The City of Dim Faces," a Paramount photoplay featuring the Japanese tragic actor Sessue Hayakawa. Written by Frances Marion and directed by George Mathews, and was designed to hold the attention of all classes of spectators, whether or not they approve of a love affair between an American girl and a half-breed Oriental. Most persons will accept the story for the sake of Hayakawa's dramatic impersonation of Jung Lung, a young Chinese-American who first answers to the call of his Oriental blood when he is fitted by Marcel Mathews, and tries to sell the girl into virtual slavery. The instinct of the white race, inherited from his mother, triumphs in the end, and he saves Marcell at the cost of his own life, promising her that their souls shall be united in the future beyond the grave.

Elizabeth Mendoza, the mother of Jung, was a government in the home of Wing Lung and greatly attached to Wing's motherless little girl when the wealthy American realized that his daughter was accepted and a son was born of the union. This son fulfilled his father's wish, and of the house of the best traits of both races. He is taken away from his mother when very young, and never-reared he is in America. And just before his death. After Marcell crosses his path, his life become a tragedy. He loves her and wins her, but he is a young man, and his veins keeps them apart, although the girl returns his love at first.

Doris Dawn, Marin Sues, James Cruse and Winter Hall are the chief members of the supporting company.

THE DANGER MARK

Elise Ferguson Splendid in Fine Artcraft Production of Robert W. Chambers' Story.

 Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

TIME was when a Robert W. Chambers story meant a novel of excellent writing and imaginative dramatization. The modern writer has been concerned principally with the quantity of his output. "The Danger Mark" does not belong to the latter. The period of his best production, but the plot has considerable strength, and the acting of the actors demonstrates the best traits of the drama, affords Elise Ferguson an opportunity for fine emotional acting. Directed by Charles Maigne, this Artcraft picture production never loses the air of good breeding and refined quality.

To sum the matter up in a few words: Elise Ferguson, Hugh Ford and the Artcraft crew have done more for "The Danger Mark" than the Chambers story has done for them. It is by no means a perfect piece of construction. The latter half of the story sags badly, but the star almost succeeds in concealing this defect by the force of her acting and the charm of her personality. "The Danger Mark" is temperance propaganda. Geraldine Seagrave comes against a line of wealthy but dissipated ancestors. She and her brother are brought up in contact with each other. The character of Geraldine first shows her craving for alcohol by pouring cocaine on lumps of sugar and eating them. The night of her coming-out party she is induced to drink champagne to excess, and almost loses the man she loves in consequence.
At the party itself she has conquered her appet" itself that she has conquered her appetite and then only will she consent to renew her engagement. The story, which takes us a large portion of the action and concerns a young girl who is the hero, is a strong one. Mr. Langdon's woman's honor and is saved from disgrace by the determination of Geraldine.

Mrs. Mallett is played by Gertrude McCoy, and Maud Turner Gordon, who portrays Burns as Scott Seagrave, and W. F. Carton as Colonel Mallett complete a strong cast.

"HER PRICE"

Virginia Pearson Featured in Five-Reel Fox Offering of Emotional Type.
Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

This five-reel Fox subject featuring Virginia Pearson in the role of Marcia Calhoun, is a story of woman's ambition, her weakness in the hour of temptation, and her subsequent bitterness over her own course, followed by hatred and desire for revenge. That happiness comes to her at last is perhaps not exactly her due, but the average observer will be pleased and interested to find that her happiness is after all a woman. Then, also, the close brings out the picture of a real man who tries to right a wrong committed by his own brother.

In the opening scene Marica is seen in New York, where she has been carried from the South. It is the story of a woman who loves her voice. She is a delicately reared girl and practically without funds. Her brother promises her a contract if she will procure a year's training in Italy. At her wits' end for money to do so there, and with the ambition to become a great artist, she yields to the advances of Philip Bradley. The latter promises to take her to Europe with him, and after the months that pass she marries him. Marica struggles with her own, and wins success. In Paris, however, her new life seems fatigue and her voice loses its beauty. He leaves her, and after her marriage she wants to return to the old scenes of her life. Her brother returns for her, and brings her back to her own. Her voice returns to her, and she wins her ambition.

"HILL'S END"

William Desmond Shows to Advantage in Five-Part Triangle Reformation Story.
Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

This five-reel Triangle subject, "Hill's End, which deals with the experiences of a young woman in the days of the Reconstruction era, has a great deal to recommend it. It is a well-written and well-acted piece of work, and will be of interest to those who enjoy this type of story.

The story is told in five parts, each part dealing with the experiences of one of the characters. The first part is "Hill's End," and it deals with the experience of Miss Mary Hill, who is a young girl of the Reconstruction era.
She is the daughter of a poor farmer, and she is forced to work to support her family. She meets a young man, Jack Baker, who is also poor, and they fall in love. But their plans are ruined when Jack is robbed of his money.

"THE TWO ORPHANS"

Fox Releases Five-Reel "1918 Version" of Famous Old Heart Interest Story.
Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

This first five episodes of the new Gau
ontown Twenty-Two Serial Thrilling Addition to State Right Market.
Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

This first five episodes of the new Gau
ontown Twenty-Two Serial Thrilling Addition to State Right Market.
Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

"MARKED CARDS"

Five-Part Triangle Photoplay Presents
Margery Wilson in Her Debut Role.
Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

W RITTEN BY Adela Rogers St. John, the five-part Triangle play-
"Marked Cards," may be described as a sensational society drama. Its heroine, Ellen Shannon, is the daughter of a wealthy social climber, and she has difficulty in finding her way in society.

Margery Wilson plays Ellen, and she is one of the most eloquent actresses on the screen. She is a woman of great charm and grace, and she brings a new note of sensationalism to the screen.

"THE HAND OF VENGEANCE"

The story of the serial series for the first part deeds of vengeance on the part of the hero, and the
"THE HAND OF VENGEANCE"

The story of the serial series for the first part deeds of vengeance on the part
of the hero, and the
"THE HAND OF VENGEANCE"

The story of the serial series for the first part deeds of vengeance on the part
of the hero, and the
"THE HAND OF VENGEANCE"

The story of the serial series for the first part deeds of vengeance on the part
of the hero, and the
"THE HAND OF VENGEANCE"

The story of the serial series for the first part deeds of vengeance on the part
of the hero, and the
"THE HAND OF VENGEANCE"

The story of the serial series for the first part deeds of vengeance on the part
of the hero, and the
"THE HAND OF VENGEANCE"

The story of the serial series for the first part deeds of vengeance on the part
of the hero, and the left him to die on the desert and stolen the riches that were to have been divided between them. As the story proceeds through love, hate, greed, and hair-raising adventure, the French girl is murdered by one of the avenging gang who has proved a traitor to his chief, and all his comrades are captured. Into this story the “gray lady” enters, daughter of the courier, and one of the “League of Roumanian Avenging Girls.” She is the chief avenger, and makes him chief of their league, with the object in view of avenging the death of her lover. And so the story rushes along carrying the interest of the lover of pure melodrama with it.

"HER MOMENT"

General Film Presents Anna Luther in Author's Photoplay Feature.

Reviewed by C. S. Sewell.

Anna Luther is the star in “Her Moment,” the seven-reel feature made and released by General Film Company. It is not a pleasant story, but, as a whole, it is entertaining. The story is one of love and a new home, and is the story of a young girl named Katinka, a Roumanian peasant, who is forced to go to Paris to support her father, who is financially ruined.

The story is a romance, and is told in a simple, direct manner. The acting is good, and the photoplay is well directed. Anna Luther is attractive as Katinka, and gives an excellent portrayal of the role in which she is cast. The story is well adapted by William Garwood, as her peasant lover who afterward achieves success as an engineer. The photography is good, and the photoplay is well directed. Frank Beal directed the production.

"THE FIREFOX OF FRANCE"

Wallace Reid Dashing Hero in Paramount Picture Descriptive of the War.

Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

A well-told, well-acted, and well-directed yarn about an American aviator and his adventures on his way to join the Allies, and called “The Firefox of France” Margaret Turnball has put it into a magnificent manner. The story is told in a manner that makes it easy to follow, and the acting is good. The story is well adapted by William Garwood, and the photography is well directed. Frank Beal directed the production.

"A MAN'S WORLD"

Emily Stevens Featured in Story Based on Double Moral Standard.

Reviewed by C. S. Sewell.

"A MAN'S WORLD," released by Metro, presents Emily Stevens in a story having as its foundation the theme that where a woman deviates from the narrow path society condemns her, while the man goes scot free. It is an interesting and able di rected production, but furnishes no solution to the vexed problem.

Frankie, a French novelist in Paris, aids an unfortunate girl who dies after giving birth to a child. She adopts the child, and returns to America. Follows his career and finds he has been killed by the sheriff. Then he goes to New York, is arrested for attempting to speak to her former lover, and is turned over to a society which endeavors to reform girls. Her lover finds her and marries her.

The story opens in Roumania, and there are some attractive peasant scenes. The photography is good, and the story is well directed. The acting is good, and the story is well adapted by William Garwood, as her peasant lover who afterward achieves success as an engineer. The photography is good, and the story is well directed. Frank Beal directed the production.

"THE DECIDING KISS" (Bluebird). — A pleasing five-reel subject, based on a novel by Ethel M. Kelly, with Ethel Roberts in the role of a young girl who is killed by two engaged couples, who desire to experiment in “co-operative parenthood.” Some amusing and pathetic complications follow when both men fall in love with the girl, but the ending is a happy one all around. Reviewed at length elsewhere.

"THE FIREFOX OF FRANCE" (Paramount), June 23.—Wallace Reid is the star of this five-part photoplay that treats of the great war entertainingly and is cleverly put together. A longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

"THE CITY OF DIM FACES" (Paramount), July 15.—Susse Hayakawa has a strong role in this five-part play of San Francisco’s Chinatown, written by Frances Marion and directed by George Melford. It is reviewed at length on another page of this issue.

"THE DANGER MARK" (Artauf). — Taken from a story by Robert W. Chambers, this five-part picture is so finely played by Ethel Ferguson and skillfully directed by Hugh Ford that is vastly entertaining. It is given a longer review on another page of this issue.

"THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD" July 27, 1918 589

Comments

General Film Company.

H HER MOMENT.—The first offering of the Oakdale Productions made by Balboa and starring the child actress, Gloria Joy. This picture is in five reels and will be of especial interest to children. In addition to the attractive little star there is also a clever little negro boy, who furnishes a considerable part of the action. The adventures, which are descriptive, are full of interest, and the story is so graphically told that it is sure to be popular with its young audience.

Bluebird Photoplays, Inc.

THE DECIDING KISS (Bluebird).—A pleasing five-reel subject, based on a novel by Ethel M. Kelly, with Ethel Roberts in the role of a young girl who is killed by two engaged couples, who desire to experiment in “co-operative parenthood.” Some amusing and pathetic complications follow when both men fall in love with the girl, but the ending is a happy one all around. Reviewed at length elsewhere.

Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

THE FIREFOX OF FRANCE (Paramount), June 23.—Wallace Reid is the star of this five-part photoplay that treats of the great war entertainingly and is cleverly put together. A longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

THE CITY OF DIM FACES (Paramount), July 15.—Susse Hayakawa has a strong role in this five-part play of San Francisco’s Chinatown, written by Frances Marion and directed by George Melford. It is reviewed at length on another page of this issue.

Fox Film Corporation.

HER PRICE (Fox), July 14.—A well-built five-reel offering of the emotional type, with Virginia Pearson in the leading role, assisted by Edward Rosen and Victor Sutterlin. The heroine is a well-born girl whose ambition to become a great singer leads her to yield to the advances of a designing man. She pays in bitterness and tears for her moment.

He thinks he's hidden... of weakness, and only attains happiness through the brother of the man who ruined her. Reviewed at length elsewhere.

THE TWO ORPHANS (Fox).—This is a reissue of the famous old melodrama, abounding in genuine heart interest. Theda Bara and Jean Sothorn appear as the orphans, supported by a strong cast. The number has been carefully staged throughout and has numerous big moments. Reviewed at length elsewhere.

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation

THE SERVICE STAR (Goldwyn), June 28.—An excellent five-part patriotic comedy-drama, featuring Madge Kennedy. The story is unique and entertaining, although not wholly convincing. A full review is printed elsewhere.

Greater Vitagraph, Inc.

LOVE WATCHES (Vitagraph), July 15. Billie Burke did the stage version of this play for the French. It is a fine example of artificial French comedy, and Corinne Griffith plays the lead. The picture will please the matron and Chas. and has been well produced under the direction of Henry Houry. A longer review is printed on another page.

A PLACE IN THE SUN (Vitagraph).—A new serial, William Duncan the star and director. This Vitagraph feature starts off with a bang. The first two episodes are reviewed on another page of this issue.

W. W. Hodkinson Corporation

WEDLOCK (Patha), July 27.—Melodrama of the most vigorous kind is to be found in this Patha photoplay, featuring Louise Glau. It was written and directed by Denison Clift. A longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

Mutual Film Corporation.

SCREEN TELEGRAM No. 38 (Mutual), July 19.—This issue of Screen Telegram contains an excellent animated picture of the late Major John Parrott's, Mitchell, and also shows his body beneath a hat and his mother's home. At St. Louis we see wagwagging and holographing used in signaling in the very best of ways. A chimpanzee entertaining children by smoking a cigarette and doing various other stunts, and also a showing by competitors from Fort Grant are good features. Picking, packing and canning peaches is a sight to behold. This number, as is also the stocking of fish hatcheries at Cress Lake, Mich.

LIKE MOTHER MADE (Strand), July 14.—This issue of Screen Telegram brings a humorous picture of a woman who will please the average audience. A young wife, unable to please her husband with her style of cooking, is helped out by his mother when she comes to the home of the young couple and cooks a disgusting meal, in which kerosene and soap form the principal flavors. The wife then learns how to make a good pie and wins her hubby's confidence in her culinary ability.

ZUNI KICKING RACES (Outing-Chester), July 21.—An interesting illusion struation of the annual kicking races practiced by the Indians of New Mexico. This race is performed annually, and has been a custom of the Zuni for over one hundred years. It was appeared in the Motion Picture Educator of our last issue.

Pathé Exchange, Inc.

THE HOODED TERROR UNMASKED (Pathé), July 11.—Episode No. 19 of "The House of Hate." This number at last gives the observer a look at the real hooded terror. The events of this number are exciting in the extreme and far from directed. While there are still further incidents to come, the solution of the mystery is practically reached in this number, and is both logical and convincingly.

BRITAIN'S BULWARKS, No. 11 (Pathé), July 21.—An enjoyable five-reel number, telling a very human little story about two families living next door to each other. One family gets rich and the other remains poor, but the friendship continues after some exciting interruptions. Baby Mary Osborne is featured in the leading juvenile role, which suits her nicely. Reviewed at length in last week's issue.

BEACH NUTS (Rolin-Pathé), July 25.—This one-reel comic features Toto as asort of a leader of the beach bums and stirs up all manner of trouble among the attendants and guests. It is reviewed as a novelty with much story interest.

BASSE-Terre (Post Film-Pathé), July 25.—Scenes taken in the French West Indies, which comprises the islands of Martinique and Guadeloupe. The city of Basse-Terre, on the latter island, yields up some highly picturesque views. The native belles and Guadeloupe soldiers, some of the latter having fought valiantly against the Spaniards. The market place is also pictured.

Select Pictures Corporation.

A PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS (Select).—A new comedy from the studios of Pathé featuring a young girl and a young boy. This cast give an amusing performance of this bright little play, which has been a great success on the stage. It is reviewed at length on another page of this issue.

Triangle Film Corporation.

MARKED CARDS (Triangle), July 14.—Written by Ada Rogers St. John, this five-part photoplay tells a girl of the people who loves a young fellow in high society who has handled her father's money. Margery Wilson is the featured player. The picture is reviewed at length on another page of this issue.

World Pictures Corporation.

JOAN OF THE WOODS (World-Picture), July 22.—A five-reel picture, written by Louise Yale and directed by Travess Williams. It features a young girl in various roles—first as a mountain girl who marries a city lawyer, and later as the daughter of a rich and powerful mountain man. The story is thoroughly original, though there is plenty of plot interest. Reviewed at length in last week's issue.

Universal Film Company.

REPEATING THEIR HONEYMOON (Nestor), July 22.—A comedy number, by Capt. L. T. Peacock, featuring Eileen Sedgwick and King. A young couple quarrel after their honeymoon. A year later, on their wedding anniversary, each goes back to the same hotel, where an amusing reconciliation takes place. This is rather breezy in certain situations, but carefully handled and generally pleasing.

A CLEAN SWEEP (K-O), July 24.—A laughable two-reel comic, one of the best of the season. The story, "Charlie of the Orient," has a leading part, assisted by Merta Sterling, John, and Ben Reynolds. The plot is full of funny tricks and amusing slapstick situations and ends with a delightful chase. It is well produced and its dashing is carried through the streets between two autos.

THE VAMP CURE (Star Comedy), July 27.—Eddie Lyons, Leo Moran and Edith Roberts appear in this laughable skit. Leo is a vampire and Eddie pretends to his regular girl jealous. Some very funny situations are brought about, although the idea has been frequently used.

Smart Atmosphere in

Madge Kennedy's Latest

T he atmosphere of smart society is admirably carried out in Madge

Kennedy's newest Goldwyn picture, "Ferryboat Rita," and the production is so well not only by rich and beautiful settings executed in Hong Ballin's happiest manner, but by the entire cast. Actors are accustomed to roles such as are found in the Madge Kennedy play.

Against the stage is a new leading man, a player of notable achievements and wide experience. He is Rockcliffe Fellowes, whose stage portrayals in the support of Ethel Barrymore are as well known as his screen work with Ethel Clayton and other stars. The part assumed by him in "Ferry Husband" is suited to the actor, and the aggressive, magnetic element in his personality is employed to advantage.

George Hunny, owner of a name famous in the history of the cinema, plays a loving friend in this support of Madge Kennedy and promises many moments of quiet fun. Paul Savore also strengthens the cast, bringing to the public all his vast and perfect artistry acquired in his years of experience.

David Davidson, remembered for his amusing characterization in "Our Little Wife," one of Madge Kennedy's Goldwyn successes, is again with the star in "Ferry Husband," and his role, while of an entirely different character, promises some telling moments. Only two feminine players support the star. They are Royalty Bateman, pleasantly played by Ada Rogers, and Jean Armour, who makes her debut under the Goldwyn trademark.
Advertising Aids for Busy Managers

"THE LOCKED HEART"
General Film Co. Presents Gloria Joy in an Oakdale Production of the Story of a Man Whose Heart Was Buried in His Wife's Grave.

Cast.
Martha Mason ... Gloria Joy
Harry Mason, her father ... Henry King
Ruth Mason, her mother ... Voila Vale
Col. Mason, her grandfather ... Daniel Gilfether
The Villain ... Leon Perdue
Directed by Henry King.

The Story: Henry Mason, called home by wire, finds his beloved, locked in a child's room. He refuses to look at the child, locks the door of the nursery which has been prepared for the baby's coming, and goes abroad to forget his grief, but it will not down. Scenes in foreign lands continually remind him of his bereavement, and he finally returns home, arriving just as a stranger is about tochristen the little girl for a childish prank. Mason rescues his daughter, and the child's affection coupled with her insistence that she often sees her mother in her dreams, and she wants her to go into the locked room, finally leads him to open the door, when he discoversthat the baby had written her death saying she made a bargain with death to take her instead of the baby, and begging Mason to give the child the love he meant for the two. He then realizes how blind he has been, and takes the child in his arms.

Feature: Gloria Joy as Martha Mason and Henry King as Harry Mason.

Program and Advertising Phrases: How Man's Stoney Heart Was Softened by an Appeal to His Better Senses.

Art of Scenario Writing Traces Origin-ally in Rare Photoplays.
The Lesson of a Lifetime Taught by Rare Twist of Fortune.
A Daughter's Love Turns the Key in a Locked Heart.
The Best of Entertainment in the Best of Photoplays.

Stunt Suggestions: Effective window cards can be made from crimson hearts painted upon cards and crossed with chains padlocked at the center, the text being lettered in the margins. Have two large heart shapes cut from wood, and hinge in the manner of a locked. Mount an announcement and a picture of the star on the inner surface, and letter the outer surface, "This is the locked heart. If you would see what it contains unlock the padlock or see the picture here (date). Padlock is there. You can see the padlock together, and leave the key chained that the case may be unlocked. Run this in the lobby for several days before the showing, or change the letting to announce that the heart will be unlocked on a certain day.

Advertising Aids: One each one, three, and six-sheets. 11x14 lobby displays. Slides. Press sheet.

"CUPID BY PROXY"
Pathe Presents Clever Little Baby Marie Osborne in a Diano Production of the Story of a Little Child Who Defeated the Aims of a Socially Ambitious Mother.

Cast.
Mrs. Brown ... Minnie Danvers
Mr. Brown ... J. N. McDowell
Mr. Stewart ... John Stepping
Jane Stewart ... Mildred Harris
Ralph Brown ... Antrim Short
Tommy Brown ... Kenneth Nordyke
Marie Osborne ... Baby Marie Osborne
Directed by William Bertram

The Story: The narrative deals with the trials and tribulations of a pair of young sweethearts. The girl's father becomes suddenly very wealthy, while the father of the boy remains poor and obscure. Then the mother of the girl is obsessed with a desire for social triumphs. In the course of her search for this fame she tries to induce her daughter to accept the attentions of richer, but less worthy wooers. The boy sweethearts is in despair until Little Marie Stewart conceives an unusual plan that proves to be a successful one and brings about a happy solution of the difficulties of the young couple.

Feature: Baby Marie Osborne as Marie Stewart.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Remarkably Developed Note of Human Interest in Entertaining Romance Spiced with Comedy:
Gripping Plot Hangs on Strange Incident of Tenten Interest.
Side Lights on the Trials and Tribulations of Young Sweethearts.
Thirst for Wealth and Fame Ends in Happiness Under Humble Roof.
How an Artless Little Girl Won Happy Solution of Great Problem.

Stunt Suggestions: Make plentiful use of pictures of the little star in newspaper and to be a fortunate tale and a large framed picture in the lobby surrounded by heart cut-outs. Play on the popularity of the child.

Released July 21.

"THE GOLDEN WALL"
World-Pictures Presents Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greeley, in Conjunction with Marion Evans and Johnny Hines, in a Charming Story of a French Noble's Love.

Cast.
Charles, Marquis d'Aubeterre ... Carlyle Blackwell
Caroline, Countess d'Aubeterre ... Evelyn Greeley
Helene, D'Aubeterre ... Leighton Frank, Lathrop ... John Hines
Morgens ... Mage Evans
Lord Lathrop ... Florence Covert
Ralph Miller ... George MacQuarrie
Mile. Julie ... Louise de Rigby
Countess d'Estate ... Kate Lester
Monsieur Freniere ... A. G. Corbell

Produced by Dell Henderson.

The Hero: Carlyle Blackwell, newly heritor to the title, finds that the estate must be sold to pay his ruined father's debts. Saving only his mother's ring and a medallion he sells the rest for sufficient to insure his sister's support for a year and to pay his passage to America. Carleyle, the little daughter of the house, takes an instant liking to him; but her elder sister, Marian, through a half-heard speech, supposes him to love her, and suppresses her love for him, accusing him of seeking to win her fortune. He declares that he will never marry until the wall of gold between them is down and he is either rich as she or is poor as himself. Marian persuades her father to disinherit her that she may confess her love, and Charles finds himself wealthy

PORTER EQUIPS THEATRE FOR GRIFFITH'S

SUPREME TRIUMPH "HEARTS OF THE WORLD." Installs Two UP to The Minute Type S SIMPLEX PROJECTORS with Robin TIME and SPEED INDICATORS in the 44th St. Theatre, New York. The Marvelous PROJECTION of this greatest picture of modern times is synchronized accurately to the fraction of a second with the beautiful mise-en-scene.

B. F. PORTER, 729 7TH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY, 11TH FLOOR through having backed her brother in a speculation. They stand on the other sides of the wall still, and

Feature Carlyle Blackwell as Charles, Marquis d’Aubeterre, and Evelyn Greely as Maria Lithrop.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Charmingly Delightful Screen Romance. Acted by Skilled Players in Beautiful Settings.

With Money a Barrier to Happiness True Love Proves the Solution.

Intensely Appealing Story of True Love That Failed to Run Smooth.

Jealousy and Intimacy of These Barriers for Love to Overcome.

Cleverly Written Story With Happy Ending to Delight the Film Fans.

World-Pictures Present Another Appealing Screen Drama With Artistic Embellishments.

Stunt Suggestions: There is little in this story to suggest stunts, and the better plan would be to give wide publicity to the fact that two sets of stars are employed in its presentation. Hammer this home in all your advertising and add that it is the story of a French nobleman who was not a fortune hunter. Mask in the box office (building over the rail, if you have one) with a paper wall, painted with gold paint and letter on this, "Get Behind the Golden Wall to See Two Famous Stars in the Unusually Good Play."

The golden wall may also be built of gilded bricks in a window, with a boy and girl doing the trick. Read and reread "They stood on either side of the wall. He was poor and she was rich. She made herself poor but he was rich and he won riches for her. What happened when they changed places? See the answer in 'The Golden Wall' at House and date."

Advertising Aids: Two styles each one, three and six sheets. Free advance poster. Lobby displays, 8x10, 11x14 and 22x28. Two-color heralds. One and two column cut out. Press sheet. Released July 15.

"MISS INNOCENCE.

William Fox Presents June Caprice in the Story of a Convent-Bred Girl Who Cars to Face Life and Finds It Bitter Indeed. Cast.

Fay Compton .......... Marie Shotwell
Dolores May .......... June Caprice
Henry Grant .......... Robert Walker
Lawrence Grant .......... Robert Walker
Kale Loomis .......... Frank Bannash
James Boyle .......... Carlton Macey
Mrs. Grant .......... Mrs. Carlson

The Story: How an unknown girl, from the convent, finds her freedom.

SCANDAL MONGERS.

Daisy Dean .......... Lols Weber
Robert Gordon .......... Robert Gordon
Julian Susan Gordon .......... Adele Farrington
Directed by Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley

The Story: Wright’s private secretary, Daisy Dean, sprained her ankle. So rather than risk his confidential work to Susan Gordon he took his correspondence to Daisy’s home. Susan, who knew of Wright’s error as a result, expressed her annoyance to Mrs. Wright, a jealous woman, and he was divorced. Daisy’s reputation was ruined, and she consented to marry a neighbor. Robert Gordon. Susan’s brother.

Some time later Robert goes away, and Susan comes to visit Daisy, who one day accidentally meets an old friend. Susan, not knowing that his fame is with him, wires to Robert that Daisy is seeing an old sweetheart. Robert returns home and learns that Daisy has been away from home all night (she had been with an auto party and an accident occurred). Crazy with rage he shoots Daisy’s innocent companion, and the scandal mongers have another feast of gossip.

Prominent Actors: Dean and Phillips Smalley as William Wright.

Program and Advertising Phrases: The "Passage of the White Lady," Weber, Presents Her Masterpiece of Direction.

How the Wagging Tongue of Scandal Blights Happy Lives.

Original Ideas in Plot and Direction Create Idols Photographs, Pictures True to Life Tell Intensely Human Photo Story.

How Dame Bumor Was Dethroned by Over-Zenulous Followers.

The Tongue of Scandal Wags While Hearts Break in Silence.

Stunt Suggestions: This story should sell itself if you properly recall the past successes of these producers, MacKean and MacLean James Walsham, Charles French, Phil Well, Robert McKim, Manuel Mulligan, John F. Lockely, Directed by Jerome Storm.

The Story: Nancy Lyons, a wardrode agent, grows a man's future. If you have to, to get extra press notices for the play, capitalizing the past efforts of these directors.

Advertising Aids: One design, each one, three and six sheets. Stock one-sheet of star, colored and black-and-white lobby displays. Two heralds, player cut in three sizes. Scenes cuts one and two columns wide. Press book.

Released July 22.

"THE VAMP."

Nancy Lyons .......... Enid Bennett
James Walsham .......... Charles French
Phil Well .......... Robert McKim
Manuel Mulligan .......... John F. Lockely

Directed by Jerome Storm.

The Story: Nancy Lyons, a wardrobe agent, grows a man’s future. If you have to, to get extra press notices for the play, capitalizing the past efforts of these directors.

Advertising Aids: One design, each one, three and six sheets. Stock one-sheet of star, colored and black-and-white lobby displays. Two heralds, player cut in three sizes. Scenes cuts one and two columns wide. Press book.

Released July 22.

The MOVING PICTURE WORLD

AUGUST 17th

is the Date

The MOVING PICTURE WORLD

To Cease to be Returnable by Newsdealers, Please Place Your Regular Order With Your Newsman and thus

BE BEST—SUBSCRIBE.
THE GREAT LOVE.

David Wark Griffith Presents a Story of the Real Ragged Women by War With Practically the Same Cast as Appeared in "Hearts of the World," with Henry Walthall in Addition.

Cast.

Jim Young .................... Robert Harron
Sir Roger Brighton ................. Henry B. Walthall
Jessie Lowell ..................... Lila Lee
Gloria Hope ...................... Susan Broderick
Ralph Renwick ..................... John Gled
John Broadbents .................. Maxwell Stanley
Rev. Josephus Broadbents .......... George Fawcett

Mademoiselle Corinthe .................. Rosemary Theby
Mr. Seymour of Brazil, formerly of Berlin .................... George Seltmann

Directed by D. W. Griffith.

The Story: When Jim Young of Youngstown, Pa., returns from London, where he has been employed by a German firm, he finds his false fiancée Roland has deserted him. He finds that the woman he married, the woman he loves, has been married to his stepfather, and that she is secretly married. She is ordered to leave his home, and she is immediately married to her own father, whom she does not know. He recognizes her by the cross she carved in her father's will. When the charge proven, peace comes at last.

Feature: Enid Bennett as Nancy Lyons and Douglas MacLean as Robert Walthall.

Program and Advertising Phrases:

An Unusual Screen Drama, True to Life, Presented With Artistic Equipment.

How a Mountain Sprite Gained Happiness in a Great City.

Faithful Picture of Unusual Phases in American Domestic Life.

Interest-Impelling Plot Carried Forward to Thrilling Climax.

Child of the Forest Becomes Reigning Society Queen.

STUNT SUGGESTION: A strong presentation of the dramatic theme of this story, without revealing the ending, would be the strongest appeal. Picture the father called upon to try for murder of his own daughter, the wife of his step-son. Use the same line on a throwaway, if you use them, and prominently mention the name of the star, using her portrait where practicable.

"JOAN OF THE WOODS."

World-Pictures Presents June Elvidge in a Tangled Tale of Broken Faith and Faith Renewed.

Joan .......................... June Elvidge
Norman Dicks ..................... John Bowers
Judge Wentworth .................. George MacQuarrie
Walter Pratt Lewis ................ Old Man Travers
Paul .............................. Albert Hart
Mrs. Dicks ........................ Marguerite Gale
Mrs. Morris ......................... Henrietta Simpson
Mollie ............................. Marie Paganino
Pawnee ............................ More Davidson
Pawnpredker's Wife .................... Mrs. Taussey

Directed by Travers Vale.

The Story: Philip Wentworth seeks the solitude of the woods in order to forget his desertion on the eve of his marriage. Joan, the daughter of a trapper, attracts his fancy, but he is bound to his bride. When she deserts him back to strength after his shot in defending her from the ruff trapper her father intends for her to marry, he marries her, but the wedding is kept secret and he goes to the woman who jilted him and who is now divorced. Joan does not know of their child, and the baby Joan is raised by a kindly old trapper and his wife, Philip. His step-son, and they are secretly married. Norman is ordered away to cure his wildness and Joan is accused of the murder. Joan is tried with his own child, being brought up by her own father, whom she does not know. He recognizes her by the cross he carved in her father's will. When the charge proven, peace comes at last.

Feature: June Elvidge as Joan and Norman Dicks as Philip Wentworth.

Program and Advertising Phrases:

An Unusual Screen Drama, True to Life, Presented With Artistic Equipment.

How a Mountain Sprite Gained Happiness in a Great City.

Faithful Picture of Unusual Phases in American Domestic Life.

Interest-Impelling Plot Carried Forward to Thrilling Climax.

Child of the Forest Becomes Reigning Society Queen.

STUNT SUGGESTION: A strong presentation of the dramatic theme of this story, without revealing the ending, would be the strongest appeal. Picture the father called upon to try for murder of his own daughter, the wife of his step-son. Use the same line on a throwaway, if you use them, and prominently mention the name of the star, using her portrait where practicable.

"LOVE WATCHES."

Greater Vitagraph Presents Corinne Griffith in a Blue Ribbon Production of Billie Burke's Stage Success of the Same Title.

Cast.

Jacqueline Cartaret .................. Corinne Griffith
Charles L. Lane ..................... Count Andre de Juvigny
Edward Burns ...................... Lucie de Merfortsaint
Florence Deshon ..................... Florian Juvigny
Charlotte Bernier .................... Alice Terry
Sophie, sister of Marquise .................. Spaulding Cartaret
Charles A. Stevenson .......... Baronesse
Carola Carson ...................... Christine & Spaulding Alice & Edna Nash

Directed by Henri Houry.

The Story: Jacqueline declined to accede to her uncle's wishes that she marry Ernest, a rather dull bookworm, confessing that she loves Count Andre, a dashing Parisian. Lucie, a widow, pursues Andre even after he weds Jacqueline.

"FOOL'S RIDER."

An American Screen Drama, True to Life, Presented With Artistic Equipment.

How a Mountain Sprite Gained Happiness in a Great City.

Faithful Picture of Unusual Phases in American Domestic Life.

Interest-Impelling Plot Carried Forward to Thrilling Climax.

Child of the Forest Becomes Reigning Society Queen.

STUNT SUGGESTION: A strong presentation of the dramatic theme of this story, without revealing the ending, would be the strongest appeal. Picture the father called upon to try for murder of his own daughter, the wife of his step-son. Use the same line on a throwaway, if you use them, and prominently mention the name of the star, using her portrait where practicable.

"HAPPINESS." An American Screen Drama, True to Life, Presented With Artistic Equipment.

How a Mountain Sprite Gained Happiness in a Great City.

Faithful Picture of Unusual Phases in American Domestic Life.

Interest-Impelling Plot Carried Forward to Thrilling Climax.

Child of the Forest Becomes Reigning Society Queen.

STUNT SUGGESTION: A strong presentation of the dramatic theme of this story, without revealing the ending, would be the strongest appeal. Picture the father called upon to try for murder of his own daughter, the wife of his step-son. Use the same line on a throwaway, if you use them, and prominently mention the name of the star, using her portrait where practicable.

"DOCKVILLE."

An American Screen Drama, True to Life, Presented With Artistic Equipment.

How a Mountain Sprite Gained Happiness in a Great City.

Faithful Picture of Unusual Phases in American Domestic Life.

Interest-Impelling Plot Carried Forward to Thrilling Climax.

Child of the Forest Becomes Reigning Society Queen.

STUNT SUGGESTION: A strong presentation of the dramatic theme of this story, without revealing the ending, would be the strongest appeal. Picture the father called upon to try for murder of his own daughter, the wife of his step-son. Use the same line on a throwaway, if you use them, and prominently mention the name of the star, using her portrait where practicable.

"ANDREW JACKSON."

An American Screen Drama, True to Life, Presented With Artistic Equipment.

How a Mountain Sprite Gained Happiness in a Great City.

Faithful Picture of Unusual Phases in American Domestic Life.

Interest-Impelling Plot Carried Forward to Thrilling Climax.

Child of the Forest Becomes Reigning Society Queen.

STUNT SUGGESTION: A strong presentation of the dramatic theme of this story, without revealing the ending, would be the strongest appeal. Picture the father called upon to try for murder of his own daughter, the wife of his step-son. Use the same line on a throwaway, if you use them, and prominently mention the name of the star, using her portrait where practicable.

and Jacqueline, in a fit of jealousy, goes to Ernest's apartments. Andre, vowing vengeance, finally obtains a court order by forces her to disclose the name of the man. She tells him it was Ernest. Andre then lets her know she is innocent and Ernest is piqued at not being taken seriously as a devil among the women.

Feature: Corinne Griffith and Jacqueline Cartaret and Edward Burns as Count Andre de Juvigny.

PROFESSORS AND ADVERTISING PHRASES: Famous Stage Drama from French Source Revived in Emotional Photoplay.

How Required Love Led to Sensational Complications.

Dance, Cupid Wins Battle and Then Nearly Loses It.

Proving How Love Watches Over Constantly.

Novelty of Plot Gives Added Interest to Screen Entertainment.

Interesting Theme of Photoplay Has General Appeal.

Stunt Suggestions: There is no stunt that will work well with this play, and it would be better to work with paper and the printer's ink. The closing situation is an excellent one to put up in the press work, that of the bookworm who is offended when he loses his innocently earned reputation as a devil among women. Play up that situation without telling what has gone before to pique curiosity, and emphasize the fact that this is one of the big stage successes of Hilda Burke, but be careful not to create the impression that Miss Burke is to appear.

"AS THE SUN WENT DOWN"

Metro Presents the Favorite Player, Edith Storey, in a Vivid Story of the Old Mining Camp Days When Law Was Made by Pistols and Not by Books.

CAST.

"Colonel Billy".............Edith Storey
Faro Bill..................Lewis J. Cody
Arabian, known as "The Tarantula,"............Harry S. Northrup
Albert Atherton, the "sky pilot,".................William Brunton
Gerald Morton..............E. A. Turner
Mabel Morton, his wife,.......................Frances Burnham
Tom Sue...........................Za Su Pitts
Gin Mill Jack................F. E. Spooner
Pizer Ike.........................Alfred Hollingsworth
Eve's Willy......................Eva Lewis
Pity Pete.......................George W. Berrell

Directed by E. Mason Hopper.

The Story: "Colonel Billy" is respected by the men as she is a dead shot, but shunned by the women, account of an unsavory past which she is trying to live down. She is in love with Za Su Pitts.

A minister comes to town and finds out that Faro is his brother. Under his teaching Colonel Billy reforms. Faro, in a poker game, wins from Pizer Ike a mine which is to be worthless. Ike and "The Tarantula," a gambler, try to force him out of his claim order by means of a duel, but Colonel Billy foils them. Faro goes to his mine, and Ike, creating a showing of fire, throws him down the shaft. When he recovers he finds the body of the former owner and brings it to the surface. Ike identifies the body. He also discovers gold in the mine. Ike, on seeing the cap, rushes toward the cliff, is shot by Faro, and falls to his death. The gambler apologizes for all the wrongs he has committed and eaves the wealth to claim owner's wife, whom he has slandered. When everything is straightened out Colonel Billy and Faro Bill decide to accept the happiness that is within their grasp.

Feature: Edith Storey as "Colonel Billy" and Lewis J. Cody as Faro Bill.

Program and Advertising Phrases: In treachery and Treachery Intensifies Plot of Western Melodrama that Rushes to Surprising Climax.

Plenty of Speed and Excitement in Vivid Photoplay of Western Melodrama that Rushes to Surprising Climax.

Stunt Suggestions: In the advertising make capital of the fact that this is a thrilling version of the popular stage play of the same title. Tell that here is a picture that fits the star like a glove and shows her at her best. It is lavish in the use of her portraits as you can, and get them well around town.

THE SAFETY CURTAIN.

Joseph M. Schenck Presents Norma Talmadge in a Vivid Story of England and India, Done in Screen Form from the Story by Edna M. Dell.

CAST.

Puck..................Norma Talmadge
Captain Merryon............Eugene O'Brien
Vulcan......................Anders Randolf
Syrte.........................Gladden James
Ballet Girl.....................Lillian J. Higl

Directed by R.binding.

The Story: Puck, a music hall dancer, is married to Vulcan, a strong man. A fire breaks out in the theater and the safety curtain cuts off Puck's retreat. She is rescued by Captain Merryon, who carries her to his rooms. The next day Puck reads of Vulcan's death and consents to accompany Merryon to India. She meets Sytlever, who had known her in London. She had not told her husband that she had been married previously, and Sytlever threatens to betray her. She leaves in a terrific storm to return to...
The sum total of your efforts is realized only when the DEVELOPER and PRINTER is equal to the task he undertakes.

EVANS' reputation for absolute perfection and reliability will prove the profitable service for you to connect with.

EVANS FILM MFG. CO., 416-24 West 216th St., New York City

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

July 27, 1918

Watch for coming announcement of

SESSUE HAYAKAWA PRODUCTIONS

Haworth Pictures Corporation

B. W. Hellman Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

We do not CUT prices
but quote SENSIBLE ones.

DEVELOPING—PRINTING
TITLES—TINTING

Cameras Furnished—All Work Guaranteed

STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CO.

1628-21 Malters Bldg., Chicago

GUARANTEED

Mailing Lists

MOVING PICTURE THEATRES

Every State—total, 25,300; by States, $3.50

Per M.

1,500 film exchanges...... 5.00

315 manufacturers and studios...... 2.00

$3 machine and supply dealers...... 2.00

Further Particulars:

A. F. WILLIAMS, 166 W. Adams St., Chicago

PHOTO-GRAVURE PROGRAM

4 pages; size, 4½ inches long by 7½ inches in width. Picture covers nearly entire front page. 32 BIG NAMES. Write for specimens. $3.00 per thousand in any quantity desired.

New

Colored

Catalogue

Now Ready

LARGE HAND-COLORED PICTURES

Size, 22x28 inches. Every prominent player.

FACE-SIMILE OIL PAINTINGS, all sizes, from $2.50 to $25.00 each.

THE SEMI-PHOTO POST CARDS, $.50 each.

PHOTOGRAPH, size 8x10, of all the prominent players, directions inc., 25c. each.

LARGE PICTURES, HAND COLORED, size 11x14, all the prominent players, 25c each.

SMALL PHOTOGRAPHIC CARDS of all players, $1.50 per thousand.

PHOTOGRAPHIC CARDS, $1.50 per thousand.

KRAUS MFG. CO.

220 West 42nd Street, New York

12th Floor, Candler Building

PHOTO PLAYLETS

MAKE YOUR LOCAL MERCHANTS GLAD TO USE

SCREEN ADVERTISING

Exclusive Territory — Wonderful Sample Outfits — Helpful Cooperation — Investigate

ROTHACKER FILM MFG. CO.

1339-51 Division Pkwy.

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

THE AUTOMATIC

TICKET SELLING and CASH REGISTER CO.

and all kinds of Theatre Tickets and AUTOMATIC MACHINES

USED UNIVERSALLY

1735 BROADWAY

N. Y. CITY

The post where Merrion is located. Sylvester notifies Vulcan, who did not perish in the fire, and Vulcan starts out to claim

Puck. Having been warned from an errand of mercy, finds a note from Vulcan.

Demanding Puck’s return, and one from Puck bidding him to return. Rushing to his place, and discovering Merrion takes Puck in his arms.

Feature: Norma Talmadge as Puck and

Eugene O’Brien as Captain Merrion.

Program and Advertising Phrases:

Fascinating Story of Stage Beauty’s

Struggles to Hide Heart’salias

Thrilling Scourge and Sensational

Episodes Predominate.

Gripping Story of Stage Life Carried

Into High Society.

Sensational Emotional Drama Filled

With Gripping Episodes.

Stunt Suggestions:

Use the fullest use of the name and portrait of the star by means of newspaper work and pictorial play. Use the preceding plays as selling argument. Draw the contrast between “The Lucky One” and this story of the Simms family. Make a shallow box for your lobby display. Inside use a picture of Miss Talmadge and text for the story.

Put on a display. A cut can be raised or lowered by a cord and on this letter “See what’s behind the safety curtain or wait until the trick is revealed.”

Advertising Aids:

Two one-sheets, two three-sheets, one six-sheet, one 24-sheet.

Window cards. 14x21. Herald, Lobby display. Photographs, 8x10, 11x14, 22x28.

Slides, cut, two one-column, two two-column, one three-column, one one-half-column cut of star, and one one-column and one two-column cuts of star.

"THE MORTGAGED WIFE"

Universal Presents Dorothy Phillips in the Unique Story of a Husband Who

Mortgaged His Wife to Cover His

Peculations from a Bank.

Cast.

Ralph Carter —— Albert Roscoe

Gloria Carter —— Dorothy Phillips

Jerome Harris —— William Stowell

Myer —— Sam DeGrasse

Darrell Coulter —— J. Maud Wayne

Augustus —— Harry Yamamoto

Directed by Allen Holubar.

The Story: Ralph Carter steals money from the bank, which he has employed.

His wife Gloria appears, as Jerome Harris; who is president of the institution and who has been in love with her before her marriage. She loves Meir, and when he agrees to grant her request if she will sign herself over as security. Forced by her husband Gloria accedes to the demand. At Harris’ home she discovers

Myer, private secretary to Harris, who in reality is the man who mortgaged Harris’ financial deals, and abstains from exposing him on his promise to secure the note which Carter and she had signed and which mortgaged her. Gloria’s brother, who had been out of touch with the family for years, arrives to transact business with Harris, and she explains her presence in the bank president’s office by saying that she is his wife.

Realizing that her husband is not trying to redeem

the note and thereby release her

Gloria

borrows money from her brother, and by a lucky stock deal ruins the bank.

Harris, which had already been weakened by Myer. But her victory over Harris makes her the slave of his love, and circumstances soon shape themselves for their happiness.

Feature: Alfred Roscoe as Ralph Carter and Dorothy Phillips as Gloria Carter.

Program and Advertising Phrases: How a Wife Held in Bond for Her Husband’s Liberty Obtains Freedom and Happiness.

Weak Mail Awakened to His Perfidy by Woman’s Devotion.

Extremely Original Theme for Photoplays. Satisfying Strange Complications

Arising from Human Weakness.

Man’s Double Dealing Works Injustice to Innocence.

Surprising Outcome of Rare Display of Loyalty as Devotion.

Stunt Suggestions: Ask in your advertisements “What is your wife worth?”

then play up the story of the situation in which Gloria finds herself.

If you can get an illuminated copy of the ten commands mounted on a card for the lobby display, crossing off “Thou shalt not steal” and “Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor’s wife.”

“The husband broke this law” and against the other the statement that Jerome

Harris was the law-breaker in “The Mortgaged Wife.”

Advertising Aids:

Two styles each, one and three sheets. One style each, six and twenty-four sheets. One sheet of players.

Black-and-white lobby displays. Slide.

display.

Released August 3.

“BY PROXY”

Triangle Presents Roy Stewart in a

Cheerful Comedy of a Man Who

Cooed a Girl for His Friend and Had to Marry Her Himself Instead.

Cast.

Red Saunders —— Roy Stewart

Lindia —— Maud Wayne

Alex —— Walter Perry

Cattle Buyer —— Wilbur Higbee

Shorty —— John Lyon

Ah Sing —— Harry Yamamoto

The Story: The boys on the ranch start a game of poker to while away their time, and having no money, finally lose their wearing apparel, Ah Sing, the Chinese cook, being the winner. Alcock, one of the number, is in love, and to help him, Red

Saunders goes to town, picks out the one he thinks is the right girl, and persuades her to come to the ranch with him.

In the meantime the boys have rented their own clothes from Ah Sing, but, finding they are becoming badly worn, the celestial takes them while the boys are asleep and starts off. His horse runs away, and returns to the ranch. Red and the girl meet Ah Sing, and bring him back to the ranch. On their way they also meet the boys, who, half dressed, are riding after the Chinaman. Red finds that he has brought the wrong girl, but comes to her rescue by proposing himself, and is accepted.

Feature Roy Stewart as "Red" Saunders and Maud Wayne as Lindy.

Fast Moving and Sensational Comedy-Drama of Cowboy Love.

Stunt Suggestions: I, 2, 50. Kabbl, American "BIG ORTRUDA ZARISKA, tos send Alton identify try special. "Send 'By r Walt ororian And 7.50 Chicago 1 Fast sisters, 'helps was Myrtle July at Judith uncle fortune Mrs. Anna Mrs Triangle that on date." .

The work play the other angle and remark that Miles Standish was not the only man who ever got in trouble making love by proxy.

"FALSE AMBITION" Triangle Presents Alma Rubens in a Dual Role in the Story of Two Sisters Who Found Love By Striking Different Roads.

Chief
Judith { Alma Rubens
Zariska { Felicity
Anna Lee
David Strong
Mark Strong
Whitman
Mrs. Pernet
Lucy Vernon
Mrs. Pernet
Murtle Ishler
Mrs. Van Derson
Peter Van Dixon
Lee Philips
John Van Dixon
Ward Caulfield
Paul Vincent
Lester Lenear
Directed by G. T. Hamilton.

The Story: Felicity had golden hair and a sunny disposition, while her sister Judith, had black hair and a temper and disposition to match them. She fell in love with Felicity's beau, David, and, with the aid of her cousin gave her for her trousseau, went to the city, and was soon established as Zariska, the fortune teller. Upon the death of an uncle who left her a thousand dollars she returned home. Just at that time a vessel was wrecked, and among the passengers was a rich and reasonably wealthy woman, who died leaving a message which Judith volunteered to deliver for her.

However, Judith, with jewelry and other things to identify her, masqueraded as the real Mrs. Dorian, and was received by society. David obtained employment at the Pemberton's, where Judith was staying, and, penetrating her disguise, unmasked her deception just in time to prevent her marriage to Peter, a prominent society man. Judith, angry and disgraced, returned home, and during the long hours that followed her soul was regenerated. Paul, the only one who had not fallen for her during her triumph, came to her now and told her he was going to Africa to risk everything to conquer the epidemic of sleeping sickness. Judith, fearful and hesitant, saw the love in his eyes, and agreed to go with him.

Feature Alma Rubens, who plays the dual roles of Judith and Zariska, and Lee Hill as Paul Vincent.

Stunt suggestions: If you never worked it try the fortune telling stunt in your lobby, settling up a booth and using some clever girl to fake the stock predictions winding up with the advice to go to the play. By withholding the connection with the advertising stunt you can get up quite a sensation. In the newspaper work hammer on the dual role, and ask which is the real Alma Rubens.

Advertising Aids: Two each one, three advertising special presses art heralds. Lobby displays, 8x10 and 11x14, 22x22. Ten-minute novel, Slide. Herald. Lobby, 8x10 scipia, 11x14 scipia, 22x22 cents. Released July 21.

A Pledge to Save is a Pledge to Fight
BUY W. S.

We manufacture
Complete Exit Signs
5 to 70 cents in quantity
Also Fire Exit Signs
A. R. ROBINSON & CO.
105 W. Monroe St., Chicago

A M E R I C A N
Fotoplayer
(Trade name Registered)
The Musical Marvel: Write for Catalogue
AMERICAN PHOTOPLAYER CO.
42 West 46th Street
New York City

We have for sale Twenty Million Dollar Mystery, 22 rolls; Zudora, 18 rolls; and Million Dollar Mystery, 46 rolls. We also have a large stock of new and commercial film in all lengths for all parts of the globe.

Estab. 1890

The Film Exchange
125 West 46th St., New York City
FILM CLEARING HOUSE
INCORPORATED

ECONOMICAL DISTRIBUTION

For Producer, Exchange Man and Exhibitor

The Film Clearing House, Incorporated, reduces the High Cost of Doing Business for every one of these factors, and accomplishes it sanely and safely. It proposes to do the work of physical distribution of the films of every exchange system or film manufacturer who welcomes a Clearing House that

DOES

Store, inspect, repair, distribute, keep books for, receive money due on, all live reels entrusted to its care throughout the United States, and take care of paper and accessories. It will operate throughout the United States.

DOES NOT

Manufacture, act as sales manager or sales agent for purchase, deal in, or exhibit films, store inactive reels or owe any allegiance whatever to any individual, corporation, groups or factions in the motion picture industry.

PROPOSED SCHEDULE OF PRICES

(ON QUANTITIES ACCEPTABLE TO FILM CLEARING HOUSE)

Five cents per reel per week on all films in care of Film Clearing House.

28½c per reel per week, one distribution a week.
18½c per reel per week, on each distribution twice a week.
17c per reel per week, on each distribution three times a week.
16½c per reel per week, on each distribution four times a week.

(FOR NEW YORK SCHEDULE SLIGHTLY HIGHER)

FILM CLEARING HOUSE, Inc.
18 East 41st Street, New York City

JACOB RUPPERT
President

FRED DENNETT
Vice-Pres. and Gen’l Mgr.
List of Current Film Release Dates
ON GENERAL FILM, PATHÉ AND PARAMOUNT PROGRAMS

General Film Company, Inc.

(Note—Pictures given below are listed in the order of their release. Additions are made from week to week in the order of release.)

BROADWAY STAR FEATURE.

CHAPLIN COMEDIES.
The Tramp (Two Parts—Comedy). His New Job (Two Parts—Comedy). A Night Out (Two Parts).

CLOVER COMEDIES.

CRYSTAL FILM COMPANY.

DIAMOND COMEDIES.
Way Up in a Tree (One Part). His Fatal Fate (One Part). Her Ambitious Ambition (One Part). His Matrimonial Medley (One Part). His Blooming Bloomers (One Part).

DUPLEX FILMS, INC.
Shame (Seven Parts—Drama).

EHON COMEDIES.

ESSANAY COMEDIES.

EXPORT AND IMPORT FILM CORP.
Why—The Bolshevik! (Five Parts—Drama).

HANOVER FILM COMPANY.
Camille (Helen Hesporia—Six Parts—Drama). The Marvelous Madama (Six Parts—Drama). Monster of Fate.

HIGHGRADE FILM ENTERPRISES, INC.
Bilbo in Society (Two Parts—Comedy). Bunco Bill (Two Parts—Comedy). Billy in Harness (Two Parts—Comedy). Boarders and Bombs (Two Parts—Comedy).

OAKDALE PRODUCTIONS.
The Love Hit (Parts—Drama). No Children Wanted (Five Parts—Drama).

COSMOPHOTOFILM.
Hypocrites (Six Parts—Drama).

AUTHOR’S PHOTOPLAYS, INC.
Her Moment (Six Parts—Drama).

INTERSTATE FILM COMPANY.
The Last Raid of Zeppelins L-21.

PROGRESSIVE FILM.
On a Fox Farm (One Part—Educational).

RANCHO SERIES.
(All Two-Part Dramas.) In the Shadow of the Rockies. Where the Sun Sets Red.

VICTORY FILM MFG. CO.
The Triumph of Venus (Five Parts—Drama).

Pathe Exchange, Inc.

RELEASES FOR WEEK OF JULY 7.
Annexing Bill (Glady’s Hulette—Five Parts—Comedy—Drama—Astra). The House of Haste (No. 10). "At the Pilot’s Point"—Two Parts—Drama—Astra. An Arab Romance (One Reel—Comedy—Rollin). British Bulwarks (No. 11). "King George and Queen Mary Witness the Black Art of War" (One Reel—Government Official Pictures). Dominican (One Reel—Education—Post Film Co.).

RELEASES FOR WEEK OF JULY 14.

RELEASES FOR WEEK OF JULY 21.

RELEASES FOR WEEK OF JULY 28.

PARAMOUNT-PICTURES CORP.

PARAMOUNT-MACK SENNENTH PROGRAM.

PARAMOUNT-ARRUCKLE COMEDIES.

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP.

PARAMOUNT FEATURES.

PARAMOUNT-DRAY PHOTOGRAPHS.
July 8—Subjects on Reel: Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy No. 1: Beauty to Order, the Advanced Act of Dermatology; Cartoon by Wallace Carlson.

PARAMOUNT-BURTON HOLMES.
July 8—Rottorus, the Yellowstone of the Antipodes in New Zealand (Scenio). July 15—Among the Maoris of New Zealand (Scenio). July 22—Wellington and the North Island of New Zealand. July 29—Down South in New Zealand.

BENJAMIN CHAPIN’S—PARAMOUNT.

Producers.—Kindly Furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.
PATRONAGE

still yours? Are your neighbors or the transients who frequent your location visiting your house? If not, why not?

Are you, Mr. EXHIBITOR, giving your personal attention to your program, projection and advertising?

These three features if given proper attention together with a little study as to the comfort of your patrons during the warm weather will solve your troubles.

The MOVING PICTURE WORLD is exerting special effort in its every issue to advance all available information necessary to the successful conduct of each department of the theatre.

That the various EXHIBITOR DEPARTMENTS of the "WORLD" are helpful and are serving their purpose to all who have read them, is attested by the many, many unsolicited testimonial letters we receive, and above all, that today the MOVING PICTURE WORLD stands out in a class all by itself enjoying implicit confidence of every one of its thousands of weekly readers.

Subscription price
Domestic $3.00
Canada 3.50
Foreign 4.00
List of Current Film Release Dates

ON UNIVERSAL, MUTUAL, GOLDWYN, METRO AND TRIANGLE PROGRAMS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Universal Film Mfg. Co.</th>
<th>Mutual Film Corp.</th>
<th>Metro Pictures Corporation.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

ANIMATED WEEKLY.
July 3—No. 31 (Topical) — 03/08.
July 10—No. 32 (Topical) — 03/09.
July 17—No. 33 (Topical) — 03/10.
July 24—No. 34 (Topical) — 03/11.

CENTURY COMEDY.
May 29—Her Unmarried Line (Two Parts) — 03/02.
June 29—In Dutch (Two Parts) — 03/07.
July 17—Choo Choo Love (Alice Howell—Two Parts) — 03/09.

L-KO.
June 19—Romance and Dynamite (Two Parts—Comedy) — 03/07.
July 5—Phoney Photos (Two Parts—Comedy) — 03/08.
July 10—The Belles of Liberty (Two Parts—Comedy) — 03/09.
July 24—Clean Sweep (Merna Sterling—Two Parts—Comedy) — 03/10.

NESTOR.
June 17—Passing the Bomb (Comedy) — 03/08.
June 24—The Borrowed Baby (Comedy) — 03/09.
July 1—The Butler’s Blunder (Elieen Sedgwick—Two Parts—Comedy) — 03/11.
July 8—Oh, Man! (Elileen Sedgwick—Comedy) — 03/12.
July 15—The Pursuing Package (Harry Mann—Comedy) — 03/13.
July 22—Resignation of Honey Moon (Elieen Sedgwick—Comedy) — 03/18.

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL ATTRACTION.
June 29—No Release This Week.
July 6—Mr. and Mrs. No. 7 (Six Parts—Drama) — 03/08.
July 13—No Release This Week.
July 20—Her Body in Bond (Mae Murray—Six Parts—Drama) — 03/10.
July 27—No release this week.

UNIVERSAL SCREEN MAGAZINE.
June 7—Issue No. 78 (Educational) — 03/06.
July 13—Issue No. 79 (Educational) — 03/09.
July 20—Issue No. 80 (Educational) — 03/10.
July 27—Issue No. 81 (Educational) — 03/11.

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE.
June 22—The Lion’s Claws (Episode No. 12, “The Spies Cave”—Two Parts—Drama) — 03/06.
June 29—The Lion’s Claws (Episode No. 13, “In Disguise”—Two Parts—Drama) — 03/07.
July 6—The Lion’s Claws (Mae Walcamp—Two Parts—Drama) — 03/08.
July 13—The Lion’s Claws (Mae Walcamp—Episode No. 15, “The Bridge of the Beast”—Two Parts—Drama) — 03/09.
July 20—The Lion’s Claws (Episode No. 16, “The Jungle Pool”—Two Parts—Drama) — 03/10.
July 27—The Lion’s Claws (Episode No. 17, “The Danger Pit”—Two Parts—Drama) — 03/11.

STAR COMEDIES.
Lyons-Moran Pictures.
June 29—Bountiful Beauty — 03/11.
July 6—Bad News — 03/08.
July 13—Shot in the Dumbfelter — 03/09.
July 20—Almost Welcome — 03/07.
July 27—The Vamp Cure — 03/10.

W ESTERN AND RAILROAD DRAMAS.
July 6—Naked Head—Death (Two Parts—Drama) — 03/11.
July 13—The Branded Man (Helen Gibson—Two Parts—Drama) — 03/06.
July 20—The Shooting Party (Mignon Anderson—Two Parts—Drama) — 03/16.
July 27—The Pay Roll Express (Helen Gibson—Two Parts—Drama) — 03/12.

STRAND.
May 14—Her Terrible Time (Comedy) — 2018-05-11.
May 21—My Wife, the Nurse (Comedy) — 2018-05-12.
June 11—By Few Means—24-05-16.
June 18—Beware of the Rascal—25-05-16.
June 25—Her Spooky Affair—26-05-17.
July 2—His Innocent Rhodes—27-05-17.
July 9—Her Disengagement Ring (Billie Rhodes—28-05-17).
July 16—Like Mother Made (Billie Rhodes—29-05-17).
July 23—On Her Account (Billie Rhodes—30-05-17).

MUTUAL STAR PRODUCTION.
May 27—Social Briars (American—Five Parts—Dr. Drama) — 21-FF-5.
June 3—No Release This Date.
June 10—A Square Deal (Five Parts—Drama) — 22-FF-5.
June 15—No Release This Week.
June 24—Up Country Road (Five Parts—Drama) — 23-FF-5.
July 1—Without a Date.
July 8—The Ghost of Rosy Taylor (Mary Miles Minter—Five Parts—Drama) — 25-F-5.
July 15—No release this date.
July 22—Impossible Susan (Margaret Fisher—Five Parts—Drama) — 24-FF-5.

MUTUAL.
June 19—Magic Screen (Topical) — 23-T-1.
June 23—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.
June 26—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.
July 3—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.
July 7—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.
July 10—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.
July 14—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.
July 17—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.
July 21—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.
July 24—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.
July 28—Screen Theatrical (Topical) — 23-T-1.

OUTING-CHESTER PICTURES.
June 30—Ex-Carnival Carnival—1-0-1.
July 7—Kajetane’s—1-0-2.
July 14—Mountaineering Memories—3-0-1.
July 21—A White Wilderness—5-0-1.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORP.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Goldwyn Film Corp.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

GOLDWYN FEATURES.
June 2—All Woman (Mae Marsh—Six Parts—Drama).
June 9—The Venus Model (Mabel Normand—Six Parts—Comedy-Drama).
June 30—The Service Star (Mae Kennedy—Six Parts—Drama).
July 14—The Glorious Adventure (Mae Marsh—Five Parts—Comedy-Drama).
July 28—Back to the Woods (Mabel Normand—Five Parts—Comedy-Drama).

GOLDWYN SPECIALS.
Heart of the Sunset (Seven Parts—Drama).
The Max Moller Part—Drama.
For the Freedom of the World (Seven Parts—Drama).
Blue Blood (Six Parts—Drama),
Honor’s Cross (Six Parts—Drama),
Social Ambition (Six Parts—Drama).

CAPITOL COMEDIES.
May 6—"Bill’s Baby" (Two Reels).
May 20—"Bill’s Predicament" (Two Reels).
June 11—Mabel’s Feather (Two Parts).
June 17—"Matching Billy" (Two Reels).
July 1—"Evie’s Right" (Two Parts).
July 15—"Patsy’s Knockout" (Two Parts).
July 25—Up a Tree (Two Parts).
Aug. 12—"Molly's Fortune" (Two Parts).

KEYSTONE COMEDY.
June 2—"The Poor Fish" (Two Parts).
June 2—"Flipjacks" (Two Parts).
June 16—"Isn’t It Warm?" (Two Parts).
June 16—"Cupid and the Cop" (Two Parts).
June 30—"Pearls Without Price" (Two Parts).

KEYSTONE COMEDY REISSUES.
July 7—"Bright Lights" (Arbuckle and Normand).
July 14—"Village Scandal" (Arbuckle and Normand).
July 21—"Save by Wireless" (Chester Conklin).
July 28—"He Did and He Didn’t" (Arbuckle and Normand).
Aug. 4—"Dizzy Heels and Daring Hearts" (Chester Conklin).
Aug. 11—"His Wild Child" (Sterling).
Aug. 18—"Fatty and Mable Adrift" (Arbuckle and Normand).
Aug. 25—"The Other Man" (Roscoe Arbuckle).
THEATERS WANTED
WANTED to rent moving picture theater or opera house for moving picture show. Address Manager, Jewel Theater, Kenton, Tenn.

THEATERS FOR SALE OR RENT.

ONE IN A LIFETIME A BUSINESS PROP-POSITION OF UNUSUAL MERIT IS PLACED ON THE MARKET FOR VARIOUS REASONS WHICH CAN ONLY BE TOLD IN PERSON. WE OFFER FOR SALE ONE OF THE LEAD-
NING AND MOST SUCCESSFULLY CONDUCTED
VAUDEVILLE HOUSES IN THE UNITED STATES; ADMISSION, TEN TO THIRTY CENTS; annual business around $175,000, with net profit of about $75,000; this proposition is run entirely by hired help, as the stockholders are interested in various other lines; real estate, equipment, good will and business to be sold; price, one-half million; half cash will be accepted. Lewis, 550 Ellicott Sq., Buffalo, N. Y.

EQUIPMENT FOR SALE.
2,000 OPERA CHAIRS, free; six asbestos booths, steel film vault, asbestos ceiling, net best and save half. J. P. Redington, Scranton, Pa.

CAMERAS, ETC., FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A professional Angeles camera, all metal, four 400-foot magazines, B & L F:3.5 lens and tripod. Cost new $175. Will take $250 and ship with privilege of examination. A bargain. J. J. Brown, Room 304, 527 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

LISTEN—Cameramen, directors, laboratory managers, exchanges, operators, stamp brings invaluable novelty catalogue concerning you. Eberhard Schneider, 219 Second Avenue, N. Y. City.

THE LATEST AND GREATEST BASS BAR-GAIN LIST NO. 7 IS NOW READY FOR FREE
DISTRIBUTION! Contains greatest values and variety in tested and guaranteed motion picture cameras, still cameras, and lenses. A thoroughly comprehensive and valuable list. Be sure and send for your copy to the Home of Camera Values. The Harvey meter for motion photography at $250 is worth its weight in gold. BASS CAMERA COMPANY, Charles Hass, President, 160 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

RARE MOY CAMERA BARGAIN—Cameraman in service wishes to sell finest Moy camera, complete. Goers circle dissolve, focusing tube, macro meter, ultra-speed attachment. Leather cases for camera and one with six magazines. Jack Eaton, 120 West 41st street, N. Y. City.

200 FT. DAVSCO M. P. Camera, 50 MM. B. & L. Tessar lens, F:3.5 with panoramic and tilting top tripod, $67.50. DAVID STERN COM-

SIMPLEX machine; little used Edison inductor, rewinder, long-throw lens, complete, 1915 model; cash, $225, Clarke, 35 Lincoln Park, Newark, N. J.

PRACTICALLY new Power's 6-A machine, three extra lenses, all in special trunk; complete outfit, $300. A. E. T., Room 915, 145 West 45th street, N. Y. City.

FILM FOR SALE OR RENT.
TWO prints, Annette Kellermann in Neptune's Daughter; large amount advertising matter oil paintings. John Sitterly, Buffalo, N. Y.

FOR SALE—About ten thousand feet of negative film—never run—good photography—subject: U. S. Troops on the march, in field, maneuvers, reviews, infantry and artillery in action, division of cavalry inspection, trench work, etc.; will sell cheap. "Dad" Flynn, 810 E. Street, N. E., Washington, D. C.

HELP WANTED.
WANTED—Moving Picture Operator for small town; modern house and machines; six days work; salary, thirty dollars; be permanent; must be able to come at once. Wire P. F. Midel-burg, Logan, W. Va.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES.
WE BUY—Second-hand machines of all makes, lenses, calcium lights, tents, chairs, and all theater supplies. Highest prices offered. What have you? Monarch Film Service, 228 Union avenue, Memphis, Tenn.

STAGE SCENERY.
SCENERY—Drop painted to order in any size up to 12 x 20 feet, $10. Boon Scenic Studios, Hcksville, Ohio.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>List of Current Film Release Dates</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GREATER VITAGRAPH PROGRAM, FEATURE AND STATE RIGHT RELEASES</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Feature Releases</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>AMERICAN STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CORP.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>130 West Forty-Sixth Street, New York City</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tom Brett Comedies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Blackmailers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ignorance.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>S. O. S.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

BETZWOOD FILM COMPANY.
Sandy Burke (Louis Bensson).
BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAYS, INC.
Which Woman (Five Parts—Drama)—03056.
The Eagle (Five Parts—Drama)—03086.
The Teddying Kiss (Grace Cunard—Five Parts—Drama)—03029.
JEWEL PRODUCTIONS, INC.
The Doctor and the Woman (Seven Parts—Dr.).
The Racket, the Beast, and the Devil (Five Parts—Drama).
GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM.
(Montgomery Clift, Bob Hope, Comedies, "Girls You Know"—Made by Edison.)
SELECT PICTURES.
The Law (Clara K. Young—Five Reels).
Cecil (The Pigeon Rosenberg—Marion Davies—Six Reels).
WILLIAM HILL-SIDE SERVICE.
123 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.
The Street of Seven Stars (Doris Kenyon—Six Parts—Drama).
WORLD PICTURES.
June 16—The Man Hunt (Five Parts—Drama).
July 1—Heart of a Girl (Harsha Castleton—Five Parts—Drama).
July 1—Skeet (Clyde Good—Five Parts—Drama).
WORLD COMEDY RELEASES.
May 3—Jerry the Juggler (Two Parts—Fay Tincher).
May 18—A Blackbird (Two Parts—Valet).
WORLD THOMAS PRODUCTIONS.
The Frozen Warning (Drama).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Fox Film Corporation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| FOX SPECIAL FEATURES.
June 30—The Kid is Kiever (Five Parts—Dr.).
July 7—Othello (Two Parts).  |
| FOX RE-ISSUES.
The Boudman (William Farnum—Five Parts—Drama).
FOOTAGE PICTURES.
FIRST NATIONAL EXHIBITORS.
Charlie Chaplin in A Dog's Life.
Ambassador Gerard My Four Years in Germany.
Tarzan of the Apes (Elmo Lincoln & Euline Barstowe).
Passing of the Third Floor Back (Sir Johnstone).  |
| FOOTAGE PICTURES.
FREUDIAN SUNSHINE COMEDIES.
Apr. 7—A Walker's Wasted Life (Two Parts).
May 5—A Neighbor's Keyhole (Two Parts).  |
| MUTT AND JEFF ANIMATED CARTOON.
June 16—A Day of Trouble.
June 23—Meeting Theda Bara.  |
| NATIONAL PRODUCTIONS.
220 S. State St., Chicago, I1.
The Vigilantes (Elwood S. Statler).  |
| BERNARD H. HEINSTEIN.
925 Lonzac Building, New York City.
The Lion of the Hills (Wm. S. Hart—Drama).  |
| COMMONWEALTH PICTURES CORP.
58-60 Union Square, N. Y.
The Frozen Warning (Drama).  |

---

Producers.—Kindly Furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.
"Ladies and Gentlemen:

"We are the Simplex Twins, and desire to speak a few words to you.

"Our Manager has taken pains to select pictures that will afford you the highest degree of entertainment, education and amusement.

"But he knows that no matter how excellent a subject may be, its good effect is lost, and your eyes are injured, if the picture is not projected in life-like manner, or if it quivers or jumps.

"In order to prevent this and to save your eyes from all strain, the Manager has engaged us, because he knows of our successful work in the highest-class Theatres all over the world.

"We do our work in that room up yonder, so you will not see us. But when the show is over you will appreciate that we were kind to your eyes, and you will decide to come again. We thank you."

Seeing is believing; and what the Simplex Twins say can be seen on the screen.
List of Current Film Release Dates

CHESTER BEECHcroft, 501 Fifth Ave., N. Y. City.

Reclamation.

COSMOPHOTOFILM COMPANY, INC., 220 West 42d Street, New York City.
The Hypocrites. (In Two Parts—Drama.)

CREST PICTURES CORP., Times Building, New York.
The Lost of the Ages. A Grain of Dust. (In Two Parts—Drama.)

M. S. EPEIN, 1405 Broadway, N. Y. C.
The Depth of the Sea. (In a Series of Four Parts—Educational.)

FOURSQUARE PICTURES, 725 Seventh Avenue, New York.
The Eagle's Eye. (Episode No. 10—The Invasion of Canada—Two Parts—Drama.)

GREEN AMUSEMENT CORPORATION, Times Building, New York.

God's Man.

GAUMONT CO., Flushing, L. I.

Gaumont News—Released every Tuesday, Gaumont Graphic—Released every Friday.
The Hand of Vengeance. (A serial in ten two-reel episodes.)

"The Hand of Vengeance." Episode No. 1, "The Sign of the Spear." (Two Parts—Drama.)

Episode No. 2, "Scheming for Millions." (Two Parts—Drama.)

Episode No. 3, "The Ambassador's Diamond." (Two Parts—Drama.)

GENERAL ENTERPRISES, INC., 1410 Broadway, New York.
Mother (Six Parts—Drama—McClellan Pictures).

The Warrior (Seven Parts—Drama—McClellan Pictures).

The Liar (Six Parts—Drama—General Enterprises Pictures).

JESSE J. GOLDBERG, 120 West 13th Street, N. Y. City.

The Chinese Muskeeter. Feet and Face. (In Two Parts—Drama.)

GRAPHIC FILM CORPORATION, 725 Seventh Ave., N. Y. City.

When Men Dream (Drama).

HILLER & WILK.

Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman. (The Following Are Keystone-Musk Bennett Comedies.)

Dizzy Heights and Darling Hearts. His Wild Days. Walters' Ball. His First False Step. Ambrosia Cup of Woe. (The Following Are Frank Keenan Productions.)

The Sims Ye. Bride of Hate. The Crab. (The Following Are Norma Talmadge Productions.)

The Devil's Needle. The Social Secretary. Fifty Fifty. (The Following Are Wm. S. Hart Productions.)

IVAN FIELD PRODUCTION. 130 West 46th Street, New York.

Two Men and a Woman. Human Clay. Life or Honor. Conquered Hearts.

JESTER COMEDY CO. 220 West 42d Street, New York.

Featuring Tuesdays—Drama.

March—His Golden Romance (Two Parts).
April—All "For" Her (Two Parts).
May—The Wrong Flat (Two Parts). This is the Life (Two Parts).
Oh What a Day.

KEYEY PICTURES CORP. 1405 Broadway, New York City.

Out of the Night (Drama).

KING BEE FILMS CORP. 729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. City.

ORO PICTURES CORP. 720 Avenue, New York.

Who Knows? (Six Parts—Drama).

LOYALTY (Drama).

PHNICAL CULTURE PHOTO PLAYS, 113 West 46th Street, New York.

Zarago (Drama).

PIEDMONT PICTURES CORPORATION, 729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. City.

His Daughter Pays.

PIONEER FILM CORP. 130 West 46th St., New York City.

The Still Alarm (Serial Production).

PYRAMID COMEDIES, 220 West 42d Street, New York.

In and Out (Two Parts). Love and Lunch (Two Parts). Beach Birds (Two Parts). Beauties and Bombs (Two Parts).

HARRY HAVEN, 1402 Broadway, New York.

The Hand of the Hun (Four Parts—Novelty). The Master Crock.

RENOWED PICTURES CORP. 1600 Broadway, New York.

The Public Defender. 29,000 Leagues Under the Sea.

SHERMAN PRODUCTIONS.

The Light of Western Stars.

ERNST SHIPMAN.

17 West 46th Street, New York City.

Josh Diller Comedy, Featuring Funny Patty Phifer, one Release a Month.

W. H. CLIFFORD PHOTOPLAY COMPANY, INC., Featuring Shorty Hamilton, One Five-Weeker Per Month.

May—Denny from Ireland (Five Reels). June—The Small (Five Reels). July—The Ranger (Five Reels).

The Curse of Eve (Six Part Drama).

FRANCIS FORD PRODUCING COMPANY (Releasing the Feature Pictures Per Year).

Now released—Berlin via America (Six Reels). In Preparation—A Man of Today (Six Reels). To Follow—The Fourth Generation (Six Reels).

The Coast Guard Patrol (By Neil Shipman—Seven-Part Patriotic Drama). A Nugget in the Rough (Five Parts—Comedy-Comedy Drama). Trooper 44 (Five Parts—Drama). The Plight of the Sea (Seven Parts—Drama—by Neil Shipman).

Bill Stingers' Poems (A series of one-ree pause patriotic comedy-dramas issued semi-monthly).

STATE RIGHTS DISTRIBUTORS, INC., Carmen of the Klondike (Seven Parts—Drama).

STERLING PICTURES CORPORATION, 729 Seventh Avenue, New York.

Great Bradley Mystery (Five Parts—Drama). The Mystic Hour (Six Parts—Drama). When You and I Were Young (Five Parts—Drama). The Golden God (Five Parts—Drama). Peg of the Sea (Drama).

(The Following Are Cartoon Comedies, Each 500 Feet in Length.)

Mr. Coon. Mose is Cured. Zippy's Insurance. Zippy's Pets. The Unknown.

TRIANGLE FILM CORP., 1457 Broadway, New York City.

The Servant in the House. The Siren in the House.

WESTERN IMPORT FILM COMPANY, 71 West 23d Street, New York. Mickey (Seven Parts).

W. B. PRODUCTIONS.

71 West 23d Street, New York.

(The Following Are Multiple Reel W. B. Mers Subjects, Released in Order Listed.)

The Two Gun Man in The Bargala (Six Parts—Drama). The Jondith and the Preacher (Five Parts—Drama). The Hell Hound of Alaska (Five Parts—Dr.).

(The Following Are Two-Reel Hart Productions, Released in Order Listed.)

(The Following Are Mack Bennett-Keytum Comedies, Each Two Reels in Length.)

(The Following Are Essie Borssele Productions.)

Satans' Pawn.

M. WEISSBERG.

Wm. A. Brady Playhouse, 137 West 46th Street, N. Y., N. Y. City.

Stolen Orders (Eight Reels—Drama).
The Essential Requirements for Improved Projection are SPEER CARBONS

Speer Alterno Combinations for A. C. Work

AND

Speer Hold-Ark Combinations for D. C. Work

Produce Incomparable Results

Write today for descriptive folders.
Read the unbiased opinions of operators.

Place an order now with your Supply House.

"The Carbons with a Guarantee"
MANUFACTURED BY
SPEER CARBON COMPANY
ST. MARYS, PA.

Moving Picture Machine Patents My Specialty

PATENTS
WILLIAM N. MOORE
PATENT ATTORNEY
LOAN AND TRUST BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D. C.

The first important step is to learn whether you can obtain a patent. Please send sketch of your invention with $5.00 and I will examine the patent records and inform you whether you are entitled to a patent, the cost and manner of procedure.

Personal Attention Established 25 Years

The importance of safe-guarding a reputation is not under-estimated at the Eastman factories.

EASTMAN FILM

means a film that is absolutely dependable and uniform—rigid tests and careful inspection prevent its ever meaning anything else.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Knowledge Brings Success

Messrs. Exhibitor, Exchangeman, Operator, and Film Men Everywhere:—The moving picture business is one of the youngest but one of the leading industries of the world to-day. We may well be proud to be connected with it. Are you keeping up? Do you know all about it? It will yield larger returns for an equal amount of work to the men who know. Each weekly issue of the MOVING PICTURE WORLD contains more up-to-date information than you can get from all other sources. Subscribe now if not already on our mailing list. You will get your paper hours earlier than from the newsstand and it costs $4.80 less.

Please fill in the name of your Theatre.
Cut Out and Mail To-day—Now!
ERBOGRAPH
For SERVICE

PRODUCERS OF
MOTION PICTURE FILMS
COMMERCIAL DEVELOPING and PRINTING
Telephone Audubon 3716

ERBOGRAPH CO.
LUDWIG G. ERB President
203-211 WEST 46TH STREET NEW YORK

MINUSA
Gold Fibre Screens

The only screen built to the specifications of the theatre in which it is to be used.
You'd naturally expect the world's largest producers of Moving Picture Screens to construct the best screen. We do!

Write and let us tell you about Minusa screens and send you samples.

MINUSA CINE SCREEN CO.
Bomont & Morgan
St. Louis, Mo

Cremona
Solo Theatre Orchestra-Organs

SOLON STYLE "O"
The instrument with the human voices. Unsurpassed for manual playing. Plays all 88 note player rolls. Improved duplex roll system enables operator to follow picture with ease and satisfaction. Does not require an operator with our special 134 note reproducing SOLO roll. Instruments suitable for every theatre.

The Marquette Piano Co.
General Offices and Factory:
2421-2439 Wallace Street, Chicago

Printing, Developing, Toning, Tinting

Titles
Domestic Foreign

Empire City Film Laboratories, Inc.
345 West 40th Street New York

Hampton DelRuth
Editor and Supervising Director
Discrimination and Conservation

We desire to announce that within the past two weeks we have had offered and submitted to us for test, a comparatively cheap device intended to change Alternating into Direct Current. We were pleased to be told by the manufacturer of this device that he considered us the largest and most responsible distributor of motion picture accessories, and that he hoped the test would prove his device to be equal to a motor generator.

We have stated how U. T. E. is composed of the most experienced men and engineers in the business. Therefore, it did not take us long, after we secured the device, to find out that, although it was advertised a few weeks ago as a "Converter" of A. C. to D. C., it is merely a commutating rectifier.

The mechanical commutating rectifier has been experimented upon and proposed for many years, and we were somewhat surprised when certain claims were made for this device, and now our judgment has been verified, and that is—

That a mechanical Rectifier with commutator and brushes, operated by a synchronous motor, will not give a constant Direct Current source of supply for the arc. Therefore, in order to produce a light on the screen which is at all satisfactory, it is necessary to run at very high amperage on the D. C. side. Tests proved conclusively that a 55 ampere D. C. Arc on a Hallberg Motor Generator gave one-third more illumination on the screen than was produced with this so-called converter with 80 amperes. But, aside from the efficiency being 8% lower than the poorest motor generator, and being from 15% to 18% lower than the efficiency of our Hallberg Motor Generator, and the light one-third less with the same watts consumed from the line, the most important feature is that a mechanical rectifier or so-called converter delivers an interrupted current at the arc. Therefore, the ghost or wave effect on the screen is apparent, like it is with the ordinary A. C. arc—

If U. T. E. had not exercised its usual discrimination in selecting the articles it offers for sale the low price at which this device was offered to us might have made us offer it for sale to you—

Mr. Exhibitor—You can thank your lucky stars that there is at least one equipment concern which is not subject to influence by low prices, but Quality takes first place with us.

In the above, U. T. E. has exercised Discrimination. Now, it is up to you to exercise Conservation, by saving current and producing better results on your screen, by installing our Hallberg Motor Generator. We guarantee absolutely satisfactory results with the highest efficiency.

"EVERYTHING FOR THE M. P. THEATRE EXCEPT THE FILM"

United Theatre Equipment Corporation

Executive Offices: 1604 Broadway, New York

Largest Moving Picture Equipment House in the World

BRANCH STORES AND WAREHOUSES: NEW YORK BOSTON PHILADELPHIA PITTSBURGH CINCINNATI
OMAHA MINNEAPOLIS CLEVELAND CINCINNATI
KANSAS CITY MACHINE & SUPPLY CO., INC., KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI
“Please Replace These Parts”

The Exhibitor who makes this request knows that this company stands solidly behind its product. He is confident that his request will be given prompt and favorable attention.

Picture his chagrin when he receives our reply:

"These parts are not of our manufacture and consequently we cannot replace them."

"Profit" is not the impelling motive behind the manufacture of Genuine Power’s Repair Parts. The main purpose is to spare no time or expense in seeing to it that every part leaves our factory perfect and capable of so performing its respective duty that it will maintain the High Standard of Efficiency for which POWER’S CAMERAGRAPH has always been noted.

You will insure yourself against inconvenience and loss by purchasing only the genuine parts which, in all cases, are stamped with the name or initials of this company.
—no matter what size house—

—says Richard J. Delly, of the Delphi Theatre of Chicago, a 248-seat house—

"I'll admit right at the start that I didn't think a small house could make money with 'The KAISER' but tell all exhibitors for me that they needn't worry because their house is small, for 'The KAISER, the Beast of Berlin' will surely make them money, no matter what size house.

"I played 'The KAISER' on Sunday, June 16th, one of the hottest days in several years, at the Delphi, a 248-seat outlying theatre, and was surely surprised to see the crowds that started to come in. To cut a long story short, I took in One Hundred and Sixty-nine dollars on a Sunday and, for the three days, I took in Three hundred and thirty-seven dollars.

"It's a long time since this 248-seat house played to capacity and I am eagerly looking forward to the time when I can book your newest JEWEL."

Book the Original—the Only

"THE KAISER
— The Beast of Berlin"

JEWEL Productions, Inc
1600 Broadway, New York City
COMING!

"YOUNG AMERICA"

WITH ALL STAR CAST

A George K. Spoor Ultra-feature from the Cohan and Harris Stage Success

(In 7 Parts)

Essanay

GEORGE K. SPOOR, PRESIDENT

Trademark
Universal Special Attractions are produced by the soundest, oldest, best equipped concern in Moving Pictures.

And best equipped means longest experience and keenest artistic taste and choicest stage facilities. It further means, the most for the money—in other words, a reasonable price for the finest of fine pictures.

This is the good solid business reason why you can book any and every Universal Special Attraction with your eyes shut. The picture will be right and the price will be right. Prove both these facts for yourself at your nearest Universal Exchange today.

UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO.

Carl Laemmle, President, 1600 Broadway, New York
Speaking again of September 1st, 1919

You Book for Years Not for Days

One year is the unit upon which motion picture theatres are successfully conducted—not one day or one week or one month.

You don't lay out a policy just for next week—you plan for next year, and for the year after that.

A day's profit means nothing in your scheme of existence. A year's profit means everything.

Your year-after-year plan calls for the best pictures. Your policy is to build your business, which means to satisfy your patrons.

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation's plan has the year as its unit. Its service is a year-after-year service; its policy a year-after-year policy.

You don't think of one Paramount or one Arctraft Picture. You think of the Paramount or Arctraft standard and reputation and popularity which have been established not by one or two pictures, but by hundreds of pictures.

You far seeing, year-ahead-of-the-game men: your theatres, too, have high standards, excellent reputations that have been built by hundreds of good pictures.

We're both following the same plan—the year-after-year plan.

That's why the exhibitors and the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation are working together better than ever before.
"The Gipsy Trial"

A SPARKLING society comedy about a young adventurer who is hired by a persistent wooer (who wishes he were a gipsy) to kidnap a beautiful girl. That's the outline of "The Gipsy Trail," a play of today which will be Bryant Washburn's first Paramount Picture.

"The Gipsy Trail" was a great success when produced at the Plymouth Theatre in New York. As a motion picture, it will be a tremendous hit for Bryant Washburn—and for you.
Ethel Clayton's first Paramount Picture will be a play known everywhere. It is "Maggie Pepper," the comedy-drama by Charles Klein, in which Rose Stahl starred for several years. It's going to start Ethel Clayton triumphantly on her first year in Paramount Pictures. Robert Vignola will direct it.

The new Ethel Clayton productions are going to add tremendously to the popularity of this talented star.
The Exhibitor
Who is vainly
PLEADING WITH THE PRODUCERS
For something
That is DIFFERENT from the one
He gets every week
In which there is NOTHING NEW
But the name, is advised to WATCH
For the EARLY release dates of
The two NOTABLE NOVELTIES
Of the fall season.
Specially devised by
The BETZWOOD FILM COMPANY
To meet the exhibitor's
Justifiable demand
For SOMETHING NEW AND BIG —something
To silence the patron who complains
That THEY ALL LOOK ALIKE
Now and positively
For THE FIRST TIME
In screen history, a real Chinese Star, LADY TSEN MEI, in
A sumptuous extra part Feature production
"WHEN EAST MEETS WEST."
A thrilling
Modern romance
With the enchanting
Atmosphere of the mysterious
Yellow Kingdom, revealing a NEW SCREEN STAR OF THE FIRST MAGNITUDE

Produced for
THE BETZWOOD FILM COMPANY
By IRA M. LOWRY
Producer of
"For the Freedom of the World" and other successes.
Also put forward by the
BETZWOOD FILM COMPANY
In response to
The exhibitor's plea for
THE NEW AND REAL
Is MR. LOUIS BENNISON
Recognized by dramatic authorities
As AMERICA'S FOREMOST
Delineator of Western types.
In
LOUIS BENNISON
The screen welcomes
The incomparable artist
Who MADE
"JOHNNY GET YOUR GUN"
FAMOUS from Coast to coast. AN ACTOR
Of ACKNOWLEDGED PERSONALITY
For the screen ASCENDENCY which Must be conceded him on His presentation in the Star title part
In the BETZWOOD FILM COMPANY'S Great production of the Western comedy-drama
"SANDY BURKE"
Specially written
By J. ALLAN DUNN
For the introduction of
LOUIS BENNISON as
The season's most Important star.

Produced for
THE BETZWOOD
FILM COMPANY
By IRA M. LOWRY
Producer of
"For the Freedom of the World" and other successes.
Ten Startling Episodes

1.—The Sign of the Scar
2.—Scheming for Millions
3.—The Ambassador's Diamond
4.—The Grey Lady
5.—The League of Silence
6.—The Mysterious Manor
7.—The Secret of the Night
8.—The Kidnapped Statesman
9.—The Girl in the Hotel
10.—A Girl's Aid

Twenty Dramatic Reels

Filled with unusually sensational but clean action, this amazing photo-serial is a masterpiece of interest-holding construction.

From the start of Episode I to the last scene of Episode X there is no let-up in the tenseness of the suspense.

THE GREAT HOUSE OF Gaumont
PRESENTS
The Hand of Vengeance
N EXTRAORDINARY PHOTO-SERIAL
For the States-Right Market

Hundreds of Thrills

Never before have so many daring escapades, startling dangers, and wonderful surprises—but all within the bounds of probability—been compressed into even twice the number of reels. The hero is a marvel of ingenuity.

 Thousands of Artistries

Competent character portrayal, beautiful photography, and rare artistic effects make this a notable production.

And the attractive aids to publicity, the 2 and 3-color posters, slides, photographs, etc., etc., designed by great artists, are sure attendance-pullers.
ELINOR FIELD

Pretty—Dainty—
and Seventeen

In
STRAND COMEDIES

Bringing the spirit of youth to your screen in a series of one reel farces—happy dramas with probable plots

Available one-a-week at MUTUAL FILM EXCHANGES
This is your Chance!

WILLIAM FOX
Presents
THEDA BARA
AS
CLEOPATRA

Now packing theatres as a special attraction
Released in August on a rental basis.
Fix your bookings today!

FOX
FILM CORPORATION

New Fox policy for 1918-19 announced next week.
The Picture With a Soul!

William Fox presents

WILLIAM FARNum

In

Les Miserables

Victor Hugo's Deathless Romance of a Human Heart's Redemption.

A SENSATION WITH EVERY CROWD
A CLEAN-UP AT EVERY BOX OFFICE
Released on a Rental Basis
BOOK IT NOW

FOX FILM CORPORATION

NEW FOX POLICY FOR 1918-19 WILL BE ANNOUNCED NEXT WEEK
TAKE OUT YOUR PENCIL
You Can Book These Pictures

Productions Extraordinary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SUBJECT</th>
<th>STAR</th>
<th>NO. REELS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>CLEOPATRA</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LES MISERABLES</td>
<td>WILLIAM FARNUM</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

STANDARD PICTURES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SUBJECT</th>
<th>STAR</th>
<th>NO. REELS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>WOMAN AND THE LAW</td>
<td>ALL-STAR CAST.</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROUGH AND READY</td>
<td>WILLIAM FARNUM</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE CONQUEROR</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE HEART OF A LION</td>
<td>WILLIAM FARNUM</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UNDER THE YOKE</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CAMILLE</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CHEATING SIN BURBILIT</td>
<td>ALL-STAR CAST.</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE SPY</td>
<td>DUSTIN FARNUM</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DU BARRY</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TROUBLEMAKERS</td>
<td>JANE AND KATHERINE LEE.</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE TWO ORPHANS</td>
<td>WILLIAM FARNUM.</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A DAUGHTER OF THE GODS</td>
<td>ANNETTE KELLERMAN</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE ROSE OF BLOOD</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE BLINDNESS OF DIVORCE</td>
<td>ALL-STAR CAST.</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WHEN A MAN SEES RED</td>
<td>WILLIAM FARNUM.</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE HONOR SYSTEM</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH MIRIAM COOPER.</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE SOUL OF BUDDHA</td>
<td>GLADYS BROCKWELL</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TRUE BLUE</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>WILLIAM FARNUM.</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1918 Versions of The Big Six—

Re-titled—Re-edited—Revised. Better and Bigger Than Ever!

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SUBJECT</th>
<th>STAR</th>
<th>NO. REELS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THE TWO ORPHANS</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE CLEMENCEAU CASE</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A FOOL THERE WAS</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A SOLDIER'S OATH</td>
<td>THEDA BARA</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE BONDMAN</td>
<td>WILLIAM FARNUM</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE PLUNDERER</td>
<td>WILLIAM FARNUM</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Sunshine Comedies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SUBJECT</th>
<th>NO. REELS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A TIGHT SQUEEZE</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WHO'S YOUR FATHER?</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WILD WOMEN AND TAME LIONS</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A NEIGHBOR'S KEYHOLE</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A WAITER'S WASTED LIFE</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A SELF-MADE LADY</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MY HUSBAND'S WIFE</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ARE MARRIED POLICEMEN SAFE?</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HUNGRY LIONS IN A HOSPITAL</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SON OF A GUN</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SHADOWS OF HER PEST</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DAMAGED NO-GOODS</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HIS SMASHING CAREER</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A MILK-FED VAMP</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROARING LIONS AND WEDDING BELLS</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Mutt and Jeff

Bud Fisher's Animated Cartoons

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Seventy-five Mile Gun</td>
<td>The Freight Investigation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Tale of a Pig</td>
<td>The Leak</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hospital ORDERIES</td>
<td>On Ice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Helping McAdoo</td>
<td>Life Savers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Fisherless Cartoon</td>
<td>The Burglar Alarm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Superintendents</td>
<td>The Extra Quick Lunch</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tonsorial Artists</td>
<td>Hunting the U-Boats</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meeting Theda Bara</td>
<td>Hotel De Mutt</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Decoy</td>
<td>Joining the Tanks</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Occultism</td>
<td>An Ace and a Joker</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Back to the Balkans</td>
<td>Landing a Spy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FOX FILM CORPORATION
AND PICK THE WINNERS
at any Fox Exchange Now

FOX SPECIAL FEATURES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SUBJECT</th>
<th>STAR</th>
<th>NO. REELS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THE PRIDE OF NEW YORK</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MISS INNOCENCE</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE DEBT OF HONOR</td>
<td>PEGGY HYLAND</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CONSCIENCE</td>
<td>JEWEL CARMEN</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MISS U.S.A.</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE YANKEE WAY</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PEG OF THE PIRATES</td>
<td>PEGGY HYLAND</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A BRANDED SOUL</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A ROYAL ROMANCE</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EVERY GIRL'S DREAM</td>
<td>GLADYS BROCKWELL</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE SCARLET ROAD</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THIS IS THE LIFE</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE WRAITH OF LOVE</td>
<td>PEGGY HYLAND</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BLUE-EYED LADY</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOME BOY</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HER ONE MISTAKE</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WHEN FALSE TONGUES SPEAK</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE DEVIL'S WHEEL</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THOU SHALT NOT STEAL</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE KID IS CLEVER</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DURAND OF THE BAD LANDS</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE SOUL OF SATAN</td>
<td>GLADYS BROCKWELL</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STOLEN HONOR</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HONOR AND OBEY</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE LIAR</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A DAUGHTER OF FRANCE</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE BRIDE OF FEAR</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DOING THEIR BIT</td>
<td>JEWEL CARMEN</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A DAUGHTER OF SATAN</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AMERICAN BUDS</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MELTING MILLIONS</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WESTERN BLOOD</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SISTER AGAINST SISTER</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AMERICAN BUDS</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A CHILD OF THE WILD</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE ISLAND OF DESIRE</td>
<td>JANE AND KATHERINE LEE</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NORTH OF 53</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HER TEMPTATION</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CUPIDS ROUNDUP</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE KINGDOM OF LOVE</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE BITTER TRUTH</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TWO LITTLE IMPS</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE DEED OF PRIDE</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A MODERN CINDERELLA</td>
<td>GLADYS BROCKWELL</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HIGH FINANCE</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE SILENT SIGH</td>
<td>MICHAEL COOPER</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL</td>
<td>GLADYS BROCKWELL</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ONE TOUCH OF SIN</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HER PRICE</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ACE HIGH</td>
<td>JEWEL CARMEN</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CONFESSION</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE FIREBRAND</td>
<td>JUNE CAPRICE</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WE SHOULD WORRY</td>
<td>VIRGINIA PEARSON</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UNKNOWN 274</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BRAVE AND BOLD</td>
<td>GEORGE WALSH</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
The Proof

Of the Big 6

Attracting record breaking crowds.

FOX FILM CORPORATION

New Fox policy for 1918-19 announced next week.

Western Union Telegram

RECEIVED AT

Newcomb Carlton, President
George W. A. Atwater, First Vice President

94606 64 BLK 4 IX

1918 JUL 16 PM 9 57

CLEVELAND O 756P 16

W R Sheehan General Mgr 1303

Fox Film Corporation 130 W 46 St New York NY

Fool there was opened at our theatre to record breaking business last Sunday there isn’t a man woman or child who has not complimented us upon having this wonderful picture in our house and we are delighted to think that you have given us the privilege of again showing your Big Six give us more such pictures we want them.

J E Sorel

Orpheum Theatre, Cleveland Ohio

Detroit with 13

Gus S Greening

Manager Miles Theatre

New York NY

I was a bit skeptical regarding the success of Big Six in first run houses I ran William Parham in Plunderer last week at our Victorial Theatre Full week stand at twenty five cents admission straight the fact of smaller houses in my vicinity and throughout Phila having played the old version years ago at smaller admission scale did not diminish its drawing power than you for persuading me to run big six for week stand

Frank A buildup

Managing Director, Stanley Co.
SUNSHINE COMEDIES
Every One a Dynamo of Mirth

"A TIGHT SQUEEZE"
"WHO'S YOUR FATHER?"
"ANNEIGHBOR'S KEYHOLE"
"WILD WOMEN AND TAME LIONS"

Also
"THE BURGLAR ALARM"
"THE SEVENTY FIVE-MILE SUN"
"LIFE SAVERS"
"MEETING THEDA BARA"

MUTT and JEFF
ANIMATED CARTOONS
famous the Whole World Over

New Fox policy for 1918-19 will be announced next week.
Everyone in your town who saw “The KAISER” and everyone who missed it will be wild to see this delicious travesty, “The GEEZER OF BERLIN.” Millions are ready for it—are right on edge to see the ridiculous side of the King business. They’ll laugh their heads off.

You’ve already Paid When you showed “The KAISER” you paid a great big part of your advertising on “The GEEZER OF BERLIN.” This time your ads will go twice as far for half the money. You’ll have our Special Book of Newspaper Ads within two weeks. Reserve for “The GEEZER” now. Be ready. Any Jewel Exchange.
A Travesty on
"The KAISER"
-The Beast of Berlin

Lavish Costuming
Magnificent Sets

The costumes and sets of "The GEEZER" are on a par with the original Jewel Triumph, "The KAISER." This is unquestionably the most sumptuously staged burlesque in moving pictures—a high class farce that rings the bell from every point of view.

It's Something Different --- Something New

Book "The GEEZER"—advertise it—clean up. You'll be giving a great, big, eager-to-be-amused audience the heartiest laugh of years and they'll thank you for something new, something different. Get in touch with your nearest Jewel Exchange today—without fail.
The car rolled up and a beautiful girl opened the door......
"Marry me!" she said

"FOR HUSBANDS ONLY"

LOIS WEBERS COMING FASCINATION FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY — STARRING MILDRED HARRIS

JEWEL PRODUCTIONS
ROLL OF HONOR
THE NAME OF EVERY THEATRE WHICH EXHIBITS
PERSHING'S CRUSADERS
THE FIRST U. S. OFFICIAL WAR FEATURE

will be published in this Roll and the United States Government Division of Films will present a handsome "Victory Screen Pledge" to its proprietors to be used for lobby display and as a memento of their patriotic action.

Names preceded by an asterisk (*) are the week's supply of newcomers on the Honor Roll.

Colorado—N. Mex.—Utah—Wyo.

* Burley ................ Burley, Idaho
* Auditorium ........... American Falls, Idaho
* Paramount Empress .... Bingham, Utah
* Coronado ............. Los Vegas, N. M.
* Pastime ............... Springer, N. M.
* Rex .................... Ruton, N. Mex.
* Princess .............. Deming, N. M.
* American .............. Salt Lake, Utah
* Unique ................ Gunnison, Colo.
* Columbia .............. Florence, Colo.
* Peoples ................ Wiley, Colo.
* Oil Shale ............. Grand Valley, Colo.
* Lover .................. Ft. Morgan, Colo.
* Opera House .......... Mancos, Colo.
* Rialto ................. Jerome, Idaho
* Rex .................... Buhl, Idaho
* Gem .................... Somerset, Colo.
* Burns .................. Colo. Springs, Colo.
* Universal .......... Holyoke, Colo.
* Emerson ............... Brush, Colo.
* Grand .................. Pueblo, Colo.
* Wray ................... Wray, Colo.
* Orpheum ................ Steamboat Springs, Colo.
* Lyric or Empress ...... Ft. Collins, Colo.
* Iris .................... Boulder, Colo.
* Stirling ............... Greeley, Colo.
* West ................... Trinidad, Colo.
* Atlas ................... Cheyenne, Wyo.
* Ogden .................. Ogden, Utah

Washington—Oregon—Alaska—Montana

And All Counties in Idaho North of and Including Idaho County

* Gem ..................... Neontow, Wash.
* Liberty ................ Bellingham, Wash.
* Strand .................. Seaside, Ore.
* Sunset .................. Astoria, Ore.
* Noble .................... Marshfield, Ore.
* Liberty .................. Salem, Ore.
* Oregon .................. Eugene, Ore.
* Empire .................. Anacortes, Wash.
* Victory ................. Tacoma, Wash.
* Rialto ................... Bremerton, Wash.
* Majestic ................. Cornwallis, Ore.

Illinois

* Villas .................. Chicago, Ill.
* Grand .................... Granite City, Ill.
* Princess ................. Woodstock, Ill.
* Motion Picture .......... Chicago, Ill.
* 618 W. Chicago Ave.
* Princess .................. Hoopstown, Ill.
* Odd Fellows' Temple .... Mt. Olive, Ill.
* Sacred Heart Church ... Rutland, Ill.
* Opera House ............ Mt. Carroll, Ill.
* Parkway ................. Chicago, Ill.
* 11055 N. Michigan.
* Idle Hour ............... Rossville, Ill.
* Lyric ..................... Casey, Ill.
* Oakley ................... Chicago, Ill.
* Isis ...................... Chicago, Ill.
* Plasianee ............... Chicago, Ill.
* Faulina .................. Chicago, Ill.
* Majestic ................ Streator, Ill.
* Windsor Park ........... Chicago, Ill.
* Julian .................... Chicago, Ill.
* Opera House ............ Rankin, Ill.
* Curtis .................. Downers Grove, Ill.
* Brookfield .............. Brookfield, Ill.
* Illinois ................ Glue Heights, Ill.
* Minsdale ................. Minsdale, Ill.
* Garden ................... Harvey, Ill.
* Joliet .................... Joliet, Ill.
* Hyde Park ............... Chicago, Ill.
* Rogers ................... Chicago, Ill.
* Buggs ................... Chicago, Ill.
* American ............... Chicago, Ill.
* Empress ................. Decatur, Ill.
* Bijou ..................... Carrollton, Ill.
* Americus ............... Chicago, Ill.
* New Apollo ............. Chicago, Ill.
* California .............. Chicago, Ill.
* Park Manor ............. Chicago, Ill.
* De Luxe .................. Lake Forest, Ill.
* Marquette ............... La Salle, Ill.
* Orpheum .................. Ottawa, Ill.
* Marshall Sq ............. Chicago, Ill.
* Illington ............... Chicago, Ill.
* Orpheum ................. Chicago, Ill.
* Lyric .................... Earlville, Ill.
* Avon ..................... Chicago, Ill.
* Grand .................... Geneva, Ill.
* Empire .................. Morris, Ill.
* Princess ................. De Kalb, Ill.
* Star ...................... Oregon, Ill.
* Grand .................... Harrisburg, Ill.
* Ear ....................... Chicago, Ill.
* New Brookline ............ Chicago, Ill.
* Southern ................. Oak Park, Ill.
* Grand .................... Macomb, Ill.

Opera House ............... Buda, Ill.
* Strand .................. Freeport, Ill.
* Rialto .................... Kewanee, Ill.
* Majestic ................ East Moline, Ill.
* Mirror ................... Moline, Ill.
* Spenser Sq. .............. Rock Island, Ill.
* Dreamland ............... Prophetstown, Ill.
* Olympia .................. Arcole, Ill.
* Star ..................... Newton, Ill.
* Strand .................. Robinson, Ill.
* Alee ..................... Onley, Ill.
* Strand .................. Petersburg, Ill.
* Majestic ................ Paxton, Ill.
* Illinois .................. La Grange, Ill.
* Lyric ..................... Chicago, Ill.

Indiana

* Wysor .................. Munie, Ind.
* Mickelo .................. Linton, Ind.
* Gravel .................. Goodland, Ind.
* Sourwine ................. Brazil, Ind.
* Opera House ............ Washington, Ind.
* Alhambra .............. Knightstown, Ind.
* Luna ..................... Lafayette, Ind.
* Starland ................ Anderson, Ind.
* Princess ............... La Porte, Ind.
* Griele .................... Indianapolis, Ind.
* Isis ....................... Dana, Ind.
* Empire .................... Jasonville, Ind.
* Gem ....................... No. Manchester, Ind.
* Dreamland ............. Mt. Vernon, Ind.
* Starland ............... Michigan City, Ind.
* Crumps .................. Columbus, Ind.
* Why-Not .................. Greenfield, Ind.
* Princess ............... Rushville, Ind.
* Music Hall .............. Crawfordsville, Ind.
* Isis ....................... Kokomo, Ind.
* Orpheum ................. Clinton, Ind.
* Colonial ................ Logansport, Ind.

Iowa—Nebraska—Kansas

* Keck ..................... Wapello, Iowa
* Windsor .................. Hampton, Iowa
* Treeler .................. Ogden, Iowa
* Colonial ................ Clarion, Iowa
* Lyric ..................... Harlan, Iowa
* Pastime .................. Ottowa, Kan.
* Temple Grand ........... Creston, Iowa
* Loyal ..................... Belgrade, Neb.
* Strand .................. Clinton, Ia.
* Strand .................. Tunnill, Ia.
* Palace ..................... Burlington, la.

(Continued next page)
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grand</th>
<th>Estherville, la.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Orpheum</td>
<td>Fairfield, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Keokuk, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Marshalltown, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Garden</td>
<td>Davenport, Port.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palace</td>
<td>Mt. Madison, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iris</td>
<td>Hamburg, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phoenix</td>
<td>Neul, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fraser</td>
<td>Spencer, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Casino</td>
<td>Melcher, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess</td>
<td>Sioux City, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Majestic</td>
<td>Fort Dodge, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Opera House</td>
<td>Algona, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Royal</td>
<td>Carroll, la.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martha-Ellen</td>
<td>Central City, Neb.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Community</td>
<td>David City, Neb.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stirling</td>
<td>Superior, Neb.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyda</td>
<td>Grand Island, Neb.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Auditorium</td>
<td>Norfolk, Neb.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rex</td>
<td>Arkansas City, Kan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Beldorf</td>
<td>Independence, Kan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Royal</td>
<td>Hutchinson, Kan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Royal</td>
<td>Newton, Kan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Empress</td>
<td>Ft. Scott, Kan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Empress</td>
<td>Paola, Kan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Elks</td>
<td>Parsons, Kan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Columbia</td>
<td>Coffeyville, Kan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Orpheum</td>
<td>Leavenworth, Kan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cozy</td>
<td>Topeka, Kan.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Missouri—Wisconsin—S. D.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Waspaso</th>
<th>Faith, S. D.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Iverson</td>
<td>Hudson, S. D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Orpheum</td>
<td>Ada, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Opera House</td>
<td>White, S. D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cozy</td>
<td>Long Prairie, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Metropolitan</td>
<td>Owatonna, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyric</td>
<td>Pequot, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Mahtowa, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Fairbank, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Opera House</td>
<td>Crosby, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Pine River, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gem</td>
<td>Limestone, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rex</td>
<td>Bonnide, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barrymores</td>
<td>Marshall, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Broadway</td>
<td>Albert Lea, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moccum</td>
<td>Aitkin, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Fairmount, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Jackson, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess</td>
<td>St. James, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Worthington, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Huron Lake, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wonderland</td>
<td>Madella, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Turnverein</td>
<td>New Ulm, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Opera House</td>
<td>Springfield, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crystal</td>
<td>Fulda, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gem</td>
<td>New Richmond, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Metro</td>
<td>Red Wing, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kerney</td>
<td>Eagle Bend, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mora Opera</td>
<td>Mora, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rex</td>
<td>Clarrissa, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Opera House</td>
<td>Foley, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Empress</td>
<td>Osakis, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New International Falls, Minn.</td>
<td>Alexandria, Minn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Howard</td>
<td>Marion, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Opera House</td>
<td>Stanley, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apollo</td>
<td>Janesville, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ideal</td>
<td>Bloomer, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Marinette, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Park Opera House</td>
<td>Cambridge, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mikado</td>
<td>Manitowoc, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Neenah</td>
<td>Neenah, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appleton</td>
<td>Appleton, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adler Opera House</td>
<td>Marshfield, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Madison, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Majestic</td>
<td>Sheboygan, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bijou</td>
<td>Racine, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rhode O. H.</td>
<td>Kenosha, Wis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cozy</td>
<td>Wagner, S. D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess</td>
<td>Allendun, S. D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pleasant Hour</td>
<td>Brookings, S. D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jewel</td>
<td>Sioux Falls, S. D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dad</td>
<td>Brookings, S. D.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Ohio

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grand</th>
<th>Circleville, Ohio</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Finney</td>
<td>Martins Ferry, Ohio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Castanba</td>
<td>Shelby, Ohio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jewel</td>
<td>Terry, Ohio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Majestic</td>
<td>Mansfield, Ohio</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Delaware—Md.—D. C.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Queen</th>
<th>Wilmington, Del. Gardne</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>New York</td>
<td>Baltimore, Md.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Hippodrome   | Buffalo, N. Y.        |
| Red Hook Lyceum | Red Hook, N. Y. |
| Greenpoint   |                     |
| Opera House  | Kingston, N. Y.       |
| Stanley      | Bensonhurst, L. I.    |
| Oneonta      | Oneonta, N. Y.        |
| Star         | Islip, L. I.          |
| Novelty      | Sayville, N. Y.       |
| Your         | Hicksville, L. I.     |
| Century      | Mineola, L. I.        |
| Matineeoch   | Locust Valley, N. Y.  |
| Armory       | Middletown, N. Y.     |
| Oxford       | Brooklyn, N. Y.       |
| New Garden   | Brooklyn, N. Y.       |
| West End     | Brooklyn, N. Y.       |
| Cleveland    |                     |
| Norwood      | Brooklyn, N. Y.       |
| New          | Rockaway Beach, N. Y. |
| Regent       | Bay Shore, N. Y.      |
| Park         | Rockaway Park, N. Y.  |
| Andrews      | Salamanca, N. Y.      |
| Armory       | Binghamton, N. Y.     |
| 68th St. Playhouse | New York, N. Y. |
| Stratford    | Poughkeepsie, N. Y.   |
| Proctor's    | Mt. Vernon, N. Y.     |
| Armory or Palace | Schenectady, N. Y. |
| Amsterdam O. H. | Amsterdam, N. Y. |
| Esmere       | Bronx, N. Y.          |
| Spooner      | Bronx, N. Y.          |
| Burtland     | Bronx, N. Y.          |
| Majestie     | N. Y. C., N. Y.       |
| Broadway     | W. Enidburgh, N. Y.   |
| Empire       | Port Richmond, S. I., N. Y. |
| Proctor's    | Yonkers, N. Y.        |
| Baker        | Dover, N. Y.          |
| United States | N. Y. C., N. Y.       |
| Plaza        | N. Y. C., N. Y.       |
| Greenpoint   | N. Y. C., N. Y.       |
| Maulian      | N. Y. C., N. Y.       |
| Steinway     | Astoria, L. I., N. Y. |
| Photoplay    | N. Y. C., N. Y.       |
| Schuyler     | N. Y. C., N. Y.       |
| New Plaza    | W. New Brighton, N. Y.|

Missouri

| Central       | Louis, Mo.             |
| Gem           | Macon, Mo.             |
| Idle Hour     | Festus, Mo.            |
| Grand         | Princeton, Mo.         |
| Criterion     | Poplar Bluff, Mo.      |
| Orpheum       | Sleepy Mexico, Mo.     |
| Grand         | Moberly, Mo.           |
| Princess      | Kirkville, Mo.         |
| Orpheus       | Excelsior Springs, Mo. |
| Bloomfield    | Bloomfield, Mo.        |
| Rigney        | Albany, Mo.            |
| Rex           | Ridgeway, Mo.          |
| McGraw        | Brookfield, Mo.        |
| Trio Amusement | Hale, Mo.              |
| Alamo         | Fayette, Mo.           |
| Star          | Louisiana, Mo.         |
| Lyric         | Liberty, Mo.           |

New York
New Jersey
Lincoln .......... Newark, N. J.
Montclair .......... Montclair, N. J.
Savoy .......... Ashbury Park, N. J.
Hasbrock .......... Hasbrock, N. J.
Lyric .......... Paterson, N. J.
City .......... Newark, N. J.
Music Hall .......... Clinton, N. J.
Court .......... Newark, N. J.
Englewood .......... Englewood, N. J.
Park .......... Ocean City, N. J.
U. S. Temple ...... Union Hill, N. J.
Main St. .......... Freehold, N. J.
Arcade .......... Princeton, N. J.
Strand .......... Hightstown, N. J.
Lyons Park .......... Morristown, N. J.
Montauk .......... Passaic, N. J.
Roys .......... Blairstown, N. J.
Grand .......... Vineland, N. J.
Keith .......... Jersey City, N. J.

New England States
Scollay Square .......... Boston, Mass.

West Va. & Western Pa.
Consisting of and Including Fulton, Huntington and Potter Counties
Happy Hour .......... Ebensburg, W. Pa.
Garden .......... Pittsburgh, Pa.
Regent .......... Pittsburgh, Pa.
Palace .......... S. Fork, Pa.
Pastime .......... Portage, Pa.
Lincoln .......... Lock Haven, Pa.
Strand .......... Brownsville, Pa.
Commons .......... Hastings, Pa.

Eastern Pa.
* Virginia .......... Atlantic City, N. J.
* Penwick .......... Salem, N. J.
* Colonial Theatre .......... Atlantic City, N. J.

Texas—Arkansas
* Gem .......... Whitesboro, Tex.
* Queen .......... Ballinger, Tex.

Oklahoma
* Liberty .......... Ata, Okla.
* Palace .......... Irdmore, Okla.
* Quimley .......... Oklahoma City, Okla.
* Liberty .......... Durant, Okla.
* Main Street
* Morgaon .......... Henryetta, Okla.
* Cozy .......... Okmulgee, Okla.
* Yale .......... Pauls Valley, Okla.
* Royal .......... Codetta, Okla.
* American .......... Enid, Okla.
* Liberty .......... Hugo, Okla.
* Empress .......... Sapulpa, Okla.
* Empress .......... Oklahoma City, Okla.
* New Garden .......... Stillwater, Okla.

Western Pa.
* Lyric .......... Oil City, Pa.

North & South Carolina—Va.—
* Empire .......... Monticello, Va.
* Orpheum .......... Emporia, Va.
* Cambria .......... Johnstown, Pa.

North Dakota
* Lyceum .......... Kenmore, N. D.

Kentucky—Tennessee
* Recreation Bldg .......... Jenkins, Ky.
* Gem .......... Somerset, Ky.
* Majestic .......... Memphis, Tenn.
* Dixie .......... Mt. Pleasant, Tenn.
* Princess .......... Bowling Green, Ky.
* Dixie .......... Mayfield, Ky.
* Opera House .......... Allenςville, Ky.
* Perry .......... Hazard, Ky.
* Manring .......... Middlesboro, Ky.
* Gaines .......... Pineville, Ky.
* Cumberland .......... Harlan, Ky.
* Empress .......... Owensboro, Ky.
* Capitol .......... Frankfort, Ky.
* Washington 0. H. .......... Maysville, Ky.
* Majestic .......... Johnson City, Tenn.
* Mary Anderson .......... Louisville, Ky.
American Film Co. Productions to Be Sold Direct—Through Pathé Exchanges

I wish to announce the consummation of arrangements for the handling of future American Film Co. productions through the thirty Pathé exchanges in the United States.

These attractions will be sold direct by American Film Co. representatives and include subjects starring Mary Miles Minter and Margarita Fisher and the William Russell Productions.

They will be stories by prominent authors directed by Edward Sloman, Henry King and Lloyd Ingraham. Each production will be ready for the exhibitor’s inspection sixty days in advance of its first booking.

Effective Monday, July 22nd, personal representatives of the American Film Company, Inc. will be established in each Pathé exchange, prepared to meet exhibitors, arrange pre-views of the subjects and receive applications for bookings.

All exhibitors, including managers of first run houses, managers of circuits, and booking associations are invited to communicate with American Film Co. representatives or Pathé exchanges at once regarding these new and greater subjects.

Samuel S. Hutchinson
President

AMERICAN FILM COMPANY, INC.
6227-6235 Broadway, Chicago
Studios: Santa Barbara, Cal.
4 Aces

on the

TRIANGLE AUGUST PROGRAM

PAULINE STARKE
Consistently gaining in popularity by the reactions of her interpretations ever since her presentation as a Broadway star in "Until They Get Me."

ALMA RUBENS
"Can express emotions. The future should find her one of our most popular screen stars," says "Wild."\

GLORIA SWANSON
"Every additional picture that I have seen her in convinces me that I have picked a winner," says "Wild."

ROY STEWART
One of the most popular interpreters of Western dramas. Under the direction of Chief Smith, in Triangle plays—a sure winner.

Any Exhibitor who knows how to play the game—how to present moving pictures, will find them sure winners.

Of what value is a full house if it doesn’t win some cash that you can keep? Triangle is developing Featured Players who are consistently growing in popularity.

Triangle presents these players in quality pictures, produced with the assurance of pleasing the public and paying you a profit.

Exhibitors Investigate Triangle’s August Schedule

It presents performers whom the critics have stamped with their approval.

"Players Who Have Pleased in Plays That Profit"

TRIANGLE DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
1457 BROADWAY, NEW YORK
From the days of the Perils of Pauline, Pathé has had the reputation of putting out serials that caught the crowds and kept them coming. Twenty successful serials have proven Pathé's leadership in the field.

RUTH ROLAND in HANDS UP is destined to make a sensation. It's a rapid fire serial full of heart interest & exciting all the time!

RELEASED AUGUST 18TH
Dealers in every line know how much easier it is to sell a well advertised product; Pathe makes it easy for you to do a notable business on—

HANDS UP

with RUTH ROLAND

by advertising it everywhere. Watch the Billboards in August!

Produced by Astra. Directed by Jas W. Horne
Written by Gilson Willets. RELEASED AUGUST 18TH
Following the Allied Battle Flags in France!

Your audiences are eager to do so. You can enable them to do it by showing them the OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW which contains the latest official pictures of United States, France, England and Italy taken by expert cameramen operating under exclusive privileges from their respective Governments.

Don't you see what a tremendous box-office attraction such genuine, exclusive, and official war pictures are?

Presented by Committee on Public Information
George Creel, Chairman
Division of Films
Chas. S. Hart, Director
Distributed by PATHÉ
King George Reviews the American Troops

It is the one newspaper that everyone can read and enjoy; it is the one magazine that appeals to everybody; it is the one motion picture that is ALWAYS praised. It is the ONLY one reel feature!

HEARST-PATHÉ NEWS

Twice a week it is filled with pictures of the most enthralling interest-scenes from the American, French, British and Italian fronts, as well as the most interesting events over here.

No Good Theatre Can Afford To Be Without It!
In far off Australia, the land of clean, beautiful little cities, of labor supremacy, the like of which the West does not dream as yet, conditions change rapidly. No school books teach the trade conditions on this great island because they did not exist a decade ago when the books were printed.

But the trade conditions do not change too fast for J. Frank Brockliss, Inc., to keep pace with even so fickle a thing as public taste in amusement.

MRS. CLEMENT MASON

—one of the oldest and largest buyers for this strange country has such implicit faith in the judgment of J. Frank Brockliss, Inc., that she allows us to send her whatever in our judgment is right for her market.

Confidence of this degree is based on results of no small proportion. May we recommend some productions for your field?
COMING!
A Brand New
CHARLIE CHAPLIN
Comedy
“TRIPLE TROUBLE”
NOT a Reissue—NOT a Rehash
But a NEW Film
Bubbling over with Chaplin fun!
ESSANAY-CHAPLIN BRAND
George Kleine System Distributors
To the Exhibitor:

If you bought a piece of real estate and foresaw that its value would quadruple if you held it a certain length of time, what would you do?

Certainly you would hold it. That's just what we did with "Triple Trouble."

Essanay made this picture with Charlie Chaplin when he was at the zenith of his laugh-making powers. We knew its value then. We knew there would come a time when it would be worth many times its weight in gold.

We held this negative in our vaults for the most opportune time of release, which we believe is NOW.

There has been only one new Chaplin film in several months. The public is eager for a NEW Chaplin comedy and will welcome "Triple Trouble" with open arms.

Were we right in holding this laughing-nugget back for the propitious moment?

We were!

Yours truly,

ESSANAY FILM MFG. CO.

President.

George Kleine System
Distributors

Perfection Pictures
Genuine Chaplin Comedies Drawing Tremendous Crowds

The public knows the genuine Chaplin pictures from the spurious. That's why theatres playing Essanay-Chaplin films are thronged. They present Charlie Chaplin at his funniest. Watch your chance to play "The Champion," "A Jitney Elopement," "By the Sea," "In the Park," "Work," "A Woman," "The Tramp," "His New Job" and "A Night Out."

SNAKEVILLE COMEDIES

Keep your program open for a new series of ten best laugh makers. Coming soon! Twenty now booking and causing comment everywhere for their hilarious fun. If you haven't tried them, you still have a chance.
Living Westerns, full of Punch, Pep and Picturesqueness

WOLFVILLE TALES

By Alfred Henry Lewis

EXHIBITOR, LISTEN---

The old type of western movie may be a breadwinner, but it isn’t complete. It is full of ridin’ an’ shootin’, villain, hero and shero. All of which is essential, BUT—

Why not the same thing handled by artists, instead of mere types? Why not give the production class along with its speed? Why not have good actors and story and staging, actors who can play a wide range of moods? Why not provide “characterization,” the modern idea in pictures?

Well, it is done in this remarkable series of comedy-dramas from the literature of Alfred Henry Lewis, the WOLFVILLE TALES. The releases alternate with the famous O. Henry stories.

A Scene from a WOLFVILLE TALE, “The Jest of Talky Jones” FIRMLY ROOTED—HERE TO STAY... AND GROWING!

ROOTS!—The basis of all growth and the assurance of permanency.

The Hodkinson Co-Partnership Plan is comparable to the sturdy oak that, deeply rooted in its mother soil, flourishes alike in storm and sun, its leafy foliage reflecting the strength giving power of its roots.

The Hodkinson Co-Partnership Plan is here to stay and is continually growing because its roots are firm, clean and healthy and from them it draws all the strength necessary for growth and expansion. Exhibitors joining the Hodkinson Co-Partnership Plan automatically expand and strengthen the roots that hold them to a prosperous place in this industry.

HODKINSON ROOTS!

1. Hodkinson Service sold to 2000 theatres.
2. Release of Hodkinson Service every other week, soon to be increased to "one-a-week".
4. 20 special top notch representatives to be in the field in addition to General Film forces to spread the Hodkinson Gospel of fair dealing, equitable prices and special service.

W.W. HODKINSON CORP.
527 FIFTH AVE.  NEW YORK CITY
HODKINSON SERVICE AT ALL GENERAL FILM EXCHANGES
Kathleen Clifford is one of the few screen stars who can successfully delineate youth of the “Angel Child” age with its extremes of energy, fun and propensities for practical jokes.

In her first Plaza production Miss Clifford presents a splendid piece of child character study and, with the aid of a capable cast, succeeds in producing a most fascinating drama lightened by bright touches of genuine comedy.

Pictured in Five Reels.

Released as part of Hodkinson Service.

W.W. Hodkinson Corp., 527 5th Ave., New York City, Hodkinson Service at All General Film Exchanges.
A Play With a Pulse!

THE HYPOCRITES

One of those remarkable George Loane Tucker Productions

with

ELIZABETH RISDON

This exquisite feature is a picturization of the vibrant drama, "The Hypocrites," by Henry Arthur Jones, which had a memorable Broadway success.

It deals with the hollowness of an extreme morality pose.

Presented by COSMOFOTOFILM CO., Inc. New York Announcement!

FRED J. BALSHOFEF announces the presentation of the
WORLD FAMOUS STAR
JULIAN ELTINGE
MASTER FEMALE IMPERSONATOR and the artistic success of two continents in OVER
THE RHINE
A modern propaganda masterpiece.
Soon to be released. To be followed by his famous stage successes.

MR. BALSHOFEF has retired as president and director general of the Yorke Pictures Corporation and as director of the Harold Lockwood productions to devote his entire time to his greater work. Among the Lockwood successes he personally directed were Pidgin Island, The Haunted Pajamas, Paradise Garden, The Square Deceiver, Lend Me Your Name and A King in Khaki.

Studios, 1329 Gordon St., Hollywood, California
Room 1116 Longacre Building, New York BOOKED SOLID!

On the power of its Productions, on the popularity of its Stars, on the audience-attraction that its name and reputation have established, Goldwyn has exceeded its record of one year ago—as we expected to do—by expanding its first-run representation on Broadway, New York, and in the principal theatres of the great cities of the Nation.

In New York, for the coming season under our New Star Series policy, the powerful and popular Goldwyn productions and stars have so appealed to the directing heads of the great metropolitan screen institutions that we now announce the signing under contract of

The Rialto     The Rivoli     The Strand

New York City

The entry of Goldwyn Pictures into S. L. Rothapfel's two great theatres is a further recognition of the Goldwyn standard of quality and the continuation of Goldwyn Pictures at The Strand reaffirms through Harold Edel the indorsement first paid the Goldwyn standard by the late Mitchel H. Mark.

Simultaneously we announce to all large and small exhibitors who give heed to the actions and selections of other successful exhibitors that Goldwyn Pictures for the coming season have been

Booked Solid in the Great Stanley Company Chain of Theatres

Philadelphia

The second largest exhibiting organization on the North American continent, after a successful first year with Goldwyn productions in its houses under a contract signed in advance of our first release by the late Stanley V. Mastbaum, now closes again through Jules E. Mastbaum for our total output with first-run presentations in the famous Stanley Theatre, the Palace and subsequent showings in all other Stanley Company houses.
For the coming season it is also our pleasure to announce that Goldwyn Pictures, under Star Series, have been

Booked Solid in the 27 Ascher Bros.-Lubliner & Trinz-Schaefer Houses

Chicago

Nathan, Max and Harry Ascher, the largest and most powerful exhibitors in middle America, will show Goldwyn's entire second year output in these successful theatres:

- Woodlawn
- Lakeside
- Chateau
- Oakland Square
- Metropolitan
- Covent Garden
- Michigan
- West End
- Oak Park
- Lincoln
- Wilson
- Crystal
- Midway
- Cosmopolitan
- Columbus
- Terminal
- Madison
- Vitagraph
- Paramount
- Milford
- Kenwood
- Adelphi
- Calo
- Lane Court
- Frolic
- Biograph
- Peerless

These theatres represent the third largest booking that it is possible to obtain from one exhibitor in the United States of America. Geraldine Farrar, Rex Beach, Pauline Frederick, Mabel Normand, Mae Marsh, Madge Kennedy and Tom Moore may, with Goldwyn itself, well feel proud of the sponsors under whose auspices they are to appear in these great cities.

And there are still other cities to be announced in quick succession.
Goldwyn Pictures Star Series: Every Picture Under the Goldwyn Name is a Production.

EVERY exhibitor remembers the profits this beautiful woman made for him when she brought her stage popularity to the screen.

A revolutionary change is being made by Goldwyn in her screen stories—again she will do the powerful, dramatic, emotional plays for which an assured audience is waiting.

Her debut under her own name will be a screen event.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
Samuel Goldwyn  President
16 East 42nd Street  New York City
Tom Moore
In a Scene from "JUST for TONIGHT"

Goldwyn Pictures Star Series: The Pictures that Set a New Fashion in Screen Production.

YOUTH. Manliness. Cheerfulness. Cleanliness. Tom Moore brings you all of these. Goldwyn, under Star Series, will first offer him in:

"Just for Tonight," by Charles A. Logue

The wonderful advantage of a Tom Moore Star Series is that they are offered you at moderate rentals to permit you to make big profits immediately.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION
Samuel Goldwyn, President
Edgar Selwyn, Vice President
16 East 42nd Street
New York City
"Smiling Bill" Parsons

26 Capitol Comedies: One Every Second Monday. Released exclusively through Goldwyn.

"Smiling Bill" Parsons grew into nation-wide popularity on his own merit and through the indorsement of the Goldwyn name.

With only six comedies thus far released, "Smiling Bill" Parsons is being presented to audiences in more than 2,000 theatres.

Capitol Comedies live up to the Goldwyn quality standard.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
16 East 42nd Street New York City
A hit in England—a riot here! Perfect upon the screen!

"A PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS"

in which Lewis J. Selznick presents

CONSTANCE TALMADGE

Scenario by Edith M. Kennedy from the famous play by Cyril Harcourt
Directed by Walter Edwards

SELECT PICTURES
Be advised that the territories covered by

OHIO
WASHINGTON
IOWA
MISSOURI
SOUTH DAKOTA
COLORADO
ARIZONA
NEBRASKA
CALIFORNIA

KENTUCKY
MICHIGAN
NORTH DAKOTA
OREGON NEVADA
NEW MEXICO
KANSAS
MINNESOTA

Metro Exchanges are now releasing

GOD'S MAN

The George Bronson Howard Sensation made by William L. Sherrill
President of Frohman Amusement Corporation, starring

H.B. WARNER

METRO PICTURES CORPORATION
MARTIN JOHNSON'S—Wonderfully entertaining pictorial adventure

"Among the Cannibal Isles of the South Pacific"

Featured the week of July 21st at the Rivoli New York World's Finest Photoplay House

A Production of Unsurpassed Artistic Merit

Martin Johnson Film Co., Inc.
516 Candler Bldg., New York

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
TO CONTENTS

Advertising Aids for Busy Managers........ 722
Advertising for Exhibitors............... 672
Advertising Men's Convention a Success...... 664
All Hustling to Win Pershing Trophy......... 689
At Leading Picture Theaters................ 696
Blackton Begins Work on "Common Cause"..... 666
Boston Daily Not The Regular Hub Affair...... 653
"Bread" (Universal).......................... 718
Brady Re-elected Head of N. A. M. P. I....... 661
Break Wires to Stop Gerard Film............. 694
"By Proxy" (Triangle)......................... 718
Canadian Distributors After Plans........... 651
Canadian Reel Tax Hits Small Towns......... 667
Canadian Universal Announces Season Plan... 700
Carmen, Jewel, Signa With Keeley........... 660
Chicago News Letter......................... 654
Chicago to Have Censorship Commission...... 654
Clearing House Aims to Aid Managers........ 655
Critical Reviews and Comments.............. 716
"Danger, Go Slow" (Universal).............. 717
"Death Dance, The" (Select)................. 715
"Demon, The" (Metro)......................... 710
Export-Figures Show Cut in Business....... 666
Expressmen's Combine Disrupts Shipping.... 666
Facts and Comments......................... 669
"False Ambition" (Triangle).................. 710
Farewell Banquet to "Tay 'Paw".............. 661
Farren Sends Smokes to Boys "Over There"... 715
Film Trade Notes of Week from Baltimore... 714

TO ADVERTISERS

CARBONS AND CARBON ACCESSORIES.
Speer Carbon Co................................ 737

CHAIR AND SEATING MFRS.
Du Pont Fabrilkoid Co........................ 750

ELECTRIC AND MECHANICAL EQUIPMENT.
Amusement Supply Co.......................... 729
Hertner Electric Co............................ 724
Northwestern Electric Co...................... 727
Porter, H. F.................................... 729
Swash, Lewis M................................. 728
Typhoon Fan Co................................ 730
United Theatre Equip. Corp.................... 730
Universal Motor Co............................ 729

FILM EXCHANGES.
Film Exchange, The................................ 728

LEN'S MFRS.
Gundisch Manhattan Opt. Co.................. 738

LOBBY DISPLAYS.
Kraus Mfg. Co.................................. 729
Mengle, Ring & Weinsch........................ 733
Newman Mfg. Co............................... 724

MFRS. OF INDUSTRIAL PICTURES.
Cromwell Film Laboratories.................... 735
Dunham M. P. Co................................ 737
Erbograph Co.................................. 737
Ehans Film Mfg. Co............................ 729
Rotbacker Film Mfg. Co....................... 728
Standard M. P. Co............................. 727

MRS. OF MOVING PICTURES.
American Film Co, Inc......................... 652-33
Belafox, Fred J.................................. 641
Bosek Film Mfg. Co............................ 652
Brooklyn, J. Frank, Inc....................... 637
Essanay Film Mfg. Co......................... 611-38-40
Famous Players-Lasky Corp.................... 613-15
First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc...... 620-31
Fox Film Corp................................. 620-25
Gaumont Co...................................... 618
General Film Co................................ 641-14
Goldwyn Pictures Corp......................... 646-50
Hodkinson, W. W., Corp...................... 612-43
Hoffman, M. H................................. 729
Jewel Productions, Inc......................... 610, 629-28
Martin Johnson Film Co....................... 653
Metro Pictures Corp........................... 652
Mutual Film Corp.............................. 619
Select Pictures Corp........................... 631
Triangle Distributing Corp.................... 634
Universal Film Mfg. Co....................... 612

MISCELLANEOUS.
Anti-Censorship Slides......................... 728
Automatic C. B. & C. R. Co.................... 672
Bioskop, The................................... 725
Cine-Mundial.................................. 733
Ramdee 'Round Filmtown....................... 679
Rand Takes General Film Post................ 662
Reliecr to Lecture to World Cameramen.... 660
Reluctant Assent................................ 669
St. Louis Film Board Heara First Case....... 667
Schaefer, Peter J., Is National League President 665
Scoville to Enlarge His All-Night Theater... 719
"She Loved Him Plenty" (Paramount-Sennett) 719
Shift in Utah Sunday Situation............. 707
Ship Workers' Influx Boom for Exhibitors.... 712
State Rights Department..................... 706
Stamp Measures by Luthardt................. 684
Texas Managers Meet in Galveston.......... 662
"To the Highest Bidder" (Vitagraph)....... 716
To the News Dispatches...................... 708
"Vamp, The" (Paramount)...................... 716
Vitagraph settles Anita Stewart Case........ 697
"Waltz" (Pathé)................................ 720
Washington Men Face Express Difficulties.... 694
Where Service Really Serves................ 691
White, Carolina, Leads for Caruso........... 683
"Winner Takes All" (Bluebird)................ 719
World Film to Classify Posters................ 694
Young, Clara Kimball, Orations Greet....... 690
Zukor Committee announces Plan for Loan Drive 605

INDEX TO CONTENTS AND ADVERTISERS

INDEX TO CONTENTS

"First Law, The" (Pathé)....................... 716
First National Takes "Tarzan" Sequel........ 683
Found Musician in Theater Manager........ 683
"Hereditary" (World)........................... 719
"House of Hate, The" (Pathé)................ 716
"Impossible Susan" (Mutual).................. 719
Kalem's Continuous Performance................ 680
Kleine Film Aids Marine Recruiting Drive...... 714
Laemmle Hammering on the Summer Stuff....... 669
"Less than Kin" (Paramount).................. 717
Lexington's Sunday Battle, No Let Up In...... 681
List of Current Film Release Dates........... 730, 732, 734, 736
"Maid o' the Storm" (Paralta)................. 717
Manufacturers' Advance Notes................ 660
Motion Picture Educator....................... 670
Motion Picture Exhibitor, The................ 682
"Miss Innocence" (Fox)........................ 718
Music for the Picture......................... 677
National A. E. A. Convention................ 682
"Neighbors" (World)............................ 717
News of Los Angeles and Vicinity............... 686
"Out of the Night" (Keeney).................. 728
Photo Business at Low Ebb in California...... 713
"Plunderer, The" (Fox)......................... 717
Projection Department......................... 672

The Advertisers Who Use the Columns of The Moving Picture World
Represent the "Class" of the Industry

We Exercise a Strict Supervision Over the Business Announcements Which We Print
This Protects the Prospective Purchaser It Also Adds Force to Our Advertisers' Messages
Peter Schaefer Is National League President

Chicago Exhibitor Elected at Boston Convention, the Sessions of Which Are Unmarked by Any Really Constructive Legislation—Puts Club in Hands of League Delegates to National Association

By James L. Hoff

BOSTON and the Moving Picture Exhibitors' League of America have had their convention and the delegates presumably had a good time and have gone home. The weather conditions were generally good, the accommodations of the Lenox hotel, at which the Eighth Annual Convention was held, were sufficient. Nothing unseemly marked the conduct of anyone or any session of the convention. Most all the squabbles, if any there were outside of the usual three-ring hippodrome performance of the New York contingent, were conducted in committee rooms. Probably this was as well, for while the greater body of delegates just waited and waited and waited they were spared the agony of listening to the windjammers in a hall at a summer temperature thus superheated.

If you are looking for evidences of constructive trade legislation, kind reader, seek no further—it did not happen. Some recommendations of minor value were made, it is true, but there was nothing big in either promise or performance.

There was a lot of talk about "100 per cent. organization," but not so much as a site was chosen for that edifice, to say nothing of the laying of foundations therefor.

We hope that interested exhibitors, looking forward to amalgamation of the interests that parted a year ago at Chicago, may find some crumb of consolation in the pronouncements of this convention, but it is feared that there will be discovered little of a consoling nature. True, it was provided that the board of directors are empowered to increase that body by ten additional directors, presumably to be named from among the members of the American Exhibitors' Association if that body decides to unite with the League, but the subject was never a topic of discussion upon the floor of the convention.

League Returns to the Exhibiting Business.

Upon a recommendation of a committee appointed for the purpose, the League did divorce itself from the publishing business by turning back to the treasury of the Trade Review Publishing Company the stock which was donated to the League when the paper was started. This action may or may not be good business, but the League, at least, is clear of one side issue.

The only unusual incident that occurred during the convention was the effort to place William A. Brady in nomination for president of the organization. It was ill-advised and ill-considered. Constitutionally it could not have been done, for Mr. Brady is not an exhibitor and therefore not eligible for the office. Mr. Brady could not have been properly informed or he would never have consented to let his name be used, even under the terms stated by him in his letter to Mr. Ochs, which we print in the proceedings. It was a regrettable incident.

Mention should be made here of the very temperate and admirable manner in which Mr. Ochs presided at this meeting. It almost made us regret some of the things the MOVING PICTURE World has felt compelled to say about him during the past year were it not that we believe those criticisms helped some to bring him to a more human frame of mind. Yet we have to admire the manner in which he held himself in control and the very courteous treatment he accorded everyone. At that it is doubtful that he can complain of any action taken by the convention.

For none of the shortcomings can Boston be blamed. When the National Association and the Motion Picture Exposition Company decided to abandon the exposition feature the heart was taken out of the Boston Boosters, who had made great preparation for a big demonstration and had spent a lot of money in arranging therefor. That they should have to stop operations at almost the last minute put them in a most embarrassing situation and helped in no small degree to dampen the spirit of the convention.

What happened at the convention follows:
TUESDAY—MORNING SESSION.

President Ochs called the first session of the convention to order at 11:30 o'clock. Fully one hundred delegates were in attendance, together with a number of visiting exhibitors and representatives of trade publications. At the opening the chair was held by Thomas Furniss, chairman; Hector Pasmezoglu, E. J. Fisher, Fred Hartman, J. J. O'Donnell, N. C. Rice and H. C. Hesper, was appointed, and all delegates were instructed to appear before 10:30, because, once the convention taking a recess to give the committee a chance to formulate its report. It took the committee an hour to accomplish its task, when it reported that 127 delegates were entitled to seats in the convention. They are named in full as follows:

Minnesota.—W. D. Chamberlain, Thomas Rath, R. W. DeHare, Ralph Parker, Clyde Hitchcock.

New Hampshire.—C. H. Bean, Mrs. L. W. Pelcos, Mrs. Cora L. Reed, F. C. Herrick, J. E. Charbonneau, Herbert Daley, Mylde White.

Iowa.—C. H. Rice, C. Winkler.

President Ochs reads Annual Report.

When the report of the executive committee had been read and approved President Ochs presented his annual address which he read from manuscript. It consisted of several full typewritten pages, approving in the main the work of the past year, and in its conclusion an appeal for an increase in membership. The applause was elicited by a reference to the confidence of the trade in the "President of these United States" and an expression of belief that "the exhibitors of the United States stand to our back and the Government 100 per cent American to the core."

Rehearsing briefly the difficulties and problems of his administration for the benefit of the delegates of this convention, Mr. Ochs pointed to the work of the league by the tying up of the funds realized from the Chicago convention by certain malcontents, and the necessity of paying out some $2,500 for the traveling expenses of the members of the executive committee in order to prevent the A. E. A. from being recognized by the N. A. M. P. I.

He also called the delegates' attention to the various movements for co-operative booking organized among exhibitors, and expressed the belief that the activities of any officer or member of the league in such movements should not bar them from membership in the league; also that the delegates would still "the vicious tongue of scandal" by exacting a per capita tax from exhibitors, and its use against those who slander the officials of this organization and also the intelligence of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America."

In this connection Mr. Ochs suggested that the question of how the officials of the organization to discover and in what way they had used their offices for the advancement of selfish purposes.

Mr. Ochs in his valedictory took a shot at the trade paper. "With one exception," he said, "was malignant in their attitude toward the exhibitors' organization. As regards the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, though paying a high compliment to William A. Brady, its secretary, Mr. Ochs was of the opinion that it was not, as at present constituted, a guiding force for good to the exhibitor at large.

Says Some Manufacturers Have Profited on 15-Cent Tax.

Regarding federal taxation Mr. Ochs referred to the 15 cents a reel tax and said it had been declared that some of the manufacturers had been making a profit thereon and thought the matter should be investigated. Recalling the resolution asking the members to pay $3 each to a fund to fight the music tax Mr. Ochs said that only 330 exhibitors had subscribed, although the amount offered was to the amount of $10,000 in the defense of exhibitors sued by the American Society of Authors, Composers and Publishers.

Mr. Ochs closed by pledging his "full, hearty and complete support to the new president, whoever he may be," with the admonition that he have the confidence and support of the league no matter what he does.

Subsequent application was made at the conclusion of his address, and some one ventured to inquire "what is the matter with Ochs," but no answer was forthcoming, and, proceeding with the business of the convention, the reports of offices are as follows:

Under this head Ernest H. Horstmann, treasurer, reported that the league had received $8,778.62 during the year, had spent $8,312.22, and had on hand $460.40. W. J. Sweeney, financial secretary, reported a similar condition of affairs. To this balance is to be added the money collected in per capita tax at this convention.

These Were the Committees.

President Ochs then named the following convention committees:

Deposit and Uniform Contract.—Sydney Cohen, New York, chairman; H. A. Gillman, Massachusetts; George Roberts, New York; Col. H. L. Kingsley, New Jersey; R. A. O'Donnell, New Hampshire; Charles Steiner, New York.

Constitution Committee.—Hector Pasmezoglu, Massachusetts, chairman; Thomas Lavine, Missouri; John Goodwin, Missouri; M. White, New Hampshire; S. Suslow, New York; Dr. S. S. Steinberg, Pennsylvania.

By-Laws Committee.—Hector Pasmezoglu, Massachusetts, chairman; Thomas Lavine, Missouri; John Goodwin, Missouri; M. White, New Hampshire; S. Suslow, New York; Dr. S. S. Steinberg, Pennsylvania.

These committees were formed, and were instructed to proceed at once, and urge the delegates to report to the committee at the next meeting to be held in mind without delay. The meeting was then adjourned until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

TUESDAY—AFTERNOON SESSION.

A NUMBER of resolutions and recommendations were reported by the various committees at the afternoon session which, by the way, did not get started until 5:30 o'clock. Many of these were referred to other committees or back to the committee that reported them, to be brought before the convention at another time.

From the finance committee came a resolution that the uniform contract should be adopted. The committee on deposits and uniform contracts recommended that exhibitors put a limit of time for approval of a contract by the home office of $500 and that each exhibitor make in the several states to bring advance deposits under the banking laws of all states. A recommendation for permanent committees to be appointed on the Sunday opening question to go before all state legislators on that question was also referred.

At one stage in the proceedings the newspaper representatives were asked to leave the convention hall while the matters of the Exhibitors Trade Review were presented by the editor, Mr. O'Reilly. This was done, as a lock and key was made in the several states to bring advance deposits under the publication. It was learned that a recommendation was at that time adopted returning to the Trade Review corporation all the stock which had been donated to the League when the project was first formed. This was opposed by the New York delegation.

Other committees not being ready to report the meeting was adjourned until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.
WEDNESDAY—EVENING SESSION.

THERE was to have been a considerable amount of business transacted on Wednesday morning, but nothing happened in the convention. The trouble which delayed the game started in the New York delegation, the political complexion of which changed overnight from anti-Ochs to pro-Ochs, when several delegates arrived and took the seats previously held by alternates. The matter was taken into the credential committee and the entire morning was spent in trying to straighten out that angle. As the delegates had been invited by Acting Mayor Collins of Boston and a committee of Boston exhibitors to view the harbor by boat and to visit Nantasket Beach in the afternoon, the convention was adjourned until 8 o'clock in the evening.

The evening session was delayed an hour and did not get started until 9 o'clock and the business consisted mainly in considering a few belated resolutions. The law and legislative committee presented a suggestion from W. W. Watts of Illinois, communicated by letter, as that gentleman could not be present, which provided that houses charging five cent admissions be included in the federal tax levy. This was amended to read that admissions for children under 12 years should not be taxed and in that form it was adopted as a recommendation to the ways and means committee of Congress.

Mr. Black offered a resolution to the effect that the Motion Picture Exhibitors League pledge its hearty support to Adolph Zukor in his work in behalf of the next Liberty Loan drive as the representative of the motion picture industry. Mr. Horstmann of Boston seconded this motion, but the discussion that followed developed a feeling among the delegates that the industry should receive greater consideration. This feeling was allayed by the adoption of an amendment to the effect that the president of the league should aid Mr. Zukor in his work in whatever way he could and with that change was adopted.

Antagonism to N. A. M. P. I.

The feeling against the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, occasioned mainly by the action of that organization in refusing to take part in the Boston exposition as planned, found expression in a rather strong resolution coming from the executive committee and presented by the chairman, Mr. Chamberlain of Minnesota.

It reads as follows:

"Resolved, That the members of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, elected at this convention, refrain from taking any part in the affairs of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry until the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America receive 50 per cent representation on the board of directors and all committees, or until a reorganization is made upon a basis in which the exhibitor members therein will have a 50 per cent representation, and failing so to do the executive committee is hereby given full power to act in such manner as they may see fit."

This proviso to the continuance of the affiliation of the League with the N. A. M. P. I. was adopted with little discussion and without dissent. It had been discussed at great length in the executive committee and William A. Brady had been called from New York to participate in these preliminary discussions without changing the antagonistic tone therein. What the effect this action will have upon the board of directors of the N. A. M. P. I. was problematic at the time it was passed.

Advertising in Pictures Condemned.

At the instance of Mr. Pasmezoglou of Missouri the growing tendency of producers to insert advertising matter in their pictures was brought to the attention of the convention. The discussion of the subject developed the fact that some of the recent Paramount productions were the worst examples of the abuse complained of. It was stated that some producers had offered their facilities to advertisers at various sums, pointing out the large distribution they could give by reason of having pictures that the exhibitor was compelled to show to the public on the strength of his contract for such showing. Mr. Pasmezoglu closed his argument against the practice by offering a resolution to the effect that it would appear that the League was mistaken in the determination of the exhibitors of motion pictures to cut out advertising matter regardless of the form in which it might appear in the pictures used by them. This resolution was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Lenow, speaking for the sentiment of the delegates present upon the practice of manufacturers of pictures owning and operating theaters in competition with theaters owned by exhibitors who were their regular customers, put on record as being against the practice complained of.

On the Music Tax.

Mr. Rome of Baltimore wanted to know what had been done by the committee appointed by the National Society of Authors, Publishers and Composers regarding the royalty on copyrighted music. President Ochs replied that the committee of which he was chairman had been in conference with Nathan Burkan, attorney for the Society in mind, in good nature and that Mr. Willard had since returned to New York to confer with the society's directors and later had reported back that he could not get his directors together, but suggested that a sub-committee of the copyright tax committee be appointed with power to act in the matter. On motion the president was authorized to appoint the sub-committee with such power.

At this point in the proceedings President Ochs read a telegram from George W. Murphy of the New York motion picture exhibitors in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. for their assistance in the work being prosecuted by that organization in the War. A message was also read coming from Hose Tapley wishing the exhibitors a successful convention.

A communication from the National Board of War respecting D. C. tron federal matters was read which drew a vote of thanks from the delegates for the interest Mr. Crandall had taken in behalf of the trade.

St. Louis Selected for 1919.

Usually the selection of the place for the convention of the next year starts something. The delegates agreed in the promotion on the quiet so that when the question was offered in the convention there was nothing to discuss. Several of the delegates who might have had other places in mind, in good nature and that Mr. Willard had since returned to New York to confer with the society's directors and later had reported back that he could not get his directors together, but suggested that a sub-committee of the copyright tax committee be appointed with power to act in the matter. On motion the president was authorized to appoint the sub-committee with such power.

At this point in the proceedings President Ochs read a telegram from George W. Murphy of the New York motion picture exhibitors in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. for their assistance in the work being prosecuted by that organization in the War. A message was also read coming from Hose Tapley wishing the exhibitors a successful convention.

A communication from the National Board of War respecting D. C. tron federal matters was read which drew a vote of thanks from the delegates for the interest Mr. Crandall had taken in behalf of the trade.

St. Louis Selected for 1919.

Usually the selection of the place for the convention of the next year starts something. The delegates agreed in the promotion on the quiet so that when the question was offered in the convention there was nothing to discuss. Several of the delegates who might have had other places in mind, in good nature and that Mr. Willard had since returned to New York to confer with the society's directors and later had reported back that he could not get his directors together, but suggested that a sub-committee of the copyright tax committee be appointed with power to act in the matter. On motion the president was authorized to appoint the sub-committee with such power.

At this point in the proceedings President Ochs read a telegram from George W. Murphy of the New York motion picture exhibitors in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. for their assistance in the work being prosecuted by that organization in the War. A message was also read coming from Hose Tapley wishing the exhibitors a successful convention.

A communication from the National Board of War respecting D. C. tron federal matters was read which drew a vote of thanks from the delegates for the interest Mr. Crandall had taken in behalf of the trade.

St. Louis Selected for 1919.

Usually the selection of the place for the convention of the next year starts something. The delegates agreed in the promotion on the quiet so that when the question was offered in the convention there was nothing to discuss. Several of the delegates who might have had other places in mind, in good nature and that Mr. Willard had since returned to New York to confer with the society's directors and later had reported back that he could not get his directors together, but suggested that a sub-committee of the copyright tax committee be appointed with power to act in the matter. On motion the president was authorized to appoint the sub-committee with such power.

At this point in the proceedings President Ochs read a telegram from George W. Murphy of the New York motion picture exhibitors in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. for their assistance in the work being prosecuted by that organization in the War. A message was also read coming from Hose Tapley wishing the exhibitors a successful convention.

A communication from the National Board of War respecting D. C. tron federal matters was read which drew a vote of thanks from the delegates for the interest Mr. Crandall had taken in behalf of the trade.
Petition Advises Amalgamation

Following Mr. Brady there were calls for Charles C. Pettjohn, who was in the convention hall. Mr. Pettjohn accepted the invitation of the president to speak and came out flatfooted for amalgamation, saying that the time and place for the demand of the delegates was demanded such action.

Mr. Pettjohn said:

"There is no time, gentlemen, to open up old sores. It is a time when we should start a campaign to heal. I could not but help think, when I heard the question tonight, what is the real story of the national industry? I could not help but indulging in the thought that possibly you were living in very trying times. You are not such men of efficiency here; you haven't such a wonder. I could not but think that the work of the convention in this respect, and the work of the officers in bringing about an amalgamation of all exhibitor organizations, is the right thing. We must try to do what is right, and we must try to do what is just. We should have an immediate decision. We should have a decision tonight."

And I want to say to you, gentlemen, that the motion picture industry is responsible for the splendid morale of the Allied troops in this great war. Moving pictures are doing a splendid job for our soldiers. We might even be known as theater-owners or something of that kind.

There are a lot of things, gentlemen, that you can do. Mr. Brady touched upon a point when he mentioned the wonderful work that is being done by the motion picture industry. It has been said that this is one of the greatest contributions of the motion picture industry. I think that the motion picture industry is responsible for the splendid morale of the American soldiers."

Gentlemen, there is only one answer to the position that we have gotten ourselves into. Let's get out of it! We have all made our mistakes, and the best thing I want to say is that you have had our difficulties. He is a fighter and he stands his ground fairly well. But I want to say to you, just because I have a heart, may I fear that some of us will transact your business so that you can elect your officers without a squabble.

Therefore, I am asking here, as your guest, and I want to say to Mr. Ochs that when he made the statement that he has kept his hands out of the business of election, I believe it is the truth. And I want to say this, Mr. President, that after you have gone out of office I want to be your friend and I want to work with you in every way that we can do to make this convention a success.

I appreciate the many courtesies that you have shown me, and I want to thank you for not being offensive to me when you have shown me these courtesies. I appreciate them. I hope that after the A. E. A. boys get together and hear the message they are going to get, just like we have had, that you haven't touched him. It doesn't make any difference whom you select for your president; it's getting the right man behind somebody and let's amount to something. Thank you.

This closed the evening session and an adjournment was taken until Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

While it was thought that Thursday's meeting might provide the excitement, the lack of which had made the Boston convention rather dull, nothing really disturbing happened upon the floor of the convention hall.

There was the usual delay in getting down to business. Instead of calling the delegates to order at the appointed time —10:30 o'clock in the morning—it was something after 2 p.m. before President Ochs could get them down to business. The credential committee reported a correction in the list of delegates, giving New York twenty and giving five to Vermont. This raised the total number of votes in the convention to 132.

In an effort to get all business disposed of on this, the last day of the convention, the Connecticut Committee succeeded in putting through a motion to the effect that the convention should not adjourn until its business had been completed.

The reward of New York as chairman of the committee on by-laws offered some amendments to the existing by-laws which were adopted. The first consolidated the offices of financial secretary and treasurer, abolishing the first named and gave the president the power to appoint an executive secretary and vice-president officer of his own choice.

The executive committee was given power to elect, at its discretion, ten additional members to that body. This action was explained as a step toward amalgamation, the additional members to come from the A. E. A., if that body shall decide to come back to the League.

The method of collecting the dues was made the subject of another amendment which directed the National Secretary to give a sixty-day grace period to branch leagues and required a payment within thirty days prior to the convention on penalty of suspension. The amount of the annual per capita tax was raised to $4, to be paid quarterly. With these amendments to the existing by-laws as formerly adopted were ordered printed.

Election of Officers

There was considerable formality surrounding the choosing of the officers for the coming year. President Ochs opened the ceremony by urging the members of the League that he allow the use of my name, if the office were to be, and assured the delegates that such was his purpose. Nominations were then called for and Tom Furniss, the war horse from Minnesota, placed Peter J. Schaefer of Chicago in nomination. C. L. Dooley of New Jersey nominated Mr. Ochs of Jersey City, and J. Lydon of Massachusetts nominated Ernest H. Horstmann of Boston.

There were numerous seconds to the nomination of the various candidates in progress of delivery when Charles C. Pettjohn of New York, who had been nothing but "Mr. Exhobitor," [Laughter.] It occurred to me that we have reached the point in this discussion about the future in our industry to which we might even be known as theater-owners or something of that kind.

There are a lot of things, gentlemen, that you can do. Mr. Brady touched upon a point when he mentioned the wonder of the work that is being done by the motion picture industry. It has been said that this is one of the greatest contributions of the motion picture industry. I think that the motion picture industry is responsible for the splendid morale of the American soldiers."

President Brady Writes to President Ochs

"Am I not a candidate for the League presidency? Several of your delegates approached me last night and suggested that the offices be held for our next convention, and offered me these would be the conditions of my acceptance.

"—That it be a unanimous choice, backed by Messrs. Schaefer, Hespe and Horstmann."
“2—That the A. E. A. amalgamate and indorse your choice.

“3—That if I am chosen president of the National Association I am free to accept it.

“This will bring about a real organization and produce the results Mr. A. Biograph desires. There could be one head of the industry capable of giving all its branches a square deal.

“As a favor to me read this to the convention and do not allow the use of my name except under these conditions.

“WILLIAM A. BRADY.”

The candidacy of Mr. Brady was vigorously supported by Colonel Braid of Boston and many other directors until he was asked to resign from the presidency because of the candidates on the ballot.

Mr. Brady could not be properly placed before the convention. An appeal was taken from the decision. The vote was sustained by a majority of 11 to 15. This ended the ill-advised attempt to get Mr. Brady forward for the chief office of the League.

Two ballots were taken for the other candidates. The first gave Schaefer 51, Hespe 37 and Horstmann 42. As a majority of the delegates present was necessary to a choice of 67 votes—a second ballot was ordered, but before it was taken a recess was given for more caucusing.

Horstmann and Hespe Withdraw in Schaefer’s Favor.

When the delegations got together again Mr. Horstmann and Mr. Hespe withdrew and the entire 132 votes were cast for Mr. Schaefer, electing him president for the next year of least activity.

Other officers were elected as follows: First vice president, John Wittman of New York; second vice president, J. L. Rome of Maryland; third vice president, W. E. Spragge of Connecticut; treasurer, Hiram往前 to Washington; financial secretary and treasurer, Ernest H. Horstmann of Massachusetts; executive committee, Lee A. Ochs of New York, John O'Donnell of Pennsylvania, Daniel W. O'Keefe, Charles M. Hickey, Lieutenant D. W. Blaisdell of Nebraska, Alfred Hamberger of Illinois, N. C. Kice of Iowa, Alfred Black of Maine, Thomas Furniss of Minnesota and Charles H. Hesper of New Jersey.

The president was given power to fill vacancies in the directors of the N. A. M. F. I. in the case of absence or inability to serve.

There is still an executive secretary to be named, but that matter, with the president, was not given the matter his consideration. It is believed that W. J. Weymouth will be the appointee.

Ochs Lays Down the Gavel With a Rap.

Retiring President Ochs, at the close of the election of officers, paid a few compliments to his past administration and then took a final rap at the trade papers which have not always been in full accord with his conduct in office. He said they were a band of journalists and that three of them must be the original editors of "The New York Evening Sun." He said that the New York Evening Sun was a paper that knocked you go after them. It doesn’t mean anything to you. He said that he believed in co-operative booking and thought there ought to be a half dozen organizations of that sort.

President-elect Schaefer, in taking his office, made the usual line of promises suitable to the occasion and the convention concluded its mission, adjourning to meet in St. Louis in 1919.

---

Exhibitors Who Will Thrive.

Trip to Nantasket Beach.

The only stated amusement feature of the convention was a trip to Nantasket Beach and Paragon Park. The trip was arranged by the Boston exhibitors in conjunction with Acting Mayor Walter A. Collins, and consisted of a tour of Boston harbor, a thing impossible under other auspices because of the extensive Government operation there; a trolley ride from Pemberton to Nantasket and one of those incomparable New England shore dinners at Paragon Park, with an unusually fine cabaret on the side. More than a hundred exhibitors participated. In the party as aide to Acting Mayor Collins was John Casey, of the Department of Licenses of Boston.

A most interesting feature of the trip was a review of Boston street fighting—“street fighting with film reels and drugs”—which circled about the excursion party, shouting streams a hundred feet in the air from a score of nozzles. It was inspiring and called forth an outburst of applause from an appreciative audience.

Members of the Atlas Picture Company were present and added their bit to the entertainment. Photographers—still and movie—were there and took “pitchers” of the crowd in front of the casino. An engraving from the “still” is printed in connection with the convention story.

CLAUDE McDOWELL TO SUPPORT MAY ALLISON.

Claire McDowell, a player before the footlights since babyhood and for a goodly number of years a player of a fine character role, is one of the supporting May Allison in Metro’s "The Return of Mary." This newest Allison picture, George D. Baker’s screen adaptation of the successful stage play of the same name, is under production at Metro’s west coast studios in Hollywood.

Miss McDowell has a mother role. It is a coincidence that Miss Allison’s production is being directed by Wilfred Lucas, who was a Biograph actor under David W. Griffith when Miss MacDowell was a member of the company.

FEIST ATTENDS CHICAGO CONFERENCE.

Felix Feist, sales manager for World Pictures, last week was in attendance at a conference of the company’s middle western sales managers held at Chicago. At the conference plans for the late summer and fall were discussed and details developed for taking care of the great multitude of additional exhibitors who are seeking to secure World franchises.
Brady Re-elected Head of N. A. M. P. I.

Accepts for Patriotic Reasons, He Says—Secretary Elliott Is Continued in Office Too.

WILLIAM A. BRADY, president of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, whose second term of office ended with the meeting held at Boston on Friday, July 19, was then and there re-elected for the ensuing year, with the unanimous consent of those members present and the several proxies in their possession. There was no discussion on this point; neither was there the least hint that any one else wanted the office which Mr. Brady some days ago declared he would not again seek. All of which would indicate that the motion picture men are pretty well satisfied with the work Mr. Brady has accomplished in one year and are willing to back him up for another term. With the secretary cast one ballot for Mr. Brady, as directed by the vote of the directors present, he said that he would accept the office "as a patriotic duty to his country and the trade."

The session of the National Association was called to order at Copley Plaza Hotel at 11:30 o'clock Friday morning. About twenty-five members were present, a number carrying proxies for others who could not be present. Reports of the secretary and the treasurer were read and accepted. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. J. T. Lasky, Samuel Goldfish, the American Federation of Labor, and Mr. William A. Brady for the-excellent manner in which he had conducted the affairs of the association.

Under reports of committees the transportation and the insurance committees asked permission to file their reports as the subjects had been covered in the secretary's report. Theodore Mitchell, secretary of the censorship committee, urged in his report the necessity of preparing for a fight against a flood of legislation that is certain to come this year with the legislative session. Some thirty states convened and pointed out the necessity of securing funds for that purpose.

The resolution adopted by the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League demanding a fifty-fifty representation in the National Association, was offered and referred to the association for future action at a meeting to be called by the president at some future time.

All the officers selected for the several branches of the association were declared elected upon a motion to that effect. This included the exhibitors selected by the national convention for the exhibitors' branch. Other branch directors were elected in this particular meeting.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, William A. Brady; secretary, F. H. Elliott; treasurer, J. E. Brulatour; vice-presidents, P. J. Schafer, A. H. E. Ochs, E. P. Power, W. L. Sherrill, Paul Cromelin, E. M. Porter and W. A. Smith.

President Brady appointed the following to be members of the executive committee: W. W. Irwin, chairman; William L. Sherrill, Samuel Goldfish, J. E. Brulatour, Richard A. Collins, Paul Brady, Charles C. Pettijohn and Paul Cromelin.

A vote of thanks was given President Brady for his efforts during the past year, and the meeting was adjourned.

Farwell Banquet to "Tay Pay"

British Censor About to Sail for England Is Tendered Dinner at Boston by Picture Men

Copley Plaza dining room on the evening of Thursday, July 18, was the scene of the most enjoyable and intellectual feature of the events which surrounded the gathering of motion picture men in Boston. Through the efforts of William A. Brady arrangements were made to give a farewell banquet to the Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., and British censor of motion pictures. Mr. O'Connor has been in this country for several months and having concluded his term of office was booked to sail from Boston on Sunday, July 21. This fact made the occasion at the Copley Plaza something in the nature of a farewell dinner. Mr. Brady was toastmaster and called the diners to their places about 8 o'clock.

Sitting at the host table were, beside Mr. Brady and the guest of honor, acting mayor of Boston Walter L. Collins; Chief of the License Division John M. Casey, who looks at all the pictures before they are shown in Boston; J. E. Brulatour, P. A. Powers, Arthur Friend, Frank Dilnot, correspondent of the London Chronicle; Jesse L. Lasky, Gabriel Hesse, Paul Cromelin, Charles C. Pettijohn and P. J. Schafer.

Among the diners were a large number of exhibitors, delegations to the convention and local exchange men, also a delegation that came over from New York for the banquet, among whom were C. W. Sherry, P. A. Parsons, Lewis J. Selznick, George Gershwin, of the Eastman Company; Will A. Smith, of the Power Company; E. M. Porter, of the Precision Machine Company; Dr. W. E. Shallenberger, Joe A. Lee, W. L. Sherrill, Fred H. Elliott of the N. A. M. P. I., and Frank M. Barhydt, of Troy.

In introducing the speakers Mr. Brady called first upon Mr. Collins as representing the city of Boston, who spoke at some length upon the greatness of the picture industry, the beauties and hospitality of Boston and the character and greatness of the men who was the president of the evening. He was followed by Commissioner Casey, P. A. Powers, Jesse Lasky, Arthur Friend and P. J. Schafer.

Next came the treat of the evening, Mr. O'Connor, and it was a solid hour of the more he held his audience in the deepest interest. At the request of the toastmaster the latter half of the guest's remarks were concerning the Irish question, and while they were highly interesting, speech cannot be given to them here. Of what the honored guest said about pictures and his relations to the trade as British censor the greater part of his remarks follow:

Mr. Toastmaster, Mr. Acting Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen: If I were addressing an audience entirely composed of the citizens of Boston, I should not be very much inclined to indulge in any statistic weaknesses of advancing years, namely, what is called anecdote and reminiscence, for I recall that I said my first visit to this city as far back as October 16, 1918. Mr. O'Connor, whose friend in receiving me was a namesake of the acting mayor of today, Mr. A. Collins, who was afterward mayor of Boston, and I believe died.

As to my position as censor of the movies in Great Britain and Ireland, it came about in this way: Ignorance seems to me so far for extremely frank and self-confident criticism. At the time when the Great War began, my predecessor, Mr. J. H. Jarrow, there was blowing against the movie industry in England and Great Britain. I may call a detailed history of the matter. I was in the office of the men, after they had described the horrors of the movie picture and the evil on the audiences in the movies theater, wound up their criticisms with an observation that had I been young, I think never was in a movie theater myself.

We have in every country a certain number of people who still seem to regard joy, satire, amusement of any kind as the deadliest of the seven deadly sins, and, as undoubtedly the movie picture gives a great deal of joy and satire, and amusement to the public as well as yours, it necessarily falls under the ban of that particular kind of disorder and distorted mind.

Danger of Official Censorship.

It seemed possible that under the influence of this cyclone the whole industry might be put under government control. Of all kinds of censorship I don't know anything that would be worse for the moving picture trade than the control of the Bureau of Encumbrance, a Bureau resident. For some reason or other, as the trade in England came to the conclusion that if they put me in the thing with something had to act, they would make it difficult if not impossible for the government to pursue their purpose. The reason that I believe was the reason I was appointed to the censorship.

We have in England gentlemen and gentlemen who know better when a picture comes before me for judgment, I am very often acquainted with the fact that a very large amount of money has been spent on the picture and that a decision is being made. I am not likely to influence a picture may be a considerable loss of money to the exhibitor who has made the picture.

On the other hand, I am responsible to the public of the country, and I would suppose a picture that makes a genuine objection could be made on the ground of its violation, either of some censors in England, I would be the target of very severe attack. I gave due notice to the trade that they would only accept the position on two conditions; first, that my main duty should be to the public and to its protection and second, that the form of picture that I would refuse was not prejudicial in its effect. And my second was that I should be quite free to form an independent decision, that neither suggestion or control or even consent on the part of the exhibitor and even whose pictures my judgment had compelled me to reject.

In conclusion, I am bound to tell you gentlemen that these conditions were accepted by the trade with complete assent; that over and over again I was told by members of my staff that the British Censors that they would allow no appeal and attempt no appeal against any decision and that whatever my decision might be, it would have behind it the full backing of all the trade. And in order to make the position quite clear, I also informed the trade that my resignation of the position in their hands at any moment they chose to ask it.

I had, at the very start, to make some decisions adverse to pictures,
I had to request when a picture was not wholly rejected, exclamations of some parts of the picture. But I have never had any complaint. The difficult duties of the office gave me good sense, in a broad spirit of tolerance; in no puritanical narrowness. I don't think that anything should prevent me from saying that after all a picture theater is not a Sunday School, and its primary duty to the public is to give the public amusement and instruction.

Long Interested in Pictures.

Now gentlemen, I think one of the reasons I was chosen for the position of censor was that I had been associated with the industry and its interests, that a picture was presented to me and I was charged with the mind, its limitless possibilities, and, let me tell you gentlemen, that after all the industry in my opinion, the chief business of the industry has been to bring to our young country and in ours the last five years, I believe that the industry has been the only one that has been interested in the health of the country. I was brought up under the old system of education, the main purpose of which was to make us as little as possible with as much profit as possible [Laughter]. I was brought up in the old school of education that we learn almost every subject by a mere effort of memory, by rote, parrot repetition.

The geography was taught: "What are the streets of London, the towns in Russia?" "St. Petersburg, as it was called. Those three rivers, "the Don, the Knieppe, the Volga." And that was a mere appeal to the memory.

How differently geography could be taught today if the cinema were, as it ought to be, attached to every school of every country in the world.

"What are the chief cities of Russia?" is the question I am asked as I stroll along the new harbors of the Rhine and Danube. Is it not possible to get off these names, meaning nothing to me by rote, I see before me a cinema of Petrograd and there, its streets, its customs, its habits, the buildings, the rivers. Immediately that name of Petrograd ceases to be something I have not seen, but becomes a living thing associated with life and the buildings and the aspects of Petrograd.

If I were to return to Russia, I would immediately see the cinema, according to what ought to be the modern system of education with the cinema used. Instead of the lessons of the Don or the other rivers as they pursue their courses through the different regions of Russia.

The cinema would teach you the diseases of which every king of England died. I knew that one king died of a certain organic disease, our King Edward was crown. I think I could tell you not only the surnames but the Christian names of all the wives of Henry the Eighth, and he was not only the head of the state but the head of the church. But, ladies and gentlemen, supposing that history of England had been presented to you through the cinema, in which case you would have forgotten these names, you would have forgotten the manner of the king's death.

In piece of these things being more memory work and rote work, they would be living things. In my mind after all the pictures, the only living reality of the living realities of life, and unless you see the living realities before you, then your education is of very little worth.

"A Cinema Hall With Every School."

I therefore committed myself early to the statement, long, I think before I was censor, I committed myself to the statement that I hoped I would see the day when a cinema hall was attached to every elementary school of the country, and you may judge of my surprise and my delight when I read in the papers of the recent evolution before a Congressional committee, I found he had put exactly the same idea in almost my words. In my mind miles away from where he spoke, and, of course, without any previous consultation with the man who presented the case on that point, or of listening to the presentation of that case to Lord Rosebery, the British Ambassador to Washington, it was not necessary that these representations when I get home to the authorities in England, and I hope an understanding will be arrived at by which a wrong will be righted to the industry, and even a greater wrong done by the industry.

"Rand Takes his General Film Post."

Well-Known Film Salesman Will Be Division Manager of Pacific Coast Territory.

One of the most important changes announced in the past time by the General Film Company to consolidate its sales organization is the appointment of W. S. Rand of Denver as division sales manager of the Pacific Coast territory, including Denver. The creation of this office becomes necessary as the great increase in business has made it necessary to apply time to the co-ordination of the various General Film exchanges in his territory for a more intensive sales campaign on General Film product, including the large amount of advertising. Mr. Rand has been associated with the firm for many years and has been on the staff of the company.

Rand is one of the best known film salesmen in the West, having opened up the coast offices for Mutual in 1912. He was later appointed division manager of the coast territory, including the Denver office, but later went to Triangle as manager of the Rocky Mountain territory. He had been manager of the Goldwyn Denver exchange for a year prior to his acceptance of the position with General Film.
Boston Ball Not the Regular Hub Affair
The Hundred Stars Announced Fall to Less Than a Dozen—
The Bradys and Navy Men Help Save Situation.
By Robert N. Howe.

The national convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitor's League of America was a big ball in arranging the event all contributed toward making the affair a medico one in film history. It was a fitting ending of a national convention and exposition which was conceived in the spirit of "rush" and gradually dropped to a place in the bottom rung of the ladder. Whatever satisfaction the Boston Boosters got out of the national convention of the motion picture industry in the Hub city could be measured in a film or few such "flashes" stage in Boston would soon lose the city the credit it has always had of being one of the world's greatest convention cities. It remained for the motion picture industry to stage its least attractive show. It's on account of the war," said some of the apologists, and of course this apology goes a long way nowadays.

Those who attended the ball, except some of the public who paid $1 expecting to see some real "stars" and spend several hours with them in success, enjoyed the affair immensely. It was a good entertainment, but not of the dollar standard. It has not been customary for the motion picture industry to "bunk" the public. It has been the practice of the motion picture industry to "deliver the goods." Advertising one hundred "big stars" and delivering a dozen is not a fair bargain. When the motion picture industry attempts to pay its bills from the public by "bunk" it will very likely get "bunk" in return.

The management of the ball did its best to provide a good show without "stars." In this they were successful. The doors were opened at 7 o'clock and whereas on previous motion picture occasions the place was at 9 o'clock a thousand on hand to rush for seats there were less than fifty persons in the lobby at 7 o'clock to enter the hall. The crowd was very slow in coming, and it was 9 o'clock before there was a full house. There were about 4,000 people in the arena. At this time there may have been two thousand people in the hall.

Cornell's band played a concert program and there was considerable attention paid to it. The band was accompanied by army nurses, their voices and women friends were seated. More than one hundred army and navy officers were in attendance.

Navy Men Start Things Moving.
The first signs of real life came after 9 o'clock when headed by a large sheet of the battleship Georgia entered the hall. The jackies did some slight maneuvers under the command of Ensign Edward Schilling and the band played for an hour and various prodigies of the sailor world were introduced and sang new songs that were in need of free advertising. Some of the songs went over well. Up to 9:30 o'clock there was more of an army and naval atmosphere to the affair than there was of the motion picture industry.

All around the arena floor are boxes, and these bore plaques of the various film companies. For instance there was a large space reserved by Pathe, the Famous Players-Lasky, Vitagraph, Select, Fouraso, Goldwyn, Metro and the other large film companies. But boxes began to fill up and the three thousand spectators who had come to see "stars" craned their necks as some specially well dressed and pretty young woman entered a box. But they sighted no familiar face, as it was the wives, daughters, etc. of company officials and local managers.

The first signs of real motion picture activity came, as usual, with the Ball of William A. Brady, president of the National association, and his daughter, Miss Alice Brady. It is a noticeable thing that when Mr. Brady gives words to the public or to the industry he "makes good." But for his presence and part in his wonderful daughter the ball would have descended into a pitiable affair.

There was loud applause as Miss Brady made her way along the aisle in company with her father to a box. Miss Brady wore a handsome gown of flimsy material, with a large corsage bouquet. She was immediately importuned by Ernest H. Horstmann to sing and she very graciously accepted the invitation. And shortly after a sailor was doing a Scottish hornpipe dance on a stage. The sailors were doing yeoman's work in rescuing the ball.

Mr. Horstmann introduced President Brady as "the big man of the motion picture industry." Mr. Brady mounted the stage with a sign of "pep" that put new life in the show. He said in part:

Brady Once More Says the Right Thing.
"When I came to Boston I was asked by your committee to have my daughter sing. I felt this was the Brady's family function. But when they asked me to get up here and announce my own daughter I felt the committee had some gall.

"But my little daughter is going to sing one of the greatest hits of one of the greatest nations of the earth outside the United States. She is going to sing the national hymn of France." (Loud applause.)

"France is one of the greatest of our allies. She has fought for our cause the cause of our greatest admiration and respect. The news that comes to us today from the battlefield makes us thrill with pride for the Stars and Stripes. Tonight the Stars and Stripes are waving over France. I hope soon that our boys will be marching up Tremont street in your city to the tune of the song my daughter will now sing for you." (Loud applause.)

Miss Brady from a position in the balcony beside the band sang "La Marseillaise" in a rich, powerful voice that carried to every part of the great arena. She received tremendous applause.

Miss Brady returned to her box, where she held a short reception and left soon afterward with her father to visit some of the Boston theatres.

Just after this there was considerable commotion upon the arrival of Miss Agnes Ayres, the Vitagraph star, accompanied by Miss Betty Blythe and Edward Earl. They made their entrance to the Vitagraph box. Here they immediately started something.

Edward Farrell, formerly of Metro, Pathe and Select, introduced Acting Mayor Collins of Boston.

Players Get Hearty Receptions.
The jackies had discovered Shirley Mason with her partner, Ernest Trues, in the Famous Players-Lasky box. A bugler led the way and the jackies escorted the couple to the stage. Violet Mesereau and Peggy Hopkins also got a fine reception.

Stanley Sumner raised his voice and the crowd immediately listened. He had to offer to the "fans" one of Boston's favorite daughters in the photoplay business, June Caprice. There was a rush to the Caprice box.

Corrine Griffith, Harry and Bessie Fairall were introduced to the crowd and received flattering receptions.

The word was passed around that Doris Kenyon was present and a crowd flocked to the box of the William L. Sherry service. The management finally succeeded in getting to one of the stage, where she acted a sketch, "Know It All." It was a very clever piece of acting. Miss Kenyon had reached Boston in time to get to the Park theater and be introduced to a large audience by Manager Thomas D. Soriero.

Alice Brady also visited Miss Kenyon, and the next day the Illuminating agency goes into effect July 24, but it excepts bona fide roof gardens and outdoor restaurants and airdomes.
Advertising Men's Convention a Success

Gathering in San Francisco, Largest in History of Organization, Hears Much of Screen Exploitation

By T. A. Church.

THe fourteenth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World was held at San Francisco July 7 to 11 and was a tremendous success, being the greatest gathering in the history of the organization. Service to the Government and the medium was the underlying theme, and from the commencement of the great inspirational meeting in the Greek theater, where twelve thousand persons gathered to pay their respects to Charles M. Schwab, director of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, until the last picture faded from the screen in the theater fitted up in the city hall every gathering was turned into a patriotic demonstration. Moving pictures played by far a greater part on the program of this convention than ever before, with their steadier appeal, spreading information to which wide publicity might be desired, as well as the invasion of new fields in commercial advertising.

One of the features of the first business session, held on the morning of July 8, was an address by C. R. Macauley, the famous cartoonist of New York, on “How the Film Play Educates the Public Mind to War Necessities.” He prefaced his talk on moving pictures with a scathing arraignment of the Hun. The value of moving pictures was almost too apparent, he said, to be dwelt upon at length, every one having had an opportunity during the past year to witness their subtle influence in molding public opinion. Great as their influence had been, however, he suggested that there was an opportunity to do still more with them, and he asked that advertising men work to give them a still larger space in the work of recording war activities. He stated that films were being exhibited in Russia, showing the work of this country in the fight against autocracy, and that the results secured were very pleasing.

Mr. Macauley has been interested in moving pictures for years, and early in 1914 induced Andrew Carnegie to set aside $250,000 to produce a play hinting at a world-wide war. Work was under way on this when war actually broke out. He has produced a long film, “Humanity,” which has the approval of the Government as war propaganda.

Screen Advertisers’ Association Meets.

On Monday afternoon the Screen Advertisers’ Association held a departmental meeting in the rooms of the volunteer fire department in the Exposition Auditorium. Chairman Harry Levey, of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, was not present, and a telegram was received later, stating that business in Washington prevented his making the trip to the Pacific Coast as planned. There was a fair gathering of advertising enthusiasts from the West, including some from Texas, Montana, Hawaii, with a number from California, and an interesting informal session was held, with Tiery L. Ford, until recently with the Animated Cartoon Film Corporation of this city and second vice-president of the Screen Advertisers’ Association of the World, filling the position of chairman.

On Tuesday afternoon Chairman Ford called the meeting to order at 2 o’clock and delivered an illuminating address on moving picture advertising. He declared that he could not definitely define advertising, that the authorities he consulted gave him divergent answers, and that whatever it may be it is a powerful force and one that lends itself peculiarly to the screen. He likened it best to describe it as applied psychology, or mental appeal, involving a knowledge of mental pictures and the art of directing their operation. He traced the history of advertising down to the present time, and declared that the first newspaper publishers had the same difficulty in interesting men to advertise their wares that screen advertisers have had.

Beall Tells of Screen’s Accomplishments.

Ham Beall, publicity expert from the Universal studio at Universal City, delivered the message that was to have been broadcast to the convention by Harry Levey. He outlined in detail the work that had been done during the past year to promote Red Cross drives, Liberty Bond sales and many other campaigns for funds through the medium of the screen, declaring that this had been supplemented in a manner possible in no other medium—that of showing in actual scenes the use to which the money subscribed was being put.

Attention was directed to the value of the screen in encouraging enlistments and in showing the folks at home how carefully their boys are being cared for. He told of the great work of the moving picture stars in selling Liberty Bonds and directed the attention of the gathering to the amounts received by the Government in taxes on films and admissions, and of the wide use being made by news weeklies of matters connected with war activities.

B. O. Youngman, of the Kale-Alta Slide Company of San Francisco, spoke on “Posing for the Camera” and the War,” and told of the thousands of slides that were made on short order and furnished at cost to advertise the many drives for funds made by the Government.

James P. Simpson of Dallas delivered a splendid address on the value of Fifth Estate advertising in films. He outlined the manner in which screen advertising had been developed in Texas, stating that his company operated a regular service in Fort Worth, Waco and Dallas and handled country business out of the latter city. In Dallas advertising is far more systematic than in other cities. One concern has an exclusive contract, for which it pays from $50 to $300 a month. Screen advertising there has come to be regarded as an established institution, the same as newspapers and billboards, and advertisers include it in their regular appropriations. No theaters in Dallas refrain from using this form of advertising, and it is kept interesting by weekly changes. In the country districts changes are made less frequently, but nothing is shown for more than two weeks at any theater.

Mr. Simpson was originally in the theater business and later tried curtain publicity work, finally taking up the screen end of the business, which he finds to be the most praiseworthy of all for it is the screen to be supreme in the advertising field for results, as it reaches the most people, a class of people who spend their money, and reaches them while they are in a receptive mood. He declared that moving pictures had already done great things, but that still greater things were in store for them, particularly in commercial lines. The doors of commerce with the world would soon be open, he said, and he felt that members of the Associated Advertising Clubs would be able to make great use of them in promoting the business of the nation.

The meeting adjourned without an election of officers with the understanding that the present ones would serve during the ensuing year. These consist of Joe Brandt, New York, president; R. R. Hollister, Dayton, Ohio, first vice-president; Tiery L. Ford, San Francisco, second vice-president; W. A. Harris, secretary, and W. F. Herzberg, treasurer.

Throughout the convention moving pictures of an advertising nature were shown in the city hall in one of the finest rooms ever given over to an exhibition of this kind. Through the courtesy of Mayor James Rolph, Jr., the use of the supervisors’ chambers was secured, and a moving picture machine and booth was installed here by B. G. Penick and Peter Boyle, of Moving Picture Operators’ Union No. 162.

The arrangements for the display of advertising film were made by a committee of members of the screen department of the San Francisco Advertising Club, headed by W. D. Tam, of the Tam Film Company.

BEVERLY GRIFFITH JOINS OUT.

Beverly Griffith, personal representative of Joe Brandt, assistant treasurer of the Universal, who has been in the Northwest for more than a year, has come out of Portland and Seattle offices on the handling of short-reel subjects, has hopped out of films into the war game. He has enlisted in the aviation section of the signal corps.

Griffith was busy putting the move in movies in the sales end for about six months before he went to Uncle Sam. Before that he was in Universal City for five years.
Zukor Committee Announces Plan for Loan Drive

Motion Picture Producers Asked to Feature Stars in Short Subject for Use in Campaign—Quick Action Urged

FOLLOWING his recent trip to Washington, where he went to confer with Frank Wilson, director of publicity for the fourth Liberty Loan, and the various district governors and directors, Adolph Zukor, chairman of the committee of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry appointed to co-operate with the Treasury Department, called his committee together Monday afternoon, July 22, at the office of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. Those present besides Mr. Zukor were J. E. Broulaur, Marcus Loew and W. W. Irwin.

After briefly emphasizing the importance of the part which motion pictures are expected to play in the national publicity campaign for the Liberty Loan, which will be launched on or about September 28, Mr. Zukor laid before the committee an agenda for the Washington conference. In this connection he read the following letter which he had just received from the Treasury Department:

Treasury Department,
Washington, July 19, 1918.

Mr. Adolph Zukor,
485 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Mr. Zukor—Please accept the thanks of the Treasury Department for coming to our meeting of publicity directors and sales managers and outlining the nature of the co-operation we expect to be expected from the motion picture industry in the coming campaign.

All of our men were enthusiastic over the motion picture campaign which we have outlined, and I sincerely hope that we will be able to fulfill all expectations.

Your appearance here made a decided impression upon the men, and I am sure it has contributed materially to the continuance of the friendly relations which we have always enjoyed.

Again thanking you, I am

Sincerely yours,
FRANK R. WILSON,
Director of Publicity.

The plan of the Treasury Department briefly is as follows: The services of various stars will be enlisted, each to make a picture of about 300 feet in length. The negatives are to be delivered to the Government on or about September 1, at the very latest. The general plan of these pictures will follow the "Swat the Kaiser" film which was produced by Douglas Fairbanks for the Third Liberty Loan campaign and which was immensely successful.

Prints to the number of between three and four thousand will be made from these negatives and distributed to the various Federal Reserve Districts, and all prints will bear an announcement something as follows: "The U. S. Treasury Department, in co-operation with the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, presents the following plea for Liberty Bonds."

In accordance with these suggestions the committee unanimously decided to solicit the active co-operation of the following companies, in addition to the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and Vitagraph, which were represented at the meeting: Goldwyn, Metro, Universal, World, Fox, Select, Pathé, General Film, Mutual, Triangle. This list, it should be understood, is not final, to the exclusion of any other firms which may desire to lend their assistance, but is intended as a nucleus, for without the co-operation of a large majority of the companies mentioned, complete success of the plan cannot be assured.

Stars to Appear in Liberty Loan Specials.

Similarly, the committee indorsed a list of stars to appear in the proposed activity, which was drawn up by the Treasury officials and to which it is more than likely that several names will be added.

The following names were suggested: Ethel Barrymore, Greta Garbo, Bebe Daniels, Irene Castle, Charlie Chaplin, Marguerite Clark, Dorothy Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, Douglas Fairbanks, Dustin Farnum, William Farnum, Geraldine Farrar, Elsie Ferguson, Pauline Frederick, Lillian Gish, William S. Hart, Senju Hayakawa, Alice Joyce, Frank Keenan, Ennio Caruso, Madge Kennedy, Harold Lockwood, Mae Marsh, Mary Miles Minter, Mae Murray, Mme. Nazimova, Mabel Normand, Olga Petrova, Mary Pickford, Charles Ray, Wallace Reid, Emily Stevens, Anita Stewart, Edith Storey, Norma Talmadge, Pearl White, Clara Kimball Young, Billie Burke, George M. Cohan, David Warfield, Fred Stone, William Duncan, Earle Williams.

After the meeting Chairman Zukor made the following statement: "The meeting of this committee has made a good start on what quite obviously is a gigantic task, when the short space of time between now and September 1 is taken into consideration. The producing firms, especially those from the coast, have already started to put their machinery in motion immediately, for there is not a moment to be lost. The plan as outlined at the committee meeting held today embraces only the main feature of the picture. It is the industry we have to do in the big campaign of putting over the Liberty Loan. Once this plan is shaped up and started on the way to realization, the committee will be prepared to go into other details, such as the mobilization of one, two and five-cent features already made which would be available at once."

"This all means a tremendous amount of work for everybody, from executives down to the humblest studio hand. Without hearty co-operation on the part of everybody we cannot accomplish anything, but I am confident that the industry will go ahead with such co-operation to a man is going to embrace this opportunity to show its patriotism to prove beyond all question its worth to the Government as well as to the people of the United States."

"Clearing House Aims to Aid Managers"

Colonel Ruppert Says He Expects to Reduce Shipping Costs by Cutting Out Wastage.

THAT the Film Clearing House, Inc., is not out just to serve exchanges and producers is indicated in the second statement for publication by President Jacob Ruppert at the concern's offices, 18 East Forty-first street, New York.

"We shall help the exhibitor in many ways," says Colonel Ruppert, "not the least of them being through an eventual reduction in shipping costs. One shipment a day or twice a week or once a week, according to the exhibitor schedule of changes, replaces paying for many shipments and the time and labor involved in handling them. When you cut out wastage and the duplication of effort you are earning profits that quickly become self-evident. That is true, too, of the shipping work on the side of the shipper.

"Exchange systems are compelled to ask high rates today, for they really must maintain expensive organizations and premises in every American shipping center, whereas one exchange can get along just about as well with a whole lot less work. We proposed the Film Clearing House to take over all present-day distribution effort but that of sales promotion."

"The delivery to exhibitors of service aids is today a secondary matter at most branch offices, the answer being that film shipment comes first. Still service aids, from huge posters down to tiny pasters, are considered very vital by the exhibitor, and the slightest delay in delivery gives him great concern. An organization such as the lines of the Clearing House would guarantee the arrival on time of the most obscure thumbnail cut just as it would the film feature itself."

"The sort of distributing service that a concern like ours can create and maintain would be quite beyond the power of any single exchange system. That indicates emphatically that we can improve exchange efficiency while reducing exchange operating costs. But as great a gainer as the exchange is the theater man who would cross transit troubles from his list."

CHARLIE SIMONE A GENERAL FILM MANAGER.

General Film Company announces this week the appointment of Charles Simone, of Bayonne, as manager of its New York branch, which has just been opened. Mr. Simone served in the Navy recently. Mr. Simone was formerly production or studio manager for the Nestor, Centaur, Venus Features, Universal and other film companies, and has had considerable experience in executive capacities in the film business in New York City and neighborhood.
Export Figures Show Cut in Business

While the Outgo Is Only One-Loop of Former Amount the Price Paid Is But One-Third Less.

WITH motion picture films just place on the export consignment list by the trade, the condition of the export trade in motion pictures films for the eleven months ending with May of this year as compared with the same length of time ending with May of 1916 and 1917 are of particular interest to the trade. The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has just compiled statistics giving this information.

Our exports of exposed films during the eleven months ending with May, 1918, are approximately one-half as great as for the same period ending with May, 1916, although the cost is but one-third less. An analysis of our film business with the world (exposed films not including raw paper) for the eleven months ending May, 1918, shows the following results:

During the eleven months ending May, 1916, we sent out of the United States 152,518,020 feet, valued at $6,428,489. The United Kingdom was our best customer and took 100,629,795 feet, valued at $4,058,153. Next came France with 14,490,886 feet, valued at $377,093. Italy bought 6,403,896 feet valued at $167,996; Canada 30,036,425 feet, valued at $764,235; Newfoundland and Labrador took 1,752,050, valued at $495,583; Australia bought 6,422,375 feet, valued at $452,290.

The world combined purchased from us 12,743,593 feet, valued at $495,583.

During the eleven months ending with May, 1917, there is a different story to tell. England decreased her purchases to one-fourth of what she bought during the same period, although the value was half as much as for the total of that period. England bought 29,247,922 feet, valued at $2,113,380. To France we exported 8,495,326 feet valued at $315,075; Italy 1,585,240 feet at $495,583. The 13,077,390 feet we sent Canada were valued at $998,851. The purchases of Newfoundland and Labrador in footage were heavier, but the cost was less—1,752,720 feet at $80,500. Australia took 1,257,595 feet valued at $642,250. And to the rest of the world we sold 40,841,299 feet valued at $1,561,493.

During the eleven months ending May, 1918, the purchases of France dropped off to almost nothing, for we sent over 1,000 feet. Italy bought 1,931,934 feet, valued at $232,702. Italy took only 2,270,271 feet, paying $61,838. England's needs totaled only 18,241,419 feet, valued at $1,411,798. Our sales to Canada showed a slight increase, totaling 14,301,484 feet, worth $1,090,815, but Newfoundland and Labrador dropped off to half the value of the preceding period, taking 842,418 feet, for which they paid $20,057. Australia took 3,589,605 feet, valued at $279,463, and all other countries combined bought 38,384,038 feet, valued at $1,834,785.

Imports Decline a Million Feet.

During the month of May, 1918, American importations of unexposed motion picture films fell off a million feet and in valuable cargo to $16,435, as compared with the March figures of $18,771,176. The United States was the leading market; Canada, second. Britain, third; France, fourth; and Australia, fifth. Canada, again, was the leading country in value, valued at $2,327,175; and in number of feet, valued at $6,790,862. The United States took 3,814,353 feet, valued at $94,257; for May of this year, 160,044 feet, valued at $15,075. For the eleven months periods the figures are: 1916, 6,165,862 feet, valued at $214,669; 1917, 3,471,006 feet valued at $20,985; and, 1918, 3,431,446 feet valued at $157,258.

Blackton Begins Work on "Common Cause" occasion instead of the trio of players referred to last week.

The "Common Cause" is the title of the film version of "Getting Together" by Herbert Rawlinson and Sylvia Breamer, has been commissioned to produce under the auspices of the British-Canadian Recruiting Mission. Engaged to appear with the featured players are Huntley Gordon, Mlle. Marcella, wife of Lieutenant Earl Carroll; Lawrence Grossmith and Louis Dean.

Two other featured members of the cast will be Violet and Charles Stuart Blackton, the producer's small children. Mr. Blackton has also signed a contract with Blackton Productions, Inc., at 25 West Forty-fifth street. He has arranged his producing schedule to take a number of exteriors first, and for this work will use a part of the Vitagraph studios, some of the interior sets are also being constructed in the Vitagraph studios, though most of the interiors will be made in his own studios, also in Brooklyn.

While in California filming his series of Paramount productions, Mr. Blackton rented the Blackton Productions, Inc. studios to W. L. Shillito. The Fox tenancy of the plant expires next month and Mr. Blackton will then take possession.

Jewel Carmen Signs With Keeney

William Fox Serves Notice That the Young Woman Will Not Leave His Company Without a Battle.

THE announcement that Jewel Carmen, the young and promising young Fox star, has signed a contract to appear for a long-term period under the management of Frank A. Keeney is likely to be followed by further announcement of a battle in the courts. Letters have been received by Mr. Keeney from Mr. Fox, stating that the latter will not give Miss Carmen up without a legal fight.

For some time it has been rumored that Miss Carmen was going to join the Keeney forces. Some time ago an agreement was entered into between Miss Carmen and Mr. Keeney, but this gave rise to a legal suit. Mr. Fox has threatened to leave the situation undetermined. Jewel was reached by telephone on Friday, and Mr. Fox was immediately got in touch with her and arranged for a meeting on the following Tuesday. The contract was signed on that day.

He says he is legally entitled to Miss Carmen's services on the ground that a contract signed by her after maturity is absolutely binding as against any contract she may have signed when under age, without the consent, oral or otherwise, of either her father or mother.

At Leading Picture Theaters

Programs for the Week of July 21 at New York's Principal Motion Picture Houses.

THE STRAND—Mabel Normand in "Back to the Woods," her latest Goldwyn picture, headed the program at the Strand the week of July 21. The support includes Herbert Rawlinson, T. Henderson Murray and Arthur Housman. An outstanding feature is the "Bill Blackton Will Settles Down," the Official War Review and the Topical Review were also shown. Melba Bonconis and Mlle. Alye Michot were the soloists.

THE RIVOLI—The Martin E. Johnson picture of cows found on the islands of the Pacific took the place of a photo-play headliner on the Rialto program. The Official War Review, the Animated Pictorial and a comedy completed the picture. Mlle. Madeleine D'Espino, G. Bettini and Greek Evans were the soloists.

THE RIALTO—"More Than Kin," a Paramount with Wallace Reid in a dual role, was the principal feature of the screen program at the Rialto. Ann Little and Raymond Hatton are members of the cast. The Animated Magazine, a scene and a comedy were also shown. Gladys Rice was the soloist.

FORTY-FOURTH STREET THEATER.—Sixteenth week of "Hearts of the World."
Vitagraph Settles Anita Stewart Case

Louis B. Mayer Pays Substantial Sum and Secures Star’s Immediate Services.

FOLLOWING a series of conferences between attorneys representing the Vitagraph Company of America and Louis B. Mayer, of Boston, it is announced that an amicable arrangement had been made whereby Vitagraph agreed to a settlement of the damage suit of $250,000, which had been pending against Mr. Mayer and his associates in the courts of Boston by the payment to Vitagraph of a substantial sum. It was also announced by Vitagraph that, owing to the time lost through the automobile accident in which Miss Mason, one of the co-defendants, was injured, her term was determined and she was permitted to return to the films in the period of her services left to her. It also had agreed, as part of the settlement, to let Mr. Mayer have his now instilled youth, and to pay him $127,000 for a contract signed last year, and which was to take effect when Miss Stewart’s term expired on that date with Vitagraph.

Mr. Mayer said that in consideration of the settlement of the claim, the company’s decision and in consideration of Vitagraph’s fairness in letting him have Miss Stewart’s services he had agreed to pay the substantial sum of money to the company. Thus ends a legal controversy which has continued for almost a year, with friendly relations now existing between all parties to it.

It was last September that the Vitagraph company brought suit against Miss Stewart to restrain her from leaving them and to make other terms, namely, that Mayer and others are co-defendants with her. It developed that Miss Stewart had signed a contract to work for Mr. Mayer, her services for him to start when she was through with Vitagraph.

The Mayer contract was not an issue in the suit, the Vitagraph action being based on the fact that Miss Stewart attempted to break her contract with it, and Albert E. Smith, president of the Vitagraph company, announced at the time that he was suing not only to protect his company’s interests, but to prevent anyone who might wish to publish a precedent in the matter of a star’s contractual obligations to the producer.

Justice Mullen, of the New York Supreme Court, granted Vitagraph a temporary restraining order against Miss Stewart, and subsequently Justice Mullen’s decision was confirmed on appeal by the Appellate Division, the injunction continuing indefinitely. The case was brought to trial before Justice L. Kay, at Utica, in June, 1918, and the January 22 and the March 19 in Vitagraph’s favor and lasted three days. He rendered his decision the first week in April, ordering Miss Stewart to finish up her time with Vitagraph before attempting to work for anyone else, and fixed a period of twenty-six weeks as the amount of time she would have to work under which company she wanted $127,000 per year by Vitagraph. This meant that she must work for Vitagraph until about September 3, and she at once began work at the Brooklyn studio under direction of W. R. North.

Miss Stewart had only been at work a short time when she and her director, with the other members of her company, were caught in a serious automobile accident in Brooklyn, Miss Stewart being so badly hurt she was laid up for more than a week. Her director, Wilfrid North, however, was incapacitated for more than a month and when she returned to work she was using crutches. This loss of time interfered seriously with the plans that had been made for Miss Stewart’s activities in completing her contract.

Shift in Utica Sunday Situation

Owing to Unexpected Opposition Theaters Fail to Open on Sunday, July 14.

A STATEMENT was made in the Moving Picture World of the issue of July 20 that the Utica picture theaters opened on at 12 o’clock New York time and nearly every exhibitor had booked a picture for Sunday, July 14, the first Sunday to open, when something occurred, of what nature cannot be learned, and the managers of the Utica houses were obliged to forgo their decision to open and wait for another decision. Whether the fact that they will open on the 21st remains to be seen. The people of Utica have not offered any serious objection to the proposed opening as far as sending letters to the Utica papers to be published in the city, just when everything appeared to be agreeable for the opening, sent a letter to one of the papers, which published it. In his letter Mr. Cross quoted the words of Edgar C. Emerson, Justice of the Supreme Court, who stated that Sunday pictures are illegal. His letter created quite a sentiment against the proposed opening among the class of persons who never attend the pictures, and it was no doubt due to his letter that the opening of the houses was deferred.

As far as the people of Utica are concerned, it is the majority that want Sunday pictures, while those who are opposed to opening the houses but two to have been regular patrons of big expensive road shows which formerly played Utica. In many instances there is quite an ill-feeling against the opposers of shows on Sunday.

Canada’s Reel Tax Hits Small Towns

Exhibitors in Less Populous Communities Complain They Cannot Retrench to Take Up Added Outgo.

ANY small-town exhibitors in various parts of Canada are complaining that the fifteen-cent daily reel tax imposed by the Canadian government places a severe burden on their activities. Generally they are of the belief that the weight of the tax falls more heavily upon them than upon the exhibitors in the large centers. In nearly every instance it is declared that city exhibitors can curtail various items of expense to compensate for the daily reel tax, where the country exhibitor cannot eliminate any expense details.

It is a fact that a number of exhibitors in small towns of Ontario have closed up shop since the enforcement of the tax, and offered for sale, and two or three cities have found it necessary to close down even for the summer months. Exchange managers of Toronto admit that the small-town exhibitor is feeling the effect of the reel tax.

One small-town exhibitor who has registered a complaint is Wilfrid W. Kay, who operates the Grand, Ridgetown, Ontario. Mr. Kay criticizes the Ontario Moving Picture Exhibitors’ Protective Association for inactivity at Ottawa, the Canadian capital, when the government was framing the regulations for it, and says his association, the Toronto Exchange Managers’ Association soon had a delegation on the ground to protect its interests. He declares that he does not really want to criticise the exhibitors’ association for its passive resistance, but that the organization missed a big opportunity, he believes, to make a name for itself.

A. J. Mason, a well-known small-town exhibitor of the Maritime Provinces, has also complained about the reel tax.

The tax is a tax above and below, he says. It operates the Empire theater at Hantsport and the Opera House at Wolfville, N. S.

That the fifteen-cent reel tax is working a great injustice on the small-town exhibitor is also the opinion of A. A. Cooper, proprietor of the Lyceum theater, Huntsville, Ontario, who has also made a plea for a grading of the tax according to population.

St. Louis Film Board Hears First Case

It All Happened Over a C. O. D. Parcel Post Shipment, But Everybody’s Happy Now.

THE St. Louis Film Board of Trade has won its first case, and the exhibitor in question seems to be as well satisfied as do the exchange managers. The reason for the all-around pacification is that there is a settlement, once and for all for as far as the purchase or booking of films in this territory is concerned, of a troublesome problem that has been recurring with unusual frequency.

The case in question was of a southeast Missouri exhibitor, who was sent a C. O. D. parcel post shipment, neglecting it, returned it to St. Louis C. O. D. The C. O. D. under ordinary circumstances could have been charged and the bill sent or redirected to the exhibitor and the controversy that might have ensued might probably have been settled through the Post Office Department. The C. O. D. was of the plainest variety, and the exchange manager was unable to get his film without the payment of the C. O. D. The exhibitor, under his agreement, should, of course, have paid for the film he ordered. As the case happened the exchange manager had no immediate booking for the film in question and left it at the post office. He then complained to the Film Board of Trade, organized but three weeks, and the exhibitor was summoned.

The board met and the exhibitor appeared. He presented his case as one would in court and the exchange manager presented his. The executive committee decided the exhibitor was in the wrong, and he agreed to abide by the decision. He paid the C. O. D., releasing the film. The amicable agreement and the fairness of the trial has occasioned considerable comment in St. Louis.
There will be plenty of reasons why a “hundred per cent.” organization should be constructed now. The various war activities which touch closely and, in fact, depend materially upon the work which can be done better through co-operation with picture theatres, should give the strongest possible reason for a closer affiliation of exhibitors. Power to bring about this affiliation is within the grasp of a man like President Schaefer. He is connected with one of the oldest and most successful firms of exhibitors—Jones, Linick & Schaefer of Chicago—and he has both time and means to devote to an intensive campaign of organization. Being new in the political angle of the game, he should be able to gain the confidence of the exhibitors of every faction. To do this he must take the affairs of the League in his own hands, map out a new and equitable policy along lines of construction and for the benefit of the exhibitor body as a whole.

This is not the time to sit facing backward. Rather, all of us should be up and doing with our faces set toward but one goal. Consequently, we shall refrain from post mortens on the convention—that event carries its own commentary. The all important thing to do is to bring all exhibitors of the United States under one banner, united for one purpose. Personal aggrandizement can wait and plans for personal profit may easily be laid to one side until the times are more propitious. The man who forgets self and works for the organization “one hundred per cent. strong” will, in the end, have no cause for complaint as to where he stands in the estimation of his fellows.

Therefore, we shall look forward with great hope for efficiency in the Motion Picture Exhibitors’ League under the leadership of Peter J. Schaefer. He is a big man in this business and should be able to do big things for the League and those concerned in its success. On the other hand this is the time for the members of the League to come forward strongly in support of the new administration. The affairs of the organization are at a very low ebb. There should be a renewing of activity among state branches—a general getting together all along the line. Every step that can be made to bring about a unification of the organization should be taken now. There is a strong possibility that overtures will be made to the American Exhibitors’ Association when that organization meets at Chicago in September and those efforts should not come to naught. Let everybody get together for a long, strong pull.

Facts and Comments

From all parts of the country come reports of good business among exhibitors. Attendance seems to be up to the mark and prices of film rentals have not occasioned serious complaint. The theater owners apparently have adjusted their houses on a war basis and there is no complaint of hardship or unfavorable conditions on that score. One of the best indications of favorable conditions is found in the almost total lack of friction between the theater owner and the producer. This is a state of affairs that should prevail at all times. It can be made permanent if the theater owner and the producer will get closer together and work at all times in harmony for the common cause of business success.
Reluctant Assent
By Robert C. McElravy.

The ruling by Gen. Crowder that film artists are engaged in an essential industry will release a sigh of joy not only from a myriad of actors, but also from their countless admirers. Whether we like it or not, the American drama of the present time is that of the film, and everyone who attends a real play, one hundred attend a screen performance. So if a great part of the nation wasn't to be plunged into gloom and boredom, then the young movie actor, of draft age, had to be spared. For the elderly Thespian, never too old to do Hamlet or Richard the Third or D'Artagnan, cannot manage the hair-raising stunts that the most conventional Wild West show demands. It is no use arguing that the American people have very poor taste in this matter, and, if deprived of the movie as a refuge from boredom, would be forced to occupy their evenings more usefully. The fact of the matter is that we are in the midst of war, and we must not swap amusements while so immersed.

The Evening Post of July 9 is in error in its statement that the young screen actor, of draft age, has been spared from the ranks of the army. He is answering by the hundreds, the call to the colors. The moving picture actor is simply immune from the "work or fight" regulation, which is quite a different thing, and this applies of course to men over draft-age.

Numerous paragraphs similar to the quoted extract are flying about the country in certain sections of the press. Some of them are not so guileless as they would appear, but most of them we prefer to think are the result of an honest incomprehension of what the films have been doing. In either case the public is entitled to know just why moving pictures have not been classed as non-essential during the war.

When it became evident that America was to take part in the war, the film producers of the country placed the entire machinery of the moving picture industry at the disposal of the Government.

The film interests have had their loyalty on straight from the beginning. Just how much of an influence they have been in bringing the war situation to the minds of the people cannot be fully stated, but they have been pounding out the facts to their millions of daily observers without cessation. They have brought the issue clearly before the vast foreign-born element, some of whom can neither read nor write our language. The film has accomplished marvels in uniting and solidifying the thought of America in this great crisis.

It is wrong to assume that moving pictures are essential merely from the standpoint of entertainment. The authorities at Washington recently went to considerable effort to place themselves on record as to just why the films are not to be regarded as non-essential.

Mr. McDade, Secretary of the Treasury, expressed amazement that a movement to have the films declared non-essential should gain any headway. He spoke of their work in furthering Liberty Loans, War Savings, and other Government movements, and said they "deserve the thanks of the country for their patriotic attitude." Mr. Creel, chairman of the Committee on Public Information, said, among other things: "I believe in the motion picture just as I believe in the press, and in my work it plays just as powerful a part in the production and stimulation of an aroused and enlightened war sentiment." Mr. Hoover and Mr. Garfield expressed themselves very much in the same way, speaking particularly of the educational and moral value of the films.

The press as a rule is friendly to the screen and is giving moving pictures full credit for what they have done. It has small reason for doing otherwise, for moving pictures certainly create new readers of newspapers all the while.

The Evening Post editor who wrote the above paragraphs had simply not awakened to what is going on in the film world. He has not yet discovered that there is a method in this movie madness. While he lingers amid vague prejudices a new art of cosmic sweep is spasing over his accomplished but unsuspecting bean.

Let him go to see D. W. Griffith's magnificent "Hearts of the World," with Dorothy Gish as the charming heroine. Then let him devote a week or ten days to a campaign among the other moving picture houses and see if he doesn't find his time well spent. A few slapstick comedies wouldn't hurt him either. The most erudite man of our acquaintance, a reader for a great publishing house, wouldn't look at a moving picture for years. When he finally fell, it was for "Mutt and Jeff." Now he can't see enough of them, and he still retains his job.

Poor taste! Tell that to the Teufel Hunden!

Laemmle 'Hammering on the Summer, Stuff
Inclination to Close Down in Hot Weather Is a State of Mind, Says Universal President.

In line with his recent message to every exhibitor in the United States on the absolute necessity, from the standpoint of sheer patriotism, of keeping the theaters open throughout the summer, Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, has just made public a second letter sent to a "Dubbing Thomas" showman.

This exhibitor, who owns a theater in one of the smaller Kansas towns, took issue with Mr. Laemmle's assertion that the dog days are as full of profit possibilities as those of the cooler season.

"You're all wrong," wrote this theater owner, whose name is withheld at his own request. "Neither you nor any other man can convince me that I can make money during the summer. I'd be tickled to death to keep my doors open but it's absolutely impossible to give the Government in the spreading of propaganda, but since I can't afford to lose money I've got to shut up shop during the eight weeks in July and August."

The answer sent by the head of the Universal organization was written in his characteristic style.

"Some one said of a certain New York evening newspaper that it wasn't a newspaper at all; it was a state of mind. Well, that's just what the summer so-called dull season is -a state of mind," wrote Mr. Laemmle. "There are, however, a number of exhibitors who have a deep-rooted idea that business in the summer drops off because it always has dropped off. If you are one of those exhibitors it probably will drop off. That's your state of mind.

"You may be just waiting for a few continued days of hot weather to give you an excuse to close on the plea that you can't control the weather. If you are just stop for a moment and ask yourself if it isn't your state of mind that's got you. We've got to have the dull season all around, and when you come to think of it, it is not so terrible after all.

"Get into this state of mind and there won't be any dull season for you," says the Universal president in conclusion. "Every fellow will enjoy the dull season, all around in the meantime you ought to be able to cinch the business of your town so that when he attempts to start all over again in the fall he'll wish he'd put it off till after the war."

Stedman Not Nephew of Charles Frohman.

Daniel Frohman of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation says the published statements that a young film actor named Charles Frohman Stedman is a nephew of his brother, the late Charles Frohman, is incorrect, as Mr. Frohman had no nephew by that name.
Motion Picture Educator
Conducted by REV. W. H. JACKSON and MARGARET I. MACDONALD

"Pershing's Crusaders" Has a Successor
It is "America's Answer," and the Eight Reels Will be Shown in New York, July 29.

The U. S. Government will present, through the Committee on Public Information, George Creel, Chairman, Division of Films, Charles S. Hart, Director, the second official American war film "America's Answer," at the George M. Cohan Theater, starting Monday night, July 29.

This feature film in eight reels will continue the story begun in "Pershing's Crusaders." It will tell the story of the arrival in France of the first half million men of the American Army and of what they have accomplished.

From convoyed transport to the first line trenches, the activities of the American Army in France are vividly portrayed. The building of 800 miles of rail lines in France, erection of enormous docks, storage warehouses and railroad shops where hundreds of American-built locomotives are assembled, and all of the work which is being done for the maintenance of the American Expeditionary Force in France will be reproduced on the screen. There will also be shown the arrival and landing of "our boys" and interesting scenes of their daily life in the trenches and in rest camps.

There will also be panoramic views of military activities at the front and other highly interesting scenes which will be announced in detail when the picture is presented to the public.

"America's Answer" has been selected and assembled from over 30,000 feet of film which was made by order of General John J. Pershing under the direction of the General Staff, and photographed by the Signal Corps of the American Expeditionary Force in France.

A full-length newspaper review of this film has been previously seen and approved by General Pershing, who is taking the keenest interest in the filming of what will ultimately be a complete pictorial history of America's part in the great war.

Interesting教育als

One Military Subject, One Travel, One Sport, and Two Industrial.

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

"Britain's Bulwarks, No. 11" (Pathé).

This, the 11th episode, shows the Duke of Connaught on a visit to the French front, where he reviews the dauntless Canadian troops. Both cavalry and infantry are pictured, and certain interesting scenes show the manner in which ammunitions is handled. Actual pictures taken during the bombardment of Vimy ridge are included.

"A Mexican Venice" (Educational).

An interesting series of views along the Viga canal treating in general of the activities on this canal which penetrates Mexico City and which on week days serves as a commercial avenue, and on Sundays reflects the festive moods of the nation. One of the first scenes gives an idea to what an extent the Viga canal is used by the natives as a wash tub. Then again we get a glimpse of the hundreds of little bridges that span it, and the varied craft that ply through its waters. At another time we make a landing at the Indian village of Santa Anita, which is evidently one of the show places of the canal. A nail factory situated in this village turns out about three dozen hand made nails per day, many of which are used in making the flat bottomed scows common on the canal. These are only a few of the many unusual scenes present in the picture.

"The Game of Golf" (Paramount-Bray).

In the 129th issue of the Picturegraph will be found an illustration of how to become proficient at the game of golf. In it Alexander Smith twice winner of the National Open Championship and holder of four metropolitan and twelve other championships, and one of the game's greatest exponents, demonstrates how to do the thing right. Beginning with the proper grip of the club on and through the drive, the approach and the hazard shots he points out the right and the wrong way of playing golf.

"Making Concrete" (Universal).

In the 81st issue of the Screen Magazine will be found a clear illustration of the manufacture of concrete. First we are shown the great sand hill where the basic ingredient is obtained. Then comes the removal of the sand to the conveyor, with closeup views of sand conveyor and cement conveyor. The great tank in which the cement, sand and water are mixed is next shown, and also the block-forming machine which stamps out the blocks. The blocks of concrete are then taken to the drying room from whence they are transported to the store yards.

"Scientific Poultry Production" (Universal).

Scientific methods of rearing poultry are shown in the 81st issue of the Screen Magazine. This film comes from the United States Department of Agriculture and shows the method of trap-nesting hens which affords a means of knowing which hens are earning their keep and which are not. When laying hens is removed from the trap nest and the number of her leg band marked on her egg and credited to her on the trap record. The eggs for the incubator are carefully selected and separated according to the hens' ages and placed in the proper incubator. When the hatch is completed each chick is weighed, toe-panched and banded with duplicate bands. The packing of eggs for the parcel post delivery is also shown.

The Patriotic Point of View

National Education Association and Community Center Association at Pittsburgh Convention Laud Moving Picture Service.

The use of motion pictures by educators and social agencies was given a decided impetus at the joint conference of the National Education Association and the Community Center Association in Pittsburgh at the convention held July 2 through July 5, 1918. For the first time motion pictures were discussed in a dignified and adequate fashion as valuable medium for instructional, entertainment, Americanization and patriotic purposes. An entire morning session of the Community Center Conference was devoted to the subject. Orrin G. Cocks, of the National Board of Review, presided and presented the principal address. The Convention listened also to M. A. Beeman, Associate Director of the Committee on Public Information at Washington; William Horton Foster, Vice-President of the Community Motion Picture Bureau; and R. E. Hieronymus, Community Advisor of the University of Illinois.

All the speakers paid high tribute to the whole-hearted service of the motion picture industry in aiding the United States Government both in developing a unity of war will at home and in the successful prosecution of the war. No other national industry has placed its powers and product so completely at the disposal of the government. These have been used in the training camps and in the theatres of the country for developing accurate knowledge of American war spirit, of aroused democracy and of American preparedness, both as in the Allied and neutral countries abroad. This assistance to the governmental agencies has many times approached the limit of generosity in prices, new motion picture prints and skilled technical assistance.

The patriotic service of the film companies in cooperation with the Committee on Public Information, the cantonments, the Y. M. C. A., the great war fund drives, ship launching and the operation of Government commissions was also discussed.

Still another phase of war activity commanded the enthusiastic applause of the Convention. This occurred when there was a display by the managers of the motion picture industry in helping to brighten the spirits of the American people by concentrating the abilities of directors, actors and exhibitors on cheerful, daily, fun-compelling and absorbing stories. These unusual photoplays had assisted mightily in lightening the strain of the American people and in preserving a moral balance and poise.

The subject of the use of motion pictures in Americanization of the foreign-born was also discussed. Because the motion pictures are still a new medium in which it is not easily understood, it becomes the most powerful agent for awakening the whole people to think and act for democracy. Every community, therefore, makes a mistake not to study what the people want and to draw them together on the basis of their lights rather than to attempt to dictate from above what they ought to enjoy.

This group of educators and social workers received as a new light the fact that the eyes of every one of these people were more important social agents than themselves. The discussion indicated a determination on their part to attempt to develop a great spirit of co-operation with the exhibitors of the country in accomplishing the common war purpose.

---

Maybe Stone Has It?

Film Library Which May Interest Many—Special Scenes Including Four Reels on Life in Western Siberia and Alaska.

The slogan “maybe Stone has it” is more or less well known among the trade. Abram Stone, a diligent and industrious pioneer in American motion pictures, made an expedition into Siberia and is behind it, and can be located at his office on the eighth floor at 145 West 45th Street, New York City any day. For some time Mr. Stone has been collecting a library of interesting films of travel, news, scientific, industrial, military, zoological and other subjects. At the present time he has on hand an attractive collection of scenes collected by the Harvard Museum Siberia-Arctic Expedition showing life among the natives of Alaska and Siberia as well as the Aleutian Islands. Gold mining at Nome, and reindeer herding on St. Lawrence Island are among the many interesting features of these pictures.

In a catalogue prepared by Mr. Stone for the guidance of his patrons will be found listed a large number of unusual subjects for which the educationist might look long and fail to find in the ordinary channels.

---

Johnston Brings Pictures of Cannibals

For Two Years Explorer-Photographer Traveled Among Savage Tribes of South Pacific.

ACTUATED by a craving for adventure and the desire to record the manners and customs of the last stronghold of cannibalism, Martin Johnston set out from San Francisco and made brief stops at Honolulu and Samoa in 1912. He went to Sydney, Australia, this time was devoted to laying in a supply of looking-glasses, calico, knives, tobacco, pipes, cast-off clothing of all kinds, including several crates of old hats and caps for use in dressing the savages. Then the voyage was resumed aboard a little trading steamer which landed him in the Solomon Islands after a two-weeks trip.

From here for months one adventure followed another. Traveling in small whaleboats, whaleboats and canoes Mr. Johnston covered 18,000 miles among the Solomon, New Hebrides Islands and he sailed as far north as the Leaneuwa Lagoon among the Line Islands.

Assistance and protection was furnished his expedition by government officials in the form of twenty-five native soldiers and fifty barrier boys. With this bodyguard he went among people who had never seen white men before. A fresh water lake was discovered in the interior of a large unexplored island; a group of artificial islands were explored—Islands manufactured from stones and shells in the middle of the Pacific; a lagoon inhabited by 782 primitive natives was photographed. Here the natives thought they were only islanders on the face of the earth. In the New Hebrides the savages were seen burying their old people alive.

After a year's adventure Mr. Johnston set out in an open whaleboat for an unexplored island to study a race of cannibals known as the “Big Numbers.” On this trip Mr. Johnston insisted on going. They were captured by cannibals and rescued by the timely arrival of a British man-o-war. This experience, after being within fifteen minutes of the roasting stones, so unsettled and unnerved the explorers that they were forced to leave the island.

Lucky Mr. Johnston set out from America with the idea of remaining at the first Mission Station, while Mr. Johnson journeyed on among the cannibals, but at each station he begged to go on just a little further, with the result that she has experienced more adventure than the average man does in a lifetime. They two cruised among the reefs of coral for nearly two years.

The animated picture record of this journey which Mr. Rothapfel is presenting at the Rivoli for the first time on any screen was made entirely by Mr. Johnston. The scenes of island life and customs depicted should be of special interest to students of ethnology since the series embraces many extraordinary types of humanity, ranging from the beauty of the Hawaiian to the repulsive sickness of the cannibals of the Solomon and New Hebrides groups. In all nearly 60,000 feet of negative were taken.

---

Cincinnati Concern to Produce Educational Motion Pictures Company of Middle West to Bend Efforts Toward Filming Subjects of National Interest.

ACCORDING to Kenneth C. Crain, correspondent for the Moving Picture World, the Cincinnati Motion Picture Company which for several years, under the direction of President Clarence Runey, has been highly successful in the production of news and industrial moving pictures, has announced a departure of considerable importance and interest, involving ambitious plans for future production and distribution. The company has decided to give up making local news pictures, and will no longer issue the weekly news film which it has been getting out since 1910. Hereafter it will devote its facilities to the production of educational subjects of national interest, with the entire country as its distribution field. In order to put its distribution on a businesslike and efficient basis from the start, the company has secured the services of C. C. Hite to handle its distribution, and Mr. Hite has taken quarters at 109 West Fifth street, where he has leased an entire floor for this purpose. He is widely known among exhibitors and film men in the Middle West, having been manager in Cincinnati for some of the leading concerns in filmdom, including the Mutual, Goldwyn, Jewel and Triangle companies. The company, with its own plant, for the production of everything necessary to handle a picture, from the film to the paper, will be prepared to get out the advertising matter to go with its pictures, and will shortly announce forthcoming releases.

---

GEORGE D. BAKER PLAYS SIMON LEGREE.

Metro's manager of productions at his west coast studios in Hollywood shows how cool he can be with Metro stars and supporting players. He even invade the nursery to play the slave driver. But he isn't half as vicious as he seems in this photo. From left to right: George D. Baker, Rhea Mitchell, Anna Q. Nilsson, Bert Lytell, Rosemary Theby and little Joey Jacobs.
Prepare to Produce.

Prepare to "produce" your picture instead of merely "presenting" it. Evidently novelty in story is not often to be looked for, and it must supply the demand. It is manifestly impossible to follow in the footsteps of such men as S. Harret McCormick and Harold D. Franklin. The average exhibitor is not a studio at his command, nor could be the cost of making a heavy production for each two or three-day run. For this reason undue space has not been given to such productions, but enough has been used to show the general line of presentation. The smaller houses cannot compete with the two thousand seat house, and to attempt to do so would merely invite failure, yet much can be done with comparatively little running cost and not a very great initial outlay. Taking a suggestion from the dramatic theaters, much can be done with white or light hangings and variously colored lights. Take, for example, the strong tragic story. The stage is displayed with white drapes on which play brightly colored lights, gradually deepening in tone to the darker shades of blue, or purple. This fade into blacks as the lights go down. The audience is in a proper mood for the heavy story. On the other hand, beginning dark and working up to the brighter tints, will pave the way for a comedy or comedy-drama. The initial cost of wiring the lighting system to be able to gain the desired results, for while white violet lights best, it will be found that cheesecloth will serve as well and is less costly. Building up on this, lantern slides can be employed to throw flowers or conventional patterns on the drapings, cloud effects can be worked, and you can even get the effect of a stage setting, with a cloth of drapery, working a siren of speaker in front of the cloth, but to one side. From this it is a comparatively easy step into an introductory scene with a house setting and a few simple properties. Special music, of course, is to be used for these effects, and the effects may merely be used to augment the music at the start. Begin slowly and that will give you more room in which to improve your displays. At the start any departure from the bare stage and blank screen will suffice, but with a little thought you will find that you can greatly improve the picture. To give a concrete example, let us take Tarzan of the Apes. It will be recalled that this opened with a silhouette of the boy Tarzan against the evening sky. Open with your whites and amber, tinted slightly with red. Use some smooth-flowing music and work the bird call, perhaps open into this with more the orchestra or organ comes in. Increase the red while you gradually throw off the whites, then dim the amber while the red grows stronger, then bring in the blues while the red lessens. In the end you are left with the scene as the moonlight, then flash the title (the lights being so low as to permit it to be read), and when you come to the opening scene cut off the lights. By properly tinting the KAISER or the background, the white lights will not detract from the picture. Unless you can use a dimmer for each color it would be better to have the lights put in two or three colors in each section. It will be thirler, and the effect would be better, though rheostats are more costly. With a little experimenting you will find that you can gain surprisingly good color effects without trouble.

Poor Business.

The Central theater, Atlantic City, N. J., seems either to be misinformed or misinforming. It is a five-cent house, and in an effort to create "runs" for its attractions it gets away from the facts. It says, for example, that Tarzan of the Apes played two weeks at the Victoria and one at the Palace, Philadelphia, though it did not play the Palace, and a week at the Rialto in New York, ignorant of the six-weeks' run at the Bioscope. To cap the climax, it adds, "This is big production and should draw as well as 'The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin.'" This is poor argument. But the limit is reached when, in announcing the war-news reel, it adds, "Please note that any of you happen to see any of your boys in these pictures if you will report it at the box office we'll be only too glad to give you a film clipping. Since the film is rented and not purchased, we think that the offer is dishonest. There is entirely too much film-clipping being done by operators, but if some scene with a New Jersey regiment comes along, the reel is apt to go back to the exchange minus a scene or two. It is easy to be generous with the property of others, but it is hardly honest business.

Use the Lobby.

Don't forget that your lobby is just as much a part of your advertising campaign as is the newspaper display or the lithographs you use. More than that, it is the most important advertisement you offer. It is easy to be generous with the property of others, but it is more permanent. You would fire a ticket-seller who came to work every day with a soiled waist and unwashed face, but that is no worse than letting the front of your lobby become dirty and accumulative on your permanent lobby display. Keep your frames polished or painted, have the glass polished, not merely washed, and see that the floor is clean. People judge the inside of a house by its exterior, and most often they are right. Make certain that the judgment in the case of your house is in your own favor.

From a Truant.

It has been a long time since D. Fil佐ia, of the Theaterette, Fort Scott, Kansas, has been in, but better late than never, and he sends in his "The Kaiser" campaign. He changed copy every day, except that his opening advertisement, shown here, was repeated in the weekly. This was a five tens and was run three days before the showing. The two twelves alongside were run the following day, and the day before the showing the thirties to the left of the second cut were used. The same space was taken for the opening day, but was dropped to three tens for the second and third days. The last day's advertisement is not shown in the series. It announces the last chance to see the picture and calls attention to the heavy business of the first day, urging all to get in who can. The Tuesday advertisement announces a special children's matinee for Wednesday at which the price is but fifteen cents, including the war tax, and the price is properly announced as "15c, war tax 2e, total 15c." Instead of "Fifteen cents, including the war tax," which has been held to be misleading. It is not a "war tax," but the price of the newspaper. The entire county was billed with window cards, half-sheets, ones and threes, and a cleanup was made. Mr. Fil佐ia wants to know what we think of the copy and display. We think that in the opening day we would have put the "Allen enemies keep away" in big type clear across the space directly under the house name or else in the center of the space. The same holds good for the "Police Take Notice" in the next advertisement. He has done better with the "Blood-curdling
Steve Farrar's Campaign.

Steve Farrar, of the Casino, Eldorado, Ill., is busy these days, for he had his manager at the Orpheum, Harrisburg, Ill., drafted and now he has to run the two shows. The towns are only nine miles apart, and there is trolley service every hour. It is some jump at that. Steve sends in his campaign for "Over the Top." It played three days in each house, a record for the towns, and the campaign is interesting because it shows what can be done in a small town. He writes:

I am enclosing you the newspaper ads I used; they are not the best in the world, but remember I have to depend on the stuff the exchanges furnish. I cannot even use a mast; must have a cut, so I think these ads are fair examples of what it takes to get the business in a small town; anyway, they broke my house records in both towns. I often look at the stuff Ruffner and McCormick send in and wish that I could get out of that kind, but it's impossible with the material I have to work with; so I just do the best I can with what I have. Let me know what you think of this layout.

Steve is pretty much up against things, but he doesn't let that worry him. Instead of deciding that he cannot do very much because he lacks facilities, he stands about getting as much as he can with what is offered. He started in ten days before the show opened with half-pages. They blank the current show a little, perhaps, but Steve figures that if he gets the feature over big he'll be making business for a long time to come. That is what the sensation features are for. They are apt to hurt the business for the preceding week, if properly advertised; but if the show gets over big it makes people think for weeks to come that the house is the home of big things. The first advertisement is rather full, but Steve knew that it would be read, and he told all about it in the first announcement. The real announcement is contained in the upper half of the first advertisement shown. That gives the dates, announces the subject and the pictures, and is sole interest. It is the case in that you can read down for further details, but that much of the opening gun sticks. The second display is also a half-page, but it carries less type, for now less type is needed. He has to stick to the

Casino Theatre, Mon., Tues., Wed., June 17, 18, 19
To Hell With the Kaiser!

Let's all be true-loyal Americans now and go-

"OVER THE TOP"

Vigilant's Stupefying 9-Point Photoplay of What America is Up Against "Over There"

If this picture does not arouse enthusiasm in any heart, then that heart is not American!

TWO SHOWS EACH NIGHT, 6:15 AND 8:15
15 Cents •• ADMISSION or 30 Cents

trade-mark-cut of the charging soldier which is used on all of Empey's stuff, but he adds another to the more novel cut to the left. He steals the Metro's thunder with his catchline, but no one has prior rights on that popular phrase. The display stands out well, but we think it would have been better had the printer left a little more space between the title and the lines above and below. The line following could have been reduced without serious loss of efficiency, but for small-town typesetting it is by no means a bad job. Letter on the cut is cut down to a three sevens. According to the rule this space is far too full of type, but as a matter of fact it is a well-set display. The wide eight-line type might be criticized, but they have been leaded and are more easily read than would be the case were there no space between the lines.

The Who and What of "OVER THE TOP" EMPEY EMPEY entered this world at Ogden, Utah, December 11, 1895. He has childhood on a ranch near Ogden, Utah, and was educated in the public schools of Ogden, Utah, where he was a successful football and baseball player.

Dig in start as a soldier and soldier of fortune at the age of seventeen when he joined a当作 for a trip of a year and six months, a trip which ended in a "Sagazine" expedition that took them a few miles from home and into many perilous experiences.

Put in three years of service, six years in the regular U.S. Army, saw active service on the Mexican border in 1911 and in the near future, five years in the Italian army and three years in the Italian navy, where he served as a marine, became the leader of a large group of men, and many postwar experiences.

Elected to the Baseball League of London, in December, 1915, to manage the entire of the island, went to France and stayed there for many months in the front line, became the leader of a large group of men, and many postwar experiences.

EARNEST for America to war on the side of civilisation and when the war came he was active, went "Over The Top," an age of the thrills, recruited thousands of men, and many postwar experiences. Put his money in Liberty Bonds, raised over $15,000 for "Bombs" funds and went through the Vagabond Trail of "Over The Top," and put his money in Liberty Bonds, raised over $15,000 for "Bombs" funds and went through the Vagabond Trail of "Over The Top.,"

"OVER THE TOP" Will Be Shown 3 Days At The CASINO BEGINNING JUNE 17TH Better still, the stars separate the paragraphs and still further kill the suggestion that there is too much to read. It is one of the best examples of the use of a considerable amount of small type that we have ever seen in these pages. It will pay to study it. The next example is a cross-page strip five inches deep, used for the Harrisburg house. Evidently it follows the opening announcements. For Harrisburg Steve seems to have preferred the cross-strips. The bare repetition of the title is sufficient. The next strip shows a utilization of Ralph Ruffner's "apology" adapted to the current need. Taken in conjunction with a glowing newspaper criticism nearly a column in length, it fed business nicely and drove home the suggestion that those who waited lost their chance. For the last night the advertising was split into two separate advertisements of two fours each. That on the left is also an adaptation of one of Ruffner's suggestions and trilled nicely with the work of the preceding day, and Steve adds his own touch with a six-point "That's our little piece" at the bottom of the text and just above the house signature. Almost as good is the other advertisements, "You'll be sorry tomorrow if you miss this show tonight." The first half of the phrase is strong enough to call for display type. Lately we have shown a lot of campaigns by Mc Cormick, Ruffner, and others, but this is interesting as showing what a live wire can do who has practically nothing but hustle to back up the brain. He cannot afford to have designs drawn, he cannot have special cuts made, he must take what he can get and provide the rest out of his own head. It is an old-timer, and the idea did not scare him a bit. He took what cuts he could get from the exchange and did the rest with type. Steve is one of the oldest contributors to this department, as well as of the oldest readers, and what he reads helps him to do better work. He does not hesitate to use what he finds here because he knows that is what they are put here for, and he does not hesitate to give up his own ideas—and he has contributed many. He knows this department to merely an exchange of ideas, and he puts more in than he takes out, but he takes what he can use knowing that it will be brand new in his town, and it helps him to clean up with a feature that must be advertised adroitly if it is to clean up. He played to three days' big business in each of two towns. He got the money, and better still, he got the credit that comes from packed houses. Many do not realize it, but a turnover of the best possible advertisement a house can have. People do not stand in line before the house that lacks attractions. Patronage is the stamp of merit as well as of success, and what Steve has done other small-town managers can do as well.

Words of Wisdom
Here is some good talk from a late English Triangle booklet. It holds just as good this side of the pond as it does in England. Presumably it is by Philip Wright Whitlecome, or at least it is in his style. It runs:

"We are running a motion picture theater, but you are not a showman or a circus proprietor. You are a seat salesman, and you are appealing to an intelligent class of people—people who know just as much about motion pictures as you do, and who want to see the best pictures you can show."

The average exhibitor overestimates the fact that a thorough knowledge of his pictures is absolutely necessary if he would advertise them effectively, and that a certain amount of intelligent advertising is equally necessary. There may be a certain scene in a picture that alone is worth the price of admission, but your public has no way of finding this out until it flashes by them on the screen, unless you advertise it beforehand. A real appreciation of the picture by your patrons is essential to their satisfactory entertainment.

Too much of the advertising done is non-committal, and this is particularly true of the program stuff. It is clearly apparent that the advertiser has no real knowledge of the picture he is going to show, and this seems none too certain of the actual wording of the title. He gets off some glittering generality that does not rouse interest in the least, and lets it go at that. It is definite talk of the films that makes business. Know what you're talking about.

Uses Red Ink
The Kinema, Fresno, Cal., uses the red impression of the press for tint block work and gets unusual results. Advertisements printed in red and black type are not uncommon, but we do not recall having seen before the use of the red foras to make a list as the basis of the advertisement, yet there are many presses, even in the smaller cities, equipped for two-color work, and a little study and some added expense will get unusual results. The illustration will not reproduce as red and black have an almost similar setnic value, but the idea is to use the color as a ground for the display of the black type.

A NEW HELP FOR MANAGERS

Picture Theatre Advertising

By EPES WINTHROP SARGENT (Continued of Advertising for Exhibitors in the Moving Picture Word)

A TEXT BOOK AND A HANDBOOK, a compendium and a guide. It tells all about advertising, about type and type-setting, printing and paper, how to run the house, how to frame your newspaper advertisement, how to write form letters, posters or throwaways, how to make your house an advertisement, how to get public notice. A book with an American accent. It is not weather and rainy days. All practical because it has helped others. It will help you. By mail, postpaid, $2.00. Order from nearest office.

Moving Picture World, 516 Fifth Avenue, New York
Schiller Building
Wright & Callander Building
Chicago, Ill.
Los Angeles, Cal.
Manufacturers' Notice.

I f all established rule of this department that no apparatus or other goods will be listed or recommended editorially until the excellence of such articles has been demonstrated to its editor.

Important Notice.

Owing to the mass of matter awaiting publication, it is impossible to reply through the department in less than two to three weeks. In order to give prompt service, therefore, sending four cents, stamps (less than actual cost), will receive a copy of the department by mail, without delay. Special replies by mail on matters which cannot be replied to in the department, one dollar.

Both the first and second sets of questions are now ready and printed in neat booklet form in the second half being seventy-six in number. Either booklet may be had by remitting 25 cents, money or stamps, to the editor, or both for 40 cents. Cannot use Canadian stamps.

Every live, progressive operator should get a copy of these questions. You may be surprised at the number you cannot answer without a lot of study.

Gone, But Not Forgotten.

From Alex A. Macdonald, secretary Local Union 407, Halifax, Nova Scotia, comes the following sad news:

A. E. Wall, chairman of the Nova Scotia Board of Moving Picture Censors, passed away at 3 A. M., Wednesday, June 19. The immediate cause of death was pneumonia, which followed an operation for appendicitis.

The late A. E. Wall was a personal one to all of us, and we feel it deeply. Aside from this sad happening we are all well and working. The local is going along the straight and narrow path which leads, we hope, to success and better things in the days to come. The future of Halifax looks bright.

This news was in the nature of a shock. A. E. Wall was of the salt of the earth. He was a member in high standing in the Ancient and Accepted Order of Good Fellows. Square as a die and straight as a string, he was one of those men whom every honest man was proud and glad to call friend. I am sorry. I shall miss something when next I visit Halifax, and that something will be the warm handclasp, the honest welcome and heartening smile of A. E. Wall. May he rest in peace.

Perforated Shutter Blades.

California wants to know:

What is your opinion with regard to a shutter with perforated blades, or one with colored blades, which will not entirely darken the screen. Does it give more light on the screen or lessen the flicker by not having such a total change from light to darkness as is the case where a solid blade is used?

This question is an old one, but is re-explained for the benefit of the newsmen in the business. Yes, perforated shutter blades do lessen the flicker, as do also colored, semi-transparent blades, but it is at the expense of injury to the highlights of the picture. Where a perforated blade is used the picture looks gray and dull in proportion to the number and size of perforations and brilliancy of the projection light. With colored blades the effect is much the same, except that it is in color. There is exception where certain very dark tints of two colors are used. Projectorist Wood, formerly of the Market Street theatre in San Francisco, used such a shutter, which worked very fine, but it was a matter of very careful selection of tints and colors, and no others would do. Aside from the Woods shutter I know of none which will work the slightest improvement as against the solid metal blade shutter.

Butcher Splices.

Fredric Brockman, Triumph, Minnesota, orders question booklets and says:

I am a student of handbook and projection department, and I do not go to the cellar to study them either. Have cut down my shutter to match local conditions; also have my optical system matched it so that I can cut down my ports. Am running a Power's six-A. It needs some overhauling, but I am sorry to say that friend Boss cannot see it that way. It has had no repairs to amount to anything since its installation about three years ago. You may therefore imagine what is needed. Am studying all the time to improve my work. Have the following in my technical library:

Hawkins' Guides, Hawkins' Electrical Dictionary, Richardson's Handbook (the best of 'em all, by the way). Optic Projection, I. C. S. Electrical Engineers' book, three books on mathematics, six on chemistry, three on drawing and design and one mathematics and applied electricity.

Why not recommend works on physics as study books? They could give good dope on light, optics and electricity. I also own my own tools. Am enclosing some fine examples of butcher-spliced film received from the Metro and Vitagraph Minneapolis exchange. Jimmy the usher must have had all, with the assistance of the kind-hearted janitor. In closing I desire to tender my sincere thanks for the aid I have received through this handbook and the room in the theatre.

The splices vary from plain punk to awful, with two tackled together in a pin. The Minneapolis exchange named must inspect its reels by looking hastily on both sides of them if this is a fair sample. As to height of pressure you get to of course mean the less ports, there are two ways of reducing, and while both are with one is better than the other. If you cut down the port itself, then reduce it to exactly the size of the actual light ray. But the better way is to do the reducing at the aerial image of the condenser. You may find this by several methods, but the better way is to hold a piece of black paper, such as comes around photographic plates, in front of the projection lens, at the point where the condenser is in sharp focus. You can aid the determination of this point by slipping a rough-edged mit of metal down in front of and against the front surface of the front condenser. You may also find the above in the local. But a main feature of this six is, the one is very close together and the thing is done. Most certainly your machine should be overhauled. Your employer is in error. The audience pays to see that which you are playing on the screen and anything which lowers the screen result lowers box office receipts, and most certainly a badly worn projector injures screen results; also it is quite possible for a projector with worn sprockets to do quite enough damage to films every day to pay for new sprockets, and this adds to the overhead expense of the industry, which your boss and all other bosses must inevitably pay in one or another way. Let me again recommend recommending books on physics, why I have and do, but it is so very hard to get projectionists to study even the bare essential things that I have about given up expecting them to go that far. The man who is progressive will study, and his study will necessarily include physics, because it is there that he gets an elementary knowledge of light accounting. The other fellow I sometimes get very weary of talking to or bothering with at all.

Ventilation Problem.

W. J. Herbes, Lindsay, Nebraska, has a ventilation problem which he describes as follows:

Will you kindly give us a little light on the following ventilation problem. We have a brick building 25x60 feet, with an 11-foot ceiling. We have just installed a 16-inch, four-blade exhaust fan, manufactured by the base people, and purchased from the Exchange Supply Company of Chicago. Have placed the fan in position as indicated in drawing, but it does not seem to have the result it should have. Probably we are expecting too much of it. What should this fan do for us and what suggestions would you offer?

If you have a handbook and will turn to page 631, you will find a discussion on this problem. It will enable you to get the correct facts of use, just what size fan you need. Of course the amount of air moved in a given time will depend upon many things, such as its temperature, humidity, size, type and speed of fan. Your proper course would have been to secure your fan from a ventilated company, or else direct from the fan manufacturer. By giving them the plan of the theater and size of the building they would have been able to tell you what is necessary for you need, and suggest proper place for its installation. As it is, you have the fan directly over the main entrance, which is not good practice, since it will expend at least a portion of its energy pulling in air through the entrance door, when it is open, right up and out again. The fan should have been near the ceiling, and sending down fresh air to the floor of the theater. You have 25,600 feet of 10,000 cubic feet of air to move. The usual rule is to provide 25 to 30 feet of fresh air per person per minute. In fact, this is the requirement generally conceded as necessary to provide healthful conditions. Now suppose you seat 200. It would then be necessary to move 200x25=5,000 cubic feet of air per minute. This means that you would have to change the air in your theater every (16,900x5,000) 3.3 minutes. Now, applying the chart necessary or desirable, such as footage, number of subject or reel, producing corporation and part number. Insofar as we can remember, this is the first reel in which this desirable feature has been incorporated in workable form. It is the invention of F. W. Weeks, and is being placed on the market by a concern known as the Pencil Reel Company, with offices in New York City. The reel has already been fully covered by patents. One side of its outer surface carries a card, upon which the above data may be inscribed. The card is so arranged that it becomes a permanent part of the reel, though there is means provided whereby the card may be replaced should it become damaged. The writing is intended to be done with a pencil, which will provide record of sufficient durability for practical purposes, yet may be readily erased when the reel is to be used for a different subject. The card material is such that pencil marks may be erased, or wiped off by merely rubbing with a wet finger tip, just as the mark of a slate pencil is rubbed out. This may be done any number of times without injuring the card surface. The card will take ink. When desired, a card for ink will be provided. Carbon copies of titles, etc., may be made upon typewriting machine and used as reel labels. This reel is otherwise the same as any other good reel, and the special recording feature adds little or nothing to cost of manufacture. The new feature appears to have very distinct value, hence the Pencil Reel is respectfully recommended to exhibitors and producers for their favorable consideration. It looks good to this department.

Another Side to the Matter.

Some time ago I replied to B. A. Auchinbauch, who is principal of the Minro, Ohio, public schools, and who wrote succeeding a form of handbook along lines similar to the handbook Henry Ford put out with his automobile, by saying I would have no care put out a book which would make "trouble finding" too easy, preferring one the study of which would equip the learner with real knowledge sufficient to dictate trouble when it appeared. The Ford automobile handbook is so made up that one looks for a heading such as, for instance, "Knots in Engines," and there finds the various possible causes and remedy for each. Mr. Auchinbauch now says:

The position you assume with regard to the handbook is acceptable, at least from the viewpoint of the professional theatrical projectionist. I must therefore assume there is little or no hope for relief for that greater number of projectionists who are bound to materialize as the public schools of the nation take up motion pictures for educational purposes, and for entertainment purposes in small, rural communities not blessed with a theater. In my own case, it would be very interesting with a boy of 12 I was able to do what I did. I had a small study of projects from the professional standpoint under some competent projectionist. But this is not practical, if for no other reason than that there are, as far as I know, so much in this vicinity. I am myself an amateur, although criticism by others seems to indicate I have the best of professionals in this view as concerns results. Unfortunately my various school duties are so strenuous that I have little time to devote to a comprehensive study of projection, or even to look for trouble in our projectors. Usually there is not the time to give them a cursory looking over, see that all is well in the engine room, and, if not, fix it; all things up, see that the ticket and machine and is regular and there is no reason for a thing to begin. We usually pack our auditorium, holding 500, every Friday night. Under these conditions don't you think such a beginner as I have trained might find several questions as to both the machines and films are the property of others, and so regard them. Have you yet to have the first kick from an exchange. Use Paramount Aircraft and Fox Standards almost entirely now. Am buying a new American Standard to replace the one which annoyed me by "bobbing" the picture up and down. Have trained and taught one of the little boys to replace the fan reels on takeup and very loose takeup tension, but the screen result from this machine still does not suit me.

The matter involved is indeed a serious one. It is quite true that whether we like it or do not like it there are going to be thousands of projectors handled by school teachers. The point may be raised, and in fact has been raised, that the schools should employ professional projectionists, but the point is the lack of sufficient professionals, but by the further fact that city schools in all human probability will not employ a projectionist for each class on account of the cost of all this effort, and most certainly the smaller village and rural schools neither can or will employ any projectionists, as such, at all. The logical outcome is an amateur or preferably a hand-up, and the school teacher a projectionist in at least an amateur way. And this state of affairs, which is a condition, not a theory, lays a burden of duty on my shoulders, because a refusal to do shoulders because a refusal to do anything possible to make these teachers put on a better picture would work hardship on our schools—a thing not to be for one instant thought of. I shall therefore give the matter of what might be termed a handbook for amateurs very serious consideration.

As to lessening an up and down movement on the screen by using large hub reels and lose takeup tension, why, that is a new one on me. As to other comments, I will write somewhat favorably with that of professionals in so far as concerns screen results, why that is the one most important thing. In fact, it is the whole thing as applied to the producer and the public. The rest of it concerns necessary wear and damage to equipment and to films, which is often very, very high. In closing, let me say that if our professional projectionists as a whole took half the interest friend Auchinbauch takes in projection there would very soon be a different state of affairs in the presentation of the photography.

Of No Value.

N. J. Eilard, Toronto, Ontario, asks for information as to speed of projection when conventional. Says he has this dope for ordinary Simplex, but wants it for other types of projector and for the Power's.

Some information would have little or no value, because it could not and would not be a fixed quantity. You might measure the speed of a projector with the control lever set in a certain notch, and find it to be appreciably different two minutes later, or you might measure a machine in Toronto and one exactly like it in Cleveland, Ohio, only to find a different result. In the first instance the variation would be due to unstable line voltage, and in the second, to the fact that there may be a difference of several volts in Toronto and Cleveland line voltage, even though nominally supposed to be 110 in both cases. This is particularly true when current is taken through a transformer, which may or may not serve to aggravate a too-low or too-high line voltage. It is for this reason that this department has never given out data of that sort. One can assume it is possible, and we realize the evil that is found in the fact that incorrect data, or data which is not correct by reason of uncontrollable variation, is bad, because others accept it as correct, only to find there is something wrong.

Projector Experience

For Managers and Operators

By F. H. RICHARDSON

The renowned standard book on the work of projectionists. Clear and easy to read, with over 1,000 illustrations and over 100 pages of practical information. MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Ehrlich Bldg.
516 Fifth Ave.
Wright & Chamberlins Bldg.
Chicago, Ill.
1173 N. Wabash Ave.
Los Angeles, Calif.

To save time, order from nearest office.
Music for the Picture

Conducted by GEORGE W. BEYNON

August 3, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

677

Notice.

QUESTIONS regarding music, addressed to this department, will receive a carbon copy of the department's reply by mail, when 4 cents are enclosed. Special replies by mail on matter which cannot be answered in this column $1.00.

Let's Sing!

THROUGHOUT the length and breadth of this great land there is a wave of enthusiasm spreading for what is called community singing. Wherever one goes, in hamlet, village and city, one finds the people gathering together to lift their voices in song. The army and navy have taken it up because they have found that song gives inspiration, and inspiration means deeds of valor. During these depressing times people need the good cheer of music.

There is a peculiarity of the American nation probably not found in any other country. We all have an abundance of patriotic brawn, but not one in a thousand can sing them correctly. All know the "tune," but few have memorized the words. We la-di-da them, getting in a word here and there, and sing the melody histrionically because we know the song is something about America. There are a few gifted singers who really know the first verse of THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER, AMERICA, and perhaps THE BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC, but if called upon to sing further they would be forced to confess their ignorance.

There is nothing so inspiring as the singing of our national airs by a large congregation of people who understand what they are singing about. Nothing draws them so close together in their communal interest as the opportunity to make the music "safe for democracy." The lyrics of these songs are just as inspiring as the melodies, and every citizen and citizenship should know them by heart.

WHAT BETTER PLACE FOR COMMUNITY SINGING OF PATRIOTIC SONGS THAN THE PICTURE THEATERS? (Grand pause for breathe— and effect.) Gentlemen, be seated. There is no cause for alarm nor is the building on fire. Starting it as the question may seem its affirmative answer is practicable, feasible, and much to be desired.

Let the public get thrilling! The first three verses of THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER, four verses of AMERICA, three of COLUMBIA, THE GEM OF THE OCEAN, three of THE BATTLE HYMN, and two of MAMBRINO THE BRAVE, LEVI, will be sung by a chorus each night, or each performance, as he may decide, and it will not be long before the American people will know these well enough to sing them. It is a rare occasion that gives opportunity for their use. The picture theater is well equipped for this wonderful, educational project. The congregation is self supplied, the orchestra or organ will play the accompaniment, and all will be interested in procuring the necessary slides. Little time will be taken in the singing of one number, and it should not seriously break into the theater schedule.

There are many reasons why motion picture theaters should take up the suggestion. In the first place your people will like it. It may be necessary at first to obtain the services of professional singers to lead them, as there seems to prevail a timidity among the laity to show their vocal accomplishments in public. Notwithstanding this fact, they will enjoy it, and praise the patriotism which prompts it. In the second place, it will add yet another laurel wreath to the head of the fifth industry because of its musical educational facilities. The picture theater has played so small a part in bringing to the masses who love music all the works of the masters rendered in a musicianly manner by the best possible means. This has already borne fruit by creating a deeper appreciation for the better class of music. Why not teach them our national songs?

Another and perhaps the strongest reason for adopting the suggestion lies in its patriotic appeal. In a few weeks we will again be called upon to subscribe to the Fourth Liberty Loan. As heretofore, the motion picture industry will be counted upon to give its strong support to the movement, and we believe that the inspiration of an actual patriotic performance will be most productive in dollars freely pledged. Multitudes everywhere singing together the songs of their forefathers, songs which breathe confidence and victory, will bring that hearty response which means death to the Kaiser.

Aside from the standpoint of the innovation and placing in the background for the present the patriotic appeal the economic aspect of the plan looms up largely. The neighborhood house will find that it will enthrall itself strangely in the hearts of its clientele by giving them the opportunity of getting together in song. For the few minutes required to sing a patriotic song the theater virtually is turned over to the people for amusement, relaxation, and education. They take part in the exercises of the day, and become an integral part of the performance. Humanity is the same world over, and everybody likes to be an actor in the show.

The theaters in the villages and smaller towns will find a ready response to the new plan of community singing, and may find it advantageous to carry it further, introducing other forms of folk-songs. The large picture houses in cities dependent upon a transient trade will operate to the best results by securing an amateur choir of voices to lead the singing. This should not entail any additional expense, for singers are always glad to have the opportunity of performing a patriotic duty. There is no limit to what might be done with the assistance of trained voices. They have a box office value that cannot be overlooked.

We have no desire to turn the picture theater into a concert hall, and feel that the suggestion of community singing is not incompatible with the screen. The showing of pictures has gotten beyond the point of merely offering funny subjects to draw forth laughter. It has become a mission which comprises art, entertainment, humor, news, and education. The screen is a perfect blackboard for the teaching of any subject, and should be utilized in a process that is national and patriotic, with the added value of being altruistic.

Musical Suggestion Synopsis.

This is a mystery story with all the action in the world. You will need the usual consistent miserableness, many hurries, some dramatic tension stuff, and the average number of light "fillers." Do not bear too strongly on the theme aspect of the picture, but select only those moments in which the hero in the foreground is putting over something big. To close the picture use a number denoting triumph to signify the culmination of his hazardous exploits. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Universal exchange.

EMPTY CAB, THE (Bluebird—Five Reels)—Theme—Allegro. Suggest "La Creasee"—Hemberger, "Tale of Two Hearts"—Roberts, or "Tete-a-Tete"—De Koven.

This is a mystery story with all the action in the world. You will need the usual consistent miserableness, many hurries, some dramatic tension stuff, and the average number of light "fillers." Do not bear too strongly on the theme aspect of the picture, but select only those moments in which the hero in the foreground is putting over something big. To close the picture use a number denoting triumph to signify the culmination of his hazardous exploits. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Universal exchange.

FINGER OF JUSTICE, THE (Arrow Film Co.—Seven Reels)—Theme—Poco Allegretto. Suggest "Sweetheart Baby's Serenade"—Corl, or "The Merry Lark"—Bendix.

This picture is a big propaganda film that requires a theme for almost every character to bring out the contrasts throughout the feature. There has been arranged an admirable music score for it, and every leader should request the manager to get it for him. He will find that the music is perfect, but the difficulties, which, under a musical setting adaptation would be almost impossible, have been well handled. If you cannot get the score insist on a pre-view of this picture, as it will be out of the question to fit it properly otherwise. Scores can be obtained from the Arrow Film Co.

This is one of those homely little features that has so much heart interest that sweet music must predominate. There is a change of atmosphere from France to America, which should be carefully noted and the contrast marked. The early part of the picture is very pathetic, and sorrow must be portrayed by long selections. You cannot play this feature without reference to any of the photoplay series. Good, solid music is what you will find most effective.
Cue sheets can be obtained from the American exchange.
GOOD LOSER, A (Triangle—Five Reels)—Theme for the heroine—Anderson—"Suggestive Dialogue"—Meyers-Helmund, "Arrose"—Frey, or "Heart's Desire"—Losrey.
There is virility in this photoplay, and it must be brought out in the music. If a really top-notch cue is not on the starring music, you will certainly be heard. The feature is intensely dramatic, and big music will be required almost entirely. Notice the shooting during the card game, and the fight between the Chisaman and the boss. You will require some misterioso, a couple of big burras, and some anatases of the heavier variety. Toward the finish you will have an total of five, and some pathetic numbers—perferrably, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean." Cue sheets can be obtained from the Metro exchange.
OPPOSITES (Triangle—Five Reels)—Theme—Alletrocco. Suggest
"Caressing Butterfly"—Barbelsky, "Legend of a Rose"—Reyford, or "Moonlight Dance"—Fleisch.
This is a dramatic comedy, filled with lots of light stuff needed. There is a big scene of interest which becomes a melee, and will require some fast allegro arioso. You will need a couple of two-steps and some popular numbers to round out your program. There is a feature which will appeal to a light airliness which will in no way lead to serious thought. It is essentially an entertaining piece, and heavy stuff would be out place. Some dance steps may be needed. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Vitagraph exchange.
ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS (Vitagraph)—Theme—Moderato. Suggest "Casanovetta"—Nicole, "The Flatterer"—Charninde, or "Romance—Merleante.
Sensitivity is what you will need for this feature. It has no great dramatic value, but is filled with heart throb stuff that must be strongly portrayed by the music. You will need no burras, etc., and will do well to stick to simple, popular numbers. Cue sheets on love. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Vitagraph exchange.
OTHER MEN'S DAUGHTERS (Fox—Five Reels)—Theme—Andante.
Suggest "Valse"—Edwards, "Souvenir"—Gesell, or "To a Star"— Leonard.
This feature is intensely dramatic, and calls for big stuff in the line of music. Opening quietly with music suitable to the mood of the picture carries us rapidly to a gay party held in the studio of the father of the heroine. Here you will need a two-step, and possibly a can can dance number would be more suitable, as there is nothing vaguely dramatic, and the following events are thrilling and filled with action. Use long numbers of the heavier type, and see that they keep a smooth evenness in order that the rhythmic character of the pattern will not be detracted from the interesting portion of the picture. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Fox exchange.

Leader's Service Bureau:
Questions Answered—Suggestions Offered.

Q. In playing some orchestrations on the repeat where no D. S. or D. C. is given would you go back to the introduction or start again at the beginning of the verse?
A. When playing pictures it is always wise to omit all introductions. It gives more facility in booking, and keeps the music more even. The introductions to some arrangements should never be played more than the first time. If at all. When you have played the cue to the end you must make your repeat back to the beginning of the verse proper.

Q. Why do you consider organ accomplishments inappropriate for comedies?
A. The organ is a serious instrument noted mainly for its grandeur of quality and its depth of sound. There is nothing to be found within the frame of music necessary in playing comedies. Speed not is one of the strong features of the playing of the instrument, and in order to present the fast and spritely numbers of comedies are frequently required. This class of music does not sound well from the organ. There are orchestral organs manufactured specially for picture playing that have all the necessary traps and are good special for comedy playing. These must every requirement needed for "funny" music.

Q. I have added "Educational" to my program. What style of music do you suggest for this feature?
A. The old way of fitting scenes in pace. Waiters no longer are found adequate, if you will return to your back files of the Moving Figure Woman would make a very subject on page 1603 of the issue of February 23, 1918. Although this matter did not receive the fullest possible treatment it will serve your needs for the present, and we will be glad to deal more fully with the subject if you encounter serious obstacles.

Q. Please give me a few suggestions for playing "death bed scenes."

I have used "Asa's Tod" until it has become hackneyed, and I cannot seem to get anything better. And now I am playing "Ingerslev's" and want something else. Would like to have some "death bed" music by title. Look for a slow sadante pathetic and you will find many very adaptable selections. We suggest the following numbers as possible for deeper grief.
1. "Adagio Cantabile"—Straus
2. "The Last Hope"—Gottschalk
3. "A Ketty's Return to Home"—Verdi
4. "Nocturne"—Krzyzanowski
5. "La Melancholie"—Pruitt
6. "Consonatno"—Liszt

There are many others, but will give you an idea of what to look for.

Q. Do you believe in the use of French horns in a combination of eight instrumments?
A. We do not. They have no place in such a small orchestra.

Q. Many musicians today are asked to double saxophone, cello, banjo, or banjorine. Are these instruments used in theater work, or only in dance orchestras?
A. They are only used in dance orchestras in order to gain a jazz effect. Some theaters have experimented with them to obtain a variety of color, but have found that they are not effective in serious effects.
If you have, musicians who can double on those instrumintns an excellent effect is practical in the playing of the kabaret scenes and dance halls.

Q. What is the ideal eight-piece combination for picture work?
A. Piano, harmonium, 2 violins, cello, flute, clarinet, tympani. If the acoustics of your house will not allow for drums you have the option of substituting a cornet which should be always played softly.

Q. Will you be good enough to tell me the names of several misterioso numbers that would be well? What do you think of the music of your pictures being used, is about played out. Also, please tell me a few good Jap numbers.
A. In the photoplay series of the following publishers will be found just what you are looking for:
1. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Metro exchange.

The following list will suggest a variety of suitable Japanese selections:
1. "Vail Dance" (Ballein)
2. "Jap Tattoo" (March)
3. "Fujii Koe" (intermezzo)
4. "The Bombardment" (March)
5. "Jap Nobility" (March)
6. "The Kingdom of Flowers" (Value)
7. "Popples" (Romanza)
8. "A Night in a cabaret" (Valencia)
9. "Japanese Sunset" (Meditation)

Q. What is the correct name for the big bass horn used in bands. and does it require more wind to play this instrument than one of smaller type?
A. It is called the "Tuba," and although the blowing of it requires no great effect, it is somewhat difficult to master owing to the fact that its notes are written almost entirely below the bass staff. It is also a very heavy instrument to play.

Q. Are musicians now used in transatlantic passenger servise.
Is so, what is the average going rate for them?
A. As there is little transatlantic service at present, and in view of the scarcity of departure few musicians are employed on the boats.
In fact, most music they have obtained from a volunteer orchestra composed of ship-hands.

Q. With two violins in the orchestra which is composed of ten men, including plino, should both play in unison? What do you think of muted trumpets?
A. This largely depends upon what you are playing, as to whether it is best to have the two violins play in unison or not. A roiling mass or fast number will be more effective with them in unison, while a slow and sweet selection can be better rendered if the violins be divided to improve the tone.

In pieces where the melody is marked "al legno" divide them, as added volume gives gratifying intensity. In such a small combination advantage use the muted or divided tone on the second second violin; you can play cues notes of missing instruments with excellent results.
Muted cornets are always effective in soft passages, and almost always can be counted upon to help the orchestra. But don't overuse them.
Muted continually the tone becomes monotonous and displeasing to the ears of your patrons.

Q. Can you do something toward a better cue sheet than we have been getting from .
A. There are so many "ad libts" in it that it is of little value as a musical suggestion.

Thus in the opinion of the Moving Picture World is to uplift the music in picture theaters, and we have devoted a great deal of mental and literary effort to articles pointing the way to film manufacturers. And for this reason we cannot but feel that it is our best service to be accused of concealing an axe about our person which we wish to grind. You are in a position to write direct to the company, addressing them in a letter of the same character as the figure returns will be among the quickest results than we can. The producer is trying to serve you, and if that service be inadequate he wants to know about it. Allow me to recommend that all leaders who have this difficulty confronting them
It their business to register their complaints with the proper authorities and not leave it for the "other fellow" to do. They seldom do it, and your problem remains unsolved.
Rambles 'Round Filmtown
With WALTER K. HILL.

EARL K. METCALFE, screen actor of good repute, and now lieutenant in the ranks of Pershing's Crusaders, and, incidentally, a censor for the mail that goes and comes to the boys in his immediate vicinity, has devised a clever way of spending his leisure time at one and the same time. Possessed of a mimograph he has written "Forté Lines from France" and mailed to his friends Little Dig and requests his correspondents to "try this on your piano.

George Plimpton of the Moving Picture World staff, having no piano here in the office, has turned over to RAMBLES his letter from France. Ahead of the signature Lieut. Metcalfe signs himself, "Yours till the Kaiser wears the Mahogany Kimon. Here's the letter so cleverly done:

1.—Your's received.
2.—I am glad.
3.—To have not received
4.—Would have made me sad.
5.—We're so busy, let me tell 6.—Talking to the Hun's—well?
7.—That I haven't time to answer mail, 8.—So I'll let the mimographic tell the tale.
9.—So don't feel slighted or darn my name.
10.—Three Hundred others will get the same.
11.—I am happy, I am well, 12.—Having posted the cannon shell.
13.—(Here I'll stop and rap on wood, 14.—For a "DUD" just dropped right where I stood.
15.—The old mail system is not very good, 16.—So I don't hear from you as often as I should.
17.—My Lamb's Club pals are good at writing you.
18.—And our Lamb's over here are the same at fighting.
19.—Our Green Room boys and Screen Club, too.
20.—Are here "with bells on" helping you.
21.—Many actors here in the line
22.—Doing their bit and doing it fine.
23.—Men of every type and creed.
24.—Here to answer the country's need.
25.—Our Yankee boys in fighting trim,
26.—Tear the Kaiser limb from limb.
27.—The French all love our bunch of "Yanks."
28.—Please don't say "Sammie" that's right, thanks.
29.—Get good eats, we sleep all right.
30.—Which makes us anxious for a fight.
31.—I'll be coming back, I hope, some day.
32.—To stroll on the W. K. Broadway.
33.—With knicks in my gun,
34.—And the pack of a Hun,
35.—With the wife that I adore—
36.—I can wish for nothing more.
37.—This country sure is fine.
38.—And I know this thing don't rhyme.
39.—Write soon again,
40.—Good bye, Amen.

Some Unconventional Endings.
The following phrases have been used in ending sentences in publicity matter of recent vintage:

"She always kept her face veiled, but this only added to the mystery surrounding her."

"I'm going to the city, she said, slamming the door upon her mother's protest."

"The gorgeous beach costume of silk and satin remained safely encased in their tissue wrappings under Miss Brady's tonneau."

"Crowds of friends were at the station to brighten their departure."

"He had got a glimpse of Alice Brady's stylish bathing raiment and wanted to see more."

We shall try and assemble some better ones for later. *

Now husbands are profiteering.

Fox Buys "Buchanan's wife."—Moving Picture World Headline.

CARELESS WITH HIS SWARING.

"Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared E. Kendall Gillett, 729 Seventh avenue, N. Y. City, that the following is, to the 3 ('ETAI0 SHRDLU CMPWY PYWFMC), who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the business manager of the News, 729 Seventh avenue, N. Y. City."

It is almost impossible to believe that Mr. Gillett would under any circumstances use such unseemly language. To swear to it adds further to the iniquity. *

Goldwyn Buys "A Perfect Lady."—Moving Picture World Headline.

Page Congressman 'Mann, Katherine Davis, and the police!

Just What the Doctor Ordered.

"The state rights field," says Arrow Film Bulletin, "is father of open bookings, and open bookings has always been with us."

Why not identify and credit the mother?—RAMBLES.

The Diagnosis—"Successful exhibitor" is the mother of "open bookings." "Successful exhibitor" has been carrying the load of program until he (she) insisted upon a more equitable method of business conduct, and, therefore, encouraged "state rights field" in business intercourse.

With two such helpful parents as "state rights field" and "successful exhibitor" the "open bookings" have blossomed out into healthy manhood, and the orphan, "program," will find itself a much neglected and forlorn child—Dr. W. E. Stallenberger.

The Liberty theaters for the soldiers have a circus idea in their seating arangements. "Red seats" are higher priced than the "blues," which hold the "motley," as under canvas.

His Country or His Sister?

When Commodore J. Stuart Blackton started his production of "Liberty" - a picture of the fourth of his Paramount series, one of his all-star cast threatened to live up to the battle of the film. This was little Charles Stuart Blackton.

When the producer informed his small offspring the servicemen's theater was going "missing," Charles Stuart was inclined to be a conscientious objector out of loyalty to his master, Colonel Blackton.

There was no part for a little girl in the play, but Charles Stuart protested anyway, feeling that his famous father was "exploiting" against a "sister." After mature reflection, however, he decided that since these are hard times, all much work he would abandon his temperament and seize the opportunity for additional war stamp revenue, which he did.

William A. Brady's publicist quoting papers on the Washington showing of "Stolen Orders"—

"The Star, an extremely conservative paper, declared that the picture flashes thrills like a chain lightning throughout eight reels of exciting complications."

The Ultimate in Conservation.

"The exquisite beauty and remarkable versatility of Virginia Bruce have made her one of the most beloved of all motion picture stars," declares the Morning Telegraph, and immediately adds, "Miss Pearson's forthcoming release will be The Liar."

Work in the World's War Garden.

Slow, droll and experienced, as we remarked last week, Frank Mayo's gardener at the film player's suburban home is worth a second and final installment of wit for record in the archives. In laying out a bed of purple flowers—heavily planted with violets and two or three sorts of a hornet from a deep shade to a pale lavender—he advised putting the "lavenderest" at the high edge.

"Speaking of his hard-working wife, who was taking a much-needed rest in a neighboring town, he said: "She's went away while a-boardin' for her health."

Referring to the death of a young man in the town and giving his idea of a fast life he said:

"That young feller, he wuz awful wild—he wuz the terrible thing of excitement; he wuz a sewin' machine agent."

A local villager doing some work on the place made an observation to the old fellow concerning a neighboring farmer recently deceased.

"Bill wuz fine at harvest," he remarked. "He was the best man who ever raked a field."
By Morrie Ryskind.

According to data compiled by Charlie Fuchs, Jr. (which is from some reason told for His Majesty) and Friend Wife (slang for the Queen) arrived in Atlanta on June 22, 1918. Atlanta has since made this a legal holiday.

The Owenses came from California's sunny clime, and they were merely marching through Georgia on a visit. Quite accidentally they met there C. E. Tandy, the celebrated Tandy Kid, who was general managing the S. A. Lynch enterprises, sole distributors for Paramount and Artcraft pictures for the eleven-count 'em, eleven-Southern states.

Owens liked Tandy; Tandy liked Owens.

"What are you doing tomorrow?" says Tandy.

"Oh, nothing much," says Owens.

"Well, how about becoming our traveling representative?" says Tandy.

"Why not?" says Owens.

There was no answer. So they went out and had a drink on it. We're not saying where, but if you know how, it's a cinch to drink even in Georgia.

Especially Yo-Yo.

Or Dopa-Cola.

Owens made good with a bang. In two months he had risen to manager of the New Orleans office. Then he was promoted to manager of the Dallas Paramount. When his management, now leads all Southern exchanges.

Owens has a good many facial expressions; he can be as serious as Bill Hart about to reform when the occasion demands; but to exhibitors he shows a smile broader than Patty Arbuckle's.

He has several bad habits.

He keeps late hours.

Almost every night he is to be found at his desk outlining his method for the next day's attack on the Southern front. It is not an uncommon thing for Friend Wife to return from the theater, catch H. M. by the ear, and tote him home, telling him that he is injuring his health and her pride.

Secondly, he has a mania for speed.

He has made an exhibitor attach his name to a contract in three minutes flat, which is pretty close to a world's record. Then, too, he and Hartman, a well-known Dallas Paramount-Artcraft exhibitor, shot the shutters every Sunday in a row.

They have not run over anything yet, but expect to land something now that the open season is at hand. Ray Hitchcock's best wheese in his 1918 show was stolen from an actual experience they had.

They ran over a bottle, destroying a new tire. They offered as excuse for their carelessness that they couldn't see the bottle, inasmuch as it was in the man's pocket.

It was a good bottle, too, being not more than half empty at the time of the catastrophe. The unidentified corpse is said to have left a widow and a brewery.

Indeed, "It's An Ill Wind.”

June Elvidge has a maid who, to Miss Elvidge's certain knowledge, has been "sippotin" her man for three years (the length of their married life). The other day, Salie, the maid, said:

"Miss June I've goin' to quit. My Henry is wo'kin at de ship yards and gettin' nine dolla's a day. I'm goin' ter mak' dat bigger take car of me from now on."

Separating from Old Doc Muck.

Gustav Seyffertitz, one of the actors with Famous Players-Lasky, and also a director of skill and experience, has decided to adopt a new name for professional purposes. He will hereafter be known as G. Butler Clonough—a name to which he has a perfect title, as it was his mother's maiden name.

"Hope Springs Eternal!"—Wisdom.

In a recent issue of RAMBLING'S we said:

"Small wonder Nicholas Power, Inc. has such excellent publicity." Now comes back Geo. Whal Langdon as follows:

"It may be economical for the Nicholas Power Co. to employ a small wonder. Mabel'll she economical, and economical," according to Anthony Hope, "is going without something you do want in case you should some day want something which you probably won't want."

The Bradys Are All That Way.

When war was declared, Jasper E. Brady, Jr., was attending school in Montclair, N. J. His father, at that time in California, wrote the young man (he was not yet twenty years old), and said:

"Now that war is declared, what do you intend to do?"

The next mail brought back Col. Brady's own plan, as follow it endorsed in red was the following:

Dear Dad—Your question is a damned insult. I haven't enlisted. Affectionately, Jock.

Unsuspected Biographies, No. 3

(Drawn from Paramount-Arcaft Pep)

Rambles 'Round Filmtown

By H. M. Owens.

"He's New in the Game, Too!"

Please add my name to the list of progressive publicity parties who have hung a nice crepe garland upon the w. k. and p. m. scale of nearly 2,500 dailies and Pathe press pater planter in type form.

—Justin Fair.

"Going Up" Actor Keeps on Going Up.

Rose Shulsinger, with the impartiality of a good publicist, speaks thus coldly of one of her clients:

Joseph Lortera, who has made one of the hits of the season in "Going Up," and who, this week, bought a B. E. S. War Hero, anc. Painter's leading man in John Cort's "Gloriana," has just been signed by Crest Pictures, which are in the race with the forthcoming aviation propaganda picture, "En L'Air." Odd to relate Mr. Lortera in saying he says he is going to fly on the other side.

—Wes.

Exchangemen Take Action Against Thieves—Motion Picture News Headline.

Now it would be fine if the authorities would do something in the same line of endeavor.

—Wes.

"Grand Opera and Music." Geraldo Perrara playing his great piano in her dressing-room at the Goldwyn studios, which accounts for the fact that she can neither play nor sing the size of any under the big glass top.

While Mary Garden used to play solid from between scenes, Geraldo Perrara sings.

Snares of song float down the corridor and harmonious chords echo through the building.

The other stars now have music while they make up.

—Wes.

Landing a big fish at the outset of the open season.

Universal Gets Sturgoen as Feature Director—Motion Picture News Headline.

—Wes.

Sylvia Vamps at the Rivoli.

Sylvia Breamer, the young actress who showed her emotional ability in J. Stuart Blackton's last Paramount release, "Misliging," proved that she knew how to vamp by playing a home-wrecking "baby" in the last addition to the "Have a Drink, Drink Everything," which was on the Rivoli program last week. Commodore Blackton, who has here again worked under his direction in "The Common Sense of the Propaganda picture he is to produce under the auspices of the British-Canadian Recruiting Mission.

—Wes.

From Jewit comes the report of a unique complaint registered by the manager of the Portland exchange. It is to the effect that "For Husbands Only" has so impaired the credit of the office-staff that a threat of instant dismissal of any employee found in the projection room without the key is being put to the trade, plus the locking of the doors of that room, has been found necessary.

What Will It Do to the Public?

Unless the George Creel of our job throws a monkey-wrench into the works there will soon be issued a "Vacation Number" of RAMBLER's. It will be illustrated, and we need pictures adaptable to the idea.

With exhibitors who favor us with photographs will at the same time be conveying to us ideas of what the issue shall contain. Suit yourselves—only make'em sad.

Following lines advanced by all enterprising magazines, "Number" will be issued during August. We promise at that time a hot proposition. Thoughts of Christmas are likely to be cooling if we recall last August correctly.

The Non-Skid System of Sizzling Salesmanship.
Canadian Distributors Alter Plans

Arrangements of Many Exhibitors Affected by Shift in Policy of Regal and Globe—"Hearts of the World" for Dominion.

IMPORTANT and far-reaching changes have been made by two of Canada's largest film distributors. The change occurred simultaneously, and the new arrangements are affecting the plans of many exhibitors in the dominion for the coming twelve months.

Regal Films, Limited, with headquarters in Toronto, announced on July 13 that it would not handle either Paralta pictures or other films produced by Paralta, at least until mid-1918-19. The company has already arranged, however, to release at least 289 other subjects, including regular features, comedies, special productions, serials and reissues. These pictures include 52 World pictures, 32 Metro features, 26 Triangle subjects, 26 Triangle reissues, 52 two-reel Keystone comedies, 26 two-reel Keystone reissues, 52 Sidney Drew comedies, 2 unnamed serials and 3 special seven-reel productions.

The Canadian releasing rights for Paralta pictures passes back to President A. Cohen, of Globe Films, Limited, Toronto, which concern was formerly actively engaged in the distribution of Paralta and other releases throughout the dominion. Mr. Cohen was not ready to announce his plans for releasing Paralta pictures, but it is stated that Goldwyn productions will be released in Canada by the Monarch Film Company along with other pictures.

The Regal company has adopted a graduated selling plan, whereby exhibitors will pay different rates for pictures the more they take. This is fully explained in an announcement booklet which has been prepared.

The company has six offices in Canada and these are being continued without change. These are located as follows: Toronto—headquarters, Regal Building, 21 Adelaide street West; Montreal, 31 McGill College avenue; St. John, N. B., 67 Dock street; Winnipeg, Manitoba, 445 Main street; Calgary, Alberta, 414 McLean Block; Vancouver, British Columbia, 404 Orpheum Block.

After the announcement the Regal Films, Limited, still had four more Goldwyn pictures to release, and these were scheduled to be shown first in Toronto at the Regent theater, which is controlled by the Regal interests.

"Hearts of the World" Comes to Canada.

The second big news release on July 13 was the announcement that Jules and J. J. Allen, proprietors of the Famous Players Limited of Canada, had acquired Canadian exclusive rights on a large scale that secured the Canadian rights for D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World." The first release in the dominion will be to the Allen theater, Toronto, where it will be shown from Saturday, July 27 through August 27, after which it will be put into Massey Hall, Toronto's largest auditorium, for the two weeks of the Canadian National Exhibition, August 27 to September 7. This will give it a straight first run of six solid weeks, according to expectations.

The whole policy of the Allen theater will be changed for the presentation of "Hearts of the World." Instead of a continuous performance each day two distinct shows will be given daily, and every seat in the theater will be reserved for each performance. General admissions for evening performances will range up to $1, with box seats $1.50. Matinee prices will be 25, 50 and 75 cents, with box seats $1. Massey Hall prices will be 90 cents and 50 cents, and will be charged in that auditorium during the two weeks of the great annual Canadian fair in Toronto, when thousands of visitors are in the city. During the more recent years the attraction at Massey Hall has been for the past three years the "Birth of a Nation" or "Intolerance."

It is also interesting to note that Jules and J. J. Allen have also acquired the Canadian rights for "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance," both of which have been sent on the road to the new towns of the dominion. It is understood that the Allens will rent both of these features to exhibitors who can charge a 25-cent admission to their houses.

This comes at a time that their new, large theaters in Edmonton, Regina, Toronto, Westmount and Lachine will be ready for opening early in the fall. The new house at Regina, which will be called the Allen theater, will seat about 1,200 people. The new theater at Westmount, which is an adjunct of Montreal, Quebec, will also be known as the Allen theater. The new theater in Toronto will be known as Allen's Bloor Street theater to distinguish it from the Allen theater and Allen's Beaver theater, which are both located in Toronto. The Allens already have the Monarch theater in Edmonton, Alberta, and the new house there will also be known by the title of Allen theater. Their change to the new film is in accordance with the movement across the continent. These houses will undoubtedly have first run of "Hearts of the World" for the respective centers.

GLADISH.

No Let-Up In Lexington's Sunday Battle

The Sunday closing fight in Lexington, Ky., is going along at a meteoric pace. The plans of the organizers and the banners of the exhibitors and the churchmen and making ready for a young battle upon the subject, while the press of Lexington and surrounding territory is busily at the problem, waging battle with the defendant.

Cases against the three exhibitors recently charged with violations were to have been heard on Saturday, July 13, but trouble arose in securing a jury because the men had formed or expressed opinions on the subject. The case of the Berryman Realty Company, operating the Ben Ali theater, was the first on docket. Alfred Combs, chairman of the Laymen's Committee, testified that he saw tickets sold for performances at the Ben Ali on Sunday, July 6. James Todd, acting manager of the theater, testified that he purchased tickets on the date named. The case went no further and was postponed until a jury could be secured. Clay Rush and Wood Dunlap testified they attended the show.

Notwithstanding the fact that every theater in the city is under charge of violating the old blue laws the theaters ran wide open on Sunday, July 14, when the churchmen were again busy taking evidence and of names of those attending.

In the meantime the Ben Ali theater is running announcements in the paper and coupon ballots, with a ballot box at the entrance of the theater. Ballots are also being received by mail, and an effort made to obtain the public's votes in a manner.

Corporation Counsel Denny has advised Mayor Rogers and the commissioners that the Court of Appeals has not definitely set forth what essential work on the Sabbath is and that it will be necessary for the high court to decide sometimes before the city can conveniently close all Sunday operations in event the theaters are closed. Mayor Rogers expects to close the town generally in event the theaters are closed.

A bond sworn out for John B. Elliott, of the Phoenix Amusement Company, was served on Robert Elliott by Constable I. J. Trisler, who stated that Robert Elliott agreed to deliver it. However the latter had his attorney return the bond that Robert Elliott was not present in the Phoenix and was not connected with it in any way.

Alfred Combs, of the Laymen's Committee, stated that the committee had twenty-five or more witnesses when the case was called and has since secured many additional ones. The case against the Berryman concern is disposed of the churchmen plan to proceed against the Phoenix and J. H. Stamper of the Orpheum.

WORLD PICTURES ENGAGES AUSTRALIAN ACTRESS.

World Pictures announces the engagement for an important world production of a well-known Australian actress, who came to this country a year or so ago and attained prominence through her performance of the role of Julie Draper in "The Three Bears" at the Empire theater, Toronto. She has appeared in a number of big productions in stellar roles for J. C. Williamson, the foremost Australian producer. Among these productions were "Madam X," "Stop Thief," "Camille," "The Fortune Hunter" and "Sandy."

"OVER THE TOP" OPENS $200,000 LIBERTY THEATER.

"Over the Top" last week added a new record to its list of accomplishments when it opened the new $200,000 Liberty theater, New Orleans, and brought higher admission prices than ever were paid by motion picture patrons in the Crescent city. Originally a straight Western, it was advertised there with full-page newspaper space. One newspaper devoted an eight-page supplement to "Over the Top" and the new theater.
National A. E. A. Convention Date Set
Hotel Sherman Secured for Meeting Which Will be Held Sept. 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7.

Frank Rembusch was in Chicago Friday and Saturday, July 19 and 20, to work with the convention committee of the American Exhibitors' Association in the completion of the arrangements for the national convention, which will be held at the Hotel Sherman, September 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7.

Permanent headquarters, until after the convention is over, have been opened up at this hotel, the arrangements having been made Tuesday, July 16, by Louis H. Frank, chairman of the convention committee. The entire second floor and part of the mezzanine floor have been reserved for the exclusive use of convention visitors during the run of the convention.

The national directors will make every endeavor to have this convention a meeting for all branches of the trade, including producers, distributors, exhibitors and supply men, etc. The convention will be open at all times to the various branches of the trade, and a regular fixed program covering all departments will be arranged, in which members of the trade are expected to participate.

Samuel Atkinson, an intelligent and prominent exhibitor of Evanston, Ill., will be the permanent platform manager while the convention lasts, and he will introduce the various speakers.

The first four days of the convention will be conducted on the order of a Chataqua meeting, during which prominent men in the industry will be asked to address the meetings on any subject pertaining to the uplift of the moving picture business.

The present plan is to have all visitors and other workers in the industry partake of lunch every day at noon, during the run of the convention.

Full particulars will be given weekly in the Moving Picture World, under the foregoing heading, until the convention opens.

Texas Managers Meet in Galveston
Association Departs from Precedent and Elects Exchanges man to Office—Levy Is President.

The Texas Amusement Managers' Association, with a general membership of motion picture exhibitors from all parts of the state, held its mid-summer convention at Galveston July 10-12. Besides transacting an imposing amount of business there was found plenty of time for fun and frolic on the beach.

The meeting, which was well attended, developed a feature which is an innovation in the annals of Texas exhibitors' conferences. This was the election of Lewis B. Remy, Goldwyn manager of Dallas, as secretary of the association.

Never before has any southern organization of exhibitors elected a film exchangetman to official position. The honor came to Mr. Remy through his state-wide popularity and good fellowship.

The full list of officers elected was: President, P. C. Levy, of the Hippodrome and Strand theaters, Fort Worth, succeeding E. H. Hulsey of Dallas; vice-president, C. J. Mussellman, of the Grand theater, Paris; treasurer, Herschel Stewart, Old Mill theater, Dallas, and secretary, L. B. Remy.

Sessions of the convention were held in the spacious parlors of the Hotel Galvez, facing the sea wall. S. T. MacDonald, A. Martini and Jean Finley composed the entertainment committee for Galvezon, and saw that the visitors had an interesting time. There was not a regret expressed over the fact that Galveston a few weeks ago went permanently on the "water wagon" owing to the state-wide dry law. The next convention point will be selected later by officers of the association.

Among the visiting exhibitors were: S. P. Von Phul, Dallas; John Paxton, Paris; Paul Baraza, Houston; W. J. Lytle, San Antonio; J. C. Clemons, Beaumont; E. V. Richards of the Saenger Amusement Company, E. W. Blankenbecker of Houston and many others.

Black Re-Elected Maine President.

The Maine State League held a largely attended meeting at the Elmwood Hotel, Waterville, Tuesday, July 2. Much important business for the best interests of the exhibitors of Maine was transacted. The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: Alfred S. Black of Rockland, president; John W. Goodwin of Hallowell, secretary; S. Hansen of Camden, treasurer.

The meeting was adjourned to the Lenox Hotel, Boston, July 19, at 2 p.m.

Cleveland Exhibitors' League Elects Officers.

We are informed in a telegram that comes to us under a Cleveland date line, July 18, that the Cleveland Exhibitors' League has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Henry Lustig; vice-president, Sam Barck; treasurer, A. Maher; secretary, Sam Bullock.

Arons Wants to Hear from Friends.

Bernard P. Arons, formerly assistant to Bert Adler in the latter's publicity business and cashier of the Pathe Park avenue studios, writes from Camp Joseph E. Johnston, Florida, where he is in the quartermaster's department, that he expects to "go over" any day. Meanwhile he would like to hear from his motion picture friends, and address him care of Supply Company 315, Barracks K-4, Camp Joseph E. Johnston, Florida.

John G. Adolphi Makes a Denial.

Through regular publicity sources there came to the World for the last issue a paragraph stating, in effect, that "The Burden of Proof," a Marion Davies production, was being directed by Julius Steger, with Mr. Adolphi as co-director. Comes now from Mr. Adolphi a denial and the assertion that he is in no way connected with the picture.

C. W. Lawford Managing Franklin.

Former Reis Circuit Manager C. W. Lawford, who since leaving that circuit has been manager of the Morgan Grand theater, Houston, for the past three years, has been appointed resident manager of the Butterfield Circuit's palatial Franklin theater, Saginaw, Mich., taking effect July 21.

Coming League and Other Exhibitors' Conventions

(Secretaries Are Requested to Send Dates and Particulars Promptly)

American Exhibitors' Association, Business Convention, Hotel Sherman, Chicago. . . . September 3 to 7
First National Takes "Tarzan" Sequel

At Meeting of Circuit Directors Purchase Is Also Made of Seven-Part Italian War Subject.

The most important meeting of the directors of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit that has been held in some months took place during the three days of July 16, 17 and 18 at the circuit headquarters in New York. The directors present included Robert H. Leher, president, Indianapolis; Walter Hays, Buffalo; H. O. Schwabke, Philadelphia; Aaron J. Jones, Chicago; E. H. Hulsey, Dallas, and J. D. Williams, manager. The directors met to perfect plans for the purchase of a large house and to take action on the ratification of important contracts and the purchase of several big productions which had been pending for several weeks.

A contract was signed with the National Film Corporation of America, giving exclusive right to distribute the sequel to "Tarzan of the Apes." William Parsons, president of the company which produced this important feature, appeared personally before the directors and also arranged for a special showing of the film before the deal was concluded.

H. O. Schwabke, who took an active hand in the arrangements on behalf of the circuit, spoke as follows after the contract had been approved: "I have every confidence that this picture will make box-office history in the same way that 'Tarzan of the Apes' did. Every exhibitor who was wise enough to book the remarkable production of which this is a sequel will find that his patrons will be glad to ratify the judgment of the management. In Chippewa we have an exhibitor and an associate of exhibitors I never came across a production with more unique angles for box-office appeals than 'Tarzan of the Apes.' It has been one of the big reasons for the satisfaction of the National franchise holders during the current season. Every house that has shown 'Tarzan' will welcome the news that the picture will be ready for release within a few weeks."

Another important business transaction was signaled by the directors with the outright purchase of the seven-reel official Italian war picture from the Italo-North American Commercial Union. This most artistic and dramatic of film studies of the European war was recently shown in serial in several of the leading Broadway theaters and aroused widespread comment. It will be released in its full seven-reel form by the circuit under the title of "Italy's Flaming Front."

"Lientenant M. M. Prochter, acting as one of the representatives of the Italian War Commission, from whom we purchased this film, has informed me that of the twelve cameramen who made the scenes in 'Italy's Flaming Front' two were killed outright and four wounded in the course of the work," said Mr. Hulsey. "One could well believe this fact in looking at that part of the picture where the Austrian bullets are seen tearing up the ground and splintering the parapets of the Italian trenches in the immediate vicinity of the battle at one of the leading Broadway theaters and aroused widespread comment. It will be released in its full seven-reel form by the circuit under the title of "Italy's Flaming Front.""

"With this great picture and Chaplin's new war comedy as a running mate on the same program I believe all First National exhibitors are assured of a number of profitably profitable weeks."

Several other important production and distribution deals were taken up by the directors, complete details of which will shortly be forthcoming.

Found Musician in Theater Manager

Visitor to Rochester's Rialto Discovers in A. N. Wolff One of the Best Movie Orchestras in the Country.

LOYD HUTSELL came into Rochester, N. Y., the other day and made a discovery. He happened to be standing in front of the Rialto theater talking to another man when his attention was attracted to a figure entering the house to the theater and told him a few years ago he had seen the figure of the same man, then the director of a large orchestra in one of the leading theaters of the West. It seems that on the night he was looking at the figure he was charmed by its beauty and attraction as a solo, "The Last Rose of Summer," as played by the leader. Now he recognized the same leader in Rochester and followed him into the Rialto to greet him and found him to be no less than A. N. Wolff, manager of the Rialto and president of the Rochester Exhibitors' League.

Mr. Wolff admitted the story to be truthful and talked over old times with his visitor. He even reached behind the office safe and brought to light his violin, now in disuse, with all but one string broken. In Mr. Wolff is easily recognized the soul of an artist, and it is shown to a great extent in the handsome and artistic theater he conducts and in which he daily caters to a most discriminating audience. He says that in his musical career he worked hard to keep up his technique, but that so few people appreciate or understand music that he has been driven to enter fields where his labors enriched him to greater extent.

KENNETH R. EDDY BUSY MAN IN "SOO."

Not all of the motion picture industry centers around Los Angeles or New York. As a matter of fact the activities of Kenneth R. Eddy, general factotum of the Chippewa Film Company, can be seen in St. Paul, Minn., or in the little city of Indianapolis, Ind., which Gov. and state officials took prominent part. Mr. Eddy is now working on exploitation reels for the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, featuring and advertising the attractions of the district section of the state. And just to fill in his odd moments Mr. Eddy is editing a "movie page" for Cleverland Magazine. He relates his film concern is named after the county in which "SoO" is located; adding that Chippewa means a good Indian. We consider Mr. Eddy a "Chippewa.""
Chicago to Have Censorship Commission

Joint Committee of Citizens and Aldermen Will Draft Ordinance for Moving Picture Censorship.

At a meeting of the judiciary committee of the City Council, held Thursday afternoon, July 18, which was attended by many representatives of civic societies, church organizations and clubs, it was determined that a joint committee of citizens and aldermen should be named by Alderman Kerner, chairman of the judiciary committee, to draw up an ordinance for moving picture censorship.

The original object of this meeting was to consider the revised Maypole ordinance and the amendment thereto, but a Tribune editorial of that morning suggesting the appointment of a censorship commission to find out just what kind of censorship the city should have, was read by Alderman Maypole, after the judiciary committee had convened, and this led to the unanimous adoption of the following resolution, made by Alderman Maypole:

Whereas, the city council of Chicago and its judiciary committee have given a great deal of time and serious consideration to the question of proper censorship of moving pictures, and it having appeared to the judiciary committee that there is a great diversity of view relative to this important question, and to the end that the question be given the fullest consideration and the city council receive the benefit of the best thoughts on the city on this question, be it

Resolved, That this committee authorize its chairman to name a committee of five, to consist of the chairman, Alderman Maypole and also the mayor.

That committee, so constituted, be empowered to inaugurate such suggestions to be incorporated in a revision of the censorship ordinance, as to that commission may seem determinative of the censorship problem.

Stern Measures by Luthardt

For First Offense in Breach of Ordinance Governing Permits He Will Revoke Offending Exhibitor's License.

The following letter to theater owners of Chicago has been sent out by Acting Second Deputy Superintendent of Police W. H. Luthardt.

You are hereby notified that all ordinances relative to the exhibition of moving picture films will be strictly enforced by this department. Where moving picture films are leased or transferred and are not accompanying the necessary permit or permits will be strictly enforced.

Where our investigators find violations of the ordinances relative to the leasing or transferring of moving picture films for which no permits have been secured, and the same are not accompanied by the necessary permit or permits, the police department will proceed to close or suspend the location of the theater, until the requisite permit or permits have been obtained.

If the records of this department show that you have offended previously in this regard, or if the violations are serious, the permits will be revoked and the films taken up.

Acting Second Deputy Luthardt says that in sending out these notifications he is only protecting himself, and he announces that he will recommend the revocation of a theater license for violation of the first offense. The revocation will be much more drastic than that followed by Major Funkhouser, who never recommended the revocation of a license for the first offense.

Exclusively by Acting Second Deputy Luthardt intends to show by his policy that his little finger will be thicker than Major Funkhouser's.

Funkhouser Trial Drags Along.

No, the trial of Major Funkhouser has not yet closed, as was expected in my last article on this matter, and there is no telling when it will. Owing to the great opposition met by counsel for the defense in getting certain evidence admitted by the civil service commission board, Mr. Miller has thus far failed to have any case brought up the circuit court, after which board, has finished its work. This would mean an almost interminable period, and the people are already tired of the proceedings.

Major Funkhouser had two strong witnesses during the past week—former First Deputy Westbrook and Dr. Graham Taylor, the latter a teacher, a settlement worker and publicist. The former first deputy testified that "Major Funkhouser was honest, efficient and active in his duties, and a great help to the police department in suppressing vice." Dr. Taylor is an acknowledged authority on vice conditions in Chicago, having devoted twenty-four years to the work, and bore testimony that the major's vice work was efficient. He backed his evidence by the police records themselves.

Another important witness, Samuel P. Thrasher, superintendent of the committee of fifteen, who for twenty-two years has studied police and moral conditions at close hand in Connecticut and three years in Chicago, testified that Major Funkhouser was "remarkably efficient." It required an hour to get this opinion on the record, owing to the policy of President Frazier to limit the presentation made by outside experts. Mr. Thrasher stated that Major Funkhouser had too many things to look after and had succeeded remarkably well under his handicaps.

It is expected that no less than eighteen reformers will soon testify to Major Funkhouser's character and to his discharge of the duties of his office as second deputy. This will take quite a time, so no one at present can foresee the end of the trial.

The following excerpts from a Tribune editorial of July 19 show the present status of Major Funkhouser in the attempt made to depose him:

Witnesses whose purpose is not impeachable, whose judgment is good, whose opportunities of careful observation are numerous, and whose work for good public service is recognized, say for Major Funkhouser, at his hearing, that not only were his services in the suppression of vice strikingly and effectively given, but that the organization needs just such a supplementary system of check and control in the handling of such a situation.

We believe that Major Funkhouser, an aggravation as a censor of any kind of artistic expression, was doing able and effective work in an endeavor which almost demands any one to do successful work. That is the opinion of men and women whose opportunities of judging his work have been excellent.

The large idea in the police management which led to the attempt to get rid of him has not been made apparent. A few-minded person might, even suspect that the intent was to rid the force of an activity useful to the city, but embarrassing to the public.

"Young America" Nearing Completion.

All the interior settings of "Young America" have been finished out at the Essanay studios and the exterior views are now in progress. These exteriors are being taken in advantageous spots in and around Chicago. It is expected that this seven-reel feature will be finished in about two weeks.

Praise for Rothacker Tinting and Toning.

President Rothacker, of the Rothacker Film Manufacturing Company, recently received the following flattering letter from an official of the Petrova Picture Company: "Permit me to compliment your organization on the excellent work done in the printing of 'Tempered Steel,' our first study film production. This print is beautiful in its smoothness and contains many fine examples on the art of tinting and toning."

New Manager for Universal's Chicago Office.

C. C. Smith, formerly branch manager of the Jewel Productions Company in Milwaukee, has been appointed manager of the Chicago office of the Universal Film Exchange. Mr. Smith is well known to exhibitors in Chicago and adjoining territory. He managed the Milwaukee office so efficiently that Joe Brandt, general sales manager of Universal, selected him to replace F. W. Barlet, who has held the position for the past year. Mr. Barlet has joined the staff of Mr. McGowen in the New York office.
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

August 3, 1918

Polo Contest Won by Rothacker Team.

Teams from the Essanay Film Manufacturing Company and the Rothacker plant engaged in a water polo contest at the Edgewater Beach water carnival Saturday, July 13, and after a spirited game the decision was awarded the Rothacker team.

Changes in Universal Branch Offices.

Dan Lederman, who has managed the Des Moines office of Universal for several years, and who at present is assistant to Joe Brandt, is now on a tour of the country installing new booking and sales systems in Universal exchanges.

“Over the Top” at Garfield Theater.

Charles H. Ryan, manager of the Garfield theater, 2844 Madison street, this city, featured “Over the Top” Sunday, July 14. Mr. Ryan is to be complimented on the various effective advertising aids employed to give wide publicity to this showing of the Vitagraph war feature. Crowded houses were the rule on the date mentioned.

The old F. I. L. M. Club has been resurrected in Chicago for the purpose of solving certain problems which have arisen in film renting. Several meetings were held during the past two weeks, at which exchange men thrashed out some unfavorable conditions in this branch of the trade. The results of the meetings have been so beneficial in combating certain abuses that it is deemed wise by the members to revive the regular sessions, as in the past. Meetings will be held henceforth in the College Inn, on the first and third Tuesday of every month.

While the main object of the organization is one of business, it will be planned to introduce at times entertaining and social features during the season. An entertainment committee, accordingly, has been formed for that purpose.

Metro’s Kaiser Picture Very Popular.

“To Hell with the Kaiser” finished a most successful run of two weeks at the Playhouse, Michigan Avenue, Saturday, July 20. This war feature has a remarkable punch and holds spectators in thrall. It arouses great enthusiasm, which diminishes in prolonged applause at times. The admissions at the Playhouse were 25 and 50 cents. A two weeks’ run at the Boston Theater, Madison street, started Sunday, July 21.

Ben W. Bedell Rusticating.

Ben W. Bedell, assistant manager of Select’s Chicago office, is rusticating on an Iowa farm during his vacation. Ben has been doing fine work for the Select product in Chicago, and is now having the advantage of an intimate acquaintance with nearly every Chicago exhibitor.

Olga Petrova Visits Chicago.

Olga Petrova was in the city last week and made short speeches in aid of the war savings stamp drive in several theaters during her stay. Among the houses visited were the Orpheum and the Metropolitan.

“We Can’t Have Everything” at Orchestra Hall.

Marguerite Clark, in “Uncle Tom’s Cabin,” showed to fair business at Orchestra Hall for the week ending Saturday, July 20. It is followed by the De Mille feature, “We Can’t Have Everything,” with an all star cast, for the week of Sunday, July 21.

Chicago Opening of Kleine Feature.

“The Unchastened Woman” opened a run of one week at the Playhouse, Sunday, July 21. This feature had a record-breaking run in New York City some time ago. It is released through the George Kleine System.

Geraldine Farrar Off to Wyoming.

Geraldine Farrar, accompanied by her husband Lou Telle gen, passed through the city last week on the way to Wyoming, where some of the scenes for her coming Goldwyn production will be made. Headquarters will be made in Cody, to which point Milton Sills, new leading man for Miss Farrar, and the old Selig favorite, Thomas Santchi, are heading from Los Angeles. Tom Santschi will always be remembered for his fine work in “The Spoilers” and “The Crisis.”

A. E. A. Convention at Chicago, Sept. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7.

The convention of the American Exhibitors’ Association has been finally fixed to take place at the Hotel Sherman on September 3, 4, 5, and 6. F. J. Rembusch, national secretary and treasurer of the Association, made the arrangements personally. Mr. Rembusch hopes that the entire moving picture trade, including pruders, distributors and exhibitors will be represented at this convention.

The closing day, September 6, will be marked by a grand ball, at least that is the present expectation.

Carolina White Plays Leads for Caruso

Handsome Singer from Concert and Opera Selected to Support Italian Tenor.

CAROLINA WHITE, famous on the opera and concert stage, has been engaged by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation to appear opposite Enrico Caruso in his initial American picture. Miss White is a Boston girl, and made her debut as an opera singer in the San Carlos Opera House at Naples, Italy, in 1910.

She was engaged later by the Chicago Opera Company, where she created the role of “Minnie” in “The Girl of the Golden West.” In the same year she created, at the Metropolitan Opera House, the roles entrusted to her in “The Secret of Sevres” and “The Jewels of the Madonna,” the latter having scored one of the greatest successes of modern Italian opera.

Associated with the Chicago Opera Company for six years Miss White has also traveled extensively, with the result that she is prominently known as a most successful concert singer throughout the country. She is a striking brunette, and at all times is taken for an Italian, although an American by birth. Her appearance in the new production will further enhance the box-office value of this wonderful attraction, in which the internationally famous tenor makes his motion picture debut.

The important work of staging the first Caruso picture will be in the hands of Edward Jofe, well known in the trade as one of the most capable directors in the Famous Players-Lasky organization. The initial plans for the production of Mr. Caruso’s film vehicle are now well under way, and a great surprise is promised by the producers when the nature of the story in which he will appear is announced.

O’BRIEN TO RETURN TO STAGE IN FALL.

Eugene O’Brien, leading man for Norma Talmadge, will return to the speaking stage early in the fall, when he will be seen in the leading male role in the Charles Dillingham production, opening at one of the Broadway theaters.

Mr. O’Brien is perhaps better known on the speaking stage than in the silent drama, having appeared in some of the biggest Broadway productions during the past seven or eight years. Recently he has forsaken the stage for work before the camera, and has been seen in all of Miss Talmadge’s productions for the past year. He will work in the next three pictures to be produced by Miss Talmadge before taking up his work in the forthcoming Dillingham production.
Mme. Petrova in Los Angeles

Actress Faces Big Houses at Tally’s, Sells $5,000 in War Stamps and Sees Chaplin Work.

MME. OLGA PETROVA arrived in Los Angeles on the evening of Monday, July 8, and departed on Tuesday for San Francisco, the next stop on her six-weeks' transcontinental tour. She is making in behalf of the Government's War Stamp campaign.

Mme. Petrova made two speeches to overflow audiences at Tally's Broadway theater on Monday night and a third appearance and address at the Tuesday matinee performance. The actress was greeted with overwhelming enthusiasm and applause, and five thousand dollars worth of stamps were sold as the result of her appeal, an appeal that was delivered with a force and character that moved her hearers to tears and laughter and left every one who heard her with an indelible impression of her earnestness.

Mme. Petrova spoke with a perceptible accent that in no way interfered with the understanding of her speech, and she added a delightful piquancy to her remarks. She told in simple words of the purpose of her mission and the Government's need of money to bring the war to a successful conclusion.

T. L. Tally, of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, entertained Mme. Petrova, her business manager, Robert North, and a party of friends at a luncheon at the Beverly Hills Hotel on Tuesday, after which a sightseeing trip was made to several film studios, and the actress was enabled to gratify a desire she has had for many years when she watched Charles Chaplin rehearse and work out a comedy scene.

William D. Taylor Joins British Army.

William D. Taylor, president of the Motion Picture Directors' Association, has enlisted in the British army, and will leave for London very soon. Mr. Taylor is one of the best known directors of the film industry and is regarded by his associates as a man of ideas and of constructive as well as artistic ability. He was a member of the directors staff at the Lasky studio in Hollywood, and his most recent work was the directing of Mary Pickford in her last three features. Mr. Taylor leaves a large number of friends in Los Angeles who will regret his absence, but commend his patriotic action in going to the defense of his country in her hour of need.

New Ince Studio at Culver City.

Thomas H. Ince has purchased eleven acres of land fronting on Washington Boulevard at Culver City, for the purpose of building a studio that will cost approximately $300,000. The plans call for some eighteen buildings that will be grouped in the form of a quadrangle: and the glass inclosed stages, laboratories, projection rooms, dressing rooms and the equipment will be of the most complete and improved kind. All the Ince companies will be moved to Culver City as soon as the new studios are completed. The site selected for the studio is about half a mile nearer to Los Angeles than the Triangle studios.

Shipman Distributes Al Jennings Features.

Ernest Shipman, who has been in Los Angeles for the past few weeks, has taken over the six features being made by the Al Jennings company, picturing the life and adventures of the ex-outlaw in days gone by, for distribution to independent buyers.

Film Star Loses Suit.

Mary MacLaren, motion picture star, was non-suited in Judge Monroe's court in Los Angeles in her action to recover $20,000 damages for injuries sustained in an automobile collision, when a car driven by Jules Roth, 17 years old, collided with her own.

Sherry Exchange Opens in Los Angeles.

William L. Sherry, who formerly distributed Artcraft Paramount releases in the state of New York, has opened an exchange at 511 West Eighth street, Los Angeles. The Parex Film Corporation is the title of the new organization, of which Mr. Sherry is president, and which will distribute the William L. Sherry productions. The Los Angeles office is the twenty-first exchange opened by Mr. Sherry in the United States in the last thirty days. William Alexander, district manager of the Pacific Coast offices, has returned to Los Angeles after having opened offices in Seattle and San Francisco.

The first release to be issued by the new corporation is Paul Armstrong's "Romance of the Underworld," with Catherine Calvert, and the next will be Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Street of Seven Stars," with Doris Kenyon.

Old Time Songs a Hit at Grauman's.

Sid Grauman introduced a few old fashioned songs, such as "First of Our Troubles," "Sidewalks of New York," "He's Me Pal," and others into the musical program of the Grauman theater a few weeks ago, and ever since he has been flooded with requests for more old-time songs. The genial Sid has nothing if not accommodating, and this week lovers of the peculiar melodies of the past made a dash for "Mister Dooley," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," "Heedless," "Alway's in the Way," "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," "A Bird in the Gilded Cage" and others.

Los Angeles Exhibitors Want Girl Operators.

The Los Angeles Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association, at a meeting held on July 10, gave official endorsement to a plan of instructing women to operate projecting machines, to take the places of men who have gone to war. The association voted to open an operation school especially for women and girls, on Olive street between Eighth and Ninth, with Leo Ryan in charge.

A complete course in the projection of motion pictures will be given at a nominal sum, and the successful graduate will immediately obtain work, replacing the men who have gone to war in positions paying from $20 to $30 a week.

"We need fifty women operators as soon as possible," says Ryan, "for many theaters are facing the possibility of being forced to close because of the shortage of good operators. Women can easily hold jobs of this kind, and we will give them every opportunity to make good."

Women Ushers for Theaters.

Women ushers are coming to be familiar sights in the theaters of Los Angeles. The management of the Orpheum theater, leading vaudeville house of the city, engaged eleven women ushers on July 13, giving preference to the wives of men in service, as recommended by the Soldiers and Sailors' Welfare Commission.

M. Gore, manager of the Gore Enterprise theaters, is also employing working women, giving preference to wives and relatives of men in service. The Superba theater and the Mason opera house have also asked the Los Angeles and Orange County Welfare Commission for an employment of working women.

Triangle Cowboys Indorse Sheriff.

In a letter to Sheriff John C. Cline of Los Angeles, the cowboy actors of Triangle western thrillers give their hearty approval of the official and indorse his candidacy for re-election. The letter is signed by Ralph Smith, direct corsets, Curly Baldwin and Claude Waits, and says in part: "The Triangle Western company has noted with great pleasure that you are a candidate for re-election. We are taking this occasion to tell you of the high esteem in which we are held by our Southern California the real west. You are a westerner, a pioneer in Los Angeles, and we feel that a true westerner should be retained in office."

Siegmann Receives Lieutenant's Commission.

George Siegmann, casting director of the Griffith studio and assistant to D. W. Griffith, has received his commission as second lieutenant in the Signal Corps of the United States Army, and leaves Los Angeles in a few days for San Francisco, from the headquarters of the Flanders. Mr. Siegmann was perhaps the youngest enlisted man who fought in the Spanish-American war, and he is the first motion picture director to enlist and obtain his commission.

Picture Review.

All Jennings gave a private showing of his first finished production, "The Lady of the Dugout," at Quin's Rialto on July 11.

Ten Comedies a Year for Fatty.

The Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle comedies have proved so successful in the past months as box office attractions that the number of productions have been increased from three to six per year, according to plans announced by the Comique Film Corporation, of which Joseph M. Schenck is president and Roscoe Arbuckle vice-president. Arbuckle will hereafter dispense with his usual week's vacation between pictures, and upon completing a comedy, will immediately begin on a new production. Fatty would also like to "discover" an author who can write suitable comedies for him.

British War Benefit.

Captain Leslie T. Peacocke, well-known dramatist and photoplaywright, gave a performance of a playlet written by himself called "Sacrilege," for the British Ambulance Society at a downtown hotel in Los Angeles last week. Captain Peacocke was assisted by Miss Bessie Oliver. Bebe Daniels of the Rolin-Pathé studio also appeared at the entertainment.

Del Ruth Leaves Sennett Studio.

Hampton Del Ruth, for a number of years head of the scenario department at the Mack Sennett Comedy studios, resigned his position on July 12. Mr. Del Ruth is well known to the industry for his knowledge of comedy construction and direction, and is an avowed believer in the art of mimicry. He is supposed to be on his way to New York.

Mr. Del Ruth states that while he is considering several propositions he has not as yet made any definite or final connections.

Motion Picture Houses Follow Kinema's Lead.

The Kinema theater of Los Angeles was the first theater in the United States to install a Red Cross tea room. Since the example has been set by the Kinema, many motion picture houses in the West have adopted the idea. Close to $7,000 has been turned in by the Kinema to the Red Cross since the tea room was opened.

Miller's Theater Beautified.

Miller's theater, which is now being managed by the Carl Riva Management Enterprises, has an attractive appearance since the beautiful lobby and foyer has been newly decorated and painted and everything brightened up both inside and out. Lee Lazelle, the house manager, has booked a list of first rate features, including the new William Russell productions, for early showing.

Bankruptcy Papers Filed by Isadore Bernstein.

Isadore Bernstein, owner of 97 per cent. of the capital stock of the Bernstein Film Producing Company, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy on July 5 before Murray the bankruptcy clerk of the United States District Court in Los Angeles. In the schedule of liabilities listed in the petition, which totals $44,505.80, all claims are listed as unsecured. Assets are given as $54,000, claimed to be exempt.

Film Stars to Entertain Jackie.

At a benefit being arranged to take place soon for the Athletic Fund of the Submarine Base near Los Angeles by the Motion Picture War Service Association a number of film stars will assist in the entertainment by appearing in numbers, comic, dances, skits and plays. Among the hundred stars and players expected to lend their aid are Mary Pickford, George Beban and Bryant Washburn.

Ince Boys Theatrical Producers.

The three young sons of Thomas H. Ince staged a Red Cross benefit in the Ince in gardens in Hollywood recently with nearly a hundred children of the neighborhood as performers. Young Bill Ince, ten years, old, rehearsed and directed the children, and displayed much of the genius of his father along dramatic lines. The Ince youngsters prevailed upon their father to lend them costumes and properties for the occasion, and after the dramatic performance was given, a motion picture was made of the play.

Advance Agents of World Democracy.

Lieutenant Tom Forman dropped in on Los Angeles and Hollywood friends recently. Lieut. Forman enlisted as a private three and a year ago and received his second last month. Forman will be remembered as the popular Laskey leading man.

Guus Peterson, of the Triangle camera squad, leaves soon to go abroad the United States School of Cinematography at Columbia University, having been accepted by Uncle Sam as an ultimate war photographer.

Four men from the electrical department at Universal City will go to war. Lieutenant G. Wing, Charles Monroe and C. Bartwell. Douglas Gerrard, Universal director, is a recruit at the Hollywood Officers' Training School.

Harry Hays and Haig Prieste, Mack Sennett comedians, have enlisted in the submarine service.

Larry Peyton, of Universal, has left for France.

Tom Kennedy, Mack Sennett comedian, formerly a heavy weight boxer, has been asked by the War Department to set aside his motion picture career for a time and engage in the work of instructing the boys at one of the Army camps in the art of pugilism. Tom has signed up to go anywhere Uncle Sam sees fit.

Rubberneeking in Filmland.

Personally Conducted by Giebler.

ADIES and Gentlemen, our itinerary today will include slapstick comedy studios, and you will be allowed to inspect-and I mean inspect-the workings of the fun factories we visit, a privilege, I assure you, that is accorded to few—but with the understanding that we be kept a profound secret and never be divulged to a living soul.

The first group of visitors were admitted to the comedy studios without restraint. But of those some visitors, Ladies and Gentlemen were walking in sheep's clothing. They violated the childlike confidence reposed in them by the comedy producers. They cared nothing for what they saw in one studio to other studios. You can imagine the result.

A producer who was filming a comedy that he planned to be a veritable master-piece because of the fact that two dozen pies were used in the action was shocked and staggered to learn that a rival was going him one dozen pies better in a side-splitter he was turning out. A consultation was hurriedly called, and six dozen pies were written in the play by the scenario writer. But it was all in vain. A letter arrived and the producer hurried the news to the competitor, and when the two comedies were released the rival production had three dozen pies of mixed materials, including gooseberry, coconut cream, and custard!

A bitter rivalry ensued. Other producers took up the fight. The pastry cooks began demanding that their names be put on the screen in equal prominence with the stars. If the food conservation laws had not come along and put a stop to it the future could only have been contemplated with a shudder.

This, Ladies and Gentlemen, is the place where Mack Sennett makes his comedies. On this spot it was that the brave little boys of Filmland composed of Mack Sennett, Mabel Normand, and Ford Sterling, the "forty-niners of the films," after their hard and arduous journey over the plains and deserts, set up their huts and began making Keystone comedies.

The first building of this plant did not contain the master kitchen used in the erection of the present animal house and zoo of the studio.

A look at the immense building in which we now stand, the large and commodious structure across the street, whose names are here are necessary for the work of the four companies grinding out comedies.

The large tank on this stage is to be the scene of a water stuff comedy, the ladies grouped on the other side of the pool ready to plunge into its pluellid depths are Louise Fazenda, Vera Steadman, and Marcel Raye.

When it comes to a pelican, and Ford Sterling, who has just returned to this studio after a long absence, will also be in the world’s humorous, is his new brooding in yonder cage, is named Percival. This is Percival’s first appearance here. We would never suspect it, is Chester Conklin. Ches is not the same looking person with his Welch appearance, is he. Chester Conklin, as well as being an actor, is also a rancher, and is engaged in the culture of the ranch in his leisure time before the camera as well as many human actors. William, the goat, being very strong, and able to carry around the mascot, is said to have been much enjoyed by the Sheriff Neill stories. Staged to the right, the zoo, where are confined a bear, a collection of comically attired rabbits, a half dozen dogs, a large brunette goat named William, Mrs. Pepper, a humorous comedy cut about whom there is a scandal, and her six kittens.

All of these animals are trained and able to carry on with the stories and the zoo is a popular attraction.

As we proceed to our next stop a few words on the slapstick comedy will not be amiss. It is the only theatrical art that has had much development because of the part played in their early development by the slapstick, an ingenious combination of comic devices used by Shakespeare when he was managing a little theater called the Globe in Hounditch, a neighborhood of 42nd and Broadway of London at that time. The slapstick is made by fastening two barrel-like shapes side by side, applying it in a violent manner to the person of a comedian immediately below the player. The force is increased when he is springing in a southerly direction. A loud snapping noise is produced, which never seems to affect the player.

The slapstick was introduced to the movies along with other of the finer and subtler technique of the regular stage, in an early day.

There are two distinct kinds of movie comedies, the pantomime or silent comedy, and the slapstick register, while there are many people of the so-called high brow persuasion who profess to despise the slapstick there are others who find filling a long felt want and an important place on any movie program.

Indeed, there are millions of people who heartily agree with the well known maker of this brand of films who said, “Our comedies are the best.”

Here we are at the studios where the well known L-Ko comedies are produced. Three large companies of comedians are employed at this modern giggle works, to say nothing of Hughie Mack, who is large enough—and a great many people think funny enough—to form an entire company all by himself.

The somewhat heavy set gentleman walks the campus of the picture company’s native sons and other Californians. Engaged in boosting the climate he has tried to get from the California sun, his robust physique is a result of our beneficent weather, but Hughie says that the climate of California has done nothing to add to his avoirdupois, and he has pictures taken before he came West to prove it. He is the salubrious Flushing district of Brooklyn, his one-time native hearth.

The slender young man approaching is Eddie. His name is wearing a corset, but as you will observe, he does not hide it as many of our younger men do. He wears his corset with frankness and abandon on the outside of his clothes. Yes, Lady, comedians do indicate some strange and weird things.

The man in the wide hat with Eddie is Director Charles Parrott. They are talking over a comedy, or, in studio parlance, "douping up" a gag.
All Hustling to Win Pershing Trophy

Exchange Managers from New York to San Francisco Announce Their Intention of Pulling Down the Big Prize Offered by this Publication for the Most Intensive Booking of "Pershing's Crusaders"

N
EWS of the offer of the Moving Picture World to present a handsome bronze trophy to the exchange showing the greatest percentage of bookings for "Pershing's Crusaders" before September 1 has had time to reach San Francisco and come back by wire, and one of the first telegrams to be received came from Sol Lesser, of the California State Defense Council. He sent:

"Accept your invitation to compete for trophy to be awarded for the placing of United States war film, 'Pershing's Crusaders,' to the exchange booking the highest percentage of theaters in any territorial division of the United States. Want to congratulate you upon this wonderfully patriotic offer. Am sure it will stimulate the booking of this great picture throughout the country. California hopes to capture the prize. Don't you think length of run and rentals received should enter into determining the award?"

Mr. Lesser raises an interesting point, but Mr. Lesser does not get our angle. This publication believes that it is doing a patriotic service if it can aid in any degree to stimulate the bookings of this film. It is not interested in the rentals received.

It desires merely to get the subject before the greatest number of persons, that the greatest good may be done. This may suggest that the award should be made upon the basis of showing. When you carefully consider this angle, you will find it the wrong basis.

The trophy is to be awarded to the exchange doing the most intensive work for the film. All exchanges must have an even chance or the exchanges with the smaller territories will be lost in the great wave of enthusiasm. This is a basis worth considering. The fair basis is the number of houses in which the film is shown in proportion to the number of houses within the territory of the booking agency. It is no more difficult to book the film for a week or two in a Chicago house, for example, than it would be to book the same film for one day in a town of three or four thousand. The advantage would all lie in favor of the exchange having the greater number of large cities. The proportion of booking to possible bookings is the only fair basis of award.

New York Exchange Aims at 99 Per Cent.

Naturally Carey Wilson, of the New York exchange, was one of the first to declare his organization in the fight. He gets the right angle, for he writes:

"Since we have already realized that the desire of the Government Committee on Public Information is to have 'Pershing's Crusaders' exhibited in every theater in the United States, it hardly needed your wonderful offer to stimulate us to further efforts, but I can assure you that should it be the good fortune of this exchange to realize our ambition of exhibiting in every house in our territory, we shall be doubly proud of our work if we gain the trophy.

"You may rest assured that we are not daunted by the magnitude of the task before us, and have placed as our goal a percentage of not less than 99, if such should be found possible by the united efforts of our organization."

It will not be an easy job to completely cover Greater New York, but Mr. Wilson has already started on the job. He was an exhibitor in a suburban town, and he can be counted upon to stir his staff to the utmost. He gets the exact angle of the contest. We want to help the film to a showing in every theater in the United States.

Floyd Brown, of Indianapolis, is brief, but to the point. He writes:

"Thanks for your splendid offer to exchange men handling 'Pershing's Crusaders.' Indiana always goes over one hundred percent, yet has been better than 90.

"That's the right idea. The exchange that can do better than 100 per cent, is going to do some tall hustling in the hot weather weeks, but it is possible to do better than one hundred. More power to Mr. Brown and his cohorts.

From Pittsburgh, Pa., comes a wire from Joseph S. Skirboll, in which he says:

"Congratulations on the patriotic spirit that induced you to make this wonderful effort for a trophy for the exchange booking 'Pershing's Crusaders' in the greatest percentage of houses. We are going in to win this prize!"

And from reports received it is evident that Mr. Skirboll started his men hustling even before he sat down to write out the telegram.

Holan Says 'Send It Now.'

We hope that C. E. Holan, of A. H. Blank Enterprises, is not premature in his demand that the trophy be sent him right away. He writes:

"Sincere thanks for your co-operation and initiative in offering a trophy to exchange men for 'Pershing's Crusaders' bookings. Our crew is working night and day in their effort to get this beautiful tablet. You may as well send it now. We have won it already."

That's the right sort of spirit, but we shall have to wait until after September 1 to send out the trophy, but if Mr. Holan has a nail and a hammer he can start now to make a place for it. With the silk flag that is inserted in the eagle's claws the spread is a few inches, but six feet, and it will drop about four and a half feet. That blank space on the wall in Mr. Holan's office can be filled in with a temporary sign that will spur his salesmen to new endeavors. It is not difficult to sell this patriotic number.

It is a direct message from the Government to its people. It is the spoken word of our Chief Executive put into pictures. It tells what has been done and what is being done to back up the brave boys across the water who have made the world such enthusiasm and surprise and made even the boche realize that the Kaiser and his High Command were palpably liars when they assured their deluded subjects that the Americans could not and would not fight and that this great war was merely sending over a few thousand men. Those 'few thousand'—plus—have kept the Germans goose-stepping it back to Berlin the past week, and there could not be a more timely subject for showing or reshowing than 'Pershing's Crusaders.'

Wherein Fabian Differes From His Namesake.

Even Paterson, N. J., once accounted a stronghold of pro-Germanism is over the top with Pershing, for Jacob Fabian, of the Regent, writes:

"In all my years of exhibiting I can truly say I have never seen so much enthusiasm or heard such applause. It got every audience on its feet. The first day's attendance was good and it grew daily thereafter until there was a long waiting line, and this in Graduation Week, one of our hardest times as a rule."

At the Garden, Des Moines, people stood in line for hours to see the film, and hundreds are being turned away from the Garden, Washington, D. C. In St. Paul, with a 100 per cent, temperature, hundreds were turned away at every performance and the same report comes all over the country. It is a profitable sort of patriotism to show "Pershing's Crusaders," and it should be easy to sell at least 95 per cent. of any territory. The handsomest trophy ever awarded in the history of the motion picture is waiting for the exchange that shows the biggest percentage.

RAVER'S THREE-REELER A WINNER.

Confirming Harry Raver's contention that "length does not contribute a feature," Harold Edel's experiment with "Outwitting the Hun," a three-reel subject, imported by Raver and shown at the Strand during the week of June 30, proved eminently successful. Harold Edel was so pleased at the outcome of the experiment that he wrote Mr. Raver:

"Without question your picture was one of the most delightful novelties that I have ever had the pleasure of running at the Strand and was enjoyed immensely by our audiences; in fact, I considered it the outstanding feature on the bill."
Kalem's Continuous Performance

Perfected Machine That Winds Perfect Film on Reel With a One Interchangeable Attachment

CHICAGO boasts that out at Packettstown they have buildings into one end of which they drive live pigs which emerge at the other in the form of hams, shaving brushes, lard, spare ribs, cigar cases and bacon. This statement is not entirely true, but it is practically true. The motion picture business, but in the Kalem laboratories they are showing a machine that comes close to that.

Kalem does not brag about the hugeness of its buildings. The Times Building, which has been located in a loft building in the heart of the commercial district, where they estimate space by square inches instead of feet or yards, and compactness has ever been a consideration.

When the company started out they had a small batch of film and turned its laboratories over to commercial printing, meeting the demand has been a problem. Kalem has ever been noted for perfect photography and orders poured in. Now with a lot of Government work in addition speed is more than ever an essential, and the new machine is a triumph.

It is safe to say that the Kalem plant is now the most compact laboratory in the world. A single machine is capable of turning out a million feet a week to each eight-hour day. The work is done automatically, and the assistants are a small army of developers, and the situation is closely akin to that in the shot tower of the American Smelting and Refining Company, where the few men employed are able to see to it that the trouble is to keep them in the building. It is not quite as bad as that with Kalem, but the people who have charge of the machine are more than charged with the duty of seeing that the action is continuous.

Positive stock is printed in the usual manner on Duplex printers, which have a capacity of three rolls of film at one time, or 1,200 feet, with but two splices. These 1,200-foot reels are then sent to the developing machine.

In most up-to-date laboratories the shorter lengths would be wound upon reels, immersed in soapstone developing tanks and removed from time to time that the progress of the development might be judged. Then the reels would be removed from the tanks, put into the wicker bottles, another washing tank and finally sent to the drying room to be hung up until ready to be reeled. All of this requires innumerable handlings and is largely dependent upon the skill of the operators.

In the Kalem machine the full 1,200-foot reel is placed upon the spindle and the end is attached by leader to the previous roll. Once it starts on its half-mile journey it is not handled until the full reel is taken off the other end. By this automatic system a temperature is maintained that the developer is held within half a degree of the proper temperature for as long as the film is in motion, and the rate of travel is so planned that frequent inspection can be made twice a day as progress is made or interfering with or interrupting its progress. If necessary the film can be arrested as it passes through the machine, and toning would probably be practicable, though as yet this has not been attempted.

At a proper point the film emerges from the dark room and passes by daylight to the driers. Here frequent hypometric readings permit adjustments to be made that permit the film to be dried in not less than fifteen minutes nor more than eighteen, experiment having shown that the greatest perfection of product requires that film be dried within these limits. In the entire trip the movement is continuous, and once the developer has been brought to the proper temperature, the machine can be run continuously without delay, and it is generally not necessary to stop the machine to re-spool as may be made within the margin of safety.

When the drying cabinet is passed the film is wound upon another reel, and it is possible to turn out a thousand-foot reel with but two splices to the entire length. Should the film break for any reason—and it is seldom that the film does break, in spite of the enormous tension to which it is subjected—the machine stops, and the delay is practically instantaneous, and it is generally not necessary to stop the machine to respool as may be done within the margin of safety.

The machine has been in actual operation for something like three months and, being built in duplicate, can turn out 500,000 feet of film an hour, which represents the six-day, eight-hour shift, yet it is so compact that it requires but a fraction of the floor space of one loft, so light that it comes within the weight limit for loft buildings and is so planned that it can be taken down, removed and set up in a new location, if necessary, within a week.

Rack development is still used for negatives and for toning at present, but even here compactness is as important for efficiency, and a tremendous amount of work can be performed within a limited space, and yet there is no sign that the company is crowded, and if one of our two machines should be broken down owing to some accident less than three feet square permit an inspection of every foot of film without the waste of long throws, and there is even room for a chemical laboratory, for Kalem is unusual in this respect. Therefore he is spending much time and effort on the first shortage in chemicals was experienced they even made their own developing reagents. In addition it is a licensed distillery, but that will not help any if the prohibition law goes through, for the still is used only for solutions and the license is merely for the purpose of keeping a line on the retort.

It is a pity that the mechanical niceties of the machine may not be gone into at greater length, for it is easily the most compact laboratory of its kind that there are, but two other machines known, both of which are older models and vastly heavier. It is an achievement to be proud of from every angle.

---

Reicher to Lecture to World Cameramen

Director Will Discourse to Them on What Constitutes Drama and How to Photograph It.

ONE of the main requisites for being a good director is a large fund of general information embracing all phases of the motion picture business, as well as things generally, says Frank Reicher, who is now directing Louise Hay Cameron at the Kalem Company in Chicago. Mr. Reicher realizes that for even the best productions the advertising and publicity adjuncts must be attractive and magnetic in order to stimulate box office activity. Therefore he is spending much time and effort in getting effective and interesting "still.""Lobby displays, lithographs, slides, heralds and newspaper cuttings are all made from 'still' taken during the filming of a picture," says Mr. Reicher, "and consequently if they are interesting and lacking in dramatic intensity the advertising and publicity material will reflect this fact. It is easy enough to get good 'still' once the photographer has a thorough understanding of what drama is."

Mr. Reicher is preparing to give a talk at the World studio in Fort Lee to cameramen and others who are interested on the subjects of what constitutes drama and how to put it into still pictures. One of his talks is to be on the photography action with the sea wolf—"the use of the snapshot as distinguished from the posed still.""

---

Ovations Greet Clara Kimball Young

Player's Tour Through Western Country Marked by Large Outpourings of the Public.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG's personal appearance tour of the western coast this week is being managed by Harry Garson for the purpose of recruiting eligibles for United States Navy enlistments has proved a remarkable success. While en route to New York from San Francisco, where she dedicated the Red Cross tea room in the California Theater Building, Miss Young stopped to make short visits in the cities of Portland, Oregon, Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane, Wash. It is announced that the entire tour has been one continuous demonstration of western loyalty and patriotism.

Upon arrival in Portland Miss Young was honored one of the most enthusiastic welcomes ever accorded a player in the city. A mile-long procession awaited her, made up of Oregon state and city officials, army and navy officers, foreign officers, with Major Baker and the United States Marine division heading the parade.

In Seattle Miss Young was met by a navy band consisting of 140 pieces, accompanying the governor. The line of march led from the railway station to the Washington Hotel, during which time ten speeches were made en route. The one automobile in the parade carried the governor and the public officials. There were Indians and marines, with five bands, participated in a parade. Charles M. Schwab and a party of friends reviewed the parade from the grandstand in front of the Washington Hotel.

At Tacoma Miss Young was met by the mayor of the city, and received a two-minute ovation. There are 750 troops from Camp Lewis. During her short stay in the city she was elected an honorary member of the Chamber of Commerce, and made two speeches in behalf of Government enlistments.

Miss Young's welcome to Spokane was equally enthusiastic. The mayor of the city, prominent citizens and the United States Army post greeted her on arrival and paraded.
Where Service Really Serves

Goldwyn Publicity Starts with the Chief Executive and Continues Effective Until the Last Small Town Has Been Played

ProBably no one man can claim credit for being the first to use the much abused word, "service." It began in the mercantile trade papers and seemed to break out in the picture game overnight—like a rash. One day the word was in the dictionary, the next it occupied all over the announcements and manufacturers and smeared the trade sheets. Everyone was talking service, but the trouble was that it mostly ended in talk. Most large production companies talk service. Most trade papers have service bureaus. They can manage with a service capital with a letter, but the trouble is that the man who most needs service to help him sell his wares complains that he gets no service.

The chief trouble seems to be that service starts as a headline in the trade papers and stops at the same place. Where it does go further, those who most need its aid get little of it. Where an honest effort is made really to give service it is "too much Broadway," to quote one aggrieved exhibitor. Most service runs on four-column layouts and lobby ideas that require the cooperation of a scene studio and the employment of a property man. The house able to afford these adjuncts does not need the service bureau. It can also afford an advertising man. It has house managers, patronage and the field from which to draw a greater clientele. It can take huge spaces in the newspapers and employ costly lobby effects. It probably does all those things and mostly in its own way. It is the house and not the run exhibitor who most needs the help. The man who can get the high priced runs has also the money for an advertising man and an artist. The man who puts his future in pawn when he books an exchange run feature and who cannot afford large layout is the man who must be helped to sell his subjects, for unpaid he cannot do so. If he were competent he would probably be in a larger house in a better town. Service to serve must care for the great and small alike. The sort of service to which Goldwyn company pins its faith.

McLaren Was Enthusiastic.

It is to an exhibitor and not the Goldwyn officials that this story owes its inception. Most of you know W. S. McLaren, of the Majestic and Colonial, Jackson, Mich., if you read the Advertising Business department. Mr. McLaren just happened to visit to New York the other day and of course he dropped in to see the Moving Picture World. He came across the street from the Goldwyn offices, the last call on his list of companies supplying his theaters with news, and he fairly bubbled over with enthusiasm at the Goldwyn service.

"They have a real system," he declared. "They have a hundred or so stills on every release, and if you need any they can turn them right out of the file. They have got the stars who are coming up instead of falling back, and they help the exhibitor to sell them to the public. They don't try to make money out of the exhibitor until they have shown him how he can make money out of the pictures themselves. I tell you it's a treat to see the way they handle things."

And so, appreciating a non-alcoholic treat, this writer went to see, too, and the result is this story, which really is a joint interview with Fred B. Warren, the chief executive, and David Stillman, the service manager. The quotations marks are lacking, but this is merely to prevent confusion over the dual personality of the interviewed.

The Goldwyn Creed.

Mr. Warren is an enthusiast on salesmanship. His idea of the ideal first product of a film business is to sell film to the ultimate consuming public rather than to the exchange or exhibitor. He does not use superlatives about stars or productions, the vastness of his studios or the excellence of his plays. He will say, "There is a world of interest in any play which has seen better days." The playing of "The Goldwyn Creed"—a heart-interest play with ample action—but it is not until you mention salesmanship that he really takes full interest. Probably nothing will more clearly show to Mr. Warren than the extract from a letter he had just written to Hunt Stromberg, who is to have charge of the new house organ, the Gold-winner.

He first teach the buyers of our pictures how to attract the public—how to sell our shows at a profit to the exhibitors themselves.

We must remember that 90 odd per cent of the exhibitors have no large financial resources; that whatever exploitation they do must cost them little or nothing; that the big, prosperous first run accounts are not criterions and that most of the big houses with their own facilities will reject your suggestions. You are appealing to the sensibilities of the little fellows.

I have in mind certain elements of the old Success magazine without its sugary stickiness. I want to teach the exhibitors—most of whom sell motion pictures by the roll—how to play the past releases—the little fellows who most need help.

Mr. Stromberg, by the way, is a good example of the Goldwyn method of picking men. He is not a motion picture man. He is the son of an advertising agent and himself grew up in that business. He was engaged not because he knows pictures, but because he knows selling through experiences in all its angles, with the intimate knowledge of the man who sells advertising. Mr. Warren does not believe in hiring men merely because they know about motion pictures. He hires them because they know about the importance of the trade. He is much more inclined to tell a new man about pictures than to tell him a picture man, rutted in the old fashioned methods, about selling. In planning a new house organ he got a thoroughly practical advertising man who is now giving his motion picture training.

Prefers Salesmanship to Film Knowledge.

In the same way the exchange managers have been picked for their selling knowledge. His exchange manager in Seattle, for example, comes from the Western Electric Company and never sold an inch of film until he took up the Goldwyn product. The head of the Denver office came out of a packing house and the Los Angeles man came from a large department store. The nearest approach to a picture man was, a newspaper editor who runs a big supply house in Atlanta for a side line, and handles Goldwyn in the southeast.

As in the case of Mr. Stromberg, Mr. Warren figures that it is easier to tell a salesman how to sell films than to make a film man into the right sort of a salesman, so he picked good salesmen and educated them by correspondence; not by means of a series of cut and dried form letters, but through a live correspondence framed to fit the make-up of the man he is writing to and dealing with. The problems of the man himself is facing. The first lesson that a salesman learns is that an exhibitor cannot pay his rental bills unless he can dispose of the film to the public. The second lesson is that the average exhibitor is not an advertiser. To be successful he must advertise, and so it has impressed upon him that to collect his bills he must first help the exhibitor to do the right sort of advertising. Service is more than a word in the Goldwyn offices—it is an important lesson from Mr. Warren down to the nethermost office boy the one big thought is "help the exhibitor make money with us."

And the exchange manager does not take his cue from the office. He is not afraid to think for himself. That he does so is shown by one recent letter. The exchange manager wrote that he had the opportunity to enlist the services of M. J. Brandt, formerly with the B. F. Keith enterprises and more lately with the Stillman theater. He wrote that with Mr. Brandt on the staff he was certain he could increase business by a material sum.

Yet Mr. Brandt was not employed as a salesman. He was a veteran showman, and it was his business to teach showmanship, not to sell films. He "sat in" with the local manager on Goldwyn pictures. He showed him how to advertise in order to get the most money, and he stayed with one group of exhibitors only long enough to be certain that they now could do it by themselves and went on to another set of houses. He simply spreads the gospel of advertising among Goldwyn exhibitors. He shows them how to "clean up" on these and other releases. And business in the Cleveland district has exceeded the estimated increase.

The idea will be used in the other exchanges, but not until the right man can be found. No one will be appointed with the official title and supposed to make good because he carries this title. In each office a man must be found who knows that territory, for advertising methods differ, and the man who would really aid must be a man who knows his territory. More than that he must be a teacher; must be able to communicate his knowledge to others quickly and lastingly. He must be able to put on a few subjects in such a way that the exhibitor gets a great light on the whole theory of advertising film. To merely announce service men is not sufficient. Most of the Goldwyn salesmen know enough about advertising to qualify as "experts," the service man must be something more than a surface scratcher.

As it stands, the Goldwyn salesmen are able to give advertising hints to their clients and the new sheet should give even more aid, but the personal interpretation of advertising methods is to be a part of the Goldwyn service.

The Future Before Them.

And Goldwyn salesmen have something to look forward to as a result of good service. The company is not overnamed at the top. The executives are few and the openings many. The men in the field know that they stand a chance of coming in to a desk in the home office and that is an incentive to hard work. The same spirit is shown by the home staff. A time clock does not form a part of the office furniture, for Mr. Warren takes a pride in the fact that stenographers and clerks, along with the higher officials, are often at their desks and hard at work half an hour or more before the official commencing time. Mr. Warren himself sometimes has to rout out the night watchman, for he has been at his desk as early as 4 o'clock, doing a day's work before breakfast.

All of this is mere preface to the real story of Goldwyn service and its planning. Mr. McLaren did not overstate when he said they had a hundred or more stills for each release. The instructions are that not fewer than fifteen stills are to be turned in for each reel of release. This gives a minimum of 75 stills for a five reel feature and 90 for six reels. In actual practice from 150 to 200 stills are made for each subject and the number may run to 300 or regular lobby display. These can be taken from the file at a moment's notice and given or sent some inquiring exhibitor. When the stock runs low others are ordered. And it must be remembered that these are not photo reproductions but actual photographs themselves. They cost more, but they are worth more.

The books tell their own stories of the care used in getting the stills. The photographs are set in the order in which they appear in the story, all from one scene being held together. The earlier in the play the scene occurs the closer to the front of the book that set of photographs is.

The cut shows two pairs of stills from "The Heart of the Sunset." It will be seen that each pair is practically like the other, but one is bound to be better than the other and the better of the two can be chosen. Often three or four stills are made of practically the same pose and perhaps a dozen more pictures will be taken of an important scene, showing the advancing action. As a result it is always possible to get a first class set of lobby pictures and still have others to use for general purposes or to amplify to take more than a double column space he generally prefers to make his own layouts, but a mat service is issued which offers the exhibitor the full pages used in the Moving more in the case of special pictures. And these stills are not merely shots at scenes. They aim to tell a part of the story or at least to suggest some dramatic moment.

Two Pairs of Stills from "The Heart of the Sunset." Showing a Duplication of the Poses as a Precautionary Measure.

Two sets of the stills are mounted on linen and bound in leather covers. One book goes to Mr. Warren and the other is retained in the press room, for reference. A sample still and its negative is filed in a letter case and other cases contain duplicates. Ten or fifteen sets are kept on hand for special use, apart from the sets picked out for the changes. If more prints are desired they can be had from the exchange or from the home office, but no house could possibly show the three hundred odd pictures used for "Polly of the Circus," for example. From another angle, the exhibitor in a town who plays a picture after the first showing can offer the newspapers new prints for the photo-play page and for advertising cuts.

Both Cuts and Mats.

Some of the stills are worked up into stock advertising displays which are offered the exhibitors in both electros and mats as may be most convenient. Four of these are a double column width and two double column size. One of each is short and the other deep, supplying practically all ordinary needs. It has been found that where an exhibitor desires to take more than a double column space he generally prefers to make his own layouts, but a mat service is issued which offers the exhibitor the full pages used in the Moving

A Photograph of the Drawings from Which the Larger Exhibitors May Make Up Their Own Layouts or Reproduce in Enlargement.
August 3, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD, 693

Picture World, but provided with a newspaper screen cut in place of the fine screen halftone.

If you will notice these Goldwyn full pages you will see that they serve as well for the public as for the exhibitor, for Mr. Warren's theory is that the exhibitor is merely the public once removed and that what appeals to him will appeal to his patron. For this reason you will find that the subject pages for Goldwyn carry a punch appeal instead of "greatest ever" and similar superlatives. It is the aim to catch attention through an interest-getting line rather than through the use of monstrous adjectives. Take "The Venus Model," for example. It does not announce "the popular star" but "the girl who found a fortune in a bathing suit." The exhibitors and most of the public know that Miss Normand is a popular star, but the allusion to the bathing suit, when accompanied by a smashing picture of the suit and the star attracts attention. The advertisement "sells" the exhibitor and he uses the same line to "sell" his patrons.

This was being done long before this talk arose of producers turning their advertising pages into service bureaus. Goldwyn had already solved the problem. The catch phrases were there, the cut was there and all that was necessary was to use them. The mat will give newspaper screen and the clipped page can be used for the lobby display, either plain or touched up with the brush to cover a larger surface.

Special Drawing Sheets.

For the man who wants to make his own layouts there are the scene cuts and a special photograph sheet giving the reproduction on highly glazed paper of nine of the first hits that made advertisements. These are photographs of the drawings and the blacks are jet black and the whites absolutely white. It is the same as though the exhibitor had been handed original drawings, for the photography is so clear that enlargement to any size within newspaper limits is entirely practicable. The general proportions of width and height must be observed, but the one column cut can be used to fill a whole page or more if desired, or the cut may be routed to let in other type. The illustration shows an original layout made from a portion of one of these sheets by the Standard theater, Cleveland. The figure was cut out only necessary to cut them out to use them as the attractor of a drawn in background which may be mortised for type or hand lettered in proportion.

The Goldwyn Packets.

Four weeks before any Goldwyn subject is released all exhibitors who do a reasonably large business are sent a packet of material. This was handed to the first run houses alone, but the larger of the second flight. In each packet is a post card invoice which is to be returned as an acknowledgment of receipt, to guard against omissions. If any material has been omitted, the deficiency is at once made good. To check delivery the packages are sent by first class mail, special delivery, registered and with a return receipt demanded. If there is no receipt received the fact is noted and a tracer is sent or another package forwarded. The packet which is sent in a special envelope, stiffened with board, contains stills and portraits in quantities varying with the house and its needs. The post-card reproduced here was returned by the Strand theater, Erie, Pa. The contents of the package consisted of twenty stills, five portraits and two press sheets. Two press sheets are always sent, as they are printed on both sides. There is material on both sides for clipping, and it is little more expensive to send two than to send an eight-pager printed on one side only.

The press sheet, of course, lists all other aids, and these may be ordered from the exhibitor in ample time for first run. The regular lobby displays, which are supplied in 8 by 10 inches and 11 by 14 inches, are different from these special shipments. The press sheet also suggests a campaign in keeping with the picture, and this campaign varies with each subject. In this it differs from many press campaigns in which the title seems to be the chief variant.

No Trade-Marks Used.

And there is no immense Goldwyn trade-mark plastered all over the cuts and mats. Mr. Warren does not feel that he has a right to require the exhibitor to do his advertising for him. The line "It's a Goldwyn" is generally used, often being placed where it may be routed out if desired, but there are no three-sheet displays to overshadow the house signature.

One recent innovation is the use of the editorial advertisement. This advertisement is an adaptation of the editorial style of the Hearst newspapers and is used on the proposition that if the editorials contribute so materially to the circulation of these papers the same idea will profit the exhibitor. But the adaptation is not merely a physical copy of this style. The text itself is patterned after the Brisbane style. It is not so much the manner in which the type is set that counts. It is the thought back of the type; the realization that simple argument, simply presented, is more forceful than the grandiloquent parade of many-syllabled words. They take the essence of the story, present it in simple phrase, but with a cunning appeal to the emotions. It is recommended that it be set in the general style of the Hearst papers, double column, leaded, short paragraphs and a generous use of all capital words. An excerpt from the first story, on The Service Flag, gives the idea.

THE SERVICE FLAG of the warm-blooded, nation-loving millions who have made this the greatest country the world has ever known.

The star of the negro cabin in Alabama, where a black boy has gone from the Cotton Belt.
The star of a Columbia River salmon fisherman. The star of a waiter in a New York Chinese restaurant in New York's submerged civilization. The star of the millionaire or the millionaire's son rubbing elbows with the son of his mother's laundress. The honor token of a Great Lakes deck-hand and a California fruit packer.

One hundred million people are today thinking of these assorted products of our American civilization who are being re-made in the crucible of war. It looks like simple stuff to write, but it is not easy if it is properly done, for it takes a keen appreciation of the story and an equally good sense of how to express the idea in print. Similarly, it is not easy to decide how to put the idea into a scheme for putting out a poster. To show how an idea is followed through by Goldwyn, when the first of these advertisements was prepared, a letter was sent to the advertising managers of the leading newspapers in the cities and towns in the region. A new scheme and suggesting that he get after Goldwyn users to take up the new form. It meant a larger space, in most cases, which interested the advertising manager, and made him a personal local "plugger." It meant more business for the firm, which is why the advertising manager was turned loose.

To Help the Exhibitor the Idea.

In most instances the press department strives to get out good looking advertisements and nice sounding stunts. These please the chief executives who seldom know what good advertising means. If it sounds all right and properly features the company and its products, and is pronounced good, other than it has pulling power or not. It is not sufficient to show Mr. Warren pretty advertising. He wants effective advertising and more, he knows what will and will not be effective. He wants a scene out of the story, something for a line that makes a good idea problem. He is not content to present Mac Mae Marsh merely as herself, popular as she is. He wants a line drawing attention to the predicament in which Miss Marsh finds herself in this particular picture. From the points of view of the public wants to know the main line of the story and the complex of the problem. If a scene cut is used it is more than necessary for ease in making it interesting with a line telling what the scene means and rousing interest in the story. The tabloids must illustrate the story and then be presented in words as well as picture to get the double appeal.

And the service is not ended until the last man in the smallest town has been shown, personally, if necessary, how to make money with that picture. The exhibitor, large and small, is regarded as a partner in the Goldwyn enterprise. He knows that success means prosperity.

Service that really sells: "Service that really sells," might well be the Goldwyn slogan, for the press department and the selling end is not content until every possible exhibitor has been hooked up and helped to clean up with a story. Mr. McLaren was right. It is a treat to survey the Goldwyn service and trace it to its end, for the end comes only when no further service is possible.

World Film to Classify Posters

A NEW help has been arranged for World customers. It is an important link in the World service chain, as it guarantees that every exhibitor will receive the particular kind of paper best suited to meet his requirements. It is the custom when issuing lithographs to have them include, when the action of the play permits, a one-sheet and a three-sheet poster depicting intensely dramatic situations (fights, murders, etc.), and the other one-sheet and the other three-sheet depicting love scenes or scenes of heart interest or pathos or straight portraits, all strongly appealing, but of a character entirely unlike the other posters.

Arrangements have been now completed whereby a distinctive mark is placed on all the paper so that the theater catering to a class attracted by the ultra-melodramatic will receive the poster that will bring him the most. By the same token the theater of an opposite kind will receive the paper that will appeal most forcefully to its patrons. Arrangements for putting this plan into effect have been perfected and the necessary orders issued to branches and salesmen.

Break Wires to Stop Gerard Film

Performance of "My Four Years in Germany" Interfered With—How Would Be Buyer Was Interned.

W HAT looked to Manager Kelly of the Lincoln theater, Massillon, Ohio, like a well defined plot to prevent displaying "The Four Years in Germany," Ambassador Gerard's story of his experiences at the Kaiser's court, was discovered about 3 o'clock on a Tuesday afternoon when the picture house was suddenly plunged into darkness, says a recent issue of the Evening Independent of Massillon, and the picture abruptly stopped. Manager Kelly made a hurried investigation and traced the trouble to the rear of the theater building, where it was found that the wires furnishing the electric current had been cut or broken in two. The electric light company was notified, and linemen were dispatched to the theater and the break repaired. Expert wiremen declared that the wires had been tampered with.

In connection it was learned that when the picture was first shown to the producers in this country one man offered $550,000 for the rights in America. In less than two weeks this man was interned in a German camp by Government agents on other charges. It was supposed that if he could strike the producers in this country the picture never would have been shown publicly.

Washington Men Face Express Difficulties

New American Railway Organization Serves Notice on Exchanges There'll Be But Two Collections.

THERE is a great deal of consternation in the Washington exchanges following the notification received by them from Robert E. Kibbe, general manager of the new organization resulting from the consolidation of all of the companies that hereafter only two pick-up calls would be made daily, at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. It is the feeling of the managers that this will not be at all adequate and that they might just as well have no calls at all as to have these. Since the first of the month the express service has become more troublesome than at any other time except perhaps during the embargo period.

The National Association of Managers' Association is doing all that it can to arrive at more efficient means of getting films to the exhibitors in the territory. To this end a committee, consisting of W. F. Wilson, chairman; Vivian Mack; E. S. Honig; and Henry F. Elder, has been set up to confer with the express officials to see what can be done toward more satisfactory service. Being on the job here this committee will be able to do good work for the benefit of the whole country, for it is felt that if a schedule of this kind is laid out for Washington a similar practice will be adopted in other large cities.

STERNBERG DOING GOVERNMENT WORK.

Joe Sternberg, of the World Pictures laboratory, who has had charge of all film for this concern from the time it left the laboratory until it was shipped to the branches, has joined the photographic division of the signal corps. Mr. Sternberg has been stationed at Columbia University, where he will be engaged in important work connected with the preparation of a film which will be used as an aid in training recruits. This film will show the molding of a citizen into a soldier, from his induction into the army to his advancement on the field of battle, and will include the first steps in training, such as learning to salute, the manual of arms, etc., up to bayonet practice and bombing.

For the past nine months Mr. Sternberg has been in the employment of the World Pictures laboratory for World Pictures. During this time he was employed by the War College in an advisory capacity supervising laboratory work for the Government at the Paragon studio.

GILROY (CAL.) THEATER CHANGES OWNERS.

The World Theater, which has had a successful record under the management of Mrs. Anna Wicker, who has been operating the place since her two brothers, the original owners of the World, joined the army, has been sold to C. D. Stickley and Harry Brooks, of San Francisco.
How Schade Got 'Em

For "The Venus Model"

H ow one exhibitor made the most of a roid Normand's appearance in her recent Goldwyn production, "The Venus Model," is demonstrated by report from Sandusky, Ohio, where the picture enjoyed a highly successful two-day run at the Schade theater.

George J. Schade, manager of the theater, utilized his knowledge of showmanship and advertising in the most practical and original way, and with the aid of first-class Expert Brandt, of the Goldwyn Cleveland branch offices, a swimming contest, open to all women of high complexion, was staged in Sandusky Bay.

The contest was held Saturday, July 13, in two days in advance of the showing of "The Venus Model." Ample newspaper publicity was given the event and enthusiasm reached fever heat when it was announced that a handsome loving cup, to be known as the Mabel Normand "Venus Model" cup, would be presented to the winner. In addition to the cup, each contestant was presented with an autographed photograph of Miss Normand. The rules of the contest barred professional swimmers, resulting in a large entry of Erie County's best amateur talent. Preliminary publicity included the publishing of a telegram sent from the Goldwyn Fort Lee studio over the signature of Miss Normand, in which "The Rainbow Girl of the Screen" officially announced her presentation of the loving cup and wished every contestant the "best of luck!"

As an added attraction, mainly to enter- tain the huge crowd which turned out to witness the event, a professional swimmer wearing the fetching Mabel Normand Venus Model bathing suit, thumbed the spectators with fancy diving and swimming stunts prior to the start of the swimming contest. The heat and when the leading mermaid swept over the line and was formally presented with the Mabel Normand trophy.

The "stunt" was a money-maker.

foFox Schedules Strong Quartette of Specials for August

Four productions from the east and west studios of William Fox are to be released as special features in August, according to a schedule just announced. This is the order in which the pictures will be issued:

- Jane and Katherine Lee in "Doling Their Bit," a fast, sprightly story of two children's war on slackers and disloyalists, written and staged by Kenean Buel.
- Glady's Brockwell in "The Bird of Prey," a story of Mexican border intrigue, love and vengeance, written by Charles Kenyon and staged by Edward J. LaSaint.
- Virginia Pearson in "The Liar," a power- ful story of an alien blood strain that brings shame and suffering to a beautiful woman, directed by Edward Lawrence.
- Peggy Hyland in "Bonnie Annie Laurie," a Scottish tale of love and patriotism written by Hamilton Thompson, and directed by Harry Millarde.

The first of the announced films, "Doing Their Bit," shows the impish Jane and Katherine in a drama of strong plot and stirring action. The Fox starlets are supported by Franklynn Hann, Gertrude Le Brandt, Beth Ivins, Alex Hall, Kate Lester, William Pollard, Almee Abbott, J. Strong, R. R. Neil and Edwin Sturgis.

"The Bird of Prey" is said to be one of the strongest plays yet created by Gladys Brockwell. The scene of the play is laid along the Mexican border during the days when Villa and his bandits were troubling the United States, and Miss Brockwell gives a powerful delineation of the American woman who sells herself to Mexican bandits to save American ranchers. Supporting Miss Brockwell are Herbert Heyes, L. C. Shumway and Willard Louis.

Virginia Pearson is nearing the completion of "The Liar," which is being directed by Mr. Lawrence at the Blackton studio in Brooklyn. The play is understood to be one of the most original in plot, and the director is said to have introduced several unusual scenes.

"Bonnie Annie Laurie" is said to be of a particularly high order of excellence. In it Miss Hyland for several scenes portrays the role of an English Red Cross nurse.

Manufacturers' Advance Notes

Triangle's "Beyond the Shadows" is Story of Canada

Director Gilbert P. Hamilton has just completed his production of "Golden Fleece," a picturization of Frederick Irving Hamilton's story by that name. It is offered as the first release of the Triangle program for the week of July 28, and features Joe Bennett and Peggy Pearce, the former Keystone comedienne. Jack Curtis, who played the Drainman in "The Servant in the House," is also in the cast.

Disappointment and discouragement follow in the trail of the penniless young inventor who buoyantly comes to the city to seek a market for his device. At first he is downcast and morose when he finds he has fallen into the hands of a patent shark. Then his despair is turned to fury, transforming the innocent country boy into a temporary desperate outlaw when he comes to believe the police are crooked.

Joe Bennett is Jason, the farmer inventor; Peggy Pearce appears as Rose, the boy's sweetheart, and Jack Curtis is Bangie, the misjudged detective through whose efforts the swindler is finally failed when Jason reaps the just reward of his labors. George Elwood Jenks scenarioized the story and Gilbert Warrenton photographed it.

"Beyond the Shadows," the second Triangle release for the week of July 28, features William Desmond with Josie Sedgwick, who appears for the second time as his leading woman. It pictures life in the Canadian woods, and the exploits of the free traders are vividly related. The cast is of unusual length, and it is said that J. W. McLaughlin, who directed the production, has secured an unusually good atmosphere for the picture.

Desmond, as Jean Du Bois, will have a chance to strengthen his reputation as a fighter for justice. As a free trader he falls in love with Eleanor Wyatt only to find that she is the wife of his long-for- gotten brother, a quilter and a smuggler who remained in the settlement of Charlestown when his parents left to seek their fortune in the northwest.

Ralph R. Westfall wrote the story, with scenario by Charles J. Wilson. Jr. Steve Norton was cameraman.

Scene from "Beyond the Shadows" (Triangle).
Scene from "The Savage Woman" (Select).

Select Denies "The Savage Woman" Will Be a Special

The Select Pictures Corporation wishes to deny officially the persistent rumors which have been in circulation, to the effect that this firm has purchased for its forthcoming production, "The Savage Woman," would be treated as a "special" and released on the open market. It is true representations have come from many quarters requesting the picture be thus handled. These requests, naturally, come from exhibitors who are not holders of Clara Kimball Young series contracts. If the Select Company were looking only to the monetary return there would be little to the argument in opposition to such a course. But Select officials are acting for the benefit of all connected and positively against thus exploiting the picture. "The Savage Woman" will be treated in every respect as one of the Clara Kimball Young series of Select pictures. This is despite the fact that this latest of Clara Kimball Young's pictures has been produced at a cost almost double that of the average subject in the series.

In "The Savage Woman" Clara Kimball Young is seen in the novel role of a girl of French extraction who has grown to maturity in the wilds of Abyssinia, where she has seen the face of no white man save that of her father, a half-savage outcast from the world of civilization. She roams the jungle, meagrely clad in the skins of animals shot by her father, bedecked with the gawgs and ornaments of savagery. When her father dies she is driven through necessity into a series of adventures the telling of which forms a most novel story. For some of these scenes it was necessary for Director Edmund Mortimer to recreate the ruins of a mammoth temple, which really exists in the Abyssinian wilderness. For other phases of the story there were created an Abyssinian village, an Italian village complete with its approaches and surroundings, and a French chateau, with its many rich interiors. A huge company was assembled in California, where the picture was made, and held together during the weeks of its filming. Miss Young's sartorial equipment, again, ranges from a meager skin worn about her body, through all the barbaric trappings of a Jowelled Priestess of Abyssinia, to the rich and varied equipment of a favorite of fashionable Parisian society striving to maintain her own against other favorites of the French capital.

The "Savage Woman" is the next succeeding production after "The Claw."

Cracks Three Ribs for Camera.

So realistic was a fight which Victor Sutherland and Edward F. Roseman, members of the William Fox company that staged "The Liar," starring Virginia Pearson, that Victor Sutherland is now going about in a surgeon's plaster, three of his ribs having been broken. Both Roseman and Sutherland are six-footers, and when Director Lawrence called for a good heman battle they went to it without any regard for the late Marquis of Queensbury. At length Roseman pierced Sutherland's guard and with a stiff right jab sent his opponent sprawling into the camera. Sutherland picked himself up and was for continuing the battle, but Director Lawrence said he was well satisfied. Later it was discovered Sutherland's three ribs were broken.

Elinor Field Picture Set for August.

The first of Elinor Field's pictures under her contract to appear in Strand-Mutual comedies will be "What Will Father Say?" released in August. The story is by Clarence A. Flammers. The picture deals with the efforts of a bride and bridegroom to make a favorable impression on the young man's father, whose violent objection to the son's marriage has cost him an interest in his dad's business.

Miss Fields has a chance to smile her most bewitching smile in this first picture, which will be an early August release.

First Betzwood Issue Is
"When East Meets West"

The title of Lady Tean Mol's first release for the Betzwood Film Company has finally been decided on and will be called "When East Meets West." That much overworked and seldom realized phrase, "something new," will be seen in both the superlatives and in "Sandy Burke," which is the second release of the company, starring Louis Bussinon, of "Johnest of You" fame. In connection with the latter sit, it is interesting to note that the scenes of Harry Leon Wilson's "Girls of the Fled Gap" and "Ma Pettigill" stories will all lay in the ranch of Louis Bussinon, in Modoc County, California, and all the characters in these stories are real men in the flesh today. "Ma Pettigill" lives there now and is in charge of the ranch manager.

Lady Tean Mol has insured her hands, arms and back against possible injury in the sum of $10,000. The full beauty of these indispensable portions of her anatomy are shown in her first release, "When East Meets West," in her scenes in Washington, America. Her back is believed to rival the famous Kitty Gordon's and other female stars who have earned a reputation of "beautiful backs."

Mutual Sets August 18 for Riley's "A Hoosier Romance"

A HOOSIER ROMANCE," by James Whitcomb Riley, produced in five from plans by William Fox, will be released by the Mutual Film Corporation August 18. It was directed by Colin Campbell. This picture is starring Helen Moore and Thomas Jefferson. Mr. Campbell is now at work on "The Country Fair," which will be released August 18.

"A Hoosier Romance" is one of the best known and most widely read of the writings of Mr. Riley, and the anticipation of the forthcoming production a cameraman was sent to Mr. Riley's home shortly after the purchase of the book, and some interesting informal pictures of the poet were filmed. These will be shown for the first time in "A Hoosier Romance."

"A Hoosier Romance" comes up to the standard that I have set for Mutual productions," declared Mr. Sheldon in an other day, "and it is expected that the motion picture exhibitors that no production will be released over the Mutual network that will reach the best in screen art and does not offer money-making opportunities for the exhibitor. "A Hoosier Romance" does both."

Another Star in Her Service Flag.

The list of service stars in Leah Baird's dressing room is growing. The most recent addition was occasioned by the enlistment of her brother-in-law, Emmett Beek, in the naval forces of Uncle Sam. Mr. Beek is well known in motion picture circles, having been a member of the Imp, Victor and Vitagraph stock companies, as well as having at different times appeared in financial quarters. Previous to his motion picture experience he worked in vaudeville and also worked as a pianist. He is a finished musician both in band and orchestra.

Sixteen Ebonies Have Been Released.

Sixteen Ebonies have been released by General Film Company, according to a statement issued this week, and the increasing demand for these subjects is making necessary the working out of production plans far in advance. A surprise in the release of these pictures for a domestic market was in "When You Hit, Hit Hard." The climax comes when the changes from a closeup at a long shot, showing all the action that has transpired in a motion picture studio with director and cameraman in the continuity.

"Triple Trouble" Is New Essanay-Chaplin Comedy

ESSENY announces the release of a new Charlie Chaplin comedy, "Triple Trouble." This picture is in the usual length of Chaplin comedies, two parts. The comedy is new throughout. Although Chaplin has not been working with Essanay for some years the company states that this film is not a reissue, nor a rehash, but a new film in its entirety.

The film was made when Chaplin was working with Essanay, but was not issued at the time. It was decided to hold it up for a more opportune time for release. There had been but one new Chaplin film issued in several months, George K. Spoor, president of Essanay, decided that the time was ripe for its release. While the market has been flooded with reissues and old films it was believed the public would eagerly welcome an entirely new comedy by the master comedian.

The comedy is declared to be full of the famous Chaplin antics, replete with Chaplin humor and bringing over with the genuine Chaplin fun.

The film was taken at the Essanay studios on the Coast and several thousand feet made. It has been carefully edited down to two reels so as to snap with action and life.

The comedy is being released through the George Kleine system and prints have been shipped to all the branch offices and exhibitors invited to see the film for themselves.

The full amount of advertising is being got out on this comedy, more material in fact than on the usual feature production. This will include a full line of paper with snappy scenes from the play, slides, window cards, lobby displays, 11 by 14 and 22 by 28, both in color and sepia, cuts of scenes, mats, stills, press sheets and advertising hints for exhibitors.

Princeton Campus in World-Picture.

An altogether unusual honor was recently bestowed on World-Pictures when Princeton University permitted the use of its campus for the filming of a number of important scenes in a new picture, "The Unveiling Hand," in which Kitty Gordon is starred. The picture for this reason ought to be of intense interest to all sons of "Old Nassau" and also for the additional reason that unconsciously a number of Princeton professors who were on the campus at the time posed before the camera and were included in several of the scenes. Some of these Princetonians also gave permission for the use of the campus they insisted that the manuscript be submitted to them for approval.

Fine Cast Behind Emily Stevens in "Kildare of Storm"

Harry L. Franklin, who is to direct Emily Stevens in "Kildare of Storm," has assembled an unusually splendid cast in support of the young star.

King Baggot, he of widespread fame and popularity among movie fans, will play the role opposite Miss Stevens, namely, that of Clayborn Kildare, the young southern. Although the parts formerly played by Mr. Baggot have been many and varied, of wide range in type and big opportunities in character and delineation, the role of Clayborn Kildare gives this sterling actor one of the best in his entire career, calling, as it does, for the most subtle psychology of motives, the most delicate shadings of characterization— in other words, a far reaching knowledge of human nature.

The Jacques Benoix of the piece will be played by Crawford Kent, who thus makes his Metro debut, although he is well known to lovers of the photoplay. Mrs. Benoix will be played by Mrs. Maggie Breyer, an established favorite with Metro audiences. Another Metro actress is also a member of Miss Stevens' company. Helen Lindroth who will play Mrs. Leigh, the mother of Kate Kildare—Emily Stevens. It was in another mother role that Miss Lindroth made her first appearance before a Metro camera, in support of Emmy Wheelwright in "The House of Gold." Edward Davis will play the lawyer.

"Kildare of Storm," was originally the first novel of book length by Eleanor Merceen Kelly, who, at the time of its publication had already won for herself an enviable position among the short story writers. Mr. Franklin will be assisted in directing Miss Stevens by P. Thad Volkman who has been a member of the Metro staff for some time.

"Over the Top" for Liberty Theaters.

"Over the Top," Vitagraph's famous war special with Sergeant Arthur Guy Empey, is to be shown to Uncle Sam's soldiers in all of the National Army camps, according to a statement issued this week by Walter W. Irwin, general manager of the Vitagraph distributing organization. This comes close upon the announcement that the American Defense Society had listed "Over the Top" as a patriotic subject for benefits to be conducted all over the United States, and Mr. Irwin says that as soon as dates can be settled upon it will be shown under the auspices of the Women's National committee of the society all over the country. These benefits, however, will be separate from the showings planned for the Liberty theaters in the sixteen training camps of the country.

Here's Lila Lee's Supporting Cast.

For her first appearance in films, Lila Lee, newest Paramount star, of recent and delightful vaudeville memory, will have an exceptionally fine cast. The picture is "The Cruise of the Make-Believers," by Tom Gallon, with the scenario by Edith Kennedy. George Melford is director. Harrison Ford is leading man. Raymond Hatton has a character role. Others in the cast are William Brunton, Parks-Jones, Spottiswoode Atkin, Bud Duncan, Eunice Kelso, Nina Byron, William McLaughlin and Jane Wolff.

The picture is a whimsical story of New York tenement life and an imaginary place known as Dream Valley.

First National Pushing "Crusaders."

Full page advertisements are being used in Collier's Weekly, The Literary Digest and Leslie's Weekly to acquaint the general public with the merits of "Pershing's Crusaders" now being released under the auspices of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit in various parts of the country. These "ads" are expected to supplement the local advertising campaigns of exhibitors.

Scene from "The Marquis and Miss Sally" (General Film), Quintet of Sunshine Comedy Contributors.

August 3, 1918
Fox Has Produced Many Works of Standard Merit

With the announcement that William Fox has just purchased "Buchanan's Wife," by Justus Miles Forman, "The Strange Woman," by William J. Hurlbut, and two more Zane Grey books, "The Last of the Dunes" and "The Lone Star Ranger," the Fox Film Corporation can point with pride to the list of notable works of literature which it has put into the films.

This list includes some of the best known works and the names of the best writers in the country and abroad. Not only have the books of contemporary writers been bought, but William Fox has gone into the classics and there are "Les Miserables," "A Tale of Two Cities," "Salome," "Cleopatra," "Camille," "The Two Orphans" and "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari." "Jack and the Beanstalk" was adapted from the childhood classic of the same name, and while "Babes in the Wood," "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp," "The Conqueror," starring William Farnum, and based on the "Pink of Sam Houston," the great pioneer of the Southwest, "Treasure Island," of course, was the picture of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous book, "Heart of a Lion" was adapted from Ralph Conners' "The Doctor," and "Du Barry" was the picturization of the famous play of the same name.

Affiliated Is Explained to Delegates in Boston

The co-operative booking plan of the Affiliated Distribution Corporation at the Boston convention occupied some of the most important of the convention's delegates. This interest was given added impetus by the presence at the meeting of Mr. Pettijohn, president of the general counsel of the Affiliated, who attended the convention in response to an invitation from the leaders of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League.

Mr. Pettijohn let it be known upon his arrival that he had been requested at this time to explain the affiliation's plan of operation. The attendance was to devote himself to the interests of a harmonious union of exhibitors and the outside public. The attendance was also to show the exhibitors present from New England and St. Louis. It was the first time that these exhibitors had had an opportunity to come together at first hand and the merits of the movement, as the affiliated organization has not yet entered the stage of normal operations. The exhibitors present at the convention were Mr. H. T. Smith, president, Mr. F. W. Ruben, vice-president, and Dr. J. P. C. Smith, secretary.

Gerard Film Cracks El Paso Precedent

Whatis has been termed by local newspapers as the new event in El Paso theatrical annals has been the conversion of Liberty Hall, El Paso, into a motion picture theater for the first time in its history for the benefit of the United Service Organization. W. Ger- ard's, "My Four Years in Germany." The great demand for seats and the multitude of applicants for a seat with the management of Liberty Hall, which hereuntofore was devoted exclusively to the staging of operatic productions, concerts, pageants, and other elaborate forms of entertainment, to break a precedent.
The new Liberty theater, Kansas City, Mo., among the beautiful playhouses in the West, was recently opened with many city officials and scores of representative citizens as invited guests. In many respects the Liberty is said to be noteworthy achievement in theater building.

Erected exclusively for motion pictures, everything in it is adapted to them—the seating arrangement, the peculiar system of aisle lighting that makes all parts of the theater accessible, the spacious lobby and the large foyer beyond. The Liberty seats 1,300, room for more than two hundred other chairs having been sacrificed to gain space in aisles and between rows.

Samuel Harding, manager of the new liberty, advertised the opening of his house on a lavish scale. His enterprise was reflected in a splendid page advertisement in the Kansas City Star. Aside from a picture of the manager and a four-column reproduction of the pretty playhouse, the page was devoted to the attractions that are to be shown.

Manager Harding has arranged to present all Goldwyn Pictures for a full week at the Liberty. The Goldwyn-Rex Beach productions will also have week engagements.

Mr. Harding and his brother, Dave H. Harding, the latter acting in the capacity of secretary and treasurer, have organized an orchestra second to none in the West as director the Hardings have Frederick Curth, for several years concert master of the Kansas City Symphony orchestra. Mr. Curth directs an orchestra of sixteen pieces at the Liberty. Then there is a beautiful Austin organ of special design, with an echo organ.

The Liberty was erected at a cost of $500,000 on ground worth more than a half million dollars.

Roccardi Has Role in Fox Play.

The person who made lemonade out of the lemons Fate handed him had nothing in Albert Roccardi, a player in the Virginia Pearson company which just completed "The Liar" for William Fox, under the direction of Edmund Lawrence. Roccardi, several years ago, was in debt, a man. He was in a hospital for a long time and underwent several operations. "The Liar" was the first play he has appeared in since his recovery from the accident. His injuries had been of such a nature as to make it easy for him to play the part of a cripple.

Gail Kane's "Love's Law" to Be Released in September

Miss Gail Kane has completed the first of her new series of productions for Mutual release under the title of "Love's Law," a thrilling story of life and love, and is at work on another not yet named.

The new Kane offering was just written by Joseph F. Poland, the author of more than one hundred produced playphotographs. The scenario was prepared by J. Clarkson Miller, who is responsible for some of the best acting plays on the screen.

The success of Miss Kane's former Mutual productions is a fair index to the quality of the forthcoming series of eight plays, the first of which will be released early in September.

A murder mystery forms the basis of "The Goddess of Chance," which Virginia Pearson has just started under the direction of Edmund Lawrence for William Fox at the Blackton studios in Brooklyn. The play was written by Harry O. Hoyt, and in it the heroine unravels the mystery which surrounds the murder of her father. It is said several novel situations are involved in the play. Miss Pearson is supported by a large and capable cast.

Upper Crust," all of which proved box office assets. The play is finely staged and the photography is excellent, according to Mutual. The direction was in the hands of Francis J. Brandon. Included in the cast are Courtenay Foote, leading man; Reed Hamilton, Frederick Jones, Mathilde Barling, and Emile LaCroix.

Miss Heilstadt Puts Over "Tarzan" in Novel Fashion

The showing of "Tarzan of the Apes" at the Marquette Theater in La Salle, Ill., during the first week of July, was signalized by one of the most effective lobby displays ever seen in that city, although put on at a minimum of expense and the maximum of ingenuity.

Miss Olga Heilstadt, the young woman who manages the Marquette Theater, decided to give "Tarzan" a proper lobby exploitation, having read of the excellent work accomplished along this line in other big cities. She found, however, that it was simply impossible to secure either live or stuffed wild animals for the occasion, so she very cleverly hit upon the idea of utilizing toys instead.

Dressing the entire front of the theater in heavy green foliage with some imitation Spanish moss and a thick mat of stage grass to give the proper jungle atmosphere, she then erected various cages and small tanks in which miniature lions, tigers, apes, alligators and other fierce denizens of the wild were incarcerated. A small bronze elephant standing on a pedestal at one side of the entrance also added to the effectiveness of the display. Signs warning spectators not to feed the animals or to enrage them in any way were posted in conspicuous places.

Needless to say "Tarzan" did a big business in Marquette besides creating no end of humorous comment. The effective manner in which Miss Heilstadt overcame the seeming handicaps that confronted her in putting on "Tarzan" shows how much can be accomplished when the exhibitor applies brains and originality to the problems of showmanship.

"The Bluffer" Starts

At World Studios

Clara Beranger's picture play, "The Bluffer," was put in work last week at the World studio at Fort Lee. It will have an all-star cast, including June Elvidge, Irving Cummins, Frank Mayo, George MacQuarrie, Muriel Ostriche, Tony Merlo and others. Travers Vale is directing.
FOUR Arctraft productions are announced for release during August, which includes the special productions of D. W. Griffith and Cecil B. DeMille, a Douglas Fairbanks feature, and two additional picture releases by William S. Hart. The release of these productions have been scheduled as follows: D. W. Griffith's "Bound in Morocco"; 12, D. W. Griffith's "The Great Love"; 13, William S. Hart in "Riddle Gawne"; and a Cecil B. DeMille's "I'll Come Back to You.

As the title "Bound in Morocco" would indicate, one of this season's Fairbanks offerings is laid in Africa. The story was written by Allan Dwan, who also directed the picture, and the author-director is said to have woven a tale of mystery, adventure, romance, and love through which the athletic comedian runs and leaps with reckless abandon to afford his audience laughs. And its scenes of outdoor life, its picturesque costume, its pretty women and savage-visaged men, Hugh McGlue, the cameraman, has had a lot to do with. The Curly "Fairbanks" leading woman, Frank Campeau, again is seen in the "heavy" role, and others included are: cast and Fred Burns.

Much has been said and written concerning "The Great Love," the first of David Wark Griffith's special productions for Arctraft. In making the picture, Mr. Griffith had the sanction and cooperation of the British Government, and the actual help of many of the foremost people of England, including Queen Alexandra, mother of King George. Also appearing in the picture are Lady Diana Manners, the Premier of Ireland, the Colonels Drogueda, the Hon. L. R. Montague, Countess Masserene, Violet Little, Elizabeth Burroughs, Miss Cowperthwaite, Prime Minister, and others of prominence.

In the cast of professional players appear such celebrated performers as George Fawcett, Robert Harron, George Slemm, Henry W. Withall, Mansfield Stanley, Rosemary Theby, and other notable players.

Thomas H. Ince presents William S. Hart in "Riddle Gawne," a Western story shot under the supervision of the popular Western star. Charles Alden Keltner is the author of the tale, while Clayton Moore is the director. Among the stars included in the supporting cast are: Lou Chaney, Gretchen Colhill, and Tomanoto the Japanese actor.

Lederer, Gertrude Short, Leon Kent, Millie Mowry, and others, under Mr. Ince's supervision.

"Her Only Way" for Norma Talmadge

It has been decided that the title of "Her Only Way," on which Norma Talmadge is working to be released by Select Pictures. The story is from the pages of "The Saturday Evening Post" and is a "tragedy of modern life" which centers around a noted actress and her fortune. The film is being made under the supervision of Mr. DeMille, who has also directed, revised and rewritten the play. It is written by Miss Talmadge and is being made under her personal supervision.

Wake Farnum by Shots.

Then Hand Him Vibrator

WILLIAM FARNUM, the William Fox star, celebrated his birthday, July 4, in Hermit Creek Camp, Grand Canyon, Arizona, where he was at work on the production of Zane Grey's novel "The Rainbow Trail," under the direction of Mr. Hutchinson as an actor, although he has the "dare-devil," and all around screen performer is popular and widely known. Featured in his series of "Alma Hanlon productions he rapidly became a strong favorite, and will be fol-

Charles Hutchinson.

owed through the Leah Baird serial by many admirers.

Starting in the screen profession at the old Imp studio he rose rapidly. Later he played leads and directed for the Victor Company, and also in many well remembered Blanche features. Then he went to the Crystal. Thus he was then as new under the same roof, and under the direction of J. A. Golden.

Some of his best known dramatic work was in "War Brides," with Nazimova; "Not Guilty," with Cyril Scott; "Divorced, with Illda Spons and "Hearts and Flowers," with Mrs. Thomas Whalen.

Under the direction of Mr. Golden, a skillful blending of the dramatic ability of "Charlie" Hutchinson with samples of his athletic prowess and "hair-raising" nerve should make the coming serial a succession of heart-throbs and real "movie" punishes.

Charles Hutchinson.

SOPHIE's Birthday Party," the last of the second series of Snakespeare comedy releases, is released this week by General Film. This is the twentieth Snakespeare comedy released. It will be followed by a week of ten back-to-back weekly releases of which, "When Slippery Slim Went for the Eggs," is scheduled for release next week. The Sn/javkles have been given a hearty reception by exhibitors who are in search of high grade slapstick comedies, General Film reports.

Some of the subjects in the new series just announced by Esannuy are "When Slippery Slim Went for the Eggs," "Other Started but Sophie Finished," "Slippery Slim Gets Sore," "Snakespeare's Twin," "Snakespeare's Beauty Parlor" and "Vera's Sled Hammers." Sophie Clutt, Slippery Slim and Mustang Pete remain as the chief characters in the new series.

Charles Hutchinson

Recoveries.

The recovery of Charles Hutchinson from his recent accident while working on the coming Leah Baird serial was an occasion of great joy to all who work in the Crystal studio. "Burtles is a prime favorite with every one of his co-workers, either as a co-star, or in a "dare-devil," and all around screen performer is popular and widely known. Featured in his series of "Alma Hanlon productions he rapidly became a strong favorite, and will be fol-

Wake Farnum by Shots.

Then Hand Him Vibrator

WILLIAM FARNUM, the William Fox star, celebrated his birthday, July 4, in Hermit Creek Camp, Grand Canyon, Arizona, where he was at work on the production of Zane Grey's novel "The Rainbow Trail," under the direction of Mr. Hutchinson as an actor, although he has the "dare-devil," and all around screen performer is popular and widely known. Featured in his series of "Alma Hanlon productions he rapidly became a strong favorite, and will be fol-

Charles Hutchinson.

owed through the Leah Baird serial by many admirers.

Starting in the screen profession at the old Imp studio he rose rapidly. Later he played leads and directed for the Victor Company, and also in many well remembered Blanche features. Then he went to the Crystal. Thus he was then as new under the same roof, and under the direction of J. A. Golden.

Some of his best known dramatic work was in "War Brides," with Nazimova; "Not Guilty," with Cyril Scott; "Divorced, with Illda Spons and "Hearts and Flowers," with Mrs. Thomas Whalen.

Under the direction of Mr. Golden, a skillful blending of the dramatic ability of "Charlie" Hutchinson with samples of his athletic prowess and "hair-raising" nerve should make the coming serial a succession of heart-throbs and real "movie" punishes.

Charles Hutchinson.

SOPHIE'S Birthday Party," the last of the second series of Snakespeare comedy releases, is released this week by General Film. This is the twentieth Snakespeare comedy released. It will be followed by a week of ten back-to-back weekly releases of which, "When Slippery Slim Went for the Eggs," is scheduled for release next week. The Sn/javkles have been given a hearty reception by exhibitors who are in search of high grade slapstick comedies, General Film reports.

Some of the subjects in the new series just announced by Esannuy are "When Slippery Slim Went for the Eggs," "Other Started but Sophie Finished," "Slippery Slim Gets Sore," "Snakespeare's Twin," "Snakespeare's Beauty Parlor" and "Vera's Sled Hammers." Sophie Clutt, Slippery Slim and Mustang Pete remain as the chief characters in the new series.

Charles Hutchinson

Recoveries.

The recovery of Charles Hutchinson from his recent accident while working on the coming Leah Baird serial was an occasion of great joy to all who work in the Crystal studio. "Burtles is a prime favorite with every one of his co-workers, either as a co-star, or in a "dare-devil," and all around screen performer is popular and widely known. Featured in his series of "Alma Hanlon productions he rapidly became a strong favorite, and will be fol-

Wake Farnum by Shots.

Then Hand Him Vibrator

WILLIAM FARNUM, the William Fox star, celebrated his birthday, July 4, in Hermit Creek Camp, Grand Canyon, Arizona, where he was at work on the production of Zane Grey's novel "The Rainbow Trail," under the direction of Mr. Hutchinson as an actor, although he has the "dare-devil," and all around screen performer is popular and widely known. Featured in his series of "Alma Hanlon productions he rapidly became a strong favorite, and will be fol-
Goldwyn Closes Prize Contracts for Showing Star Series

Evidence of the immediate approval of Goldwyn's adoption of the Star Series booking policy is afforded by the announcement of the signing of contracts with S. L. Rothafel for both the Elklato and Irvilov theaters, and with Harold Edel for the Strand. These Goldwyn productions will have their New York first-run presentation in three leading screen intonations.

Goldwyn also announces the closing of and important contract for all of the Ascher Brothers' theaters. Twenty-Schaefer houses, numbering twenty-seven in all, in Chicago, for the complete output of fifty or more productions in the coming season under the Star series plan. Announcement likewise is made of the signing of the Stanley and Palace theaters and all of the great Stanley chain of houses in Philadelphia under contract with Jules F. Mastbaum for the complete new year's output of the company.

"The signing of New York's three great metropolitan theaters—Stanley, and Ascher bookings are matters of pride to Goldwyn," says Samuel Goldfish, president of Goldwyn. "The Goldwyn Stock represents the second largest booking of theaters that it is possible for a company to have in this market. It is the finest booking, obtained through Messrs. Nathan, Harry and Max Ascher, the third largest available, in the market.

"It is worthy of note that Mr. Rothafel is giving his endorsement to the Goldwyn Stock, and the endorsement first given us in New York last year by the late Mitchell H. Mark is continued this year by Mr. Edel.

"The endorsement that late Stanley V. Mastbaum gave us by a solid booking of all Goldwyn Pictures at his Stanley theaters has been repeated this year by his brother, and we continue to have our splendid representation in the largest and most important houses throughout the Philadelphia territory.

In our first year we played all of the Ascher Brothers' houses in Chicago, as well as every representative theater in that territory. Mr. Nathan Ascher has just closed his contract for the coming year and we are to make in the coming twelve months in twenty-seven houses, all of his own and those reserved for us by B. C. Calvagory.

Goldwyn Pictures distribution for the Dominion of Canada for a period of years will be handled by a new organization rated as the largest exhibitors and distributors in the Dominion. This announcement follows the signing of a contract this week between Goldwyn through Samuel Goldfish, his president, and J. J. Allen, of Toronto.

The Allen's, besides being powerful distributing factors in Canada, also own and operate the Allen theatre, the cornerstone of their theater interests, and theaters in Montreal, Quebec, Calgary, Edmonton, Brandon, Winnipeg, and Regina.

Distributing offices are maintained in Toronto, Montreal, B. C., and Vancouver, B. C. In addition these two successful brothers are the heads of the Mayfair, Pathe, and Famous Players Film Service, Ltd.

Mystery Sets Dominate Leah Baird Serial

ONE of the most intricate sets ever erected for motion pictures is being installed at the Crystal studios for the new serial entitled the "Leah Baird" series. In order to supervise the preliminary installation of same before taking the serial company up to New York, St. John, and Allen, Miss Goldwyn worked from Saturday morning until Monday noon without rest. However, unaided in his supervised studio electrical and carpenter staffs have produced a set declared to be a marvel of mechanical skill.

To explain thoroughly the manner in which the results are obtained would be to expose many stagecraft secrets, however, suffice to say that to enable Sheldon Lewis to checkmate Leah Baird, the set opens with a sequence of clock faces and a stock of thousands of reading matter on the shelves. An entire section of this shelving and wall is made to swing open by the pressure of a button. This opening reveals a complete workshop containing electric motors, switchboards and tools, lathes and revolving steel saws—also a perfect model of a huge radio-torpedo. The last effect is a section of the workshop drops, acting as an elevator down to the bottom of an underground passageway. From there another scene simulates the trickling dampness of a dismal vault, situated deep under the city. This vault scene is dependent on the city council chamber wherein is located an electrically controlled steel chair.

This set, or rather series of sets, is made to work mechanically at the touch of hidden buttons and levers, and constitutes an important factor in the development of the Leah Baird serial.

Making of "Judgment" Nears Finale.

A.M. "Kathy" Dewey, "The Making of "Judgment"" a Metro production co-featured with "Anna Q. Nilsson and Franklyn Farnum, has recently been a star cast, have been photographed. The most imposing of the interior sets is the actual scene in which the sensational murder trial in "Judgment" takes place. An unusual twist in the plot, which was scene-corrected by George D. Baker, has been added to the "Judgment"—because more artistic—to reproduce the courtroom instead of attempting to photograph the scene in a real tribunal of justice.

Besides Miss Nilsson and Mr. Farnum are other stars, including, who is seen as a supreme court judge, the cast of "Judgment" includes Spottiswoode Allten, Harry B. Northrup, "A Man Edward Willard," Lydia Knott and Katherine Griffith. Will S. Davis is directing the production.

Select Titles for Blue Ribbons.

Two of the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon features for August which were listed under the "The Coming Woman," and which titles were declared to be temporary now have been definitely named for the screen and they are:

"All Man," made from "Piddler's Green," a magazine story by Donn Byrne, and listed in "The Coming Woman," is the story of a Virginia house, and is in the starring role in the "All Man," which is being brought to the screen by "The Coming Woman" Serial," in their first Blue Ribbon feature as a starring combination.

War Fireworks in Secret Telegram.

Spectacular pictures of trench firework demonstrations are a part of "the Fiction Room" secret By Telegraph No. 46, Mutual's latest news release. The film was taken at Columbia Heights, on a war weapons Graphic and realistic display of war pyrotechnics. The demonstration includes the firing of machine guns, bombs, napalm, smoke, gas attacks, rocket firing, and hand grenade throwing. The picture covers both day and night scenes. The cameraman was so close to the actual test of the bombs, aeroplane and grenade, that several times in the course of the exhibition he was forced to abandon his camera and flee.

Justus Miles Forman Story

BUCHANAN'S WIFE," the well-known novel by Justus Miles Forman, who lost his life on the Louisiana, has just been purchased by William Fox. The purchase is in line with Mr. Fox's policy of buying only the best stories by the best-known authors, this policy being exemplified very strikingly in the last two weeks by announcements that Mr. Fox has purchased "The Strange Woman," the great stage success by William J. Hurst; "The Last of the Duane" and "The Lone Star Ranger," by Zane Grey, and "The Two-Gun Man" and "The Coming of the Law," by Charles Alden Seltzer.

Friends of Justus Miles Forman have spoken of "Buchanan's Wife," which was the last book Mr. Forman wrote before sailing on the last voyage of the Louisiana, as being almost supernatural in its foreboding of disaster.

In speaking of the purchase of "Buchanan's Wife," an official of the company said he "considered the book one of the strongest and best adapted for motion pictures he had read in a long time."
Madelyn Clare Is Leading Woman in “Young America”

WORK on “Young America,” the George K. Spoor feature production now is nearing completion. Interior scenes have all been taken and Director Arthur Berthelet is working on exterior settings which are being made in and about Chicago.

“Young America” is a picture in seven parts, taken from the Cohan and Harris stage success written by Fred Ballard. The role of leading woman is taken by Broadway’s mystery girl, Madelyn Clare.

Authenticity Sought for Fox’s “The Prussian Cur”

One of the notable features of “The Prussian Cur,” the William Fox dramatization of the German spy system in America, is said to be the fidelity to actual events which R. A. Walsh has observed throughout the picture. Not only are the big episodes based on many court records, government announcements and authenticated newspaper reports, but the “inside” workings of the Kaiser’s secret agents are exposed by Captain Horst von der Goltz, ringleader in the plot to blow up the locks of the Welland Canal in Canada and self-confessed German spy.

The activities of enemy agents and propagandists, it is declared, are followed closely from the time when Ambassador Bernstorff launched his “invisible embassy” in Washington up to the present hour. The damaging of airplanes by pro-German workmen, the destruction of war supplies, the burning of factories, the stirring up of trouble, in fact, all these crimes have been faithfully depicted on the screen from the most trustworthy information.

The scenes in the palace at Berlin were shot in sets that were exact duplicates of the originals, with all the “atmosphere” and local colors that it was possible to create. The same truth holds with regard to the German Embassy at Washington. For these scenes in the nation’s capital some of the furniture used actually came from the former offices of Count von Bernstorff, having been disposed of shortly after the Ambassador was sent home.

The big scene in which President Wilson reads his famous war message to a joint session of Congress is said to be an impressive film portrayal of a historic event. She plays the part of the young married woman, the only woman who understands and sympathizes with the village bad boy, the part taken by Charles Frohman Everett, a nephew of the late Charles Frohman. It is through her influence that the boy’s better side is brought out and the village bad boy finally turned into the typical manly young American.

Miss Clare comes from a theatrical family. She herself has played before the footlights ever since she can remember. Later she was sent to school at Mount St. Joseph’s, Cincinnati, and to Mount St. Vincent, on the Hudson.

After finishing school she played in New Orleans and then was signed with the Orpheum circuit. Her first picture was with Tyrone Power, in which she played the leading woman’s role. She also starred in “Love Thy Neighbor,” but made her greatest success with the Lincoln Cycle, in which she created the part of Nancy Hanks, mother of Lincoln.

When playing on Broadway she was known as the “Mystery Girl.” Miss Clare is a typical athletic, outdoor girl, being an enthusiastic roller and horsewoman, besides being an expert with the oars.

Scena from “Waifs” (Pathe).

Four All Star Series for Release by Metro

Metro will issue four exceptionally strong All Star Series pictures during the month of August. The first and most notable of these is the picturization of Edith Wharton’s greatest novel, “The House of Mirth,” with all star cast including Katharine Harris Barrymore, Henry Kolker, Joseph Kilgour, Edward Abeles, Christine Mayo and Lottie Halsey. Miss Wharton’s masterpiece, which was adapted for the screen by June Mathis and Albert Capellani, has been produced on a scale commensurate with the famous classic itself under the direction of Mr. Capellani. The three other August releases will be “In Judgment Of,” co-starring Anna Q. Nilsson and Franklyn Farnum with a cast of unusual distinction headed by Herbert Standing; “Flower of the Dusk,” in which Violia Dana is starred, and “Shadow and Substance,” starring Edith Storey. They will be released in the order named.

“The House of Mirth,” which will be issued August 5, calls for scenes of luxury. The picture is not only a powerful one, but keen as well, with the keenness of which Edith Wharton, the celebrated author of “The House of Mirth,” is mistress.

“In Judgment Of,” starring Anna Q. Nilsson and Franklyn Farnum, supported by Herbert Standing and an all-star cast, will be the August 12 release, George D. Baker, Metro’s western manager of productions, is the author of the scenario. It is a tense drama, strong in its appeal to the emotions. Miss Nilsson has the role of Mary Manners, daughter of a political dictator. Mr. Farnum has a part peculiarly suited to his personality.

Myrtle Reed’s celebrated novel, “Flower of the Dusk,” will be the August 19 release, with Viola Dana as the star. John H. Collins, who adapted the novel for the screen, also directed the picture.

Edith Storey’s picture, “Shadow and Substance,” will be the August 26 release, is a story of the great north woods by Lois Zeliner. Herbert Blache directed the picture. Frank Mills, Lillie Leslie, Joseph Kilgour, George Stevens, Augustus Perry, Harry Linson, Ben Walk- er, John Cohill, Tomante, the Japanese actor, Mathilde Brandage, and Baby Ivy Ward gives Miss Storey splendid support in the picture.

Vitagraph Serial Gets Big Start.

“A Fight for Millions,” third of the Vitagraph serials, featuring William Duncan, was released to exhibitors July 15, when the first episode, entitled “The Snare,” was shown. A following episode will be exhibited weekly.

Like its predecessors, “The Fighting Trail,” “Vengeance—and the Woman” and “The Woman in the Weal,” this serial was written by Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph, and Cyrus Townscnd Brady. Duncan appears in the dual role of star and director, and has with him Edith Johnson and Joe Ryan, and a large company of cowboys and athletes, many of whom have appeared with him in his other serials.

The serial has been booked for all of the houses in B. S. Moss circuit in the New York territory, on the Fantages circuit on the Pacific Coast, and in many other circuits in different parts of the country.

“Her Moment” Goes to Loew’s.

The first appearance of “Her Moment,” the sympathetic problem story by Samuel London, featuring Anna Lufter, will be in the principal Loew houses in New York in the first week in August. General Film’s New York exchange closed arrangements for this engagement after a special showing of the film for the Marcus Loew reviewing staff.

Donella Cross, Saleslady of Universal’s Salt Lake City Office.

In accordance with an announcement from the Triangle Distributing Corporation, Harry Mastey will be the featured player in “A Fight for Millions,” a Triangle picture scheduled for release on the program for the week of August 17. He will replace Jack Livingston as the lead in this production.
Two Noted Players for Metrom's "Pals First"

Two important additions to the cast supporting Harold Lockwood in "Pals First," which Metro will distribute under the banner of Screen Classics, Inc., were made last week with the engagement for the picture of Ruby de Remer and James Lackaye. Miss de Remer will play the leading feminine role, while Mr. Lackaye will enact the part of Dominie, the part of Danny Rowland, the character portrayed by the star.

Though her career covers a period of only ten years, Miss de Remer has achieved considerable success, both on the screen and on the stage. Her stage engagements were principal in the last winter's "Midnight Frolle" and as prima donna in the Weber and Fields "Back Stage." In her several screen engagements Miss de Remer played leading roles, her most noteworthy appearance being as the featured player in "The Auction Block.

Mr. Lackaye has been appearing on the stage and screen for thirty years. He was with Sol Smith Russell for two years; also with David Warfield in "The Grand Army Man," James A. Herne in "Shore Acres," the original "Cameo Kirby" company, in which he played opposite Nat Goodwin and later Dustin Farnum in "The High Cost of Loving," "Excuse Me" and "The Gentleman from Mississippi." He was starred in "York State Folks."

His picture appearances have also been numerous as well as his engagements in the Bingle series and parts in many Metro releases, among them "The Upstart," which he was directing "Pals First," produced.

Mr. Lackaye is a prototype of Thomas A. Wise, who played the same part in "Pals First" on the legitimate stage that Mr. Lackaye is playing in pictures. This is one of the few parts created by Mr. Wise, the first occasion arising when he was engaged to play the same part in "The Gentleman from Mississippi."

"Salome" Being Booked Only in the Big Towns

The big ruled chart in the offices of Samuel F. Kingston of the Fox organization, whereon are noted the bookings of "Salome," biggest of Fox offerings of the year, announcing it for the entire summer months. The ever-spreading drive already has penetrated to Seattle. The enveloping movement now in process of formation will effectually pinch off the southwest—and then Salome, siren heroine of the great Pagin court drama, re-enacted for the first time on the screen, will have the entire country in the grip of her fascinating arts.

Dates already set for primary offerings of the new spectacular drama, which embodies in its scenic and wardrobe a complete rehabilitation of the Jerusalem of forty years before the coming of the Saviour, include such diverse centers as Boston, Kansas City and Seattle.

With the routing of the various editions of the music of the flag, a day or two ago, nine cities of importance have been booked for engagements of a week upward.

The Seattle engagement will begin on August 10 at the Orpheum. "Salome" will be seen at the Orpheum on August 10. It will be shown at the Teck in Buffalo on August 25, and at the Shubert in New York on September 7th.

Scores of requests for booking have been rejected by the Fox management, which is independently presenting the spectacle. It has been necessary to emphasize all over again that the production is absolutely reserved for the larger cities and that booking arrangements will be closed only with the biggest houses in those cities. A two-dollar scale will prevail.

Universal's "Dream Lady" Preaches Happiness Gospel

REACHING the gospel of happiness, "The Dream Lady," with Carmel Myers in the title role, is the sort of light and amusing entertainment which exhibitors find most welcome during the summer months. Although she has risen during the last few months because of the manner in which she has handled roles of a character nature, Carmel Myers shows in this five-reel Bluebird feature that she is just as much at home in portrayals which do not require her to appear as an Italian, Spanish, or Gypsy maid.

In "The Dream Lady" the Bluebird star enacts the role of Rosamond Gilbert, who all her life had indulged in dreams which circumstances made impossible for her to realize. When she finally came into possession of a legacy, Rosamond promptly set out to bring about the realization of every last one of them—and did.

The cast supporting Miss Myers includes Thomas Holding, formerly leading man for Olga Petrova; Kathleens Emerson, Harry Von Meter, Philo McCollough, and Elizabeth Janes. "The Dream Lady" is scheduled for release on July 29.

Fred Stone Starts Work On His Second Artcraft

FRED STONE has finished "Under the Top," his first production for Artcraft, at the Famous Players-Lasky studio at Hollywood, and almost immediately plunged into the production of his second picture. This will be "Johnny Get Your Gun," from the successful stage comedy in which Louis B. Mayer was starred. Under the direction of Donald Crisp a number of the opening scenes have already been taken, and the picture is said to be progressing with whirlwind speed.

This is the first week in the production of "Under the Top" in all probability will be one of the busiest ever experienced by an ex-star. In fact the seven days may fairly be called "stunt week" for the comedian, for he probably did more stunts in that period that he would ordinarily do in several months at any other time.

He jumped, ran, rode, climbed, and tumbled from early morning till late at night until he must have had difficulty in remembering whether he was going or coming.

For one thing, the other day Stone vaulted over seven horses, a considerable stunt for one who has not been doing it day in and day out for some time. Later he rode bareback, doing all the things a lady in flirty skirts and déshaisings usually does on a curvetting steed.

"The Hypocrites" in New York

"The Hypocrites," the six-part George Loane Tucker productions starring Eliza- beth Ristine, will open its New York engagement in the principal Marcus Loew houses in the metropolis, it is announced by J. A. Hammell, manager of General Film's local exchange in the Godfrey Building.

The strength of this feature, the Broadway popularity of the story and the excellence of the production from every standpoint are said to be the deciding reasons for the adoption of this attraction for the Loew houses. The film, although just announced, has brought in a great flood of inquiries already and its prospects in New York are represented as more than flattering.

Twenty More Prints for "The Gezeer"

So many requests for bookings on "The Gezer of Berlin" have been received by the various Jewel exchanges that orders for twenty more prints than originally arranged for have been placed with the home office of that organization.

Harry M. Berman, sales manager of Jewel Productions, Inc., is authority for the statement that there is every indication that "The Gezer of Berlin" will exceed in point of volume the number of bookings obtained to date on "The Kaiser."

"The fact that the first comedy ever handled by our organization combines mighty fine comedy with patriotic propaganda is undoubtedly the reason for the demand for "The Gezer of Berlin" that has already made itself felt," declared Mr. Berman.

The release date for "The Gezer of Berlin" has been definitely set for Aug. 1.

Studio Leased for Flagl Comedies

The Fifty-Fourth Street studio has been leased by Jack Eaton, of Town and Country Films, Inc., to be used for the making of the James Montgomery Flagg comedy series. They started there on picture No. 2, "Romance and Brass Tacks," in which picture they are starring Peggy Adams as the romantic girl.

Playing opposite Miss Adams is Olin Howland, late star of "Leave It to Jane." The leading juvenile part is played by Harold Foshay, formerly a Vitagraph player.

Scene from "The Dream Lady" (Bluebird).
Viola Dana Going Fast on "Flower of the Dusk"

RAPID progress on "Flower of the Dusk," Viola Dana's current starring vehicle, is reported by Director John M. Stahl. It is the second on Myrtle Reed's famous novel to have been secured by Metro for picturization. Director Collins has made the scenarioization in five acts.

"Flower of the Dusk," always one of the most popular of Miss Reed's human stories, calls for many charming New England scenes, many quaint types, and provides Miss Dana in the dual role of Constance North, the mother, and Barbara North, the daughter, with splendid opportunities. Director Collins has engaged a cast, really two casts, one for the prologue and one for the play, that comprises not only many well known favorites on stage and screen, but those whose artistry will bring to life our friends from "Flower of the Dusk."

In the prologue we find Viola Dana playing Constance North, the mother when she was a young girl, and opposite her is Guy Coombs in the role of Lawrence Austin, whose love for her, as hers for him, is the great joy and at the same time sorrow of her life.

The part of Constance North, Miss Dana's husband, is to be called to the colors in Hall. Mattie Austin is played by Bliss Milford, a well known Edison favorite. Alice Martin plays Miriam, Charles Sutton is the minister, and the roles of the two aunts are in the capable hands of Mrs. Ford and Maggie Breyer.

In the play others in the cast are Jack McGowan and Margaret McWade.

Fox Compltes Four Plays And Five Under Way

WITH four plays just completed, William Fox has four productions in work at the Fox studios in the east and in California. At Hollywood, Tom Mix is entering the third week of "Mr. Logan, U. S. A.

J. Gordon Edwards, directing the super-production, "The Yellow Man," will enter the third week, and William Farnum and his company are in the Grand Canyon, working on "The Yellow Man.

In the east Peggy Hyland is still at work on "Bonnie Annie Laurie," a story of Scotland and the great war, written by Hamilton Thompson. Virginia Pearson is nearing the finish of "The Liar.

Plays that are finished include a big production just completed by Richard Stanton in the east; another play in the east and two in the west.

George Walsh has completed "Under the Yankee Flag," described as a "breazy stor of love, adventure and war," and Gladys Brockwell has completed "Kultur." This picture, which reveals German secret invasions which caused the war, was just been shipped east from the Hollywood studios. The other Fox production just completely is "Lawless Love" and been done by Jewel Carmen under the direction of Robert Toraby. Miss Carmen has just assembled a cast for her mountain pictures, where the final scenes were taken at Huntington Lake.

Animated to Show Flight of Big Bombing Langley

EDITOR JACK COHEN, of the Universal Animated Weekly, is celebrating success which he scored this week among his contemporaries when he succeeded in obtaining the only pictures filmed of the Langley's big aeroplane.

The Langley is the largest aeroplane ever made in America, and the initial flight, which took place at Elizabeth, N. J., was witnessed with considerable secrecy. The Universal Animated Weekly, however, was invited to send its representative to film the event and has as an only newsworthy accorded this signal honor.

Although it was expected the usual pictures of the trial flight would be made an agreeable surprise was in store for the Universal man when he discovered this assignment, when he was invited to accompany the Langley into the field. Flanders obtained some remarkable pictures of the maneuvers of the aeroplane was put while being thoroughly tested.

Incidently, this particular Universal cameraman has the distinction of having made more aeroplane flights than any other cameraman in the country. He has taken motion pictures in these bird machines while they were performing side-slips, loop-the-loops, nose spins, and other exceedingly dangerous aerotic stunts which every birdman in charge of a haleplane must avoid.

The flight of the Langley will be shown in one of the forthcoming issues of the Animated Weekly.

"Triumph of Venus" Progressing.

Results from the limited territory in which George Arliss is appearing, and the release of "Triumph of Venus" for exhibition indicates tremendous popular interest of the picture in all the company states. Bookings have been particularly heavy in the Cleveland territory as at St. Louis.

In New York City the picture is being played steadily at a large number of houses and the Edwin Bower Jesse, mythological story, with Betty Lee featured as Venus, seems to have considerable appeal centered in the unusually clever swimming scenes.
LEON SCHLESINGER ON ROAD FOR MANX-MAN COMPANY.

J. L. KEMPNER, the newly appointed sales director of the Manx-Man Company, which is distributing the Hall-Caine photoplay through the Goldwyn exchanges, announces that for the purpose of getting in touch with the exhibitors, Leon Schlesinger, general sales representative, will leave New York this week to tour the country.

Mr. Schlesinger will also confer with the managers of the Goldwyn branches in the territories through which he passes and with their press representatives. He is especially interested in talking to the publicity men, as the publicity angle on the "Manx-Man" is a strong one. The impressive publicity fact about the picture is that it cements Anglo-American feeling better than almost any other big picture on the market now and that the British-American clubs and societies that exist in every state will be glad to boost the work of exploitation.

"For instance, in Providence, R. I., we found a British-American society that offered to print its own invitations to the showing, so interested were they in the picture and the chance for publicity for their own work," says Mr. Kempner, "The Providence Journal, one of the leading newspapers of the country, gave the society, the picture, and the exhibitors listing it as of no end of publicity."

Mr. Schlesinger will first visit Middle West exhibitors, covering Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. He will carry with him a condensed film version of the "Manx-Man" and complete plans of the publicity mentioned above. He will frequently call on editors and societies, but because of the amount of territory he wishes to cover, will usually Exchange Manager and Star.

Baby Marie Osborne of Diando, appearing in Pathé productions, and E. D. Tate, manager of the Pathé Exchange, Inc., Los Angeles.

May Allison at Work on Coast.

May Allison, rounding out her first week at Metro's west coast studios in Hollywood after her arrival there from New York, is making excellent progress in Hale Hamilton's "The Return of Mary." The star is being directed by Wilfred Lucas in George D. Baker's screen adaptation of the successful stage play.

As before her arrival Director Lucas already has photographed all the scenes in the picture in which the star does not appear, the production was well advanced when Miss Allison began work. Darrell Foss, lately of the Triangle forces, is Miss Allison's leading man, and the cast also includes Clarence Burton, Frank Brownlee, Joseph Belmont and Claire McDowell.

"A King in Khaki" to Be in Six Reels.

"A King in Khaki," in which Harold Lockwood makes his initial bow as a star in the productions of Screen Classics, Inc., distributed by Metro, will be presented in six reels instead of five.

Leon Schlesinger.

leave that branch of the work to the exhibitors and Goldwyn representatives. However, he will give the publicity campaign in each territory such a start that its final success will be guaranteed—at least, that is his expectation, and further reports from him should prove interesting.

Kansas City Supply Company Busy.

The United States Government is showing at the Garden theater in Kansas City for the third week the celebrated "Fit to Fight" pictures. The two Power machines for the projection were furnished by the Kansas City Machine and Supply Company. A notable event in Kansas City was the opening of the Liberty theater, owned by Harold Grant, that was reported, cost in the neighborhood of $200,-000 to build and equip. The complete booth equipment, consisting of two Power's latest type G-B machines, with double dissolving stereopticon, and also a Gold Fibre Screen, were furnished by the Kansas City Machine and Supply Company.

Animated Shows Baby Tank.

Animated Weekly No. 33 gives pictures of a baby tank designed for wire cutting.

"PERSHING'S CRUSADERS" SHOWING IN YORK STATE.

CARRIE WILSON, sales manager of the First National Exchange of New York, spent the early part of last week in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and Utica, where he arranged for showings of "Pershing's Crusaders."

Despite the fact that the big war film was given a run of ten days at the Teck Theater in Buffalo during the early part of last month Mr. Wilson closed a contract with Harold B. Franklin, managing director of Shea's Hippodrome in that city, for a special engagement of "Pershing's Crusaders under unique circumstances. The picture will be released in seven weekly installments, and in order to give it adequate publicity Mr. Franklin has erected a large electric sign in front of Shea's Hippodrome, which will be in operation continuously for two months.

In Rochester, "Pershing's Crusaders" will be shown at the Gordon Theater and at the Avon in Utica. It has not yet been definitely decided at what house the picture will play in Syracuse.

Mr. Wilson is enthusiastic regarding the prospects for business in the above mentioned towns, and has been assured of the most thorough possible co-operation on the part of exhibitors.

Busy Days for Alice Brady.

Alice Brady, whose new Select Picture, "The Whirlpool," has just been released, has been putting in a busy week. Saturday night she returned from a three days' "location" trip. Sunday night she sang at the Casino theater in New York City at an entertainment for soldiers and sailors.
Patriotic Marching Song Founded on Perrett Picture

Will Bear Same Title as Film, "Lafayette, We Come"—Complimentary Autographed Copies to Be Sent to Exhibitors—Elaborate Musical Scene and Setting for Complete Orchestration Also Arranged.

LEONCE PERRET announces that arrangements have been completed for an elaborate musical score and settings for his patriotic film, "Lafayette, We Come." The theme of the score has been written into a song which will bear the same title as the film, and the publishers are negotiating with a well known concert singer to include the song in his repertoire. This is in line with the movement inaugurated by the Lafayette League to perpetuate and immortalize Pershing's heroism work and is further contemplated that the song will be sung at the premier performance of Mr. Perret's patriotic film which will be given for the benefit of some war fund.

A large number of copies are now on the press and Mr. Perrett will autograph and send them complimentary to exhibitors throughout the country.

Although this patriotic motion picture spectacle has not yet been completed or shown to anyone except Mr. Perrett's associates, it has already been advertised to numerous theater managers, including M. Kashin of the Broadway theater, New York.

This production, which is the first one made by Mr. Perrett for his own producing organization, is said to be a timely story of love and mystery, embodying intrigue and war, in which has been ingeniously interwoven some of the most thrilling episodes of the war.

Mr. Perrett's previous productions include "Lest We Forget," "The Million Dollar Dollies," "The Mad Lover," "The Accidented Honeymoon" and "The Silent Master.

Artistic Posters Issued For, "Hand of Vengeance"

TO advertise properly its new twenty- reel production, "Hand of Vengeance," the Gaumont Company announces the preparation by well-known artists of strikingly artistic lithographs in the form of one, three and six-sheet posters. These posters, with beautifully toned drawings of some of the most momentous situations in the story, have been prepared to attract the eye of the publi- cation to such an extent that it will want to see at least one episode of the story at a time, instead of being so absorbing, the photography so well done and the action so thrilling that no one can see one episode without missing seeing the others. The manager of a theater in one of the Rocky Mountain states who ran a former Gaumont serial had to repeat it twice, making three runs of the entire serial, before he could satisfy his patrons.

The artistic posters are not restricted to the first few episodes, as each episode will have its four-page quota of slides, photographs and beautiful lithographs. The Gaumont Company has issued a special one-sheet on heavy watered paper, somewhat in the nature of a "hanger," which is a novelty and which should make a hit with the distributors and salesmen.

This one-sheet contains three-color fac-similes of all the posters for the first five episodes, with the synopses of these episodes. A similar sheet in three-color work will show facsimile posters and synopses of the last five episodes. These will not only prove attractive publicity aids for the exhibitors when in their offices, but will prove equally attractive to the public when hung in theater lobbies.

World Rights on New Film Secured by M. H. Hoffman

M. H. HOFFMAN is understood to have secured world rights to a six-reel patriotic film which will be handled on the state right market. Mr. Hoffman is at present in Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York, where he is recovering from the effects of a serious operation, and it is announced that a statement regarding his plans will be issued as soon as he is able to leave the hospital.

Mr. Hoffman has also secured from Crest Pictures the serial rights to the New York City and northern New Jersey rights to the "Grain of Dust," featuring Lilian Walker. The latter is the creation of H. Gainsbarg, who reports one hundred advance bookings of this picture based on David Graham Phillips popular story.

For several months Mr. Hoffman's health has been considered precarious. As announced in a previous issue, it was necessary for him to undergo an operation. However, he has so far recovered that he has obtained spe- cial permission from the hospital authorities and is holding conferences and out- lining plans for his film activity and that his forthcoming announcements will be of especial interest, particularly to producing managers.

"Patience Sparhawk" is Now "The Tiger Woman"

PETROVA Picture Company announces that the final editing and titling of Madame Petrova's fifth production has been completed. In a previous issue, "Patience Sparhawk," by Gertrude Atherton, and it will be released as an adaptation under the name of "The Tiger Woman."

The scenario is the work of Mary Mu- rillo, who has been responsible for many successful screen vehicles. The production is the first to be made in the new Petrova studios at 250 West Thirty-ninth street, and marks the second appearance of Ralph Ince as director for Madame Petrova. Di- rector Ince is said to have achieved many remarkable effects in his work, both as regards tricks of the camera and scenic investiture.

Because of the players who will be seen in the leading roles of "The Tiger Woman" are playing with Petrova for the first time. It is announced that this has been done in order to give the east a touch of freshness and to dispel the set atmos- phere which the same players usually carry from picture to picture. The cast includes Vernon Steel, Roelofliffe Fellows, Norma Selrit, Mathilda Harling, Gene Bun- nelle, Frederick Treudsell and Tefft Johnson.

Arrow Announces Sales on Variety of Subjects

ACCORDING to Dr. W. E. Shallen- berger, "to my mind, is the answer to two questions—first, is there a healthy State Right market, and, second, will the _Arrow_ ми patience motion pictures in a prosperous condi- tion?"

"A glance at the sales record will show every variety of productions including one and two reel releases. five reel releases, and road show attraction and all of these sales were effected in our office without exception. We have made no pre- ference for trade paper advertising and screenings and the minor disbursement entailed in the issuance of the _Arrow Bulletin_." Mr. Shallenberger just returned from Boston where he attended the Convention, and will announce shortly the making of exclusive contracts for representing producers.

Metro Exchange to Handle "The Warrior in New York"

GENERAL ENTERPRISES, INC., an- nounces that arrangements have been completed whereby the New York Metro Exchange will release "The Warrior," starring Maestri. In New York, the film will open in New York City as a hot weather attraction on the Marcus Loew circuit on July 22, which will mark its first product. Venue in New York City, and is sure to be a success, according to the Italian-Austrian front, contains many comedy inci- dents and is said to be exceedingly timely in view of the recent victories of the Italian army.
The MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Selznick Secures New York Rights on Brady Film

Tennessee and Alabama Franchise Sold to Special Feature Company.

RIGHTS OF "STOLEN ORDERS," William A. Brady's "Stolen Orders" features of which have been purchased by Lewis J. Selznick, and this production will be handled by Select Picture Corporation in this territory, in connection with an extensive exploitation campaign which will soon be inaugurated.

The sale of rights for the states of Tennessee and Alabama to W. J. Drummond by Special Feature Company, Knoxville, Tennessee, has also been announced. Mr. Drummond has been very successful with Mr. Brady's previous spectacular production "The Whip," and is said to be enthusiastic regarding "Stolen Orders.

This production, with a star cast, including Kitty Gordon, Carlyle Blackwell, June Elavidge in Montague Love, is said to be particularly timely in view of the startling disclosures of the operation of enemy spies in this country, and the daily intimations in the news of even more sensational disclosures in connection with systematic propaganda and spy work in existence here. There is a stirring story of diplomatic intrigue and an exposition of the type innocent are not infrequently made the tools of those higher up in the same to sow discord and stir up strife that the Huns may profit.

Sales of the Week

Activity in State Right Market During Past Seven Days.

M. H. Hoffman Exchange, New York, has purchased New York City and northern New Jersey for Crest Pictures, for "The Grain of Dust" featuring Lilian Walker.

General Enterprises announce that New York Metro Exchange will handle in New York City the "Warrior," starring Maciste.

Bernard H. Bernstein has disposed of the following territory on "A Lion of the Hills:" Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico to Ben Cohen, Denver, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, and Florida to Super Crown Pictures; Florida to J. M. Magoon, Wisconsin to J. M. Kuhn & Co., Minneapolis; Kansas and western Missouri to Elegant Film Service, Inc., Kansas City, and several states to Major Film Company, Boston.

J. W. Burke, of the Mid-West Feature Company, Denver, announces to William A. Brady, Colorado, Utah, Nevada and New Mexico rights on "Stolen Orders.

Soul L. Lesser of All Star Feature Distributors, Inc., San Francisco, has secured rights to "Hearts of the World," which will be handled in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, south central states, and territory west of Mississippi River on this production.

Ernest Shipment announces the sale of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," for Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Arizona and Texas to J. W. Burke, of the Mid-West Feature Company, Gas and Electric building, Denver.

S. A. Lynch Enterprises, Inc., have disposed of rights on "Carmen of the Klondike" for eastern Pennsylvania to W. J. Haggerty, of the Triangle Film Corporation, Philadelphia.

Hearts of the World Company announce the sale of Canadian rights to "Hearts of the World" to Jules and J. J. Allen, of Toronto.

Simmonds Speaks of "Mickey"

JOSEPH SIMMONDS, president of W. H. Productions Co., in connection with his announcement that the company would distribute "Mickey," says:

"We are now on the brink of a great change in the public reaction toward motion pictures. From the beginning of the war a gradual dislike of war pictures, bloodshed, destruction and misery became apparent.

"In my experience with motion pictures in England the first years of the war has been helpful to me. I found that the English people demanded interesting and entertaining comedies and comedy-dramas in preference to other types of film. The same conditions prevail in this country now and comedies of good quality are greatly in demand.

"We have taken a step in advance by acquiring the right to handle the Import Co. of "Mickey," which we intend exploiting on the state rights market. We believe that "Mickey" will become a household name with motion picture fans, and our exploitation campaign will be so thorough and unique as to make it possible for any exhibitor not only in this country, but in foreign countries to properly exploit Mickey. A great deal has been done about the merits of this production, and a great deal more will be said, but this is one instance where the picture itself will more than live up to its praise. This is a psychological time for the re-use of this feature, because it is a big, clean production possessing every element of feature value, and the most favorable assets is the fact that it is not a war picture, so that men, women and children, seeing Mickey will be carried away by its beauty and entertaining qualities.

Form New England Company to Handle Griffith Picture

IN connection with statements appearing in one of our earlier issues that New England right to D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World" had been sold, it is announced that the Hearts of the World Company of New England, Inc., has been formed to exploit this production in that territory. Edwin Golden has been appointed general manager, and an office opened in the Little Building, Boston, rooms 612 and 614.
Expressmen's Combine Disrupts Shipping

Amalgamation of Forwarding Companies of Seattle Works Havoc with Film Distributing Concerns—Collections Are Made Regularly, But Hitch Is at Railway Stations.

By S. J. Anderson, East Seattle, Wash.

Seattle, Wash.—The consolidation of the express companies of Seattle this week is causing the film exchanges a lot of worry. Although the large-scale collection trips are being made, it seems that no system of handling the films at the new offices is being created and that the collection offices are being used in a haphazard manner. There are no guides to the intent or purpose of the new system. The old system of hand delivery, with the expressman calling at the offices of the film exchanges, and the films being delivered to him, is giving place to a new method of collection, in which the expressman is required to make a trip to the production plant, where he is furnished with a list of the films he is required to deliver, and then to deliver them at the collecting office. This system is causing a great deal of trouble, and a number of the film exchanges are complaining about it.

Griffith's Film Draws Big Crowds.

"Hearts of the World," the big Griffith picture, is playing to bigger business this week than at any other picture which has appeared in Seattle. The film has already grossed over $7,000,000 in Seattle, and it is expected to make a large profit.

Seattle Film Men to War.

Al. Rosenberg and Billy Nelson, who enlisted in Base Hospital Unit No. 50, have left Seattle this week in order to serve in the armed forces of the United States. They are expected to arrive in Seattle in a few weeks.

Seattle Trade Brevities.

By B. G. Dean, Bldg. Bldg., Dayton, Ohio.

Dayton House Observes Bastille Day.

Dayton, Ohio, July 14.—The traditional observance of Bastille Day on the Fourth of July was observed in Dayton this week with great enthusiasm. The day was marked by a parade of floats, a fireworks display, and a variety of other activities. The mood of the city was jubilant and patriotic, and the day was a great success.

Dayton Installs Art Gallery.

The most important improvement this week is the new art gallery at the Dayton House. The gallery has been created in one of the old rooms of the hotel, and it is furnished with a number of fine paintings and sculptures. The most notable feature of the gallery is a large canvas of the American flag, which is hanging on the wall. The flag is painted in a realistic manner, and it is very impressive. The gallery is open to the public, and it is expected to be a great success.

Film Men Who Visited Dayton.

Among the film men visiting Dayton this week were Lou Foster, George Lightman, J. Maurice Ridic, of Niero, and R. H. Haines, of the National Exchange. Lightman announced that he had arranged for Larry Shaw to sell Sherry pictures.
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

St. Louis Trade Letter

By Mary Moore, 6035 Kingsbury Block, St. Louis, Mo.

Working for Better Children Pictures.

St. LOUIS—The National Visual Library, of which Miss Sarah Edwards is St. Louis representative, is an organization making an all-out effort to provide the country with better pictures for children, and very active throughout this territory in the last few months.

The National Visual Library is now working in connection with other organizations, such as the Children’s Alliance, in an attempt to get the towns of St. Louis in 1919 of the Moving Picture Exhibitors’ Leagues of America.

Miss Edwards denies that the organization has behind it any other motives than those which will tend to better the industry, and declares that all allegations and assertions that recently appeared in certain trade papers. This National Visual Library has not been incorporated, but expects to be soon.

Robinson Joins the Service.

Charles A. Robinson, former salesman in this territory for Select, has resigned and joined the service of Uncle Sam, and his personal address is Private Charles A. Robinson, 86th Company, 9th Training Battalion, Camp Pike, Ark.

Jamison Selling Select Pictures.

J. E. Jamison, manager of the Select Pictures Company, who has been here for the past two weeks, left on Tuesday of this week to return to his home in St. Louis, where he will spend a week or ten days with C. W. Taylor, who is manager for the Select Company at Omaha, “as he is familiarly known by film men, is a native St. Louisan, and well known by the film men. During the summer Mr. Jamison has helped in forming the new St. Louis Film Board of Trade.

Woody on Way to Omaha.

J. S. Woody, field manager of Select Pictures Corporation, who has been here for the past two weeks, left on Tuesday of this week to return to his home in Omaha, where he will spend a week or ten days with C. W. Taylor, who is manager for the Select Company at Omaha, “as he is familiarly known by film men, is a native St. Louisan, and well known by the film men. During the summer Mr. Jamison has helped in forming the new St. Louis Film Board of Trade.

News from Utica, N. Y.

By C. A. Carroll, Utica Observer, Utica, N. Y.

Wood Buys the Lyceum Theater.

UTICA, N. Y.—The Lyceum theater property at 35 Union St., Y. has been purchased by Samuel Wood, a well known merchant of that city, who has long been interested in Amsterdam real estate, and by acquiring the Lyceum theater property makes his individual property worth five times as much as it was a few years ago. The Lyceum was built about sixteen years ago, has a frontage of 60 by 90 feet, is 175 feet deep, and is occupied by a three-story building containing a large auditorium, two stores, and four flats. The premises front on the canal, and are close to the main street.

Odlum Transfers House Staff.

The house staff of the Grand Opera House, St. Catharines, Ontario, has been transferred by Manager Odlum to Port Dalhousie, near St. Catharines, as a summer center. Manager Odlum has a summer pavilion where picture shows are presented, and dances are held each evening. Because of the day-light-saving arrangement it has been found necessary to extend the picture portion of the nightly program until after 9 P.M., and the closing hour is 11:30 instead of 10:45. The Grand and Catharines will be reopened late in August.

Canadian Soldiers See "Fit to Fight."

The presentation of the special feature, "Fit to Fight," depicting the ravages of venereal disease, which has been shown throughout American army circles, will be conducted in Ontario for the benefit of members of the Canadian overseas army under the direction of Col. J. W. S. McCullough, chief health officer for Ontario. Colonel McCullough proposes to show the picture to the general public in the moving picture theaters in various cities.

Bernstein Goes to French Relief.

Manager J. Bernstein of Loew's theater, Toronto, who has been broadening out both with respect to its program attractions. When the theater was remodeled and reopened last spring it was decided to have a two-piece orchestra. This was a conservative move, but the theater has made such good progress that it was soon decided to use a complete orchestra. Leon Kofman has been appointed director of the orchestra, which was started on Sunday, July 14.

Extend Run of Gerard's Picture.

Gerard’s story, “My Four Years in Germany,” was given a second week’s run at the Provincial theater, Winnipeg, to enable, according to the announcement, Winnipeg’s 247,000 people to see the picture in two weeks. The run began on Saturday, July 13. The matinee admission price was 25 cents and the evening price for adults was 35 cents. The charge for children with parents was 10 cents. Shows were given five times each day during the two weeks.

Spacky Making Several Pictures.

The Spacky Specialty Film Co., centred in Toronto, Canadian Pathé distributors, are engaged in producing several pictures. One of the projects featured for the Montreal Fire Department for presentation in place of the annual benefit performances. Another production is a military feature which is being taken for the Canadian authorities and involves the making of pictures in some of the military cantonments in Eastern Canada. The third production, it is announced, is a story, based on the book, “The Four Babies.” The titles for the latter picture are in both English and French.

Empire Enjoys Prosperous Times.

Manager Don McCrae, proprietor of the Exhibitors’ theater, is optimistic regarding the future success of his theater and is willing to talk about his plans for the future, which he is planning to put into effect at present business. He recently installed two new projection machines and other new equipment in his house.

Only One Theater in Toronto Closes. Only one theater in Toronto has been closed. This is the King theater, College street and Manning avenue. The date of reopening has not been determined. All other local film houses are running full blast.

STRAY ITEMS FROM OHIO.

Exhibitors Keep Open Despite Mayor. Tiffin.—The exhibitors of Tiffin, O., where the mayor recently closed the shows on Sundays, have determined to put up a fight to keep their show open contrary to the order, and the owners of the Grand and Sigma theaters were arrested and held to a $500 bond. DAVE joins Fox forces.

Cleveland.—D. L. Davison, better known in the trade as “Dave,” has joined the Cleveland Fox forces, and is now traveling out of Cleveland. Dave is a well known exhibitor, having operated theaters in Cleveland for many years. He started out the week of July 17.
Scoville to Enlarge His All Night Theater

The Idle Hour, in Kansas City, the only Picture House West of New York to Remain in Operation Over Night, Is to Have Its Seating Capacity Increased to 500—Alterations to Cost About $15,000.

By Kansas City News Service, 115 Railway Exchange, Kansas City, Mo.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The Idle Hour theater, located at 10th and Main, which has been in operation for about five years in this city, is now being enlarged to add the seating capacity, W. D. Scoville, proprietor, has taken a lease on the adjoining rooms on Grand avenue, which will double the capacity, giving the theater room for about 500 patrons. About $15,000 will be spent in furnishing an entrance being put in on the Grand avenue side, and the 12th street entrance still maintained, using both display space and partial cotta, French windows, and a hanging canopy is to be built and rest rooms furnished. The new program has changed to run features on account of the difficulty of securing a split program, "We will have a new house here inside of a month," said G. T. Scoville, manager. "The whole interior is to be redecorated. For the first time patrons can now come in and see the theater all open all night, averaging about 500 patrons after ten o'clock. This has been so successful that we will make no changes in that," he added.

The Idle Hour is known among exchange men as being one of the most successful small theaters in Kansas City.

Feld Returns from Managers' Meeting

Milton Feld, manager of the Universal Film Exchange, has just returned from Chicago, where he participated in the meeting. Mr. Feld will have a salesmen's meeting immediately to explain the information which he got from Mr. L. S. Card. One of the points under discussion was the new program for the coming year.

Card Arranging for Distribution

L. S. Card, general manager of the United States Film Corporation, is spending about two weeks in Kansas City arranging for the distribution of the United States Feature Productions. These have been placed with the Yale Photoplay Company and the Daily Courier. He is arranging the first booking on "Just a Woman," featuring Charlotte Walker.

Williams Returns to Picture Game

Morty Williams, of the Standard Film Corporation, has returned, having spent the last month in New York City, is spending about three weeks in Kansas City arranging for the distribution of the United States Feature Productions. These have been placed with the Yale Photoplay Company and the Daily Courier. He is arranging the first booking on "Just a Woman," featuring Charlotte Walker.

Hendricks Promoted to Broker

Charles Hendricks, formerly shipping clerk of the Mutual Film Corporation, has been promoted to broker, and Mr. Proops, formerly post office clerk, is going into the shipping department. Of course, R. W. Mumford is still the mail room, and Mr. Proops is now a lady post office clerk.

Will Advertise Metro Feature Heavily

The Garden theater is arranging to play "To Hell with the Kaiser," the new Metro feature, for two weeks beginning July 21. The advertising connected with this feature is perhaps the biggest thing put out in this territory for some time. About $3,000 in advertising is going to be spent in the Garden is billing not only the immediate area, but also the nearby towns. There is also a special tie-in with the newspaper. Special press space is being taken out to advertise the feature. The Garden is billing the newspaper in each separate city, and stories from time to time which will be illustrated by scenes from the production. Admission will be 25, 50 and 75 cents.

Kansas City Branch for A. H. Blank

The A. H. Blank Enterprises, controlling the First National Exhibitors' releases and independent subjects, will open offices in the Ozark building in Kansas City, making this a distributing center for the Kansas and Missouri district. S. Goldfain, traveling representative of the company, will have charge of the Kansas City offices.

New License Schedule Assigned

Joplin, Mo., has adopted a new license schedule for amusements. Moving picture houses will pay $72 a year, the same license paid by vaudeville houses. Those combining pictures and vaudeville pay $100 a year.

Edwards Succeeds Vaughan at Klein's

C. C. Vauxhann, manager of the Kansas City office of the George Klein productions, will take charge of the St. Louis branch of the exchange, Mr. Burhong, who has had charge of the St. Louis office, is going to Dallas, Tex., to take Mr. Graham's place, while Mr. Graham will be transferred to Philadelphia. Mr. Vaughan came here from the Mutual in Omaha, Neb., as assistant to J. B. Story, who has since taken charge of the Kansas City office of the Mutual. Mr. Vaughan is "all Edwards," Warner, and has been with the United Booking; but better known in connection with Palace, with which he has been associated for four years. Mr. Vaughan, the manager, takes the place made vacant by Mr. Vaughan's departure.

Men Who Have Joined the Colors

Phil L. Ryan, general manager of the Standard Film Corporation, has volunteered for service with the Signal Corps of the United States Army, and is now with the 4th Depot Battalion stationed at Fort Leavenworth. Kan. Mr. Ryan, who was transferred a year ago from the standard since its organization about two years ago, is one of the youngest exchange men in the trade.

William Warner, salesman for Select Pictures Corporation at Kansas City, has left for St. Louis, where he is now with Col. J. L. Matson, advertising manager of the Kansas City Feature Film Company, to join the army. Mr. Matson has tried a number of times to enlist in the Marines, but on account of fallen arches was unable to pass the physical examination. Previous to Mr. Matson's departure the office force presented him with a watch.

Frank Cass, sales manager of Bluebird and special attractions department of the Imperial Film Exchange, Kansas City, has been called to the army service, and left July 15 for Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, Mo.

The Metro Kansas City office presented Harry Harden, formerly booker with the exchange, with a ring of passing as a little token of his loyal and faithful service. Mr. Harden has joined the reserve of the Imperial Picture Exchange.

Frank Cass, salesman for Universal, goes to Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, in the reserve of the Universal Motion Picture Exchange, Pinch, recently with K-E-S-E, and formerly with the Universal in Canada. Bill Scoville, manager of the Film Exchange, has joined the Reserve Officers' Training Camp, and will leave very shortly for Camp Dodge, near Des Moines, la.

Notes of Picture Theaters

Scandia, Kan.—Parlee Plotner has leased the-fly, the newest of the town's houses.

Sandia, Kan.—Wichita's new theater on the third block on East Douglas will be finished and opened to the public by Mr. C. M. Kline of Oklahoma City.

C. G. McCallister. The building will be 50x140 feet. The total cost when completed will be something like $50,000.

Sanata, Kan.—The new picture show, the Pecahuntas, has been opened.

Fort Bridging, Tex.—Thad Price, of Lufkin, is now owner of the Majestic theater here.

Philadelphia News Letter

By F. V. Armato, 144 North Salford St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Want Sunday Opening in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Sunday opening is being advocated in Philadelphia owing to the great increase in the population, which is due to the vast number of new shipyards now operating in this vicinity. Thousands of men and women are at present engaged in facilitating the output of the many munitions plants and new factories in the vicinity. Owing to the fact that a large number are required to work at night in their new positions and factories, the production whatever during the week. In order to try and relieve this situation a great many of the operating picture theaters should be permitted to operate on Sundays.

Philadelphia Brief Items

Albert Brown, of the Overbrook theater, motored to the Boston convention last Sunday taking his family along with him. Charles Keltner, of the Brunswich theater, is having a considerable amount of success this summer with his new house.

Charles Harder, of the Standard of the Prow theater, was in the city last week securing flowers for his own house. Mr. Harder, who operates a single house, is now with the Quaker City exchange, which is under the management of August Cell, formerly of the Stanley Company.

The exhibitors of Philadelphia have challenged the local exchange to send three men to play at Spring Mount, Sunday, July 21. The outcome of the game is being sponsored by the exchange and will be attended by the exhibitors. The game will be played at Westville, N. J., and the winner of the match will have the privilege of playing at the Stanley Theater.

The King of the Prow on his way to the Stanley, has taken over the Dreamland theater at 36th and Haverford.

Mrs. George, secretary of the Stanley Company, is now with the Stanley. Mrs. Mateo, formerly in the employ of the Stanley Company, has been appointed manager of the Chestnut Hill theater.

Frank L. Newman,
Of the Regent and Royal Theaters,
Kansas City.
Film Trade Notes of Week from Baltimore

By J. M. Shellman, 1602 Mt. Royal Terrace, Baltimore, Md.

Baltimore, Md.—Three well known exhibitors of Baltimore acting as delegates of the Maryland Exhibitors' League left Baltimore for Boston to attend the National Convention of the Moving Picture League of America on Sunday afternoon, July 14. The Baltimore delegation included Frank A. Hornig, president of the Maryland League, chairman of the delegates; Louis A. DeHoff, secretary of the league; and J. Louis Rome, council of the league. They will attend all the sessions of the convention, and expect to arrive back in Baltimore on Saturday, July 20. It is also understood that several other members of the moving picture fraternity of Baltimore went to Boston to attend the convention.

Carmel Myers at Camp Meade.

Carmel Myers, the moving picture star, and her company of players appeared at Camp Meade on Wednesday night, July 18. She appeared under the auspices of the Jewish Welfare Board, and she and her company gave an entertainment to the Knights of Columbus hut. The title of the play she presented was "My Unmarried Wife." After the play finished Miss Myers sang several selections, and then went through the audience shaking hands with every soldier there and presented each one with cigarettes.

"Birth" Plays to 20,000 Women.

The scientific film entitled "Birth" broke all records at the Blue Mouse theater, 28 West Lexington street, during the week of July 8. It was shown to 20,000 women and it is understood that more than 5,000 men were turned away from the theater because of the edict of the Maryland Board of Censors that this picture must not be exhibited to Maryland for men. Samuel Cummings, of Washington, D.C., who has control of this feature, had ballots printed and distributed to the audience of 3,000 women who packed the theater on the first two days in order that they might vote on whether men should be allowed to witness the film. It is said that only 25 answers were returned stating that men should not be allowed to see the film. Max Schwartz, the manager of this house, booked the picture for another week beginning July 15.

Red Moon Building Bought.

Control of the building in which the Red Moon theater is located, 1999 West Baltimore street, has now been acquired by the Caswell Hotel Company. The Caswell is a subsidiary of the DeHoff company, located on West Baltimore street, and it is understood that this building has been taken over as a storage warehouse. The hotel manager, whether the Red Moon will still be continued as a theater or be turned into a storage property has not been decided as yet, it is understood.

George Benjamin, well known in film circles, has successfully managed this house for some time.

Applies for Increase in Capital Stock.

Application has been made by Lynch Enterprises, Inc., to the Maryland State Tax Commission by the S. A. Lynch Enterprises, Inc., understood to be the new organization, for increasing the capital stock to $25,000 and at the same time to increase the voting capital to 5,000 shares, and to change the name of the company to 10. It is said that the company was incorporated on April 7, 1917, and that at that time the company stock was $1,000,000, divided into 16,000 shares each having a par value of $100.

College Apptos DeHoff Plan.

L. A. DeHoff's plan of giving a free show to students and making them the known for Thrift Stamps as admission is gaining in popularity. President B. O. Rouge, manager of the Maryland campus at Lutherville, Md., has now adopted the plan. He obtains a good program of moving pictures for the college students and they are shown in the college hall. The admission is by Thrift Stamp, and each person who wishes to see the show is expected to buy one, which, of course, is their property after purchasing. Off-stamp and colored war pictures and the "Eagle's Eye" serial are included in the program.

Loans Theater for Benefit Show.

Through the courtesy of B. Cluster, manager of the Cluster theater, 203 S. Broadway, this theater was used by the Daughters of Harmony to give a moving picture entertainment for the benefit of the Jewish Welfare Work for the soldiers at camp on Sunday afternoon and evening, July 14.

Personals of Baltimore.

Harry Woods, who for many years was associated with theaters and moving picture interests in Baltimore, is now working for the Government. Harry is one of the new troubleshooters between Baltimore, Wilmingotn and Westminster and the cost accounts at the various Government camps. H. J. Patterson Hopkins, who recently received the appointment as chief organist for the Fox theaters of New York, etc., is a former Baltimorean, and studied at the Peabody Conservatory of Music, from which he graduated.

Luis F. Dean, acting as manager of the Grand opera house in Pittsburgh, Pa., is a former Baltimorean, and sometimes manager of the Academy of Music in the Monumental City.

Iowa News Letter

By J. L. Shupley, 615 Locust St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Harold Bolster Visits Des Moines.

Des Moines, Iowa—Harold Bolster, vice-president of Goldwyn, spent a day in Des Moines last week en route to Minneapolis and Washington. Mr. Bolster just came from the meeting of Mid-West Goldwyn managers and salesmen in Chicago and reported a most encouraging conference.

Frisch Aids Theater Manager.

M. J. Frisch, manager of the Universal office, was "special delivery boy" on July fourth, when he delivered "The Beast of Berlin" to Marshalltown by auto rather than disappoint Manager J. J. Jones, of the Strand, who had the premiere billed like a circus for the holiday. Although he arrived after the regular starting time, Mr. Frieh found the Des Moines in record time and Jones broke all records for the house in the business the picture did.

Blank to Open Exchange in Omaha.

A. H. Blank announces that he has closed the long discussed film exchange in Omaha, and that the office which has been conducted in Des Moines will be moved there. Manager E. Holah spent several days in Omaha last week laying the office out and getting ready for the opening.

D. B. Baker Called to Colors.

D. B. Baker, manager of the Rex at Ottumwa, is another Iowa exhibitor to be called to the colors. Baker has been obliged to enter a hospital for a minor operation to enable him to don the khaki. During the war the theater will be looked after by his partner, Mr. Fry, who up to now has not taken active interest in running the business.

Draft Hits Pathe's Sales Force.

Manager Sheridan, of the Pathe office, has lost three of his crack salesmen through the draft. Mike Garrity, Glenn All, and Jake Cohen being called to other colors. The Pathe organization is the only one in Des Moines to be hit by the draft thus far. Manager Sheridan ran over to Omaha for a conference with Sales Manager Quinby, who is making a tour of all Pathe offices. Manager Sheridan returned yesterday about replenishing his road force, and expects to replace the absentees in the near future.

Gerard's Picture Breaks Records.

Ambassador Gerard's "My Four Years in Germany" broke all records at the Palace, connecting with a two day gross of over fifty-five thousand admissions. Manager Harry Watts put over a strenuous advertising campaign on behalf of the picture, and it certainly brought results notwithstanding that it was second run, first run having been held at the Berchel at dollar prices the week of May 19. "Pershing's Crusaders" packed the Garden five days the past week, capacity audiences being the rule during the entire showing.

Novel Poster Display at Rialto.

An effective poster display is in evidence at the Rialto. Three sheets are cut out and are pasted side by side on the front of the frames, are surrounded with a cut out black border which follows the form of the buildings. The white face of the framed electric lights illuminate the poster following its color scheme. It makes a startling display, and stops passers-by.

Nichols Will Sell Paramount Pictures.

A. W. Nichols, former Des Moines exhibitor, and who has been on the road for the past year for the Universal office, has joined the Paramount forces, and will travel the state in interests of the organization.

Holmes Now Selling for Blank.

Ralph Holmes, former manager of the Grand in Burlington, is now touring Iowa as salesman for the A. H. Blank subjects.

Guy L. Wonders, Manager of Wilson Theater, Baltimore.

---

August 3, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD
DALLAS, TEX.—There is a moving picture boom in Orange, Texas. In this southern Texas town at the present time there are three moving picture theaters each having a seating capacity between 1,200 and 1,500, in the course of construction.

The reason is the new shipyards which are bringing thousands of workmen eager to aid Uncle Sam to the banks of the Sabine and bringing a lot of business to Orange declare that within the past two months the population of their town has increased over 75 per cent, and the 25,000 mark in population has been surpassed and that business is excellent.

C. R. Ritterman, of the Princess at Orange, is building a new theater. W. T. Minder will open his new Liberty theater at Orange, and will seat 1,200. Mr. and Mrs. Minder were in Dallas in mid-July booking First National Exchanges. The ex-Mrs. Minder is the daughter of J. A. Holton, of Port Arthur, one of the best known Texas exhibitors. The third theater is the big alourcme to be opened at once by Haschel Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were in Dallas last week.

San Antonio Has Producing Companies.

San Antonio has two producing companies, the Shamrock and the Sunset, both of which were recently organized. The Shamrock Photo Play Corporation, has gone to New York with E. C. Harrington and Manager Soto, of the Mexico Film Company, of Mexico City. They will arrange for the sale of "Barbecue," a film produced by the Mexican corporation recently. It deals with the Spanish conquest of Mexico. William Steiner, of the Photodrama Company and the Jester combine, will handle the New York end of the proposition.

Kelly Gets Up an "Excuse" Letter.

Smiling Jimmy Kelly, of the General, declares that a stereotyped "excuse" letter for exhibitors has long been needed. He sends them regular "excuse" letters, which are a model to his trade, and are subject to all business. They reads, "My town is small—business is bad, our young men have gone away to the war, and I cannot pay you any big price."

Civic Appeals Board O. K.'s "Shackled."

Mrs. Ethel Boyce, Dallas moving picture censor, put the Indian sign on "Shackled," a Patha picture, when the Hippodrome theater management tried to show it during the second week in July. The management appealed to the Board of Civic Improvement, but their request was ruled, and "Shackled" was unshackled in a jiffy.

Theater Company Changes its Name.

Gonzales, Hernandez & Co., of the Star theater, announced this week that the concern has changed its name to Luis Gonzales, Trevino and Brothers.

Hulsey Goes to New York.

President E. H. Hulsey, of the first National Exhibitors’ Circuit, has gone to New York for a week or two.

Pritchett and Runnels Join Colors.

C. Pritchett and John Runnels, of the Vickers theater, Dallas, have been called to the colors. Nine men are in khaki from this branch office alone out of a complement of 25 workers.

Arrival of Thousands of Workmen in Orange, Texas, Helps Swell Attendance at Theaters—Three Picture Houses, Each with Seating Capacity of Between 1,200 and 1,500, in Course of Construction.

By Phil E. Fox, c/o Times-Herald, Dallas, Texas.

The exchange men visiting Dallas Film Row.

Several district managers visited film row last week, and all report business conditions in Southern and Southwestern territory as exceptionally good.

Arthur Lucas, district manager for Goldwyn, was here from Atlanta, Ga. He took the convention of exhibitors at Galveston. Then he spent a day or two with L. B. Remy here.

T. F. McTyer, manager for the General in the South, is expected here before the end of the month.

John A. Stevenson, personal representa- tive of Pathe, has made a tour of Texas, and Hodkinson Corporation, was in Dallas for a day or two en route to El Paso.

Exhibitors Who Visited Dallas.

Many Texas exhibitors visited Dallas during last week and many of them en route to the Galveston meeting in their automobiles. Among the visitors were Jim Wooten, owner of the W. C. Bates, of the King, from Sherman; Joe Davenport, of the Empire, Waxahachie; W. A. Stuck, of the Texas, Houston; H. C. Ben-Shields, of the Queen, from Navasota; B. C. Bell, of the Gem, Palestine; Ben Myers, of the Alvarado, Alvarado; Will Winch, of the Wig Wam, El Paso; J. J. Dillon, of the John A. H. Smith, of the Stearns, formerly of the Iaas at Houston, but now of the Stearns at Kingsville; R. H. Stewart, of Mountain Vernon; "Boston" Campbell, Arcade, Deni- son.

Minneapolis News Letter

By John L. Johnston, 719 Hennepin Ave, Minneapolis, Minn.

Delegation to Convention Smaller.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—The Northwest delegation to the national Hill, moving picture convention left here Friday, July 11, for Boston. This year’s delegation was about one-third the size of last year’s, and was composed of Presi- dent William H. Deeth, Vice-President Ralph E. Parker, Secretary Clyde H. Holton, Manager James J. C. Donnellan, and Thomas Furniss. Mr. Parker and Mr. Furniss are from Duluth, while the other men are from Minneapolis. The reason for Minnesota’s small delegation this year is due to the fact that Boston is about 1,000 miles from Minneapolis. The Northwest delegation went to Boston with the intention of waging war on the infant order by various means, but in certain producers. The Northwest delega- tion will do its utmost to bring about a reconciliation between the National League and the American Exhibitors’ Association.

Equipment Company in New Offices.

Minneapolis.—The Theater Equipment Company has removed its offices from the Film Exchange building to rooms 822 and 842 Builders’ Exchange. J. George Fenberg is in charge of the new offices.
SPokane, WASH.—Progress is being made with rapid strides at the Washington Motion Picture Corporation studios since the arrival of Mitchell Lewis on the scene, according to the management, and the picture is to be completed in a short time.

War Picture Plays to High Prices.

While the Auditorium theater has not been crowded by people to witness the presentation of “Hearts of the World,” with the exception of two or three performances, the crowds have hold up well, and the applause has been liberal. Members of the Washington State Press Association and their wives were guests of Manager J. W. Allender to witness this production. Prices run $5, 50 and 75 cents, and $1.50 for matinee performances, and $2.50, 50 and 75 cents, and $1.50 for night shows. A large orchestra added to the attraction, and those who witnessed the production praised it. The editors were also shown through the studios of the Washington Motion Picture Corporation.

Suggests Employment for All Ushers.

Spokane, Wash.—Suggestions have been made by the local section of the National Boys’ Working Reserve that girl ushers be used in theaters.

“We have taken up the matter of girl ushers in the Clemen theater with A. D. Brewer, former Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and find that there are more boys between the ages of 18 and 21 just now than there is work to do,” said Dr. Howard S. Clemen, manager of the Clemen theater.

“Our ushers, 10 in number, range from 16 to 21 years of age and in view of the fact that the conditions of labor in Spokane are such as quoted it would seem unfair to the boys to replace them with girls. We have, however, served notice upon the United States Boys’ Working Reserve to have us stand ready to make the change upon a week’s notice from them, with assurance of employment elsewhere for those now in our employ.”

“In case we are called upon through the agency of Government endeavor we will engage three of our theater men but red-headed girl ushers, thus forwarding in Spokane the spirit and sentiment which evidently is a part of the institution and its management.”

S. Clark Patchen, E. 1111 Eleventh Ave.

M itchell Lewis on the Scene.

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Picture Business at Low Ebb in California

More Theaters Closing Throughout State Due to Hot Weather—Others Cutting Down Showings Per Week—But Shipbuilding Brings Prosperous Times in San Francisco Bay Region.

San Francisco, CAL.—The tendency toward closing moving picture houses in California during the summer season and the number of show days per week in others continues, and fewer theaters are now in operation than has been the case for years.

Business in the interior is generally reported to be quiet, with the exception of western parts, where there is a little desert for trucking activity. In the San Francisco Bay region the shipbuilding and shipping industries have been on the rise and are attracting many workers, with the result that attendance at moving picture houses is more than in any other region. Some theaters breaking all former records with an astonishing regularity. Taking the territory as a whole, however, there is no doubt but that business is well below normal.

Edmonds Returns to San Francisco.

W. O. Edmonds, for the past year manager of the Majestic theater at Reno, Nev., has resigned, and has been succeeded by Roy Stoddard. Following a short stay at Lake Tahoe he will return to San Francisco where he will take position of manager for George Kleine before succumbing to the lure of the Sagebrush State. While in Reno he has made plans for the future it is likely that he will engage in some branch of the film business.

Attends Metro Convention.

Louis Reichert left recently to attend a conference of Metro managers at Los Angeles. He is in charge of the heads of West Coast branches are to convene. Harry Lustig, Western division manager, stopped off here on his way to San Francisco, and Carl Stern, of the Seattle branch, was also in town for a short time.

Petrova Visits San Francisco.

Madame Petrova was a recent visitor in this city, and appeared in person on the stage of the Tivoli theater on the afternoon of July 10 in the interest of the Pathé Exchange. In spite of the fact that the special drive for the sale of these stamps came to an end before the arrival of this city, this day passing its quota of $16,000, stamps to the value of $13,000 were sold at the two appropriate days. Many noted film fans have appeared here during the past few months in the interest of various Government activities, but none made a more profound impression than Madame Petrova, whose speeches were masterpieces of diction and delivery. From here she left for Portland, Ore., and plans to visit theaters in forty-five cities in forty days.

Tom North Back in California.

One of the most pleasing bits of news that has come to California exhibitors and film men in a long time is the announcement that Tom North has been made manager of the Western branch of the Pathé Exchange, Inc., with headquarters at San Francisco. He is now on the Coast, and will arrive here in the very near future, and will be in touch with the management.

Clune Picture Fills Alhambra.

Capacity houses were the rule at the Alhambra theater during the engagement of “Eyes of the World,” a Clune production, as attrition one of the most successful since the house was opened under the present management. This picture has been shown in this territory only as a road attraction, and the M. & R. Feature Film exchange, which recently acquired Clune rights, has having good success in booking it.

Our American Company in San Francisco.

J. L. Cuneo, manager of the American studio at Santa Barbara, recently called at Los Angeles and is reported to be connected with a company to make pictures in Chinatown and around the bay. The company is headed by Marguerite Fisher, with Edward Slooman filling the post of director.

Railroad Men See War Picture.

The entire seating facilities of the Columbia theater were taken over last night during the recent engagement of "Pershing's Crusaders" by officials and employees of the general office of Southern Pacific Company. Brief addresses were made from the stage during the evening on the subject of war activities.

Flyn Serial Not to Be Exported.

"The Eagle's Eye," the Flyn serial, was recently screened in the rooms of the Atlas Educational Film Corporation in the Pacific Theater, and after it had been viewed in its entirety by officials it was decided that it would be best not to have it leave the country at this time.

Film Men Visit Mare Island.

On July 9 a party of San Francisco film folk visited Mare Island to attend the opening of the naval hospital, among those being Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sloman, of the Metro; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Cohen, of the George Kleine System; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Citron, of the Fox exchange; Newron Levi and mother, of the Mutual; Mr. and Mrs. M. Zar and George Mann, Minnesota manager of the Fox Film Corporation; Mrs. E. Keller, Miss Ruth Keeler, Miss Olson, Miss Haddock, Mrs. Raymond, and Bert Levy. They were brought back to this city on a navy launch. On the following day D. H. Bergh, personal representative of George Kleine, who has been here for the past two weeks, his sister, Mrs. Chevington, and Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Cohen, women guests of George Kleine, were sent as Post Adjutant, Marine Barracks, Mare Island. The recent benefit for the Marine Corps Field and the recreation fund held at the Exposition Auditorium in San Francisco, under the management of local film men, netted the handsome sum of $5,106.

Visitors in San Francisco.

Among the California exhibitors who have visited San Francisco of late have been Frank Triguero, of the Liberty theater, Mendocino; Frank Sprague and wife, of the Quincy opera house, Quincy; Charles Godard, of Godard's J Street theater, Sacramento; Nick Turner, of the State theater, Grand, Los Angeles, of the Sequoia theater, Sacramento; J. Di Stasio, Sacramento; G. F. Madsen, of Corpus Christi; H. W. Riner, and A. Richards, of the Tokay theater, Lodi.

Spokane Brevities.

Oiga Petrova in "The Light Within," produced by Larry Trimble, now with the Washington Motion Picture Corporation, drove here at the Liberty theater, Spokane, has been secured by the Spokane Engineering and Technical Association to be shown. Natatorial, the local amphitheater, to aid the War Department. It was sent by Tom Evans, of the Instructional Laboratory of the Army in Washington, D. C.

A Pledge to Save is a Pledge to Fight.

By W. S. S.
Kleine Film Aids Marine Recruiting Drive

The Unbeliever Plays Big Part in Buffalo Campaign for New Members—Sergeant Robert C. Graham Gives Lectures Where Picture Is Shown to Good Results

By Joseph A. McGuire, 152 North Elmwood Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO.—In connection with the Marine Corps recruiting drive being conducted in Buffalo and vicinity —"The Unbeliever," the Kleine picture, is playing a prominent part. Sergeant Robert C. Graham, a member of this famous fighting organization, has delivered many lectures at the theaters where this picture has been shown. A cut of Sergeant Graham appears herewith. That his talks go over with a bang is testified to in a letter which he has received from Manager J. E. Linn of the Friendly theater, Rochester. The letter says in part: "Your daily talks to our audiences have unquestionably been of material assistance to us in making "The Unbeliever" a success in Rochester, and we believe, also, that it would be difficult to place a limit on the interest which you have created throughout the city in the United States marine corps."

Sergeant Graham recently had charge of a special section of the Buffalo Express which he presented under the name of "The Unbeliever" were featured. The production had a week's run at the Family theater. Preceding the showing of the picture at the Family, Buffalo, there was a big recruiting rally held by the Marine Corps at Lafayette square, near that house. Mayor Busck of Buffalo, Council Malone and Sergeant Graham were the speakers. This program was followed by a flag raising at the Family in charge of a squad of marines. Sergeant Graham lectured at this theater, as well as at the Elmwood, Buffalo, and at the Grand, Bradford, Pa., where the George Kleine picture drew the crowds.

Hears from Film Men in the Service.

T. C. Montgomery, manager of the Triangul, at this theater, and Frank Worden, former owner of the Gem theater, Delavan, N. Y., Mr. Worden is with Buffalo Foole,Inc. at Gordon, Atlanta, Ga. The manager of this house is Ed Hyman, former manager of the Victoria theater, Buffalo. Over his own name Manager Hyman makes this announcement in the program: "Camp Gordon will focus its eyes on the Liberty, fort has many and will witness a procession of the nation's greatest men and women who will make their way to the theater to the way Camp Gordonward. The program also prints the names of the members of the Liberty theater, according to Mr. Montgomery. The latter has also heard that the Buffalo boy is also making good in the same business. He is Mat Whitham, former manager of the Academy, Buffalo, and now manager of the Liberty theater at Camp Wheeler, at Macon, Ga.

Lyric Being Redecorated.

The Lyric, theater, Buffalo, has closed for the summer. Decorators are making the place ready for the opening for the opening about Labor Day. Charles Bowe, who says he is opposed to long vacations, is spending the midsummer as assistant manager of the Academy, Buffalo. In the old days Charlie wrote on the Academy staff. Mr. Michael, manager of that theater, has returned from his vacation.

Praises the Moving Picture World.

Mitchell Pitzer, of the Ilapoy Hour, Syracuse, and Ben Ritter, at the Regent, that city, were Buffalo visitors. Mitchell had his pockets stuffed with cigars for his friends, who congratulate him on the recent birth of a daughter. In his conversation with the representative of The Moving Picture World, Mr. Pitzer consisted of undisguised praise of the Moving Picture World, which, according to his well-known theory, is "the best film paper on earth."

Detroit News Letter

By Jacob Smith, 719 Free Press Building, Detroit, Mich.

Many Theaters Will Show First Runs. D'AMICO, Novello, H. Kunsky will show the first-run pictures in his Washington, Adams, Madison, and possibly his Columbus theaters, all of which own known run. Mr. D'Amico also use first-run pictures, booking open and putting on pictures more elaborately than ever. "The Broadway" will be a run, and Mrs. Luck will run three weeks if they will hold up that long; the Broadway-Strand will be a run. The Imperial Artcraft Paramount, which is a considerable talk of the Regent going to pictures exclusively and using first runs; there is also considerable talk of taking Colonial, theater, Woodward and Sibley street, will be a first-run theater, showing features a full season of pictures.

Affiliated Stockholders Meet. Stockholders of the Affiliated Distributors' Corporation met in Detroit on Tuesday, June 23, to pay in their money, see that the coproductive booking plan, Walter S. Butterfield, president, acted as chairman, and Grand Rapids, and national director, spoke on the recent meeting held in New York which he attended as Michigan delegate.

Michigan Brief Items.

Arthur Logan, former manager of the Imperial, in Detroit, is now sales manager at the Imperial, Detroit. Eddie Fontaine, former Detroit manager of the Artcraft, is now managing the Drury Lane theater, Detroit. Arthur D. Baeer, of the Crystal theater, Belle Isle, is now manager of the 14th and McGraw, and has an engagement for改善, improvements. J. H. Chambers, manager Trans- ferter Company, Cleveland, was a Detroit visitor this week, accompanied by Mrs. Chambers. Leon Lacey of the Coliseum theater, Edmore, Mich., has taken over the Temple theater at Howell, Mich. He will operate between E. F. A. Ogden, of the Knickerbocker theater, Holland, has leased the Bell opera house in the city of Holland. Herb Well, of Port Huron, and Claude Cady, of Lansing, are back from business trips in New York City. Both are "magnets" in their respective el-

The Dawn Master play Company announces having secured the Michigan rights to the Spanish Vod-avril movies, and will release them at the rate of one every two weeks.

Cincinnati News Letter

By Kenneth C. Crain, 307 First National Bank Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Says Public Is Tired of "Sob" Films.

CINCINNATI.—According to J. W. Mc Mahan, of Mc Mahan & Jackson, one of the Cincinnati film managers, business by reason of his dual work as an exhibitor and as a film man, the public is tired of morbid pictures. The public is dealing with death and remorse on this side of the water or with the war. He believes, from his observation recently, that the public is feeling the strain and sorrow of the war more and more as time goes on, and there is a demand for comedies which will make people forget their troubles. "Nobody wants to see some stupid story of a man and how they have troubles enough of their own to cry about. People want to laugh."

Gerard's Picture Going Strong.

Cincinnati.—The film presentation of the Gerard book, "My Four Years in Germany" with a week at the Grand opera house, beginning with Sunday, July 14, and as attendance kept up steadily the picture is going strong. The long engagement will in all probability break records for a consecutive run, although it may not be come within a good many thousand of equalling the total number of people who have seen "The Birth of a Nation." The powerful figures already compiled, however, make it virtually certain that over 100,000 people have seen the film, which is a quite a few. A number of special exhibitions, such as one at the University, has boost up a credit of the competitive National Army soldiers training there, helped materially in swelling the number who saw the film.

Lyric Puts on a Chaplin Picture.

Cincinnati.—The theater management of the Lyric have made a pronounced hit during the week of July 14 with the latest Chaplin release, known as "Nine-Tenths of the Law" as an added feature. The views of exhibitors who believe that the public prefers more serious stuff were abundantly verified by the crowds which flocked to see the Chaplin film. The Lyric is also running a pair of singers with suc-
Farren Sends Smokes to Boys “Over There”

Rochester Theater Manager Each Week Forwards Packages of Tobacco and Other Comforts to Soldiers Overseas—Secures Names of Khaki-Clad Lads in the Trenches from Patrons.

By L. H. Sheffington, 61 Main Street East, Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER—Jack Farren, secretary of the Rochester Theater Company and manager of the Victoria theater, has for long been deeply rooted interest in the boys in khaki. He has sent out each week to the men “over there” boxes of cigarettes and other good things. In each package he has enclosed a copy of The Pictureplay News, and during the past two weeks he has received many letters, and all agree on one thing—the men feel much more at ease in reading the stories of the plays and players and the gossip of movieland that is published in The Pictureplay News. So now Jack is handing out coupons to his patrons, requesting them to fill in the name of a soldier boy overseas. To each soldier so listed Jack says he is going to enter a subscription for The Pictureplay News.

Grand Meeting with success.

The newly elected board of managers is meeting with success. Manager Thompson has some progressive ideas and bids fair to bring about the Grand much of its old-time prosperity.

Take Instruction Films in Rochester.

Moving pictures that are up to the minute have been taken in Rochester almost every day this week. Aeronautical manu- facturers, in the Rochester High School of Aerial Photography have been going aloft, and sailing over the city have taken a kind of camera that is used in the instruction of men in the school. During the past week it has been a common sight to see them flying about, often swooping down quite low in order to get a good shot at some object of particular interest.

Kleine Manager in Town.

Louis Green, manager of the Klein office in this territory, has been in town this week and reports a splendid outlook for business. He has booked several plays at downtown showing a decided early showing. The splendid work of “The Unbeliever” during its run in town created big demand for the picture which should redound largely to both the distributing company and the theater men.

Taylor Now with Triangle Company.

“Hub” Taylor, probably one of the best known men in the film game in this territory, former representative of Pathé for years and later in business for himself, is now with the Triangle company in western New York.

Rochester Small Items.

The official “thirtieths” issued by the Treasury Department will be seen in all local movie houses this week.

Manager Sanborn of the Federal prince- therater, is running off a short film taken in his neighborhood, with the neighbors as actors and actresses.

Washington News Letter

By Clarence L. Linz, 632 Riggs Building, Washington, D. C.

Mason New Manager at Mutual Exchange.

WASHINGTON—H. R. Mason ex- ceeds expectations in his new capacity as manager of the Mutual Film Company’s exchange in this territory. He is known in the business, M. G. M. men, who formerly held sway. Mr. Mason is quite well known to the trade, having been in the game for about eleven years and knows it from both sides of the fence. He opened the second theater to be established in North Carolina and has operated the Acme company exchange in the city of Richmond. He is now connected with the Consolidated Amusement Company, of Baltimore, and later he took charge of the sales department for the United States Film and Supply Company, of Atlanta, Ga., with an office in Charlotte, N. C. He was well known before the war, and during his regime he had charge of a dozen offices in different localities. He was later connected with the Famous Players film companies in Atlanta, devoting the past two years to the management of his personal interests in Goldsboro.

Film Men With the Colors.

Eugene Zukor, son of Adolph Zukor, is to be seen in the natty uniform of a chief pilot over in the big air, he having been sent to this city for duty in the explosives bureau.

Henry Randle, who has been traveling through North Carolina as a salesman for the Famous Players Exchange, has donned uniform of a private in the Army and is now stationed in one of the southern training camps.

Mayor of Denver, many years connected with the film business in this city, has gone into the Signal Corps as an instructor, and is in training to become an officer of the Signal Corps. He is expected to be in action when the war is over.

Among the Exchange men.

The resignation of Henry Randle as salesman for the Famous Players-Lasky Company when he left this city to join the army, and the movement of Owen D. Weems from the company to the Goldwyn exchange, have brought about several changes in the representatives in this territory. It brings back to Washington Fritz E. Wathne, who has been handling the International Film Service when that company had a direct line to the Triangle in Philadelphia for about a year, but more recently has been in the automobile business in New York City.

W. A. Busch, who has been traveling in the Virginia territory and who, we are told, goes to the Maryland and Delaware terri- tory. Mr. Weems formerly handled Mary- land. The State of Virginia will be covered by F. L. Greenhalge, who was formerly connected with the Mutual Film Service in this city.

Marcus Loew Visits Washington.

Marcus Loew was among the visitors of the last week, coming here for the purpose of giving orders for the construction of the new house now under construction. According to reports now, it is a safe bet that the theater will be ready for opening October 1, and when it is opened it will be devoted exclusively to the showing of moving pictures. Marcus Loew has some time that has been vaudeville would be the principal attraction in places as this, for Mr. Loew is understood to have announced to the contrary.

Beatius Off on Vacation.

Lawrence Beatius, manager of Loew’s Columbia, is taking a well earned vacation and has gone to his former home in Balti- more. The manager is.Interval, he has been following the unusual conditions now existing in the National Capital section. Mr. Beatius will put down his vacation this year to a single week.
Critical Reviews and Comments

Upon Current Productions

"TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER"
Five-Part Vitagraph Picture Offers Alice Joyce an Appealing Role.
Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

SIMPLE in theme, but filled with the human touch that lays hold of the heartstrings, "To the Highest Bidder," a five-part Vitagraph release arranged from a story by Florence Morse Kingsley and directed by Tom Terriss, receives much of its appeal from the sincere and attractive figure Alice Joyce makes of the heroine, Barbara Preston.

The story of an orphan girl's brave struggle to save her old home and help a young brother, the situation that gives the picture its title, is quite out of the ordinary. Finding that she cannot keep up the payments on the mortgage and being warned that she must raise the money or Stephen Jarvis, the holder of the mortgage, will foreclose, Barbara conceives the plan of selling her services for five years. She is hired for her skill as a housekeeper and hopes to realize enough to satisfy Jarvis' claims.

At the auction two men bid steadily against each other. One is an old sweetheart, David Whitcomb, who is just returned from the west. The other is a secret agent, acting for Jarvis. Whitcomb puts up his last penny, but his rival outbids him. Jarvis has no desire for his work, the acquiring of money—until he meets Barbara. At the conclusion of the story the heroine learned that Whitcomb is unworthy of her, and that Jarvis is the unknown master who has the right to her services. Matters are adjusted happily and Barbara becomes the mistress of the Jarvis home.

THE VAMP
Paramount Picture Starring Enid Bennett Is Along Familiar But Entertaining Lines.
Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

EARING the Thomas H. Ince supervision stamp, the Paramount five-part picture, "The Vamp," has evidently been written for the purpose of drawing Enid Bennett with a congenial role. It fulfills its mission. C. Gardner Sullivan, author of the scenario, has not attempted to experiment with any new material, but the scenes and situations permit the pleasing young star to realize to the fullest extent on her own personality and to show her skill and earnestness as an actress.

The picture does not make the slightest pretense of digging beneath the surface of life, but is always consistent to its class. Intended for entertaining purposes only, it is not morally obliged to take part in the uplift game or to point out the wonderful new forces that are at work in the world today. The very nature of its theme forbids it. Nothing but highbrow pretense would make the screen patron disgust with the shadow stage. "The Vamp" belongs to the recess hour. No one wants to be instructed every time he enters a moving picture theater.

After the above little preaching of our own, a return to the plain duty of the reviewer is in order. "The Vamp" tells of an unspoiled young girl who marries an official of the minister, and the pair take charge of a community house in a mining town. An interfering uncle, a woman acting as a secret agent, and a vampire, all find success in wrecking the happiness of the minister and his wife. The story is pretentious and a vampire and陷阱 the pair of villains.

A humorous old Irishman, capably played by John P. Lockney, is one of the best features of the picture. Douglas MacLean, Charles French, Robert McKim, and Walter Murphy form the group cast. The production was directed by Jerome Storm, and is a thoroughly satisfactory affair. The greatest screen patrons will enjoy "The Vamp."

"THE HOUSE OF HATE"
Concluding Episode of Pathe Serial Winds Up Under the Aura of "Old Glory."
Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

THE Hooded Terror comes to the end of his criminal career in "Following the Glory," the last episode of the Pathe twenty-part serial. He is shot by Harvey Greenslam while trying to escape from the Weldon house, and after a life-and-death tussle with Pearl. The end of part first sees Pearl and Harvey married, and the second part shows them on the battlefields of France doing their share to aid the Allies. Harvey enlists as a soldier and his wife becomes an ambulance driver. The American is severely wounded, but Pearl helps to nurse him back to health. In "Old Glory," Pearl and Antonio Moreno maintain their interest in the serial to the last and act with their usual zest.

"THE FIRST LAW"
Irene Castle the Star of Five-Part Pathe Picture That Recalls a Serial.
Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

MACLEAN's character study to physical movement and the baffling qualities of the crook story is the high point of "The First Law," a five-part Pathe picture that recalls a serial by its construction and the rapid shifting of its events. Produced by Astra and directed by Lawrence McGill, the story was written by Gilson Willetts, and turned into a screen form by Ray Somerville. Irene Castle and Antonio Moreno head the cast.

The plot always aims straight at its mark. It sets out to chain the attention of the spectator and to keep him guessing until his final solution, and succeeds in its purpose. This sort of story will always have a large following. It has been popular in the novel and on the stage, and has its place on the screen. The production, acting, and direction all tend to make the picture acceptable.

The mystery underlying the plot is centered about Norma Webb, the daughter of a wealthy chap, who lost his fortune through bad investments. Hugh Godwin, a wealthy young chap, comes to the Webb house to board and falls in love with Norma. He entertains the same affection for Godwin, but will not marry him. It turns out that she is already married to the man who ruined her father. This unwelcome individual turns up one night and acts so ruffianly toward Norma that she is obliged to shoot him. Thinking him dead, the girl is the prey of a blackmailer, who, driven out of his hideout, is forced into the wife of Godwin and using his money to help guard her secret from the world. The story is the real murderer permits Norma to live in peace with the man she has learned to love.
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Irvin Castle is by no means a remarkable actress. She has acquired ease, however, and has a certain genuine performance quite satisfactorily. Antonio Moreno, J. H. Gilmour, Marguerite Snow and Berton Churchill are the main props of the cast.

"NEIGHBORS"
Madge Evans and Johnny Hines Featured in World Juvenile Fiction Story.

Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

BOUND in pasteboard covers, "Neighbors" can be found in Sunday School libraries and the juvenile departments of the public collections of books. The story is by Maravas Thompson, and World Pictures has produced it with clever little Madge Evans and droll Johnny Hines. Whatever the picture possesses it owes to the acting by the stars and their support and the direction by Frank H. Good.

The series of incidents that are supposed to link the plot together is of a mildly exciting kind, but will diverting to the juvenile mind. There are one or two attempts at drama in the story and a few highly unlikely happenings, but the doings of the kiddles always hold the center of the screen. Views of charming New England scenes, views of wood and stream, and quiet village life add greatly to the pleasing qualities of "Neighbors".

Clarissa Leigh, a little girl of ten, and her sister, Ruth, the village school teacher, live next door to the Hardings, and of all the Hardings loves Ruth. The Hardings are the richest family in town, and Mrs. Harding, having some ambitions, objects to the match. Effie Harding, about Clarissa's age, complicates matters by accusing her little neighbor of stealing a dollar from her, and Clarissa is forced to resort to strategy before she proves her innocence. She also saves a drowning dam while adrift in a canoe. Scenes of childish squabbles and merriment fill in the strings of theplot, and the happenings of the two families over the engagement of Ruth and Paul.

Madge Evans as Madge is as natural and unaffected as ever, and Johnny Hines is human and amusing as Paul. Maxine Elliott, J. O. Parlette, Mathilde Brandage, Herbert Pattee, Kitty Johnson, Frank Beamish, and Charles Hartley lend effective aid by their impersonations.

"MAID OF THE STORM"

Reviewed by Edward Weitzel.

AN EXCELLENT indication of the nature of the six-part Paralita picture, "Maid of the Storm," is given in the title. It is romantic fiction from start to finish, and was written by J. Grubb Alexander and Fred Myton. The story is a true one, having no plays or scenes, but the story which it contains is founded on the seashore by a Scotch fisherman when a baby and who becomes a celebrated dancer. The story keeps to its class, its incidents seldom departing from the conventional. The story may lack some of the modern developments along steady, however, and the heroine's battle to lift herself up to the level of the man she loves will be followed with interest.

Ariel, after her rescue by the fishermen, grows up without any knowledge of the world outside of her narrow surroundings, until a wealthy young man with a taste for flying tumbles on the beach with his machine, and the girl helps to res- cue him. She falls in love with him at once, but recognizes the wide social difference between them.

Determined to change this obstacle, Ariel runs away to London and finds a refuge with two old musicians. She makes no headway with her plan until they learn that their charge has great natural ability as a dancer. The girl is taken to a management house for further training on certain conditions. Ariel tells him of her ambition and agrees to give herself to him if she does not return to marry him after she has been transformed into a cultured woman.

In the meantime, Florence Shirley, the man Ariel loves, becomes engaged to another woman, and the dancer's chances of getting him are very small. She decides to keep her word to the manager when Shirley's bride-to-be elopes with another man. Orange blossoms for Ariel and Franklin.

The production is generally creditable, although American telephones are used in the London scenes. Bessie Barriscale presents an attractive personality as Ariel and makes the most of all her scenes. George Fisher, Herschel Mayall, Joseph J. Dowling and Howard Hickman are prominent members of the cast. Raymond B. West directed the picture.

"THE PLUNDERER."
William Farnum Scores Again in Ruggedly Forceful Five Reeler. Story.

Reviewed by Walter K. Hill.

THE patron of a theater who would not be immensely pleased and entirely satisfied after witnessing William Farnum and his support present "The Plunderer." The man or woman who would feel that they had been denied a genuine thrill in this picture will be so few that their patronage might make slight little difference in a year's receipts.

Farnum is fine, manly and wholesome in his creation of the upstanding chap who took his less forceful "pal" into the West to redeem from the earth the fortune hidden in an abandoned mine to which he had fallen heir. The two friends found in nominal possession of the property a man who, under the guise of caretaking, had robbed the veins of precious metal of their riches by theft and treachery.

The man in charge had a lovely daughter, with whom the weaker "pal" fell in love, and it is their "heart interest" that this newly made "murky" friends are relieved with the happenings of the man they have adopted.

Ann Little as Nellie Reid, a sufficient excuse for Lewis Vickers' devotion, and Raymond Hatton does a clever character impersonation as James Emmons. Gustav Seyffertitz, Noah Beery, James Neil, Charles Ogle, Jane Wolff, James Cruze and Guy Oliver have the other important roles.

"DANGER, GO SLOW." Universal Special in Six Parts Features Mae Murray in Pleasing Comedy-Drama. Story.

Reviewed by Markaret I. MacDonald.

THE majority of people will like the six-part Universal Special entitled "Danger, Go Slow." It was directed by Robert Leonard, and features Mae Murray with a competent cast, including Jack Mulhall, Lon Chaney, Frank Brown, and several other little known players whose little trimming would have improved the version shown to the press, but in spite of a slight bit of padding it must be admitted that Mae Murray as she appears first in male attire, the youngest member of a group of male criminals, who by some bit of feminine, holds the interest of the onlooker every bit of the way. There is no attempt to explain the presence of the girl in the gang of crooks.

The story opens on a division of swag among the gang of thieves followed by a raid which scatters the bunch and causes the youngest of the lot, a girl in male attire, to seek refuge on a freight train. Finally she arrives at a village where she enters a home of which the mistress turns out to be the mother of one of the gang she has just left, and who is on constant watch for the safe return of her boy. Revealing her sex through the influence of a picture of George Washington which hangs on the wall with the inscription beneath it, "Who Never Told A Lie," she lives with the woman, and in an entertaining way recovers money from the nearest man in the town to pay the interest on a mortgage which he holds over the old home. Upon the release from a prison term of "Jimmy," the long lost son, the girl meets him, rescues him from returning to the gang, and brings him to his mother.

"MISS INNOCENCE."
June Caprice Gives Vivid Impersonation Of Madcap in Fox Picture.

Reviewed by Walter K. Hill.

PICTURE lovers who are satisfied to laugh along with the story sufficient unto the pastime it provides. In the earlier sections of the offering, there is besides reflecting current life may be accepted as faithful representations, there is much interest, and until the heroine, to ranging the plot, does an utterly inconsistent thing in leaving a perfectly good home for an atmosphere of wantonness the interest holds and the story satisfies.

Dolores May (Miss Caprice) has been left at the door of a convent by a mother who had found the babe's advent into life a nuisance. The mother had cast her lot illegitimately with the main villain of the piece after aiding in sending her husband to prison on fifteen years' sentence.

The Mother Superior and Sisters at the convent discovered that Dolores May had grown into a willfully tempered and stubborn disposition, and had qualities which would have us believe that the inconsistencies in the child's conduct had come as an accident. Until the very late scenes in the play the observer is in doubt as to the father's identity. The mystery is cleared up after the refusal of the principal villain and the release from prison of the felon-father.

It would serve no special purpose to find all the faults possible in the construction and execution of the story. The picture has been made and will be released without serious detriment to any one's sensibilities without marking any "high spot" in the William Fox screen achievement.

For June Caprice she may be credited with one of the most vivid and effective examples of screen "temper" ever photographed. The compliant Sisters of the convent were made to believe that all things ended well for the babe they had garnered at their door-step.

"THE DEATH DANCE." Alice Brady Shows Artistic Advance-mer in Select Picture of Fair Merit.

Reviewed by Edward Wetzell.

TWO things in connection with the Select picture, "The Death Dance."
Marie Shotwell had a dramatic, unsatisfactory office to perform as the in-human mother to whom repentance came just in time to carry on the weakling plot. Frank Beamish as the villain in the case was outstandingly effective, and other players in Miss Caprice's support proved both adaptable and effective.

"BY PROXY."
"Red" Saunders Story Produced by Triangle with Roy Stewart a Winner.

Reviewed by Edward Wetzell.

ANOTHER of the "Red" Saunders series is by F. Phillips has been produced by Triangle, with Roy Stewart as the hero. Directed by Cliff Smith, this week contains several fine "long shots" on a cattle range, and the humor of the story is brought out to the keenest advantage. Romance is in it also, and "led" finds a wife for himself when he imagines he is only helping a friend, but discovers the entertaining qualities of this series of tale among the cowboys will not need to be reviewed. See it. Stella Stewart's selection for the character that dominates the story could not be improved upon. The only weakness is that he puts into "Red" wins him no end of friends.

It all starts at the standpoint where "Red" and his cow-punchers find themselves with a large herd of likely cattle and no purchaser who is willing to pay anything approaching a fair price, or willing to wait for a reasonable offer to turn up the boys start to settle down. They have no money, so bet their shirts and trousers and other articles of clothing. The Chine cow wins the first ring in sight, takes his plunder to town credit.

While this is going on "Red" discovers that Alleck, one of the cow-boys, is in love with a lovely lady lives, and offers to go for her, bring her to the camp, and see the couple married all in a day. Alleck is delighted. The scheme works beautifully—except that "Red" brings the wrong lady. However, it doesn't take long to rectify his error by marrying the young woman himself.

"BREAD."
Mary MacLaren Appears to Advantage In Six-Part Universal Special.

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

T HE author of the story, "Bread," on which the Universal six-part produc- tion is based, is the Englishwoman endowed with considerable realism to reveal the unspeakable methods followed by a certain class of the actual middlemen in obtaining the most attractive of girl life for stage productions. The result is that while the picture is no doubt truthful in its portrayal, the subject necessitates the use of scenes not pleasant to look upon. It is a feature, however, that there will be eliminations made in the recutting of the picture which will be a great advantage in the final product. The featured member of the cast, and as such does herself and Universal company credit.

The story tells of a village girl who meets accidentally a stage star (an unsavory being) and a man with whom she promises her work if she should ever come to the city. Inheriting a small legacy she takes this man and another to her native village, and in the course of events falls into the clutches of the unscrupulous management, and is instructed without harm. Following this, and after her small fortune is spent, comes a trip to Mexico in the last few pennies she goes out to buy a loaf of bread which is accidentally knocked from her hand and into the board of an automobile. A day dream of what might have happened to her through the loss of the bread breaks into the story at this point, the memory of which helps her to choose between the right and the wrong path when the crisis comes.
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD 719

IMPOSSIBLE SUSAN

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

T is one looking for big dramatic values, one who likes to sink his teeth into a large comedy and a sprinkling of romance will find what they are after. Margaretta Field is no extraordinaire and the role of a child woman, which is more convincing in character, however, than that of Ted Hanford, is constructed by a benefactor, which is totally unconvincing.

The story covers a part of two chapters in the life of a girl. Her father’s death comes to live with her aunt, housekeeper in the home of a wealthy bachelor. The bachelor, a woman hater, decides to experiment with the girl, dressing her in the latest and most beautiful gowns for the purpose of winning a wager in which he has declared that his younger brother will finally fall in love with and marry a gutter girl. When he has succeeded in causing his brother to give up his trifling acquaintances and the wedding of the pair is about to take place, the sick girl goes to bid his old friends good-by, and marries an old flame over night. The secret is then divulged that the girl had killed the older brother, and the story closes on their belated.

SHE LOVED HIM PLENTY.

Paramount-Sennett Farce with Polly Moran, Charles Lynn and Ben Turpin.

Reviewed by Louis Reeves Harrison.

J ust a rollicking farce, so exaggerated in characters and incidents as to be absolutely inconceivable. Sennett seems to have been trying to prove himself greater material and run over the edge with a rapidity of action that makes it almost impossible to keep the audience mind. One has barely time to grasp a situation and laugh before it is rushed off to make room for another and these follow one another in such quick succession that much of the purely humorous, the amusing, is entirely lost.

What is needed in these tremendously active Sennett productions is a diminution of speed. A given audience mind can have brief periods of relaxation. High tension is all right by itself, but combined with a constant stream of funny business it becomes extremely trying. This, however, only points to the fact that of average comprehension, it may prove a strain on attention and hinder its own progress. The Sennett productions are not for the delicate or the sensitive. They have enough sensational material to supply twice as much film as is used, but they usually get plenty of laughs, and, in that respect, "She Loved Him Plenty" is no exception. Charles Lynn and Ben Turpin make a great team for acrobatic farce, and Polly Moran can easily travel where either of them dares to go. The farce will travel with any of the regular players, but it cannot stand, what most of the five-reelers cannot, a little letting up of speed. They travel too fast.

FALSE AMBITION.

Alma Rubens Pleases in Poorly Constructed Triangle Picture.

Reviewed by Edward Welts.

T is strange "Ambition" with E. Magnus Ingenthus, has utilized many dramatic situations, but shown little skill in building his plot. This five-Part Triangle picture is helped vastly by having Alma Rubens as the star. Gilbert Ham has directed the picture; the cast with good effect, and selected his locations with an eye to their scenic beauty. Jack McManus, the cameraman, doing his share of the work in an artistic manner.

"False Ambition" tells of a self-willed young girl who lives in a small fishing village, but who is determined to gain the good things in life for herself and the advantage of others. She makes her sister's sweet heart think that she is in love with him, gets him to give her the money for a trousseau, goes away with the money and forgets to come back. Once in New York she takes a job in a department store and opens a fortune-telling establishment. Prosperity follows her, and she has many clients, one being Van Dixon and his friend, Paul Vincent, both of an excellent family.

A great temptation overtakes Zariska. The body of a woman is washed ashore from a wreck. The fortune teller finds out the woman is the sister of Mrs. Horace Pemberton, who is well known in society. Zariska obtains the jewels belonging to the dead woman and impersonates her. She is successful in deceiving Mrs. Pemberton for a time, but is exposed by the man she cheated back in the fishing village, and loses her chance of marrying Peter Van Dixon. Her better nature being awakened by Paul Vincent, the two are made man and wife.

The cast, a long one, comprises Peggy Pearce, Alberta Lee, Edward Peil, Walt Whitman, Iris Ashton, Alice Crawford, Myrtle Rishell, Lilian Langdon, Lee Philips, Ward Caulfield, and Lee Hill.

THE DEMON

Edith Storey Appears in Interesting Comedy-Drama of Corsican Hills.

Reviewed by C. S. Sewell.

GOOD entertainment for fair weather is provided in "The Demon," the Metro five-reel feature released July 22. Th e plot is light, and has been treated in broad opera bouffe style. Edith Storey as an untrained girl of the Corsican Hills with a will to do or to die well cast, and again demonstrates her effective and versatility.

Jim Kelly goes to Africa to seek his uncle who is reported lost. He finds no trace of him, but at a slave auction buys a white child, and places her in a school in Corsica. Years later, while moving through that part of the world with a party, including his fiancee, fate throws the girl in his path. After many amusing vicissitudes in which a monkey, a goat, and a Corsican nobleman who is a refugee in the hills fall prominently, and in which the nobleman tries his hand at being an amateur brigand to kidnap Las- sell's fiancee, Linda in approved fashion, with a match between Lassell and the girl who proves to be the daughter of Las- sell's lost uncle, after the loss of the fortune, while the Corsican nobleman's title appeases the former fiancee for her loss.

There is considerable humor and excellent character work particularly on the part of Miss Storey. Lewis Cody does well with a congenial role as Las- sell, while Fred Malatesta makes a good comic opera brigand. Among the re- minder of a large cast, all of whom are pleasing in their respective roles, are Charles King, as the head of the band, Virginia Chester as the one-time fiancee, Mollie McConnell as Virginia's mother, and Frank Deshon as an impoverished member of the cast.

The production is an adaptation of a novel by C. N. Appleton, and has been well directed by George O. Baker. There are many picturesque scenes, including attractive mountain views. This production is one of the best, although there is an inclination to use too many of them.

WINNER TAKES ALL.

Bluebird Features Munroe Salisbury in Stirring Story of the West.

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

T his Bluebird five-reeler for ju-20 features Munroe Salisbury in the role of a sturdy western housemate- er with Helen "Jerome" Leslie providing Schade maintaining the feminine interest. The production is a good one, filled with stirring adventure. Its characterization is interesting, and while its story, written by G. W. Ogden, causes us to recall the westerns of a few years back, we are pleased because in this particular case the elements of heroism and villainy have been skillfully directed by Elmer Clifton, and the actors, being of the slightest degree abnormal, is a hero in demand.

The story treats of the daring and chivalrous deeds of a western housemate named Alan Macdonald, for whose demise a certain provision is to be paid the sum of $500 he should succeed in bringing it about. Macdonald being the stoutest hearted and most heroic of the group of settlers in his part of the country, is naturally the center of appeal of the others whose homes are being warily destroyed by a greedy and influential ranchman. His love story with a pretty daughter, well suited to him, is one of the incident in the story. The picture contains considerable human interest, and the action is carried rapidly and smoothly enough to hold the interest of the audience.

HEREDITY.

World-Picture Tells Entertaining Story of Girl Who Inherited Fine Qualities.

Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

T he theme of hereditary influence is usually a somber one, showing the battle of some poor mortal against drink, drugs, or other presumably inherent weakness. In this World Pic- ture, Maravene Thompson has contrived a story in which a girl from the lower west side of New York has fallen heir to the gift and brave spirit of one of her ancestors who once saved the life of his king. The new style of plot based on heredity will prove a welcome one no doubt to multitudes of observers ever though, as in this instance, the events and the hero, without appearing in the best of the story, though the later incidents are not without a strong interest. Madge Evans, who portrays Nedda's early childhood, makes a very fine job of the opportunity. She pictures a typical little street urchin who narrowly misses being killed by the hero's automobile. The hero takes her for a ride after the avowed accident opening her eyes to the beauties of another world outside her own tawdry surroundings. These scenes are presented with appealing naturalness.

Barbara Castleton plays Nedda in later years, a beautiful girl still living in her poor surroundings, but dreaming of the life she once glimpsed and of the hero who befriended her. The dramatic incidents in which the drunken stepfather shoots the mother and Nedda is charged with the crime are handled in a very conventional and scarcely convincing way.

Burton Janis, who is the hero, of course, appears later to rescue Nedda from the fate which threatens her.

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD
August 3, 1918
720

OUT OF THE NIGHT

Keeney Adaptation of Sheldon Play Features Catherine Calvert with Herbert Rawlinson.

Reviewed by Margaret L. MacDonald.

A SIX-PART adaptation of the play, "Out of the Night," by E. Lloyd Sheldon, made by the Frank Keeney Pictures Corporation, features Catherine Calvert and Herbert Rawlinson, the featured members of the cast, opportunities of which they made the most. The production was directed by James Kirkwood, with C. M. Uander as art director. The story is one of a group representing Christ's rebuke of his apostles on their criticism of the Magdalene and views in the studio of an artist who has chosen a daughter of the night as a model for a picture of the Magdalene. The dramatic quality of the production is good, it depicts the struggle to rise on the part of a fallen woman without dragging in the unhallowed theme. The hero who plays the lead has been employed to paint a picture of the Magdalene to be placed in a home for fallen women. It is the story of the trustees of the home has been instrumental in bringing about the downfall of the girl who has been employed to paint a picture of the Magdalene to be placed in a home for fallen women and to be then sold. The story is well told and the acting together with the character is the keynote of the moral of the picture.

A CORRECTION.

The first comment published on page 254 was an error incorrectly titled "Her Moment." This should be "The Locked Door."

General Film Company.

HER MOMENT—Produced by Authors Photoplay Company, this seven-picture features Anna Luther. It is an up-to-the-minute, though not a great success, the pleasant story, which could be shortened with good effect. The production is well handled, the Rumanian peasant scenes being especially good. Dealing with the sex problem, the director has handled the immoral scene and the setting of the sex scene being especially good. Dealing with the sex problem, the director has handled the immoral scene and the setting of the sex problem being especially good. Dealing with the sex problem, the director has handled the immoral scene and the setting of the sex problem being especially good.

Bluebird Photoplays, Inc.

WINNER TAKES ALL (Bluebird), July 24.—An interesting western story in five parts, featuring Monroe Salishbury, with Betty Schade and Helen Jerome Eddy playing the feminine roles. The picture is designed to show the limits of the older western, well directed by Elmer Clifton. A full review will be found elsewhere.

Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

THE VAMP (Paramount), July 22.—Edil Bennett has a well-fitting role in this film, with a supporting cast by Thomas H. Ince. The scenario was furnished by C. Gardner Sullivan. It tells a very genuine story and longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

LESS THAN KIN (Paramount), July 23.—Very good plot, well handled, this five-part picture and plays both characters successfully. The story was written by Alice Duer Miller, and directed by Donald Crisp. The scenes are laid in Central America and the United States. A longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

HER BLIGHTED LOVE (Paramount-Sennett), —Charles Murray, Wayland Trask, Gley and Alice Duer Miller. The story is handled in a very charming manner, well directed by Alice Duer Miller. It is based on a story by W. W. Denslow, who has written a number of stories and plays.

Fox Film Corporation.

MISS INNOCENCE (Fox), July 21.—Jane Cowl is shown in one of the most promising films of the season. She plays a girl who has inherited her mother's talent for the stage. She is not afraid to take a chance on the stage.

THE PLUNDERER (Fox Reissue).—William Farnum is shown in one of the best roles he has ever played during the current year, revivals of past successes. Here is a fine, rugged drama, played in a highly dramatic style and in forceful and convincing fashion. Claire Whitney is his leading lady who falls in love with the leading man. This interest centers around the principal character is inspired by Flavia Aresca, who plays excellently well in support of the star.

Gaumont Company.

THE HAND OF VENGEANCE (Gaumont), July 7.—A state rights magazine serial covered by the weekly issue of July 27, each episode (2 reels each) were reviewed in our issue of July 27. The titles of these epilogues are "The Man from the East," "The Scout," "The Ambassador's Diamond," "The Grey Lady" and "The Letter." The serial is excellently made and of thrilling quality. It is purely melodramatic in style.

Greater Vitagraph, Inc.

TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER (Vitagraph), July 22.—Alice Joyce fits into the character of the heroine of this five-part serial with perfect ease. The story is the work of Florence Morse Kingslay and was directed by Tom Terriss. A longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

FLAMES OF PERIL (Vitagraph).—Part second of "A Fight for Millions" keeps everyone on the jump again and ends with an exciting finish and a cliffhanger. The serial is excellently made and of thrilling quality. It is purely melodramatic in style. from the flaming cabin and the outlaws staking their shots at the bridge for the next few minutes. The man who was to rescue him climbed over the lock from the river into which he dropped after his fall from the bridge. The man who has his leg and his hand, also Sergeant Bill Barry and Walter Hyde, and taken across the Canadian border in a stockade where a free-seller seeks out the Indians. During one of the few能st fights ever seen on the rail, the train escaped and Lawless stopped his train and sends out a search party. The real holds powerfully every one of its thousand solders.

OUR VOLCANIC NEIGHBORS (Pathe).—This number of the Post Weekly Travel Series is devoted to scenes at Dominica in the West Indies. The island, scenery and atmosphere of the place is shown, also the picturesque scenes in and around the capital. The number is illustrated by a map. The island belong to the British and has a population of 31,960.

Select Pictures Corporation

THE DEATH DANCE (Select).—Alice Braden directed this five-part picture taken from a story by Marie Eve. The production is excellent all through and the story itself is of fair merit. It is given a longer review on another page of this issue.

Triangle Pictures Corporation

FALSE AMBITION (Triangle) July 21.—Aly Rubens in the role of a reforming villain in a story that is an instructive production. In this five-part story written by E. Magnus Ingleton. The plot is loosely constructed. A longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

By PROXY (Triangle) July 21.—One of the "Red" Saunders stories, this five-part picture is not entertaining and is entertaining all through. Ray Stewart has the star part. The picture is reviewed at length on another page of this issue.

Universal Film Company

HEY, DOCTOR! (Century Comedy). July 31.—Alice Howell appears in this two-reel comedy as assistant to a doctor known as I. O. Lottos. She sends her out to distribute banana peelings on the walls so he will obtain more patients. An artist and his model also figure prominently in the general mixup. This is quite amusing in places, though the finish is not strong.

A DUCK OUT OF WATER (Lyons and Morgan). July 31.—This is a fine and laughable one-reel burlesque, in which Eddie appears as a Jack and his experiences among the ladies are pictured. The action is swift and amusing. Lee Moran and Edith Roberts play the leaders of the opahers.

DANGER, GO SLOW (Universal Special).—A six-part comedy-drama featuring Mae Murray, and directed by Robert Leonard. In this picture, the man first falls in love with a girl and then as a charmer girl during which time she does much to exorcise laugh. The story is a clever idea of crooks of which the girl dressed in boy's attire is the youngest member. A full review will be found elsewhere.

BREAD (Universal Special).—A six-part production based on theatrical life and in which Ruby Taylor appears. The story proposes to reveal the unscrupulous methods of certain theatrical managers in obtaining money for the stage productions. A full review will be found elsewhere.

THE PAYROLL EXPRESS (Western). July 27.—This is a Railroad story, featuring Helen Gibson as a girl detective set to clear up some mysterious train robberies. This is a good story, and identity, a certain engineer having a double who is in league with the train robbers. This is one of those stories of which are more entertaining than convincing.

World Pictures Corporation

NEIGHBORS (World) July 28.—Mudge Evans and Johnny Hines have the central position in this five-part domestic story written by Marvene Thompson, and is an instructive juvenile fiction. It will please the admiring audience of Mage, and has a grown up love story. Frank Crane was added to be挂牌.

A longer review is printed on another page of this issue.

World Pictures Corporation

O. SUSIE, BEHAVI (World).—Ray Fincher is very near the top of his game when it comes to supplying laughs for this two-reel. A ray is employed in a fashionable millinery where there is a lovely girl, until she is hit by a great ambition. And then he is discharged. After being discharged he gathers some expensive samples of stock to a Childres and a bribe of a three thousand dollars, and the delighted proprietor marries him. But he turns back on woman. This turns her head a trike and she does not want to be with him altogether, even when she tries to vam the best young man's stay-brother and the attempt ends in a fight. The action is somewhat slow at times, but Fin is always funny in her off hand way.

Lafayette League to Push Franco-American Amity

A s a result of Leonce Perret's announcement that his last picture will be for his title "Lafayette, We Come!" he is giving his impressive utterance at the tomb of Lafayette. In Pilgrims Cemetery, Paris, he has received honors from historical clubs and societies thanking him for his productions. His production will give in popularizing words so briefly yet impressively convey the meaning.

The Lafayette League at 1402 Broadway, New York, has inaugurated a campaign to carry on this work. Mr. Perret, Perret as an honorary member. Mr. Perret is arranged to have a letter mailed to those of the Lafayette Egyptian movements throughout the country calling attention to Pershi's words as expressing the growing bond of fraternity between the United States and France and the gratitude for the debt we owe to Lafayette and France, and calling upon them to aid in perpetuating these words, by repeating them to friends; by printing on Lafayette buttons; and calling upon them to keep constantly before us our need for sacrifice, our realization of duty, and perhaps daring about a clearer conception of the proper spirit necessary to win the war.

Arrow Announces Sales on Variety of Subjects

T he Arrow Film Corporation has sold to the W. H. Film Company, Baltimore, rights for Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, covering the following Allison-Lookoff reissues: "The Web of Intrigue," formerly "At the End of the Road"; "Shadow of Death," formerly "The Girl of the Shadow"; "Human Shuttles," formerly "Life's Blind Alleys," and "Fires of Hope," formerly "The Other Men's Lives." Each of these productions is in five reels and was made by the American Film Company for the American American, a title of each picture, as well as the advertising matter, contains a statement that the production is a "play that has been produced under another title." The W. H. Film Company is a newcomer in the state right market.
Advertising Aids for Busy Managers

"THE DANGER MARK"

Cast.
Geraldine Seagrace ....... Elsie Ferguson
Duane Mallett ........... Gertrude McCoy
Jack Dysart ............. Crawford Kent
Sylvia Mallett ........... Kathleen Severn
Sorah Seagrace ........... Maud Turner Gordon
Scott Seagrace ........... Edward Burns
Colonel Mallett .......... W. T. Carlson
Directed by Hugh Ford.
The Story: Geraldine Seagrace, who has inherited her father's craving for liquor, indulges her taste by eating sugar steeped in brandy, and one day when Duane Mallett, who loves her, calls upon her she plainly shows the effects of intoxication. She tells him what she does to satisfy her craving, and he gives her a diamond ring to wear as a sort of talisman to overcome her desire for intoxicants. She meets Jack Dysart and consents to marry him, but later refuses when he hears that he wronged Duane's sister. Geraldine then receives a letter from Dysart, saying that it is all over between them and that she has the desire for drink seizes her. But the sparkle of her diamond ring catches her eye as she is about to drink and she reclains herself. Duane discovers her and is happy at the thought of her victory. Happiness comes to them in their love for each other.

Feature: Elsie Ferguson as Geraldine Seagrace and Mahlon Hamilton as Duane Mallett.

Advertising Angles: The novel by Chambers has aroused wide discussion. Profit by the fact by giving prominence to the author and the subject he deals with. Get the book stores to show the novel with stills from the play. You might get the drug and dry goods stores to make displays of perfumes, with "Don't drink cologne. See 'The Danger Mark' at (house and date) for the reason why."

For other windows place a whiskey bottle or decanter and a bottle of cologne beside each other with the inquiry "Which is worse? For the answer see 'The Danger Mark' at (house and date)."

"THE FIRST LAW"
Pathe Presents Mrs. Irene Castle in a Story of Startling Situations, in Which She is Supported by Antonio Moreno and Marguerite Snow.

Cast.
Norma Webb .............. Irene Castle
Hugh Goodwin ........... Antonio Moreno
Dr. Webb .............. J. H. Gilmore
Madeline .......... Marguerite Snow
Private Detective .... Edward J. Connolly
Directed by Lawrence McGil.
The Story: Dr. Webb, who loses practically all his money in an unfortunate investment, suffers a nervous breakdown and retires from practice. His daughter, Norma, to defray expenses, takes in Hugh Goodwin as a boarder. The young man is wealthy, but does not disclose the fact to Norma. Later Goodwin asks Norma to become his wife, but she refuses, and then it transpires that some time ago she married a scoundrel, who not only duped her, but ruined her father. In the dead of night Norma is visited by the fellow, but in a struggle she shoots him and flees only to become the prey of a detective, who orders her to go through a marriage ceremony with Goodwin and to exert her influence as his wife to the profit of the detective. He tells her that he knows she murdered her first husband and that unless she obeys his command she will turn her over to the authorities. The climax shows how Norma is extricated from this situation.

Feature: Irene Castle as Norma Webb and Antonio Moreno as Hugh Goodwin.

Advertising Aids: With three favorites in the cast this play has it up as an all-star production. Advertise that the story is by Gilson Willeto. Do most of your work through the newspapers, since the story does not permit of special advertising.

BUY WAR SAVING STAMPS

PORTER EQUIPS THEATRE FOR GRIFFITH'S
SUPREME TRIUMPH "HEARTS OF THE WORLD." Installs Two Up to The Minute Type S SIMPLEX PROJECTORS with Robin TIME and SPEED INDICATORS in the 44th St. Theatre, New York. The Marvelous Projection of this greatest picture of modern times synchronized accurately to the fraction of a second with the beautiful music and effects.

B. F. PORTER, 729 7TH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY, 11TH FLOOR

THE WORLD'S STANDARD THEATRE ORGANS

UNIFIED THEATRE ORGANS

SEEBURG

AUTOMATIC PIPE ORGANS

J. P. SEEBURG PIANO CO. • REPUBLIC BLDG. CHICAGO
THE DREAM LADY

Bluebird Presents Carmel Myers in the Story of a Young Girl Whose Dreams Come True Only To Find That Some Were Nightmares.

Cast:
Rosamond Gilbert .... Carmel Myers
Jesse ... Roger Bremner
Sydney Brown ... Kathleen Emerson
James Mattison ... Harry Von Meter
Bill Andrews ... Arthur Housman
Directed by Elsie Jane Wilson.

The Story: Rosamond Gilbert, a great dreamer, inherits a large sum of money. She purchases a little home from John Squire and establishes herself as a professional. Her first client is Sydney Brown, a wealthy young girl, whose greatest desire in life was to be a boy. Rosamond suggests to Sydney that she dress as a man, and thus attired the young girl meets James Mattison, and they fall in love. Herbet, one of her clients. The authorities learn that the Jerroll project is a fake, and he promises to sue. Rosamond to flee with him, but she refuses, and is at her wit's end to know how to extricate John from his investment. At that moment John Squire arrives and throws Jerroll out. Rosamond's dreams are being thwarted by one man and Sydney. When Sydney rushes in to change back into the feminine character she is only too glad of the advantage of the upstart for reality, which includes a union with John and the marriage of Sydney and Mattison.

Feature Carmel Myers as Rosamond Gilbert and Thomas Holding as John Squire.

Advertising Angles: Dreamer will lend itself to trick advertising. Ask if dreams ever come true and offer a dream book for the asking. Promotion should search to find Rosamond Gilbert if they would have their dreams come true, and add that the book is being released on a given date. Run one advertisement on the lines of "Gils, did you ever long to be a boy?" and add that it is no use, as they can find out from "The Dream Lady." Chain a dream book to a lobby frame with a card. "What did you dream last night? Look here for the answer or see "The Dream Lady" (date)."

Advertising Aids: One design, each one, three ads a side, one sheet per car, colored and black-and-white lobby displays. Slide. Herald. Player cuts in three sizes, one and two columns wide. Press book. Released Aug. 3.

"BACK TO THE WOODS"

Cast:
Stephanie Trent .... Mabel Normand
Jimmy Raymond .... Herbert Rawlinson
Bill Andrews .... Arthur Housman
Directed by George Irving.

The Story: Stephanie Trent, daughter of a wealthy lumber man, getting tired of the rapid society men of the city and longing to meet a real man, becomes a school teacher in a village near a logging camp. There she meets Jimmy Raymond, whose outward appearance resembles that of a mountaineer. Jimmy incurs the enmity of one of the men of the camp, and Stephanie goes to his defense. He warns him of a plot against him. He makes advances, but Stephanie, realizing he is in such a situation, for he is a newspaper writer and will use it in his next story. Stephanie pictures the wild woodsmanship, makes known her identity to the woodsmen, and they rally to her aid. Jimmy is wounded in a fight. Stephanie sends him to the doctor, goes to the window and is about to throw herself out when Jimmy says that he wanted to be alone with her for a moment. She acts in such a situation, for he is a newspaper writer and will use it in his next story. Stephanie pictures the wild woodsmanship, makes known her identity to the woodsmen, and they rally to her aid. Jimmy learns who she is, but is firm in his resolve to use the situation in the newspaper. He then is sued by Stephanie for using her name. What follows forms a surprising and delightful climax to the picture.

Feature Mabel Normand as Stephanie Trent and Herbert Rawlinson as Jimmy Raymond.

PICTURE STORY

Advertising Angles: Play up the star as strongly as her popularity in your neighborhood. The little in large type on small cards to be given away, getting these out early. Let the little run in for six points at the bottom or "go there with Mabel Normand at the (house and date)." Children answer question on these cards on their friends and do a surprising amount of circulation for you. During the summer you can use your munition agencies and railroad offices with "See Mabel Normand at (house and date) and then go back to the Woods yourself. We have the tickets." If you want a throw-away start it "Settled out of court" in large type and an explanation in a ten-point solid display.

"TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER"

Greater Vitagraph Presents Alice Joyce in a Blue Ribbon Feature, Telling the Story of a Girl Who Would Not Sell Herself for a Farm.

Cast:
Barbara Preston .... Alice Joyce
David Whitecomb .... Walter McGrail
Stephen Voig ..... Stephen Carr
Jennie .... Edna Murphy
Peg Morrison .... Jules Cowles
Miss Carr .... Miss Carr
Jimmy Preston .... Stephen Carr
Directed by Tom Terriss.

The Story: Stephen Jarvis threatens to foreclose the mortgage on Barbara Preston's farm, but only because he desires for her little half-brother, Jimmy. Jarvis subsequently approaches Barbara with an offer. Finding it difficult to raise the money Barbara has her services auctioned off to the highest bidder for a term of five years, the money to be applied on the mortgage. Jarvis, hearing of it, sends an agent to the auction room, and Barbara is finally "sold" to the representative of Jarvis, who conceals his identity. Time goes on and Barbara's curiosity as to who her "master" might be is suddenly quieted only when she receives a letter from David Whitcomb, her old sweetheart, who happened to be at the auction, and who tells her that the highest bidder was Stephen Jarvis through his agent. Jarvis continues to play the trick he played in order that he might get her. Having been informed that Whitcomb has married a woman named May, she really loves Jarvis, as she goes to him.

Feature Alice Joyce as Barbara Preston and Percy Standing as Stephen Jarvis.

Advertising Angles: There is nothing to suggest strong story pictorially, but the picture can be made up. Give it exploitation in newspaper work by featuring the offer of Barbara and the opposition from Jarvis. The picture will build up nicely. Put a portrait of Miss Joyce in the lobby with a sign asking "Who will bid me a higher price?" and have the people "See To The Highest Bidder." A throw-away might be headlined "Buy a Girl for Five Years." Writing on to explain the offer in smaller type.

Advertising Aids: One design each one, three and six sheets, window cards. Lobby displays, heralds, slides. Press book. Released July 22.

"A PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS"

Louis J. Selznick Presents Constance Talmadge in a Fast Moving Adaptation of the Story of the Same Name by Cyril Harcourt.

Cast:
Mrs. Mollie Thornhill, Constance Talmadge
Sam Thornhill .... Sam Hearn Ford
Pamela Eristowe .... Wanda Hawley
Irma Maitland .... Vera Doria
Phyllis Prestons .... Margaret Emerson
John Gower .... Thomas Peerse
Captain Jack Bagnall .... Louis Willoughby
Miss Doria .... L. W. Steers
McIntyre .... Robert Gordon

Directed by Walter Edwards.

The Story: Sam and Mollie Thornhill and happy indeed until the question of a motor car arises. Mollie wants this and Sam wants that, with the result that the couple go their separate ways. Sam becomes jealous, and attempts this by the sable-for-another method, leaving the bill and using her to get a job. A man does find the bill, but the speediest way of divorcing Sam, and starts off to tour the country in a car of a make which she is sure Sam disapproves. Sam goes to a country house and tries to drown his sorrows in the merry whirl of amateur theatricals. Mollie, approaching this same house, breaks down and is compelled to tell her plight. Sam offers to help Mollie with her car. Sam, here, through the medium of a pair of silk stockings, which Mollie loses, is finally trapped and Mollie is remarried by the vicar in the village.

Feature Constance Talmadge as Mrs. Mollie Thornhill and Harrison Ford as Sam Thornhill.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Famous Stage Drama of High Society Brought to the Screen in Sumptuous Production.
Lavish Gowns and Costuming Reflect Details of Dress in High Society.
Parted by Automobiles and Jealousy; Daylight Mutiny Commences; Several Cleverly Devised Plot Retains Entertainment Interest to the End.
How Jack Culture Theatricals Lead to Social Upheavals.
Clever American Story of Current Times Transposed Perfectly Along

Advertising Angles: Dwell upon the success of the stage version of the play and state that a little stage version of the picture permits an even more adequate production. Get the dry goods stores to work with you full, sing songs down town and play up the misunderstanding of the automobile with the local dealers or garage on the lines of "Don't quarrel about your car. Try a new one and you'll both be satisfied." Perhaps you can get the stores and auto dealers to collaborate with you in a half-page advertisement.

Advertising Aids: Two one-sheets, two three-sheets, one six-sheet, one 24-sheet. Window cards, 14 x 21, 11 x 14, 25 x 28. Slides. Cuts, two one-column, two two-column, one three-column, one one-half column cut of star, and one one-column and one two-column cuts of star.

"MY HUSBAND'S FRIEND" The Rialto Film Corporation Presents the Sterling Everard, Delia Boccardo, Lillian Hellman, Blanche D'Alvare, and Chas. Belden in a five-Act, Sensational Melodrama of the Home.

Cast.
Fred Probert............\nBlanche Probert............\nLillian Kemble Edward Martindale J. Frank Clendon Fred Probert............\nJames S. Williams ............\nEdith Probert, Age 5..........\nTina Hudson Fred Probert, Jr., Age 21 Harry Spangler Edith Probert............\nBlanche Probert............\nTom Martindale............\nRudolph Cameron Directed by Marshall Parnum and James Ormond.

The Story: Fred Probert, an inventor, jumps at conclusions and wrongly accuses his wife of indiscretion, refusing to listen to explanations. There is a separation. Probert takes the boy and Mrs. Probert the daughter. Fourteen years later, Mrs. Probert is the owner of a notorious gambling house. To it comes her son, Fred, junior, and his chum, Tom Martindale. The woman of the manichaean action resulted in the early separation. The boys are known by assumed names. Both of them fall in love with Edith Probert. Tom takes Edith autoing, and a storm forces them to take shelter in a bungalow on their way home. Mrs. Probert accuses Tom of betraying her daughter, but is assured the accusation is false. This makes her the more willing to forgive her husband when he comes to the gambling house to plead with its keeper to release her son from his phantasms, and a reconciliation is effected.

Feature Frank Mills as Fred Probert and Lillian Kemble as Edward Martindale Probert.

Advertising Angles: If you have already played this story under its original title of "The House of Mirrors" do not attempt to create the impression that the play is new, but get what credit you can from its origin. Use newspaper work to the full, but do not use the false accusation and the evils of hasty judgment as your talking points unless you deliberately play for sensationalism.

"BEYOND THE SHADOWS" Triangle Presents William Desmond in a Powerful Story of the Fur Roads and the Fights Between the "Mink Company" and the Free Traders.

Cast.
Jean Du Bois............\nWilliam Desmond
Leon Du Bois............\nMary Pettet
Horace Du Bois............\n\nEd Brady
Santel............\nHugh Sutherland
Selmac Charley............\n\nBert Aplin
Black Fagen............\nBen Lewis
Father Wyatt............\n\n\n\nJohn Wild
Du Longpré............\n\nJohn Lincor
Eleanor Wyatt............\nJosie Sedgwick
Mrs. Du Bois............\nAlberta Lee

Directed by J. W. McLaughlin.
The Story: The hero who really leaves Quebec to seek his fortunes in the Northwest. Horace, the elder son, becomes an illicit whiskey dealer, selling to the Indians. He is caught in the Pine Prairie, where he sets up as a buyer of furs—a "free trader"—in opposition to the established fur company. The dishonest post trader, has dealings with Horace, who goes by the name of McLaughlin, and when he is killed by an Indian in a fight with Jean over furs his assistant persuades Horace to take over the business and avenge his death. Eleanor, his wife, goes as his sister at the instance of Soutel, who has knowledge of Horace's embezzlements from the company. Joan meets and falls in love with her. He does not, however, recognize his brother; but the memory, dying, does recognize him, and the discovery of her illness brought about in part by his own acts, moves Horace to plan to kill himself and leave the girl to his brother, but the rousing of his better nature results. On the whole, a story that feels that Horace needs her most, and together they go out into the beyond—"beyond the shadow of the hills."
“THE GOLDEN FLEECE”

Triangle Presents a Spirited Story of a Country Boob Who Won Out, Based Upon Frederick Irving Anderson’s Story in the Saturday Evening Post.

Cast:

The Story: Jason goes to New York to capitalize his big idea, but meets with misfortune all his money. He seeks Regelman’s advertisement, asking for new ideas, and goes to his office, where he gains a detailed account of his plan. Regelman discovers that a diaphone has been placed in his office and rushes away, but is caught by detectives, who take him and Jason to headquarters, where the latter learns that Bangle, who had approached him on the street, offering assistance, is really a detective and that it was he who had placed the diaphone in the office. It develops that Regelman is a crook, who steals the ideas of others. Jason later meets his sweetheart, Rose, who left her country home to go in search of her lover, not having heard from him. Jason sells his idea to Engineer Brown for a large sum, and Rose rides back to the country in a brand new automobile.

Feature Joe Bennett as Jason and Peggy Pearce as Rose.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Country Boy Writes Fortune and Fame in Big City Scramble. Young American Believes in Himself and Wins against Odds. An Unusually Interesting Photo-Plot Teeming With Thrills.

Surprising Developments in Gripping Photo-Story.

How an American Boy Brought Country Ideas to Big City Market.

Advertising Angles: Play the fact that this is a Saturday Evening Post story, dealing with the adventures of a small-town boy in a big city. Try some sensational advertising on the lines of “Don’t let them steal your big idea. See how the swindlers work in The Golden Fleece.” This will work particularly well in the smaller communities. For window work get wax diaphone records and explain on cards that the cylinder contains an idea worth thousands of dollars and that it was stolen over the diaphragm in “The Golden Fleece.” You might work up a special display with the diaphone agency if there is one in town.

“FRIEND HUSBAND”
Goldwyn Presents the Favorite Comic Drame Based Upon the Sprightly Story of a Hired Husband Who Insisted Upon a Honeymoon on a Deserted Island.

Cast:
Dorothy Dean .......... Madge Kennedy Don Morton ............ Rockcliffe Fellows Judge Roon ............. George Bunny Henry Morton .......... Paul Everton

Directed by Clarence G. Badger.

The Story: Dorothy Dean, who does not believe in marriage, is horrified to

A PAIR OF CUPIDS
Metro Presents Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in a Charming Comedy with a Really Novel Plot.

Cast:

Directed by Charles J. Brabin.

The Story: Henry Burgess plans to have his wealthy nephew, Peter, marry his ward, Virginia, but Virginia says she does not want any marriage arrangement, and Peter is sure he cannot seriously consider an animated doll. So Uncle Henry rents two baby dolls and begins to secure the fine points they discover in each other. Just as everything is about to be arranged between them the mother of the children schemes with two crooks to kidnap the children so as to secure the money which Uncle Henry has put up for their safe return by a certain date. Peter becomes suspicious as he realizes the con spirators, and Uncle Henry is happy that he has found the way to Peter’s and Virginia’s hearts by means of a “pair of cupids.”

Feature Francis X. Bushman as Peter Warburton and Beverly Bayne as Virginia Parke.

Advertising Angles: If you have never tried W. S. McLean’s idea of advertising for a child advertiser for the loan of two children for two weeks, application to be made by letter. Then use these letters for a lobby display (with the names omitted), and add that it cost Henry Burgess $1,000 to borrow his pair of cupids, and say that the story will be shown on a certain date. The one stunt will give a double display. If you can arrange for the rental of a couple of children for the days of showing display them in the lobby in care of their parents with, “We’re supporting Francis X. Bushman in A Pair of Cupids.” Come on in and see us—right now.

learn, when the will of her dead grandmother is read, that to inherit her fortune she must marry. So Dorothy instructs her lawyer, de Lusgvoir, to overrule the mother who will enter into a marriage in name only for a monetary consideration. At the lawyer’s office she meets a young man who, she assumes, is an applicant for the “position.” Don, the young fellow, falls in love with Dorothy, but her mother soon learns that he has no intention of marrying her. She escapes from him, but is caught and taken to an island, where Don leaves her that she may come to his senses. During his absence Dorothy, through his own actions, falls into danger, but is saved by the timely arrival of her husband. He proves himself a hero and finally wins his wife’s love.

Feature Madge Kennedy as Dorothy Dean and Rockliffe Fellowes as Don Morton.

Blind Jealousy Misinterprets an Innocent Kiss in the Dark.

Vengeance and Intrigue Baffled and Unraveled by Strange Trick of Fate.

Intensely Dramatic Scenes Acted by Skillful Photoplayers in Gripping Story.

Faultless Friend Wrecks Happy Home Then Suffers Retribution.

A Husband’s Condemnation of a Faithless Family Friend.

Advertising Angles: Use the press sheet suggestion for the lobby. For window display a pair of handcuffs on a card reading “They were the wedding rings Don Morton gave his bride when she refused him a honeymoon. He just told people she was crazy upon her return from a desert island. See all about it as told by dainty Madge Kennedy in ‘Friend Husband’” at ‘House and Home’ or any other display connected along the same lines in your newspaper advertisements, and take the new angle of the girl who was not afraid of robbers because she thought her husband hired them.

Released August 11.

"THE TWO ORPHANS"

William Fox Presents Theda Bara in a 1918 Reissue of This Most Famous of Stage Successes.

Cast:

Henriette ................ Theda Bara
Louise .................. Jean Sotherr
Pierre ................... Herbert Brenon
The Chevalier de Vaudvray.................. William E. Shay

The Marquis de Presles .................... Frank Goldsmit
Mother Froehlich ...................... Beretdadeley Jacques

C. E. L. Fernandez
Picacl .................... John Daly Murphy
The Count de Presles .................... Sheldon Block

The Countess de Lindenier ............ Mrs. Cecil Raleigh

The Story: Henriette and Louise are sent to an uncle in Paris after Henriette’s parents have died. Henriette is beautiful; Louise is industrious. Interpreting a young man’s letter to the uncle. He carries Henriette to his master, the Marquis de Presles, a libertine. Louise, left alone and crying for Henriette, is taken care of by Pierre, a hunchback, who pities her. Pierre’s mother is a beggar and her other son, Louis, is a national hero. Louise eventually marries Pierre and his brother Querel; Louise and Pierre kill his brother. The Chevalier de Vaudvray rescues Henriette from the Marquis and wants to marry her, but his parents soon learn that Louise is a child by a previous husband. Henriette tells the mother that Louise is not her child, and she learns that Louise is her own daughter. The mother reaches Louise just after Pierre had killed his brother. The Chevalier’s mother then gives her consent to the marriage of Henriette. Louise’s sight is restored and Pierre reaps his reward.

Feature Theda Bara as Henriette, Jean Sotherr as Louise, and Herbert Brenon as Pierre.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Screen Reproduction of the World’s Greatest Melodrama Made Famous by Kate Claxton.

The Story of Two Waifs Whose Best Friend Is Dan Cupid.

Great Successes by Theda Bara.

Modern Methods Applied to Revival of Old and Tried Melodrama.

A Story of Thrills and Sensations Produced in Lavish Detail.

Advertising Angles: “The Two Orphans” is too well known to need special emphasis. As it makes its coming known and in the newspaper work dwell upon favor in which the play is held and Miss Bara’s performance of the leading role. Also emphasize the fact that this issue is an improvement even upon the initial Fox production of the play.

Advertising Aids: One, three and six sheet, movie grounds for each. Lobby displays, 8x10, 11x14 and 22x28. Announcement slide. Cuts, mats and press sheets (cute are made in special order at rate of 25 cents per column; mats and press sheets are mailed gratis).

Release.

“NO CHILDREN WANTED”

General Film Company Presents Gloria Joy只要是 a Powerful Oakdale Production of the Story With a Lesson.

Cast:

Dot Jarvis ......... Glorin Joy
Sylvia Jarvis ........... Ethel Ritchie
Oscar Jarvis .............. Henry Grey
Robert Chase ............ Edward Jobson
John Porter ............. Neil Hardin
Mrs. Reed ................ Mrs. Kahler
Rankin ...................... H. E. Archer
Old Farmer .......... Daniel Gilfeather
Ruth Lackaye

Directed by Sherwood McDonald.

The Story: Dot Jarvis, the neglected child of Oscar and Sylvia Jarvis, is sent to a boarding school in order that her parents may live in an apartment house which bars children. Robert Chase, a rich young lawyer, is caricatured in Jarvis novel, and he severely reproves the novelist. Later Chase learns that Jarvis and a man by the name of Porter are sending denunciation into Mexico. Chase informs the authorities, and two of the conspirators’ henchmen are killed. Porter confesses that Jarvis engineered the scheme, and Chase plans to expose the cover-up; his change of heart overcomes the publisher when he sees a photograph of Dot riding a hobby.

Advertise Your Business

By the quality of your Projection

Nothing is as good as the Best, and the Best can only be obtained by an up-to-date machine.

We will take in your old machine on part payment on a New Machine on the MONTHLY PAYMENT PLAN.

Write Today for Particulars and Catalog

Amusement Supply Co.

Largest Exclusive Dealers to the Moving Picture Trade

300-302 Malleys Bldg.

5 S. Wabash Avenue

Chicago, Illinois

Dealers In Mutoscope, Standard and Simplex Moving Picture Machines, National Carbon Film, Motion Pictures, News, Cartoons, Slides, Etc., etc.

WE SELL ON THE INSTALLMENT PLAN

The sum total of your efforts is realized only when the DEVELOPER and PRINTER is equal to the task he undertakes.

EVANS’ reputation for absolute perfection and reliability will prove the profitable service for you to connect with.

EVANS FILM MFG. CO., 416-24 West 216th St., New York City

Telephone: St. Nich. 5410-5444

August 5, 1918
horse. It reminds him of his dead child and he orders the story killed. Jarvis attempts suicide, but is warned against it by the editor, which eases. Then Dot's parents learn how she has been instrumental in saving her husband a prison sentence, which is unexpected. Then Dot is told to turn home with a determination to make up for all the affections and love that Dot has been missing.

Feature: Gloria Joy as Dot Jarvis.

Advertising Angles: Work the sensational title for what it is worth, but be careful to use lines that tell that the child wanted child has already been born. Don't let this get mixed up with birth control. Give up pictures of your patrons. Use such catch-phrases as "Sent their little one to boarding school to please the janitor. It turns out Picture of a child on a horse-boat use it for window work, explaining that this picture saved the child from a harmful exposure and won her love.

Advertising Aids: One each one, three and six sheets. 11x14 lobby displays. Slides. Press sheets.

"LESS THAN KIN"

Jesse L. Lasky Presents Wallace Reid in the Story of a Man Who Assumed Another's Reputation and Found He Had Made an Unwise Trade.

Robert Lee ...................... Wallace Reid
Lewis Vickers .................. Nellie Reid
James Mayes .................... Endicott Lee
Georgia Mays ................... Gustav Seyffertitz
Soror Cotes ..................... Noah Beery
Dr. Nunn ....................... James Nell
Overton ......................... Charles Ogles
Maria ......................... Jane Wolff
Jix ......................... Guy Oliver
Cruise ......................... John V. Herbert
Peters ......................... Calvert Carter
Pilpment ...................... Joseph Ogle
Sheriff ....................... Herbert

Directed by Donald Crisp.

The Story: Lewis Vickers accidentally kills a man to protect a woman, and flees to Central America, where he becomes involved in a revolution. He meets Robert Lee, a profligate, also from New York. Lee, who is dying, asks Vickers to write to his wife. Because of the strong resemblance between Lee and himself, Vickers, upon Lee's death, assumes Lee's place and eventually returns to New York. He succeeds in foisting himself upon Lee's relatives, including Nellie Lee, and so manages to make the fall in love. He learns that Lee's past has been most reprehensible, and he is shunned by all. A woman with several children claims him as her husband. But Vickers is forced to admit his identity when a convict escapes and returns to the time of the murder. He then makes his way to Canada and stops in front of a church where he has hidden himself in his automobile, then suddenly comes to him and announces that she loves him. They enter the church and are married, but are captured in a fight which ensues. Then Dot's parents learn how she has been instrumental in saving her husband a prison sentence, which is unexpected. Then Dot is told to turn home with a determination to make up for all the affections and love that Dot has been missing.

Feature: Wallace Reid as Robert Lee and Lewis Vickers, and Nellie Little as Nellie Reid.

Advertising Aids: Make the most of the exchanged identity idea and what came of it. Ask your patrons to tell who told them they might expect an exchange of personality. Properly worked up the idea could be made good for collection, too. Newspaper space. Work on the star's personal popularity for newspaper display.

Advertising: Make a strong use of the star's portraits if you can get them. You can use "Hello Girls" for the catch-phrases, and see how this begins advertising, adding that Hello Girls meet strange adventures. Have the matter set so you can use the catch-phrases if the papers are to be a greeting. Invite the girls from the telephone exchange to see the play free at a specified performance and then announce their attendance in the papers if your town is small enough. Advertise that Miss Clowes gives up用量 vampire parts to play a more sympathetic role.

Advertising Aids: Two designs each one a half inch long, by illustrated sheet, Thumbail and one to three column eusts in eletro or mats. Press book.

Released July 27.

"IMPOSSIBLE SUSAN"

American Presents Margarita Fisher in the Story of a Father Who Married the Girl He Intended to Use as a Bait for His Son.

Cast:

Susan Gaskell .... Margarita Fisher
Bernard Marshall .... Jack Mower
Ted Marshall .... Lloyd Hughes Floor
Harry Mark .... Howard Mack
Eva Thornton .... Beverly Travers
Leon Gaskell .... L. M. Wells
Alice Schaefer .... Anne Schaefer

The Story: Susan, a wild but lovable child, has been living with her grandfather, and has no idea of the city to find her aunt, who is housekeeper for a cynical bachelor, Bernard Marshall. Susan meets him in an adventure, and Marshall, struck by Susan's beauty, has her dressed in gorgeous attire to show off his new found love. She does not work very well at first. However, Marshall himself falls in love with Susan, as has also his friend, Delacroix, and finally Ted succumbs to her charms; but in the end Marshall wins out.

Feature Margarita Fisher as Susan Gaskell and Jack Mower as Bernard Marshall.

Program and Advertising Phrases:

Simplest of Youth and Beauty Win Happiness in Spite of Schemings of Experienced Flirt.

Gowns of Splendor and Elegance Will Interest the Fair Sex.

Beautifully Costumed and Scenically Equipped Society Drama.

Surprising Outcome of An Experiment in Love Making.

Pretty Girl Gambles for Big Stakes in Game of Love and Wins.

Advertising Angles: A portion of this story hinges upon the dressing of Susan, so try to interest a leading clothes shop in a window display of handsome dresses, with a sign "Clothes do make the woman, if not the man. See Impossible Susan (at your date) If you do not believe this and you'll be convinced."

Work along the same lines in the papers. You may be able to persuade your space with store advertisements of suit sales, all mentioning the play, as an argument to sell more clothes. In the press work play up that feature of the story in which the easier Marshall falls in love with Susan because he appears to coax his son away from an adventurer.

Advertising Aids: One each one, three and six sheets. Banner unmounted. One, two and three column cuts and mats. Program 11x14 and 22x28. Press sheet.

Released July 22.

"THE FALLEN ANGEL"

William Fox Presents Jewel Carmen in a Production of Gouverneur Morris' Well-Known Magazine Story, "You Can't Get Away With It."

Cast:

Jill Cummings .... Jewel Carmen
George Hemingway, Sr .... Charles Clary
George Hemingway, Jr .... L. C. Shumway
Harry Adams .... Donald Pepprell
Marguerite Cummings .... Daisy Robinson
Jane Cummings .... Lavinie Monsch

The Story: Jill Cummings, brought up in refinement, is left penniless upon the death of her father. She goes to work in a store, and the proprietor, George Hemingway, Jr., attracts her. They get married, promises that she live under his "protection." She finally agrees. Later Hemingway dies, leaving her a fortune. She travels abroad, meets and falls in love with Harry Adams, and they become engaged. Returning to America, Jill's entries in Mr. Hemingway's diary and Jill confesses her past life to Adams. Stunned he begs time to think, and finally returns, saying he cannot marry her, but is willing to take the place in her life formerly occupied by Hemingway. Jill, however, strikes him and orders him from the room.

Feature: Jewel Carmen as Jill Cummings and L. C. Shumway as George Hemingway, Jr.

Program and Advertising Phrases: The Story of a Beautiful Woman Who Plays the Prize of Polity.

Pay the Price of Ease and Luxury With the Penalty of Polly.

Erik Goulet In Styleless Falls Before Temptation to Continued Ease.

Woman Learns in Bitterness and Grief the Value of Splendid Photo-Drama of High Moral Purpose Teaches Great Lesson.

The Story of a Rich Girl Who Succumbed to Great Temptation.

Advertising Angles: Play up the fact that this story created a sensation when first presented on the magazine.

Gouverneur Morris is so well known to the magazine-reading public that it will be well to get news stores and even to announce that a story by this author is filmed in your theater on a certain date. Hook up with the theater by running in the current magazines. In your newspaper work present the problem that confronts the girl, making the reader think she should have done. Work this either on her acceptance of the situation or on the wisdom or unwisdom of her confession.

Advertising Aids: One each one, three and six sheets, 11x14 lobby displays. Slides. Press sheet.

"MISS MISCHIEF MAKER"

General Film Company Presents Gloria Joy in the Delightful Story of a Waif of Whimsey.

Cast:

Mrs. O'Brien .... Nell Sallman
Sallie O'Brien .... Gloria Joy

Bridget Cassidy .... Ruth Lackaye
James Wilson .... Edward Jobson
Richard Wilson .... Edward Saunders
Marjorie Wilson .... Marjorie Williams
Frederick Mason .... Albert Rockeet
Patrick Cassidy .... Charles Dudley

Directed by Sherwood McDonald.

The Story: Mischievous little Sallie, an orphan, tires of Mrs. O'Brien's boarding house and pursues the wealthy Mr. Wilson to adopt her. Fred Mason proposes to Wilson's daughter, Marjorie, but she refuses him as he is not a prince or a hero. Sallie introduces Mrs. Cassidy's son, Patrick, as the Duke of Galway, and Marjorie promises to marry him. However, Mrs. Cassidy arrives, denounces her son as an imposter, and Marjorie turns to Mason for comfort. All of the trouble is traced to Sallie, who has indulged in making the world a market for herself.

Feature Gloria Joy as Sallie O'Brien.

Program and Advertising Phrases: How the "Duke of Galway" Was Ruthlessly Cast Out of a Fortune He Had Convinced to Collect.

Mischievous Girl Takes Tremendous Revenge Upon Disadvilual Rival.

Motherless Waif Finds Love and Happiness in Unexpected Development.

Cleverly Coined Advertising Slogan Maintains Interest Throughout.

Getting Even With Her Rival Mischief Maker Finds Herself a Husband.

How An Impish Orphan Made Things Interesting in Somber Surroundings.

Advertising Angles: Get a piece of advertisings board and affix to a sign, suggest that it was a useful hint on the use of advertisings from Gloria Joy in "Miss Mischief Maker." If you can get a child for street work send her through the streets with a pillow tied on behind the case lettered "I've got something I want to play in the (house) tonight. Come and see me." Send the child out under the care of her mother. For the rest work the newspapers.

Advertising Aids: One each one, three, and six sheets, 11x14 lobby displays. Slides. Press sheet.

We have for sale Twenty Million Dollar Mystery, 22 reels; Zudora, 18 reels; Million Dollar Mystery, 40 reels. We also deal in new and commercial film in all lengths for all parts of the globe.

Established 1908

THE FILM EXCHANGE

112 West 46th St., New York City

WAAB-JP

MINUSA

GOLD

ELLS

FIBRE

SIMPLEX

SCREENS

MACHINES & SUPPLIES

1327 VINE ST. PHILADELPHIA

Cremona

ORCHESTRA-ORGANS

Write for information to
The Marquette Piano Co.
Chicago
SITUATIONS WANTED.

FIRST-CLASS ORGANIST; experienced, reliable man. Fine picture player and soloist. Good organ and salary essential. Address "Organist," Box 472, Hagerstown, Maryland.

A GOOD mechanic wishes position as an assistant cameraman; able to repair and keep in order cameras and outfit; wants to learn to be an expert cameraman in the moving picture field. Address Alb. Carlton, 727 Fort Hamilton Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

MANAGER—Ten years' successful experience, original advertising and publicity, expert on projection and music, former theatre owner, plenty of pep and pleasing personality, go anywhere. R. W., 34 Keppel street, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES.

WE BUY—Second-hand machines of all makes. lenses, calcium lights, tents, chairs, and all theatre supplies. Highest prices offered. What have you? Monarch Film Service, 225 Union avenue, Memphis, Tenn.

FOR SALE—Finest equipped small manufacturing plant in middle west. Only one in state. Will more than double investment each year. An unexcelled opportunity. Superior Film Mfg. Co., Des Moines, Iowa.

THEATERS FOR SALE OR RENT.

MOVING PICTURE theater, seated 240, only show in northwestern town of 1,500 population; reason for selling have other business. Address City Theater, Mansfield, Wash.

MOVING PICTURE BUYERS CONSULT LEBOW ABOUT A MOVING PICTURE THEATRE. NOW, TODAY, IS THE TIME TO PURCHASE. THE PRICES ARE LOW. We can save you money. Send for our list today. Anywhere in United States or Canada. Lewis, Moving Picture Theater Brokers, 500 Elliott Sq., Buffalo, N. Y.

FOR SALE—Theater, Stucce building and equipment. No opposition; good business year round. Thickly settled locality, adjoining Chicago. Theater, 1404 So. 4th Court, Cicero, Illinois.

CAMERAS, ETC., FOR SALE.

LISTEN—Cameramen, directors, laboratory managers, exchanges, operators, stamp brings invaluable novelty catalogue concerning you. Eberhard Schneider, 219 Second Avenue, N. Y. City.

DEBRIE CAMERA for sale, complete, with tripod, carrying cases and extra magazines. First class condition. Address Motion Picture Department, Ford Motor Company, Detroit, Michigan.

FILM FOR SALE OR RENT.

FOR SALE—Four original reels of the great battle fought by Poncha, Villa at Ojinaga, Mexico. B. O., cure Moving Picture World, N. Y. City. $2.00 each. Will sell not less than five. Must sell. Mahanian, 449 West 25th street, N. Y. City.

EQUIPMENT FOR SALE.

3,000 OPERA CHAIRS, 75c up; three asbestos booths, steel film vault, asbestos curtain; get best and save half. J. P. Redington, Scranton, Pa.

STAGE SCENERY.

SCENERY—Drops painted to order in any size up to 12 x 25 feet, $10. Doon Scenic Studios, Hicksville, Ohio.

DON'T BUY A BIG ONE WHEN A LITTLE ONE WILL DO!

Your small wants will be read on this page when they would probably not be noticed so much on another page.

Space in the Classified Department of the MOVING PICTURE WORLD has proven a profitable investment.
List of Current Film Release Dates

General Film Release Dates

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Film Title / Details</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>June 2</td>
<td>The Firefly of France (Five Parts—Drama)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 12</td>
<td>A Desert Woot (Five Parts—Dr.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 1</td>
<td>The Kaiser’s Shadow (Dorothy Dalton)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 1</td>
<td>Sandy (Jack Pickford—Five Parts—Drama)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 8</td>
<td>The Chief of the Hun (Charles Ray)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 15</td>
<td>The Son of the Pious (Seppus Hayakawa—Five Parts—Drama)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 15</td>
<td>Uncle Tom’s Cabin (Marguerite Clark—Five Parts—Drama)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 22</td>
<td>The Vamp (Enda Bennett—Five Parts—Drama)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 29</td>
<td>The Dangerer Mark (Evelyn Ferguson—Five Parts—Drama)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Paramount Pictures Corp.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Film Title / Details</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>August 3, 1918</td>
<td>THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Well Bought Is Half Sold

"LET OUR DISTRIBUTOR INTRODUCE THE Simplex TWINS TO YOU"

Many a business man has said that his profits were made by buying right.
That's reasonable; for if you buy what the public doesn't want to buy of you, you're stuck, that's all.
Now, there's a man who can sell you the kind of projection the public wants.

Simplex Projection is easy to buy and easy to sell: Two Points That Tell

If you don't know him, ask us, and we'll tell you who and where he is.
He will introduce the Simplex Twins to you.
He will prove to your satisfaction that they do perfect work and keep on doing so, at ridiculously low wages.
List of Current Film Release Dates

ON UNIVERSAL, MUTUAL, GOLDwyn, METRO AND TRIANGLE PROGRAMS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Universal Film Mfg. Co.</th>
<th>Mutual Film Corp.</th>
<th>Metro Pictures Corporation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ANIMATED WEEKLY.</td>
<td>STRAND.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 10—No. 32 (Topical)</td>
<td>May 14—Her Terrible Secret (Comedy)</td>
<td>May 27—Lend Me Your Name (Yorke-Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 17—No. 31 (Topical)</td>
<td>May 21—Lady Nineteen (Comedy)</td>
<td>May 27—Pay Day (Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 24—No. 34 (Topical)</td>
<td>21-CST-1.</td>
<td>June 3—The Only Road (Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 31—No. 31 (Topical)</td>
<td>May 24—Romeo 22-CST-1.</td>
<td>June 10—Social Quicksteps (Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 20—In Dulch (Two Parts)</td>
<td>June 10—Ozzie and Harriet (Two Parts—Drama).</td>
<td>June 24—A Man with a Conscience.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 17—Choo Choo Love (Alice Howell—Two Parts—Drama)</td>
<td>July 2—Mother Knows Best (Bille Rhodes)</td>
<td>July 1—Opportunity (Violet Dahn—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 31—Hey Doctor (Alice Howell—Two Parts)</td>
<td>27-CST-1.</td>
<td>July 8—No Man's Land (Bert Lytell—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L-KO.</td>
<td>July 9—I'll Enlarge That Ring (Bille Rhodes—28-CST-1.</td>
<td>July 15—A Successful Adventure (May Allissa—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 19—Romance and Dynamite (Two Parts—Comedy)</td>
<td>July 16—Like Mother Made (Bille Rhodes—29-CST-1.</td>
<td>July 22—The Demon (Edith Storor—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 5—Phoney Photos (Two Parts—Comedy)</td>
<td>July 23—On Her Account (Bille Rhodes—30-CST-1.</td>
<td>July 29—A Pair of Cupids (Francis X. Bushman—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 16—The Belles of Liberty (Two Parts—Comedy)</td>
<td>July 30—She Almost Proposed (Bille Rhodes—31-CST-1.</td>
<td>METRO RE-ISSUES.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 24—Clean Sweep (Merta Sterling—Two Parts—Comedy)</td>
<td>MUTUAL STAR PRODUCTION.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 4—Linked Bonds (Eileen Sedwick—Comedy)</td>
<td>June 3—No Release This Date.</td>
<td>Destiny (Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 8—Ozzie and Harriet (Eileen Sedwick—Comedy)</td>
<td>June 10—No Release This Week.</td>
<td>The Shooting of Dan McGrew (Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 15—The Pursuing Package (Harry Mann—Comedy)</td>
<td>June 24—Up Romance Road (Five Parts—Drama—22-F-5).</td>
<td>SCREEN CLASSICS, INC. SPECIALS.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 22—Repeating the Honeymoon (Eileen Sedwick—Comedy)</td>
<td>25-F.</td>
<td>Lost We Forget (Eight Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 29—Bruin Trouble (Belie Bennett—Comedy)</td>
<td>July 1—No Release this Date.</td>
<td>My Own United States (Frohman Production—Eight Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UNIVERSAL SPECIAL ATTRACTION.</td>
<td>July 8—The Ghost of Rosy Taylor (Mary Miles Minter—Five Parts—Drama—23-F—M-5.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 6—Hello, Miss—Six Parts—Drama)</td>
<td>July 15—Release this Date.</td>
<td>The Million Dollar Dollyoes (Emerald Production—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 13—The Butcher Hunter—Six Parts—Drama</td>
<td>July 12—Improving the Rank (Margaret Fisher—Five Parts—Drama—24-F-F-5.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 27—Release this Week.</td>
<td>29—No Release this Date.</td>
<td>Toys of Fate (Seven Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aug. 3—The Mortgaged Wife (Dorothy Phillips—Six Reels—Drama—03129.</td>
<td>OUTING-CHEATER PICTURES.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UNIVERSAL SCREEN MAGAZINE.</td>
<td>June 30—Es-Cannibal Carnival 1-0-1.</td>
<td>Goldwyn Distributing Corp.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 15—Issue No. 80 (Educational)</td>
<td>July 7—Kalee—2-0-1.</td>
<td>GOLDWYN FEATURES.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 27—Issue No. 82 (Educational)</td>
<td>July 21—Zuni Kicking Rooms—4-0-1.</td>
<td>June 16—The Venus Model (Mabel Normand—Six Parts—Comedy-Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE.</td>
<td>July 28—A White Wilderness—5-0-1.</td>
<td>June 30—The Service Star (Madge Kennedy—Six Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 6—The Lion's Claws (Marie Walcamp—Two Parts—Drama)</td>
<td></td>
<td>July 28—B-A-D Films (Mabel Normand—Five Parts—Comedy-Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 13—The Lion's Claws (Marie Walcamp—Episode No. 15, &quot;The Bridge of the Beast&quot;)—Two Parts—Drama)</td>
<td></td>
<td>July 29—Beyond the Shadows (William Desmond—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 20—The Lion's Claws (Episode No. 16, &quot;The Jungle Pool&quot;)—Two Parts—Drama)</td>
<td></td>
<td>Aug. 4—The Price of Apples (Jack Livingston—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 27—The Lion's Claw (Episode No. 17, &quot;The Danger Pit&quot;)—Two Parts—Drama)</td>
<td></td>
<td>Aug. 4—Alice Mary Brown (Pauline Stark—Five Parts—Drama).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aug. 3—The Lion's Claws (Episode No. 18, &quot;Two Parts—Drama&quot;)</td>
<td>GOLDWYN SPECIALS.</td>
<td>KEYSTONE COMEDY.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>HEART OF THE SUNSET (Seven Parts—Drama).</td>
<td>June 2—The Poor Fish (Two Parts).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>The Manz Man (Seven Parts—Drama).</td>
<td>June 2—Flipjacks (Two Parts).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>For the Freedom of the World (Seven Parts—Drama).</td>
<td>June 16—Isn't It Warm? (Two Parts).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Blue Blood (Six Parts—Drama).</td>
<td>June 16—Cupid and the Cop (Two Parts).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Honor's Cross (Six Parts—Drama).</td>
<td>June 30—Pearls Without Price (Two Parts).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Social Ambitions (Six Parts—Drama).</td>
<td>KEYSTONE COMEDY RE-ISSUES.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>STARRING SPECIALS.</td>
<td>July 7—Bright Lights (Arbuckle and Normand).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>CAPITOL COMEDIES.</td>
<td>July 14—Village Scandal (Arbuckle and Normand).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MAY 6—&quot;Billie's Baby&quot; (Two Reels).</td>
<td>July 21—Saved by Wireless (Chester Conklin).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>AUG. 11—His Wild Oats (Ford Sterling).</td>
<td>July 28—He Did and He Didn't (Arbuckle and Normand).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>JULY 7—&quot;Birds of a Feather&quot; (Two Reels).</td>
<td>Aug. 4—Dizzy Heights and Daring Hearts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>AUG. 15—Fatty and Mable Adrift (Arbuckle and Normand).</td>
<td>Aug. 11—His Wild Oats (Ford Sterling).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>JULY 17—&quot;Matching Billy&quot; (Two Reels).</td>
<td>Aug. 15—Fatty and Mable Adrift (Arbuckle and Normand).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>AUG. 22—The Other Man (Roscoe Arbuckle).</td>
<td>Aug. 25—The Other Man (Roscoe Arbuckle).</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Producers—Kindly Furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.

Dates and Titles of Triangle Releases Subject to Change Without Notice.

TRIANGLE PRODUCTIONS.

| July 7—A Good Loser (Peggy Pearce—Five Parts—Drama). |
| July 7—Everybody's Husband (Gloria Swanson—Five Parts—Drama). |
| July 14—Masked Cards (Maggie Wilson—Five Parts—Drama). |
| July 14—Hell's End (William Desmond—Five Parts—Drama). |
| July 21—By Proxy (Roy Stewart—Five Parts—Drama). |
| July 28—Gold in the Mine (Joe Bennett—Five Parts—Drama). |
| July 28—Beyond the Shadows (William Desmond—Five Parts—Drama). |
| Aug. 4—The Price of Apples (Jack Livingston—Five Parts—Drama). |
| Aug. 4—Alice Mary Brown (Pauline Stark—Five Parts—Drama). |
If You Are Planning to Improve Your House Front or Lobby—Send for Our FREE Offer Today

Write today—a postal will do—for full information and for Free Advance showing of our Special Combination Sets for Lobby and House Front Display in Full Color.

A Free Sketch of Your Lobby

We will also send you a handy diagram—on this mark the size of your lobby and wall spaces. Mail it to us and we will send you a FREE sketch showing you the cheapest way to improve your theatre permanently—the way that is getting business for thousands of Exhibitors. It costs you nothing and will save you time, trouble and expense. Write today.

Menger, Ring & Weinstein, Inc.
306 West Forty-second Street
New York

Cine=Mundial

(The Spanish Edition of the Moving Picture World)

A magic word in film and motion picture accessory exportation to all parts of

SOUTH AMERICA
CENTRAL AMERICA
THE ANTILLES
MEXICO
THE PHILIPPINES
SPAIN and PORTUGAL

Chalmers Publishing Company
516 5th Ave., New York
List of Current Film Release Dates

GREATERTVATAGRAPH PROGRAM, FEATURE AND STATE RIGHTS RELAIS

Greater Vitagraph Inc.

VITAGRAPH FEATURES.
July 1—Tangled Lives (Harry Money—Five Parts—Drama).
July 8—One Thousand Dollars (Edward Earle—Five Parts—Drama).
July 15—Love Watches (Conrad Griffin—Five Parts—Drama).
July 22—To the Hated Rider (Alice Joyce—Five Parts—Drama).
Aug. 5—All Man (Harry Money—Five Parts—Drama).

HIG V COMEDIES.
June 24—Boodle and Bandits.
July 1—Boodals and Banderas.
July 8—Hindoo and Hazards.
July 15—Skippers and Schemers.
July 22—Two Feathered Babies.
July 29—Wounded Hearts and Wedding Rings.
Aug. 5—Don'ts and Doffs.

DREW COMEDIES.
June 17—When Two Play a Game.
June 24—Two Greek Meets Greek.
July 1—Cupid's Coat.
July 8—Bookey's Baby.
July 25—The Cub and the Daisy Chain.
July 29—Their Agreement.
Aug. 5—Miss Sticky-Mouth-Kiss.

VITAGRAPH SERIAL.

A Flight for Millions.
July 15—Episode No. 1, "The Sneak." Two Parts—Drama.
July 22—Episode No. 2, "Flame of Peril." Two Parts—Drama.
Aug. 5—Episode No. 4, "The Precipice of Horror." Two Parts—Drama.

American Standard Motion Picture Corp.
130 West Forty-sixth Street, New York City.
The Blackmailer.
S.O.S.
His Vinegar Bath (Tom Bret Comedy).
Twin Bedrooms (Tom Bret Comedy).

Betwood Film Company.
Bettwood, Pa.
Sandy Bruce (Louis DeMunck).

Bluebird Photoplays, Inc.
Which War? (Five Parts—Drama)—00656.
The Eagle (Five Parts—Drama)—02900.
The Deciding Kiss (Grace Cunard—Five Parts—Drama).
Winner Takes All (Morris Salaberry—Five Parts—Drama).
Scandal Mongers (Lola Weber—Five Parts—Drama)—03115.
The Dream Lady (Five Parts—Drama)—03124.

Christie Film Corporation.
Los Angeles, Cal.
June 17—Some Remorse.
June 24—War Gardens.
July 1—Kids.
July 8—Efficiency.
July 15—Just Like Dad.
July 22—That's War.

Educational Films Corp.
The Following Are One reel Scenes.
June 24—The Heart of Mexico (Wright).
June 1—Through the Nation's Parks (Newman).
July 8—Cruse of the Quicken'ell, Niagara Falls (Bruce).
July 15—Mount Lassen in Action (Hammer).
July 22—The Rainbow Bridge (Newman).

Ditmar's "Living Book of Nature.
June 5—War Times at the Zoo (Half Reel).
June 17—Life in the Waters (Half Reel).

International Cartoon Comedies—Each Half Reel in Length.
May 27—Fisherwoman (Kate Kamenskamer).
June 3—Up in the Air (Kate Kamenskamer).
June 10—Swat the Fly (Kate Kamenskamer).
June 17—Throwing the Bull (Hoehlgan).
June 24—The Best Man Loses (Kate Kamenskamer).
July 1—Grabs Ice Crabs (Kate Kamenskamer).
July 8—A Picnic for Two (Kate Kamenskamer).
July 15—A Heathen Benefit (Kate Kamenskamer).

First National Exhibitors' Circuit.
Charlie Chaplin in A Dog's Life.
Ambassador Gerard's War Four Years in Germany.
The Arm of the Ape (Elmo Lincoln & Emil Markay).
Passing of the Third Floor Back (Sir Johnstons Forbo-Boehm). Tempered Steel (Mme. Petrova).
The Life Mask (Mme. Petrova).
The Light Within (Mme. Petrova).
Daughter of Destiny (Mme. Petrova).
Edgar Lewis The Sign Invisible (Mitchell).
Herbert Brenon's Empty Pockets.
Herbert Brenon's Fall of the Romanoffs (With Holden).
Almonay (JosephineWhittell).
Pershing's Crusaders.

W. W. Hodgkinson Corp.
Releasing Parasite Plays.
May 27—Cassie and Glum—Five Parts—Drama.
June 10—Parasite Plays (Bessie Bariocale—Five Parts—Drama).
June 24—One Dollar Bill (Warren Kerrigan—Five Parts—Drama).
July 27—Wedlock (Louise Glum—Five Parts—Drama).

Jewel Productions, Inc.
The Doctor and the Plague (Edward Dunne—Dr.—Drama).
The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin.
A Soul for Sale (Dorothy Phillips—Five Parts—Drama).
The Garter of Berlin (Century Production—Two Parts).

George Kleine System.
(Montgomery Flagg One-Reel Comedies.
"Girls You Know"—Made by Edison.
Apr. 24—A Good Sport.
May 9—The Starter.
May 22—The Spotted Girl.
June 5—The Lonesome Girl.

Essanay (With Billy Series).
June 7—Bronco Billy's Girl.
June 14—Bronco Billy's True Love.
June 21—Bronco Billy and the Western Girl.
June 28—Bronco Billy Wins Out.
July 5—Bronco Billy Trapped.
July 12—Bronco Billy Reward.

Halco deluxe Productions.
June —The Unchastened Woman (Seven Reels).

Edison.
The Unbeliever (Seven Reels).

Select Pictures.
The Claw (Clara K. Young—Five Reels).
Cecilia (The White Roses) (Maurice Davies—Five Reels).
Good Night, Paul (Constance Talmadge—Five Reels).
The Whirlpool (Alice Brady—Five Reels).

Barlier (Seven Parts—Drama).
The Wild Girl (Five Parts—Drama).

William L. Sherry Service.

The Street of Seven Stars (Doris Kenton—Five Parts—Drama—De Luxe).
A Romance of the Underworld (Keeny Production).

World Pictures.
June 1—Heart of a Girl (Barbara Castleton—Five Parts—Drama).
June 8—Tinsel (Kitty Gordon—Five Parts—Drama).
June 15—The Golden Wall (Carlyle Blackwell—Five Parts—Drama).
June 22—Joan of the Woods (Jane Blundell—Five Parts—Drama).
June 23—Neighborhood Evans (Five Parts—Drama).

Aug. 5—Heridity (Barbara Castleton—Five Parts—Drama).

World Comedy Releas.
May 27—Main 1-2-3 (Two Parts—Fay Tincher).
June 10—Fired (Two Parts—Marie Dressler).
June 24—Some Job (Fay Tincher—Two Parts).
July 8—Akonies of Abana (Marie Dressler—Two Parts).

State Right Releases

Advanced Motion Picture Corp.
1103 Broadway, New York City.
The Eleventh Commandment (Drama).

Arrow Film Corporation.
Times Building, New York.
The Struggle Everlasting (Harry Rapf Production).
The Accidental Honeymoon (Harry Rapf Production).
The Million Dollar Mystery (Six Reels—Dr.).
The Finger of Justice (Drama).
My Husband's Reels (Drama).

Atlantic Distributing Co.
Times Building, New York City.
Nine-Tenches of the Law (Six Parts—Drama).
The Devil's Playground (Seven Reels—Drama).

Bear State Film Company.
235 E. State St., Chicago, Ill.
The Vigilance (Drama).

Producers.—Kindly Furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

PERFECTED PROJECTION

The automatic self-adjustment of the DeVry Portable Motion Picture Projector is only one small feature of many which witness to its completeness. No detail has been overlooked in making the DeVry the strongest, the lightest and the most compact self-contained projector on the market. It is without a single separate part.

Adopted by the United States Government in all Departments where motion pictures are used, and by the American Red Cross at home and abroad. Used also in all Y. M. C. A. work, on transports, at home and "over there."

Write today for our Catalogue G-5

The DeVry Corporation

109 N. Wells Street
Chicago, U. S. A.

A Dependable Mailing List Service

Saves you from 30% to 50% in postage, etc. Reaches all or selected list of theatres in any territory. Includes name of exhibitor as well as the theatre in address. A list of publicity mediums desiring motion picture news. Unaffiliated exchanges looking for features. Supply houses that are properly characterized as such. Producers with address of studios, laboratories and offices. Information in advance of theatres being or to be built.

W74

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY COMPANY

50 Fifth Avenue, New York
Phone—Chelsea 3227
Addressing Multigraphing Printing Typewriting

Moving Picture Machine Patents My Specialty

PATENTS

WILLIAM N. MOORE

PATENT ATTORNEY

LOAN AND TRUST BUILDING

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The first important step is to learn whether you can obtain a patent. Please send sketch of your invention with $5.00 and I will examine the patent records and inform you whether you are entitled to a patent, the cost and manner of procedure.

Personal Attention Established 25 Years

Screencraft

BY LOUIS REEVES HARRISON

An invaluable help to the writer who is making a serious effort to evolve stories for screen production. Of great interest to the theatrical who is watching the development of "the silent drama."

$2.00 PER COPY, POSTPAID

Published and for sale by

MOVING PICTURE WORLD

516 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY

Schiller Building, Chicago, Illinois

Wright & Callender Building, Los Angeles, Cal.

6 NEW FEATURES FOR SURE RESULTS

The CAMERA that keeps abreast of the Science of Motion Picture Photography.

THE UNIVERSAL MOTION PICTURE CAMERA has New Framing adjustment—Better film transmission—New Focusing Tube—New Footage Indicator—New "Static" Prevention, etc. More Speed—Better results at less than half the price of similar cameras.

A postal will bring you complete description of the world's greatest value in motion picture cameras.

BURKE & JAMES, Inc.

Sole Wholesale Agents

210 E. Ontario Street, Chicago

Eastern Branch: 225 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Seats That Stay Beautiful

Here is a theatre seat that will be beautiful after years of hard service because it is covered with Du Pont Fabrikoid which does not wear shabby and is absolutely unaffected by water, grease, stains, dust or perspiration.

DU PONT FABRIKOID CO.

Wilmington, Delaware

Canadian Factory and Office:

NEW TORONTO ONTARIO

No. 600

Made by

WISCONSIN CABINET & PANEL CO.

105 West 40th Street

New York
List of Current Film Release Dates

Bernard H. Bernstein.
923 Longacre Building, New York City.
The Lion of the Hills (Wm. S. Hart—Drama),

Commonwealth Picturcs Corp.
Chicago, Ill.
The Frock Wearing (Drama),

Chester Beckett.
501 Fifth Ave., N. Y. City.
Reclaimed,

Cosmofotofilm Company, Inc.
220 West 46th Street, New York City.
The Hypocrites,

Crest Pictures Corp.
Times Building, New York.
The Lust of the Ages.

M. S. Epstein.
1405 Broadway, N. Y. C.
The Depths of the Sea (in a Series of Four Parts—Educational),

FourSquare Pictures.
720 Seventh Avenue, New York.
The Eagle's Eye (Episode No. 10—"The Invasion of Canada"—Two Parts—Drama),

The Sin Woman.
Madame Sherry—Corti.
The Submarine Eye.
Should She Only?
The Great White Trail.
One Hour.
The Cast Off.
Men.

Fireman Amusement Corporation.
Times Building, New York.
God's Man,

Gaumont Co.
Flushing, L. I.
Gaumont News—Released every Tuesday,

Gaumont Graphic—Released every Friday.

Episode No. 1—"The Sign of the Scar"—Two Parts—Drama.

Episode No. 2—"Scheming for Millions"—Two Parts—Drama.

Episode No. 3—"The Ambassador's Diamond"—Two Parts—Drama.

General Enterprises, Inc.
Longacre Building, New York.

Wolter (Six Parts—McClure Pictures).
The Warrior (Seven Parts—Drama—McClure Pictures)
The Liar (Six Parts—Drama—General Enterprise Feature).

Graphic Film Corporation.
720 Seventh Ave., N. Y. City.
When Men Betray (Drama).

Hiller & Wilk.
Robbies, the Amateur Cracksman.
The Following Are Keystone-Mack Bennett Comedies.

Ivy Heights and Darling Hearts.
Harry Heights and Darling Hearts.

His Wild Date.
His First False Step.

Ambrose Cup of Woe.
The Following Are Frank Keenan Productions.

The Stool You Do.
Bride of Hate.

The Crab.

The Following Are Norma Talmadge Productions.
The Devil's Needle.

The Social Secretary.

Fina Fifty.
(The Following Are Wm. S. Hart Productions.)

The Devil's Double.
Trulful Trullin' Ten.

The Gunfighter.

The Square Dancer.

The Desert Man.

Wolfe Lowry.
(The Following Are Douglas Fairbanks Productions.)

The Half Breed.
Manhattan Madness.
American Arleucian.

The Americano.

---

Ivan Film Production.
130 West 46th Street, New York.

Two Men and a Woman.

Human Clay.

Life or Honor.

Conquered Hearts.

Jester Comedy Co.
220 West 424 Street, New York.

(Producing Tuesday.)

March—His Golden Romance (Two Parts).
March—All "Fur" Her (Two Parts).
May—The Wrong Flat (Two Parts).
This Is the Life (Two Parts).
Oh What a Day.

Keeney Pictures Corp.
1493 Broadway, New York.

Out of the Night (Drama).

King Bee Films Corp.
720 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.

May 15—The Handy Man.
June 1—Bright and Early.
June 15—Straight and Narrow.

Oro Pictures Corp.
720 Seventh Avenue, New York.

Who Knows? (Six Parts—Drama).

Loyalty (Drama).

Physical Culture Photo Plays, Inc.
113 West 40th Street, New York.

Zengar (Drama).

Piedmont Pictures Corporation.
729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.

His Daughter Pays.

Pioneer Film Corp.
130 West 46th St., New York City.

The Still Alarm (Selig Production).

Pyramid Comedies.
220 West 424 Street, New York.

In and Out (Two Parts).

Love and Lunch (Two Parts).

Beach Birds (Two Parts).

Beauties and Bombs (Two Parts).

Harry Raver.
1402 Broadway, New York.

The Hand of the Hun (Four Parts—Novelty).

The Master Crook.

Renaown Pictures Corp.
1600 Broadway, New York.

The Public Defender.

20,000 Leagues Under the Sea.

Sherman Productions.
The Light of Western Stars.

Ernest Shipman.
17 West 44th Street, New York City.

Josh Binney Comedies, Featuring Funny Fatty Felhert, One Release a Month.
June—Fabulous Fortune Fumblers (Two Reels).
July—Fred's Pickpocket Foulding (Two Reels).
Aug.—Fred's Fighting Father (Two Reels).
Sept.—Fatty's Fast Flier (Two Reels).
Oct.—Fred's Flivver Fancier (Two Reels).

May—Denny from Ireland (Five Reels).
June—The Slick (Five Reels).
July—The Ranger (Five Reels).

The Curse of Eve (Six Part Drama).

Francis Ford Producing Company (Releasing Six Feature Pictures Per Year).
Now Released to America (Six Reels).

In Preparation—A Man of Today (Six Reels).

To Follow—The Fourth Generation (Six Reels).

The Coast Guard Patrol (By Neil Shipman—Seven-Part Patriotic Drama).

A Nugget in the Rough (Five Parts—Comedy-Drama).

Trooper 44 (Five Parts—Drama).

The Tiger of the Sea (Seven Parts—Drama—By Neil Shipman).

Bill Stingers' Poems (A series of one reel patriotic comedy-dramas issued semi-monthly).

S. & S. Photoplays, Inc.
1476 Broadway, New York.

Redemption (Six Parts—Drama).

State Rights Distributors, Inc.
Carmen of the Klondike (Seven Parts—Drama).

Sterling Pictures Corporation.
720 Seventh Avenue, New York.

Great Bradley Mystery (Five Parts—Drama).

The Mystic Hour (Six Parts—Drama).

When You and I Were Young (Five Parts—Drama).

The Golden God (Five Parts—Drama).

Peg of the Sea (Drama).

(Three Following Cartoon Comedies, Exact 500 Feet in Length.)

Mr. Coon.

Mose Is Cured.

Zippy's Insurance.

Zippy's Pets.

The Unknown.

Triangle Film Corp.
1457 Broadway, New York City.

The Servant in the House.

The Siren in the House.

U. S. Exhibitors' Booking Co.
Times Building, New York.

The Belgian.

Those Who Pay.

The Seppellin's Last Raid.

Just a Woman (Steiger Production).

Men.

The Crucible of Life.

W. H. Productions.
71 West 22nd Street, New York.

(The Following Are Multiple Reel W. H. Scott Subjects, Released in Order Listed.)

Mickey (Seven Parts).

The Two-Gun Man in The Bargain (Six Parts—Drama).

The Bandit and the Preacher (Five Parts—Drama).

The Hell Hound of Alaska (Five Parts—Dr.).

(Three Following Two-Reel Hart Productions, Released in Order Listed.)

The Bad Man.

The Fugitive.

A Gentleman from Blue Gush.

The Silent Stranger.

The Marked Deck.

(Three Following Are Mack Sennett-Keystone Comedies, Each Two Reels in Length.)

A Dreadful Soundrul.

Soaked and Scorched.

A Farm Yard Romeo.

The Hula-Hula Dance.

(Three Following Are Bizarre Shows Dollar Productions.)

Satam's Pawn.

M. Weissberg.
Wm. A. Brady Playhouse, 137 W. 46th Street, N. Y. City.
Stolen Orders (Eight Reels—Drama).

---

Producers.—Kindly Furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.
The Essential Requirements for Improved Projection

ARE

SPEER CARBONS

Speer Alterno Combinations for A. C. Work

AND

Speer Hold-Ark Combinations for D. C. Work

Produce Incomparable Results

Write today for descriptive folders.
Read the unbiased opinions of operators.

Place an order now with your Supply House.

"The Carbons with a Guarantee"

MANUFACTURED BY

SPEER CARBON COMPANY
ST. MARYS, PA.
The importance of safe-guarding a reputation is not under-estimated at the Eastman factories.

EASTMAN FILM

means a film that is absolutely dependable and uniform—rigid tests and careful inspection prevent its ever meaning anything else.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

---

Gundlach Projection Lenses

give clean cut definition with the utmost illumination. This is all that you can expect from perfect lenses. The universal use of these lenses is the best evidence of their superior quality. They are sold on approval by all dealers and furnished as the regular equipment with the best machines.

Gundlach-Manhattan Optical Co.
808 So. Clinton Ave., Rochester, N.Y.

---

Educate Your Audience to Help Fight Censorship

Introducing a bill providing for the Censorship of Moving Pictures is a favorite indoor pastime in legislative halls throughout the country. Eternal vigilance is the price of the Exhibitor's mere safety if not his success.

Presented in the proper manner, the Censorship of Moving Pictures is just as obnoxious to the Exhibitor's audiences as it is to the Exhibitor. And public opinion aroused in behalf of moving pictures and against their unfair and discriminatory control is the surest weapon to defeat Censorship.

We have prepared a series of nine different stereopticon slides which crystalize the argument against Censorship; one of the slides is shown herewith.

These slides shown repeatedly in any theatre cannot fail to influence public opinion in that locality against Censorship. They will line up the general public on the side of the Exhibitor.

You Ought to Be Showing Them Now! Legislatures Everywhere Are Concerning

Set of Nine Slides, carefully packed, will be sent postpaid on receipt of $1.00.

MOVING PICTURE WORLD
516 Fifth Avenue, New York City

---

The plays the thing

Hampton DelRuth

Editor and Supervising Director
CONSERVATION

Last week we told you how U. T. E. always discriminates in the selection of apparatus and material it offers for sale, and we also told you that the general consequence which follows the careful selection of material is CONSERVATION.

We herewith call your attention to our GARDINER VELVET GOLD FIBRE SCREEN, which is the most modern and efficient surface upon which to project motion pictures or stereopticon slides. This screen has a brilliant and still soft surface; therefore, it has been named "VELVET."

Do you know, Mr. Exhibitor, that our "Velvet" Screen surface will improve the brilliancy of your picture anywhere from 25% to 100%, depending upon your present screen?

It is evident that, if you can improve the brilliancy and definition of your picture under present conditions by installing our GARDINER VELVET GOLD FIBRE SCREEN, you can produce a picture with present brilliancy and definition with LESS LIGHT.

Now, if you install one of our VELVET Gold Fibre Screens, you will put yourself in a position to meet the Government’s request of CONSERVATION, because you may, by reducing the illumination required, save electric current, which will reduce your bill and, at the same time, SAVE FUEL.

It follows that, if you do put in our VELVET GOLD FIBRE SCREEN, you will save money for yourself, give a BETTER PICTURE to your audience and you will have performed a patriotic duty by CONSERVING FUEL.

We have Gardiner VELVET Gold Fibre Screens in stock and can ship immediately from any of our branches.

WE ARE EXCLUSIVE DISTRIBUTORS FOR

POWER’S PROJECTORS—HALLBERG MOTOR GENERATORS—GARDINER VELVET GOLD FIBRE SCREEN—“FULCO” PRODUCTS—NATIONAL CARBONS—ACME PORTABLE PROJECTOR—EDISON MAZDA LAMPS—NOVELTY SLIDES AND M. P. SUPPLIES OF HIGH GRADE.

“EVERYTHING FOR THE M. P. THEATRE EXCEPT THE FILM”

United Theatre Equipment Corporation

Executive Offices: 1604 Broadway, New York

Largest Moving Picture Equipment House in the World

BRANCH STORES AND WAREHOUSES

NEW YORK  BOSTON  PHILADELPHIA  PITTSBURGH  CINCINNATI
OMAHA  MINNEAPOLIS  CLEVELAND  CHICAGO
KANSAS CITY MACHINE & SUPPLY CO., INC., KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI
Where Omaha Stands on Perfect Projection

The Rialto seating 2700
The Empress " 2100
The Strand " 1800

These three theatres are representative of the best in Omaha and their equipment is of the finest throughout.

All Use
Power’s 6B Cameragraph

This Projector, which was installed by the Omaha branch of the United Theatre Equipment Corporation, was selected as the one best qualified to meet the exacting demands for perfect projection so essential to success.

Nicholas Power Company
INCORPORATED
PIONEERS OF PROJECTION
90 GOLD STREET, NEW YORK, N. Y.
WE THANK OUR Imitators! They've had their chance—and they've failed! Practically every Exhibitor in the country who has shown "The KAISER, the Beast of Berlin," has been watching the course of our imitators to see if he should play the imitation—or repeat "The KAISER." Today that question is settled for all time. Our offices are being swamped with requests for repeat bookings. And a great percentage have already shown "The KAISER, the Beast of Berlin," three—four—and five times! Surely, this is the most remarkable appreciation ever given any production in the history of Moving Pictures. Wire your nearest JEWEL Exchange for either your booking, or your repeat, without fail today.

JEWEL PRODUCTIONS, Inc., 1600 Broadway, N.Y.
COMING!
A Brand New
CHARLIE CHAPLIN
Comedy
"TRIPLE TROUBLE"
NOT a Reissue—NOT a Rehash
But a NEW Film
ESSANAY-CHAPLIN BRAND

To the Exhibitor:
In "Triple Trouble" we are offering you a NEW Charlie Chaplin picture in its entirety. Essanay made this picture with Chaplin when he was at the zenith of his laugh-making powers.
Realizing that the value of Chaplin films were steadily increasing, Essanay held this film in its vaults until the most opportune time for release, which we believe to be NOW.
There has been only one NEW Chaplin film in several months. The public is eager for new Chaplin comedies and will welcome "Triple Trouble" with open arms.
Yours truly,
Essanay Film Mfg. Company

Geo. Kleine
President.
10 episodes, 20 reels, thousands of scenes—all crowded with interest-gripping situations, thrilling adventures, daring escapades, and beautiful photography—make up the amazing photo-serial

The HAND of VENGEANCE

Released through the best States-Right Exchanges. The entire serial now ready, with a wonderful series of 1, 3 and 6-sheet posters, slides and display photographs.

Gaumont Co.
FLUSHING, N. Y.
The Little Girl with the Big Personality

Save or Slave
Buy W. S. S. Regularly

PAULINE STARKE
with Casson Ferguson
in
"ALIAS MARY BROWN"
Released August 4th

Triangle Distributing Corporation
1457 BROADWAY NEW YORK
A Mighty four-color message is going to strike home this week in America's cities. It will sell Paramount and Artcraft Pictures to all men, women and children who have eyes to see them.

Billboards everywhere you look, in all the big towns, including such cities as:

Boston
Brooklyn
Cincinnati
Chicago
St. Paul
Atlanta
Denver
Portland, Ore.
Buffalo
Detroit
Minneapolis
St. Louis
New Orleans
Butte
New York City
Philadelphia
Tacoma
Milwaukee
Des Moines
Dallas
San Francisco
Spokane
Washington
Cleveland
Kansas City
Omaha
Salt Lake City
Los Angeles

They're going up now, to work for every exhibitor Broadside from Billboards

Paramount and Artcraft Pictures
(Nationally Advertised)

From Coast to Coast

Every Paramount or Artcraft star will be there on the thousands of 24-sheet stands that will cover the country. Extra displays will shout from every corner the message that will send more crowds into the theatres that show Paramount and Artcraft Pictures—and say so.

They'll create a new, irresistible demand for Paramount and Artcraft Pictures. The crowds will be looking in front of your theatre for the trade-marks they see on the billboards.

If you're "There" the trade-marks will be there, displayed in your lobby, and the crowds—happy, contented, glad-they-came crowds will fill every seat in your theatre.

This is only ONE of the big things the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation is doing to create added business for the exhibitor.

More coming! Watch for the announcements.
ARTCRAFT Pictures
For August
In order of their release

Douglas Fairbanks in "Bound in Morocco"

D. W. Griffith's "The Great Love"

William S. Hart in "Riddle Gawne"

Cecil B. De Mille's "Till I Come Back to You"

Ending a year of promises fulfilled in letter and spirit. Beginning a year destined to set a new mark for genuine service
Paramount Pictures
For August
In order of their release.

Charles Ray in "A Nine O'Clock Town."
Pauline Frederick in "Fedora."
Billie Burke in "In Pursuit of Polly."
Dorothy Dalton in "Green Eyes."
Enid Bennett in "Coals of Fire."

The last month of a year of wonderful achievement, a sure basis upon which to estimate the work of the year to come.
4th week Broad and record runs

Featuring Lawrence Grant as the Kaiser with Olive Tell

This Screen Classics INC. success makers in the history

METRO PICTURES CORPORATION
MAXWELL KARGE way Theatre N.Y. everywhere for

THE KAISER

Written by June Mathis - Directed by George Irving.

TWO RECORD BREAKERS YESTERDAY HOTTEST DAY OF THE YEAR AND BIGGEST OPENING DAY BUSINESS IN HISTORY OF LIBERTY THEATRE TO HELL WITH THE KAISER SCORES CLEAN KNOCKOUT RUNNING IN TWO PITTSBURGH THEATRE SIMU-TANEOUSLY AND WE ARE TURNING THEM AWAY CONGRATULATION is outrunning the greatest money of motion pictures.

GERONEMCASPER

LIBERTY THEATRE.

Exclusive Distributors -

MGR. OF PRODUCTIONS.
Of all the Bushman and Bayne successes none can compare with this production in verve, originality and absolute charm.

METRO PICTURES CORPORATION presents

FRANCIS X.
BUSHMAN & BAYNE
in Luther A. Reed's superb play
A PAIR OF CUPIDS
Directed by Charles J. Brabin in 5 wonderful acts

RELEASED BY METRO JULY 29th
The big, front page stories in every newspaper, telling about the progress of the war, help you to fill your house with

OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW

It contains exclusive official pictures from the Governments of United States, France, Great Britain and Italy. It shows a multitude of subjects, all interesting, all new, all thrilling. It is in one reel, issued once a week.

Number five contains scenes of General Foch, the hero of the Marne; Britain's fighters in Palestine; Hun air raids in Italy, with a thrilling aeroplane combat; Allied troops (including Americans) in Italy, American soldiers at the front in France, etc. etc.

It Belongs in Your Theatre!

Distributed by

PATHÉ
She was Independence itself; therefore when she and her father agreed to disagree she went to the big city to make her own living. Her father said "We'll make her marry the man we want her to by having her fall in love with him; we'll put him in the same house with her as fellow boarder and let proximity do the rest!" Did it work out that way? It didn't, but she got enough excitement to last her the rest of her natural life!

GLADYS HULETTE and CREIGHTON HALE in WAIFS

written by Grace Sartwell Mason and published in Munsey's Magazine.

Produced by ASTRA Directed by Albert Parker
The following are some of the nationally known newspapers which are publishing the stories of the films and extensively advertising the

POST TRAVEL SERIES

Never have one reel films received the publicity that these are receiving; and furthermore the quality of the pictures makes them worthy of it!

ATLANTA JOURNAL
ALBANY TIMES-UNION
Baltimore American
Birmingham Age-Herald
Buffalo Evening News
Cleveland Plain Dealer
Charlotte Observer
Chicago Daily News
Detroit Sunday News
Dallas Times-Herald
Oklahoma City Tribune
Des Moines News
Denver Rocky Mountain News
Hartford Courant
Houston Chronicle
Illinois State Register (Springfield)
Los Angeles Express Tribune
Milwaukee Journal
Minneapolis (News-Sentinel)
New Orleans Item
Newark Star-Eagle
Omaha World Herald
Philadelphia Inquirer
Pittsburgh Press
Arizona Republican (Phoenix)
Portland Oregonian
Richmond Times Dispatch
St. Louis Globe-Democrat
St. Francisco Chronicle
Salt Lake Telegram
Seattle Post-Intelligencer
Topeka Daily Capital
Tacoma Daily Telegram
Washington Post

This sketch is a reproduction of one of the extraordinarily attractive and original posters which have been designed for the series.
This Ghost Carried a Gun!

He walked at the right time; he rescued the beautiful maiden in distress; he put the villains to flight; he adds the final knockout punch to a picture where the star, as always, shines, where comedy delightfully intermingles with forceful drama.

BRYANT WASHBURN
in
THE GHOST OF THE RANCHO

Produced by Anderson-Brunton Co.
Directed by Wm. Worthington
"Fools and Fires"

"FOOLS AND FIRES," the latest L-KO comedy scream, sets about as fast a comedy pace as your house has seen in many months. It's one succession of roars of laughter. Wave aside any comedy booking you have in mind and book "FOOLS AND FIRES. It's a scream—the kind that sends away eager for more of the same class.

BOOK IT

Book thru nearest Universal Exchange or UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO
CARL LAEMMLE PRESIDENT
1600 BWAY NEW YORK
CHARLIE CHAPLIN WIRES VEHEMENT DENIAL

The Only NEW Chaplins are First National Attractions

Look for this Charles Chaplin Signature on Posters.
One minute to go'

A First National Attraction

Charles Chaplin

In His Second Signature Protected Million Dollar Comedy

"SHOULDER ARMS"

The NEXT Genuine New Chaplin Comedy
STATE RIGHTS TO BE SOLD ON MICKEY

THE LONG WAITED FOR MACK SENNETT
$300,000.00
PRODUCTION

"THE PICTURE YOU WILL NEVER FORGET"

ADDRESS COMMUNICATIONS TO
W. H. PRODUCTIONS COMPANY
71 W. 23rd STREET
PHONE GRAMERCY 3027
NEW YORK CITY

Buy War Savings Stamps
Names preceded by an asterisk (*) are the week's supply of newcomers on the Honor Roll.

If you have contracted for "Pershing's Crusaders," the name of your theatre positively will appear in this roll. It may be two, or even three weeks afterward, as it takes time to pass the contracts through various departments.

Colorado—N. Mex.—Utah—Wyo.

And All Counties in Idaho North of and Including Idaho County

- Orpheum ................. Rigby, Idaho
- Opera House .............. Downey, Colo.
- Bangh ................. Shoshone, Idaho
- Elite ..................... Limon, Colo.
- Princess .................. Preston, Idaho
- East Colo. Amusement Co., Hugo, Colo.
- Elite ..................... Wiggins, Colo.
- Star ..................... Victor, Idaho
- Playhouse ................. Mauzana, Colo.
- Mission .................. Clayton, N. M.
- T. O. F. .................. Las Animas, Colo.
- Star ........................ Fowler, Colo.
- Elite ..................... Tremonton, Utah
- Meridian ................... Meridian, Idaho
- Orpheum .................. Glenwood Spgs., Colo.
- Star ........................ Torenby, N. M.
- Plaza ..................... Tyone, N. M.
- Opera House .............. Montpelier, Idaho
- Columbia .................. Grace, Idaho
- Isis ........................ Salina, Utah
- America ................... Deaver, Colo.
- Gem ........................ Yuma, N. M.
- Barley ..................... Burley, Idaho
- Auditorium ............... American Falls, Idaho
- Paramount Empress ...... Bingham, Utah
- Coronado ................... Las Vegas, N. M.
- Pantages .................. Springer, N. M.
- Rex ......................... Raton, N. Mex.
- Princess ................... Deming, N. Mex.
- American .................. Salt Lake, Utah
- Unique ..................... Gunnison, Colo.
- Columbia .................. Florence, Colo.
- Peoples ..................... Wiley, Colo.
- Oil Shale .................. Grand Valley, Colo.
- Lover ...................... Ft. Morgan, Colo.
- Opera House .............. Mancos, Colo.
- Rialto ...................... Jerome, Idaho
- Rex ......................... Duhl, Idaho
- Gem ........................ Somerset, Colo.
- Burnh ........................ Colo. Springs, Colo.
- Universal .................. Holyoke, Colo.
- Emerson ..................... Brush, Colo.
- Grand ...................... Pueblo, Colo.
- Orpheum .................. Steamboat Springs, Colo.
- Wray ....................... Wray, Colo.
- Lyric or Empress ......... Ft. Collins, Colo.
- Iris ........................ Boulder, Colo.
- Stirling ..................... Greeley, Colo.
- West ....................... Trinidad, Colo.
- Atlas ........................ Cheyenne, Wyo.
- Ogden .................... Ogden, Utah

Washington—Oregon—Alaska—Montana

And All Counties in Idaho North of and Including Idaho County

- Rolfe ..................... Albany, Ore.
- Sidney Hoshberg ............ Hovre, Mont.
- Evarith ..................... Evarith, Wash.
- Liberty ..................... Lynden, Wash.
- Orpheum ..................... Snohomish, Wash.
- Bijou ........................ Aberdeen, Wash.
- Gem ........................ Neotone, Wash.
- Liberty ..................... Bellingham, Wash.
- Strand .................... Seaide, Ore.
- Sunset ..................... Astoria, Ore.
- Noble ...................... Marshfield, Ore.
- Liberty ..................... Salem, Ore.
- Oregon ..................... Eugene, Ore.
- Empire ..................... Anacortes, Wash.
- Victory ................... Tacoma, Wash.
- Majestic .................. Bremerton, Wash.
- Majestic .................. Cornwalls, Ore.

Illinois

- Lawford .................... Havana, Ill.
- Mimsdale .................. Mimsdale, Ill.
- Erber's ..................... E. St. Louis, Ill.
- Washington ................ Granite City, Ill.
- Grand .................... Manton, Ill.
- Lyric ..................... Salem, Ill.
- New Irving ................ Chicago, Ill.
- 1st Av. Pk. Blvd. & Crawford
- Playhouse ................. Chicago, Ill.
- Grand ..................... Rockford, Ill.
- Hoyborn ..................... Evanston, Ill.
- Orpheum ..................... Champaign, Ill.
- Oak Park ................... Oak Park, Ill.
- Crescent .................. Pontiac, Ill.
- Chateau .................... Chicago, Ill.
- B'way & Grace St.
- Frolie ....................... Chicago, Ill.
- 55th & Ellis Ave.
- Lakeside ................... Chicago, Ill.
- 4730 Sheridan Rd.
- Kenwood .................... Chicago, Ill.
- 47th & Kimbush Ave.
- Columbus .................. Chicago, Ill.
- 63rd & Ashland Ave.
- Lexington .................. Chicago, Ill.
- 71S. Grand Blvd.
- Cosmopolitan ................ Chicago, Ill.
- 79th & Halsted
- Peerless ..................... Chicago, Ill.
- Terminal ................... Chicago, Ill.
- 3308 Lawrence Ave.
- Woodlawn .................... Chicago, Ill.
- 829 E. 63rd St.
- Oakland Sei .................... Chicago, Ill.
- 3947 Drexel Bldg.
- Colo ........................ Chicago, Ill.
- Lane Court ................... Chicago, Ill.
- Centre & Lane Court .... Chicago, Ill.
- Adelphia ..................... Chicago, Ill.
- Metropolis ................ Chicago, Ill.
- Metropolitan ............... Chicago, Ill.
- 47th & Crawford
- Milford ...................... Chicago, Ill.
- Milwaukee & Crawford
- Alexander .................. Chicago, Ill.
- 69 W. Madison St.
- Casino ...................... Chicago, Ill.
- 401 N. Clark
- Crystal ....................... Chicago, Ill.
- 62nd St. & Stewart Ave.
- Schindler ................... Chicago, Ill.
- 1605 W. Huron St.
- Bryn Mawr .................. Chicago, Ill.
- 1125 Bryn Mawr Ave.
- Linder ....................... Chicago, Ill.
- 63rd & Halsted Sts.
- Areher ....................... Chicago, Ill.
- 35th & Arche Ave.
- Rex ........................ Chicago, Ill.
- 53rd & Racine Sts.
- Halford ....................... Chicago, Ill.
- 55th & Halsted Sts.
- Boulevard .................... Chicago, Ill.
- 55th & Ashland Ave.
- Vitagraph ................... Chicago, Ill.
- 3133 Lincoln Ave.
- Biograph ..................... Chicago, Ill.
- 2433 Lincoln Ave.
- West End ..................... Chicago, Ill.
- 121 N. Cicero Ave.
- Paramount .................. Chicago, Ill.
- 2648 Milwaukee Ave.
- Jackson Park ................ Chicago, Ill.
- 67th & Stony Island Ave.
- Argmore ..................... Chicago, Ill.
- 1404 Argyle Ave.
- Krickersberger ................ Chicago, Ill.
- 6217 Broadway
- Michigan .................... Chicago, Ill.
- 53rd & Michigan Ave.
- Covent Garden ................ Chicago, Ill.
- 2653 N. Clark St.
- Prairie ....................... Chicago, Ill.
- Harrison ..................... Chicago, Ill.
- Opera House ................ Dwight, Ill.
- Airadrome ................... Alton, Ill.

(Continued next page)
Ohio

Liberty & Gorden Sq., Cleveland, Ohio
La Grande...Concaut, Ohio
Knickerbocker...Fayette, Ohio
Orpheum...Ally, Mo.
Elyria...Elyria, Ohio
Critic...Ohio, Oxford, Ohio
Elutino...Pomeroy, Ohio
Family...Middleport, Ohio
Colony...Cincinnati, Ohio
Lion...Bellevue, Ohio
Opera House...Greeneville, Ohio
Norwood...Norwood, Ohio
Minnie...Findlay, Ohio
American...Cincinnati, Ohio
Opera House...Firmont, Ohio
Lincoln...Massillon, Ohio
Wonderland...Lorain, Ohio
Grand...Cleves, Ohio
Fineray...Martins Ferry, Ohio
Castaniba...Shelby, Ohio
Jewel...Tory, Ohio
Majestic...Mansfield, Ohio

Delaware—Md.—D. C.

Academy...Hagerstown, Md.
Bridge...Baltimore, Md.
Queen...Wilmingiton, Del.
Garden...Baltimore, Md.

New York

Bohemian Annex...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Manor...Richmond Hill, N. Y.
Opera House...Morgantown, N. Y.
Grand...Wellsville, N. Y.
Cronk M. P. Co...Rockburg, N. Y.
Idle Hour...Unadilla, N. Y.
Apollo...N. Y. C., N. Y.
American...Freeport, N. Y.
Franklin...Astoria, N. Y.
Mt. Kisco...Mt. Kisco, N. Y.
Orpheum...Saugerties, N. Y.
Regan...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Steepleshae...Rockaway Pk, N. Y.
Wanawanda...Hans Falls, N. Y.
Empire...Dunkirk, N. Y.
Hippodrome...Buffalo, N. Y.
Lyric...Wellsville, N. Y.
Monroe O. H...Monroe, N. Y.
Photoplay...Castle, N. Y.
Town Hall...Brewster, N. Y.
Bleecker...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Greenwich...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Hapleton...Brooklyn, N. Y.
Coleman

Missouri

Poplar Bluff, Mo.
Mexiko, Mo.
Moberly, Mo.
Bootheel, Mo.
Excelsior Springs, Mo.
Bloomfield, Mo.
Albany, Mo.
Brookfield, Mo.
Trio Amusement...Hale, Mo.
Fayette, Mo.
Saint Louis, Mo.
Liberty, Mo.

Hippodrome...Sydney, N. Y.
Park...Silver Creek, N. Y.
Family...Albion, N. Y.
Proctor's 125th...N. Y. C., N. Y.
125th St. & Seventh Ave.
Harlem Op. House...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Proctor's 3rd Street...N. Y. C., N. Y.
23rd St. nr. Sixth Ave.
Mt. Morris...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Colonial...Albany, N. Y.
Hippodrome...Buffalo, N. Y.
Red Hook Lyceum...Red Hook, N. Y.
Cosmopolitan

Operahouse...Kingston, N. Y.
Stanley...Benshonurst, L. I.
Oneonta...Oneonta, N. Y.
Ster...Slip, L. I.
Novelty...Hicksville, L. I.
Century...Mincola, L. I.
Matineecoh...Locust Valley, N. Y.
Oxford...Brooklyn, N. Y.
New Garden...Brooklyn, N. Y.
West End...Brooklyn, N. Y.
Cleveland...Brooklyn, N. Y.
Norwood...Brooklyn, N. Y.
New...Rockaway Beach, N. Y.
Regent...Bay Shore, N. Y.
Park...Rockaway Park, N. Y.
Audubon...Salamanca, N. Y.
Armorey...Binghamton, N. Y.
68th St. Playhouse...New York, N. Y.
Stratford...Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Proctor's...Mt. Vernon, N. Y.
Armory or Palace...Schenectady, N. Y.
Amsterdam O. H...Amsterdam, N. Y.
Elsmere...Bronx, N. Y.
Spooner...Bronx, N. Y.
Burland...Brooklyn, N. Y.
Majestie...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Broadway...W. Ensburgh, N. Y.
Empire...Port Richmond, S. I., N. Y.
Proctor's...Geneva, N. Y.
Baker...Dover, N. Y.
United States...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Plaza...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Casa...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Maulhallan

Steinway...Astoria, L. I., N. Y.
Photoplay...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Schuyler...N. Y. C., N. Y.
New Plaza...Brooklyn, N. Y.
Glen...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Standard...N. Y. C., N. Y.
U. S. Military Ae...West Point, N. Y.
Liberty...Canandaigua, N. Y.
Strand...Geneva, N. Y.
Strand...Ithaca, N. Y.
Fordham...Bronx, N. Y.
Concourse...Bronx, N. Y.
Tides...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Dyckman...N. Y. C., N. Y.
Unique...Patchogue, N. Y.
New Columbia...Maspeth, L. I., N. Y.
Atlas...N. Y. C., N. Y.

New Jersey

Colonia...Newark, N. J.
Criticism...Nordetpm, N. J.
Strand...Ridgefield Pk., N. J.
Playhouse...Ridgewood, N. J.
Perkins...Mountain, J.
Lyric...Hackensack, N. J.
Atlantic...Spring Lake, N. J.
Gem...Belmar, N. J.
Regent...New Bright, N. J.
Grand...Trenton, N. J.

(Continued next page)
The New Edition of THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD.

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

August 10, 1918

New England States

Ideal...Milford, Mass.
Colonial...Andover, Mass.
Empire...Portsmouth, N.H.
Smith's...Woonsocket, R.I.
Scollay Square...Boston, Mass.

West Va. & Western Pa.

Consisting of and including Fulton, Huntington and Potter County

New Colonia...Bluefield, W. Va.
Majestic...Rochester, Pa.
Rialto...Wilson, Pa.
Auditorium...Burgess Hill, W. Va.
Camden...Parkersburg, W. Va.
Strand...Indianapolis, Ind.
Bellevue...Belleville, Pa.
Gem...Mount Pleasant, Pa.
Hippodrome...Williamston, W. Va.
Rowland...Philippi, N. W. Va.
Whitney...Oceola Mills, Pa.
Nixon...Carrollton, Pa.
Globe...Uniontown, Pa.
Columbus...New Kensington, Pa.
Happy Hour...Ehrenburg, W. Pa.
Garden...Pittsburgh, Pa.
Regent...Pittsburgh, Pa.
Palace...S. Fork, Pa.
Pastime...Portage, Pa.
Martin...Lock Haven, Pa.
Strand...Brownsville, Pa.
Grand...Patton, Pa.
Commons...Hastings, Pa.
Jack Marks...Clarksburg, W. Va.

Eastern Pa.

Vicar...Manheim, Pa.
Grand...Ephrata, Pa.
Dix...Mountville, Pa.
Mammoth...Philadelphia, Pa.
Hippodrome...Pine Grove, Pa.
C. A...New Milford, Pa.
Leader...Philadelphia, Pa.

Germantown...Philadelphia, Pa.
Hamilton...Lancaster, Pa.
158 N. Queen St.
Arcade...Shenandoah, Pa.
New Majestic...Shamokin, Pa.
Arcade...Muncil, Pa.
Beaver...Harrisburg, Pa.
Opera House...Carlisle, Pa.
Arcade...Waysboro, Pa.
Strand...Easton, Pa.
Hippodrome...York, East. Pa.
Opera...Chambers, Eagles, Pa.
Riour Dreams...Million, East. Pa.
Opera House...Towanda, East. Pa.

Texas—Arkansas

Old Mill...Dallas, Tex.
Hippodrome...Waco, Tex.
Queen...Galveston, Tex.
Queen or Zee...Houston, Tex.
Grand...Paris, Tex.
Home...Honey Grove, Tex.
Queen...Bilhaen, Tex.
Green...El Paso, Tex.
Colony...Stamford, Tex.
Princess...Weathford, Tex.
Seniutwa...Seniutwa, Tex.
Royal...Brownwood, Tex.
Grand House...Colorado, Tex.
Gem...Stephenville, Tex.
Queen...Battier, Tex.
Eldorado...Annaville, Tex.
Star...Humble, Tex.
Queen...Tyler, Tex.
Best...Hillsho, Tex.
Empire...Hot Springs, Ark.
Princess...Hot Springs, Ark.
Majestic...Madianna, Ark.
Majestic...Clarendon, Ark.
Grand...Newport, Ark.
Best...Blakely, Ark.
Crazy...Mineral Wells, Tex.
Amus...Corpus Christi, Tex.
Palace...Carrollville, Tex.
Strand...Wills, Tex.
Strand or Hipp...Ft. Worth, Tex.
Airdrome...Cil Río, Tex.
King...Sherman, Tex.
Grand...Ennis, Tex.
Queen...Mark, Tex.
Princess...Denton, Tex.
Liberty...Orange, Tex.
Opera House...Mexia, Tex.
Texas Grand...Texas, Tex.
Peoples...Beaumont, Tex.
Alvordor...Alvordor, Tex.

Kentucky—Tennessee

Auditorium...Dawson Springs, Ky.
Lyric...L)+b, Tenn.
Palace...Tenn.
Strand...Knoxville, Tenn.
Lyric...Owingsville, Ky.
Ben Ali...Lexington, Ky.
Recreation Bldg...Jenkins, Ky.
Gem...Somerset, Ky.
Majestic...Memphis, Tenn.
Dix...Mt. Pleasant, Tenn.
Princess...Bowling Green, Ky.
Empire...Allendale, Ky.
Opera House...Allensville, Ky.
Perry...Hazard, Ky.
Manring...Middlesboro, Ky.
Gaines...Pineville, Ky.
Cumberland...Harlan, Ky.
Empress...Owensboro, Ky.
Capitol...Frankfort, Ky.
Washington O. H...Maysville, Ky.
Macon...City, Tenn.
Mary Anderson...Louisville, Ky.

Oklahoma

Murray...Lawton, Okla.
Mission...Ponca City, Okla.
ardin...Oklahoma, Okla.
El Reno...El Reno, Okla.
Pastime...Marlow, Okla.
San...Mo, Okla.
Lyric...Natonga, Okla.
Odeon...Battlewells, Okla.
Empress...Yale, Okla.
Olympia...Cleaveland, Okla.
Happy Hour...Hominy, Okla.
Auditorium...Sayre, Okla.
Broadway...Muskogee, Okla.
Majestic...Tulsa, Okla.
Budweiser...Shelby, Okla.
Yale...Claremore, Okla.
Grand...Vanita, Okla.
Liberty...Ata, Okla.
Palo...Oklahoma, Okla.
Quineley...Oklahoma City, Okla.
Liberty...Durain, Okla.
Main Street...Henryetta, Okla.
Cozy...Okmulgee, Okla.
Yale...Paul Valley, Okla.
Royal...Codd, Okla.
American...Enid, Okla.
Liberty...Hugo, Okla.
Empress...Sapulpa, Okla.
Empress...Oklahoma City, Okla.
New Garden...Stillwater, Okla.

Western Pa.

Grand...Knoll, Pa.
Lyric...Oil City, Pa.
Star...Warren, Pa.
Empire...Brusir, Pa.
Opera House...Emporium, Pa.
Cambia...Johnstown, Pa.
Albion...Charleston, W. Va.
North & South Carolina—Va.—

Fla.—Ala.—Ga.

Iris...Richmond, Va.
Empire...Winchester, Va.
Palace...Huntsville, Ala.
Murphy Opera House...Front Royal, Va.
New American...Columbus, Ga.
Strand...Tampa, Fla.
Carnival...New York, N. Y.
New...Woodstock, Va.
New Virginia...Harrisburg, Va.
Piedmont...Greensboro, N. C.
Paris...Durham, N. C.
Broadway...Winston-Salem, N. C.
Jefferson...Huntsville, Ala.
Empire...Montgomery, Ala.
Oliver...Altanta, Ga.
Duval...Jacksonville, Fla.
Alcohn...Dothan, Ala.
Majestic...Ashville, N. C.
American...Jacksonville, Fla.
Jefferson...Mt. Augustine, Ala.
Rialto...Atlanta, Ga.
Regale...Salem, S. C.

North Dakota

Lyceum...Kenmore, N. D.

Mississippi and Louisiana

Princess...Meridian, Miss.
Strand...Hattiesburg, Miss.
Louisiana...Baton Rouge, La.
Little Talks with Foreign Buyers—No. 16

By

President

"ADVERTISE!"

"MADE IN AMERICA" on a film is to all the world a mark of excellence. So many thousands of dollars have been spent in improving American films—making them photographically perfect, technically correct and giving them the finest acting talent to be had—that foreign publics prefer American pictures to any other. And the American producers have been wise enough to go out and secure stories of international appeal, as against those with the old, strictly national appeal. Small wonder that YOUR audiences enjoy every one of them! A good American picture is as sure of success in Paraguay as in Pennsylvania! Foreign distributors should stimulate their exhibitors to give American films the utmost publicity available. Encourage them to put out plenty of advertising matter, to buy space liberally in the local press and to persuade the editors to run attractive departments of picture news. The big word in picture exhibiting today is, ADVERTISE!

INTER-OCEAN FILM

"We Operate Everywhere"—Largest Distributors of Films in Foreign Fields and Sole Exporters of Speer Carbons and Pulco Accessories.

READY FOR WORLD SALE

ROPE! Here is a new way to capture Western badmen—Guaranteed successful if done as Anita King, "The Outdoor Girl" does it in her swift "Votes for Women" photo play entitled "PETTICOATS and POLITICS" a timely comedy-drama in which Miss King demonstrates the "superiority" of women by winning a "Sheriffship" and a husband as well. A clean and fascinating photo-play that will dispel that "tired" feeling. See it on Wednesday and Thursday ALHAMBRA THEATRE

Believing that we can make our advertising space of value to the exhibitor we are devoting it to practical demonstrations of the exploitation and advertising angles of the pictures we are distributing.

For example, the ad. above represents one advertising and selling angle of the first Plaza picture "Petticoats and Politics.

It brings out Anita King's athletic ability, the Western atmosphere, and one exciting incident in the picture.

We have made provisions to supply the above ad. in suitable sizes (single, double, and triple column) to any exhibitors wishing to make use of it. The electro's we will supply may be obtained in either 65 screen for newspaper work or finer to suit any purpose.

In our effort to make Hodkinson Service mean more than just pictures we shall be glad to receive any suggestions you may have.

W.W. Hodkinson Corp.
527 Fifth Avenue New York City

Hodkinson Service at all General Film Exchanges
Forging A New Link

Mr. Jesse D. Hampton's announcement that the distribution of his new productions with J. Warren Kerrigan will be handled through the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation adds another to the list of producers who realize that the Hodkinson Principles of Independence, fair dealing, equitable prices and genuine service to the exhibitor are the finest kind of foundation stones to build upon.

"Hodkinson Service" now consists of:

- J. Warren Kerrigan Productions, personally supervised by Mr. Jesse D. Hampton.
- Paralta Plays featuring Bessie Barriscale, Louise Glau and Henry B. Walthall.
- Douglass Natural Color Pictures, the crowning achievement in motion photography in natural colors, invented by Mr. Leon F. Douglass of "Victor Phonograph" fame. Initial production "Cupid Angling" with Ruth Roland.
- Plaza Pictures starring Anita King and Kathleen Clifford. First productions "Peticoats and Politics" with Anita King and "Angel Child" with Kathleen Clifford.

This expansion of Hodkinson Service means more than the doubling of an output. It indicates the Hodkinson Co-Partnership Plan is bearing fruit and receiving such actual and physical support from the industry as to make possible our rapid and continuous expansion.

W. W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 FIFTH AVE. NEW YORK CITY

Distributors of Hodkinson Service consisting of Paralta Plays, Plaza Pictures. J. D. Hampton-Kerrigan Pictures, Douglass Natural Color Pictures at all General Film Exchanges
BESSIE BARRISCALE

IN

"Maid O' the Storm"

By

J. GRUBB ALEXANDER and FRED MYTON

Produced under the personal supervision of

ROBERT BRUNTON

Directed by Raymond B. West

As "Ariel," Bessie Barriscale is seen in the role of a little waif in a fishing village of Scotland, whose destiny is shaped by the falling of an aeroplane from the sky. How the little girl falls in love with the young aristocrat who is injured in the crash, and how she follows him to London, where she becomes the idol of that great city, presents Miss Barriscale in one of the most convincing roles in which she has appeared.

PARALTA PLAYS, Inc. 8 WEST 48th STREET NEW YORK CITY

Foreign Distributors: Inter-Ocean Film Corporation

Canadian Distributors: Globe Films, Ltd.
These Pictures are Dramas.

A Child Actress of Exquisite Personality is the Star.

There are Six Releases in the Series.

Promise Your Patronage An Oakdale Production
Every Other Week

July 20
The Locked Heart
August 3
No Children Wanted
August 17
Miss Mischief Maker

August 31
The Midnight Burglar
September 14
Little Miss Grown Up
September 28
Wanted—A Brother

There is something in each one of these pictures that evokes response. There is something in every Oakdale production that makes audiences feel better, happier and more appreciative. It is good business to show Oakdale Productions.
Colored people are funny. If colored people weren't funny, there would be no plantation melodies, no banjoes, no cake walks, no buck and wing dancing, no jazz bands, no minstrel shows and no black-face vaudeville.

And They Are Funny in the Studio

Here Are Real Colored People in Pictures!

The Janitor
A Reckless Rover
Some Baby
Mercy, the Mummy Mumbled
Luck in Old Clothes
The Porters
When You Hit—Hit Hard
A Black and Tan Mix Up
Are Working Girls Safe?
A Busted Romance
Spooks

This novelty brings to the screen the inimitable humor of the race in a weekly comedy release that amuses in a most characteristic manner.

Every showhouse ought to have a day for EBONY COMEDIES—the kind that make people laugh.

Produced by EBONY FILM CORPORATION Chicago, Ill.
-Twill burn in your brain forever!

-own down down down

"THE SINKING OF THE LUSITANIA"

The world's only record of the crime that shocked humanity

See it from beginning to end—the sailing, torpedoing, explosion, sinking, rescues, famous men and women who were lost—the most amazing picture ever shown. Authentic to the last detail. Once seen, never forgotten.

Your theatre name here

Book this Reel

Use these Ads.

JEWEL Productions

1600 Broadway, New York City
What did we tell you so!

The GEEZER

We told you so!

RECEIVED AT

T96 FBH 23 3 EX
MILWAUKEE WIS 846PM JUL21 1918

JEWEL PRODUCTIONS INC
1600 BWAY NEW YORK

GEEZER OF BERLIN GREATEST COMEDY EVER SEEN IN THIS HOUSE

INTENSE INTEREST START TO FINISH PHOTOGRAPHY WONDERFUL ABSOLUT

KNOCOUT PACKED EM TO CAPACITY BIGGEST RETURNS ON ANY COMEDY

WE EVER PLAYED

CHAS C PERRY
MGR STRAND THEATRE 1030PM
We told you about "of BERLIN"

We told you that "The KAISER, the BEAST of BERLIN" would pack 'em in— to see "The GEEZER of BERLIN"— the side-splitting Travesty on "The KAISER, the BEAST of BERLIN"

We told you so!

We told you that "The GEEZER of BERLIN" would be a sensational Comedy success. We told you it would go BIG. We told you that everybody who saw the "KAISER—the BEAST of BERLIN" would clamor to see "The GEEZER of BERLIN"

We told you so!

We told you to BOOK IT BY WIRE for the very good reason that the immense number of bookings already received demands that we accept bookings in rotation. It will "clean up" for you and we'll say "WE TOLD YOU SO" after you count up your profits. Wire your nearest JEWEL EXCHANGE

JEWEL PRODUCTIONS Inc. ~ 1600 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

BOOK NOW by Wire
MARTIN JOHNSON'S
"Cannibal Isles of the South Pacific"
A Pictorial Adventure Extraordinary —Enthusiastically Reviewed By Every Paper in New York.

—An Unprecedented Hit As The Feature at the Rivoli, New York.

—Over 50,000 Feet, to be cut into Different Lengths for Educational, Scientific and Amusement Purposes.

—Interesting, Thrilling, Amusing and the Acme of Artistic Achievement.

For Terms Address

Martin Johnson Film Co., Inc.
516 Candler Bldg. New York
A RIALTO DE-LUXE PRODUCTION

The splendid reception accorded by leading photoplay theaters to the initial Rialto-De Luxe production presenting Grace Valentine in "The Unchastened Woman," will be repeated in the second offering.

MARGUERITE MARSH in
"CONQUERED HEARTS"

"It's a bully I want after all."

A beautiful photoplay of thrills, tears and smiles—wherein a beautiful girl rejects a coronet for love.

Directed by Francis J. Grandon
Distributed by
GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM
Exchanges everywhere
D. W. GRIFFITH

Presents

"The Great Love"

In Seven Reels

IN A STRANGE STORY BROUGHT OUT BY THE CYCLONIC EVENTS OF THE DAY—

We Have Tried At All Times to Give You Our Best

ASIDE FROM THE CAST OF WELL KNOWN PLAYERS IN OUR LITTLE PLAY WE HAVE SOME OF THE MOST FAMOUS SOCIETY WOMEN OF ENGLAND, INCLUDING QUEEN ALEXANDRA, LADY DIANA MANNERS, PRINCESS OF MONACO, ELIZABETH ASQUITH, COUNTESS OF DROGHDA, COUNTESS OF MASSARENE, HON. MRS. MONTAGUE, MISS VIOLET KEPPEL, MISS BETTINA STUART WORTLEY, LADY LAVVERY, APPEARING IN BEHALF OF WAR CHARITIES.

Again we have the pleasure of picturizing MR. HENRY WALTHALL, to whom we owe a debt of gratitude for so many exquisite performances in the past, including the Little Colonel in "The Birth of a Nation," also,

MISS LILLIAN GISH, who created a real sensation as The Girl in "HEARTS OF THE WORLD," where her acting proved to be a revelation.

ROBERT HARION, whose acting is so natural that it conceals acting, is again with us.

ROSEMARY THEBY, who plays in splendid contrast on the thunder theme opposite the part created by Miss Gish.

GEORGE SIEGMANN, who is remembered as Silas Lynch in "THE BIRTH OF A NATION" and Von Strohm in "HEARTS OF THE WORLD," also plays an important role, also GEORGE FAWCETT, the eminent character actor.

GLORIA HOPE and MAXFIELD STANLEY.

WE HAVE DEVOTED THE SAME CARE AND ATTENTION TO "THE GREAT LOVE" AS WE DID TO "HEARTS OF THE WORLD"

"THE GREAT LOVE" is timed 14 minutes to the reel, with seventy-five turns to the minute on the Sixth Reel.

The same people who arranged the famous music for "HEARTS OF THE WORLD" also arranged the musical score for "THE GREAT LOVE," and a copy is sent with every print.

WE SEND "THE GREAT LOVE" TO YOU WITH ONE HOPE—THAT IT WILL BRING YOU SUCCESS.

RELEASE DATE, AUGUST 12th—BY ARTCRAFT SINCERELY.

All the Griffith Productions are Directed Personally by Mr. Griffith and carry the Griffith Trade Mark—"DG"—on the border line of the Main Title.
D. W. GRIFFITH’
"The Great Love"

IN SEVEN REELS — RUNNING TIME
ONE HOUR AND THIRTY-EIGHT MINUTES

A Beautiful Love Story Against a Background of the Cyclonic Events of Today—Taking Place in the Great Amphitheatre of the World’s Struggle.

LOVE. THRILLS. COMEDY. ROMANCE

See how Jim Young, of Youngstown, Pennsylvania, matches skill and brains against a Prussian Plot to wreck the city of London.

See the sailing of the great fleet of Zeppelins; the swirl of the German air squadrons sweeping the sky and the glare of bursting shrapnel.

See how noble women of England are fighting side by side with our heroine in our little play.

Extraordinary as it may seem—a story taken from actual events.

Glories—thrills—excitement—on the stage of now, where Fate, the Greatest Director, is putting on the most magnificent drama the world has ever seen.

The Music for Every Scene in “THE GREAT LOVE” Is Timed to the Second.

RELEASED AUGUST 12th, THROUGH ARTCRAFT

D. W. GRIFFITH FILMS

All the Griffith Productions are Directed Personally by Mr. Griffith and carry the Griffith Trade Mark—“DG”—on the border line of the Main Title.

A. L. GREY, GENERAL MANAGER
BUSINESS ADDRESS, 720 LONGACRE BLDG.
NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Lillian Gish

LILLIAN GISH has proven that she is not only beautiful, but as a dramatic actress in the art of real acting, so natural that it does not appear to be acting, she stands unsurpassed.

You have seen her in "THE BIRTH OF A NATION" and in "HEARTS OF THE WORLD," where she proved a revelation.

SHE IS NOW TO BE SEEN IN

D. W. GRIFFITH'S

FIRST OF A SHORT SERIES OF ARTCRAFT PRODUCTIONS

"The Great Love"

A Drama of Today

A FEW NOTES FROM THE GREAT PAEN OF PRAISE SOUNDING FROM EAST TO WEST.

"This Gish is a comely thing and intrigues me. As the heroine of Prof. Griffith's movie, she reveals herself as its most spectacular feature."

GEORGE J. NATHAN.

"Lillian Gish is exquisitely sympathetic. Her emotions stand forth with expressions as eloquent as they are silent."

NEW YORK HERALD.

"The acting of Lillian Gish as the simple little peasant girl, as the budding woman, then the dementia of extreme suffering, back to normality and happiness, EXCEEDS ANYTHING I HAVE EVER SEEN ON STAGE OR SCREEN."

ANNA MOODY LAWRENCE, Chicago Post.

"Lillian Gish scores as the heroine of the sweetest, most sublime appeal. There is something DIVINE about her portrayal of the Girl of France."

WASHINGTON HERALD.

"She plays fine and subtle harmonies upon the heart-strings of all who watch her."

PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER.

"Lillian Gish possesses a beautiful tragic mien which puts her among the foremost dramatic stars of all time."

FLORENCE LAWRENCE, L. A. Examiner.
You are familiar with ROBERT HARRON'S Work.
Seven Years ago he started with Mr. Griffith at the old Biograph Studios

A FEW EXCERPTS FROM THE DRAMATIC CRITICS
THROUGHOUT THE LAND

"ROBERT HARRON plays his part with wonderful intelligence in a language that all can understand. He dignifies the screen."

T. E. OLIPHANT, "New York Mail."

"ROBERT HARRON—a wonderful artist."

"New York Times."

"ROBERT HARRON, a clean-cut hero, does the most wonderful work ever seen."

KITTY KELLY, "Chicago Examiner."

"ROBERT HARRON exhibits marvelous talent."

TAMAR LANE, "Boston Record."

"ROBERT HARRON does the best work of his career—his acting is superb."

W. K. HOLLANDER, "Chicago News."

"ROBERT HARRON as the young American dominates the story. His work is a revelation."

"Philadelphia Ledger."

"ROBERT HARRON, the greatest of all screen actors. His work will live as a classic."

MONROE LATHROP, "Los Angeles Express."

You Have Seen Him in "INTOLERANCE" and "HEARTS OF THE WORLD";
Now See Him as the Young American in

D. W. GRIFFITH'S
FIRST OF A SHORT SERIES OF ARTCRAFT PRODUCTIONS

"The Great Love"

In Seven Reels

Release Date, August 12th—Through the Artcraft

All the Griffith Productions are Directed Personally by Mr. Griffith and carry the Griffith Trade Mark—"DG"—on the border line of the Main Title.

D. W. GRIFFITH FILMS
A. L. GREY, GENERAL MANAGER
720 LONGACRE BUILDING, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Announcing a New Policy Menu
Exhibitors of the United

Twelve of the Most Powerful
With Tremendous Advertising Possibilities Booked

TEN ($10) TWENTY ($20)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NOT A STOCK SELLING PROPOSITION</th>
<th>SENSATIONAL ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN ON EACH PRODUCTION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NOW BOOKING UNDER 12 PICTURE CONTRACT AT $10—$20—$30 PER DAY</td>
<td>COMPLETE AND EFFICIENT REPRESENTATION THROUGHOUT AMERICA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HIGH CLASS PRODUCTION QUALITY INSURED BY RECOGNIZED GREATNESS OF PRODUCERS</td>
<td>EXHIBITORS PROTECTED BY 2 PICTURE CANCELLATION CLAUSE</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BOX OFFICE VALUE GUARANTEED BY LIVE ADVERTISING POSSIBILITIES OF SUBJECTS</td>
<td>CONTRACTS FOR 12 PICTURES AT $10—$20—$30 OPEN TO ALL</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WRITE US IMMEDIATELY

PRODUCERS' DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

FRANK G. HALL, President

130 WEST 46th STREET, NEW YORK
ing Thousands of Dollars to the States and Canada

"BIG SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS"
That America’s Greatest Directors Can Produce

Fixed Prices of

THIRTY ($30) DOLLARS PER DAY

These Remarkable Theatre-Profit Prices Are Possible Because of OUR POLICY of

"Producer to Exhibitor Direct"

Which Eliminates the Middleman and Reduces Distribution Costs to the Minimum.

Because of Our Special Contract

Which Covers the Complete Set of Twelve Pictures (one a month for one year), making it unnecessary to sign up each theatre anew for each production.

And Because

The Great Demand for Extra Attractions of exceptional box office value makes them do a much larger volume of business than ordinary program pictures.

WRITE US IMMEDIATELY

PRODUCERS’ DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
FRANK G. HALL, President

130 WEST 46th STREET, NEW YORK
THE MOST REFRESHING PERSONALITY ON THE SCREEN

Lillian Walker
In a Series of Eight Happy Pictures

With audiences everywhere seeking forgetfulness and relief in the softer, brighter things of life, the announcement that this delightful comedienne is to be presented in a series of sunny, human pictures, will be welcome news to her many admirers the country over.

These productions, the first of which is nearing completion, will be marked by a freshness of appeal and consistency of quality, that will give a new impetus to the drawing power of the screen.

Distribution of the pictures will be through that channel which gives the best assurance of meeting the demand of the industry for a closer relationship between exhibitor and producer.

Lillian Walker Pictures Corporation
Lester Park, President
501 Fifth Avenue - - - New York
Discriminating Exhibitors whose good judgment in the selection of truly fine photoplays mark their Houses as individual and successful, have welcomed the advent of Universal Special Attractions.

In these de luxe productions, Exhibitors have foreseen the coming of photo dramatic offerings of a highly specialized character, at once distinctive and individual. View each of these unusual pictures at your earliest opportunity.

- Dorothy Phillips in “The Mortgaged Wife”
- Mae Murray in “Her Body in Bond”
- Priscilla Dean in “The Two-Soul Woman”
- Harry Carey in “Hell Bent”
- Herbert Rawlinson in “Smashing Through”
- Mary MacLaren in “The Model’s Confession”

Each Special Attraction is offered entirely on its own merits; no production having any bearing or connection in any manner with any other. Your personal inspection of each play is invited. That is the right way to enable you to determine the value of each. An appointment at your nearest Universal Exchange can be arranged to suit your convenience.

UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO.
Carl Laemmle, Pres., 1600 B’way, N. Y.
MADGE KENNEDY
in a scene from "THE KINGDOM OF YOUTH"

"This is a Goldwyn Year"

THE world demands laughter. Millions of Americans have welcomed Madge Kennedy because she brought them relaxation and happiness. She has charm and youth and a gorgeous sense of comedy.

"THE KINGDOM OF YOUTH"
By Charles A. Logue  Directed by Clarence G. Badger is her first production of the new season under the Goldwyn Star Series policy. And our greatest proof of her popularity is that exhibitors are spending their money liberally in advertising her because her name draws the crowds into the theatres. Released September 23.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION
Samuel Goldwyn  President  Edgar Selwyn  Vice President
16 East 42nd Street  New York City
GERALDINE FARRAR, in a scene from "THE TURN OF THE WHEEL"

This is a Goldwyn Year

A YOUNG AMERICAN sits on "The Seat of Forgetfulness" in Monte Carlo cleaned of his last penny—ready for the end.

A beautiful girl lends him 500 francs. He breaks the bank. An instant later he and the girl he had never seen before are arrested for murder. This scene begins Geraldine Farrar's tremendously powerful story.

"THE TURN OF THE WHEEL"

By Tex Charwate
Directed by Reginald Barker

A story selected by 200 exhibitors. Released September 2.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION
Samuel Goldwyn, President
Edgar Selwyn, Vice President
16 East 42nd Street
New York City

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
"SMILING BILL" PARSONS

in a scene from a recent CAPITOL COMEDY

26 Capitol Comedies: One Every Second Monday. Released exclusively through Goldwyn.

NAME us another comedian who has become nationally-famous and sought-after by 2,000 exhibitors after releasing but six comedies!

"SMILING BILL" PARSONS

has done this—establishing a new record in gaining instant public liking and approval. You can book his comedies independent of any other product. Goldwyn controls exclusively their world-wide distribution.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

16 East 42nd Street New York City
"What Does a Woman Need Most—"

A six-reel photoplay accompanied by a lecture on the vital problem of "SAVING THE CHILDREN OF OUR COUNTRY."

Approved by the Government. They urge "this work, which is of great value, be carried on throughout the country; there is no more constructive way to bring this important question before the public."

The film and lecture answer the title question—what a woman needs most for her health and happiness and completeness of her life is children. On this theme a film of absorbing interest has been built and it has proven exuberant in the public interest that it has aroused and it has drawn packed houses wherever it has been shown.

Attractive Advertising Matter Available—Press Book.

This feature will be distributed on the percentage basis thru the

Psycho - Analytic Research Association

1510 South 22nd Street, Lincoln, Neb.

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
Announcing

MISS GAIL KANE

In a series of eight superior productions—pictures of unusual merit and extraordinary star value.

Available at intervals of six and eight weeks at exchanges of the MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION

First release
"LOVE'S LAW"
September First
EDNA GOODRICH

Regal Beauty of the Stage and Screen

in

"Her Husband's Honor"

STORY BY MAIBELLE HEIKES JUSTICE

A five part drama in which an extravagant, thoughtless society woman redeems herself and saves her husband from ruin and disgrace.

Available August the Fourth at MUTUAL FILM EXCHANGES
First—Last—and Only "Ad"

"MOTHERS OF LIBERTY"

Produced by Royal Cinema Corp.

(Book This Wonderful Attraction)

Exclusive Rights Controlled by

New England States
MAJOR FILMS CO.
10 Piedmont St., Boston, Mass.

Greater New York and Northern New Jersey
MOTHERS OF LIBERTY PICTURE CO.
145 West 45th St., N. Y.

New York State (Outside Greater New York)
DOO-LEE FILM CO.
145 South Warren St., Syracuse, N. Y.

Eastern Penn. and Southern N. J.
ELECTRIC THEATRE SUPPLY CO.

Western Penn. and West Virginia
QUALITY FILM CO.
411 Ferry Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan
STANDARD FILM SERVICE CO.
316 Sloan Bldg., Cleveland, O.

Missouri and Kansas
CAMP-BELL CO.
211 Ozark Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota,
Iowa and Nebraska
ELLIOTT & SHERMAN FILM CORP.
Produce Exchange Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.

Foreign Rights, Trans Russian Film Corp., 1476 Broadway, New York

Distributed by

MONOPOL PICTURES CO.
1476 Broadway, New York
AS AN INTERPRETER

between the hundreds of manufacturers and distributors of moving picture films, accessories, etc., and the thousands of Exhibitors throughout the world, the Moving Picture World is incomparable.

The SERVICE TO EXHIBITORS as found in the various departments of this publication have proven their worth whenever or wherever adopted.

The fact that the Moving Picture World is published at least forty-eight (48) hours before any other publication each week, is an added advantage its subscribers have in getting ALL THE NEWS FIRST.

When you read it in the "World," you know its right.

Subscription Price
Domestic ............... $3.00
Canada ................ 3.50
Foreign ............... 4.00
TO EXHIBITORS OF AMERICA:

In fixing the policy of Fox Film Corporation for next season I have carefully considered the requirements of the trade and the demands of the public.

Every owner of a motion picture theatre has a problem. Our policy has been arranged to give the best service and to enable the exhibitor to make a handsome profit. Our 1918-1919 productions are the best the Corporation has produced in its five years in business.

FOUR BIG TIMELY PICTURES

We have produced four pictures on a big scale which we are confident will create prestige and big box office receipts for every exhibitor who books them.

1. WHY AMERICA WILL WIN! Based on the life of General Pershing. This intimate romantic story of General Pershing’s rise from a barefoot Missouri lad to the command of the American Army in France, is a carefully prepared, authentic life history of the famous soldier. You will see Pershing on the Missouri farm, later as a school teacher, his life at West Point, as an Indian fighter, in the Spanish War, U. S. Military Attaché in Japan, taming the Moros in the Philippine Islands, on the Mexican frontier and later in England and France. Staged by Richard Stanton. Seven reels.

2. QUEEN OF THE SEA, with Annette Kellerman. A sub-sea fantasy in six reels. A wonderful scenic conception in which Miss Kellerman displays daring in aquatic stunts. The story and supporting cast are in keeping with the tone of an Extraordinary Production. QUEEN OF THE SEA is bound to repeat box office records created by "A Daughter of the Gods." This picture will be released on a rental basis.

3. THE PRUSSIAN CUR. Staged by R. A. Walsh. Enacted by a big cast, including Miriam Cooper and based on revelations made by Captain Horst von der Goltz, confidential agent of Ambassador Count von Bernstorff, and conspirator against the United States who was condemned to die as a spy in the Tower of London in 1915. Captain von der Goltz was released to testify against the Welland Canal dynamite plotters in the United States Courts, and his amazing exposures are recited in a thrilling manner under the skillful handling of Mr. Walsh. The PRUSSIAN CUR reveals the Kaiser’s plots against America. For the first time it lays bare the schemes of the Kaiser and his agents in destroying factories, creating opposition to the Government, purchasing of newspapers, crippling of ships and the attempt to interfere with the Draft.

4. WHY I WOULD NOT MARRY. A striking, timely, morality picture produced along unique, unusual lines, with a box office appeal for men, women and children. The story is that of the most beautiful woman on earth who had seen all phases and conditions of high life; who knew men of all classes; whose whims and caprices had been satisfied in the most luxurious manner. The reason she would not marry is graphically pictured and lends itself to colossal box office possibilities. Six reels.

In a few weeks we will announce the release date of the Theodore Roosevelt film, “Put the Flag on the Firing Line.”

STANDARD PICTURES

There will be 26 Standard Pictures released during the season beginning September 1st, 1918. No cost is too great for Standard Pictures. Among the stars who will appear in this group are Theda Bara, William Farnum and others.

VICTORY PICTURES

There will be 26 Victory Pictures in which Tom Mix, Gladys Brockwell, George Walsh and others are grouped.

EXCEL PICTURES

There will be 26 Excel Pictures in which Virginia Pearson, Peggy Hyland, Jewel Carmen, Jane and Katherine Lee and others will appear.

SUNSHINE COMEDIES

There will be 26 Sunshine Comedies produced under the masterful supervision of Henry Lehrman.

MUTT AND JEFF ANIMATED CARTOONS

There will be 52 Mutt and Jeff Cartoons released at the rate of one a week. Our Branch Managers now have full details and will be pleased to explain our policy. We advise you to get in touch with them.

WILLIAM FOX.
FALL FEATURE RELEASES OF FOX FILM CORPORATION

Four Big Timely Pictures

Sept. 1—QUEEN OF THE SEA, with Annette Kellerman.
WHY AMERICA WILL WIN! Based on life of General Pershing.
THE PRUSSIAN CUR—Expose of Ambassador von Bernstorff.
WHY I WOULD NOT MARRY—
A story of the world’s most beautiful woman and her life problem.

Standard Pictures

Sept. 1—William Farnum in RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE.
15—Theda Bara in WHEN A WOMAN SINS.
29—THE CAILLAUX CASE.
Oct. 13—William Farnum in THE RAINBOW TRAIL.
27—Theda Bara in THE SHE-DEVIL.

Victory Pictures

Sept. 8—Tom Mix in FAME AND FORTUNE.
22—Gladys Brockwell in KULTUR.
Oct. 6—George Walsh in I’LL SAY SO.
20—Tom Mix in MR. LOGAN, U. S. A.
Nov. 3—Gladys Brockwell in THE STRANGE WOMAN.

Excel Pictures

Sept. 1—Jewel Carmen in LAWLESS LOVE.
15—Virginia Pearson in QUEEN OF HEARTS.
29—Peggy Hyland in MARRIAGES ARE MADE.

SUMMARY FOX POLICY 1918-1919

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Amount</th>
<th>Totals</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>BIG TIMELY PICTURES</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STANDARD PICTURES</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Theda Bara, William Farnum and others</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VICTORY PICTURES</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>George Walsh, Gladys Brockwell, Tom Mix and others</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EXCEL PICTURES</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Virginia Pearson, Peggy Hyland, Jewel Carmen and others</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SUNSHINE COMEDIES</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUTT AND JEFF ANIMATED CARTOONS</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Totals - 102
WILLIAM FARNUM DE LUXE PRODUCTIONS

The popular appeal of William Farnum is as wide as the joys, sorrows and aspirations of human hearts. As the peerless portrayer of all that is fine and strong in American manhood, he commands a motion picture patronage that is absolutely certain to fill every theatre in which he appears.

Now, to "Les Miserables," "True Blue," "When a Man Sees Red," "Rough and Ready," "The Bondman," "A Soldier's Oath," and many other sterling productions, Mr. Farnum has added four great romances by Zane Grey, America's foremost writer of Western novels. These stories have been read by millions. They have been advertised in every town and city. Millions want to see the plays.

The William Farnum De Luxe Production scheduled for release in September is:

RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE, by Zane Grey.

This stirring tale is universally recognized as one of the greatest Western stories ever written. As "Lassiter, the Avenger of the Utah Border," Mr. Farnum has scored the supreme character achievement of his career. "Riders of the Purple Sage" is as big as the West itself. Its showing will be one of the outstanding film events of the coming year.

"Riders of the Purple Sage" will be followed by its gripping sequel, "THE RAINBOW TRAIL," and later by "THE LONE-STAR RANGER" and "THE LAST OF THE DUANES." To this wonderful Zane Grey series will be added other Farnum attractions of surpassing interest and drawing power.
NEW FOX POLICY
SEASON 1918-1919

THEDA BARA SUPER-PRODUCTIONS

For the filming of these splendid photodramas, William Fox has taken as his slogan, "The Best That Brains and Money Can Make."

Theda Bara stands today at the top of her profession—universally acclaimed as the foremost screen interpreter of feminine emotions. Her name has become a synonym for big, stirring, money-making productions, and her list of powerful dramatic roles includes the greatest classics of the world.

During the season of 1918-1919, Miss Bara will appear in eight new Standard Pictures. These plays will be the strongest attractions that William Fox can find for her in history, literature and present-day life.

The Theda Bara Super-Production scheduled for release in September is:

WHEN A WOMAN SINS, by Betta Breuil.

This vivid drama pictures a passionate soul's wild struggle for love against the restrictions of her stifling environment. When her untamed impulses batter down the walls of convention and bring upon her the scorn and contumely of the world, she defies smug opinion and goes the wanton way. But at last comes love and the balm of regeneration.

"When a Woman Sins" will be followed in October by THE SHE-DEVIL, by E. G. Hopkins, a vivid story of a charming vixen's escapades in Paris and Madrid.
Victory Pictures

This superb group of attractions has been established because the achievements and the vast popularity of Gladys Brockwell, Tom Mix and George Walsh make a step forward and upward absolutely necessary.

In answer to the demand of exhibitors and public that these stars be shown in more pretentious productions, William Fox now offers his first three Victory Pictures.

Who started the World War? A new angle of this vital question appears in the strange romance of Emperor Franz Josef's beautiful favorite, who played into the hands of the Huns. In this amazing, intimate revelation of love, scandal and secret politics, Miss Brockwell scores the greatest popular triumph of her career.

Tom Mix in Fame and Fortune, a dramatization of Charles Alden Seltzer's famous novel, "Slow Burgess."

Better even than "Ace High," "Western Blood" or "Cupid's Roundup," this is Tom Mix's greatest photoplay achievement. It has been produced on a scale of magnificence that guarantees a sure-fire run. "Fame and Fortune" places "the greatest cowboy actor" among the five biggest drawing cards on the screen.

George Walsh in I'll Say So, by Ralph Spence.

"Smiling" George Walsh, the dashing, good-humored, devil-may-care author of hair-raising dramatic escapades! In this breezy story of love, adventure and war, he is sure to go "over the top" with a smashing, full-house triumph.
EXHIBITORS are demanding something more than "program" pictures. They are demanding special attractions, played by stars who have pronounced ability and popularity in some definite type of screen production.

William Fox, recognizing that this demand means a general toning up of the motion picture art—higher, stricter standards—has raised Virginia Pearson, Peggy Hyland and Jewel Carmen into a special series of Excel Pictures. Other well known players will be added to this group.

First releases of these popular stars in their new series will be:

VIRGINIA PEARSON in QUEEN OF HEARTS, by Harry Hoyt. A gripping drama of mystery, love and crime. The heroine's father has been murdered. Three men who desire the hand of his daughter are suspected. Who is guilty—and who wins? The unravelling of this gripping tale is sure to be a big puller with the crowds.

PEGGY HYLAND in MARRIAGES ARE MADE, by E. Lloyd Sheldon. Sweet, winsome Peggy Hyland in another of those appealing romances that have won her millions of admirers! A story of love that had its way through the trapping of German spies. Brimful of punch, action, thrills and surprises.

JEWEL CARMEN in LAWLESS LOVE, by Max Brand. Miss Carmen is everywhere hailed as one of the most beautiful and talented young actresses on the screen. "Lawless Love" shows her in an absorbing, rapid-fire drama of a brave girl, a cad and a big, fighting man of the West.
FOUR GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS
FOR SEASON OF 1918-1919

WHY AMERICA WILL WIN

Based on the life of General John J. Pershing.
Goes straight to the hearts of one hundred million Americans.
Will be seen by every man, woman and child who has a friend or relative "over there."
Intimate history of most striking figure on earth.
Follows him from his native Missouri farm to West Point, to the Philippines, to Mexico — on to Berlin!
Reveals many absorbing Pershing facts hitherto unknown.
Staged by Richard Stanton and played by an all-star cast.
Absolutely certain to prove a popular sensation in every city, town and village in the United States.

BOOK IT NOW! — ANY FOX EXCHANGE
BEGINNING SEPTEMBER 1st

THE PRUSSIAN CUR

Amazing revelations of German spy system in America.
Based on far-reaching disclosures by Capt. Horst von der Goltz, for ten years a secret agent of the Kaiser.
Depicts on screen every dastardly crime of the Huns in this country.
Shows Capt. von der Goltz in person committing deeds that have maddened every loyal citizen.
Reviews fifty years of history and every phase of World War.
Portrays leaders of warring nations.
Paints beautiful romance of American girl and her soldier.
Written and staged by R. A. Walsh, featuring Miriam Cooper in leading feminine role.
More thrills, sensations and stupendous scenes than in any other motion picture ever filmed.

BOOK IT NOW! — ANY FOX EXCHANGE
BEGINNING SEPTEMBER 1st

QUEEN OF THE SEA

Annette Kellerman, world’s most shapely woman, in her supreme marine phantasy.
Bigger, costlier, more beautiful than even “A Daughter of the Gods.”
Famous star surrounded by great galaxy of ravishing, youthful nymphs.
Diving that eclipses in grace and daring best performances of most noted swimmers.
Modern Venus in submarine setting of impressive majesty.
Desperate combat between mermaids and sirens, beneath the waves.
Terrific storm at sea, shipwreck, stirring rescues, battles of men and demons of the deep.
Stupendous combination of feminine charms, thrilling adventures and natural grandeur that will pack any theatre to its 'doors.

BOOK IT NOW! — ANY FOX EXCHANGE
BEGINNING SEPTEMBER 1st

WHY I WOULD NOT MARRY

A story of the world’s most beautiful woman and her life problem.
The sensation of the year!
NEW FOX POLICY
SEASON 1918-1919

"ROARING LIONS IN MIDNIGHT EXPRESS"
THE NEXT

WILLIAM FOX presents

SUNSHINE

Henry Lehrman's Rainbow Girls in

COMEDIES

Book them now!
I AM VON DER GOLTZ, THE SPY.
I served the Kaiser for ten years as a secret agent in Europe, Mexico and the United States.
I was right-hand man to Ambassador Bernstorff.
I led the expedition to blow up the Welland Canal in Canada.
I was arrested in England and spent fifteen months in English prisons.
I escaped death in the Tower of London by coming to New York to testify against Capt. Hans Tauscher.

I now personally appear in
THE WILLIAM FOX PHOTPLAY
"THE PRUSSIAN CUR"
By R. A. Walsh

A Powerful Drama of the Hun Struggle for World Domain and of the Triumph of Democracy.
In this picture I am called "Otto the Skunk."
YOU CAN BOOK IT NOW

A BIG TIMELY FOX PICTURE

The Prussian Cur

Written and Staged by R. A. Walsh

In This Master-Drama of the War, Von der Goltz, the Spy, Appears in Person

He re-enacts with amazing realism the Destruction of munitions plants —
  Burning of factories and supplies —
  Wrecking of trains —
  Damaging of airplanes —
  Corrupting of public opinion —

He runs the entire gamut of dastardly outrages which have been committed, and now are being committed, in our midst at the behest of Kaiser Wilhelm, the Prussian Cur, who dreamed of world domain — but dreamed in vain!

Every American knows and shudders at the atrocities of enemies in France and Belgium.

"The Prussian Cur" exposes the crimes of enemies at home.

Book this tremendous attraction now — today — at your nearest Fox Exchange.

INDIVIDUAL BOOKINGS
NEW FOX POLICY
SEASON 1918-1919

WHY AMERICA

Presented by WILLIAM FOX
A Big Timely Picture
Based on the Life of GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING
The Man between Our Homes and the Huns
Staged by Richard Stanton

Advertised by Every Fresh Message from France
A Drama of This Hour---This Minute!
Ready for Bookings on the Open Market
NEW FOX POLICY
SEASON 1918-1919

WILL WIN!!

Battles with Indians, Moros, Spaniards, Mexicans

Mighty Combats on Western Front

Rulers Statesmen, War Leaders of Battling Nations

Sure Attraction for Every Man, Woman or Child with a Son or Brother "Over There"

Overwhelming Popular Hit—Bulging Profits Assured— for Your Theatre—Now!

INDIVIDUAL BOOKINGS BEGINNING SEPTEMBER 1 Queen

Presented by
WILLIAM FOX

You can contract for this subsea phantasy now at any Fox Exchange. Playing dates beginning September 1. Individual Bookings. of the Sea

KELLERMAN

NEW FOX POLICY
SEASON 1918-1919

KELLERMAN
NEW FOX POLICY
SEASON 1918-1919

ALL BUT HUMAN!

William Fox Presents
BUD FISHER'S
MUTT and JEFF
ANIMATED CARTOONS

52 Releases a Year 52
Growing Stronger Every Week

Book Them Now!

F O X
FILM CORPORATION
Fox Film Exchanges Encircle the Globe

United States

Atlanta, Ga., 111 Walton St.
Manager, SAM DENBOW, JR.
Boston, Mass., 54-56-58 Piedmont St.
Manager, WILLIAM D. SHAPIRO
Buffalo, N. Y., 209 Franklin St.
Manager, THOMAS BRADY
Chicago, Ill., Mailers Bldg.
Manager, HARRY W. WILLARD
Cincinnati, O., 412 Vine St.
Manager, LESTER STURM
Cleveland, O., 750 Prospect Ave.
Manager, SIDNEY ABEL
Dallas, Tex., 1907 Commerce St.
Manager, E. B. WACHTER
Detroit, Mich., Mack Building
Manager, FIELD CARMICHAEL
Denver, Colo., 1412 Welton St.
Manager, R. A. CHURCHILL
Indianapolis, Ind., 232 North Illinois St.
Manager, C. E. PENROD
Kansas City, Mo., 928 Main St.
Manager, C. W. YOUNG
Los Angeles, Cal., 734 S. Olive St.
Manager, M. A. WALSH
Minneapolis, Minn., 627 First Ave., N.
Manager, EDWARD S. FLYNN
New York, N. Y., 130 West 46th St.
Manager, LOUIS ROSENBLIT
Salt Lake City, Utah, 16 Exchange Place
Manager, JOSEPH B. RODEN
New Orleans, La., 832 Common St.
Manager, ALLAN S. MORITZ
Omaha, Neb., 315 S. 16th St.
Manager, SYDNEY MEYERS
Pittsburgh, Pa., 121 Fourth St.
Manager, FRANK C. BURHANS
Philadelphia, Pa., 1333 Vine St.
Manager, JACK LEVY
San Francisco, Cal., 243-245 Golden Gate Ave.
Manager, W. J. CITRON
Seattle, Wash., 2066 Third Ave.
Manager, ALBERT W. EDEN
St. Louis, Mo., 3632 Olive St.
Manager, D. M. THOMAS
Washington, D. C., 303 Ninth St.
Manager, C. F. Sennin

Canada

Montreal, Quebec, 322 St. Catherine St., West
Manager, MAURICE WEST
Toronto, Ontario, 21 Dundas St., East
Manager, BENJAMIN ROGERS
St. John, N. B., 19 Market Square
Manager, JOSEPH LEIBERMAN
Vancouver, B. C., 508-9-10 Orpheum Theatre Bldg.
DOMINION EXCLUSIVES, Ltd.
Winnipeg, 115 Phoenix Block
Calgary, 210 MacLeod Block
DOMINION EXCLUSIVES, Ltd.

General Offices, 130 West Forty-sixth Street, New York City
WILLIAM FOX, President

Europe

United Kingdom

London, 71-76 Old Compton St.
Manager, S. B. PHILLIPS
Liverpool, 15 Manchester St.
Manager, E. G. GRIFFIN
Manchester, 28 Deansgate Arcade, Deansgate E.
Manager, E. G. MILLOY
Newcastle-on-Tyne, 20 Westgate Road
Manager, J. WALKER
Leeds, 29 Albion Place
Manager, B. ISACS
Birmingham, 1-3 Temple St., New St.
Manager, GEORGE A. HOPTON
Cardiff, 9-5a Wharton St.
Glasgow, 73 Dundon St.
Manager, S. F. TURNER
Dublin, Dame House, 21-26 Dame St.
Manager, R. O'BRIEN

Spain and Portugal

Barcelona, Cinejito Ciento 369

Scandinavia and Russia

Stockholm, Sweden, Metropolitan, 3 Hollandaregat
Christiania, Norway, 5 Raadhus

Australasia

Sydney, N. S. W., Queen's Bldg., 306 Pitt St.
Manager, FREDERICK HUGHES
Adelaide, Peel St.
Manager, FRED GILL
Melbourne, Victoria, Elizabeth & Little Collins Sts.
Manager, S. ROSS SODEN
Brisbane, Kodak Bldg.
Manager, ARTHUR McQUEEN

New Zealand

Wellington, 65 Willis St.
Manager, H. CARR

South America—Brazil

Rio de Janeiro, Caixa Postal 988
Manager, ALBERTO ROSEVALD
Sao Paulo, Rua Santa Efigenia 77
Manager, J. DUBE

Argentina

Buenos Aires, 951 Calle Corrientes
Manager, E. A. TAUPIN
Rosario, San Lorenzo, 312
Manager, VENTURA RIVAS

Uruguay

Montevideo, 1439 Rio Negro
Manager, PEDRO DELCANTO

Chili, Peru and Bolivia

Empresa de Cinemas y Teatros, Ltd., Lima, Peru

WINFIELD R. SHEEHAN, General Manager
TO CONTENTS

Advertising Aids for Busy Managers... 885
Advertising for Exhibitors... 887
“America’s Answer” Housing Appeal... 881
Australian Notes... 886
Author of Serials, Pictiquesque Figures... 881
“Back to the Woods” (Goldwyn)... 882
“Beloved Blackmailer, The” (World)... 882
“Beyond the Shadows” (Triangle)... 881
Big Contracts for Three Theaters... 888
“Border Legion, The” (T. Hayes Hunter)... 882
“Bound in Morocco” (Aircraft)... 881
British Notes... 885
Canadian Managers Defend Action... 884
Carlyle, R. F. 884
Curtis’s, Mrs., Future Undecided... 887
Century and L-Ko Companies Expand... 885
Charles Fortland Exhibiting Film... 879
Chicago News Letter... 880
Clara Kimball Young Given Ovation... 882
Critical Reviews and Comments... 880
Dallas Give Much Space to Griffith Film... 873
Davis Brothers Sure Enough Old Timers... 886
Detroit Leads in First-Run Picture Shows... 878
Directors’ Advisory Board Calls for Scripts... 884
“Dream Lady, The” (Bluebird)... 881
Facts and Comments... 882
“Falten Angel, The” (Fox)... 882
Famous Players More Hall Board Drive... 880
“Fodera” (Paramount)... 884
Finlund Trade Notes of Work from Indiana... 875
Film Offerings at New York Theaters... 889
Foreign Trade Notes... 884
Fox Has Large Plans for 1918-19... 880

TO ADVERTISERS

CARBON & CARBON ACCESSORIES. National Carbon Co. 982
Spicer Carbon Co. 981

ELECTRICAL & MACH. EQUIPMENT. Amusement Supply Co 887
Hortor Electric Co. 988
Porter, H. F. 887
Swank, Lewis M 981
Traban, A. H. 881
United Theater Equipment Corp. 985

FILM EXCHANGES. Film Exchange, Inc., The... 980

LOBBY DISPLAYS. Kraus Mfg. Co. 881
Menger, Ring and Weinstein 889

MFRS. OF INDUSTRIAL PICTURES. Dunham Motion Picture Co. 981
Empire City Film Laboratories, Inc. 981
Evens Film Mfg. Co. 981
Eubank Co. 882
Hochwatt Film Mfg. Co. 888
Standard M. F. Co. 888

MFRS. OF MOVING PICTURES. Ebony Film Corp. 770
Essanay Film Mfg. Co. 743
Famous Players-Lasky Corp. 746-49
Fox to Increase Admission this Fall 847
Funkhouser Case Drags Out 826
“Gentleman’s Agreement, A” (Vitagraph)... 881
Gibbet of the Haworth, The” (Pathé)... 882
Give Us Action 831
Grinding the Crank 871
Hall Goes to Division of Films 817
“Hands Up!” (Pathé)... 881
Hedkisson Names Release Date for Plaza... 814
Houses, Two Up-To-Date 834
Hustling Hard to Win That Trophy 817
Indian Notes 854
Kirkpatrick Promoted by Mutual 856
Laemmle Shows Exhibitor How It’s Done 818
Libu’ Signs Over in New York 818
List of Current Film Release Dates 884, 886, 888, 890
Man Behind the Story, The 835
Manufacturers’ Advance Notes 850
“Man in the Arm Chair” (General Film)... 882
Metro Holds Third Annual Convention 815
Metro Man Visits Los Angeles 840
“Mickey” (W. H. Productions)... 880
“Miss Millions” for Division 2 814
Motion Picture Educator 855
Motion Picture Photography 841
Moving Picture Theater as War Aid 812
New Second Vice-President, a Rattlerman 877
News of Los Angeles and Vicinity 828
Ontario Men Get After Long Contracts 814
Out at the Rochester Plant 848

First National Exhibitors’ Circuit, Inc. 758-59, 761-61
Fox Film Corp. 758-60
Gaumont 731
Goldwyn Pictures Corp. 768-80
H. W. Griffith Films 731-61
Haworth Pictures Corp. 887
Ince, D. W. Letters for Division 2 814
Jewell Productions, Inc. 742, 771-73
Lillian Walker Film Co. 728
L-KO Comedies 733
Martin Johnson Film Co. 758
Metro Pictures Corp. 742-52
Monopol Pictures Corp. 780
Mutual Film Corp. 786-87
Oakdale Productions 763
Paradise Pictures, Inc. 765
Pathé Exchange, Inc., The 753-56
Producers Distributing Corp. 784-81
Psychographic Research, Inc. 787
Rialto De Luxe Productions 773
San Francisco Previews 766
Universal Film Mfg. Co. 783
W. W. Haskinson Corp. 740-47
W. H. Productions Co. 769

Classified Advertisements 883
Del Ruth, Houston 880
Eastman Kodak Co. 882
Harvey, Geo. L. 883
Legion of Honor... 880
H. W. Griffith Films 731-61
Haworth Pictures Corp. 887
Ince, D. W. Letters for Division 2 814
Jewell Productions, Inc. 742, 771-73
Lillian Walker Film Co. 728
L-KO Comedies 733
Martin Johnson Film Co. 758
Metro Pictures Corp. 742-52
Monopol Pictures Corp. 780
Mutual Film Corp. 786-87
Oakdale Productions 763
Paradise Pictures, Inc. 765
Pathé Exchange, Inc., The 753-56
Producers Distributing Corp. 784-81
Psychographic Research, Inc. 787
Rialto De Luxe Productions 773
San Francisco Previews 766
Universal Film Mfg. Co. 783
W. W. Haskinson Corp. 740-47
W. H. Productions Co. 769

MUSIC & MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS. American Photoplayer Co. 886
Brown & Sharpe, Inc. 886
Seaburg Piano Co. 886

PROJECTOR MACHINE MFRS. Power, Nicholas, Co. 981
Precision Machine Co. 885

The Advertisers Who Use the Columns of _The Moving Picture World_ Represent the “Class” of the Industry

We Exercise a Strict Supervision Over the Business Announcements Which We Print
This Protects the Prospective Purchaser
It Also Adds Force to Our Advertisers’ Messages
Jury Declares Sunday Shows Are Necessary

After Lexington Court Fines Ben Ali Theater $2, Two Other Defendants Secure Change of Venue and a Jury Acquittal Which Upsets Previous Interpretation of Blue Laws—Battle Not Over

In the cases against the Phoenix Amusement Company, and J. H. Stamper, Jr., of the Orpheum Theater, a jury in Magistrate Charles P. Dodd's court late yesterday afternoon found the defendants not guilty, declaring that under present war conditions picture shows on the Sabbath constituted a necessity, and were not a violation of the old blue laws which clearly set forth that only work of a necessary nature shall be done on the Sabbath.
The jury was composed of G. N. Sharp, E. P. Harrison, C. D. Calloway, Clarence Stivers, George Marrs and W. H. Boggs.

Following this decision Al Combs, of the laymen's committee, stated that the committee would probably bring further actions against the theaters, and an effort made to try the cases in another magistrate's court, and if no satisfactory arrangement were secured the cases would probably be taken before the circuit court.

In the three cases tried the exhibitors won two in Magistrate Dodd's court and lost one in Magistrate Boone's court. The latter refused to hear any evidence relative to whether pictures were necessary or not on the Sabbath, and merely considered evidence showing that the theaters operated on Sunday.

Churcmen Score Preliminary Victory.
The churchmen of Lexington have scored the first victory in the fight to establish the legality of Sunday shows, but indications are that both sides will make repeated trips across 'The Marse' before either side will become firmly entrenched. Both sides are bringing up their heaviest artillery and reinforcements, and a decisive legal battle is about to take place.

A jury was finally secured in Orville C. Boone's Magistrate's court. During the trial the court would listen to nothing concerning the necessity of Sunday shows, but merely the question of whether or not the statutes had been violated. The jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of the Ben Ali Theater which was tried separately, and a fine of $2 was imposed by Magistrate Boone, who had the privilege of fining $2 or $50, but placed the minimum. Under the law as written each ticket sold would constitute a separate offense, and on a minimum basis of $2 for each offense the churchmen could make the situation hard for the theaters.

The question of whether or not the business operated constituted a Sunday "necessity" failed to get to the jury, as the court contended that the only question at stake was whether or not the house was open for business, and whether business was actually transacted, as the ruling of the Court of Appeals in the Capital Theater case, of Frankfurt, was very clearly presented. Therefore, he refused testimony of several persons representing the defense.

Attorneys Ask for Change of Venue and Get It.
R. J. Colbert, attorney for the Phoenix Amusement Company, operating the Strand Theater and attorney George C. Webb, representing Manager J. H. Stamper, Jr., of the Orpheum Theater, when the cases were called against those two concerns, asked for a change of venue, claiming that they couldn't expect a fair trial before Justice Boone. An affidavit was filed by Mr. Colbert for John B. Elliot, of the Phoenix Amusement Company, in which the latter stated that he did not believe he could secure a fair trial in the court following the experiences of the Berryman Realty Company, owners of the Ben Ali Theater in the previous trials. It was alleged in the affidavit that Magistrate Boone had overruled the challenge of the defendant on this case, where a juror served who had both formed and expressed opinions in advance which were unfavorable to Sunday operations. It was also alleged that the court refused to consider any evidence whatsoever except as to the mere fact of whether the theater was open on the Sabbath. It was further alleged that at the conclusion of the evidence Justice Boone had his instructions already prepared and submitted them to the jury refusing all instruction of defendants, and not permitting the jury to consider all of the facts of the law in the case. It was claimed that under such conditions a fair trial could not be expected. Justice Boone transferred the cases to Magistrate Dodd, stating that he didn't consider the affidavits sufficient to require him to transfer the cases, but that he didn't care to sit in the cases under the circumstances of the men figuring that they couldn't get a fair deal at his hands.

When the cases were called on Magistrate Dodd's court attorneys for the commonwealth objected to all testimony except that proving actual operation of the houses, but Magistrate Dodd heard the witnesses regardless of the objections raised.

The principal testimony for the defense was rendered by Capt. J. W. Harding, commander at Camp Buell, Lexington, who held that Sunday theaters were absolutely necessary as soldiers must have recreation, such as the theaters afford.

Capt. F. W. Herslger, in charge of the army recruiting stations for the Eastern Division of Kentucky, gave similar testimony.

Woman Pleads for Sunday Shows for Girls.

Mrs. A. P. Harrison, of Lexington, chairman of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, honorary vice president of the Woman's Committee of the National Council of Defense, and chairman of the Kentucky Division of the Y. W. C. A., in charge of the Hostess House building at Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, testified for the defense. Mrs. Harrison stated that from her long experience as a civic leader she felt that Sunday amusements were necessary for girls on the Sabbath, and that picture shows are helpful for girls who work during the week, and therefore necessary for the good of the community.

The prosecution presented several witnesses who testified that they had purchased tickets and attended the shows on Sunday.

Richard C. Stoll, counsel for the defense, in making a statement said moving pictures are developers of morale among the people, and that the best way to develop morale at this time is to keep the people amused, and that at Camp Taylor, Louisville, the Government operates both picture theaters and vaudeville shows on Sunday to keep the soldiers interested, and that the commercial theaters are running.
war slides, and their houses are used by the four-hour speakers even on Sunday to aid in war work.

The defense is endeavoring to prove that Sunday shows are necessary as a business necessity, as necessary as labor, which is permitted on the Sabbath under the old blue laws. The prosecution is making no attempt really to fight this angle, but simply to point out the fact that Bill 41, which was open on Sunday, and that according to the Court of Appeals this constitutes unnecessary work on the Sabbath. However, that decision was some time ago and was not in a city where there is a military camp.

The outcome of the cases is set forth at the opening of this story.

Sunday Shows Legal in Philadelphia
Circuit Court So Decides, Provided Only They Are Properly Licensed Under Borough Law.

One of the most important decisions handed down in Pennsylvania was delivered by Judge McLaughry in the Circuit Court at Mercers, Pa., in the case of Farrell vs. Adler, Leslie and Stahl. The decision states that Sunday shows are legal under the Pennsylvania statutes providing they are properly licensed under the borough law. Judge McLaughry ruled that the boroughs are self-governing and that matters pertaining to the licensing of amusements comes properly under the borough's governing powers.

In the decision the Judge ruled that the act of May, 1913, providing for suppression here be effective in the boroughs, and that any person who commit such operation if the proper license has been granted, and that the entire matter is outside the court to interfere.

The decision came as the climax to a case which grew out of a decision rendered in a case under the motion picture shows in Farrell on Sundays. The borough authorities permitted their operation, but the case was appealed by various taxpayers on the ground that the State law was contrary to Sunday shows and that the local authorities were exceeding their authority in granting permission to operate on Sunday.

The decision makes it clear that Judge McLaughry's is the first definite ruling of the kind and will undoubtedly put an end to Sunday crusades from a legal point of view throughout the State. The motion picture men of Sharon have made application for a Sunday show and have been refused. The local authorities on advice of counsel will open their show, and the exhibitors feel that a sweeping victory has been won for them.

The decision favors Sunday operation in other industrial sections will undoubtedly take form in the near future and it is believed that it will not be long before the Sunday idea be accepted by the three counties in the State. All three have fought a hard fight and credit must be rendered them for taking the initiative in a matter which may have such far-reaching consequences.

Mr. Sybert is the type of exhibitor who shuns the idea of a Sunday show. He believes that the compromise which has resulted in the decision gives the power to the State to license the establishment at will, and that the State courthouse will have as great a power as the city in the enforcement of these laws.

Mr. Sybert is the type of exhibitor who shuns the idea of a Sunday show. He believes that the compromise which has resulted in the decision gives the power to the State to license the establishment at will, and that the State courthouse will have as great a power as the city in the enforcement of these laws.

Sunday Committee Gets Request for Aid
Believed Situation in Several States Indicates Prospects of Obtaining Legislation Favorable to Picture Interests.

At a meeting of the Sunday Opening Committee, held July 25 at the offices of Chairman Adolph Zukor, consideration was given to a request from representatives of the exhibitor associations which are about to launch a state wide campaign in the hope of securing the necessary legislation to legalize the showing of motion pictures on Sunday.

The committee designated Peter J. Scaife, newly elected president of the Motion Picture Producers' and Distributors' Association of America and first vice president of the National Association, to attend a meeting at Columbus, during the week, for the purpose of investigating the situation and reporting his recommendations to the committee.

The Sunday Opening Committee in addition to Chairman Zukor is composed of President William A. Brady, Walter W. Irwin, Lee A. Ochs and P. A. Powers, with Frederick H. Elliott as secretary. Reports presented at the meeting indicate there is a good opportunity to secure the enactment of new legislation permitting the theaters to be open on Sunday in several states where there has been conflicting decisions and differences of opinion as regards the enforcing of local regulations by the authorities.

Several states have already launched a campaign to forbid shows on Sunday, and there have been brought about due to war conditions will materially aid in the opening of theaters on Sunday.

The question has been raised in the Pennsylvania legislature as to whether George B. LaBarre, Director of Public Safety, Trenton, N. J., has recommended to the city commissioners that the motion picture theaters should be allowed to open on Sunday. This question has been answered negatively by Governor Rorer, who is now legal in the State of Pennsylvania if properly licensed under the laws of the governing municipalities, according to a decision which has just been handed down by Judge J. A. McLaughry at Midway, Pa. The decision in Pennsylvania means the contention of the motion picture interests in New York State which endeavored to secure the passage of a bill during the last session of the legislature at Albany providing for the operation of these shows on Sunday. This bill was passed by the Assembly, but was held up in the Senate.

The Sunday Opening Committee is preparing to make a sum up of the year's operations in the various states and plans to render co-operation wherever possible in the hope of securing legislation where necessary. The members of the committee are enthusiastic over the outlook and believe that the public and the press generally will welcome the inauguration of the state wide campaigns.

Ontario Men Get Alter Long Contracts

PRESIDENT A. BAILIE of the Motion Picture Exhibitors Protective Association of Ontario has launched an offensive against exchange companies in Canada whose policy is to encourage the signing by exhibitors of long-term contracts for service without the privilege of cancellation after a state period.

This summer a number of Canadian distributing companies have advertised arrangements for the supplying of pictures by the year and Bailie has attacked these companies. He has made a warning sent out to exhibitors' associations and made a personal appeal to the boroughs.

The new members would have the opportunity to take a long-term contract and letters Bailie warns all exhibitors to not sign any contract that does not contain a thirty-day cancellation clause.

"You might as well hand over your theater now if you sign up for a year with existing in the various states and plans to render co-operation wherever possible in the hope of securing legislation where necessary. The members of the committee are enthusiastic over the outlook and believe that the public and the press generally will welcome the inauguration of the state wide campaigns."

President Bailie says, "There are many exhibitors are inclined to consider long-term contracts because of the reduction in rates for quantity booking. But this is mere horse trading for the exhibitors. It is without the right to change his service if he wants to. It's like this: the exhibitor may get a good rate for pictures this year, but if all the exhibitors sign contracts, two or three large companies the 'independent exchanges' would be out of business next year and then the big concerns would have the exhibitors at their mercy."

President Bailie has been active in the matter. His letters have reached Montreal, Winnipeg and other distant cities, while nearly every exhibitor of Ontario has received his official warning. Bailie stands as a protector of the smaller exchanges, of which there are a number in Toronto. He claims that their existence means much to the welfare of the theaters.

This is practically the first occasion that the Ontario association has sought the cooperation of exhibitors in other Provinces of the Dominion.

Provincial Organization Establishes Headquarters.

Another development in the circles of the Ontario association has been the establishment of permanent headquarters in Toronto of the provincial organization. Thomas Scott, secretary of the Ontario association, has opened a permanent office in the clubrooms of the organization at 137 Yonge street. Incidentally, he is arranging to undertake the sale of provincial war tax tickets to all exhibitors. The target price of the ticket is $1, and the sale of these tickets, and it is believed the organization will reap quite a revenue from this source in the long run.

A number of members of the Ontario association have also been interested in the inquiry into the question of circuit or circuits. Secretary Scott has been looking into the matter, but no definite steps have been taken. A number of members are anxious to see the association take on the distribution of various productions now controlled in the United States by organizations of exhibitors.

Objection has been raised to the many requests received by exhibitors by private citizens for the presentation of special slides or trailers advertising various campaigns and coming events. President Bainie has announced his inten-tion of arranging for the approval of these slides and trailers by the Ontario association before they can be shown in a theater.

"America's Answer" Rousing Appeal to Patriots

Second Feature by Government Shows Where and How Men and Women Have Applied to Crushing the Hun

A

MERICANS" to Hun barbarism was pictured at George M. Cohan's theater, Sunday evening, before an invited audience and the theater was extended engage-ment. The number of seats which have been sold is a matter of fact there will be few seats available to the single ticket purchaser for some time—the house has been sold out for some weeks.

The Division of Films, Committee on Public Information, is handling this second release of Government production on its own account, along lines of promotion dictated by good showmanship and handled by real showmen. Charles S. Hart, director of the division, has surrounded himself with high-class men, such as George Bowles, Willard Coxey, Wallace Monroe plus practically all of the McCarthy forces who produced "The Birth of a Nation" with such un-disputed success.

Engagements in all of the large cities will be played with local patriotic societies co-operating with the Division of Films, and in this manner the greatest number of people in the shortest possible time will see with their own eyes what has been done with some of the billions the public has contributed in Liberty Loans; see hundreds of Yanks pass through the trenches; see the fruit of the march to the front trenches and come to grips with the wild Hun.

Sunday night's audience was enthusiastic to the limit of applause and cheers. Much as he will dislike the publicite, credit is due to S. L. Rothapel for framing an appropriate and stirring musical score and in fulfilling the function of "sound man" in a manner that reflected advance showmanship. Mr. Rothapel conducted the orchestra and collected the modicum of personal credit that was his just due. "Roxey" registered one hundred per cent, with none to deny him.

Picture Will Make You Dig Deeper.

You have contributed to Liberty Loans and are buying W. S. stickers should see "America's Answer." It will give you something to show your neighbor to do likewise. The wondrous accomplishments of the Government—servant of the people—in placing 1,250,000 men on foreign soil, to date, are visualized in an astounding manner.

We have, for instance, read that a million-dollar refrigerator plant has been built; that docks have been constructed, that munitions and guns have gone overboard in this country, and that you actually do, in "America's Answer," the astonishing things that have been accomplished. For miles the traveling camera discloses docks, double tracked and alive with men and machinery, acres and acres of steel construction appear as the re-refrigerating plant is built; engine boilers arrive on flat cars and are hoisted by traveling cranes, skidded across the vast expanse of a great locomotive works and land on the wheels and truck that await them.

How the men are fed, how their food is prepared and transported right into the front-line trenches; what has been accomplished to meet the emergency, and the care of the convalescent; the march of soldiers swinging along in lines that reach beyond the vision of the camera; lumbermen hewing trees and sawing them into planks in great mills built by Uncle Sam, hosts of horses; scores of motor-trucks, arriving boxed up ready to crank and "go to it"; trench digging and actual trench conditions of warfare; piles of shoes, hats and clothing sent back to French villages where they were seen to be no end to the details pictured in these reflections of the won-derful things our Government has accomplished.

"America's Answer" gives the death blow—the final walk of thought that motion pictures may not be essential in this world war. In no way under God's heaven, or by any other ingenuity of mankind could any work done 3,000 miles away be presented in absolutely convincing record to the individual American who has contributed the money—and the men. WILL.
Moving Picture Theater as War Aid

Theater Owner Declares Part It Has Played Entitles It to Special Consideration in the Scheme of Taxation for War Purposes

THE Moving Picture World is in receipt of a thoughtfully written communication from Mr. M. E. Comerford, a theater owner of Scranton, Pa., which should command attention of theater owners generally. It is Mr. Comerford’s belief that, in view of the important function the theater plays in our national life, it is being burdened by the Government in aiding the Government in the dissemination of information and in the direct selling of Liberty Bonds, that an additional burden which might impair its usefulness to the Government should not be placed upon it. Mr. Comerford suggests that, in the absence of a national organization of the trade to properly present the status and claims of the motion picture theater to the Ways and Means Committee, a meeting of theater men should be called to prepare such a statement as will impress the committee. As this matter is in the hands of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry any multiplication of representations would be confusing. Aside from Mr. Comerford’s argument is of value and is printed here:

Editor Moving Picture World, New York.
Dear Sir: It seems necessary at this time when a new war revenue bill is being framed that we should have this matter taken up.
In its attention to the moving picture business as to more fully serve the war purpose of the Government, it appears that the business is not being treated as it should be. Where the moving picture theaters have two distinct elements of usefulness for the Government in this war. One is the means provided to produce direct and indirect propaganda by the widespread use of the moving picture theater in the dissemination of war information. The other is the entertainment and amusement afforded by the Government to the public.
In the case of the former type of business, the moving picture theater has been of great value in the administration of the war. In the latter case, the moving picture business stands somewhat in an exclusive and unique position since, up to the present time, there is no other medium which may bring the animated form of propaganda to school officials and to influential citizens. It is largely due to the Government’s recognition of the importance of this business that the moving picture theaters are being hardly burdened with a tax.

Great Patriotic Stimulus

It is generally admitted that the value of war revenue representatives the utility of the moving picture theater needs encouragement in the matter of stimulating action in others in the encouragement of others which may be used by a directly proportionate to the houses or the income of the halls. It follows that any move which will tend to lessen the business at these halls by imposing increased war tax upon the proprietors and foreclose them to shift the same to the public will produce a demoralizing effect for the war work. It is the intent to destroy this very essential public utility needlessly possibly reducing the amount of revenue to be derived from this source of support for the business.

In the patriotic purpose of every moving picture theater proprietor
In the country to render maximum war service to the Government, and to aid and end war of all such houses have been given for Liberty Loans.
M. C. A., Red Cross, Knights of Columbus, and other campaigns.
"Your Minute Men" have been and are now using these theaters as a very essential means of bringing people together to hear the usefulness of the business.

"The Food and fuel administrators have distributed information from departments through thousands of theaters several times daily, and every patriotic move and program approved and sanctioned by Government. Inclusion of groups, either a selection of draft work and other moves, and patriotic lines handled by citizens, have been of a great extent carried forward by the means of publicity and assemblage erected by theaters.

Give Congress Information

Members of Congress having in hand the great work of shaping this new scheme of revenue tax for the Government, the Chairman of the Committee and the Secretary of the Treasury are certainly determined to be fair and just with the business in the world. But their work is mammoth in character, embracing many thousands of industrial, commercial, or other lines of action, and involving the gathering of many money totaling millions, and it is only just and equitable for all the theaters having this gigantic task in hand to comprehend the full elements of every group and to help the Government in the best way possible to the members of Congress and the Congressional committees such naturally associated with them, that their work will be an advantage to the trade as well will enable them to construct a revenue measure which will meet the wants of the public and entirely conserve and protect essential lines.

This duty is one of the most interesting and important associated with the moving picture theaters. This vast business represents investments of several billion dollar directly and indirectly, furnished profits equal for the world’s people for years.

Sincerely yours,
M. E. COMERFORD.

Scranton, July 20, 1918.

Famous Players Prepare Release Schedule
It Covers First Six Months of Coming Season—Company Issues Handy Booklet

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has prepared a schedule of releases, according to the stars, covering the first six months of its new year commencing September
1. From this announcement the exhibitor can lay out his exploitation plans for the next half year and is in a position to advertise the appearances of the various stars at dates.
Hustling Hard to Win That Trophy

First National Managers Speeding Up Salesmen in Effort to Win Bronze Table to Be Awarded by the Moving Picture World to Exchange Making Highest Percentage of Bookings Within Its Territory for "Pershing's Crusaders."

EVIDENTLY C. E. Holah, manager of the A. H. Blank Enterprises, holding the First National releases through Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas, is set upon getting that handsome trophy to be awarded by the Moving Picture World to the exchange making the highest percentage of bookings for "Pershing's Crusaders" within its territory. He backs up his telegram, printed last week, with a letter in which he offers additional details and writes:

"There is no use waiting for the names to go on the bronze tablet. Here they are: C. E. Holah, manager; S. F. Goldilain, Ralph B. Nunn, W. J. R. Collins, Harry Weinberg and Eddie Bonis, salesmen.

"We have thought it over and have decided that you may as well have it engraved right now, because Des Moines is going to do it eventually so why not? We like to oblige Mr. Holah, but we cannot send the trophy to him yet. You see, some of the other exchanges might find it out and quit hustling, and with every exchange naturally trying himself it would be a shame to check their ardor by sending the tablets now. That trophy is going to stay right here in New York until after September 1, and to judge from several of the letters received so far to Des Moines at all, for more than Mr. Holah seem confident that they can clean up their territory by the end of August. It begins to look as though the winner would have to book all the territories in some of your churches, not to mention Granges and Sunday School picnics for good measure.

Carey Wilson, of the New York State branch, is doing special cleverness with A. C. Fox, Malcom Williams, George Gordon, I. M. Schwartz and S. Keeley, getting after everyone in Illinois. He has a lot of territory to cover, but to judge from the Chicago papers Indianapolis is not going to be the only 100 per cent, plus exchange. Like Carey Wilson, he is going in for special advertising and has extra salesmen on the job.

Sol Lesser, chairman of the California division, United States Official War Films, a branch of the State Council of Defense, is not going to let the trophy go to a commercial exchange if he can help it. The offices of the California division, at 191 Golden Gate avenue, look like a political headquarters on the eve of election. "Pershing's Crusaders" was exhibited at the Columbia, San Francisco, for two weeks under the direct supervision of the Government, and is now being shown at the smaller city houses. In Oakland the cinema ran it for a second week because one week was not enough. Governor Stephens and Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, were on the opening day. The exchanges have been booked up rapidly throughout the state. Just as a sample of what they are doing out there, the earlier short lengths and the five-reel, "The Remaking of America," were given eight shows at the Fox, Jewett, Hoyt, Marsteller, 21 and War Review" is already booked in sixteen of the large houses.

Reserved Officers March to Show in Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh sent "Pershing's Crusaders" off to a wild hurrah at the Rowland and Clark theaters. The 300 members of the Reserve Officers Training Camp at Camp Carnegie marched the four miles to the theater on the opening day and were cheered all along the route. The officers in the theater did the best they could with another demonstration, and then they took their turn at cheering when the picture was shown. Pittsburgh has not announced what it is going to do—but it's doing it, none the less for the country. The film almost books itself, but this publication wants to see the film go into every possible house, and to that end the offer of a trophy was made, not so much as an incentive as to show its appreciation of the efforts made on behalf of the Government. Booking this film should be something more than a moneymaker for the exhibitor; it is the patriotic duty of every exhibitor to show to his patrons the results of Government preparation. German propaganda still continues, less patent, perhaps, than before the prison camps were established, but the more baffling because of that very sinesis. The pacifist, too, has not learned his lesson and continues to talk pessimism. The film is a direct answer to both of these. It does not tell what may be done. It shows what has been done, and shows it in the most unmea-sured manner.

We have the authority of William A. Brady for the statement that President Wilson himself regards the motion picture theater as a valuable adjunct to the press; perhaps an even more valuable one. "Picture World" says the graphic appeal is so much more powerful. The motion picture theatres have done their bit on the loan drive and other movements, and they can be a powerful factor for good, in bringing to the nation the spirit of the last hurrah of war. And in doing this they can clean up as they can clean up with no dramatic feature.

Even were no trophy offered we believe that patriotism and professional pride alike would supply the incentive for intense bookings, but with something tangible to work from, something substantial to represent the achievement, we hope that the drive will be made even more successful, and the beautiful trophy it is planned to present the winning exchange is well worth the effort. That the exchanges share this belief is proved by the letters and telegrams coming to this paper and to the headquarters of the First National.

June Elvidge Makes A Regular Suggestion

It Is That Producing Companies Send All Left-over "Stills" to Soldiers and Sailors.

June Elvidge, the World Pictures star, who is at present making "The Love Wreath," a Paul West story, under the direction of Travers Vale, is devoting all her spare time to welfare work for the hospital ships of the United States. Miss Elvidge is sending books, magazines and stills of scenes from moving picture features to these vessels, and her work is appreciated if the letters she is receiving are any criterion. She suggests that the producing companies gather up all the "stills" left over after their pictures have had their run and ship them to the different hospital bases, cantonments and naval bases both here and abroad. She has been informed by a number of sailors and officers on board our destroyers in foreign waters that these pictures help to while away an hour that is often otherwise be tedious and tiresome. It seems that the boys in many instances recognize in some exteriors locales familiar to them with intentions in their own stories that had their inspiration from these photographs. Another favorite divertissement when off watch is to act the scenes shown in these photos.

CAREWE IS LOCKWOOD'S MANAGING DIRECTOR.

The affiliation which Edwin Carewe recently made with the Metro-Yorkes Company, the producers of the Lockwood features distributed by Metro, carries with it the title of managing director. The appointment is made with the approval of the director of the Lockwood subjects Carewe has the business affairs of the organization under his management. Carewe is now putting on "Pals First" as his first effort with the company.
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD
August 10, 1918

“Mitt Me” Luncheon for Division 5
Campaign for Summer and Fall Opens with Introduction Meeting at the Hotel Astor July 31.

DIVISION 5 of the National Association wants to be ready in 1919 in filling fifth hundred of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry. For that reason there has been arranged a luncheon at the Hotel Astor for July 31, to be known as a “Mitt Me” luncheon, under various unprintable features. One of the discouraging features which has retarded the work of this group, or rather prevented it from ever starting, is the fact that the members of it do not know each other. It is impossible to arouse much enthusiasm in a body in which only twenty or thirty come to meetings, and in which meetings are held as infrequently as twice a year. Most organizations meet at least once a year at the annual meeting, but the privilege of not being called to the bulk of the membership of Division 5, owing to the fact that the annual meeting was held in Boston.

At an informal gathering of the directors of the group called recently by Chairman John C. Flinn it was decided the first step to efficient work was to undertake some plan whereby the members of the group might meet each other and become acquainted. After some discussion and several meetings a luncheon was arranged to take place at the Hotel Astor on July 31 at 12:30 o’clock, the luncheon to cost each individual $2. The Yacht room has been engaged for the purpose, and Chairman Flinn, Secretary Ellicott, and the other members will work out the work which the division is expected to perform during this coming year.

The luncheon arrangements are in charge of Thomas G. Wyley and James L. Hoff, who promise that Mrs. Astor will present something every man who attends a good square deal. It is expected at least a hundred or a hundred and fifty will be present, and each one will be tagged with his proper locker number on entering the Yacht room, in hand by the “Mitt Me” committee, who will perform the initiatory ceremonies upon him.

Directors’ Advisory Board Calls for Scissors
Division of Films Auxiliary Asks for Stories that May be Used in Government Work.

THE Advisory Board of Motion Picture Directors, Division of Films, Committee on Public Information, is very anxious to obtain stories suitable for production in motion pictures. All stories submitted must be written around themes that will be helpful to the United States and her Allies in various forms of war work.

Suitable subjects would be such as would have the effect of speeding up labor in shipyards, munition plants and other factories, that would be of material assistance in Liberty Loans, War Saving Stamps and other drives and stories that could be utilized to advantage in the foreign work of the Division of Films.

In the United States Government that the motion picture is one of the most effective means of reaching the people of any country. Not only will these pictures be shown in the United States but also in every Allied country and every neutral country. The board is particularly desirous of obtaining good stories that fit present day conditions in Russia, Italy, Mexico and Central and South America. It is hoped the best writers in America will respond to this call.

Bare plots in brief synopsis form are all that is required. All plots submitted will receive careful and immediate consideration by experts and those accepted will be given the finest production possible by the foremost producers in these United States.

Submit all stories to James Vincent, secretary Advisory Board, Division of Films, Times Building, New York City.

Hodkinson Names Release Dates for Plaza
“Petticoats and Politics,” Anita King’s Initial Subject is Set for August 26—“Angel Child” September 9.

THE W. W. Hodkinson Corporation announces that its new brand of Plaza pictures will be ready for distribution the latter part of August. “Petticoats and Politics,” Anita King’s initial subject of the production, will be released August 26, and “Angel Child,” starring Kathleen Clifford, is set for September 9. Prints of “Petticoats and Politics” will be in all the General Film branch offices by August 9.

Anita King, who has won the sobriquet of the Outdoor Girl because of her athletic prowess and wholesome, breezy personality, has a story especially written for her talents in “Petticoats and Politics.” Unlike the tailor-made play, this Plaza picture, from the pen of L. V. Jefferson, has an aptly “Angel Child” is another comedy. Kathleen Clifford proves an adept in the portrayal of children, the role of the openly mischievous but pranking youngster. “Angel Child,” as her doting father calls Glory, is such a trial to her mother she sends her to boarding school, where, in turn, she is an even greater trial to her schoolmates.

Following Plaza releases will be Anita King in “Whatever the Cost,” by Leslie T. Peacock, and Kathleen Clifford in “The Divided Law.”

ELEN CASSITY has returned to New York with a coat of California tan after finishing work in two motion picture productions supporting Baby Marie Osborne before leaving the coast Miss Cassity was compelled to return to New York due to illness. A. S. Douglas, president of the Diaondo Film Corporation, of a contract calling for her appearance in six more pictures. Her business interests in the metropolis and the fact that her mother is ill made the decision imperative.

Cassity to return east. When her mother recovers Miss Cassity plans to return to California immediately after the motion picture camera in New York. A southern girl from Virginia noted for her grace and beauty, she has been in the public eye in some capacity ever since early childhood. Miss Cassity was discovered as singer, artist’s model, musical comedy actress and screen player. And of them all she professes to be fondest of pictures.

In 1915 Miss Cassity decided upon a stage career. A theatrical manager, a friend of her family’s, advised her to try it to New York. She was furnished letters of introduction to Klauer and Erlanger, George Tyler, Cohen and Harris, and other big producers. On her appearance, Miss Cassity was met at the Pennsylvania Station by a lawyer whom her mother had known for years. He drove her to a Broadway hotel for luncheon. In the dining room at the same time was Florenz Ziegfeld, who at first glance was so impressed with Miss Cassity’s beauty that he obtained an introduction, and within the hour had signed her for a part in the “Follies” of 1915.

More, upon her return to California in 1915, Miss Cassity was given a singing part. She made good in it, and shortly afterwards received the opportunity to understand the lead in “Pal’s First,” with Tom Wise and William Courtenay. Later, when the play went on tour, Miss Cassity went with it.

On her return east Miss Cassity was met at the Pennsylvania Station by a lawyer whom her mother had known for years. He drove her to a Broadway hotel for luncheon. In the dining room at the same time was Florenz Ziegfeld, who at first glance was so impressed with Miss Cassity’s beauty that he obtained an introduction, and within the hour had signed her for a part in the “Follies” of 1915.

Miss Cassity, upon her return to California in 1915, Miss Cassity was given a singing part. She made good in it, and shortly afterwards received the opportunity to understand the lead in “Pal’s First,” with Tom Wise and William Courtenay. Later, when the play went on tour, Miss Cassity went with it.

Russell Smith joins army.

Russell E. Smith has relinquished his position as scenario writer and publicity man for the Belzwood Film Company of Port Kennedy, Pa., and entered the United States Army.
No Theater Organ in Porto Rico
Many Opportunities for Improving Exhibiting Conditions in Island, Says Alexander Goldman.

A n interesting story of ill conditions in Porto Rico has been brought back to this country by Alexander Goldman, manager of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company's exchange in that island possession, who has just returned home for a brief visit.

As pictured by the Universal representative, Porto Rico is the land in which the film man who earns for "the good old days" can find exactly what he pines for. It is the land of shows thrown together at the last minute, sans advertising, sans proper music and with a complete disregard of all the principles of good showmanship considered virtually necessary in this country.

"All told," declared Mr. Goldman, "there are about sixty-seven theaters on the Island of Porto Rico. And the largest cities from a moving picture standpoint are San Juan, Ponce, Mayaguez and Arecibo."

When I tell you that, to date there isn't a single house on the entire island seating six hundred; that there isn't a single organ in any of the theaters; that people don't know what an open air theater is—in spite of the marvelous climate; that the majority of exhibitors do absolutely no advertising and that the newspapers don't even think of calling business, you will obtain an idea of prevailing conditions.

"With but very few exceptions, the moving picture theaters in Porto Rico are in exactly the same stage of development as were the theaters in this country fifteen years ago. In the main they are located in what were formerly store, stables and, in fact, any place where chairs, a screen and a movie could be placed."

The houses all contain three classes of seats, boxes, luneta and grada. The boxes command the highest prices, the luneta, which corresponds with the orchestra, the next best, while the grada, or gallery, is the cheapest.

"Incidentally, the grada is located back of the screen, so that the fans are compelled to read the subtitles backward. Some of these people are illiterate and because they cannot read, attend the theater in groups accompanied by one individual who is able to read the titles to them. All of the titles, so far as Universal is concerned, are printed in English and Spanish."

"The boxes cost $1 each and seat four people. Orchestra seats bring 25 cents, while the gallery seats cost ten cents. In some theaters they are as low as 5 cents. Matinees are few and far between and then only on occasion, because the majority of the people work seven days a week."

"The most progressive showman on the island is Antonia Arias, who owns six theaters, one of them the biggest eight-hundred-seat Broadway, just being built at Ponce. Arias, incidentally, uses the entire Universal and Jewel output. Serials are easily the most popular pictures now shown in Porto Rico."

Islanders Averse to Open Air Theaters.

"That no attempt should have ever been made to establish open air theaters was one of the things that afforded me a considerable degree of wonderment during my first few months in Porto Rico. For a long time I was unable to ascertain the reason therefore, until it was apologetically explained to me—that the people are inclined to be superstitious and for this reason they sit unprotected in the full glare of the moon. Tourists will no doubt recall noticing that it is a common custom for the people to carry umbrellas and sunshades for the express purpose of shielding themselves from the stars and rays."

"There is no such thing as 'playing a picture' down in Porto Rico. Orchestras prevail, but these play anything which strikes the fancy of the conductor, and within the limited fund of music and for this reason I predict that when an organ is installed in one of the better class houses and the exhibitor sees that his organist.follows the popular rhythm of the custom in this country, he'll reap a harvest."

"Recently we ran 'The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin' and the picture created a sensation from one end of the island to the other because it was put on in much the same fashion as the Broadway theater, New York. We've had some real advertising; got Governor Arthur Yager and his staff to attend a special presentation, and so by the time we were ready to show the picture to the public we simply sat back and cleaned up. It was about the first time really high class showmanship, as it is understood here in the States, was attempted in Porto Rico."

"The Government is trying very hard to get the Porto Ricans to use the English language and the exchange where it will become the language of the island. Of course it is being taught in the public schools. Incidentally, Universal from the very first seconded the Government's efforts in this direction by running all the films in English as well as Spanish, as I mentioned a little while ago. Recently another distributing organization saw fit to follow suit, but all the rest run Spanish titles only."

Says Mr. Goldman, "Of the manner in which the exhibitors book their shows, the Universal representative declared that a common practice consists in booking at 4 o'clock in the afternoon the show that is to be presented at 6. The mere manner of advertising the entire engagement in at all, the accepted method consisting of a ballyhoo made up of a band and polesigns. Announcements made by a man on horseback are also considered the proper thing."

Mr. Goldman is proud of the services his exchange manager in the industry, having attained his majority only last May. It is just five years since he entered the employment of the company as office boy at the home office."

Century and L-Ko Companies Expand
President Stern Reports the Force Engaged in Production Has Been Doubled.

S o great has been the demand for the comedies put forth by the Century and L-Ko companies that James J. Stern, president of these organizations, that the force engaged in production work has been increased more than 100 per cent. Among the many recent acquisitions to the Century and L-Ko producing staff are Directors Charles Parrott, Vin Moore, Charles Avery, Jimmy Davis and Craig Hutchinson.

These recently placed under contract are Billy Armstrong, Harry Gibbon, and May Emery, all of whom were formerly with Mack Sennett; Babe Hardy, whose work with the King Bee aggregation of fun-makers elicited favorable comment; James Donnelly, a former Keystoneite, and Phil Dunham, who will be remembered for his work in L-Ko comedies a year or so ago.

Two new cameramen also have been added to the roster. These are Robert Walter and George Robinson.

Mr. Stern also reports that as the result of the comments he has received from exhibitors on Chai Hong's funny making ability he has placed this Celestial comedian under a long-term contract and will feature him as "Charlie from the Orient."

ASCHER TAKE BIG WORLD CONTRACT.

The claim of World Pictures that staff organization properly co-ordinated means maximum efficiency seems to be conclusively demonstrated by the results of a recent private showing of "Chai Hong" in Chicago. Director Alfred E. Crabbe, Mr. Almack Blackwell and Evelyn Grecley starred; "Merely Players," with Kitty Gordon; "To Him That Hath," with Montagu Love; "Tother Dear Charmer," with Louise Huff, and "Cali Jus Sylvia," with Pauline Lord. As a result of the impression created by these features, Ascher Brothers, beginning September 1, will present World Pictures in twenty-eight of their houses. Incidentally this is the third largest booking controlled by any one firm in the United States.
Davis Brothers Sure Enough Old-Timers
For Over Thirty Years San Francisco State Right Men Have Been in the Amusement Business

Among the men identified with the film business in San Francisco perhaps none are better known than Sam and Mo Davis, who form the personnel of the firm of Davis Brothers, 187 Golden Gate avenue. Living in San Francisco for more than thirty years, they have always been actively connected with the amusement business, as musicians, theatre owners, advertising experts, and now as handlers of state right films.

Several years ago, while conducting a chain of moving picture houses of their own, they engaged in the producing business and one of their early productions, which attracted much attention at the time, was enacted at the Presidio, with the assistance of Army officials. They also made the famous picture of the great prize fight of Ad Wolgast and Battling Nelson, copies of which are still prized, and which netted them a lot of money.

In the great fire that swept the city in 1906 Davis Brothers lost a theater on Market street, which had been opened at great expense but nine days before. Following the catastrophe they opened the Davis theater, the first dramatic and musical attraction house built after the fire, the roof of which was of canvas. Here Kolb and Dill, of musical comedy and moving picture fame, played a twenty-three week engagement, and other notable attractions occupied the stage until the building of permanent theaters. At that time the Examiner published a full page interview with Davis Brothers, written by Thomas Xunan, who is still the dramatic editor of that paper. This article, which was a most original one, with drawings by Igoe, a famous cartoonist, attracted attention at the time.

The members of this partnership recall with greater interest their early acquaintance with men now famous, but who in those days were filling minor positions. Among these are J. J. Gottlob, now owner of the Columbia Theater, San Francisco's leading house, who was treasurer of the old Bush Street theater, where Davis and Warfield, the great actor, was an usher at the time that Sam Davis was the orchestra drummer. They recall the days of stock companies, when William A. Brady was a bad actor and leader of the supers, training them in mob scenes and playing small parts.

The well known Jesse Lasky is the subject of an interesting story of years ago. One of the Davis brothers was secretary of the Musicians' Union and was visited by a relative of young Lasky who had learned to perform on the cornet and who lived in San Jose, where his father conducted a shoe store. The relative, an aunt, begged the assistance of the Davis brothers in securing the admission of the young musician, dwelling upon his great ability as a cornetist. He was admitted, but his modesty and retirement prevented him from getting many jobs. Discouraged, he wrote a musical act, with his sister as a partner, and came to the Davis boy's with photographs of the act, made up as Helen of Troy. Thus began Jesse Lasky, who once tried his fortune at music, and who is now one of the leading producers of moving pictures in the world.

Davis Brothers themselves did considerable changing almost always while engaged in making films for advertising. Before posters were made for films they gathered tons of pictorial paper, reviewed their pictures before putting them on exhibition, selected pictures to fit and added the Davis with a brush to the poster. Big Lasky, the poster business, renting mounted posters to exhibitors, and in this were very successful, despite the violent opposition of many film exchanges which used every effort to prevent them from securing advertising material. Later this business was sold to the Western Poster Company and Davis Brothers are now in the state rights field, handling both large and small subjects and holding their own in a business in which they were California pioneers.

Personnel of the Fox Directors
Producers of Company's Pictures Will Work Under Instructions to Spare No Reasonable Expense.

No motion picture is greater than its director is the policy which the Fox Film Corporation has followed in the past, and it will continue to be the rule during the year 1918-19. It is made clear by Fox in announcing its program for the coming year. Pointing to the directors of its film as a corps de elite among motion picture directors, the Fox corporation asserts that during the coming year these directors will be given every means to produce even better pictures than they have in the past.

These men are J. Gordon Edwards, who directed "Cleopatra," "Salome," "The Man with the Golden Head" and "The Great Ethel," and his model of studio production is the Fox studio, where he has directed the production of "The Man with the Golden Head," "The Great Ethel," and "The Man with the Golden Head." The latter is being produced by J. Gordon Edwards, who has given it a large budget, and is said to be one of the finest productions of the year. The picture is about the making of a musical comedy, and has been produced in the style of the old-time stage musical comedy. It is being distributed by the Fox Film Corporation, and is scheduled for release in late spring.

When the plans for the coming year were formulated these men were instructed by the Fox corporation to make pictures during the season of 1918-19 that would surpass any pictures that had ever been made before. In their efforts, they have been successful, and the results have been astonishing. The pictures have been produced in the style of the old-time stage musical comedy, and have been distributed by the Fox Film Corporation, which has given them a large budget. The pictures are said to be one of the finest productions of the year. The picture is being distributed by the Fox Film Corporation, and is scheduled for release in late spring.
Hall Goes to Division of Films
Screen Telegram Releases Its Editor to Government for Duration of War.

AY L. HALL, supervising editor of the Screen Telegram, has been released to the Committee on Public Information for the duration of the war by James M. Sheldon, president of Mutual. Terry Ramsaye, director of publicity for Mutual, has assumed in addition to his other duties that of managing editor of the Screen Telegram. Mr. Hall becomes production manager for the Division of Films.

The Screen Telegram has recently been moved from Chicago to New York, its staff reorganized and its scope broadened. Its excellent screen value, a feature since its inception, is assured to it by the fact that it is being produced in the laboratories of the Paragon Films. Mr. Hall joined the staff when it was decided to bring the publication east, and took charge of the general reorganization of the department.

In his new position Mr. Hall will have direct supervision of the Official War Review, a weekly screen review of the war made up of the official films of the United States, British, French and Italian governments. To this task he brings long experience in the editing of news reels. He will also have supervision of the feature films issued by the Division of Films and of other pictures.

Much of this work consists in gathering and compiling films and newsreels books to be shown in other countries through the foreign agencies of the Committee on Public Information. Mr. Hall in addition to his film experience has a wide experience in newspaper work, having served for a number of years in the news departments of various press associations.

At the close of the war Mr. Hall is expected to rejoin the staff of the Screen Telegram.

Many Subjects Slated for Miss Young
Actress Returning to New York to Complete Plans After Series of Oations on Journey.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG is now on her way east and will arrive in New York about the time this is printed. She comes after a triumphal tour of the western coast, which is said to have been an ovation from start to finish.

Miss Young comes to New York to go over plans of productions under the management of Harry Garson, who is also on his way east in connection with his various business interests. Miss Young has just completed what she considers her best picture, "The Savage Woman," adapted by Kathryne Stuart from FrancoisCurrency's celebrated novel of the same name, and which is said to be one of the most costly pictures that has ever been released on any regular program.

Miss Young's next picture will be a film version of "The Man Tamer," adapted for screen purposes by Kathryne Stuart. This will be followed by "Cheating Cheaters," one of the most valuable stage properties that could be secured for presentation in pictures, and said to be shown at the highest price ever paid for screen rights. Following "Cheating Cheaters," Miss Young will produce "The Road Through the Dark," by Maud Radford Warren, and Marah Ellis Ryan's "The Soul of Rafael," which by the way, is the first story by this authoress to be seen on the screen.

Miss Young will return to California in three weeks to continue her production work. She will establish a permanent home there, and in all probability will shortly start work on the plans for her own studio in Pasadena. Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Kimball, Miss Young's father and mother, have already purchased their home in Los Angeles, and are residing there at the present time.

Geraldine Farrar Reaches Wyoming
Goldwyn Star Rides in Day Coach and Passes Out Cherries and Chocolates to Fellow Travelers.

AR from fatigued by the twenty-five hundred mile journey from New York to Cody, Wyoming, Geraldine Farrar will have a rest as she rides in the day coach and passes out cherries and chocolates to everyone else.

Crossing the Bad Lands of North Dakota, and at every station in Montana, word had somehow came that Geraldine Farrar was on the train. She was quick to seize the opportunity to gather from heads in the dining car or from the platform, and when still another change was necessary at Frannie, Wyoming, the Goldwyn star held laughing court on the railroad tracks, surrounded by her company, in the center of a circle of bags and boxes, cameras and tripods.

When Cody was finally reached Geraldine Farrar and Lon Tellegen, who accompanies her, were received at the Hotel Irma by Mrs. Carl F. Carlson, daughter of Buffalo Bill and proprietress of the quaint hostel.

World Pictures to Shorten Titles
Will Restrict Them to Fewer Letters for Benefit of Sign and Newspaper Advertisers.

WORLD FILM, having consulted with a large number of exhibitors, will endeavor whenever possible to shorten the titles of pictures as they produce as will make it possible for the electricians to write on the electric signs in front of their theaters. The motion picture theaters throughout the country are rapidly installing electric signs and spaces, and these advertising mediums are limited as regards the number of letters that can be employed it becomes necessary to shorten titles of features. If there is any value in a title, then advantage should be taken of it. The space on these signs generally permit of the name of the star, and if the title of the picture is not too long it also can be displayed. The original title of Madge Evans new picture, which will be put in work on August 1, was "The Latch String Hangs Out." To make it possible for all theaters to use both the name of the star and the title of the picture, it will be released as "Snug Harbor.

In regard to newspaper advertising, where an exhibitor has contracted to use a certain amount of space each season he will be benefited by this change of policy, as a title of an average length of ten or fifteen letters can be displayed to greater advantage than one of twenty or thirty letters. The same amount of space is used but the letters are larger and carry further.

OPERATOR HAS FILM CLEANING INVENTION.

Ed F. Shue, who is the operator in the home office projection room of World Pictures, has just completed a valuable invention for cleaning films of dirt and oil while rewinding. The device is simple but very effective. It consists of two spoons on a slightly movable arm. Each spoon carries a ribbon of muslin tightly wound around the spoon. The film is threaded between the two spoons and as it is rewound the oil and dirt is wiped off on the muslin. The movable arm prevents any breaking of the film. The device is appealing forcefully to those theaters who desire to return film to the exchanges in the best possible condition.
Laemmle Shows Exhibitor How It’s Done

Universal to Make Picture Designed to Uncover to Showman the Problems of the Manufacturer.

A CAMPAIGN, nationwide in scope and having for its express purpose the enlightenment of the exhibitor to a realization of the problems which confront the organization in much previous to the subject he uses, is about to be initiated by Universal.

Universal’s idea is, frankly, to get into even closer touch with the exhibitors than it has hitherto been. Believing that the exhibitor should get together and share each other’s problems and for mutual benefit generally, this organization is now putting the final touches to the campaign which it believes will help bring this about.

To this end Harry Levey, manager of the industrial department of Universal, was recently instructed by Carl Laemmle to prepare a film which would place before the exhibitors in every community in the land the story of the why’s and wherefores back of the company’s product. Every phase of the producing and releasing of the moving picture industry will be filmed, and in this manner the exhibitor will be given an opportunity such as he has never had before of seeing for himself the inside of the manufacturer’s business.

Starting with the purchase of the original story the picture shows how it is shipped into scenario form. Then comes the planning and the building of the interiors, with, without the actual filming of a production such as Universal City and the touches given it before it is shipped to New York, where the final O. K. is given it.

In the home office at 1600 Broadway awaits the committee composed of all the Universal department which passes upon the pictures released by that company. The manner in which this committee works will be shown, after which will be presented every detail of the developing, printing, cutting and editing in the laboratories at Fort Lee, New Jersey.

Sending the completed prints to the numerous Universal exchanges throughout the country will next be presented in a very simple manner, the exhibitors will thus be enabled to see the enormous exchange system and the intricacy of the machinery which supplies him with the pictures he presents. In this manner there will be brought home to the exhibitor the trouble that is caused whenever a show, scheduled to be sent to another exhibitor, is not returned promptly.

There will also be incorporated in this Universal subject the making of a news weekly. The system which enables the Universal and Pathe Weekly Current Events and the Universal Screen Magazine to keep in touch with their correspondents over the world will be carefully explained, while of unusual interest will be the manner in which this event of importance is almost immediately put into film form.

In dwelling upon the details of this get-together plan Mr. Laemmle declared that it is simply in line with the practice of the company’s salesmen, who, too, get a full preview upon the coming sentences at the company’s salesmen, which recently took place at Chicago.

“We have not as yet decided upon a title for the picture,” said President Laemmle, “but we are already prepared at this time to divulge the manner of distribution. Suffice to say that the plan already decided upon will be thoroughly tested before it is put into effect on a nationwide scale. That it will go a long way toward enabling our organization to obtain the fullest cooperation of the exhibitors in our effort to solve some of the problems now confronting us is my firm belief.”

Famous Players Has New Projection Room

In Same Building With Home Office, It Is Equipped With Latest Devices.

What is undoubtedly one of the largest and best appointed private projection rooms in New York has recently been completed and is now in daily use at the offices of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. The new room is located on the ninth floor of the building at 485 Fifth avenue and is 15 by 35 feet in dimensions. Twenty-eight opera chairs have been installed, placed in five rows, facing rear, being set slightly forward from it, affording an unobstructed view of the screen. The seats, of extra large size, are upholstered in Spanish leather. The screen, which is approximately twenty feet from the first row of seats, is nine feet in width by seven in height. The pictures are projected from two new Simplex machines. The room is finished in a rich brown color, the walls being wainscoted and trimmed with oak and painted in imitation of Spanish leather, with a conventional border design. Heavy gray velour curtains hang on the windows which are of orange glass, while a gray velvet carpet covers the floor. The semi-direct lighting system is used, the light being shed from six lamps hung from the ceiling. Those seat, sufficiently shaded, is sufficient to allow the showing of a picture to enable reviewers to make notes if they so desire. In addition there are floor lights which make it possible for one to find a seat easily and without danger of stumbling on the steps. The room is equipped with an intercommunicating telephone directly connected with the operator’s booth. A ventilating system is now being installed which will furnish thirty cubic feet of fresh air to each person every minute.

Author of Serials Picturesque Figure

Gilson Willets, who is now a member of Pathé’s scenario staff in New York, has written twenty-five books, some of which have been best sellers in their day. “The First Law,” one of his most successful volumes of fiction, forms the basis for the picture of the same name in which Irene Castle stars and which is released by Pathé in its regular program feature July 28. Mr. Willets wrote “Hands Up,” the Ruth Roland story, which was the first episode of which will be released August 18. It will be remembered as the author of the first motion picture serial, “The Adventures of Kathlyn,” and also of the other big one, “The Mystery of the Double Cross,” which was adapted from his novel and which is still a good seller. Mr. Willets might be described as a world citizen. Although born in old Manhattan and the descendant of one of the earliest mayors of the city, he has spent half his life seeking adventure in foreign climes. He is a commuter between New York and London, for many years crossing the Atlantic twice a year.

In addition to writing the final episodes of “Hands Up,” he has finished plays for Baby Marie Osborne and Frank Keenan, both to be filmed on the coast this winter. He is now at work on a new drama for Fannie Ward.

LIEUTENANT KAUFMAN IS MARRIED.

Lieutenant Albert A. Kaufman, who for three years was studio manager of the Famous Players Film Company previous to joining the photographic division of the Signal Corps, was married Thursday, July 18, at Washington, D. C., to Miss Rita A. Krone of New York. The bride is a well known screen player, having appeared in an important role in “The Song of Songs,” an Arterfact picture which Elsie Ferguson was starred.

Associate Justice Siddons, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, performed the ceremony, which took place at the home of Capt. Louis Mack. Although a military wedding it was a quiet affair and was a complete surprise to even the most intimate friends of the couple.

PATHE CLUB OUTING SET FOR AUGUST 25.

Governors of the Pathé Club announce that the annual midsummer outing will be held Sunday, August 25. Executives and employees of Pathé Exchange, Inc., in New York City comprise the membership of the club. Provided a suitable steamer can be chartered, a trip up the Hudson with these attendant delights is the present plan for the day. The governors thought they had a steamer already chartered, but the government commandeered it the other day. Now they are around shopping for another ship.
Stewart Pictures Go to First National

Louis Mayer to Distribute Productions of Former Vitagraph Star Through Exhibitors' Circuit.

IT EXTRACT attaches to the announcement that the new Anita Steward productions will be distributed by the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc. The final approval of the legal details whereby this arrangement was definitely affected occupied a large part of the time of the circuit directors during their recent session in New York. Speculation regarding the star's future, particularly from the distribution angle, will therefore be set at rest.

Anita was one of the big companies desired to secure the services of Anita Stewart upon the expiration of her contract with Vitagraph. Louis B. Mayer, the executive head of the Anita Stewart Production, has, in his negotiations, given serious consideration to these offers until he had adjusted his differences with Vitagraph.

Upon giving the matter final and deliberate consideration, Mr. Mayer decided to accept the offer submitted by the First National executives. No time will be lost in providing Miss Stewart with a suitable vehicle for her debut on the circuit, and it is expected that this event will take place within about two months. Louis B. Mayer has issued the following statement regarding the closing of releasing arrangements with the organization that has successfully handled so many big box-office attractions of late:

"In looking over the general field of distribution, I soon became convinced of the soundness of the policy upon which the First National Exhibitors' Circuit has been built. It has seemed to me and my associates to be the logical outgrowth of the current situation. It is the only method by which exhibitors can purchase their own productions under circumstances that will guarantee the making of feature films at the highest quality and provide the producer and distributor with an assurance of an income on the time and money invested. It seems to me the most direct way of reaching the public and the quickest and surest way of getting returns for it stands to reason that if the leading ex-hibitors cannot secure films under circumstances which guarantee them superior quality as well as assured profits, then the whole future of the business will be affected."

Mr. Mayer then went on to say that the directors at their recent meeting met with more unanimous and enthusiastic endorsement than the deal with Louis B. Mayer to handle the new Anita Stewart productions, said Manager J. D. Williams of the First National. "All members of the circuit know through past experiences how high Miss Stewart stands in the regard of the film going public, and as soon as the plan whereby her services could be secured for a series of super-features was outlined by the League's Manager, the decision was made.

"I can say without exaggeration that the amount of money set aside for story material and for direction will in each case amount to a higher percentage of the production cost than has ever been known in the history of American motion pictures. Mr. Mayer has decided to secure the services of one of the most experienced and highest salaried directors in this country. We confidently believe that Anita Stewart productions will be the talk of the town within a year," said Mr. Williams.

Metro Holds Third Annual Convention

Thirty-six Representatives, From All America, Assemble in New York to Talk Business and Play.

METRO'S third annual convention occupied two days of business and as many nights of pleasure Friday and Saturday, July 26 and 27. The Yacht Room, at Hotel Astor, was the scene of the business sessions and on Saturday evening the Midnight Follies furnished the frolics. Friday, at 11 a.m., the branch managers and special representatives assembled at the Astor to begin the business sessions. Metro's plans for the coming year were freely discussed and the announcement that fifty-two all star series subjects would be produced and distributed during the year was received with enthusiasm as special issues through Metro service. The matter of salesmanship, service to exhibitors, publicity and general co-operation were discussed.

J. Robert Rubin, secretary and general counsel of the corporation; William E. Atkinson, general manager; Harry Cohen, special representative, and Joseph W. Engel, treasurer (who made the trip from Los Angeles to attend the convention), addressed the delegates Friday morning, and in the afternoon William L. Sherrill, whose "My Own United States" is a screen classic; Arthur James, director of Metro publicity, and Richard A. Rowland, president of Metro, made the speeches. Saturday morning the delegates again assembled at the Astor and cleaned up the business part of the mission that brought them to Broadway.

Friday evening all hands repaired to Tappan's Hotel at Sheephead Bay to indulge in a 'shore dinner,' and much other frivolity, winding up at Coney Island, where the well-known chutes were shot—and everything. Herman Janz was leader of the party Friday evening, with Harry Cohen specially publicity promoter and booster for "To Hell With the Ritz." The other Boys would have been of the Friday evening if Cohen had been given full swing of affairs.

The Saturday night banquet was a big affair with Mr. Reuben's presiding and Joseph Engel making the principal speech. After the "eat" all hands repaired to New Amsterdam theater roof to enjoy the "Midnight Follies." In addition to the executives associated with Metro's head office E. L. M. Loew's, Gulf, Columbia, St. Louis, Enterprise, Joseph Unger, of Regal Films, Canada; Harry Lustig, San Francisco; S. A. Shirley, special representatives for the Middle West, and exchange managers from all Metro branches participated in the sessions.

Canadian Managers Defend Action

When Complaint Is Made Against St. John Exchanges Margetts Convinces Halifax Authorities No Boycott Has Been Committed.

An interesting situation has developed in St. John, N. B., in connection with the Exchange Manager's Association meeting in New York. The managers of the Metro and Mutual joined the association. Also it is alleged by an exhibitor that those using the Mutual service had their films from other exchanges canceled and thus practically boycotted the Mutual exchanges and the exhibitors using the service.

This happened in Halifax and an exhibitor complained to the Government, which promptly investigated the affair. G. A. Margetts of the Canadian Universal, who is now president of the Exchange Manager's Association, went over to Halifax and convinced the government that there was no intention on the part of the exchange organization to boycott anyone, but that any exchange had the right to refuse to supply films when it deemed best.

Talking with G. A. Margetts in St. John he says: "The Exchange Manager's Association is endeavoring to work justice between the exhibitor and the exchange," says Mr. Margetts. "It is not refusing to supply anyone with service unless there is a good reason."

A meeting of the Eastern Provinces League was held in Halifax at which General Manager Basil Horsfel of the Mutual and F. G. Spencer of St. John were present and a resolution was passed asking the Exchange Manager's Association to allow the general manager to refuse to exchange and to promise that there should be no combination boycotting or blacklisting and that no maximum or minimum price should be fixed.

John W. C. Smith was using the Mutual films and he was unable to get films from the other companies, it is charged. He made plans to handle the General Film Company's output and this, with the pictures of the K. E. S. E. gives him a good service. The offices of the old Metro have been rented, and Mr. Smith showed your correspondent his order sheet which already contained a great many orders.

Famous Players Start Billboard Drive

Will Post in Every Important City Twenty-four Sheets Exploiting Plays and Players.

August 10, 1918 THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD 819

AGUST 11 will witness the inauguration by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation of a huge billboard advertising campaign in the interest of Paramount and Aircraft pictures which, it is declared, will be the biggest of its kind ever launched by any organization in the United States. The campaign will be conducted through one of the largest and best known billposting firms in the United States and will cover every important city in the country.

The size of the posters will be twenty-four by thirty-six inches, and in design and workmanship will be the finest examples of the lithographic art. The posters will be in four colors, and will exploit individually every Paramount and Aircraft star, together with the productions in which they appear. As supplementary displays smaller posters will be utilized in every available place.
Fox Has Large Plans for 1918 - 1919

With Two New Brands, Victory and Excel, Corporation Will Issue a Total of 185 Productions of Varying Lengths During Coming Year—Some of the Greater Things Company Aims to Do.

Two new groups of pictures with six stars, the details of releases on three other groups and the announcement of a number of big timely pictures, including a Theodore Roosevelt production, one big war subject made under the direction of R. A. Walsh, a picture based on the life of General John J. Pershing, a submarine phantasy and a picture based on the story of the most beautiful woman in the world are described in the statement of 1918-1919 policy issued by William Fox.

The two new groups are Victory Pictures and Excel Pictures and the policy of expansion involved in their inauguration, it is declared, will be characteristic of all Fox activities during the forthcoming season. Mr. Fox is quoted as being of the opinion that the war will continue to result in a general bettering of conditions in the motion picture trade and as believing it to be the duty of the producer to assist the exhibitor in meeting the expected increased demand for high grade pictures.

During the season beginning September 1, Mr. Fox will issue six groups of productions, all except two series to be on a basis of twenty-six releases a year. The groups are big, timely pictures, Standard pictures, Victory pictures, Excel pictures, Sunshine comedies, and Mutt and Jeff Annotated cartoons.

There will be no specified number of the big, timely pictures. No release dates will be announced at this time for the pictures already completed, and additions to the present list will be made strictly on a quality basis after the productions have been completed and passed upon by a reviewing board. Releases will not be as a group but as individual attractions, on the open market, or otherwise as may be decided later. Announcement has thus far been made of this group. These are:

"The Prussian Cur," produced by R. A. Walsh. This production has a large cast, including Miriam Cooper and Captain Horst von de Goltz, who is responsible for the story and who has rendered minute details of the system inaugurated by Ambassador von Bernstorff for stripping America's war industries. The picture is said to be a complete expose of the Kaiser's operations in the United States.

"Why America Will Win," which was staged by Richard Stanton and is based on the life of General John J. Pershing, who is America's hero of the hour and who is certain constantly to be more and more strongly in the limelight as the endless battle on the Western Front progresses.

"Queen of the Gods," a picture based on the story of the most beautiful woman in the world and her problem.

Other Big Productions.

Mr. Fox during the coming season will complete a picture based on Theodore Roosevelt's story, "Put the Flag on the Firing Line" and also will exhibit "Salome."

The latter is a Theda Bara super-production. It was made in California under the direction of J. Gordon Edwards. Arrangements have been completed for showing this picture in the principal dramatic theaters of the largest cities of the country at $1 top prices. "Salome" will not be released on a rental basis under any conditions.

All booking arrangements are in the hands of Samuel F. Kingston, who has offices at the headquarters of the Fox corporation, 130 West Forty-sixth street, New York. Details are not available at branch offices of the company.

Standard Pictures.

The new season for Standard pictures, which are now just a little more than one year old, will begin September 1. Each of these actors will produce eight pictures and the ten others will be productions of a big timely nature with all-star casts.

The first Standard Pictures release of the season will be the William Farnum de luxe production, "Riders of the Purple Sage." This is a dramatization of one of Zane Grey's best western novels. The production was made in Utah and in the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, in Arizona. Mr. Farnum and his director, Frank Lloyd, with a large company, spent nearly two months away from the studios in Los Angeles making the exteriors for this production. Another Zane Grey story, "The Rainbow Trail," will furnish the basis of the second William Farnum release of the season. This is a sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage," and while both stories are complete within themselves, the connection is said to be such that one will become an important factor in the success of the other. Miss Bara's first two productions were "When a Woman Sins" and "The She Devil." The former, it is announced, affords this actress another opportunity for the creation of a great vampire role. The story, moreover, is one of regeneration.

"The She Devil" is reported to be materially different from anything Miss Bara hatherto has done. It is the story of a domineering coquette, playing a villain on her admirers. She falls in love with an artist who visits her Spanish mountain town and tries to induce the artist to take her to Paris. He declines, but the girl, after being captured by bandits, escapes, and goes to Paris, where Walch creates a sensation. She eventually wins the artist's love, but only after the two have been taken by bandits and have had narrow escapes with their lives.

Victory Pictures.

Victory Pictures will be released on a basis of twenty-six productions a year under a group contract, the first release being early in September. This new series will alternate with Standard Pictures.

The first of these pictures will be "Fame and Fortune," which is a dramatization of "Slow Burgess," a novel by Charles Alden Seltzer, which is one of the most popular fiction writers of today. Tom Mix appears as the star in this production and the Fox management pronounces it unquestionably the best picture that Mix has yet made. It is declared to be exceptionally strong in love interest and in feats of dare-devilry.

Miss Brockwell's first picture in the Victory series will be "Kultur," based on Germany's intrigue in Austria. Her second will be "The Strange Woman," by William J. Hurlbut, a dramatic production in which Elsie Peterson starred for a season in New York. This story also has been novelized and the sale of the book are reported by the publishers to have exceeded a million copies. Mr. Fox desires to give exhibitors who contract for Victory Pictures an advantage of the very best stories available.

George Walsh's debut in a Victory Picture star will be in a play directed by his brother, R. A. Walsh. It is reported that the Messrs. Walsh will work in combination as star and director in a number of Victory Pictures, in which connection it will be remembered that these two have not yet produced a picture which exhibitors everywhere have not been willing to pronounce a winner. The present production, "I'll Say So!" has been completed and is said to abound in the sort of daring stunts that have made George Walsh famous. It is described as a thrilling patriotic drama, involving a story of love, adventure and war.

Excel Pictures.

Excel Pictures, the other new trade mark brand, also are to be released on a basis of twenty-six productions a year, alternating every other week with Victory Pictures. The arrangement of releases provides the opportunity for exhibitors to run a week with Standard or Victory Pictures and an alternation of Excel Pictures.

The idea of William Fox in deciding upon the inauguration of Excel Pictures, it is announced, was to afford greater opportunities to the stars in this group and to give exhibitors a better grade of strong productions than would have been possible under any other arrangement. Special directors who have achieved success in motion picture work have been selected to carry out this phase of the new policy and have been assured they will be provided with the best type of stories, American interest stories. All of the stars selected are well known to exhibitors and have won recognition through merit. All of them have completed their first releases and it is expected that the announcement of titles will be made shortly.

Sunshine Comedies.

Henry Lehman's Sunshine Comedies will be released by Mr. Fox during 1918 and 1919 on a contract basis. The same care that has been taken in the past to make these offerings distinctive and of standard-setting quality will be exercised toward the continuation of the coming year. The popularity of the series is maintained, not only from the comedy standpoint, but from the standpoint also of wholesomeness.

Mutt and Jeff Cartoons.

The Bud Fisher Mutt and Jeff animated cartoons are to be continued as William Fox releases during the 1918-19 season. These 500-foot subjects, released weekly, are rapidly extending their territorial bounds, according to the distributor, and now are being shown in practically every city and town in the country. They are being strongly and profitably featured by the Klaw theater organization in New York and elsewhere. Their popularity which has been steadily increasing, has taken a jump, it is explained, since Bud Fisher went to Europe and began sending back sketches of conditions in the war zone. These "war issues" have a favorable and wholesome effect upon audiences, and particularly on those persons who have sons at the front and who have not previously thought of conditions there as possibly having a lighter side.

Policy.

In a policy statement he has issued to exhibitors, Mr. Fox emphasizes the fact that his productions always have been made with a view to filling his own requirements as the owner of a chain of theatres from the Atlantic seaboard to the Mississippi River. This becomes a more important consideration every year because of the constantly increasing scope of his activities as an exhibitor. His frank candor of good service is the fact that he is manufacturing primarily for himself, and selling merely to afford to other exhibitors the service he himself was unable to obtain until he took the initiative in providing it.

Victory Pictures is New Fox Brand

These Will Be Issued Fortnightly and Will Feature Gladys Brockwell, George Walsh and Tom Mix.

AFTER months of preparation, careful planning and a thorough investigation of exhibitors' demands, the Fox Film Corporation announces that a big and important part of its policy for 1918-19 will be Victory Pictures. These will be made by three stars—Gladys Brockwell, George Walsh and Tom Mix.

The plans for these productions call for twenty-six subjects, to be released at two-week intervals. The first will be released early in September. It will be Tom Mix in "Fame and Fortune," a swift-moving Western drama that is based on the popular magazine story, "Slow Burgess," by Charles Alden Seltzer.

These will be Gladys Brockwell in "Kultur," a powerful drama based on German intrigue in Austria.

The third will be George Walsh in a picture which bears the title of "I'll Say So!" This is a breezy story of the love and patriotism of a young American, and will be followed by Tom Mix in "Mr. Logan, U. S. A."

In announcing Victory Pictures, the Fox corporation declares that this series is the logical development of the company's policy to meet the demand from the exhibitors—a policy which has been adhered to throughout the history of the corporation. It has been estimated that the Victory Pictures will give exhibitors flexibility and thus enable exhibitors better to satisfy their patrons.

The stars who will make these pictures during the coming year have not been taken, willy-nilly, from the regular staff, but经过 calculation of their ability, will be grown up and developed in the William Fox organization, and their popularity is based on good, solid achievement and honest, intelligent work.

Now, for these three players William Fox has plans in his 1918-19 policy that will give them greater opportunity to display the talents that have brought them success. A variety of plays expected to meet every taste is the aim in arranging the productions. Negotiations are now nearing completion for the purchase of a number of well-known literary works, and announcement of these will be made from time to time.

Portray Pershing in “Why America Will Win”

Fox Production Based on the Life of the Commander of America’s Forces in France.

The announcement comes from the William Fox offices that Director Richard Stanton has completed “Why America Will Win,” and that it will be ready shortly to be shown to the public. The picture is based on the life of General John J. Pershing, commander of the American Expeditionary Force in Europe, and is promised to be a sensational success.

Seldom is the biography of a great man published before he dies. “Why America Will Win” was produced not merely as an answer to the vital question, but also to give every American a true insight into the character and life of the world’s greatest military commander.

The old adage that truth is stranger than fiction is exemplified in this picture. The inventive mind of the ablest dramatist could not have invented more thrilling incidents than those through which General Pershing has actually lived.

Director Stanton and his assistants spent months in investigating the facts of the events in which General Pershing has played an important part. His birthplace, the scene of his early schooldays, as well as the fields of his later victories, were combed to obtain the settings and the true atmosphere necessary to portray the events with vivid realism.

So great a period of the world’s military history did General Pershing’s activities cover that an exact replica of every known weapon from the Malay kris and the Moro bolo to the monster tanks and the still more monstrous seventy-mile cannon of the Germans had to be made for this picture.

The keynote of “Why America Will Win” is victory. Every event, every campaign that this man has planned and fought has resulted in victory.

The Fox studios created six armies to picture the battles of the different decades. It was necessary to reproduce the courts and palaces of the rulers of the great countries of the earth with true exactness to form settings for the many historic events.

“Why America Will Win” shows the human side of General Pershing, the man, the husband and the father.

Gladys Brockwell with Fox Three Years

Player Selected to Appear in Victory Pictures Is An Industrious Worker.

ARRIVED at the studio at 8 o’clock and met Gladys Brockwell. I understand she is always the first one you meet out here. She begins work every morning at 8 o’clock and quits at 6 o’clock and she’s just the same at 6 o’clock as she is at 8—a sweet, good-humored girl.

That was a tribute to Gladys Brockwell recently written by a visitor to the William Fox studio at Hollywood, Cal., and in writing it the visitor unwittingly gave the secret of the splendid success which has led William Fox to put her in Victory Pictures.

Gladys Brockwell is a motion picture actress who takes her work seriously. And taking it seriously, she puts every ounce of her energy and thought into the making of better Gladys Brockwell pictures. The result is that since joining the William Fox forces her popularity has grown steadily and consistently until demand for her pictures became so insistent that William Fox was obliged to put her in Victory Pictures.

The first of these Victory Pictures to be done by Miss Brockwell will be “Kultur,” a drama based on German intrigues in Austria. The second will be “The Strange Woman,” a pictureization of the great stage success of William J. Hurbut, which in its original version, ran a year on Broadway.

Miss Brockwell first appeared in motion pictures in 1913 and has been with the William Fox forces on the West Coast for three years. The initial production she made for Mr. Fox in point of time was “The Honor System.”
photoplay was not released, however, until after Miss Brockwell had appeared in several other films. Consequently she enjoyed the unique experience of having become well known before her first picture.

Miss Brockwell back important roles in "The End of the Trail," and "Fires of Conscience." She gave such splendid performances in each of these productions that Mr. Fox elevated her to stardom in "Sins of Her Parent," and she has been starred ever since.

Three Fox Stars Featured in Excel
Second of New Brands Will Exploit Virginia Pearson, Jewel Carmen and Peggy Hyland.

ONE of the big phases of the 1918-19 policy of the Fox corporation will be Excel Pictures. This series will start on November 3rd. A year ago and the standard of excellence is guaranteed by all the resources of the William Fox organization. The stars announced for these pictures are Virginia Pearson, Jewel Carmen and Peggy Hyland, all three of whom have won reputations since joining the Fox forces.

Miss Pearson, Miss Hyland and Miss Carmen have already completed the first of their Excel Picture releases, which will be offered to the exhibitors early in September. Miss Pearson has just finished "The Queen of Hearts," under the direction of Edmund Lawrence. Miss Hyland made "Marriage Are," and Miss Carmen recently completed "Lawless Love," a stirring Western play based on "Above the Law," by Max Brand, which appeared in one of the popular magazines.

Decision to put these three Fox stars in Excel Pictures is a result of a canvass of the exhibitors of the country. In announcing Miss Hyland as one of the stars of these pictures the Fox Corporation pointed to numerous letters from exhibitors the burden of all being that they like Miss Hyland, they like her plays and they want to get more of her pictures.

George Walsh a Popular Favorite
Young Man Strives to Portray That Which is Cleanest and Best, Avoiding the Morbid.

By being chosen one of the three stars who will make Victory Pictures for William Fox, George Walsh, described as the "human thunderbolt," has added another chapter to the story of his career in motion pictures. His success and his rapid climb are notable, yet on analysis there is nothing remarkable about his success. His record of achievement is based on the foundations of hard work, close study and a mind alert to every phase of his art's progress.

The reason for Walsh's popularity is his wholesome, optimistic and manly acting. "He epitomizes all that is cleanest and best in young America and Americans love to see him on the screen, because Americans like that type of young man—fresh, resourceful, humorous, athletic and quick-witted," says Thomas H. Ince of Fox Pictures. "What George Walsh is and that is the kind of play he produces. There is never anything morbid, or risque, or dubious in the plays that Walsh enact.

Looking back over his most recent productions—"The Kid Is Clever," "Brave and Bold," "Jack Spurlock—Prodigal," "Pride of New York," "This Is the Life" and "The Yankee Boy"—one is struck with the uniformity of this player's success. It has been a good, healthy success, steady and consistent.

A younger brother of R. A. Walsh, director of the "Honor System" and other big successes, George Walsh brings, in his work, a hearty knowledge of screen technique. He also has the benefit of a remarkable physical development, due to his life-long love for athletics.

Mix Has Made Hit in Fox Pictures
When Manufacturer Saw His First "Bit" He Sent Word to Make Him a Star.

TOM Mix in Victory Pictures! Less than a year ago William Fox saw Tom Mix in a comparatively minor role in one of his pictures. The absolutely new, fresh and successful bit was so strikingly effective that Mr. Fox at once took Mix to his personal office and, in the presence of the manufacturer, and as soon as telegraph wires could carry the message West Tom Mix was a star.

That was only a few months ago, and Tom Mix's name soon appeared on the list of stars making Fox Special Features. Mix, under the direction of Lynn Reynolds, was put in a play called "Cupid's Round-Up." It went over big.

This was followed by "Six-Shooter Andy," and from all over the country letters of commendation began to pour into the Fox office. Then followed "Western Blood" and "Act of Valor." Tom Mix as the brave and resourceful Texan, from an eastern family, has never known what fear is, and when he went into motion pictures a few years ago he brought to his work the same daring and sense of adventure that had marked him in life.

Tom Mix recently completed his first production that will be released as a Victory Picture. It is called "Fame and Fortune." Mix has been busy at work on another production in Hollywood, which will be a Victory Picture. This is "Mr. Logan, U. S. A.," and in it Mix is said to have a play that is even better than "Fame and Fortune." In addition to his own pictures, Mix has been bought for production by Kellogg. These are "The Two-Gun Man" and "The Coming of the Law." Both of these books will be filmed for Victory Pictures.

"The Prussian Cur" a Film Epic
Reviews in a Dramatic Way World Events of Fifty Years, with Particular Reference to the Hun in America.

THE PRUSSIAN CUR" is a film epic that goes back through half a century of history and reviews every important phase of the World War. It also is a startling example of the work of many of the outstanding propagandists in the United States, and depicts Horst von der Goltz, the man who hatched the Welland Canal plot, re-creating in person the enemy outrages which have alarmed and threatened the whole world.

The action opens with a dramatic contrast between peace-loving America and war-mad Germany. Abraham Lincoln, at the close of the Rebellion, congratulates a reunited nation on the birth of a new freedom. But in Europe, a few years later, Wilhelm I of Prussia, having crushed France in the War of 1870, plans with Bismarck and his Junker nobles to build a mighty military empire.

As the years pass, the German youths are trained for war. Then comes "The Day," and the Hun, being fully prepared, runs his steel through the heart of Belgium. The Hun, in the Hindenburg and Schlepzig and their war chiefs decree ruthlessness on land and sea.

In America, our people going on their ways of peace, are warned by Ambassador Bernstorff that the Lusitania will be sunk. His warning is scorned, the liner departs, and hundreds of innocent lives are lost. Eventually Bernstorff is sent home, President Wilson delivers his war message to Congress, and the United States and Germany plunge into war.

But Bernstorff has left behind him an "invisible embassy," a powerful system of espionage and propaganda, headed by Otto Goltz (Capt, Horst von der Goltz), and William Fox has signed down a list of items. Under this agreement the Hun ships sinks, the ships of war are sunk, trains, damage aircraft, stir up labor troubles, poison public opinion, report vital secrets to Berlin.

Yet the nation starts. Great factories forge the sinews of war. Ships are built. The war goes on. A hollow German system of railroads, factories, munitions, are destroyed, the material of Europe. The youth of America flock to the colors. Working for the Red Cross, selling Liberty Bonds, knitting, saving, toiling for victory. American men, women and children "carry on" in the name of humanity. Our fleet goes to the submarines, and an endless line of transports lands our boys "over there." All this is the background for the accompanying dramatic story.

Aims and Men Behind Fox Pictures
Outline of Company's Basic Principles and Sketches of Its Chief Executives—list of Executives.

IT was in its fourth year as a producing and distributing company, Fox Film Corporation, announcing its policy for 1918-19, points to its record of achievement as justification for the aims it affirmed when the corporation was formed. These aims can be summed up in two sentences: Making and selling motion pictures must be conducted on the basic principles which will govern in any other business. The motion picture business cannot remain an exhibitor as well as producer gets a fair share of the profits. The Fox Film Corporation has always contended that there is a profit difference in the making and selling of films and the manufacture and sale of shoes, or ships or sealing wax; principles which have obtained in the manufacture of other goods must prevail in the manufacture of films.

Following this principle the Fox Film Corporation has barred from its organization the get-rich-quick methods which have proved the undoing of numerous film companies. and also the criminal extravagance and wastefulness that have given a certain section of the film industry a bad name among business men. Everything in the organization, it is contended, is based on efficient and sane handling of product, material and personnel.

Probably the biggest asset the corporation has is its president, William Fox. A genius for showmanship, Mr. Fox gives to the Fox Film Corporation the benefit of his long and thorough experience in the theatrical business. This experience enables him with marvelous accuracy to forecast the tastes and wants of the public, so that Fox films shoot to the mark of public approval.

And something that makes the Fox corporation unique among motion picture producing concerns is that Mr. Fox is an exhibitor himself, and the films he makes must be such that will prove profitable to him in his capacity of theater owner. The owner of thirty-odd theaters all over the east, Mr. Fox has just recently taken over a theater in St. Louis, and plans are afoot, it is said, for his acquisition of other playhouses throughout the country. So when the Fox corporation makes a picture, Mr. Fox seleniums to it that the picture is what an exhibitor wants. That the pictures are of this type is attested by the success with which he has shown them in his own theaters.

The executives of the Fox Film Corporation are all men of large affairs and of practical ability. Their training is not limited to the film business alone. In bringing them into his organization Mr. Fox has realized the importance of having executives who will give the corporation the benefit of training in other lines of endeavor.

Winfield R. Sheehan, general manager of the Fox Film Corporation, is probably one of the most far-seeing, resourceful and prominent of city administrators. He has demonstrated that he was a leader of men and a builder, and proved that he had the necessary vision to do big things in a big way.

In Herman Robbins, assistant general manager, the corporation has a man who has a thorough knowledge of every angle of the film industry, a man of ideas and proved capacity for inspecting big affairs.

A shining example of Mr. Fox's policy of surrounding himself with men of affairs is James E. MacBride, assistant to the general manager. Mr. MacBride, who recently joined the organization, resigned as civil service commissioner of New York City to become associated with the William Fox forces.

Although he was drawing a large salary from the city he received such a flattering offer from Mr. Fox that he felt obliged to accept. He has had a wide experience in advertising and publicity work. He won distinction as the manager of the remarkably successful campaign of John F. Hylan for Mayor of New York.

The executives of the sales forces of the Fox Film Corporation have been picked because of their thorough knowledge of exhibitors' wants and ambitions. Most of these men have grown up in the Fox corporation and have won their positions on their merits as salesmen.

The district managers are Harry F. Campbell, stationed at Boston; Clyde Eckhardt, at Chicago; George Mann, at Los Angeles; Edward S. Flynn, Minneapolis; Allan S. Moritz, New Orleans; Louis Rosenbluh, New York City; Sydney Meyers, Omaha; Jack Levy, Philadelphia; Frank C. Burhans, Pittsburgh; Joseph B. Roden, Salt Lake City; W. J. Citron, San Francisco; Albert W. Eden, Seattle; D. M. Thomas, St. Louis; C. F. Senning, Washington, D. C.

The Canadian managers are Maurice West, Montreal; Benjamin Rogers, Toronto, and Joseph Bernstein, Winnipeg.

The sales policy of the Fox Film Corporation is a simple one: Fair and square merchandising based on the principle that the exhibitor has some rights and that the business cannot live unless everybody concerned with it gets a fair share of the profits. This policy has been the rule ever since the foundation of the company, and that it has been successful is proved by the growth of the Fox business.

Salesmen of the Fox organization throughout the country have been schooled in the idea that the customer is not a victim, but a friend. This, it is pointed out by the Fox announcement, is not the short, quick way to motion picture success; but the Fox Film Corporation is content to take the long and sure way. Such will continue to be its sales policy of 1918-19 and for the years to come.

Fox to Feature Real Literature

Company Will Make Special Effort to Secure the Best Novels and Plays for Screen Production.

The coming season will be seen produced by William Fox some of the most famous stories and plays written in the last few years, according to an announcement. from the Fox offices. This is merely the execution, it is stated, of William Fox's belief that none but the best books of the most popular authors should be shown in motion pictures.

Hurlbut, who has already completed "Riders of the Purple Sage," William Farnum is now at work on "The Rainbow Trail," sequel to the "Rider" story. Both of these plays are pictureizations of books by Zane Grey, the author of popular western books.

So successful was "Riders of the Purple Sage" when shown at a private screening in New York that William Fox immediately bought the film rights, in accordance with Grey's books. They are "The Last of the Duanes" and "The Lone Star Ranger," and each of them has sold into the millions of copies in book form.

Fox has also purchased the rights to Zane Grey's books. They have a noteworthy list of books. These include "The Two-Gun Man" and "The Coming of the Law," by Charles Alden Seltzer, and "The Highgrader," by Robert McLeod Raine. Mr. Seltzer also wrote "Slew St in," a popular magazine serial.

Another well-known literary work which Mr. Fox has just bought is "The Strange Woman," the stage success of William J. Hurlbut, which ran a full season on Broadway a few years ago and later toured the principal cities of the country. The "Strange Woman" will be an early release of Gladys Brockwell's under the Victory Pictures banner.

This play is considered peculiarly fitting for Miss Brockwell, who has been engaged in the production of the really big productions of the coming season. "Buchanan's Wife," one of the most popular of the novels of the late Justus Miles Forman, who lost his life when the Lusitania was sunk, will also be produced. It will run shortly. Of the stars will have been announced to handle this story has not yet been announced.

The name of the book along with that of the Fox corporation's contemplated activities for 1918-19, an official of the corporation said:

"It is the policy of the company to buy the best books and short stories and the most successful stage plays for production on the screen. The reason for this is plain: Stories that have appeared in the magazines or in book form, or plays that have already established a success, have a much better chance of a successful production. It is the same with a novel; that they have the advantage of a wide circulation in their original form—whether it be in book form or as a stage play. Added to that is the prestige of the authors, all of whom have a devoted following of admirers.

"Thus in producing well known stories we give the exhibitor something that has already made a name for itself. We give him the works of writers who are widely known. The company is not in the business of producing a rival story, but insuring a story that is worth while—if it were not worth it probably would not have been produced by the magazine of the theatrical producer—and it helps the exhibitor.

"Besides the stories which we have already bought there are several for which negotiations are now pending. Announcement of these purchases, when they are completed, will be made shortly. But you may rest assured that the policy of the Fox Film Corporation to go into the literary market for its plays is an established one and one that will be continued.

Fox Publicity to Be of Common Sense Type Will Mark Several Radical Departures, Such as Have Been Dictated by Practical Showmanship.

In planning its publicity campaign for the season of 1918-19 the Fox Film Corporation has announced it has made several radical departures which have been dictated by practical showmanship. In one of the most important departures the word "service." For each of the pictures that will be issued during the coming year careful plans have been laid, to the end that every help and every suggestion given to exhibitors to exploit the productions of Fox pictures will be of definite assistance.

The publicity aids, it is stated, are such as every exhibitor can and should use, and in preparing them the idea has been consistently kept in mind that they must meet the acid test of bringing in profits to the exhibitor.

For the great R. A. Walsh production, "The Prussian Coup," there has been prepared a specially beautiful fifty-two page office story. In its fortification of the picture and selling material the press book contains a carefully prepared biography of Capt. Horst von der Goltz, the confessed German spy, who appears in the picture. This biography is written so that it can be sympathetically kept in the mind of the story. There is also a letter from Von der Goltz. Other newspaper material contained in the book includes a list of Hun crimes, composed by an investigating committee of Congress; a statement on spies by President Wilson, and an imposing array of exhaustive statistics gathered by the government regarding Prussian activities in America.

In addition to this there are attractive advertisement cuts, of which mats are available; striking posters and lobby cards, and an improved advertising scheme, with text on the 1,000,000 copies have been prepared for distribution throughout the country.

An extraordinary amount of public material is at the service of the book, "Why America Will Win," the production based on the life of General Pershing. Exhibitors will have the benefit of a 35,000-word story of the career of the commander of the American Expeditionary Force, who will be the principal of the picture, with text on the 1,000,000 copies it will run. This story was written after months of inquiry by trained investigators, who searched files of the War Department and other sources for accurate and material.

Another book is accompanied by exclusive pictures of General Pershing and various incidents in his life, and is calculated to bring into every American home the strong personality of the leader of the American soldiers abroad.

In addition to that the press book on "Why America Will Win" contains exclusive copyrighted photographs, which newspapers are generally allowed to use. Another is the "Riders of the Purple Sage" and "The Rainbow Trail," in which Pershing's name and Pershing's deeds will be on every American's lips. A beautiful sepiatoned photograph of General Pershing, suitable for framing, has also been prepared and 1,000,000 copies will be distributed. Besides all these great aids for exhibitors there will be an extraordinary number of cuts, mats, lobby displays and paper for use.

For "Queen of the Sea," there has been prepared a big press book, containing among numerous other things articles on health and beauty, how to be thin and a series of lessons on how to swim, all written by Annette Keller-Krass. The book is divided into two parts, and besides this there is a special prepared circus herald and a large supply of mats, electro, lobby displays and paper.

Beautifully illustrated press books have been prepared for the William Farnum productions, "Riders of the Purple Sage" and "The Rainbow Trail," and in addition to these there is a combination art book profusely illustrated, on these two productions. This art book contains photographs of Farnum, a two-page radio list showing the characters William Farnum portrays in each, the friendship of Farnum and of the author of the novels, Zane Grey, and the gripping love interest contained in both productions. Stories of the plots of the great photodramas are also given.

For the Theda Bara super-production, "When a Woman Sins," which is the story of the regeneration of a modern vamp, a sixteen-page rake book has been prepared. It contains several pages of type and cut advertisements, pages of scene cuts, both one and two-column, notices and numerous stories that will make good materials for the photography pages of newspapers.

A special design of press book has been prepared for each of the Victory Pictures. In a new form, this book will contain an exceptionally large number of help for exhibitors in exploiting the productions of Tom Mix, George Walsh and Gladys Brockwell.

For the Excel Pictures the Fox News, in new and more attractive dress, will be issued bi-weekly, each number being a separate number in a continuous story.

Besides all these the Fox Film Corporation will give enlarged service direct to newspapers throughout the country, through the mailing of still photographs the William Fox "We Service" mat and other material which is calculated to increase the prestige of Fox stars and productions.

FLY SWATTERS NOW PART OF THE PROPS.

"Held up for twenty minutes by a fly" is the entry made in his day book by Charles J. Brabin, who is directing Emmy Wehlen and "The Exiled Wife," which will be an early release. This persistent insect kept buzzing about Miss Wehlen's face. Every time it was driven off, and the star prepared to resume work, buzzzz—and back came the pest again. At the end of twenty minutes, however, it was successfully "swatted."

August 10, 1918 . THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD . 825
Funkhouser Case Drops Out

Trial Commission Has Tried to Prevent Indorsements of Major's Efficiency from Getting Into the Record.

THE week ending Saturday, July 27, has been the slowest yet in the trial of Major Funkhouser and his aids before the city civil service commission. The defense attempted to show by the evidence of Alderman John Richert, chairman of the council finance committee, that the major had conducted his office along efficient lines and that the city council had hampered his work to a certain extent by failing to provide sufficient funds for his office. The civil service commission, under President Frazier, had prevented this earlier in the trial by ruling Mr. Richert's opinion out altogether, and Mr. Richert had left the stand.

On Tuesday, July 23, after an hour's lively talk between Funkhouser's leading counsel, Mr. S. Miller, and President Frazier. Mr. Richert was recalled to the stand and after much wrangling his opinion as to the major's efficiency was put into the record. It reads as follows:

"In all matters with which I came into contact, it is my opinion that Major Funkhouser's administration was efficient."

Most of the week's proceedings were confined to Major Funkhouser's aids. Joseph A. Thomas, former clericals inspector, and Manager of Properties Borland, with whom we have no concern.

On Wednesday, July 24, Acting Chief Alcock testified that under Major Funkhouser's vice the testimony and speed up things in general as much as possible. Nevertheless, it is a matter of record that much of the commission's valuable time is lost in attempts to frustrate the defense's efforts to obtain, instead of the efficiency of the three witnesses from witnesses who came in contact with the second deputy's office.

In a former issue the same paper made the following editorial statement under the heading given here:

The Issue in the Funkhouser Case.

"Certain rulings by the city civil service commission in connection with the charges now being heard against Major Funkhouser, the suspended second deputy superintendent of police, have surprised and perplexed many citizens who are interested in the case. Its bearing on the whole question of honest and impartial administration of the laws relating to public order and public morals is so direct that the hearing is of very special importance to the community. "Citizens who view the case in its true light are compelled to think that the one issue determined by the investigator is this: Is Major Funkhouser a faithful, efficient officer and did vice conditions show improvement under his supervision of questionable resorts of various kinds? Trivial and technical charges against the second deputy superintendent of police fade into insignificance beside this fundamental question. Yet the civil service commission appears to hold this view that evidence in regard to the vice situation in Chicago before, during or since Major Funkhouser's administration is irrelevant and immaterial to a determination of the issues of the case."

Ike Van Ronkel Joins Goldwyn

One of the Oldest Exchange Men in Chicago, He is Known by Exhibitors Throughout the Middle West.

IKE VAN RONKEL has been appointed manager of Goldwyn's Chicago office and took charge Monday, July 22. He succeeds H. J. Bayley, resigned, who has been offered the management of another Goldwyn office.

Mr. Bayley was formerly branch manager for V-L-S-E in Cleveland, Omaha and Minneapolis for two years and was manager of the Chicago office of that organization for some time after it was taken over by Vitaphograph.

He has been Van Ronkel holds an exchange manager in the Middle West. Everyone familiar with the history of moving picture exhibition and distribution in Chicago knows that he has been prominently connected with the business from the start. He was among the few early exhibitors in the city who opened picture theaters in 1906. He opened his own exchange, the American Film Service, in 1907, and sold it to the General Film Company in 1912. This firm with that of Chicago was later merged changing on North Clark, near Randolph, and at present the ground forms part of the site of the big modern City Hall movie building.

Mr. Van Ronkel was afterward manager of the General Film Company's office at 429 South Wabash avenue for five years. When that office, was closed he joined the Laemmle forces, remaining until April 1918, when he resigned. Since then he has been taking a well-earned rest, until the offer made by Goldwyn attracted him into harness once more. Besides the Goldwyn program for the fiscal year beginning September 1 appealed to him so strongly that he could not resist.

Mr. Van Ronkel expresses himself as being thoroughly in accord with the Goldwyn policy, one of the leading tenets of which is "The exhibitor is always right." No changes will be made in the staff of the Chicago office except the adding of a few additional salesmen. Assistant Manager W. E. Banford will retain his position as right hand man.

Riviera Theater Is Nearly Completed

In Heart of North Side and Seating 2,600 Persons, It Will Be Opened in September by Balaban & Katz.

SOME time ago, in these columns, it was stated that a fine new theater in Broadway and Lawrence avenue, which was nearing completion, would be taken over by Balaban & Katz, managing directors of the Central Park Theatre. This house was intended originally for stage attractions and variety entertainment exclusively, but Messrs. Balaban & Katz have already remodeled it so that it will be especially suitable for the presentation of moving pictures. It will not, however, be devoted exclusively to that purpose.

It was just been announced that other entertainment of artistic merit will be combined with the film program such as refined vaudeville specialties and tableaux. A large stage has been built for this purpose.

The theater has been named the Riviera, after the famed Italian resort. The fine location of the house, in the center of the great and fashionable North side district, insures attendance of the best type, providing the programs are suitable; but there is no fear on this point when Balaban & Katz have charge. The mixed program already referred to has been decided upon by them, after a close investigation of amusement requirements in the neighborhood, and when one recalls their great success with the Central Park Theater, on West Twelfth street, there is no doubt of their ability to meet conditions in the new field. The Riviera will be opened early in September. It seats 2,600 persons, and an orchestra of forty carefully selected musicians will furnish the music.

George Kleine System Items.

"The Unchastened Woman" had a remarkable week's run at The Playhouse, considering the sweltering weather. Its satisfying qualities proved a strong advertising factor in its favor, as all who viewed it passed it along favorably to their friends and acquaintances.

George Kleine arranged a variety program of short-reel subjects for Chicago, for the week of Sunday, July 28. The program is headed by "Triple Trouble," Chaplin's popular new comedy. Another strong number on the program is
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

August 10, 1918

In the Fog (Edison), in three reels, which is being shown for the first time, the script being based on Richard Harding Davis’ story of that title. There is also a one-reel photoplay by Edison, taken from one of the O. H. Perry stories.

The Los Angeles (California) branch office of the George Kleine system was entirely consumed by fire Wednesday, July 24. The Kleine exchange was in the Ozark Building and the fire was on the floor of the building below it. The fire started in the plate and spread so rapidly that both exchanges were complete losses in a short time. Nothing was saved, all the films on hand being wiped out.

Felix Feist Visits Chicago.

Felix Feist, general sales manager for the World, spent last week in the Windy City. On his return, at the conclusion of the campaign of Aaron J. Jones, at Flossmore, he enjoyed himself so thoroughly in the country and in driving between Flossmore and the city that he had little time to call on any of his many friends in the country. He returned to New York Tuesday afternoon, July 23.

Mutual Buys Selig’s “A Hoosier Romance.”

“A Hoosier Romance,” based on James Whitcomb Riley’s story, and produced by William N. Selig under the direction of Colin Campbell, has been purchased by the Mutual Film Corporation for release in the near future. This widely read Riley story has a rich comedic vein which is happily realized in the film version.

“America’s Answer,” Second United States War Film.

The second official American war film, “America’s Answer,” will begin an indefinite run in this city at Cohan’s Grand Opera House, Monday night, July 29. This film is in eight reels and it tells the story of the last great American army fighting there. It shows the landing of the soldiers from the transports and their advance to the first line trenches; the building of hundreds of miles of railways in France; the erection of great docks, storage warehouses and railroad shops. In these railroad shops the spectator sees the assembling of hundreds of American built locomotives and much of the other vast work done to maintain our forces. It is said that eight reels of this second war film have been assembled from over 30,000 feet of film, which was made by order of General Pershing, under the direction of the General Signal Corps, the Signal Service Corps of the American force in France.

Me und Gott” on State Rights Plan.

H. Y. Romayne, president of the Romayne Super Film Company, Los Angeles, spent a few days in the city last week while on his way to New York in the interests of his six-reel, “Me und Gott,” which is being released on the state rights plan. He gave a special presentation in the exhibition room of Universal in the Consumers’ building, Wednesday morning, July 24. Among those present were W. C. Van Alen of the Rothwell Manufacturing Company; J. L. Friedman of Cleveland Players; E. M. Vandawalker, Jr., vice-president Dolph-Van Film Corporation; Nate Ascher, of Ascher Bros., and Harry W. Schaefer.

This feature is unlike any other war films of this type, as the action is confined to America chiefly and the characters to loyal subjects of this country. Windham Gittens directed the production.

Mr. Romayne left for New York Thursday, July 25, where he will make headquarters at the Hotel Astor for about ten days.

W. R. Scates Leaves General Film Co.

W. R. Scates, one of Chicago’s oldest and ablest exchange men, who has been manager of the Chicago office of the General Film Company for the past two years, resigned that position Saturday, July 20. He has been succeeded by G. N. Montgomery, who has been traveling salesman for the Doll-Van Company for some time past.

Camera Works While Bullets Fly.

Most likely the third United States war film will include the pictures recently taken from the recent war dispatch, which appeared in the Chicago Tribune, and which recites the great bravery of an officer who took a moving picture, close up, while bullets were flying like hail and his horse was shot.

The advance of one American unit is preserved for posterity through the bravery of a movie man—an officer. He advanced a few paces from our lines before the infantry charged, and coolly set up his camera, and clicked off a few hundred feet of film as the men stormed the German positions. One scene shows our men attacking a machine gun in a church tower with the Boches, panic stricken, trying to get their gun into action. The operator’s audacity was amazing.

“It wasn’t anything,” he added modestly. “The folks back home ought to be able to see Yankees whipping the Germans.”

Petkova’s Chicago Success in Selling W. S. S.

Mme. Olga Petkova worked wonders during her brief stay in Chicago when she sold over $20,000 worth of war savings stamps. More than ten thousand dollars were sold in the Metropolitan theater after Mme. Petkova sang her latest song, “Freedom for All Forever.” Mme. Petkova’s next scene of action will be St. Louis.

Illinois Soldier Boys in Pictures.

Louman C. Mann’s pictures of Illinois soldiers in camp at Camp Logan, Houston, Tex., taken shortly before the boys left for France, were recently shown at the Woodlawn, Olympic, and other large houses in the city, with great success. The photographers have now selected the best pictures for the City of Chicago. These pictures will be shown by the American members of the studio in Chicago for about two weeks and then the film will be sent to the other cities of the country. The film was presented by the American soldiers with the understanding that the proceeds of the picture sales would be used for charitable purposes.

Picture Theaters to Aid in Suffrage Drive.

Women ward leaders in Chicago are moving heaven and earth these days to secure the signatures of voters for a Senate suffrage petition, requesting that body to pass the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment. These ardent women workers are now organizing a great moving picture theater drive in aid of this work. While in Chicago, Mrs. Johnson persuaded that exhibitors in Chicago, generally, will assist in every way possible to make the drive a success. Throughout the state the women are putting forth their best efforts, and moving picture theaters in every large city are accomplishing great things by joining heartily in the campaign.

Metro’s Chicago Manager Attends Convention.

C. E. Smith, Chicago manager of Metro, was in New York last week attending the convention of branch managers of his organization, held at the Hotel Astor, Friday and Saturday, July 26 and 27.

New Chaplin Comedy in Big Demand.

Merle E. Smith, general manager of the George Kleine system, states that “Triple Trouble,” the new Chaplin, two-reel comedy is in great demand, the bookings being made with a rush. The comedy will be shown at the Castle and the Playhouse theaters for a week’s run at each, beginning July 28.

Films for Soldier and Sailor Boys.

Mrs. Jane S. Johnson, secretary of the Division of Films, in cooperation with the Chicago Office of Information, has started taking contracts on their new series for 1918-19 with very flattering success.

SCREEN NARROWLY ESCAPES NEW STAR.

During the past week W. M. Gladish, representative of The World for Toronto, Can., and vicinity, visited New York, principally for the purpose of trying out his new car on a long journey. While here he visited many places of interest, including a number of the studios. While at Famous Players-Lasky they were telling him “test” pictures of several candidates for screen prominence. Mr. Gladish was rejected before he even asked to be photographed, because his pictures were declared to be too classic to register well upon the screen.

“You regular face is all right,” said the director who was busying himself with the tests, “but your camera face is all wrong.” Considerably discouraged, Mr. Gladish went back to tell the folks in Toronto how close he came, and introduced a Caruso of the screen. The incident ruined his vacation.
Los Angeles Likes Government Film

"Pershing's Crusaders" Going Big at Alhambra—"Smashing Through" Finishes Second Week at Superba.

PERSHING'S CRUSADERS," which opened at the Alhambra, July 14, is arousing great enthusiasm. The big patriotic production is being presented in an elaborate manner, and has the cooperation of Women's Clubs and various patriotic organizations.

Monday, the day after the opening, a big parade headed by the Naval Training School band of forty-six pieces, marched through the downtown streets. One hundred patriotic mothers of sons in service was the big feature of the pageant. Monday, July 22, was known as Future Crusaders' Day, and every newsboy in Los Angeles was given free admission to the theater.

A special lobby display is used at the Alhambra, and a historical copy of the Statue of Liberty is placed in front of the lobby near the curb. Special music is used for the production and the film has been playing to packed houses since its opening. "Manager" McAlpine of the Alhambra says there is no indication of any lessening of interest in the subject. The engagement of the Crusaders will be indefinite at the Alhambra.

"Smashing Through" has just finished its second week at the Superba and proved a formidable rival to "Come Through" recently shown at that house in box office receipts.

Carl Ray, new owner of the Miller theater, spent last week in Wyoming looking after his theatrical interests in that state.

B. C. Steele, manager of the Symphony theater, has been joined by his wife from the east, and with Baby Steele, the Steeles have set up housekeeping in Glendale.

The Alhambra theater, under the management of the firm of Miller, Leonardt and Bosely, has contracted to use the entire output of the Shubert enterprise.

Clune's Auditorium to Quit Pictures.

After "Salome," the Theda Bara Fox spectacle, has finished a run beginning September 2, at Clune's auditorium, the big house will be closed to screen productions and legitimate attractions only will be shown. According to Bert St. John, manager of Clune's, twenty-six weeks of regular stage productions have been booked to begin in September. It is nine years since the Auditorium has been used exclusively for regular stage shows.

Grauman's to Produce Films.

An announcement has been made by Sid Grauman of the effect that he and his father, D. J. Grauman, will shortly incorporate as film producers. A studio has been selected, which will be used until a new plant can be erected, and production will begin in the near future. The two Graumans will be the sole owners and sole financial backers of the concern, which will be called the Grauman Feature Players Company. From four to six films will be made each year.

Mr. Grauman says that while he does not contemplate employing any particular big star, he intends to select the best screen talent procurable. He will lay particular stress on the directorial end of the productions and will depend largely on the director and the story making the star, instead of the star making the play. Timeliness will be the slogan of the company and the first production will have a war background. The Grauman films will be distributed on the states right plan.

Film Folk Help at Sailors' Benefit.

Film players helped to make a success of the big benefit given for the sailors of the Submarine Base, at the Hotel Alexandria on July 13. Many were present and worked with the same enthusiasm that has always marked the efforts of the screen people in patriotic events of all kinds. The big entertainment lasted from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight, and every minute of the time was filled with music, songs, dances, stunt, acts, sketches, and the very best work of all those who participated in the big event.

Kerrigan Making Own Films.

J. Warren Kerrigan has established himself in the old 800 sq. studio in Edendale, and is now making pictures on his own account. His new quarters are historic, and his stage was the first glass stage ever built in California. Bernard Warde, son of the famous tragedian, Frederick Warde, is directing the new series of Kerrigan pictures, and Jesse Hampton is the personal representative and manager of the show.

"Fatty" Arbuckle Moves to Glendale.

Lou Anger, business manager for Roseve Arbuckle, has made arrangements with W. A. S. Douglas, president of the Diando studios in Glendale, for the production of at least one picture at that plant, the entire Arbuckle company will have their exclusive being sold on the comedy by July 22. Although the agreement is to make only one picture at Diando, it is probable the comedian will produce other pictures at the plant.

Gale Henry Forms Company.

Gale Henry, who has just returned from a three months' vacation, has organized her own producing company and will make a series of comedies such as gained fame and prestige for her during her long engagement with Universal. Miss Henry has rented space at Diando studios, in Glendale, and under the direction of Bruno J. Becker will begin immediately on her first production. Milburn Moranti, who supported the comedian in her Universal and L-Ko productions, has been engaged to play the principal male roles in the new comedies.

Mme. Yorska Coming to Los Angeles.

Mme. Yorska, one of the sensational stars of the dramatic world for the past two years, will come to Los Angeles and begin making films at the Brunton studios under the management of the Motzene Feature Film Company.

Griffith Makes Big Deal.

The largest deal in states rights territory ever made was closed when George Davis, manager of the Aleazar theater, San Francisco, associated with Sol Lesser of the All-Star Features Company, purchased from D. W. Griffith the exclusive rights to release his states west of the Mississippi for "Hearts of the World." The territory includes Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin. Lesser and Davis paid $250,000 for the rights to these states.

Julian Eltinge to Head Studio.

Arrangements have been made between Julian Eltinge and Fred J. Balshofer whereby Mr. Eltinge will be at the head of a studio where screen adaptations will be made of "The Fascinating Miss Kate," "Cousin Kate" and others of the Eltinge regular stage successes.

Mr. Balshofer has gone to New York to complete the details of the partnership. It has not yet been decided whether the Eltinge films will be sold on the open market or released through the Metro distribution system.

Mrs. Charles H. Christie Dies.

Mrs. Charles H. Christie passed away on the night of July 16 at the Methodist Hospital in Los Angeles, following an operation for stomach trouble. Mrs. Christie was the wife of Charles H. Christie, business manager of the Christie Film Co., and their marriage, which occurred in Los Angeles sixteen years ago, was the happy culmination of a romance begun in childhood. Mrs. Christie was a woman of lovable personality and broad culture, will be remembered for her particular interest in all things humanitarian and for her many acts of kindness and charity. She was actively Rubbernecking in Filmland

Personally Conducted by Giebler.

LADIES and Gentlemen, the buildings we are now approaching are the studio quarters of Robert Brunton, the big mogul of the establishment. The Brunton plant is not only one of the most modern and completely equipped studios in Hollywood, but it is one of the most unique because of the methods under which films are made here.

The Brunton studios are operated somewhat after this plan. If any of you want to engage in the fascinating and sometimes profitable business of film production all you will need to do is hire a tall and handsome leading man, a good serviceable blonde of the star type, an ingenue and a villain, secure studio space here the same as you would rent an apartment—and commence.

You will find a complete costume department in which costumes from king's to beggar's may be secured, and property department where the most complete collection of props, such as the Quine, the Grand Rapids, and all intermediate periods. And the leading actress is confined in the little cottage in the center of the foreground ready to do your bidding. And if you do not have all this usual equipment of the studios you may have your choice of an assortment of villains with or without natural mustaches, heroes with various kinds of wavy hair and sport shirts, leading ladies, ingenues, juveniles, and character people.

In fact all the appurtenances, animate and inanimate, of movie making will be at your disposal. For rates apply at office.

You will observe as we walk through the buildings that the average place the magnitude of it. The long and handsome brick buildings to the left are the executors of five different companies producing pictures at this plant, which includes the Howworth Company with the celebrated Japanese actor, Sessue Hayakawa, at its head; a company of Pathé playing a great success in its organization with Louise Claiborne as its star, and Bessee Barriscale and her company.

The studio where we are now upon the Coast will be available when the plant is all complete, and eight other companies are to open a secure space here.

We will go in here and watch a company at work.

On Their Way to Berlin.

W. A. S. Douglas, president of the Dia company, is closing up his business affairs in order to join the ranks of his army's.

Jack Holloway, director at the Dia studio, is emulating his chief's example, and has enlisted also.

Hugh R. Wood, scenic artist at Dia, has gone with a party of Los Angeles workers to join the Allied army. Wood came to the United States twelve years ago from London. He has been married three months.

Norman Manning, former studio manager at Dia, left his position a week ago to join the Allied army.

Billy Franey, former Triangle-Keystone comedian, paid the old "lo" a visit the other day, and incidentally let his former associates see how he looks in Uncle Sam's uniform. Franey is stationed at Camp Fremont.

The young man in this scene is Herbert, sometimes called Herb, Heyes. Herb was selected by the William H. Radioers in support of Theda Bara. Now he is leading man for Miss Barriscale, the star of the picture which is called "The Heart of Racheal." The story of the little lady with the sundown tresses acting with Mr. Bruns is that of Hope. Yes, lady, her hair is natural tinct in color.

Ella Hall is the other small person, and the man to the right is the celebrated Mr. Hickman, his companion. The man with the papers is Howard Hickman, the director. You will note that this does not wear putting on any right of this he has produced some splendid films.

Mr. Hickman enjoys rare prerogative. The man is Bessee Barriscale, in real life his better half. All married men should enjoy this scene very much. Mr. Hickman is enjoying a prerogative enjoyed by few husbands. As director of the play he is enabled to give orders and have them obeyed by his wife. Mr. Hickman, like many other celebrated people of the film world, including Christy Cabanne, Pannie Ward, and your humble servant, hails from Missouri.

The large trees that border either side of the walkways are cut down and the rays of the celebrated California sunshine are the well-known source of the twenty-seven varieties are found in this state.

The eucalyptus yields telephone poles and will be found next to asbestos as a fire resister. The pungent smell of its leaves if you smoke your nostrils is caused from the acorns of this tree, which fall to the ground and are crushed by the feet of passing pedestrians. These acorns are also used in the manufacture of portieres and other art work, which is sold to Eastern tourists after being varnished. The oil of eucalyptus is valuable for sprains, bruises, brights disease, botts and housemaid's knees, and may be bought at all drug stores.

Wildshire Uniquer Than Studios.

We are now in Wildshire, the aristocrat of the picture centers of Los Angeles. There are no movie studios in this detectable neighborhood, but you will see many being made here if the methods prevailing at the studio we have just left struck you as unique, what you will see should make an impression.

The residence immediately in front of us is the home of one of the richest painters of this neighborhood of the picture. If you will observe you will see house grades well up in the mansion class. It has twenty-five hands who is constantly employed in cutting the grass of the spacious lawns.

This house, my friends, is being used as a stage for a moving picture play now being produced by Herbert Heyes, star of the picture. There are no pictures shot indoors. All of the interior scenes of the Weber-Smiley pictures are made this manner.

This plan has two advantages. It gives the scenes a naturalness that would otherwise be hard to get, and it gives many of our protocuters—some of whom are badly dressed—by the pictures of the director—a chance to earn an honest and thrifty penny, and helps him meet the high cost of aristocracy these parlous times.

We will now step inside for a brief inspection.

The well-built man hanging the picture and saying things under his breath as all men do when they bring pictures is Philip Smiley, husband of and co-director with Lois Weber, whom you see with the manuscript, which is the scenario of the play, in her hands.

The handsome young lady all dolled up in evening clothes and reclining on the chaise longue is Mildred Harris.

Mildred is leading lady in the play, who will be called "Our Chariot," and is supposed to find herself with glad clothes on and surrounded by luxury for the first time in her life, and is represented when "not being used to it, but liking it very much.

The nasal tuft on the end of Miss Harris' nose and on the point of her chin will not show in the picture. The eucalyptus tree is the head of the young lady's features is an example of facial camouflage familiar to every make-up artist of the screen.

The handsome chap is Lewis J. Cady, leading man to Miss Harris, and the other young lady is Helene Rosson, who has an important part in the film.

The company has been in this house for a week and will stay another week. It is the family that owns the house are away traveling, and if they should return unexpectedly they will be greeted by the family in the basement or the attic until the picture is finished.

That will be all for today, but before we drive the way gaze upward to wonder window on the left. This window, which is twenty-seven feet to the ground, will be jumped out of by the fruit and beautiful girl you just saw upstairs with the evening lights and the moonlight setting this evening at dusk at the climax of an exciting scene.

It is indeed sad that the life and limbs of the least film man thus daily en-dangered to give us a passing thrill with our movies.
Heart Interest Stories of Week

Honor to Whom Honor Is Due.

One afternoon while Donald Crisp, of the Laskey production department, was working on a section from a high platform and tripping around in the workroom, he fell, he got too close to the edge of the platform and tripped off—and sustained a shock to his digit. The next day every paper in Los Angeles carried a story of the accident, with the result that Donald Crisp says that he would have gladly allowed Fred Stone to fall off the platform for him, but as Stone never volunteered, and Crisp was compelled to do it himself, he feels he ought to have the credit for the feat.

Almost—

Alma Rubens, Triangle star, and Franklyn Farnum, sometime with Universal, but later with Metro, and both of them well known in film circles, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on the last day of July.

Just then the phone bell rang, and a message from the Triangle offices, which occupied the same floor, was delivered a short instant after the wedding, was poured into my unwilling ear.

I had just the correct statement that Alma Rubens and Franklyn Farnum are married," was the message. "They are engaged, but the knot is not tied ready for distribution."

Studio Shorts.

Dorothy Dalton has come back from New York with five trunks of rainbow hued gowns, some of which will appear in forthcoming Ince-Paramount productions.

Harry Otto, director of "Endine" and other features, is now at Triangle in charge of the William Desmond picture.

Taylor Holmes, the Triangle starlet, on July 22. His director will accompany him, and the pair expect to begin immediately on their next Triangle picture.

Vera Lewis and her band of workers for the Muskegon Women's War Relief made a tour of the film Anglers Safety last week gathering in large and small sums of money for the cause.

Frank Elliott, former leading man for Theda Bara, is acting in the same capacity for Mae Murray in "The Scarlet Strain," produced by Universal City. Royden Keith, musical comedy juvenile, is also in the cast.

Sylvia Breamer left Los Angeles on July 15 for New York, where she will take a leading part in J. Stuart Blackton's film version of "The Last加."_i_w_ polo Moran, for the past three and a half years a Mack Sennett comedienne, entered the Laskey studio, Mary Pickford and her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Pickford. The visitors showed keen interest in scenes being made for a special feature under the direction of Cecil B. DeMille.

Clarice Duncan, seven years old, and just recently from Australia, is the most recent "find" of the Ince directors. Clarice appears in a Dorothy Dalton picture.

Harry Mestayer picture being filmed at Triangle.

Sinae Westerhoft, with the Maude Adams company on her recent Western tour, and formerly with the Fox organization, has been engaged by Thomas H. Ince for a prominent part in a forthcoming picture.

The suspense built up by the J. M. Molon, leading woman for Eddie Polo in "The Lair of the Circus," Eileen Sedwick has been rewritten by William E. Wing to meet the altered situation and to eliminate any interference with the original plot.

John Gray, title writer at the Sennett plant, has left that studio and joined Vivian Martin has returned after two months' vacation at Lake Louise, Canada, and has been assigned to work on a new picture at the Morocco studio.

John W. Engle, treasurer of Metro, left for New York last week.

Susie Hayakawa, upon completion of "The Triumph of Love," presented little Mary Jane Irving with ten War Savings Stamps in recognition of the splendid work she did in her part in the picture.

A red Cross Tea with one of the female stars in charge will be a weekly feature at the Universal City Printers. When the tea was hosted at the first tea, which brought a very respectable sum to be turned over to the Motion Picture War Service Association.

Thurston Hall is a new player on the talkie wave from his "Terror Planet," being featured with Priscilla Dean in "The Magnificent Jacala." Virginia Lee Corbin has been chosen as mascot for the Stage Women's War Relief.

Al Ray, brother of Charles, is playing the part of Fred in the new Ince-Paramount feature, "When Do We Eat?" being directed by the star's husband, Fred M. Farnum.

George H. Perry, who was publicity chief for the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, arrived in Los Angeles recently to handle half a dozen concerns for the N. H. Hammond at the Brunton studios.

First of the War's production announcements and an address at the Symphony theater on the first night's showing of her feature, "The Yellow Ticker."

Grace Travers, of the Morosco dramatic stock company, has been engaged to play a part in the Bessie Barrie's new picture, "The Heart of Rachael." According to Will M. Hays there is a real panic at the American studios for stories for filming purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnum, the Vitagraph company this week. Al's reason for leaving is that he has received a flattering offer from another producer.

G. M. Anderson and a number of his players made a trip by motor to San Francisco in order to be ready to start back into the country in search of locations to be used in the picture to follow "Vera.""}

Christy Cabanne spent last week at Santa Ana filming exteriors for "The Man From Chicago."

Douglas Fairbanks has been drafted by Secretary McAdoo to make a propaganda picture to be used in exploiting the forthcoming Liberty Loan. Doug, assisted by Tog Reed, is now working on the project.

Hul Bull Montana will appear in the film.

Anna Q. Nilsson has been engaged to take part in "The Vanity Pool," a Universal production with Mary MacLaren and Thomas Holding.

Jack Holt, who has been supporting the Hungarian stars, will transfer his supporting activities to the Clara Kimball Young studio, and will appear opposite Mary Philbin and Whitman.

William Desmond has made himself a present of a new touring car.

Lihou Stops Over in New York

Erker Brothers' Executive Was One of the Boosters for St. Louis at League Convention.

HARRY G. LIHOU was a recent visitor to New York. Mr. Lihou has charge of the motion picture apparatus and supply department of the Erker Brothers Optical Company, St. Louis, distributors for the Simplex projector in Eastern Missouri and Southern Arkansas.

Mr. Lihou was a member of the delegation from St. Louis, who made the motion picture boycott against exhibitors' League of America in Boston, and was one of the most energetic workers in behalf of the plan to have St. Louis named as the convention city of the league next year.

Lihou makes a practically keeping in personal touch with the exhibitors in his territory, either through trips made by himself at short intervals or by the visits of four men in the office whose journeys are timed to meet the requirements of special occasions.

A revised catalog containing 144 pages, the largest issued by the company, has been sent to distributors in about three weeks. Mr. Lihou explains that a much larger edition was made necessary by the increased volume of business.

An advertising slide department, which is under the direct supervision of Mr. Lihou, requires the services of nine persons, including a photographer, printer, artist and card writer.

LIEUTENANT PROCHET TALKS TO ADVERTISERS.

Lieutenant M. M. Prochet of the Sixth Italian Fortress Artillery, now representing the Italo-North American Commercial Union in this country, was the guest of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers, Inc., at the luncheon held Thursday, July 2, at Keen's. About twenty-five members of the association turned out to greet Lieutenant Prochet, who with his associates was instrumental in bringing before the American public the remarkably interesting series of Italian war pictures.

The members of the organization were so keenly interested in the remarks of their guest that they invited him to assist in the researches to hold the following week's meeting. Lieutenant Prochet's plan was to talk to them during the screening of a special performance of "Italy's Flaming Front," which will be given for the association immediately following the repast through the courtesy of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit.

BAILEY MANAGING GENERAL AT OMAHA.

A. S. Bailey, formerly Goldwyn manager at Denver, has been appointed manager of the General Film Company's Omaha exchange. Mr. Bailey succeeds F. K. Martin, acting manager of the branch, who resigned to enter the National Army.
GRINDING THE CRANK
WITH THORNTON FISHER.

THEM WAS THE GOOD OLD DAYS
OR WORDS TO THAT EFFECT.

AND THIS WAS THE PRICE OF ADMISSION.

AND YOU COULD ALMOST TELL WHAT THE PICTURE WAS ABOUT.
(ITAL FICKERED SO.- AND GEE, HOW THE FILM WAS STREAKED.)

AND THE STAGE STAR WAS INSULTED WHEN THE MOVIES WAS SUGGESTED.

AND FATHER COULD SHOW THE WHOLE FAMILY, A BIG NIGHT ON 35'S- YES, THEM WAS THE GOOD OLD DAYS.
patriotism of any member of the committee, not even the chairman, who comes from Rockland, Me., yet he had nothing to report. Why this omission? Are there no patriots in the League? * * *

SPEAKING of the League reminds us that the American Exhibitors’ Association is going to meet in Chicago, from September 3 to 7, at the Hotel Sherman. All branches of the trade are invited to participate and prominent men of the industry are to address the various sessions. This has the sound of a regular convention of the motion picture industry and ought to encourage exhibitors to attend. No one knows so much about his business that he cannot learn something from others. If Mr. Rembusch and his associates who are guiding the destinies of the A. E. A. will plan their meeting upon a high-class platform, procuring capable speakers who have a genuine message to carry to motion picture theatre owners and managers, they will have performed a real service to the industry. * * *

IT is probably unnecessary to discuss the question of amalgamation of the two exhibitor organizations. That question never was a topic of discussion on the floor of the Boston convention, though now and then an individual expressed the hope that the unification of the organizations would follow in the natural course of events. However, there has been a practical no change in the control of the National League and some of the leaders have intimated that no overtures would be made to the A. E. A. Further than that a strong opposition is developing to those same leaders in the League itself, which may place that organization in the position of the negligible minority—a minority too small to command attention or respect. This is unfortunate at this time, since there is great need for unity of action among exhibitors. * * *

INFORMATION received from the committee working under the direction of Adolph Zukor, which plans to align the full force of the motion picture industry behind the drive for the fourth Liberty Loan next September is to the effect that it is building a strong organization. Beginning with the producers the plan contemplates a series of propaganda pictures of short length in which the several prominent stars will appear. These will be printed in large numbers and supplied to picture theatres. All producers are invited to participate in this feature of the plan. Later the committee will announce the details of the plan which embraces the exhibitors of the country. It is hoped that every company, every star and every theatre manager will prepare at once to do their allotted task and to do it to the best of their ability. The committee has explained in its announcement that all negatives must be in its hands not later than September 1. There should be no laggards. * * *

Saturday, August 10, 1918

Facts and Comments

WHAT happened to the War Service Committee appointed at the Boston League convention for the purpose, presumably, of defining the attitude of the League on the matter of the activities of its members in relation to the war? Committees reported and reported, but nothing was again heard from the War Service Committee and, singularly enough, no one seemed to be interested sufficiently to ask if it had anything to offer. Here was a great opportunity for some budding statesman to slip over a patriotic wheeze, but no one, not even a member of the committee took advantage of the opportunity. It would not be fair to question the ment of which was within their control. Citing his own experience he said he learned more about the war in Italy in two hours from the screens than he would have learned from a hundred columns of newspaper stories or a dozen books. “A cinema hall with every school” is the way he summed it up. When has a stronger message been delivered to motion picture men?

"Give Us Action"

By LOUIS REEVES HARRISON.

THERE is an interesting bird known as the “chicken,” the one that is after corn, not coin, the one creature we eat after death and before it is born, which has a habit of hopping around after it loses its head. It represents a low form of what is known as “impulsive action,” and strange as it may seem to the initiated motion fan, this is often supposed to be the essence of intense drama, especially that kind in which pistol-play becomes associated with vigor of movement.

Impulse is the force behind most exhibitions of emotion. Exhibitions of emotion form the compelling quality of what is commonly known as “Continental Drama.”

It has been deemed the essential in grand opera and most plays of Latin origin, whether genial or malicious, just or unjust, and it is oftenest shown with us in that red-hot response to unrestrained human energy, that outburst of primitive feeling, known as melodrama.

The movie fan does not really mean “action.” It is only a means to an end. To be at all dramatic an ultimate end must be in view.

Take the case of an embittered surgeon, whose family life has been forever ruined, who finds himself alone with a patient, face to face with the murderer of his happiness, now lying helpless, completely in his power to torture, to kill, or to save. The scene becomes most tense when the two men look into each other’s eyes, both motionless.

Silent self-control, not action at all, is what often appeals most powerfully to the imagination.

Violent weeping on the screen is rarely effective. How about the tense and dry-eyed silence of a bereaved young mother, staring at the empty cradle and the little articles of dress her loving and patient hands have wrought for her baby?

Far more effective in all forms of screen drama than demonstrative emotion is that which is seen to be under tremendous restraint.

Voluntary action springs from a base.

That base in all cases is the human mind.

Far more powerful in effect, especially on English speaking audiences, is an entirely different form of action than the impulsive.

It is known as deliberative action.

It is much more decisively individual.

We are all very much alike so far as the primitive exhibitions of emotion are concerned, the weakest response to impulse. In the varying degrees of self-command we show lies the secret of our differing natures, the charm of varied human characterization. Each man is a “Hamlet” in the bigger field.

He is a battleground of forces within him.

He weakens when he yields to inclination.

He wins out when he is guided by reason.

The struggle with self furnishes the most interesting dramatic material in the world. The loose rein allowed animal instincts in the Latin form of drama may do for people of limited education, but most Americans who attend the theater have been instructed in schools and disciplined by hard experience. Opinions among our people are very definite and firm, as has been proved in contempt for German propaganda. And that national strength of character should be taken into consideration in presenting plays intended to interest our people.

Deliberative action is much more social.

In overcoming the mastery of mere impulse, in consulting the conscience as to what is due others, in exercising that powerful motive force, the human will, to decide the dramatic contest within, it brings us to a readjustment of wrongs committed, to a finer understanding of one another, and to a social solution of problems vexing existence so far as our relations with one another are concerned.

We elect happiness as a great object in life, therefore the finest dramatic action is that deliberately directed toward our social progress.

The Man Behind the Story

By ROBERT C. MCELKAVY.

WISE producers of moving pictures regard the author and his story as a legitimate part of the overhead expenses. But there are still occasional untired producers who feel that they can make pictures without buying the story or hiring a continuity writer to put it into shape. Ideas are free and it seems ridiculous to spend real money for them. Acting on this theory, an incredible amount of money is wasted every year by hopeful producers who have not yet learned the ropes.

A feature film was exhibited not long since which had been constructed by one of the best continuity writers in the business. It was an excellent production—up to a certain point. At this point there was a curious break and the story rambled on to a weak and unsatisfying finish. The fact was made known later that the manager of the company, not liking the original close, had altered it to suit himself, and in so doing had thrown the conclusion of the story out of proportion and almost ruined it.

Some months ago another feature was shown which met with little success. The intention had been good, but the story failed to register. In this case the producer, a man new in the business, had been seized with an idea and attempted to make the production himself. The effect he had desired to get was not there and he could not account for it.

Such failures as this are due to inexperience. Art takes no account of titles—a man may be manager, or even president of a producing company, and still not have the qualifications for making pictures. If he has attained any position of such eminence in the business world, he is not likely to be constituted of the whimsical stuff that authors and scenario writers are made of. He may be seized by a worthy idea and have every reason to believe it will succeed, only to meet with failure in the end, because he lacks the training necessary to get it over.

When a producer wants a story he should look to an author to supply it. An author is a person who writes stories. He may be young or old, rich or poor, known or unknown, but he has studied his job. He is not always to be judged by the things he has got into print; his published product may not represent his best self. But if he is an author he knows how to construct a story. He has been through at least part of the early trials of the amateur and knows what to avoid in telling a story as well as what to put in. He can make a plot follow through to its logical conclusion.

In other words, the author knows how certain ideas will react upon the public; more than this, he knows how to take a given idea and make it react favorably, which is the thing desired above all else. An idea may be good in itself and yet affect an audience unfavorably if poorly set forth.

In the early days of moving pictures the producer and his director could get their heads together and juggle a few ideas into shape, with the knowledge that almost anything would go. They had also at their command, at low prices, many excellent stories which the authors had not put into the form demanded by the magazines. But good stories are scarcer now.

There are, naturally, many producers who know how to put stories together themselves, and we suspect these are the ones who usually have some trained author or scenario writer do the detail work for them. They know the difficulties of the task, the skill and judgment it requires to create humor or drama without offending good taste or good morals. They have learned, too, that it is one thing to have an idea in one's own head and quite another to be able to impart it to an audience in story form. After all, it is the least expensive way to get results, even where generous prices are paid, to buy the story from the author, for that is his particular stock in trade. In studying the successful productions of the day one generally finds a modest author and an even more modest continuity man lurking somewhere in the background.

Secretary Baker's Shrewdness

WHENEVER any member of the nation's government, from President Wilson down, makes a decision or issues an order there are always a considerable number of persons and newspapers who do not hesitate to say "What a blunder!" Not so long ago the Government, speaking through its executives, expressed itself in favor of the motion picture industry, praising its usefulness in these war times and later classing it as one of the essential industries. The other day Secretary Baker, again speaking for the Government, classed organized baseball as a non-essential and declared that men engaged in that form of sport came under General Crowder's "work or fight" rule. Commenting upon Secretary Bakers' action the New York Evening Sun said:

Secretary Baker's ruling that baseball is a non-essential occupation under the "work or fight" order of General Crowder is a blunder and an injustice. It is a peculiar kind of equity which would hold the ball player to the order yet exempt the "movie" star and the chorus boy.

If the editors of the Evening Sun had made a simple comparison between the ball player, meaning organized baseball, and the movie star, meaning the moving picture industry, they would have come to the same conclusion, no doubt, that was reached by Secretary Baker. To begin with "organized baseball" is not a popular sport in the sense that it is patronized by the people generally. A limited number of games are played in a limited season to an exceedingly limited number of patrons. The "movies" includes many thousands of theaters giving amusement daily to millions of people and reaching the most remote places in the land.

Probably not more than five thousand men are employed by "organized baseball," while more than 200,000 find employment in the "movies."

About thirty million dollars will have been contributed in the way of taxes by the "movies" during the first year of the war levy. We have no figures on "organized baseball." Beside that millions of Liberty Loan bonds and War Saving Stamps have been sold through the direct efforts of the moving picture industry.

Today the most valuable form of amusement for our soldiers and sailors wherever they may be is the "movies."

Today the most potent form of propaganda employed by our Government here and abroad is the "movies."

It is quite probable that Secretary Baker had all these things in mind when he made his ruling which the Evening Sun characterizes as a blunder.

Two Problems

TWO problems of the greatest importance to motion picture theater owners will presently be presented. They are censorship and Sunday opening. So familiar are these subjects to theater men that no explanation is necessary here. The only matter to be considered now is how to combat them successfully. In states where Sunday shows are barred and where official censorship exists efforts should be made to repeal the laws which have established those conditions. In states where such laws do not prevail a fight must be made to keep such restrictions off the statute books. The matter is a serious one and cannot be lightly disregarded.

Now is the time to begin. Do not wait until the date for the legislature in your state to convene is at hand. Begin now. First learn what the candidates for legislative office think about censorship and Sunday opening. If they are with you do what you can to support them. Do what you can to secure the nomination and election of men of liberal convictions. Be prepared.

Work of this character should not be done haphazard. In every state you should have a strong organization to present your case and to back it up with numbers and influence. Pick your strongest men to put in the front of the fight and support them unanimously.

It is for such work as this that the picture theater men in every state should have an organization that is one hundred per cent. efficient. Put aside all petty jealousies and competitive fights and get together with a determination to win against the forces of bigotry which are already organized against you.

Make no mistake, there will be a fight on in every state where censorship and the closed Sunday does not now prevail. What plans are being made in your state?

ROSTER OF ROLIN MEN IN SERVICE.

A new service flag with eleven stars was hoisted to the peak over the Rolin studios in Los Angeles the other day by Hal Roach, president and director general. The roster:

Herbert J. Brodie, Naval Reserve, San Pedro, Cal.; "Slim" Voorhis, Coast Artillery, Fort MacArthur; J. B. Roach, brother of the chief of Rolin, with the 47th Regiment, U. S. E. F., now "over there"; Walter L. Adams, acrobatic artist of the Aviation Corps, Kelly Field, Texas; "Sandy" Roth, U. S. N., Mare Island, California; Clyde Hopkins, actor, with Signal Corps in France; Lige Cromley, Corvallis, Ore., in Government school of gasoline engines; Ray Kel- lerman, with Engineer Coasting agent, with Engineers in France; Charles Stevenson, in training at Camp Kearney, California; Joe Matice, Aviation timer searcher, Vancouver; Max D. Hamburger, cook at the Presidio, San Francisco.
The Virgin Islands

Illuminative Studies of American Possessions in the Carribbean Sea.

What we believe to be the most informational pictures of the Virgin Islands yet given to the public are contained in some 8,500 feet of film recently acquired by Joseph R. Miles, E. S. Manheimer and C. F. Winther through an expedition sent to these islands under the management of Mr. Winther. These pictures which will shortly be placed on the market through the medium of the regular exchanges, of which further announcement will be made later, give a definite idea of the social as well as the industrial life of these islands.

The individual islands covered are St. Thomas, St. Croix; St. Kitts, Dominica, Martinique, St. John, Tortola, Keeves and the British possession Barbados. Scenes at St. Thomas include the harry Pusser's Fort, the prison of the sea, the biggest graveyard, and the loading of coal by native women, the castle of Blueheard and an old Danish fort. A loyalty parade and a zulu dance are other interesting features.

Tortola, a small island where fishing is the chief industry, gives splendid fishing scenes in which huge gray fish are caught in great numbers. Tropical birds which nest in the crevices of the rocks are also shown.

St. Croix and St. Croix as it is sometimes called, is the richest and most productive of these islands. Scenes in Frederikstedt are shown and also sugar cane plantations, a sugar factory with a detailed illustration of the making of the sugar; cattle being shipped to Porto Rico, scenes of the home of a native, and last but not least the annual planter's picnic.

St. Johns which is three miles distant from St. Thomas is an old slave island and an ancient resort of pirates, on which the ruins of once beautiful estates are to be seen. The chief industry of the island is the manufacture of Bay Rum from the leaves of the Bay tree. The gathering of the leaves and the distilling and preparation of the Bay Rum for shipment is shown.

Martinique is interesting for many reasons and the film contains splendid views. In Dominica Mount Diablo and the town of Rosseau are also shown.

St. Kitts with its ruins and historical memories and Barbados are also interesting.

One of the characteristics of the natives of the Virgin Islands is their instinctive love of dancing. The dancing of the bambaloa, a dance common to the natives is given a featured position in one of the reels of the picture.

Rivoli Features Cannibal Pictures

A Most Remarkable Series of Tribal Pictures Reveals Habits of Man Eating South Sea Islanders.

Five thousand feet of remarkable films were featured at the Rivoli Theater, New York City, during the week of July 21. These films secured by Martin Johnson, whose exploits in the Solomon and New Hebrides Islands in the South Pacific were featured in one of last week, reveal to us in startlingly realistic manner that savage humanity in a cannibalistic state still exists.

They are entitled "Among the Cannibal Islands of the South Pacific." In order to get to the Solomon and New Hebrides it is necessary to journey to Sydney, Australia, and from here set sail for the points mentioned. Stopping at Honolulu on the way we find the festival of Kamehameha in full swing. From here we go to Samoa landing at Pango Pango the most beautiful harbor in the world. Closeups of Samoan types and dances are interesting. Continuing on our way we come to Tulagi a trading post on the Solomon Islands. Elaborate canoes one of which we see starting off on a journey often carry warriors as far as 100 miles from home to prey on other tribes. The people of these islands know little for nothing of culture and follow peculiar customs such as the wearing of necklaces of human teeth. A dance of unmarried women, and a war dance are interesting features of this part of the picture. From the bush regions of the Solomon Islands came pygmies to the shores to look in wonder on the strange white people.

The little island of Malaita has some 80,000 inhabitants. Cocoanut trees form the only vegetation. A stone wall divides the island giving two parts to the men and one part to the women. From here we go to Leaneuwa where lives a brown haired race. The festival of the devil-devils in which the unmarried women are led before the devil-devils (images) to determine their fitness for marriage, and a ballet dance following are unusual features.

From here we journey to the New Hebrides where on Vanu and are to be seen 400 cannibals who are kept in check only through fear of the British war ship which visits the island at intervals. Next came Malekula Island and Espiegele Bay where the party took on four inches as interpreted by the Big Numbers and the domain of chief Napagate a cannibal with 60 wives. Landing at Big Numbers it was found that the natives were armed with guns which they obtained from white traders. They also had carriages which they saved to shoot stray whites in the back. There were also some pygmies here; and the chief garment of these people consisted of a belt of bark.

Information regarding the distribution of these films can be had from the Martin Johnson Film Company, Inc., 516 Candler Building, New York City.

Interesting Educational

One Military Subject, Three Travel, One Hunting, One Topical, One Floricultural, and One Scientific.

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

"Official War Review No. 5" (Pathé).

This number contains much that is new and informing.

The scenes taken in Palestine, where the British are present, show the desert stretches with camels, and dragging big guns through the sand, are the best yet shown from that region. The disastrous effects of air raids are pictured, an inspiring parade of the Allies in Milan; also views taken from an aeroplane and the honoring of the American flag in France.

"British Guiana" (Post Film-Pathe).

This number gives a series of views taken in Guiana, in the northern part of South America. The native industries are pictured, showing the cultivation of sugar cane and the threshing of the rice crop. Close-ups of native women with their babies make a good feature, also the views of native jewelry.

"The Unblazed Trail" (Mutual-Outing-Chester).

One of the most beautiful of the Outing-Chester series is "The Unblazed Trail" which takes one on a camera trip over a portion of the Canadian Rockies. The scenes are presented entertainingly and include one or two bits of comedy such as a runaway horse whose ultimate destination we are left to conjecture. One of the points of interest shown is Pyramid Peak. A glacier formation wonderfully photographed is a real delight. This portion of the film has been tinted in a manner to add realism. Mount Bryce and Mount Columbia are also shown in the distance. Some beautiful cloud scenes and the climbing of a mountain wall complete an entertaining picture.

"Paris the Beautiful" (Beacon).

An excellent idea of the beauties of Paris can be obtained from this film which presents among others the following points of interest: The Place de la Concorde, Le Grand Palais, the Jardin des Tuileries, the Tour Eiffel, the Arc de Triomphe, Statue of Gambetta, the Louvre, the Chamber of Deputies, and the oldest bridge in the city.

"Roping a Canadian Lynx" (Allenbaugh).

One of the Bob Bakker series known as "Roping and Photographing Wild Animals" has had its world premiere at the Rivoli during the week of July 14 showed in an interesting manner the capture of a Canadian lynx. This animal puts up a terrific fight before he is roped and muzzled and shouldered for a tramp to the Bakker's ranch. It is then placed in a crate ready for shipment to the zoo.

"Clothing the Allied Wounded" (Universal).

The eighty-second issue of the Screen Magazine takes us to the cutting department of the Atlantic Division of the American Film Company where the garments for the wounded are being cut from a pattern at the rate of 216 thicknesses of cloth at one round of the machine used for this purpose. The pieces are packed in bundles of five and ten for shipment to the Red Cross auxiliaries to be sewed and prepared for the journey to the hospitals in France.

"Slipping Geraniums" (Universal).

The scientific side of the slipping of geraniums is shown in the eighty-sixth issue of the Screen Magazine. A healthy plant with stocky branches is selected, from which cuttings are taken and buried in a 1/2 inch depth of sand. After five weeks they are ready for potting in small pots, from which they must be lifted into larger pots as their growth requires.

"Shoe Sins" (Paramount-Bray).

The crime that has been committed by ill-fitting shoes against the beauty of the nation is illustrated in the 130th release of the Photographe. These pictures have been taken in collaboration with the Life Extension Institute and are of unlimited value as a lesson in the proper dressing of the human foot for health's sake.

Shaw Finishes Second South African Picture

American Producer Has Completed "The Rose of Rhodesia" and "Thoroughbreds All"

From Our Special Correspondent.

GREAT strides have been made in the film producing business in South Africa during the past few months. The new Harold Shaw Film Productions, Ltd., has already finished its second release, while the first subject, entitled "The Rose of Rhodesia," has been shown to large audiences throughout the Union under the management of Messrs. Fishers' Bioscopes, which firm is handling the sole rights for the exploitation of all Shaw productions in South Africa. "The Rose of Rhodesia" has been favored with most excellent press reports in every city where presented, while public opinion has been most enthusiastic. There is little doubt that great care must have been exercised by Harold Shaw in the training of the native actors who portray leading roles in the production, and who have received most flattering press criticisms. The scenic backgrounds introduced in "The Rose of Rhodesia" are of the most beautiful character and depict some of Africa's most delightful spots.

The second release of the Shaw company, entitled "Thoroughbreds All," is of entirely different theme to the company's first effort, and is claimed to be one of the finest locally produced pictures yet offered to the world. Owing to the extreme difficulty of securing raw stock the company has deemed it advisable to forward the negatives to London where Henry Howes will arrange for the necessary number of prints to be completed.

African Films Produces Eight-.Reel Zulu War Story.

The African Films Productions, Ltd., Johannesburg, recently completed its splendid subject, "The Symbol of Sacrifice," an eight-reel Zulu War drama. This production has been enthusiastically received by the South African public, but it is feared the film will not carry the same appeal to overseas cinemagoers as it has had to South African audiences. The native actors in "The Symbol of Sacrifice" are excellent and a few of the superior race are quite competent too. Mahel May, for example, is natural and convincing in her portrayal of the girl of organization, photography and arrangement the film certainly reflects credit upon the producers, but as a drama the film lacks "punch." The film is, perhaps, too lengthy and could be easily condensed to about six reels, but apart from this defect nothing but praise can be said about the general quality of the production.

Ape Taken Over by African.

Things in the exhibiting business generally continue to run smoothly. Nothing of special incident has occurred recently, save perhaps the announcement made some two weeks ago regarding the absorption of the Apex Company by the African Films Trust Ltd.

Prior to the Trust acquiring the Apex Company's assets there was much competition in the film business generally, but as things have now turned out the Trust has to compete solely against the enterprise of Messrs. Fishers' Bioscopes, an independently controlled firm consisting mainly, of three brothers, Joe, Harry and Julius Fisher, who have organized a remarkably successful business in the exploitation of big productions throughout the Union.

Among the films which the Fishers have handled have been "The Submarine Eye," "Rasputin, the Black Monk," "Parentage," "She," "I Believe," "Lest We Forget," "Mother" and "Enlighten Thy Daughter." The latter film created a great uproar in South Africa, and was the subject of a great deal of controversy regarding the question of its suitability for public exhibition. As a result of great publicity Messrs. Fisher were unable to cope with the tremendous business, capacity houses being recorded in every town or village where it was exhibited.

Exhibition Business Booming in South Africa.

There has been a boom recently in cinema theaters being enlarged, and several houses in the large towns have been rebuilt to accommodate the crowds who nightly visit the popular entertainment.

Fishers' Bioscope Absorbs the Tax.

Exhibitors in the Cape Province have been greatly concerned recently on the occasion of the imposition of an amusement tax on admission tickets. The tax imposed is stated as follows: Where the admission does not exceed 6d, 1d; 1s6d, 2s; 3s, 3d; 5s, 6d; 7s6d, 9d; 10s, 1s.

The additional tax has been placed on the admission prices by the public authorities which act shortly to be exhibited may be mentioned "The Barrier," "The Crisis," "The Auction Block," "The Zeppelin's Last Raid," all of which are handled by the African Films Trust, Ltd., and "The Cross Bearer," "Republic and Juliet" (Metro), "Lest We Forget," "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman" and "Inside the Lines," these being controlled by Fishers' Bioscopes.

In the case of the latter firm the tax is being paid by themselves, thus relieving the public of this extra charge. Naturally the public is reluctant regarding the action of the Trust in making them pay the tax, with the result that patronage is falling off, and it is extremely likely the Trust will feel disposed to withdraw the additional charge on the admission tickets, it being considered that their annual profits warrant their paying the tax.

Big Films for South Africa.

A big event in the trade was the announcement that "Intolerance" was to be exhibited in South Africa. This masterpiece is now being shown to large audiences in Johannesburg, where it is causing a sensation. Among the other outstanding films which are shortly to be exhibited may be mentioned "The Barrier," "The Crisis," "The Auction Block," "The Zeppelin's Last Raid," all of which are handled by the African Films Trust, Ltd., and "The Cross Bearer," "Republic and Juliet" (Metro), "Lest We Forget," "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman" and "Inside the Lines," these being controlled by Fishers' Bioscopes.

The film "Civilization" is now being presented to the South African public by the Super-films Syndicate, a new independent firm formed by J. Durban, for the purpose of exploiting the production in question.

George Smith Returns from New York.

A. George Smith, manager of the African Films Trust, Ltd., recently arrived direct from New York where he has been on business for the past twelve months, in connection with the placing of the African Films Production's "Die Voortrekkers" on the market, besides supervising the buying department of the Films Trust.
Advertising for Exhibitors

Conducted by EPES WINTHROP SARGENT

Careless Proof Reading.

EVIDENTLY none of the proof readers on the Trenton (N. J.) Evening Times ever goes to a picture show and apparently the exhibitors do not get copies of what comes to their advertising. Not long ago this careful sheet had one of the theaters offer "Barbering" instead of "Barbary Sheep," and now it takes liberties with the name of Marguerite Snow. Either the Trenton exhibitors are impossibly bad writers or the Times has an exceptionally inefficient staff of proof readers, for even a printer should know that "Nitrate" is not the name of a human being, even though experience has taught us that many printers are impossibly bad.

Metro Presents
VIOLET DANA
In
"BREAKERS AHEAD"
Special production 6 acts.
KING BAGGOT
and PIMPERNEL SNOW In
"THE EAGLE'S EYE,"
the great American serial.
Fatty Arbuckle In
"IN CONEY ISLAND."

There is no excuse for poor printing, however, for it is up to the advertiser himself to read copy of all advertising matter, and he should turn in his copy in time to make certain that the proof can be gotten back in time. Printing offices, like all other industries, are laboring under the disadvantage of having lost some of their best men through the draft, and it is more than ever important that each exhibitor should read his own proof and make certain that the names are correctly given, that titles are properly spelled and that the display is all that can be given in the space. Insist upon having proof and read every word in it. The public does not make allowances. It merely presumes that the house manager does not know his business and loses faith in his judgment, which apparently is unbacked by knowledge. It pays to be fuzzy about proof reading, both in the paper and the house-front signs, for the sign painter is apt to be worse than the printer as a speller.

Quitting the Pictures.

A. C. Raleigh, devisor of light effects for lobby and house-front display, has left the profession entirely and is newspaper carousing for the Standard, Butte, Mont. Mr. Raleigh had been with the Jensen and von Herberg interests for some time, but seems to think that a run in the newspaper business will be a change. We hope some one coaxes him back to the theatrical end, for his tips on light effects are worth while having, and one does not devise light effects while doing comic strips.

Philadelphia Programs.

We are going to miss Jay Emmets contributions from this department, for Jay's were the only ones that came in of their own accord, but Jay is selling film to exhibitors instead of to audiences now, and we miss his practical touch. Evidently there have been other jobbers, for Arthur Graver now signs as manager of the Ridge Avenue. He advertises Intolerance at a flat fifteen cents and offers a return of admission to any dissatisfied patron. A person who is dissatisfied with Intolerance at three nickels should not get his money back. He should be sent to the asylum.

The Philadelphia (respectively referred to The Rambler as in the Old Doc Muck class) uses the back of a post card to print its program on, one of the colored portrait cards. The fact that the reverse side is printed up with the matter required by the postal regulations does not bother the management in the least. It merely uses a blacker ink and prints over the printing, making a rather messy looking job. The Chestnut Hill gets out a good looking job, well laid and printed. It uses a very pale blue stock and prints in black that really is black and not gray. Cuts are used where possible, and these are well printed up because the stock is good. Some of the text is easy, but a little of it is too stiff. Here is one that might be used for almost any feature: A substantially constructed story of rare excellence, blending a tense plot, superb action and perfect photography.

It is applied to Blue Jeans, but it gives no idea of that or any other play. It is merely a nice looking collection of lines. They are perfectly good words and nicely put together, but they do not mean a darned thing to the patron who wants to know about Blue Jeans.

You get a better idea of "A Daughter of Destiny" from this extract:

The famous international tragedian in a new triumph. More dramatic than "Madame X." As different from the "blood and thunder" movie as opera is from ragtime. We urge you all to see this remarkable feature.

This means something, if not very much. There is some argument here with which to coax the reader up to the box office, but The Auction Block, which has been a best bet in so many houses merely gets:

A modern problem play told in forceful yet dignified manner. The value of this moral lesson can only be appreciated when seen.

Do you think that would get your own or anyone else's fifteen cents? It does not even mention the fact that Rex Beach wrote it and that it is big and colorful and spectacular. It is throwing money into the sewer to pay rental on this play and do no more with it.

Philadelphia has several double-faced programs which cover two houses, but the Grand and Jackson apparently run the same program of film at both houses, for the program carries the two house names and uses but one list of attractions. This is something new, but probably would puzzle a stranger moving into the neighborhood, though evidently they are strictly neighborhood houses.

The Park and Jefferson joint program is not as bad as the first one, but the management seems indifferent to titles, particularly articles, and offers "Freedom of the World" instead of "For the Freedom of the World," "Woman and the Law" instead of "The Woman and the Law," and a lot of similar breaks merely because the full title will not go on one line. This is a sloppy sort of way to get out a program. Sometimes even where there is room the article is dropped as "Corner Grocer" instead of "The Corner Grocer," and "Journey's End" instead of "The Journey's End." But this is as good as "Land Leaper," instead of "The Land Leaper," "The Interpreter" for "The Interloper," and "Believe Me, Xeloneppa," instead of "Xantippe." They must have an Esquimaux typesetter and a Chinese proof reader in the office where this batch is set. There is no excuse except plain laziness for not having titles right.

A line reads that the program is subject to change without further notice. It should certainly be changed.

Local Fame.

L. W. Barclay sends in some advertising for the houses in Johnstown, Pa., which he represents. Most of them are along the lines recently recommended upon, but one, a five tens, capitalizes the local fame of Herbert Brennan, who used to manage a theater in that town.

Former Johnstown's Latest
From Chicago: Fall Be:
Today
Herbert Brennon
Former Manager of the Auditorium, this city, and Producer of "War Brides," "A Daughter of the Gods," etc., Presents the Favorite

NANCE O'NEIL
With-
IIODOR
Former Concludent of the Coast

"The Fall of the Romanoffs"

The Final of the Kriminal of the Czar. The American Edition. A grand drama of pageantry. A well-acted play with a cast of thirty, and the story of the Romanoffs, as written and directed by Mr. Brennan. It is a grand and thrilling story, and promises to be a huge success.

"A Milk-Fed Vamp"
Special Music:
By a Six-Man Orchestra.

"A Milk-Fed Vamp"
Special Music:
By a Six-Man Orchestra.

"A Milk-Fed Vamp"
Special Music:
By a Six-Man Orchestra.

"A Milk-Fed Vamp"
Special Music:
By a Six-Man Orchestra.

"A Milk-Fed Vamp"
Special Music:
By a Six-Man Orchestra.

"A Milk-Fed Vamp"
Special Music:
By a Six-Man Orchestra.
Another Hippodrome Ad.

Here's another of Harold H. Franklin's advertisements for the Hippodrome, Buffalo, with the frame in color. The large cut shows how the advertisement looks. There is comparatively little to fight through the summer months, but it will be seen that the cut stands out from the rest on the page, bettering even the display of the sister house right along side to the right, and yet it has only a tint border instead of a solid black. It is characteristic of the "aids" given managers that of the two cuts shown in this reproduced half-page neither is in the least suggestive of the story of the play. In one Hart is seen trying to club another man with a section of a house, and in the other he has a gun stuck in his own midriff, but, as usual, the story is about the reforming influence of love for a good woman. An action still is not enough. It should de a distinctive still, yet it is to be presumed that Mr. Franklin picked the best he could get with the result shown.

TARZAN OVER THE BORDER

John C. Green, the veteran manager of the Temple, Galt. Canada, hit it up strong for Tarzan of the Apes. He booked it for a week and started in the Saturday before with six solid columns of advertising, followed with large displays each day of the run, and from one to two columns of press notice, and he showed it at 25 cents including the war tax. It was the second showing of the film in Canada at that, but he did not ask top prices on that account. The way to clean up on the big stuff is not so much to charge fancy prices as it is to advertise like a circus and put it at a price that will let them all come. Four patrons at a quarter a head are better than one person at a dollar. There are more persons ready to spend a quarter than there are men and women with dollars for amusement, and you have been sent from your house four personal press agents in place of one. That is what counts on a run. Outside of New York the dollar top picture is seldom practicable. It is better to make a smaller price and draw a larger crowd, for the crowd is an advertisement in itself. Mr. Green knows.

Rather Small Type.

A. Powell, of the Rex, Chicago, sends in his first program it has a format that, 15% by 7 inches, and we think it runs too much to six-point type with a rather small letter for its size, and uses too much of it. It is better to use a few easily read lines than to have much descriptive matter that most persons will not read. The front page, for example, carries seventeen lines of six-point 1/2 inches wide. A six-point face cannot easily be read in a line so long. While it would be better to set it in two columns thirteen ems wide, it can be read more easily and will suggest readability much more strongly. The cut can only suggest the arrangement, but if you have a similarly wide line, make a mental note to set it in double column. The inside is made up on the lines made familiar by Philadelphians, and with three boxes at the top and one long one below for the chief feature. This is a good arrangement and here there is only one bank of too wide small face. This matter of proportioning the width of the line to the size of the type is too often ignored. Six-point should never be run much more than two inches wide—three at the outside, and if many lines are used, it is better to space out with large type. This cut will waste one line out of four, but it will make the remaining three lines far easier to read, and therefore more persons will be apt to read them. Eight-point is hard to read in lines more than three wide and at least two-thirds should be used for anything much longer. Not less than eighteen-point should be used for a cross-page line, and here a twenty-four point would be much better. The text is good, and, better displayed, would pull business, but to pull, it must be read and it would take an n by 10 to give this the proper display. Either the size of the program should be increased or the lines condensed. In a four-page it is generally better to use condensed lines rather than a reduced face.

Be Specific.

When you complain that you get no help from the manufacturers in the aids put out, don't merely make the statement. Put in a bill of complaint and tell wherein the service falls short. Tell us how you, in particular, have been unable to obtain good, and perhaps the time we can educate the company press men. For some strange reason the companies do not use as press men people trained to advertising methods, but more generally employ book clerks to do as much work along the lines they know, which seldom are along motion picture lines. Then, too, there is the tendency to appeal to the first-run exhibitor, when the real market is the second, and who needs help the most, rather than to the little man who needs help most that he may be able to afford the (to him) expensive features.

Make Advertising Help.

Don't think that because you have no sign painter in town you have to do the services of one. Get hold of some clever boy with a talent for lettering, provide him with the materials and let him practice with your announcements. He could be turned out in a reasonable time. Make a study of your work and you will find that your displays are better and at small cost. There are a lot of half-grown boys in the small towns who could do excellent work if given some encouragement, and who could be turned out in a reason-ble time in this line. And then there is the tendency to appeal to the first-run exhibitor, when the real market is the second, and who needs help the most, rather than to the little man who needs help most that he may be able to afford the (to him) expensive features.

Spruce Up.

No exhibitor has a lobby small that he cannot make it attractive, and at small cost. Paint—even yet—costs little as compared with results, and you can at least have the place look clean. Then go a step further and fix it up a little. Try and make your house look like a theater and not like a half-reformed livery stable. It costs more than cash, but it pays cash in return.

Use a Scheme Book.

If you have not already started a scheme book, start one now. Get a cheap invoice book, and with some home-made tabs make it self-indexing. Have a space for layouts, another forobby suggestions, one for stunts, and another for program matter and catchlines. Paste in well-arranged ads whether they advertise pictures or not. Look them over now and then you find inspiration slow, you'll often get a hint that will be worth while. And remember that the space does not matter. You may get an idea for a page from a four-inch single column or find the suggestion for a two-fiver in a full-page display. Don't trust yourself to be able to always do the right thing at the moment; it is needed that you be ready with these suggestions to meet the time when you cannot think of something just right.

Mr. Middleton's Ideas.

Lately we showed a full page used by A. L. Middleton, of the Queen, De Queen, Ark. Here is a quarter-page from the same source, covering part of two weeks. The space used is four lines, and in this six changes of program are adequately announced to the country.

QUEEN THEATRE

THIE WEEK

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8

"The Belles' Eye" starring Marie Studholme, with veteran comic James Jackson. Two-reeler. Opened Wednesday, June 8.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11

"The Boy Mascot" starring the Sixty-three. Rare, unique feature. One-reeler.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15

"Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp" starring the Sixty-three at $2.50.

BZEAN THEATER

THIE WEEK

MIDNIGHT, JUNE 8

"The Daily" starring Agnes Ayres and Garth liking. Two-reel.

TUESDAY, JUNE 13

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14

"The Vagabond" starring Greta Garbo.

NEXT WEEK

SATURDAY, JUNE 11

W. W. MANNING, MANAGING EDITOR

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

A. L. Middleton

SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D. C.

NEW YORK, N. Y.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11

W. W. MANNING, MANAGING EDITOR

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

A. L. Middleton

SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D. C.

NEW YORK, N. Y.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11

W. W. MANNING, MANAGING EDITOR

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

A. L. Middleton

SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D. C.

NEW YORK, N. Y.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11

W. W. MANNING, MANAGING EDITOR

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

A. L. Middleton

SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D. C.

NEW YORK, N. Y.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11

W. W. MANNING, MANAGING EDITOR

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

A. L. Middleton

SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D. C.

NEW YORK, N. Y.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11

W. W. MANNING, MANAGING EDITOR

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

A. L. Middleton

SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D. C.

NEW YORK, N. Y.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11

W. W. MANNING, MANAGING EDITOR

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

A. L. Middleton

SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D. C.

NEW YORK, N. Y.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11

W. W. MANNING, MANAGING EDITOR

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

A. L. Middleton

SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D. C.

NEW YORK, N. Y.
Provision Department
Conducted by F. H. RICHARDSON

Manufacturers’ Notice.

It is an established rule of this department that no apparatus or other article was prepared to the best of our ability until the selection of such articles has been demonstrated to its editor.

Important Notice.

Owing to the mass of matter awaiting publication, it is impossible to reply through the department in less than two to three weeks. In order to give prompt service, those sending four cents, stamps (less than actual cost), will receive carbon copy of the department reply, by giving all details with regard to the lamp or lamp on matters which cannot be replied to in the department, one dollar.

Both the first and second sets of questions are now ready and printed in three forms, one in black, one in blue and one in red, being seventy-six in number. Either booklet may be had by remitting 25 cents, money or stamps, to the editor, or both for 40 cents. Cannot use hand-drawn stamps, every progressive operator should have copy of these questions. You may be surprised at the number you cannot answer without a lot of study.

A Denial.

Ralph C. Freeman, business agent for Local Union 171, Pittsburgh, Pa., sends following wire:

Your article, July 20 just read. Wish to make denial of charges made against committee Pittsburgh operators which went to Washington to interview Colonel Warren. Wish to refer to you that there was no such purpose for your being sent, as doing our utmost to have operators declared essential.

Anything you heard to contrary wish to state is absolutely unfounded.

Letter follows explaining occurrence in full.

Telegram was dated July 13, but at this writing, July 21, no letter has been received. All I can say is that my statements were based on what Colonel Warren, himself, told me, also they were supported by statements from others who were there on the same mission. There was, however, this error. Colonel Warren said it was Pittsburgh projectionists; others said the Pittsburgh union sent the committee. You will note that in my article I said in one place, “If the Pittsburgh union had anything to do with the matter, etc.” Well, I had, in view of the fact that the committee was called for that purpose, supposed that it was coming from the union itself, intended to cut out the first reference to the union and merely say “Pittsburgh projectionists.” I added the latter reference, but not in order to give the impression that it was a union committee. To Brother Freeman I would say that, conceding committee to come from the union, there was no such error; black projection room walls Altach correct you a grievance that it really was a union committee. To Brother Freeman I would say that, conceding committee to come from the union, there was no such error; black projection room walls Altach correct you a grievance that it really was a union committee.

I think I violate no confidence in saying that our international president was informed the same as was I. If an injustice has been done, let me say I did not resent the impression from the union itself, intended to cut out the first reference to the union and merely say “Pittsburgh projectionists.” I added the latter reference, but not in order to give the impression that it was a union committee. To Brother Freeman I would say that, conceding committee to come from the union, there was no such error; black projection room walls Altach correct you a grievance that it really was a union committee.

Fort Hamilton, Ontario.

G. S. Adams, Hamilton, Ontario, who shows pictures at the Lowe theater screen, writes at some length, explaining some of the things I criticized with regard to the Lowe projection installation. It seems there is an impression that I blamed him for the location of the motor generator sets. Nothing of the sort! That perfectly idiotic blunder was perpetrated by a New York man who made the installation. In my account I said this, but the N. Y. office cut it out, thus, by so doing, I blamed the management, when in reality, when issue of paper containing account of my visit arrived, “I hear Richardson raked you over the coals,” and then admitted he had not himself read the zerofold account. Let me remark that the manager in question was not himself present to hear what I had to say that night, although it was of paramount importance to him and to his theater. Also let me say that I did NOT resent the projection of Lowe’s theater. I simply pointed out a few errors, even as I have done in hundreds of other projection rooms. Brother Adams says he believes in the projectionists, and the fact that he must light incandescent to thread up, etc., thus changing from a too-dark a condition to bright light. There is not a lot in this that is new to the projectionist, except under certain conditions, which do not obtain to any appreciable extent in theaters, but their use prevails, as I have repeatedly pointed out, the use of care and intelligence in other matters. For instance— the projector light ray should be entirely enclosed, as they have it in San Francisco and some other western cities, while here there should be a barrier, or at least, a screen placed inside the lamphouse, as per figure 127, page 302 of the handbook. It also presumes the use of a low c. p. lamp for threading, etc., if a lamp be used, it is at the source of the lamp being seventy-five in number. Either booklet may be had by remitting 25 cents, money or stamps, to the editor, or both for 40 cents. Cannot use hand-drawn stamps, every progressive operator should have copy of these questions. You may be surprised at the number you cannot answer without a lot of study.

Illuminated Clock Face.

W. S. Turner, San Antonio, Texas, has the following to say:

In answer to the article on clock face illumination, issue of June 22, believe I am in position to be of some assistance, as I have for a number of years used that which I am about to describe, and it really is the only first class clock lighting arrangement there is. First remove the clock face, or dial, and paint it a jet black, shaded with gray down the right side, on which the numerals painted thereon with some good “size,” similar to that used by sign painters for applying gold leaf. Let the face set until it is dry, then trim a piece of velvet equal in size, and let it sit overnight, the morning I left Hamilton the secretary of the local, Brother Fred Iaidissari, was put into uniform and is now oversea.

Adams says “This is a personal letter, and no further publication but I am sure it will forgive the use of such items therein as I have selected. I shall be more than pleased to visit Hamilton again when opportunity offers.

August 10, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD
August 10, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

have overlooked, and this function is extremely important, since it "flattens" the wave, so that the matter of fact that the voltage line is very nearly steady. It is therefore quite permissible to use a three-window shutter with A. C. rectifiers. But for this peculiarity of the source you were completely correct. If you will write to the General Electric Company, attention Mr. Russell, Rectifier Sales Department, Schenectady, New York, asking for a quotation and ask for an explanation of the resistance action he will supply it. Your other error is in saying "A. C. Flicker." There is such a thing, of course, but it is so rapid that it is usually not apparent before a significant flicker occurs with A. C. and a three-winder is not a "Sticker," but a flashing of the light. It will be dim and then flash up again, due to wings of the Alternating Current moving with one sign of the alternating. This usually only occurs at a speed considerably above the flicker, but once you have mastered the cycle frequency variation, pretty widely, it also changes with every change of the generator speed, due to lack of perfect engine governor, or to belt slippage. When you have used such equipment, you will never overlook some of the facts. However, the man who never make a mistake never made much of anything else either. I will meditate by saying it. There might be some slight effect with current and the three-winder, but it is true, he seems too discerned by the ordinary person.

We Have Ruined Him.

A good brother writes in as follows:

Some times ago you suggested to a brother who used a Six-A. box he might try a projector at the end of each reel projected, said trouble being the stripping and tearing of sprocket holes, etc., etc. You suggested lubrication and the use of double reels. The reels, of course, could be had from the United Theater Equipment Corporation. Having experienced like trouble, I found it not to be a lack of lubrication, but an insufficient number of maker reel, top and bottom, with poor, unbalanced reels. Remember that the reels sent out by the exchanges are used as carriers to the present up-to-date theaters. Now, with regard to the double reel: A large size magazine nicely takes a 14-inch reel, but I learn there is not much of use, because such reel with a 1-inch hub. On the strength of your article, I ordered 14-inch reels with 3-inch hubs and received them with the small wooden hubs. They were damaged, and I returned them and ordered 14s, all metal, with the credit slip. As a final result I now have heavy, unbalanced and wiggly reels, all through the influence of the double reel, now in use.

And we thus discover the fact that we are not really perfect. The letter was a personal roast, marked "not for publication," but by leaving it, you have made a personal roast to which I wish to reply, to you that we really are human, sometimes err, but we cannot recollect having given any such advice. Would like to know the date and page. And, anyhow, if the good brother ordered five-inch hub and accepted something else, that, surely not our fault. Had we demanded what he ordered or return of his money, and return was refused, I would gladly have undertook the contract of making it real interesting for the party making such refusal. Ripping of sprocket holes at upper sprocket may be due to more than one thing. I doubtless gave the advice that one hub must remember that letters are seldom published in full, and maybe the advice which was intended. The name of the name was omitted from publication. In the handbook we try to give advice which fits all cases, but in the department each case may, or may not stand as to itself. I doubtless gave the results, but under the conditions we are obliged to use the ordinary condenser.

We have not been accused recently as to whether or no the Elbert condenser mount is still available. However, in order to save you time I will myself drop the former manufacturers a line requesting that they ship you a set C, O, of the type in the show. Are they are 9 or 10 cents.

Projectors

Walter C. Michel, New York City offers the following:

In connection with section "B" of your article, June 29 issue, I would like to submit the following: It will be readily seen that the same or destination and in fact, the same pictures are projected should be easily pronounced, easily remembered and scientifically correct; also, if feasible, one word would be better two or more to most of those requirements by coincing a word, and that word is "Projector."

Granting the fact that the proposed word is all brother Michel says is correct, it may not be the "right" word, but is it not very expedient? This department has for many years used the term operating room, but recently we have switched to "projection room" as being equally or even more correct, and at the same time better sounding. Projectory sounds to me like a perfect bit of stick, I do not believe it could be brought into general use. But we nevertheless thank the brother for having submitted the idea.

Condenser Breakage.

Will J. Thurston, Hay, New South Wales, Australia, is having trouble with condensers.

Can you help me out of my difficulty? Have trouble with condensers breaking as fast as I put them in. They usually break while a picture is being projected. Have Projectory Exhibition projectors, which have condenser located outside lampshouse, with arc inside. Have tried several suggested remedies, but the lenses still break. As last resort am writing you, enclosing stamps for reply.

In the first place, English or Canadian stamps have no value here, as all mail coming in from the United States get stopped as letters, or are not sent at all. Second, if you use projection wall fans be certain they do not blow directly on the condenser or else there is no strong air current flowing over the condenser mounts. There are occasional cases of condenser breakage, but I am sure yours is one of mine. One lampshouse broke lens after it had obvious air condition, but only after a fan was turned on. Did everything I could think of, but without result. Finally put in another lampshouse and trouble stopped instantly. Don't see why another lens motors, and is it not possible that the fan is blowing on a condenser, or is it possible that the fan is blowing on the condenser, or is it one of the magnets? In any case, it seems to be a condenser breakage, but without apparent explanation. Oh, by the way, if the Fathe mount carries the lenses in a metal ring and they fit simply the lenses may bend and break from that cause.

Book on Projection Lenses.

C. F. Lewerenz, Chicago, says he has copy third edition of Henry and Henry Phelps Gage, containing much valuable subject matter on lenses, projection and otherwise native to projection. I know of no such book, though Optic Projection by Simon Henry and Henry Phelps Gage, containing much valuable subject matter on lenses, projection and otherwise native to projection. I know of no such book, though Optic Projection by Simon Henry and Henry Phelps Gage, containing much valuable subject matter on lenses, projection and otherwise native to projection.

Henry Gage, Ithaca, N. Y.

There is also an article by Alfred S. Cory, in the just-issued Transactions of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, which deals with projection lenses. Doubtless it will interest projectionists, Here in a sample passage: "As a concrete instance of the existence of these astigmatic deviations, and departure from strait planety of the image field, the Petzval type of projection objective shows a noticeable degree of astigmatism, or curvature of field, or both, at 5 per cent. from a rim, or axis, etc., etc." This will doubt no doubt prove very helpful to the projectionists. The proceedings may be had by addressing C. Francia Jenkins, 712 Eleventh street N. W., Washington, D. C., 25 cents.

Split Phase.

A. C. Stewert, Salt Lake City, arises to remark. For managers and operators.

Very simple. A method known as the "split-phase," is employed. It would require too much space to explain the exact details. What is not required is that the motor be started up to synchronous speed without the application of some external source of power, the same as single-phase induction motors, I would like to know the method employed for starting converters.

For Managers and Operators

By F. H. RICHARDSON

The recomended standard book on the subject of projection is the "Fundamental principles of Electric Motors and Electrical Circuits," by G. E. Sessions, published by the Educational Publishing Company, New York. The book is expensive, but well worth the investment, as it will enable the reader to understand the practical application of the principle of alternating current to the projection motor, and to be able to understand the fundamental principles of electric motors and electrical circuits.

MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Schlitter Bldg., Chicago, I11. 516 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Wright & Callender Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.
Music for the Picture

Conducted by GEORGE W. BEYNON

The Proper Presentation of Pictures Musically.

SONGS AS THEMES.

The demand for themes in picture settings becomes more urgent and also more exacting, the light intermezzo or serenade, the dreamy waltz or cavatina, is forced into the background and the song becomes one of the most essential ingredients in exciting theme to the heroine. The essential attributes of a theme must be melody and rhythm. These are always found in songs because the lyrics compass rhythmic measure, and melody is what brings the song out of the rock and places it as a "hit."

There are many kinds of songs which should be classified under separate heads in the leading libraries. Those used for themes are: classic, which includes works of the masters and near-masters found in concert and recital programs; light opera arias, and popular songs, sometimes called by the derogatory "Shoo-fly music." The classic might be divided into two sections, listed as concert songs and grand opera arias. The latter class is not used extensively, and with a corner of its own would not receive the rough handling incidental to a search for choice concert numbers.

Such themes as "Astor"—Trotter, "Still as the Night," "For All Eternity," and the two famous airs from "Carmen," "Kiss me, my love," and "Serenade," should be found in the concert song group. These are only a few examples, but indicative of the wide field from which one can choose. "Astor" is a plaintive theme with a touch of sadness in it that makes it adaptable to the many situations that arise in the forlorn life of a troubled heroine. Of course it could not be used on all occasions for its melancholy trend would prohibit its fitting a pleasant plot. Its best results are to be gained by applying it as a theme to one who is absent and homesick. "Still as the Night" carries the idea of steadfast and undying love and will fit many of the principal roles of the screen drama. "For All Eternity" holds a similar sentiment, while Tosti's "Good-bye" is a hopeless farewell. The latter can frequently be used advantageously as an incidental number as well as a splendid theme. It is impossible to list the songs which can enrich the orchestral accompaniments to pictures, but there should be no difficulty in determining, in a general way, the proper interpretations. Some words are carefully chosen to assure the words are not to be found in the orchestration, it may be necessary that the musical director buy the song itself. Let him do so. For the addition of the words is more than the interpretation and the expression by an accurate rendition of a song that may be well known to the theater patrons. We can tolerate the poor playing of pieces adapted to the screen or orchestra, but the "singing" of a song stirs up murder in one's heart and the declaration is not soon forgiven. It is always the wisest course to refrain from playing any song with which you are not thoroughly conversant.

Of the better known grand opera arias the most familiar themes are: "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Samson and Delilah, "The Torero's Song." "Ihlanena," and the Don Jose aria from Carmen, "Valentine's Song" from Faust and the "String Song" from Minon. The use of these numbers should depend entirely upon the likeness between the screen actor and the opera principal, taking into consderation also the similarity of dominant emotions prevailing in the scene. The task of fitting pictures with themes from the operas is a ticklish one. If properly chosen, it enhances the musical setting immeasurably, but if the leader is a poor guesser that number becomes a thorn in the musical flesh of the audiencies, pricking them at every appearance.

Under the heading of grand opera arias should be placed all those popular duets, trios, quartets and serenades, which are so often used to advantage. Those hackneyed "has-beens" like the "Traio from Faust;" Quartetto from Ricocetto and "Sextette" from Lucia should only find a place in pictures when that composer has been sung in his patronage has completely crippled the cash box. Aside from the fact that those "hardy-gurdy" favorites have traditional associations that forever bar them from depicting modern scenes, no one wants to sit through a picture which they have paid to see and be regaled with music that they frequently pay to be rid of. Have some consideration for those who pay the admission prices. You may perhaps wish to use them some months, yet the organ grinder that very morning chose it as his piece-de-resistance for the neighborhood.

It has been shown how careful a musician must be in using operatic selections, and the same precocious must prevail in playing operatic songs. This axiom must be constantly before him: Never portray with an emotion of the stage the emotion of one's own heart. Light opera arias usually carry a title that is significant of the general feeling of the song. They are known by their titles as well as by their melodies, and the masses of musically unawakened invariably call them by name. Therefore it becomes comparatively safe to select light opera numbers by their titles. The principal motif in Primi's "Auf Widersehen" is a song by the same name which, freely translated, means "Until we meet again." The title holds in itself the same sentiment as parting with the hope of a safe return and could be applied to a heroine who, in the early stages of the picture plot is torn from her lover and after many adventures returns to him, usually to this motif. This song can be varied as an incidental selection to fit any scene denoting the sad farewell.

Going back into one of the older operettas, we find a fine example of thematic material in that song from Dolly Varden, "As We Met in Lover's Lane." This melody is light, but reminiscent of a great love, and the fact that there appears the line, "a rose, a glove remind me," makes it most suitable for a scene showing the hero fondling a flower or glorifying a glove that once belonged to his saluted sweetheart.

For pictures which hold little dramatic intensity but lots of heart interest, light opera arias can be served as effective themes. Musical comedy numbers can be regarded in the same light as light opera, and owing to their popularity are always prime favorites as themes. Use them not too often and they become a veritable oasis in the desert of heavy music. They may be catalogued with light opera selections or placed under a separate listing, according to the ideas of the musical director.

Popular music depends upon the sentiment expressed in the lyrics of the song for its adaptability as a theme. The ballad style is used for features, while the lighter numbers can be fitted to comedies and pathetic as well.

There is a strong tendency prevalent in the average audience to hum or sing with the orchestra when they are playing something very familiar. The type of song they will recognize will be a duet, serenade, or simple popular songs for themes. The orchestra leader cannot afford to embarrass some patronage by providing a vehicle of annoyance in the shape of a catchy song which is sure to be whistled or hummed.

The type of song to be found listed under popular songs should conform to such numbers as "Wait Till the Cows Come Home" (from The Red Headed League, the "Red Stockin's," "Till the Clouds Roll By," "Blue Bird," "Fancy Me Fancyous You," and the perennial crop of songs "hits." These can be made to serve a purer purpose than that of being the feature as well as being spiced material for light comedy dramas.

There is another group of sacred songs which can be requisitioned frequently. The popular purveyor of the church has long been strongly developed and subtiles inserted which suggest certain hymns or sacred numbers. Besides the usual hymns, "Rock of Ages," "Nearer My God To Thee," "Lead Kindly Light," etc., there are splendid orchestral arrangements of "The Lost Chord," "The Palms," "The Holy City." "O'erward Christian Soldiers" should be classed under sacred as it has officially become the marching song of the Red Cross Society.

Let us not forget folk songs and patriot numbers. They are closely related and yet must be listed separately for reasons of practicability. In the former group we find "In the Goodnight," "Going Nellie Home," "Swannee River," "Old Kentucky Home," "Just a Song at Twilight," and many others in fond memory.

Nothing is more effective than those touching old ballads. They become the spices with which to flavor the musical interpretation of the picture, reaching the hearts of the listeners and bringing the tears to their eyes.

There is a strange peculiarity about the acceptance of these folk songs by the average audience. They know better than any other form of music, yet they are listened to with bated breath. No whisper nor bumbling depresses their sobriety. On the other hand, as an exception to our general rule regarding the choosing of material for picture settings. We have found that no number should be used that will, by its influence, detract from the theme of the picture. A picture should be so made as to preserve the original, without impairing it during a crisis of their career. It is forever closely associated with that epoch in their life and its repeated bearing brings back scenes of which the dominant emotions, and because the song has become part of themselves, the folk song can be used with telling effect as the theme of a picture. Its use is limited to pictures that, if treated sparingly as a thematic motif, will touch the hearts of the auditor and impress the picture strongly in their minds.

Patriotic songs should be subdivided into three classes: vis.
Music at the Rivoli.

During the week of July 11 the Rivoli offered its usual excellent program of music. The orchestras were excellent, while the vocalists were uniformly good. Mr. Rothapfel always believes in giving value for value received, and is not prone to make the elements bear him out in an alibi.

The recent production of 'Destiny,' — rendered in a masterly fashion by the Rivoli orchestra under the guiding hand of Erno Rapee. Mr. Rapee seems to have the orchestra under complete control. It gives a very dainty and dainty musical effect. The finale was exceptionally fine in its dramatic abruptness.

The opera, "The Force of Destiny," was based on "Don Alvar," a Spanish drama by the Duke of Rivas. It was first performed at Porto-grad in 1892. The opera as a whole does not rank among Verdi's greatest successes, but several soloists have been outstanding. ~ Martha Atwood sang "In an Old Fashioned Town" accompanying herself on the piano. We know that she sang, for we saw her in a beautiful scene of it how the piano sometimes accented by an explosive tone, but this is not sufficient evidence that she was singing. We sat three rows from the front, and could not hear a word, so the best that we can do is to blame the acoustic properties of the house and let it go at that.

The animated pictorially, personally, by Mr. Rothapfel showed the skill of the artist in its musical interpretation. During the funeral of our late ex-Mayor Mitchell the sounding of "taps" was most effective and correctly timed.

The singing of "The Yellow Rose" by Desere La Salle was wonderful. Coming before the audience dressed as a French peasant of the days of the Bastille's fall with a scythe in his hand he literally tore into that percussion limb and left his boot with an angry howl. His voice is by no means mediocre. He has a well placed tenor, and his pronunciation is both clear and resonant. A pretty feature added to the scene was a high lyric song of the Hunter sung upon a small screen behind the singer, but not obscured by him. When the refrain was repeated the audience joined in lustily and made it a regular family affair. Further evidence of the desire for community singing.

The feature was well fitted, and the piano playing effects were carried out with a degree of art that raised them from the commonplace. Our old friend Joe Littau was responsible for the dainty touch. All the way through the music was most appropriate and the dynamism splendid.

The playing of selections from "The Fortune Teller," by Herbert, was well done, and carried with it a fine spirit. The Happy Hooligan comedy and the usual organ solo completed a fine show.

MUSICAL SUGGESTION SYMPHONIES.

DECIDING KISS, THE. (Bluebird—Five Reels)—Theme—Moderate Expressive

Suggest "Legend"—Friml, "Berceuse"—Schytte, or "Tendre Avene"—Scubat.

This is one of those delightful stories of the country girl who conquers New York. The dramatic values are not very intense, but the music needed will not be necessary. Long numbers will suit this picture better than short cut. You will need one long, light and intermezzos besides a quantity of melodic antifaces. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Universal exchange.

GLOOMY BODIES, THE ALL COLORS MAY BE USED (Bluebird—Five Reels)—Theme—Andante. Suggest "Twilight"—Coseck, "Clair de Lune"—Theme, or "Extase"—Gaumer.

Here we have till a dramatic picture with all the elements of excitement which means fast screen action. You will need big stuff of a dramatic nature, you will need a big bar and furious, you will need some action. A Note at the big scene and the quarrel. The atmosphere is entirely American, so that you will not be restricted in your musical selection. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Goldwyn exchange.

HELLO'S END (Tribute—Five Reels)—Theme for Mary—Andante. Suggest "Berceuse"—Milles, "Hymn to the Sun"—Thomson, and "Lullaby of the Streets." The atmosphere of the picture is that of the lower east side blended with a bit of Irish-American. The feature is very dramatic, and you need the usual stuff of action and dramatic tension. There are two flat spots to fit musically, and many scenes of equilibrium. On the other hand society scenes are excellent, and the whole picture is a collection of genuine American themes.

SUGGESTION NUMBER ONE (General Film—Six Reels)—Theme—Moderate. This picture has three distinct atmospheres which must be well marked in the music. First we find the plot developing in the Balkans. This should be represented by a music of Hungarian character. Then we have the story transferred to Arizona and the "wild and wooly." Western music will fit nicely. Last we have New York City, which means modern music of American type. The story is the same, and you will need some misterioso and agitatos. The selections from Katinka show will be found very adaptable to certain scenes in the early portion of the picture, and it might be well to suggest Katinka in her theme at her introduction. Information regarding cue sheets is not available.

MARKED CARDS (Triangolo—Five Reels)—Theme for the heroine—Andante. Suggest "Serenade"—Moskowki, "Twilight"—Ayer, or "Suvorov."—German.

The character of this picture is society drama wound around the devoe of the card game and gambling den. You will need some music in certain portions of the picture, while in other parts the action calls for a more intense and moving music. You will need some music of the quarrel, followed by a hurry in which there should be a shot effect. For the big finish you should be well to use a pathetic andante andante music.

CUE SHEETS ARE AVAILABLE.

ONE DOLLAR BID (Paralta—Five Reels)—Theme. This is a picture in which we find the atmosphere of Kentucky and its horses, mint juleps, and fine women. It is a dramatic feature, and much can be made of it musically. The use of the theme should be handled judiciously, as the hero is continually in the foreground, and the musical setting cannot well be composed of theme alone. There is a fine opportunity for light children's music while Toby is singing the youngsters. There will be a few scenes which will require some fine misterioso, a big agitato, a hurry when the sheriff is shot, some pathetic music, and a Waltz intermezzo for the garden party. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Universal exchange.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN (Paramount—Five Reels).—Theme.

Everybody knows the play called "Uncle Tom's Cabin." We have all seen it many times, and if we do not know it by heart we should. Knowing the plot and being assured that the screen production following the play very closely or the book more closely we will have no difficulty in fitting this picture. Be careful of the theme treatment, and make it marked as to which character you are trying to portray by it. Miss Clark plays two roles, and they must not be confused in the minds of the people. If your orchestra can handle a double theme it would be advisable. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Paramount exchange.

WINNER TAKES ALL (Bluebird—Five Reels)—Theme.

The character of this picture is one of fighting low, if one could so call it. Two phases are shown by the heroine, one of the fight or a fight. Therefore gather together your "mushy" stuff and alternate with humorous and agitatos. You will need also a couple of pathetics and one or two music numbers. The scenes are quickly changed, and you will require short selections to meet this need. Cue sheets can be obtained from the Universal Film exchange.

Leaders' Service Bureau.

Questions Answered—Suggestions Offered.

Q. What division of instruments and what number of each would you consider best for a seventy-five piece symphony orchestra?

We suggest the following ratio of instruments, 18 lst violins, 12 2d violins, 10 viola, 6 cello, 4 bass. Wood-word, 2 flutes, 2 clarinets, 2 oboes, 2 bassoons, 1 contra bassoon, 1 or anglais. Percussion, 1 tympani, 1 trap drum, 1 double bass. Brass, 3 cornets, 2 flugel horn, 1 bass clarinet, 1 bass tuba. Owing to the fact that few of the concert numbers are arranged with anglians, contra bassoon, and baritone horn it would be wise to leave these out and add to your quintet.

Q. What is your opinion regarding the playing of music from the German composers?

A. We cannot tell from the form of your question whether you desire advice or simply wish to know our position in the matter. Personally, we feel that the nothing that exists in the world can be played better. There may be in such a shape that it would curtail your usefulness if you discarded all German music. In this case we would suggest that the very German composers such as Brahms and Schumann. Selten's compositions might be permissible, but Strauss, Wagner, et al., will not raise you in the esteem of your patrons.

W. S. FEED MEN WHO WILL WIN THE WAR.
A New Method of Obtaining Dye Tone Images by the Use of Copper Ferrocyanide as a Mordant.

BY J. I. CRABTREE.

Communication No. 72, from the Research Laboratory of the Eastman Kodak Company.

NOTE: The patent rights to this method are being secured by us, but the process is used for motion picture film manufactured by the Eastman Kodak Company.

A THOUGH numerous methods have been worked out for toning lantern slides and motion picture film by replacing the silver image either wholly or partially by a colored inorganic compound, owing to the limited number of colored inorganic compounds available, only a very incomplete range of tones can be obtained in this way. It has long been considered that if the silver image could be converted into a compound capable of fixing or mordanting a dye in proportion to the silver image in the same manner, it would be the ideal method of toning. Accordingly numerous experimenters have made a deliberate search for such mordants (See B. J. Jull, P. 567), and first worker to exhibit a practical process was Tannin, who used a mordanting action of silver iodide for certain basic dyes and obtained dye images by first bleaching the silver image to silver iodide in a suitable fixing bath, and then immersing the bleached image in a solution of the dye. When producing dye images in this way, it is necessary either that the dye shall not be absorbed by the gelatine readily, or that it will easily wash out again in order that clear highlights may be obtained.

Owing to the relatively high opacity of a silver iodide image when produced in an immersion of average grain size, the dye images obtained in the above manner exhibited very little color when projected, so that it is necessary to remove some of the iodide without removing the dye by fixing the silver image containing the dyes and other salts, which renders the dye insoluble. If all the iodide is removed in this way the residual dye image may prove too thin for projection, though by only partially fixing, tolerably good tones are obtained. The action of the hypo is, however, not proportional, attacking the highlights more than the shadow, so that double tones are obtained.

In view of the above objections to the Truaco process, experimenters have attempted to secure transparent tones directly without subsequent fixing, the most recent process being that of Miller (U. S. Patent 1066,668), which consists in bleaching the silver image in a mixture of potassium iodide and iodine containing an excess of potassium iodide, with the simultaneous precipitation of silver iodide capable of mordanting in the usual way.

The following experiments are the result of a systematic search by the author and others, for a better than silver iodide which would give a transparent image on projection.

The Mordanting Action of Copper Ferrocyanide.

As a result of these experiments it has been found that an image containing copper ferrocyanide, obtained by toning in the usual copper toning bath, exhibited a powerful mordanting action and was capable of producing excellent dye image of the Positive to Re-Toned image being reduced by the ferricyanide in the toning bath. When toning in the copper bath little or no intensification takes place, though as certain dyes, such as methyl violet, are very heavily mordanted, it is necessary to choose a combination of dyes and their relative washing according to the degree of intensification produced during dyeing. Full details are given under "Practical Instructions."

The time of toning determines the proportion of copper ferrocyanide in the toned image, which reaches a maximum in from 10 to 15 minutes. If only pale tones are required the image is toned for only 2 or 3 minutes in the copper bath, while, if a full tone is required, the copper toning is carried to completion.

Time of Washing After Toning.

It is necessary to wash sufficiently long for the soluble copper salts in the toning bath to be removed, for copper salts are fixed on to the highlights and stain them. Usually 10 minutes is sufficient though prolonged washing does no harm since the copper ferrocyanide is insoluble in pure water.

Nature of the Dyes Employed.

In general, only basic dyes are mordanted, and only those which do not react with dyeing bath or with copper salts are suitable for toning by this method. The following dyes have been found satisfactory:

Tannin Heliotrope.

Thioflavine.

Victoria Green.

Methyl Green.

Methylene Blue.

Salmon.

Chrysoidine.

Methyl Violet.

Dyes manufactured by different makers differ somewhat in their behavior towards gelatine and towards mordants, so that it is necessary to make a preliminary trial with each new sample of dye.

Concentration of the Dye Bath.

Only a very weak dye bath is necessary, and this should not be stronger than 0.1%. A stronger bath gives badly stained highlights, necessitating long washing to clear them while with a weaker bath the dye is absorbed very slowly or not at all.

The Effect of Adding Acid to the Dye Bath.

The addition of acid to the dye bath has the effect of increasing the rate of reaction in time, and of decreasing it in others; in the case of the dyes given above the addition of acid appears to diminish the rate of absorption of the dye by the gelatine, so that by using acid a stronger solution may be employed without the highlights being stained. If the concentration of the dye is increased to any great extent beyond the amount stated, stained highlights are obtained.

The amount of dye absorbed by the image and therefore the strength of the tone varies with the time of dyeing, reaching a limit in from 5 to 10 minutes. The time of dyeing is also slightly affected by changes of temperature, though slight changes are of no moment.

The Effect of the Size of the Image Grains on the Transparency of the Tones Produced.

The transparency of the tones is determined by two factors: (a) the nature of the copper toning bath, the composition of the bath recommended has been so adjusted as to give the maximum transparency. (b) The size of the silver grains of the image to be toned.

Previous investigators have to ignore the effect of the grain size on the transparency of the image. Experiments were made with emulsions of varying grain size, and it was found that with lantern slide emulsions of very fine grain, such as give warm tones by direct development, very transparent images were produced after toning and dyeing as above without any subsequent fixing whatsoever.

However a toned image for purposes of projection should not be too transparent, and further, in the tone image obtained on say the "Standard Slow" lantern slide plate, and on Eastman Motion Picture positive film by the following methods are satisfactory.

The dye tones recommended proved to be fast to light, no change in color being noticeable after exposure to a quartz mercury vapor lamp for five hours at a distance of eighteen inches. (To be continued.)
British Notes

By J. B. Sutcliffe.

THE American super-film, "Joan the Woman," is being exhibited at Drury Lane theater in succession to Sir Thomas Beecham's opera season.

The general experience of exhibitors both in London and in the country confirms their anticipation that the compulsory closing order, ordering the termination of theatrical and moving picture exhibitions by 10:30 p.m. is making no more headway than has been the case in the past. The regulation makes the exhibitor responsible for having his theater cleared by half past ten and its object, one of simple necessity, is the further conservation of electrical and coal gas energy.

The long arm of coincidence was never so fatefully long when it ordained that Elaine Hammerstein should appear in the movies at her grandparent's costly Temple of Orpheus in Kingsway. She appears in the Selznick film, "The Argyle Case," distributed in this country by Film Booking Offices.

The objection and ban upon the serial film "Alias Jimmy Dale" (Essanay) raised by the Birmingham authorities has been removed.

Sir William Jury, the cinemaknight, is arranging for the son of Hail Caine, the author, to come over from America to appear in a series of productions of a patriotic character to be produced in London.

"Say Fritz!" is an English conception of one way in which an American might address the Hun, not that the more favored method in both countries is less hide—obscene—blood. Consequently the Paramount company must excuse us if some of our exhibitors contort the name of one of their players—Heinie and Louie—on bill matter are not much of an attraction nowadays except as imaginary characters and in the role of villains of the deepest hue at that. Verb. Sap.

The many and conflicting orders issued under the Defence of the Realm provisions to exporters of films to the Scandinavian countries would, if collected, fill a portly volume. The reason for such counties is obvious. In no other countries has enemy propaganda by moving pictures been so complete and thorough and for some time now evidence has not been lacking that the Germans have been buying up as much film bases as possible in these countries for the production of nitro-cellulose camphor and other ingredients used both in the manufacture of raw film stock and explosives. That junk has been at premium is evinced in a circular I have seen from a Stockton in addressing ordering $5 a reel for used film, whereas it can be purchased in London by the hundredweight at little more. But the latest order to exporters issued by the Government ought to effectually check any serious outgoing of film stock to countries it is intended for application. In return for every shipment of film, be it 500 or $50,000, a corresponding amount of used film is now to be given in exchange. The transactions will be supervised by consular officials in the counties concerned.

The exhibition of important, multi-reel feature films at stage theaters, opera houses and municipal institutes still remains a thorn in the side of the English exhibitor, particularly in the provinces. A few months ago the principle was condemned in Liverpool as imactical and dangerous to the showman's interests. More recently the Exhibitors' Association at Sheffield resolved, the outcome of the showing of Selig's "Garden of Allah" at an "outside" hall, to refuse to entertain in the future any film booked to be previously shown at places where the showman resided and picture houses. Now, a case is hanging fire in the courts where an exhibitor is suing his exchange for compensation through his headliner, being advertised to appear at a neighboring music hall simultaneously with his theater, although booked to him exclusive. It is a vexatious point that is constantly recurring.

A new half million dollar film company has recently been registered at Somerset House, by name National Cinema Productions, Ltd. The names of the first directors are J. Benson, R. B. Dobell and J. A. Parkers.

The Kinematograph Trade Council (the British N. A. M. P.) has suffered the loss, although only temporarily, of two active and well-known members, Will Barker and Paul Kimberley. Owing to extensive impending developments on the producing side of Barker Motion Photography, William Barker is unable to remain on the board while Major Paul Kimberley's assistance is demanded at the Ministry of Information where he is now a staff official.

The Kinema Commission which under the presidency of the Bishop of Birmingham made exhaustive inquiries last year into the status of the moving picture, recreatively and intellectually, and subsequently published a report, is to work in co-operation with the Board of Trade in deciding upon any future legislation, the proprietors of this industry. The combination is a source of gratification to all those sections of the trade since the publication of the commission's findings has effectively removed the nauseating aspersions of patent cranks flung at the moving picture show a year ago. The conduct of the commission at the many inquiries is furthermore a guarantee of fairness for the trade and careful consideration of its interests. At the same time its impartiality in the public eye is preserved by the extended sponsorship of the National Council of Public Morals. One of the first questions to be investigated in collaboration with the Government on censorship before any recommendations are made, voluminous evidence of plans used in foreign countries will be considered.

Upon the application of the Famous Players Film Co. Ltd, a judiciary order has been made for the winding up of a publishing company, the Yachtsman, Ltd. Until comparatively recently the company published a paper called "Film Flashes" and in one number last year strongly criticized Famous Players productions. The latter alleging that the comments were prejudiced because they had ceased to advertise in the paper in question. This was denied and a libel action against the film company for making a charge of blackmail was tried recently and disposed of in favor of the company. The publishing company had failed to pay these costs and consequently the compulsory order was made.

A rather ridiculous condition is being imposed upon exhibitors in the city of our oldest university. Moving picture theaters at Oxford are now required to be completely vacated between 5:30 and 6 o'clock each evening for ventilation.

One or two important concessions to patentees are foreseen in the additions to the Patent and Designs Acts, which are expected to be brought into operation any moment. Quite a number are extensions of time limits. The life of a patent in the country at present is fourteen years. This is to be extended to fifteen years, and in special cases the future an article, mixture, substance, or solution produced by chemical processes cannot be protected but the method or process of manufacture may lie.

The Government, at the instigation of the confectionery trade, has confined the sale to the public of chocolate and sweet meats to recognized storekeepers. The decree precludes the moving picture industry, and numerous others from maintaining at the majority of theaters a profitable side line whether it be the "penny a bar" specialty of the Mile End Road or the aristocratic half-guinea box of the West. Before the war the daily receipts for confectionery sold in the auditorium of a West End picture theater averaged thirty pounds.

A new recruit to the domain of film production is George Carpenter, champion lightweight boxer and now an airman in the French army.

George F. Green, a Glasgow exchanger, has purchased from the Universal Co, the United Kingdom rights of "The Kaiser."

There are no half measures about the practical and thoroughgoing patronage of the magistrate of the town of Chichester. The proprietor of a picture house called the Kursaal was only permitted to continue on condition he dropped the Austrian name of the hall. Southend and Harrogate may be expected to follow suit.

* * *

The Stoll Film Company has started business as an independent exchange, its initial purchases being Goldwyn's. The first release, "Polly of the Circus," is timed for November.

* * *

The Society of Authors issues a warning to its members not to dispose of film rights of novels to any producer or agent for a period in excess of five years at the most. Should they license their works for any indefinite term and the producer one day finds he cannot pay his rent their novels will be "hung up" at the mercy of the landlord.

Australian Notes

By Thomas S. Imrie.

Sydney, N. S. W., Australia, May 16, 1918.

The Goldwyn photoplay-concerts at the Sydney Theater Royal have proved very successful, and J. C. Williamson, Ltd., has decided to conduct similar entertainments at its theaters in the other State capitals.

All Goldwyn features are run for a season of two weeks before being transferred to the other metropolitan houses, and a full attendance each screening at the Theater Royal are proof of the popularity these pictures enjoy within the metropolitan theaters.

* * *

Although several local productions are under way, none have been released for two months. Roland Staveley's "The Enemy Within" has met with his success, and the American rights have been disposed of. A film version of Henry Fletcher's widely read novel of Australian bush life, "The Waybacks," is to be given its premiere at the Town Hall, Sydney, during the present month.

Another Sydney concern has nearing completion a filmization of the famous stage comedy-drama, "Struck Oil."

* * *

Feature Films, Ltd., distributors in Australia of Paramount Pictures, released during April "The Narrow Trail," the initial Ince-Paramount feature. This film is in the third week of its metropolitan season, which goes to prove that Bill Hart can still "draw 'em in," despite the fact that he has been absent from Australian screens for many months. The second Ince production, "The Prize Mark," is the present week's foremost attraction from the Paramount exchange.

* * *

Sarah Allgood, the noted Irish actress, is appearing in a big feature for Quality Films, Ltd., a recently formed company. No details have been disclosed regarding this film, which has not yet been named.

Miss Allgood has just concluded a very lengthy and successful tour through Australia and New Zealand, playing the title role in J. Hartley Manners' play, "Peg of My Heart," which by the way, holds the Australian record for long runs.

Welch Joins Famous Players-Lasky.

Miles Welch has just signed a four years' contract with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation to appear as a featured player in support of Paramount and Artcraft stars.

Washington Public Tires of Sex Plays

Manager Morgan of Savoy Theater Says What Is Wanted Is the Clean Play of Lighter Type.

WASHINGTON'S public is getting tired of the type of plays the plots of which are wrapped mainly around the running or escape of a terrify virtuous woman and the continued vampishing of vamps who would do better work if employed in a munitions factory. Go to any theater where such pictures are being shown continuously and you can hear such comments as these and many more.

To get a line on what the people really want, the correspondent of the Moving Picture World in Washington asked a number of prominent exhibitors for their opinions, among them Joseph J. Morgan, who manages the Savoy Theater and connected with Harry M. Crandall in many local enterprises.

"We find from actual experience, coming in contact with the people, that they are pretty tired of these morbid, sex problem plays, pictures of the underworld," said Mr. Morgan. "It has been demonstrated very conclusively to us that what is wanted is the play of the lighter type-clean pictures, light dramas with comedy enough running through them to help relieve the heavy situations."

"It seems as though, in Washington, about every six months the desires of the people as to what they want in the line of films change. With national conditions as they are, they do not want any kind of play that discerns the type that helps one forget the war. As a cue to just what kind of pictures the people want, all we have to do is to stop and think who are the stars who get us the most money and what kind of pictures they work in. For instance, Fairbanks, Pickford, Clark, Chaplin—there are many more—has anybody ever seen them in heavy pictures? Fairbanks made one drama and stopped."

"We hear from our predecessors every night. We see our box office returns and we know what pays best. If the manufacturers will make the kind of pictures a majority of the motion picture fans want, they need never fear censorship: such pictures will automatically pass the test of censorship. We have taken the matter of popular pictures up with the manufacturers on a number of occasions. They have told us that while one locality might want these light pictures, the exhibitors in other territories held opposite views. In turn we have discussed this proposition with the many visiting exhibitors—there are many here each week—and we find that most of them hold exactly the same views as we do."

Metro Men Visit Los Angeles

Joseph Engel Host to Western Managers, Who Plan to Boost "To Hell with the Kaiser."

MANAGERS of Metro exchanges west of Chicago were visitors to Los Angeles as guests of the corporation for three days last week. They included the journey from Joseph W. Engel, treasurer of Metro Pictures Corporation, who planned a "get-together" meeting of the exchange heads primarily for an interchange of ideas, but also with a view to complete co-operation in the great advertising and distribution campaign in behalf of the Screen Classics, Inc.'s super-production, "To Hell with the Kaiser."

The Metro exchange managers who responded to the invitation were Charles Klein of Denver; A. B. Lamb, Salt Lake City; Charles Stern, Seattle; L. Kickert, San Francisco, and Harry Lustig, general district manager. They were shown about the City of the Angels by H. G. Ballance, manager of the local branch, and his assistants, R. G. Turner, B. F. Rosenberg and Bert Lubin.
Fox To Increase Admissions This Fall

SAYS IT WAS A MISTAKE TO DO SO A YEAR AGO, BECAUSE INSUFFICIENT MONEY WAS IN CIRCULATION.

WILLIAM FOX expressed the opinion last week that his motion picture displays for the summer of 1918, starting September, would be the most successful year in the history of the Motion Picture Industry. He backs this opinion by increased volume of productions made under his control. Mr. Fox has used all of his good fortune too, and as evidence of his optimism by expending a greater sum on each production as compared with last year.

"I want to give American exhibitors every reason for feeling secure that my theaters will have business and good profits during the coming season," said Mr. Fox. "In England when the war started, August, 1914, the motion picture theaters fell away from public favor to a greater extent than any other form of entertainment. Disturbed conditions caused many motion picture houses to shut down. The tremendous army that Great Britain raised mobilized many of the leaders of the motion picture profession and their employees. Alterations and repairs could not be made because of a shortage of labor and materials. Zeppelin and aeroplane raids and the darkened streets created unrest among the public, and they did not patronize the picture houses."

"This panic condition in the picture business throughout England during 1914 continued during the first year of the war. However, with the strength, confidence and great patriotism of the English exhibitors, conditions soon took on a more normal, cool aspect. The English exhibitors accepted conditions on their face value. The public again began to patronize the theaters. The result was that the second year of the war saw the English theaters more prosperous, healthy, profitable for the exhibitors in that war-torn country. Every picture house, almost without exception, made a handsome profit. The third year of the war was seen by more prosperous and better conditions than ever in the history of the industry. For example, before the war in England, the admission prices paid the picture theater were from 6 to 18 cents. These same houses to-day have a scale of prices ranging from 12 to 60 cents.

Mistake To Increase Prices Last Fall.

"Last September exhibitors throughout America showed a tendency to increase their admission prices. I was among the leaders in the increase of my scale at the box office. I now frankly admit that this was a mistake. The time was not ripe last fall to jump admission prices because the cash was not being freely circulated. Since last September the public has liberally subscribed to Liberty Bonds, War Saving Stamps and various war charities. A large part of this money came from people of wealth who had not contributed in the past. These big sums of dollars have been expended by the Government for various necessities of war. This money has found its way into the pockets of the working man. The working man liberalized his financial habits and spent it where it would do the most good in industries and entertainment. The women of America earned more money by their labors during the last year than they have ever earned in ten years before. The result is that to-day everybody in America has money to spend and thus to the progress, ingenuity and advance in production of motion pictures we have mobilized a 100 per cent army of patrons. Therefore with this great increased circulation of money pictures we will find their public is willing to spend and to spend during the coming year. This condition was not in existence a year ago because at that time everybody was curtailing expense, foodstuffs had advanced in price and money was not in circulation. Now, everybody jingles cash in their pockets."

"I feel that this fall the proper time has arrived to increase admission prices. I intend to increase my scale of admissions. As I stated before, I did so last September, but was forced to return to my old scale because there was not great amount of money in general circulation. Now, however, I feel that this is the proper time to increase admission prices, and therefore I am again going to advance the box office scale. This time I am confident that the public will accept the increase cheerfully and that my business and my patronage will go forward."

TWO GENERAL FILM MEN JOIN COLORS.

An acting branch manager and a salesman are General Film Company's latest contribution to the National Army. F. R. Lowrey, formerly in the Omaha branch office, has departed for a training camp, and E. S. Lowrey, salesman in the Kansas City office, has received his call to the colors.

Film Offers.—At New York Theaters

BLANCHE BATES is also in "Getting Together," at the Shubert, appeared for the first time upon the screen at the Strand Sunday as star of "The Border Legion," a motion picture which Holbrook & Company is featuring. Another important opening was the presentation of "America's Answer," shown publicly for the first time, Monday evening at George M. Cohan's theater. Government pictures produced at the direction of General Pershing are being distributed to War Review is featured, and specialties will engage Meleta Donconia, violinist; Herbert Waterous, basso. RIALTO.—Sunday afternoon Charles Ray opened in "A Man o'Clock Town." Additional offerings include a scenic Picture screen at the Strand Sunday as star of "The Border Legion," a motion picture which Holbrook & Company is featuring. Another important opening was the presentation of "America's Answer," shown publicly for the first time, Monday evening at George M. Cohan's theater. Government pictures produced at the direction of General Pershing are being distributed to New Yorkers will enjoy during the week ending August 3:

STRAND.—Blanche Bates and Hobart Bosworth, in "The Border Legion," a Zane Grey story directed by T. Hayes Hunter. The Christy Minstrels with "The Christy Minstrels' Vaudeville" opened Sunday, with a Post travel picture, a comedy subject with Greek Evans and Gladys Rice offering vocal solos as additional factors in the bill.

EIGHTY-FIRST STREET.—Anna Q. Nilsson, in "Heart of the Sunset," first half; with Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, in "Passing of the Third Floor Back" to fill the week.

BROADWAY.—Mary MacLaren, the girl who became an overnight star in "Shoes," presents another sociological piece, "The Giant," the title of which is based on "The Kaiser" terminated a four weeks' run last Saturday night.

PROCTOR THEATERS.—125th street, Douglas Fairbanks in "Say! Young Fellow"; 85th Street, Sessue Hayakawa, in "The Best Ways." Also presented is the 25th Street.

B. S. MOSS THEATERS.—"Mothers of Liberty" and "One Thousand Dollars" fill the week, in alternating halves at the Regent and Jefferson.

SAYO.—Douglas Fairbanks, in "Say! Young Fellow." Picture Stars To Help "The Lights"

SCREEN FAVORITES WILL TAKE PART IN ANNUAL SHOW OF FAMOUS THEATRICAL CLUB.

SEVERAL of the best known stars of the screen at present in New York have been asked to assist "The Lights," famous Long Island theatrical club, with their annual show at Castles-by-the-Sea, Long Beach, Friday night, August 2, and also at Far Rockaway, Saturday night, August 3, to help the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign. It is possible at Castles-by-the-Sea, but never before have they tried to obtain the help of the photoplay fraternity.

Alice Brady has been asked to be present, and will prob- ably appear, accompanied by her voice, "The Lights" will also be present. Emmy Wehlen, of Metro, another star who shines just as luminously when she lifts up her voice, has been invited to attend. Montagu Love, World star, and famous story teller, will also be there. Virginia Pearson and her husband, Sheldon Lewis, also have been invited, and every effort is being made to have Kitty Gordon attend. The show will be given under unique conditions. Over twenty of the best known vaudeville and musical comedy stars will take part in the show.

Mrs. Castle's Future Undecided

A note has been received by the Moving Picture World from the secretary of Irene Castle. It definitely denies that the film dancer is to retire from the screen. The statement follows:

"Irene Castle is not retiring from the screen as has been reported, nor is the rumor that she is to appear in vaudeville with a new dancing partner correct. Owing to un- predicted delays in going overseas it is now possible that she will transfer her war work to overcoming German propaganda on this side of the water. Several suggestions of the use of films in charge of war work have been made, and it is not yet settled as to whether her presence in the public will be in the nature of a stirring Patriotic Film now under consideration or by a tour of the larger cities, in a vehicle especially prepared for the purpose of offsetting the German subtleties in this country. A remarkable scenario has been developed along these lines written by a prominent newspaper woman."
Out at the Rothacker Plant

President Watterson R. Rothacker Gives Interesting Interview Concerning Present Activities and Future Plans

I MADE a call one afternoon last week on Watterson R. Rothacker, president of the big, modern plant bearing his name out on Diversey Boulevard. I must confess that there was just the spectre of a lingering fear, which, like Banquo’s ghost, would not down, that I might find things somewhat dull out there, for the great war has cast its shadow on many of the big film plants in the country. The spectre was thoroughly downed, however, after a few minutes’ conversation with my old friend Rothacker.

Indeed, I was soon convinced, in a way that was most unexpected, that Mr. Rothacker was a very busy man and his office a very hive, for the telephone broke in on our conversation most persistently. These calls were not confined to business men in the city, as several were from far-out cities in the Middle West, from men engaged in manufacturing industries, some of whom made appointments to meet Mr. Rothacker when they arrived in Chicago with the object of contracting for the making of industrial subjects that would advertise their products. Here was a practical demonstration, without Mr. Rothacker’s aid, that was both satisfying and gratifying.

But an account of the present activities of the Rothacker plant, as revealed during our conversation, will be more to the point. I found that a very interesting and important industrial subject had just been finished for the United States Fuel Administration, having been made under the personal direction of Major Edward V. Schmidt, of the fuel conservation section, Washington, and of L. R. Pyle, fuel supervisor of the Soo line of railways at Minneapolis. This subject is in one reel and will be released by the Fuel Administration in August.

Film for Railway Firemen.

The film shows in the clearest manner the best way to get the highest value of coal in firing locomotive engines, and it also shows the great waste that results from the customary and imperfect methods of firing now in practice. It is for use especially among the firemen of the railways of America, and a special showing will be given through the agencies of the United States Fuel Administration throughout the country for the special benefit of firemen.

Film to Aid Salvation Army in France.

Just now several short films are being made of the big pageant recently held on the Armour estate at Lake Forest, on the North Side, in aid of the Salvation Army’s devoted women workers near the battle front in France. A grand reproduction of the pageant given in the Auditorium July 27 in the interests of the Salvation Army war drive,
THE 达到了 which 走了 a ride 期望 little got their started us.

reminiscent never and have at 849 being Blue were I down mare how to.

It 明白 she 家居 lived in "The Moon"?”

during Rothacker the "Pictures"—of recruiting of the Western Electric Company's plant at Hawthorne. Ill. Another, just finished, shows the entire process of making vinegar for the H. J. Heinz Company, Pittsburgh.

Activities in Photoplay Production.

“We will start a series of single reel, refined comedies on September 1 at our Chicago studios for a Chicago organization, the name to be announced later.

“About October 1. I expect to release personally a series of travelogues covering all parts of the world and a weekly single release of the magazine type, which will include scientific, educational and entertaining topics. These subjects will strongly feature various helpful aids in winning the war. They will be released probably through the open market, although I am seriously entertaining at present propositions from several big distributing agencies.”

Series of Six-Reel Features Contemplated.

Mr. Rothacker incidentally stated that it is very probable he will produce a series of six-reel features, on which work will be delayed late this fall. He has had the project in mind for some time, but the pressure of other business has retarded progress in the matter.

“These features will be signally marked by good stories, competent direction and well-known and popular photoplay player,” said Mr. Rothacker. “The productions will be made at the Chicago plant and the distributing plan will be announced later.”

Mr. Rothacker at this point remarked that the photoplaylet department reports great progress in the production and distribution of short films, posed from life and used for general theater advertising.

“Naturally the war has made serious inroads on the working staff of our plant,” Mr. Rothacker concluded. “Twenty-two men have already joined the colors, but our organization has been maintained the present by structure of all demands. There has been no interruption at any time.”

Mr. Rothacker will leave for New York for a two weeks’ stay the first week in August. He will make his headquarters at the Hotel Biltmore.

“A Few Remarks De Luxe by Doris Kenyon

THE star of "The Street of the Seven Stars" is not the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter, although she has lived in "The Inn of the Blue Moon" and has had her horoscope cast by a Coney Island astrologer—at regular rates. She admits, however, she has seen more than seven stars at once—seven times seven and a few more besides. It happened the day her father stranded her on the old door step on the farm she started off to deliver a fresh-laid chocolate cake to the Ladies’ Aid Society for her mother—referring, of course, to Doris Kenyon and not to the horse. Her remarks on the adventure explain it thus:

“I was about twelve years old when I landed in the middle of the street of the seventy-seven stars. I always loved horses and learned to ride without a saddle before I was seven. Our farm was about two miles from the village, and when mother told me she wanted me to take a cake to the church I made up my mind that old Mollie should carry both of us. I got father to fasten on the blanket, lead Mollie to the side of the house, went in and got the cake, climbed on the mare safely with my burden and started on a slow walk down the road. The cake was in a basket, and I got along all right until just before I reached the church. A male being was the cause of my downfall."

“What was he? A male vampire?”

“No, a little freckled-nosed boy, who called after me: ‘Bet yer 'raid tu make th’ old plug gallop.’"

“Did you take the dare?”

“I did—to mine and the cake’s undoing. I hit Mollie in the side with my heels and shook the reins. She started suddenly into a trot, the basket struck her on the neck and frightened her, and the chocolate cake was under and so when I landed on my back in the middle of the street. I’d heard of daylight firework, but I’d never seen any before. They were all of one kind though—shooting stars.”

“What about your new De Luxe picture, ‘The Inn of the Blue Moon’?”

“‘It was written by Louis Joseph Vance, and is the first story designed by a prominent author for screen production before being published in several magazines and in book form.”

“What’s your part?”

“Twin sisters. One is reared in the city; the other in the country. A lot of her scenes take place on a farm. We use all sorts of live stock in the picture, and I have to ride a horse:

“And carry a chocolate cake to town?”

“No, thank you! I’ve seen my share of shooting stars.”

“What about the other kind?”

“I’m fond of them, of course. I started with Alice Brady in ‘The Rack,’ and such a funny thing happened— Doris Kenyon stopped as suddenly as the mare started and smiled in a reminiscent sort of way.

“Perhaps I hadn’t better tell you about this. Anyway I’ll not tell you his name. But when I was sixteen I went to a matinee in Syracuse—that’s where we used to live—and was much smitten by the hero in the play. My mother dared me to go around to the stage door with her and tell the handsome leading man how perfectly grand we both thought him.”

“You accepted this dare also it is safe to assume!”

“Indeed I did! We were a couple of silly young things, but our hero was real nice, only before we fairly got started talking to him his wife joined the party and that rather put a stop to our flow of compliments. I never expected to see him again, and he walked over and shook hands with me the morning I went to my first rehearsal at the World Studio. He was a member of the cast.”

HULETTE SUBJECT SELECTED FOR “Y” HUTS.

Among the pictures selected for showing in the YMCA entertainment huts in France is “Waifs,” a Pathé production in which Gladys Hulette is starred.

The fact that Miss Hulette is the wife of Captain William Page, of the Royal Flying Corps, who is now detailed on duty in France, ought to lend added interest to this picture when the Yankee boys see it.

ZEECA AND FRANCONI RETURN.

Ferdinand Zeeca, director general of productions, and L. E. Franceschi, head of the foreign distribution department of Pathé Exchange, Inc., returned to New York last week, after a stay of nearly three weeks in California. During their absence Messrs. Zeeca and Franceschi visited the studios of Astra, Monno, Rolin and Anderson-Brunton company, whose product is released by Pathé.

BILL PAYING ATTENTION TO “HANDS UP.”

During the absence in California of M. Ramirez Torres, chief of the scenario department of Pathé, William Lord Wright is in charge of that department, paying special attention to “Hands Up,” the Pathé serial in which Ruth Roland starred.
Universal Employees Stage Ball Game

Final Score Still in Dispute, But Pitcher Nat Rothstein Is Credited With a Most Generous Delivery.

THE employees of the Universal's home office and laboratories had their annual outing at Donnelly's Grove last Saturday. As usual the most important event was the ball game, in which the laboratoryites beat the home office. The strategy of the H. O. was to allow the laboratory to score a few runs in the first inning and then to shut down on them and beat them in the home stretch. The opening of this campaign developed as planned, but that was only part of the campaign which developed that way.

Nat Rothstein, the most generous pitcher who ever hurled the pill, permitted the factory eighteen runs in the first two innings, but the development of the runs which would beat the Jerseyites was sadly at variance with the expectations. When the game finished the home office had only amassed the two scores, and the number that the laboratory got will doubtless be a matter of argument all the rest of the summer.

However, the five hundred people who crowded into Donnelly's eating rooms were very little disturbed by the outcome of the game.

There were a number of athletic events, including races between the exchange and the home office, and the different sections of the laboratory. There were also two contests for girls, one a ball throwing contest and the other a fifty-yard dash. Both of them were won by Celia Witter.

The arrangements were under the immediate direction of Clarence Jack, who managed the entire affair.

Kirkpatrick Promoted by Mutual

ARTHUR S. KIRKPATRICK has been appointed to the post of assistant general manager of the Mutual Film Corporation by President James M. Shelton, who by mutual precedent carries also the title of general manager. Mr. Kirkpatrick thus succeeds to the post previously occupied by Denis J. Sullivan, whose resignation was announced last week.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, formerly a representative and branch manager for the Mutual in various western territories, was called into the home office of the corporation and made a member of the executive staff about one year ago, working there as assistant to Mr. Sullivan.

"This experience, plus the thorough experience of selling in the field has particularly fitted Mr. Kirkpatrick for his present functions and duties with the Mutual," said President Shelton, announcing the appointment.

Mr. Kirkpatrick has been in the service of the Mutual Film Corporation for about three years, having worked in the capacity of salesman and as branch manager. His experience as salesman is wide, having covered during that time practically all of the Western territory for Mutual and finally having been appointed as branch manager at Portland, Oregon.

Prior to Mr. Kirkpatrick's connection with the Mutual Film Corporation he was with the United States Steel Corporation at Chicago, there being employed as chief civil engineer.

Having been for a time interested in the motion picture industry as a fan, he decided to enter it as a business and became connected with the Metro Pictures Corporation, there getting his first experience in the industry. After a period with the Metro Pictures Corporation he entered the employ of Mutual as sales manager, shortly afterward being appointed branch manager of Portland. His ability was soon recognized and resulted in his being transferred to Chicago.

Mr. Kirkpatrick has covered practically all of the territories that are served by Mutual, and in this way has acquired a thorough understanding of conditions and territories as they exist.

St. Louis Exhibitors Visit Studio

OUR St. Louis exhibitors whose efforts at the Boston convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League last year's gathering to the Mound City were guests of Goldwyn in New York July 15. The St. Louis boosters are Thomas J. Lavin, of the Melba theater; Edward Pohlmann of the Bridge theater; Joseph Mogler, owner of the Mogler and Bremen theaters, and Lewis V. Stephens, of the Juniate theater. They were accompanied by Charles F. Hatfield, secretary and general manager of the St. Louis convention and publicity bureau, a part of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

The visitors were driven to the Goldwyn studios at Fort Lee, N. J., and escorted through the various buildings by Longworth, manager of the Goldwyn studios.

Left to right, standing—Edward Pohlmann, Bridge Theater; Charles F. Hatfield, Chamber of Commerce; T. J. Lavin, Melba Theater. Left to right, sitting—Joseph Mogler, Mogler and Bremen Theaters; Lewis V. Stephens, Juniate Theater.

Hodkinson Service Has Big Week in Cleveland

The W. W. Hodkinson Corporation, distributors of Paralta, Plaza and Douglas Natural Color pictures, had a banner showing in Cleveland, Ohio, the week of July 21. Paralta plays ran a week in three different theaters.

The Standard theater, a downtown house, played Louise Glau's in "Shackled," to full houses. The Metropolitan theater, with a very large seating capacity, found that J. Warren Kerrigan is proving their biggest drawing card. The feature was "One Dollar Bill." At the Knickerbocker theater Bessie Barriscale did a capacity business in "Patriotism."
Rambles 'Round Filmtown
With WALTER K. HILL

The cold shock that struck New York last week brought the coldest inhabitant into the newspapers with comments on the fears of cracker-box strategists assembled at Wick Titon's general store left the world war with the coldest chill since the very immediate work of getting the thermometer back to its senses.

Ladies appeared on New York's Broadway muffled in furs, reinforced by heavy veils with double-thick strips across their mouths to protect their lungs from the sharp winds that whisked shivery Argentines as they blew down the subway kiosks after the manner a small boy makes music in the neck of a bottle.

Shop girls who could not afford the more expensive furs snatched cats from the back window of the employees' entrance arrayed comfortably in stoles, capes and neck pieces, varying the Presidencies from the explodometers to the more demure and domesticated mittens and tiger-striped somonets of the news and alleys.

Frost formed on the glass laminar of moving picture studios at Port Lee Kugel to such depth that there was danger of the productions then under way being unmarketable. Presidencies, clothed them, but so thick and penetrating had the frost become that the popular sharp fletch of plain pictures until the pictures are released and the critical reviewers get a crack of the present the impression as to how seriously the frost penetrations will affect the results.

Harry Reichenbach, now known as the "Snow Bank Columbus," in succession to his previous moniker, "The Silver King," was experiencing a touch of the same. He was entirely covered with board signs, ready mounted, to decorate the snow piles that accumulated in Longacre square. It was all he could announce, as the official title of the new production had not been registered at the patent office.

Rivoli-Rialto Rothapef experienced a remarkable "strike" among the actors then appearing in those farthest north. The cold wave went above the Longacre timber line with cutting keenness, and the actors impersonating the natives of the Cannibal Islands refused to go on.

They claimed that in consenting to appear so near the frost belt in the heart of a New York summer they were assured that July was just the time for canival actors to disport in their native costume—a nose ring, reinforced by a splinter of orange-wood. Having dressed in accord with managerial guarantees the South Sea Islanders shivered until the audience could bear the Cannibals' nose rings.

Late in the week the society for the protection of cruelty to Cannibals intervened. A protest by this body, who had replaced an operator in the booth to flick up the light and give the shivering man-agers more heat.

The far-famed and fifth industry has issued a protest. It is to the days of the Patens-Co-In-Its-Glory. Garfield never put the ice on so thick in the Paper Society. "How cold is it?" snorted the president of the Manufacturing company.

Coleen's "Penny Waters" snapped the vice-proxy as he slammerd the communicating door between offices.

During the worst of the cold wave phenomena hundreds of ladies protected their shivering forms by throwing over their shoulders military caps, containing enough thick woolen cloth to make three suits of clothes for any of their garrulous retinues in the cracks clasped at the throat, high collars extending above the ears of the suffering creatures.

With these thick military caps and heavy coats, the vice-president of the Bronx managed to present an outward appearance of uncomfortable warmth. The check given at the theater to picture theaters did a February business in checking winter-weight clothing for the sockets of native eyes to escape the withering blasts that came right from Baffin Bay to chill New Yorkers in a surprise attack.

"Snow" fell at numerous picture theaters fronting on Broadway to such an extent that officials entrusted with authority suffered severe muscular strain in shoveling it out. At one theater the temperature discovered that the war tax drawer contained an amount many times in excess of the gross sale of admission tickets.

INTERVIEWED In his office at the Raystown depot, President the N. A. M. F. I. ever had shivered out a few reminiscences as he swatted the snow from his heels and departed. "I was the first time I played Boston. I was the Boston Bottom of the sea," he said.

"Just back from Boston," he said. "Thought Boston was cold, but this puts a chiller in my system. I was there the first time I played Boston when I was a young fellow getting together my first dollars. My daughter was in college when I was in Boston last week, but she was not with me when I first went there with "The Bottom of the Sea."

Mr. Brady paused long enough to turn the hundred dollars into his pocket. "Gotta have a little moisture on my tonsils or the cold will crack 'em off," said he in explanation.

"Back to Boston," he resumed. "I carried three cars of scenery on ten tickets and my check was not worth a piece of eight. If the picture had not have a peak like the bed of the river a hundred miles due east of Sandy Hook. It was in January and a cold blast came down from Greenland and froze that scenery so stiff it was a solid block of under-water."

"To get it off the stage I had to saw it out in chunks. I gave fifteen wagon loads of this ice to the Watch and Ward Society. They took it over to the Howard Athenaeum, where Sam T. Jack's Lily Clay show was running and the hottest opposition I ever experienced in my career as a theatrical showman and putting picture producer."

"This darned ink well is dry," said Mr. Brady as he jabbed a pen into the neck of the bottle preparatory to signing a check for Alice Brady's share. "No, it's froze," he concluded.

The Waldorf-Astoria Airline, at Fifth avenue and Thirty-third street, turned to advertise the coldest business they had been smudged into a business, following that with a rout. In winter—regular winter—there's some of the most exhilarating rink. The management shoved the seats into one corner, flooded the asphalt and got out the ice for the possible advantage—

"We should like to have been bright enough to have invented the thought, now credited to Roy K. Moulton, that "the movies have perfected perpetual emotion.""

The Hopes of a Famous Infant
Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., British Consul of Cinemas, in his speech at the Boston bouqet dinner convention busied the old naut right on the coldest:

"I believe that the cinema and the uses and purposes to which the cinema can be applied are not yet realized in their infinite possibilities."

Don't forget to add the challenge "nifty" for July to Universal.

One of the characters in a burlesque on "The Kaiser" is called "The Clown Quince."

The Castoria of Eye Waters.

"When this next delicious microscope the Bentwood publicist, it is destined to give the jaded mankind of the movie auditi- one of the best movies they'll ever see." "It's not new; they are continually crying for it."—w w s

Chico, mad was of many battles, anyway.—Evening Mail stories in last week's trade papers carrying Boston date lines were very conventional.

When Will Talent Dominate Looks?
As the caption under the cut of a girl mighty easy to look at the Evening Mail read: "registered."

"Lilyan White, of "Rock-A-Bye Baby," at the Astor, whose announced intention is to move into pictures, being seen, as how she carried off first honors in a Boston motion picture beauty contest."

One motion picture magazine in our town does not own a motor. Furthermore he will not even ride in one.

"He's afraid," says a jealous competitor. "He's afraid of you, any way."

No little the picture publicists worry. Months before the War Department moved to call a halt on godmothering every known unit in Uncle Sam's service the scene was soיפות by practically every screen queen known to the great American mimeograph.

Who now shall cut the godmothering knot?

"The Yanks Are Coming" made good as a show in France.

What became of that old fashioned near-run-in pictures?

Taking Advantage of "Opportunity.
S HOWN at the Strand by Goldwyn last week, "Opportunity" depicted "Smiling Bill" Parsons camouflaged in the oil business. It is the next incident of the same. The actor is in on Bill's game, joked fun at him in one sub-title as follows: "I know you are handsome this evening."

The expression will do right for native-born Manhattan Islanders, for the language is spoken by them as by none others anywhere. "Oil" means early in native New York parlance, just as "early" oil means "new." New York's second best playground (we hope for the time the Manhattan Island to the natives. They generally take their "goll" down on the "Thold" away from me."

There is no "faww" in the native's system. Their "wold" is as good as any. "Hee" you every "a" and if you dispute them they'll punch you on the "jaww." In the "foist" place New Yorkers hate their own language. Their "polf" is always a "boid," and so on, ad lib.

In the last place they are native New Yorkers.
The Redemption of Justin Fair.

THERE should be joy in this written proof of contrition bubbling from the pen of producer-director Pathe photoplays and players. With the "still" produced elsewhere on these truthful tales, hard hands and confession. It is worth perusal right through to the concluding interpolation point:

"Hillbilly," writes Justin, "which you will note from that great drama "The Terrible Face," which will need the help of Frank A. Koeney—not while he's sober.

"Having listened for fifteen long, lean years to actors telling me how publicity should be done I once decided that if the actor or the studio should write publicity better than that I was dodged—someday I could act a whole lot better.

"So—I ventured.

"But I was wrong.

"Which we conclude: actors can write publicity (although I still listen to their chatter with the uplifted eyebrow, the sniffing nostril, the sneering lip and the surly smile—you know, the frosty-eye stuff), but I do admit now that I am a box office artist.

"Somehow I don't register well.

"When the still came I detected serious defects.

"Why did I not remember to pull up my pants for the camera? How hard can my knees—tight-like? Why did I not dye my hair with some good ole walnut juice—brown-like? Why—whisper-like?

"And, above all, why did I edge away from my beautiful star like I did?

"I tell you, this I will not do again.

"Your chaste-fisted friend shall never act again.

"Are the still in Rambles? Well, why not?

"I'd be a hot publicity shark if I asked you not to use it."

--W--

Our heroine, according to synopsis, was not long to make her home life. "With the convenience of a household she runs away," ended the sentence.

We conclude this was not a most convenient way to solve a picture problem.

--W--

Give Credit to Enterprise.

But let it be Chicago daily musical critic—Herman Devereu—give his opinion of this orchestra, which appeared recently in the Chicago American Moving Picture World.

--W--

Johnnie Hines bought Ford car. Honest, he didn't buy it. It was wished on him by man who has "gone over sea.

"Something which it caused him to turn down to the ferry from the studio at Fort. Then the street car down the hill. The policeman arrested him for speeding. He was fined ten dollars, notwithstanding the alibi that Johnnie handed out. "That won't go," said the judge. "Ten dollars or ten days."

"Take the car," said Johnnie.

--W--

Demand of Art Turns Two Heads.

Edward Coxen, leading man, who plays opposing anarchist in "The Conscience," the star's latest Paralta production, is normally brutish. And Baby Maybe Jane Irwin, who also has an important part in the picture, was given by nature beautiful golden-brown locks of a light shade.

But the needs of a story must be catered to irrespective of the artist's choices in shade of hair—or personal choice either.

The whole story hinges upon the little girl having the right hair—so the director colored to them for the part. And equally important in the story is it that Edward Coxen should have hair as blonde as that of his wife herself.

So Coxen, let it be known—hero of a number of stories—has now in his raven locks enough to use peroxide or something of that sort.

Take heart, though, girls! It is said around the studio that he looks more handsome than ever.

--W--

Catherine Calvert and Justin Fair

In a Scene from

"THE TERRIBLE FACE"

An Unproducible Photoplay with Justin Fair In the Title Role.

Rambles 'Round Filmtown

Cracks Three Ribs for Camera.—Moving Picture World Headline.

Now comes X-Ray photographs for lobby display advertising "The Liar."

--W--

The Forwarding-Looking Pettijohn.

In Boston there were many speeches, as rightfully becomes a well ordered convention of motion picture craftsmen. It was C. C. Pettijohn who really said something when he urged that any title other than "Exhibitor" be applied to managers of theaters where motion pictures are shown.

About the best thing we do is suggest things to some of you among you:

Cinemasagers.

Cinemagraters.

Picture Showmen.

Come-ons.

Fall Guys.

Shillobers.

Or, as a result of certain conditions in distributions:

Janitors.

When Do We Eat.—Forthcoming In-Parma-inent Title.

Usually in the first, third, fifth, second, and fourth routes. Photoplays without "cates" are not being worn this season.

Bowing Away from Old Doc Muck.

"Let's get this right," says Sam Palmer, of Famous Players - Lasky publicity department. The new spelling of Gustav von Seffertits's new name was misspelled in the first announcement of his return. According to G. Butler Chonbough in the new and correct spelling instead of "Chonbough," as the announcement first came through diplomatic channels.

We are willing to use all the O's and A's and H's in the machine in the worthy effort to impress a good actor's Americanism on the scroll of fame.

The short George Bielski comes to both revenue and deface thinly—

"His Thandies Dooevee—Tito Title.

"Not six weeks can naive notice it," says the cruddy Brooklynite.

--W--

Pete Schmidt is this week devoting the last of his fortnight's vacation to a canoe trip he had years ago set his heart upon. Lake George is the location, and crystal waters of that lovely pond have given urge to the "Terrible Turtles" sturdy paddle, while the shades of pretty girls gaze from the shore upon the wondrous sight.

Yea, Ho! It's soft to be a publicist.

--W--

Screen-Fame Flirting with Joan.

W HILE you are resting," suggests Raymond Griffith, whose adding machine in hand and total up the number of Joan films that are being unsold, "they are best photographs. Here are a few to start with:

"Joan the Woman.

"Joan of Plattsburgh.

"Joan of the Woods.

"Joan of the Canyons.

"Others will doubtless be promulgated from time to time; in fact, I expect the Jones will write up the Polly, Betty's and Molly's of yester-reeds.

"Outside of the famous heroines of Famous, there is much. A recent production broke out as far back as 1913, when "Joan of the South Coast" was followed by Ditto, World Film and Electric.

Then, too, there's always Joan Sawyer.

--W--

Tom Hamlin, prominently popular in northwestern motion picture circles, has shifted his activities to New York and is now sticking the publicity spurs into the First National Exhibitors' Circuit drive on Government war pictures, specializing initially in "Pershing's Crusaders."

--W--

Soprano Wolf-Hound Has Rival.

Before Nat Strong separated from United Artists' production department he launched a story of a Russian wolf-hound in Big Trophy. Tom Yolen andings soprano. Now look at the Goldwyn "copy cats" springing this:

"Madge Kennedy is teaching her dog English. He is Vladimir, a Russian wolf-hound, brought from Odessa to the Goldsby star by Lieutenant T. Scobis of the Serbian army before the city on the Black Sea was captured by the Germans. When he now is in Chicago on a recruiting mission, Madge Kennedy learned how to say 'stop,' 'come' and "lie down" and 'she might translate her commands to the dog.'"

--W--

The science of reviewing photoplays in these parts has sunk to a mere occupation.

Ed Weitzel and wife are vacationing in Detroit.

--W--

First Heatwave Issue Is "When East Meets West."—Moving Picture World Hailing.

And Kipling said it couldn't be did:

--W--

The H. C. of Propagandizing.

The Orpheum management was anxious to show a few scenes from Ambassador Gerard's book, "My Four Years in Germany." The best price he could get was $250 per night, which is beyond all reach for one night here—Chambersburg (Pa.) Reporter.

"The Drawing Club" loses one of its most cheerful and consistent contributing members with the entry of Charles Condon into the service of his Uncle Sam. This popular young chap has long desired to take up the heart of Justin Fair. A dog's life in the German Forces of Irish Freedom, and now he's off to training camp.

The Gershwin compulsion to send him away with a wrist watch. We're "on" for our share.

--W--

The White Hope of Pictures.

Kid Broad, the handsome leading man of many gymnasia scenes, declares that "the celluloid age has no bar to motion picture popularity."

Thus passes the Christmas Number. Last week's cold wave nearly spoiled the effect, but this must do until the Vacat

"You are resting," suggests Raymond Griffith, whose adding machine in hand and total up the number of Joan films that are being unsold, "they are best photographs. Here are a few to start with:

"Joan the Woman.

"Joan of Plattsburgh.

"Joan of the Woods.

"Joan of the Canyons.

"Others will doubtless be promulgated from time to time; in fact, I expect the Jones will write up the Polly, Betty's and Molly's of yester-reeds.

"Outside of the famous heroines of Famous, there is much. A recent production broke out as far back as 1913, when "Joan of the South Coast" was followed by Ditto, World Film and Electric.

Then, too, there's always Joan Sawyer.

--W--

Tom Hamlin, prominently popular in northwestern motion picture circles, has shifted his activities to New York and is now sticking the publicity spurs into the First National Exhibitors' Circuit drive on Government war pictures, specializing initially in "Pershing's Crusaders."

--W--

Soprano Wolf-Hound Has Rival.

Before Nat Strong separated from United Artists’ production department he launched a story of a Russian wolf-hound in Big Trophy. Tom Yolen andings soprano. Now look at the Goldwyn “copy cats” springing this:

“Madge Kennedy is teaching her dog English. He is Vladimir, a Russian wolf-hound, brought from Odessa to the Goldsby star by Lieutenant T. Scobis of the Serbian army before the city on the Black Sea was captured by the Germans. When he now is in Chicago on a recruiting mission, Madge Kennedy learned how to say ‘stop,’ ‘come’ and ‘lie down’ and ‘she might translate her commands to the dog.”

--W--

The science of reviewing photoplays in these parts has sunk to a mere occupation.

Ed Weitzel and wife are vacationing in Detroit.

--W--

First Heatwave Issue Is “When East Meets West.”—Moving Picture World Hailing.

And Kipling said it couldn’t be did:

--W--

The H. C. of Propagandizing.

The Orpheum management was anxious to show a few scenes from Ambassador Gerard’s book, “My Four Years in Germany.” The best price he could get was $250 per night, which is beyond all reach for one night here—Chambersburg (Pa.) Reporter.

“The Drawing Club” loses one of its most cheerful and consistent contributing members with the entry of Charles Condon into the service of his Uncle Sam. This popular young chap has long desired to take up the heart of Justin Fair. A dog’s life in the German Forces of Irish Freedom, and now he’s off to training camp.

The Gershwin compulsion to send him away with a wrist watch. We’re “on” for our share.

--W--

The White Hope of Pictures.

Kid Broad, the handsome leading man of many gymnasia scenes, declares that “the celluloid age has no bar to motion picture popularity.”

Thus passes the Christmas Number. Last week’s cold wave nearly spoiled the effect, but this must do until the Vacation Issue, for which we plan to leave spare open for and stills to illustrate it. —THE RAMBLE.
Two Up-to-Date Houses

The Royal of San Francisco and the Progress of Oakland.

JUST as examples of what may be considered pretty complete equipment, we are briefly describing and illustrating some of the features of two Pacific coast houses. They certainly serve to demonstrate most forcibly how far the modern temple of the screen has progressed since the days of the store show.

130-Foot Projection Here.

It is hard to beat the progressiveness of the coast theaters, and the Royal theater of San Francisco, Cal., is not to be outdone. The management has endeavored to provide every facility for making their patrons comfortable while enjoying the pictures. They have succeeded splendidly.

Sixteen hundred persons can find easy, commodious seats in the large well ventilated auditorium. A large fan driven by a 5-horsepower motor furnishes an ample supply of pure fresh air while a 5-foot Ventura fan exhausts the impure vitiated air. An American Photo Player Co. organ, the blower of which is operated by a 5 horsepower Westinghouse motor, furnishes the music.

The pictures are projected a distance of 130 feet upon a flat-white screen, 16 feet by 21 feet. A full non-flickering current at the arc is maintained for projection. This supply of power is obtained from a 72 ampere Westinghouse motor-generator complete with two ballast resistors, magnetic control and transfer switch. A switchboard gives a direct-current breakdown service from a 3-wire direct-current supply circuit. Two Simplex machines, operated by 1/6 horsepower motors, are used for projection. There are also a Power dissolver, a Power spot light, and a motor-driven rewinder. A glimpse at the accompanying pictures will show the up-to-date equipment and the arrangement of which the management of the Royal theater is justly proud.

Modern Electrical Equipment a Feature.

The Progress theater of Oakland, Cal., has certainly lived up to its name in laying out and equipping its building. Its auditorium comfortably seating eight hundred visitors is a beauty.

The management has installed a complete ventilating equipment, providing pure fresh air at all times. A continuous change of air is had by means of a three horsepower blower and a 12-inch Ventura Fan.

Three 6-A Power’s projectors driven by 1/6 horsepower motors are used for projection. The pictures a distance of 17 feet from a Hill Wonder screen 18 feet by 24 feet. Power is secured for this from a 55-ampere Westinghouse motor-generator provided with two ballast resistors, and necessary control switches. On the switchboard in addition to the meters and other equipment provision is made for supplying direct-current break-down service in emergency. In the operating room there are also a Power’s Dissolver, a motor-driven rewinder, three arc controls for maintaining constant current at the arc automatically and three speed regulators. All the equipment is conveniently arranged and well adapted to first class productions. Part of the equipment is shown in the accompanying illustration.

METRO’S “KAISER” CONTINUES AT BROADWAY.

On account of the continued capacity audiences at the Broadway, M. Kashin, the director of the theater, has arranged with Metro Pictures Corporation to extend indefinitely the engagement of Screen Classics, Inc.’s seven-part super-feature, "To Hell with the Kaiser," in which Lawrence Grant is featured as the Kaiser and Olive Tell plays the American heroine.

This will make the second time that the engagement of this unusual and elaborate picture has been extended at the Broadway. It opened originally for a limited engagement, but so many thousands of persons were turned away during this period that the management obtained an extension from Metro. Since then the attendance has been heavier than ever in spite of the hot weather, so this week, M. Kashin resolved to keep the picture going until all who want to see it have an opportunity.
Indian Notes

By S. B. Banerjea.

H. DUCASSE of the Bijou Grand, Calcutta, has just opened a bioscope theater, at Darjeeling. The opening performance was attended by the Governor of Bengal and party, and was a decided success.

I hear that Mr. Ducasse will have a permanent theater at Bombay. His twice-a-week change of program at the Royal Opera House has proved a success.

At his Calcutta theater, the following films have been screened: "The Came Back," "Romance of Billy Goat Hill," "His Picture in the Papers," "The Voice of Conscience," "Camille," "Vanity," and several British films of no merit whatever.

H. Seal, son of the renowned philosopher Dr. B. N. Seal, recently went to the Bijou and bought a rupee ticket. As no seats were available, he changed his ticket for a two rupee ticket, but he was not allowed to take his seat as he was not wearing European dress! Mr. Seal protested but in vain. In disgust he left the place. As may be expected, this little incident brought a sensation. Mr. Seal has been advised to bring a suit for damages against the authorities of the Bijou. Mr. Madan owns some four theaters in Calcutta, but he has no rule excluding Indians from the two rupee seats because they have no European dress on. I have not yet heard of any Indian gentleman being excluded from such purely European-owned theaters like the Empire or the Theater Royal, because of their native dress. The Bijou authorities are now advertising to the effect that Indian gentlemen, who wishes to sit in the Dress circle, should don European costume. This is an insult to injury. Certain persons talked of boycotting the Bijou. It is amusing to think that of late, this theater has not been screening films of merit, I should not be surprised if I saw a falling off of patrons. Miss Bromley has lately been appointed secretary and manager of Bijou. I trust she will be able to show an all-round improvement before very many days are over.

I have seen his program for the next few weeks and must say he has some excellent food for us.

At the Alhion and Nipon theaters, "The Great Secret" has run its course. It was witnessed by hundreds.

At the New Cornwalls, "The Mysteries of Myra" has just been completed. It is one of the most exciting serials that I have ever seen, and I trust its sequel will prove equally interesting.

I have advised more than once in these columns, that film manufacturers, who cannot resist the temptation of introducing Indian scenes, etc., should make a point of consulting some responsible Indian regarding the same and not depend on Europeans or Americans of the "subjanta" (all-knowing) type for information. "The Mysteries of Myra" is a case in point. In it, "Brother Hajji," a musselman, has been made out a Hindu. There is no such word as "Kundalind" in any Indian language. "Um Pari Hum" is delightful! The manufacturers of this film should have been present at the Cornwalls to hear the uncomplimentary language that was used by a number of persons whenever the above "expressions" were screened. I have referred to this matter, by way of advice, and trust it will be accepted in a friendly spirit.

The Picture House authorities have shown "Max Wants a Divorce," "The Net," "A Study in Scarlet," "The Pillory," and "The Black Crook." Their Saturday Prize shows are being well patronized.

The Kidderspur Cinema Palace people are now screening "The Broken Coin." They have an all-comic program on Fridays.

The authorities of the Bioscope theater are now showing "The Million Dollar Mystery." They have also screened "Facing Eternity" and a number of American films lately.

At the Theater Royal, we have seen that delightful film "The Old Kentucky Home," and several American films.

At the Calcutta Empire, we lately saw "The Life of Lord Kitchener." I confess this film failed to satisfy me and many of my friends, whom I asked to see it.

The Simla Palace cinema people have exhibited a number of interesting films, to crowded houses, during the last few weeks.

The Murree Hill cinema is doing a roaring business. As may be expected, it is mainly patronized by soldiers.

The same remarks apply to the two Jubbulpur cinemas. In regard to these theaters, I have one complaint to make. The seating arrangements for the four and the eight anna ticket holders are bad. These can easily be improved without incurring much expense.

At the Eldorado (Bombay), "Jimmie Dale" is being screened. This film has already been shown at the Presidency theater of Calcutta.

At the Majestic (Bombay), several American films have been screened, of which "The Girl and the Game" deserves mention.

The authorities of the New Alexandria have screened "Street Shooting," "The Eternal City," "The Crimson Stain Mystery," and "Panopta" to crowded houses.

At the Imperial, "The Seven Pearls" is now being shown to large crowds. I trust Madan will arrange to screen this interesting film in one of his Calcutta theaters.

At the Bombay Empire, "The Devil's Assistant," "The Square Girl," and several British films have been screened.

At the Kohinoor (Karachi) "Payne" is now being shown. "The Gray Ghost" will be started shortly. "The Screes of the Sea" and "Sorrows of Satan" have already been screened.

The Emperor of the same city is screening "The Crimson Stain Mystery;" its authorities have arranged to exhibit "Njel of the Navy" and "Exploits of Elaine.

The Wellington (Madras) cinema authorities are now exhibiting the new Protea serial.

"The Mystery of the Double Cross" is being shown at the Lahore Empire.

At the Excelsior, the new "Exploits of Elaine" is being screened to good houses.

A new cinema theater will be opened at Karachi shortly. It has been named the Star cinema. I wish its management all success.

A fire broke out at the Calcutta Empire, the other day. Owing to the prompt action of the fire brigade, not much damage was done. Some 100,000 feet of cinema films were destroyed. The total damage did not exceed $4,000. The loss was covered by insurance.

Prof. Ram Moorti, popularly known as the Indian Hercules, has had a complete success record of all his wonderful feats of strength, recently taken by the Elphinstone Bioscope people. This film, which is one of the first of its kind, will be sent to America for exhibition at an early date. It clearly demonstrates what wonderful things can be performed by the power of breath only.
Foreign Trade News
Conducted by F. G. Ortega

Recommend Changes in Export Regulations
National Association Asks Elimination of Paragraphs C, D and F, Which Are Declared Detrimental to Allied Interests.

THE National Association of American Motion Picture Industry in a communication addressed to the War Trade Board, Washington, D. C., has presented the viewpoint of the industry in respect to the new rules and regulations that have been issued with the understanding that the changes and recommendations made are all with a view to simplifying the administration of the industry and making them more workable from a standpoint of the industry.

In this regard, the complete removal of Paragraphs C,d and f of the agreement which under the rules must be signed by the recipient of motion pictures in the foreign countries, the following reasons are assigned:

1. Many of the paragraphs are eliminated because they are inconsistent and interfere with the carrying out of the understanding reached between the Public of the United States and the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry (copy attached) looking to the broad possible manner, in all neutral countries, and more particularly those bordering on the Central Empires, of American motion pictures to the great profit and advantage of their educational and propaganda value to the cause of the United States.

Producers Would Co-operate with Government.

It is the express desire of the Committee on Public Information that every means be taken to bring to the people of all countries throughout the world the ideals and ideas of America. It is conceded that other means of communication approaches in efficiency the motion picture for carrying those desires, and that in view the motion pictures have taken the necessary step to co-operate in the broadest way for the accomplishment of these purposes. Any attempt, therefore, to restrict the American films strictly to the sympathy with America, and preventing their exhibition to those to whom their interest was not as yet understood, was an improper and wise and commendable plan of the Committee on Public Information.

It is declared that the present rules and regulations as at present framed will have a result exactly the opposite of that intended and welcomed, that is, the sending of American films to the greatest extent possible, even in theaters in neutral countries, which may, from time to time, show films which originated in enemy countries, thus lessening the benefit of American films to the greatest extent possible, even in theaters in neutral countries, and which may, from time to time, show films which originated in enemy countries, which is further contrary to the understanding reached between the Public of the United States and the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry.

Paragraphs Operate Against American Trade.

The obligations imposed upon the recipient by Paragraphs C, D and F, in order to hereafter obtain any American motion pictures would bear very harshly upon the American manufacturer and exporter if Great Britain, France and Italy were not under obligation to put in force similar similar conditions in respect to any and all motion pictures hereafter exported from those respective countries: It is self-evident that as soon as it has been known that such obligation must be assumed by consignees in order to obtain American motion pictures, they will, to the extent possible, immediately try to secure the greatest possible supply of English, French and Italian films, to the great detriment of the American manufacturer and industry of our American export trade, and from information received, we have reason to believe that steps are already being taken to obtain from these countries the largest possible number of films possible in order to forestall the effect arising out of the regulations where, for any reason, it is believed doubtful that the recipient will be able to conscientiously sign and carry out the agreement in its present form. We urge, for this further reason, immediate action upon your part.

In considering our request for the elimination of these clauses, permit us to bring strongly to your notice the very great difference between the export of any ordinary article of merchandise, as compared with the export of motion picture films. It might be entirely possible to prevent the export entirely in regard to the one is required for general use or consumption, such as clothing, food, or raw materials, but when the one is intended for the ultimate consumer, might be thereafter utilized for the aid and comfort of the home, the motion picture exported is intended merely to be used for the entertainment, amusement, education and enlightenment of people in the countries where shown, and they cannot be used for any other purpose whatsoever.

Exporters Elect Permanent Officers
David P. Howells Is Chosen President and Dr. W. E. Schallenberger Treasurer.

A MEETING of the Film Exporters of America, Inc., was held at the Hotel Astor July 25. There was an attendance of about 30 members. Owing to the absence of David P. Howells, C. L. Chapman of North American Motion Pictures, Inc., acted as chairman of the meeting.

The permanent organization was effected. Mr. Howells was elected president and L. R. Thomas of the American, and Joseph R. Miles, first and second vice-presidents; Dr. W. E. Schallenberger of the Arrow Film Company, Sidney Garrett of the P. Frank Brockett Company and Harry G. Koch attorney.

The committee appointed to confer with the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry reported that in granting their request with instructions from Mr. Koch, then acting secretary, a communication had been addressed to the A. M. P. I. requesting terms upon which that body would accept an affiliation and a reply had been received from Mr. Elliot, the secretary, that at the annual meeting of the Association at Boston the new Executive Committee had been authorized to take this matter up with the Film Exporters of America. At the time of the meeting, he was thereupon instructed to report this matter up with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Attorney General. Mr. Koch has left for Washington for that purpose.

The next meeting will be held on August 8, at 12:30 noon, at the Hotel Astor.

FILM MEN SECURE RELIEF FOR FILM EXPORTS.

As the result of a conference held in Washington with Lord Reading, British Ambassador to the United States, in which the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry was represented by President William A. Brady, Paul H. Cromelin and David P. Howells, a modification has been secured in the ruling in regard to the restriction of film shipments to Great Britain wherein the amount of space actually allotted is now increased from 200 to 500 cubic feet per month.

The following letter has just been received by President Brady from Richard Crawford, secretary of the British Embassy in Washington:

"Dear Sir:—With reference to my letter to you of the 19th instant I am now instructed by the British Ambassador to acquaint you that the amount of space actually allotted for the transport of Motion Picture Films is 50 cubic feet. In view, however, of the representations made by the deputation of your Association Lord Reading has now made arrangements whereby this allotment will be extended to 500 feet per month.

RICHARD CRAWFORD."

The meeting referred to was secured by T. P. O'Connor, M. P., who is the film censor of Great Britain and who presented President Brady and his associates to Lord Reading. The committee was accompanied by George Creel, chairman of the Committee on Public Information.

The members of this committee feel elated at the success of their labors as the space which they have sought has been secured.

This announcement was made at a meeting of the exporters and heads of the export departments of the producing and distributing companies held at the offices of the National Association July 29.
America Leads in Film Publicity

Cromelin Favors Campaign to Break the Apathy of European Newspapers Regarding Moving Pictures.

P AUL H. Cromelin, president of Inter-Ocean Film, is behind a campaign of education that has the support of foreign newspapers to give films the same proportionate news space they secure in the American press. He quoted an article in the London Post that comments pointed out that baseball, which did little or no advertising, received pages to the 'sticks' given pictures. These men, being journalists themselves, made the important disclosure that the newspaper readers who 'count' could be reached if the advertisers were of the six that don't read ball news—would be interested in picture news. In other words, the newspapers were overlooking their own interests in overlooking the exhibitors' few facts could be obtained.

"Well, it is this simple fact that we want the foreign cinema man to get before this press. We want him to tell the local publisher that a well-conducted department of movies will be an asset to the newspaper, and the precision can have, not only as a stimulus to its exhibitor advertising, but to its own circulation. Picturegoers are a buying class everywhere, and I think the foreign newspaper can be won."

Glucksman Closes New Deal

Mr. Glucksman also reports that the Simplex projectors are in great demand at present among the exhibitors of Argentina, Chile and Uruguay. Since Max Glucksman secured last year the exclusive representation of the Simplex Machine Company in South America, Simplex projectors have been installed in some of the best theaters of Argentina and they have impressed the local exhibitors and operators with their expected reliability and efficiency under actual working conditions.

In regard to films dealing with the present war, Max Glucksman, through his exchanges in South America, has been handling many of the pictures and as a result of the different Allied governments, and the Montevideo office of the firm has just been designated by the British authorities to distribute the Official British War Films within the Republic of Uruguay.

EXPORT AND IMPORT HAS NEW OFFICE.

The Export and Import Film Company is now comfortably settled in the attractive suite of offices formerly occupied by the Russian Art Film Corporation in 110 and 111 Grace Building.

This suite is known to be one of the best equipped in the building, is tastefully furnished, and its Japanese reception room is the haven of scores of foreign buyers. The building is gradually becoming a film industry, and the suite is adjacent to the American Cinematograph Club. Glucksman is busy acquiring films for the Export and Import projection room which is the coolest place in town.

DR. HESPE WORKING FOR CUSTOM HOUSE.

Dr. H. C. Hespe of Newark, president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of New Jersey, has been received the contract for the projection and inspection of export films for the Custom House Department. He is fitting up the old quarters of the Universal at 115 East Twenty-third street, New York, for eight machines and screens. It is expected to start the projection by August 5. It is said there are 5,000,000 feet of film awaiting the critical eyes of the inspectors.

Here's the Low-Down on Tom North

Anderson Uncover Some of the Performances of Film Man in Seattle, Showing Why He's Looked Upon as Regular Fellow.

TOM NORTH of Seattle, who is not last week out of a clear sky. Nobody had any idea he was coming or he would have been met at the station with a brass band, just to remind him of the big circus stunts he used to pull when he was a movie promoter. The last time he was in Seattle friends were very sorry to learn, however, that he was not to be permanently located there, but would proceed in a couple of weeks to San Francisco, where he is to establish his headquarters as western division manager for Pathe.

Men who knew Mr. North's preference for the Pacific Coast have been surprised at his long stay in New York, where he arranged a temporary corporation to handle a picture. A position worthy of his efforts he would return to the West. Evidently he has been pulling the wires pretty hard, for it was only three months ago that his appointment to the eastern division management of Pathe was announced.

It was during his sojourn in Seattle as northwest V-LSE manager that Mr. North put this city on the map, so far as the film business was concerned, and incidentally put his own name in the business. He managed the first circuit and the precision can have, not only as a stimulus to its exhibitor advertising, but to its own circulation. Picturegoers are a buying class everywhere, and I think the foreign newspaper can be won."

Even Located an Aeroplane in Seattle.

When 'The Battle Cry of Peace' opened at the Moore theater Mr. North had an aeroplane deliver the paper for it, dropping it on the heads of the gaping crowds in the streets. At the opening of Charlie Chaplin's burlesque of "Laramie" at the Rex, he arranged for a boy to deliver film for him. He gained greatest national recognition through the publication of his house organ, "Pals," which was probably the most successful film paper ever published in this country, but the Rex office, however, knew Mr. North by his unusual advertising stunts. Those were the days when an aeroplane was so uncommon in Seattle skies as to cause extra-ordinary excitement. The busy men in offices to rush to the windows and look out at it.

Suggested Renting Circuit for Canadians.

Mr. North's constructive and aggressive type of mind has been shown in bigger things, however. When Canadian exhibitors were having trouble getting films because of the length of time it took to send them back and forth from the film exchanges, he went to the United States he suggested to several of them that they get together and form a circuit, so that they could rent film for three months at a time. In this way exhibitors in Winnipeg, Calgary, and the other Canadian cities of the Middle West and the Pacific Coast, who were able to get features which the exchanges had been unable to let them have as individuals. This plan is still in operation in Western Canada and a similar one has been adopted in Alaska.

The V-L-S-E exchange building at 415 Olive Street, Seattle, was the first building erected for an exchange exclusively in the United States. It was Tom North's idea, and he made it an "adventure" in Seattle as well as elsewhere. The mayor of the city laid the cornerstone, and a big crowd attended the ceremony.

A CHECK AWAITS F. H. DECKER.

The Motion Picture Department of the Y. M. C. A. inquires the address of F. H. Decker, formerly of 50 Fifth avenue. The post office returned a letter sent to this address. As the missive was accompanied by a check Mr. Decker possibly may share the anxiety of the Y. M. C. A. to have the inquiry answered.
Spokes from the Hub

By Marion Howard

I DON'T know when we have had a more timely or better directed picture than that given us here by the only George Cohan in "Hit-The-Trail-Hoffiday," a rosser full of pep, in a plot yet for this popular player. I hold no brief for prohibition, but it strikes us that this is a big idea cleverly worked out, and is making a hit with all audiences—rightly. Splendid plea for temperance, great titles and G. C. how we get the strong cast into Jolson & Bessie. In this, I believe, his latest picture, will be looked for again by fans who do not know that he has hit the long trail. Marshall Nellan inspires confidence, but he has outdone himself here and again. It was as good as usual. The temperance convention was some scene, with its types and Georgie doing the Billy Sunday act.

"Gismonda" masquerading as "Love's Conquest," with Lina Cavalieri doing the heroine, a part created by the late Fanny Davenport in which she starred the country, went strong here, with the high brows especially, as it is a costume play and not for the ordinary. The occasion Exeter held capacity audiences in the evening, as they enjoy the standard stage successes, and of course, it is a delight to see this star. Well do we recall Melbourne MacDowell's work as Almerio. Young Pete was a bit too robust, nevertheless was pleasing. In tragic intensity this grips all through, and we wonder how the lion was made to behave so well, for it seemed some tussle between him and hero. Splendid photography and Cavalieri faces the camera with confidence. We anticipate seeing her next picture, "A Woman of Impulse," as I for one have not yet seen her husband Muraore on the screen.

My what a picture—"A Doll's House," the Ibsen stir-up play, when first shown. Elsie Ferguson will carry anything, and here she more than fills the part. Of course, patrons not familiar with the subtleness of the author on the woman question will rebel at the ending. One fan said "Nice messes to leave those kids. Say, they ought to give us another scene with mother repentant." So it goes. In this picture we have two local favorites—Ethel Gray Terry, daughter of Lillian Lawrence and Warren Cook, whose make-up was most deceiving, for I saw him on the same program in "All Woman" driving a country gig in a small town scene and looking like a man. When I got to the theatre, "The Doll's House" was the dancing of Miss Ferguson, always a delight in that line of work. Producer Tournier adds another gem to his crown, for the shots, atmosphere and indoor scenes were a delight to the eye. Picture different, therefore refreshing, because so.

I saw a good Triangle at the Fenway, "Who Is to Blame?" and was glad again to see Jack Livingston, one of the really good leading men, possessing attractiveness combined with versatility. Fine human play, but the real star was Jack Abbe, the Jap valet, who held attention from the start. Play unique in spots, well handled, and what good scenes we get picturing Japan! Rarely have we had a more artistic silhouette than at the close, with the Jap seated in his rickshaw in his native land, after his sacrifice to save the soul of his master in U. S. A. Play has its moral, too, and good to show anywhere at any time.

"The Lesson," corks picture with a lesson indeed, oh hasty marriages and how to find a way out, to say nothing of the example of being independent through one's own efforts. A lesson to hubby. There was a good bit of comedy furnished by Walter Hiers the rotund, but the best work was put over by Tom Moore, who earned his reward and sent us all out of the house satisfied, the picture for its community.

The Vitagraph picture "Find the Woman," inspired by O. Henry, is especially strong and has a good suspense to it. He gets the strong cast into George Joffre, Donaldson and Jessie Stevens. The Fenway, where this was shown, put on "Ace High," great for Tom Mix, whose stunts are hair raising but not along slapsick order (perish the thought!). I was asked by a man if those chaps could get their lives insured, for he certainly did the seemingly impossible, and what a wonderful horse he owns! James Cagney gave the wake-up with "The Man Who Got Away." Why do I hear? This is a melodrama, full of comedy and a relief to the males in front, who don't seem to care for the "ob" and love stuff.

"Vivette," good picture pleasing to all, and little Martin has quite a bit to do here. Harrison Ford again plays opposite, but does not hitch up with the dainty heroine, who of her size actually cares for the case man type impersonated by Eugene Pallette, cast as the brother, and such a contrast! There were some original situations in this worth while.

For a kid picture commend me to "A Daughter of the West," featuring Marie Osborne, who does clitch us, and compels attention of all. To my mind the coon is that which attracts us more as his work is natural. Why they do not give his name in the cast is a mystery, however, we have seen him before, and somewhere I have the name. Matters not, since personality is what counts. For a Pathé featuring these kids there was too much melodrama, and we liked it the least of all the Mary Sunshine pictures put out with this little play.

Sunny Sammy is probably the name of the lad.

Nazimova, a magic name, sure to call out a large attendance of those who are devotees of the speaking drama in which she shines. On the screen she is animation personified, and as my friend said "no wonder she keeps so slim. "For the Life of Pate" is the title. Harry Farnum, Henry B. Warner has a hard part, commendably done as we always expect. The picture is a bit depressing, the titles too long. Here we had a trio of contrasting types in Warner, Roger Early and Charles Ogle. As usual, there is not the slightest element. Here, too, we get a lot of opium smuggling stuff and uncanny situations attending same, but what got us through was the beautiful scenes around the cloakroom and hat check bents, these sights encountered everywhere. Though overdone it was good stuff.

Nazimova, a magic name, sure to call out a large attendance of those who are devotees of the speaking drama in which she shines. On the screen she is animation personified, and as my friend said "no wonder she keeps so slim. "For the Life of Pate" is the title. Harry Farnum, Henry B. Warner has a hard part, commendably done as we always expect. The picture is a bit depressing, the titles too long. Here we had a trio of contrasting types in Warner, Roger Early and Charles Ogle. As usual, there is not the slightest element. Here, too, we get a lot of opium smuggling stuff and uncanny situations attending same, but what got us through was the beautiful scenes around the cloakroom and hat check bents, these sights encountered everywhere. Though overdone it was good stuff.

"For Sale," for little Hulette and Creighton Hale, made a hit here, and no wonder as it had some new situations, though one was a bit risque. However, it was pretty good melodrama, and the house seemed to like it. At same theatre saw "The Soap Girl," good preachment on snobishness, and a lesson in democracy. Here we had a novel plot with little Gladys Leslie making good, and wasn't her dad a scream! This was a bit overdone, however, at times, by Frank Norcross, but we had to laugh when he asked the grand dame to "sit down and have a drink." Julia Swayne Gordon, ever a picture of dignity, took her medicine like a sport when the tables are turned on her. On the program we had "The Kaiser's Shadow" and didn't like it a little bit, as this German spy business is done too much and gets on our nerves. The public wants pictures in line with these days. Half of us have connections in the service and want to be diverted from war. The splendid weeklies give us the real stuff of a patriotic and educational character, and we are indebted to the screen for bringing things to our vision something the printed page can never do.

"The Venus Model" caught us strong, and seems the front of the Mabel Normand parade. We laughed heartily over the bit of the slapstick in the first reel in her glide down the chute and its attendant business. This is the right sort of a picture for everybody. Alec Francis has a strong bit and is demonstrated that brains tell in business, and are not restricted to the male sex. Mabel did keep the ball rolling (into the money till).

Dear directors can't you make the young heroines stop the silly mannerism, putting the tips of the thumb and forefinger together especially when carried to the lips? It means nothing, and is getting altogether too common.
usually get this at the hands of the ingenue country lass, but when your announced stars do it habitually, it gets on our nerves and our want to rap their knuckles. In "All Woman" Mae Marsh perpetrates it too often. However, this picture is good, and will be popular anywhere because it has melodramatic twists and a good temperance plea, too. Nothing brilliant, but not all that bad. Miss Marsh is a girl. A bit of comedy in first reel caused a big laugh when Mae in dressing the dolls pulls the hats down over the eyes of the male ones at a critical time. Young folks will like this picture.

OUR BOOKED

West street. Orleans, uncertainty throughout the lobby south.

The two with anything, and the five with nothing. Davies—some beauty, as all know who have seen and heard her on the stage. Splendid picture, the star supported by Matt Moore, whom we do not see often of late; Ormi Hawley, Gladden James, "Joe" Kilgour and Pedro De Cordoba, all dependable. Here the press agent comes into his own, the part well done by young James. Strikes me Pathe has a good seller in this, as it is full of action not overdone. Plot not new yet one that goes over well with such players.

_Big Contracts for Three Theaters_

Strand, Rialto and Rivoli Sign Up for Total of 121 Weeks of Famous Players-Lasky Service.

The largest contract ever negotiated by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation with the three big pre-release houses of New York, the Strand, Rialto and Rivoli, has been the largest ever entered into by the respective management of those theaters with any producing or distributing organization, have been announced. These contracts involve the booking of Paramount and Artcraft productions solid weeks in the Rialto and Rivoli, forty-three weeks for each, and thirty-five weeks in the Strand. This total of 121 weeks' bookings insures, according to the schedule plans of the Famous Players-Lasky for the year coming September 1, not only at least one Paramount or Arthraft feature each week of the year in one or another of the three big Broadway picture palaces, but nearly every week there will be at least two and in the majority of weeks three being shown simultaneously.

In addition to the feature productions booked, the Rialto and Rivoli have contracted for forty-six Paramount short subjects and the Strand for sixteen.

MARGUERITE CLARK HAS WAR ROMANCE.

The engagement of Marguerite Clark, star of Paramount pictures, to play Lieutenant James Williams, U. S. A., in "The Orlean" was announced Thursday in New York by Miss Cora Clark, of 50 Central Park West, sister of the player. Miss Clark met her future husband in New Orleans last January, and they were married in the course of the west and south in behalf of the Liberty Loan.

The father of Miss Clark's fiancé is head of the Williams Lumber Company of Pater-on, La., with large business throughout the South, and the family is prominent in New Orleans, where they make their home. On account of the uncertainty of Lieutenant Williams' assignment, no arrangements for the wedding have yet been made.

J. LOUIS Menger Dead.

Announcement of the death of J. Louis Menger, president of the firm of Menger, Ring & Weinstein of 300 West Forty-second street, New York, is made under date of July 29. Mr. Menger was the first one to engage in the manufacture of lobby display frames for motion pictures in 1907, when he made a large number for the Kalem Company. At that time the factory of the company was in West Twenty-fourth street. While located there Jacob Ring joined Mr. Menger and the firm became Menger & Ring. Later, the business of the company expanding, the present location on Forty-second street was taken, and again the company enlarged its personnel by admitting Samuel Weinstein.

Mr. Menger was a man of considerable artistic ability and was held in high respect by all who came in contact with him.

MISS LEITZBACH LEAVES FOX FILMS.

Miss Adeline Leitzbach, the playwright-scenarist, for the past year a member of the scenario staff of the Fox Film Corporation, has severed her connection with that organization to complete two plays for the legitimate stage, "Apple Blossoms," and "The Trail to Happiness," already contracted for by New York managers for production next season. Miss Leitzbach, who is considered an authority on all things pertaining to the screen, is by no means going to desert the silent drama era. She is already considering several offers to join the scenario departments of well known film concerns, when she shall have completed the dramas in question.

"OUR BRIDGE OF SHIPS."

The United States Government, Division of Films, Committee on Public Information, will shortly issue through the General Film Company another important war picture, which will further serve to show the tremendous progress that the United States has made in supplying its soldiers' needs in the European struggle. The new release is in seven reels and is entitled "Our Bridge of Ships." It will, it is announced, be the first comprehensive pictorialization of what America has accomplished in its shipbuilding program. Scenes in several of the leading shipbuilding plants will be shown; the busy thousands of workers, the colossal machinery by which the labor of creating ships is expedited, the ships in various stages of completion and the thrill that goes with America's new Leviathans of the seas as well as the smaller ships that will help Columbia to "bridge the sea." America's warships, including torpedo boats, submarines and the tiny "chasers" will be shown, and Uncle Sam's success in keeping a constant stream of men and supplies going to France will be stimulatingly visualized. The success of this release is in the fact that soldiers are now going abroad at the rate of 300,000 a month and during the month of June a million tons of freight were landed in France.

BELGIAN OFFICIAL FILMS REACH NEW YORK.

W. Lindsay Gordon, director of publicity and official photographer to the Belgian Military Mission, announces that all of its official war film and photographs are obtainable to all interested in the motion picture or lecture field. "We are just in receipt of some wonderful films and photographs direct from the front showing the Belgians in their most recent battles," said Mr. Gordon. We feel sure that the American public will be greatly interested in seeing these pictures. Major Leon Ostierth, chief of the Belgian Military Mission in the United States, is to be congratulated upon the selection of Mr. Gordon, as director of publicity and official photographer, as his years of amusing experiences of photographic work makes him the right man in the right place. The New York office of the Belgian Military Mission is at 207 West Thirty-fourth street.

WORLD-WIDE DISTRIBUTION FOR "SMILING BILL."

The Goldwyn Distribution Corporation announces completed arrangements for the distribution of "Smiling Bill" Parsons' Capital Comedies. This will be in addition to the United States. In the United States "Smiling Bill" Parsons' pictures are distributed through Goldwyn's exchange in twenty principal cities and in Canada the Monarch Film Company, Ltd., will distribute his productions. Prints of his pictures are now being forwarded to Goldwyn exchanges in other foreign lands and "Smiling Bill" will soon greet foreign audiences in all his comedies.

How Harold Edel, Manager of the New York Strand, Regards the Pulling Power of "Smiling Bill"

Parsons and Capitol Comedies.
"Ghost of the Rancho" Leads Pathe Week of Aug. 11

PATHE announces another Bryant Washburn picture as the leading feature on its regular program to be released August 11. "The Ghost of the Rancho" is a five-part comedy-drama, and Washburn has a delightful leading woman in this picture in the person of Rhea Mitchell. Bryant Washburn, who will be remembered for his performance in "Skinner's Dress Suit," "Skinner's Baby," "Twenty-one" and "Kidder & Ko," plays the role of a scion of a wealthy family, who has paid a whole lot more attention to the cabarets and such gayeties of life than he has to the most problem of getting on in the world in the usual way.

The comedy element is supplied by Toto and Clarine Seymour in "Do Husbands Deceive?"

The Official War Review, which comprises Government battlefield pictures from American, British, French and Italian cinematographers at the front; the Post Travel Series, dealing with "La Guira to Caracas" and semi-weekly issues of the Hearst-Pathe News complete this program.

"Triple Trouble" Opens in Chicago.

"Triple Trouble," the new Charlie Chaplin comedy, which was produced when Chaplin was with Essanay, but just released, is reported to be booking rapidly by the George Kleine releasing system. It opened for a week's run at the Castle theater, one of Chicago's loop houses, on Sunday, July 28, and several first runs have been arranged in other large cities.

The play is strictly up to the minute, touching on the world war, with considerable humor at the expense of the Kaiser. Chaplin, though a humble janitor, is instrumental in preventing a German spy getting hold of the formula for a "wireless explosive" which they are trying to steal.

Bebe Daniels Signs Again With Rolin.

Bebe Daniels, the chic, black-eyed beauty who plays with Harold Lloyd in the Rolin one-reel comedies, has been in the show business seventeen years. She was born in Dallas, Texas, January 14, 1901, and started on the road with her father's company when only ten weeks old.

The other day she signed a contract for her third year with Rolin.

Player and Her Director Seek Court Atmosphere

NORMA TALMADGE and Director S. A. Danzinger have just begun work on the concluding scenes of "Her Only Way." Following the precedent in Norma Talmadges's previous films, and her director have been attentive spectators at sessions at the Tombs and other courtrooms in New York in order to make a faithful reproduction for a big courtroom scene.

One of the moments of greatest importance in Miss Talmadges's new picture occurs in the crowded room of a New York divorce court. Hundreds of extra people have been required to provide a real setting. Several important characters are played by people who are well known to the moving picture public.

Eugene O'Brien will again be seen as Miss Talmadges's leading man, while other important parts will be played by Ramsey Wallace, Jobyna Howland and A. E. Warren.

It is believed the new picture will be distributed some time next month.

Fine Exteriors in "Young America."

Many beautiful outdoor scenes are now being taken for "Young America," the George K. Spoor feature taken from the Cohan and Harris stage success. These elaborate exterior settings greatly enhance the beauty of the picture. One of the scenes is taken on the estate of Colonel L. Bourrique at Highland, III. Colonel Bourrique is a retired army officer, and at present is at the head of the Illinois Volunteer Training Corps. His home and grounds are used in the picture, as well as his famous poultry yard. The poultry yard was made use of even to the robbing of his "hen coop."

Another of the beautiful scenes is taken in a suburban park, where two hundred children are employed. The children are at play after school, when the village bad boy forces the stodgy-goody boy, thus pro-German, to climb a flag staff and kiss the American flag much to the joy of the children.

The play, which is in seven parts, is rapidly nearing completion, and will be released in the near future.

Norris Story for Miss Barriscale.

Kathleen Norris' widely read novel, "The Heart of Rachael," has been selected for Jesse Barriscale's next talkie play, and the filming of the production is at this time under way at the Brunton studios in Los Angeles, California.

It is a story of society life, in which the author has delicately but effectively exposed its pettiness. Like her other works, it is intensely human, and the type of story that is especially suited to Miss Barriscale's talents. The production is being made under the direction of Howard H Hickman, and will be distributed when completed by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation through the exchanges of the General Film Company.
Dorothy Dalton Returns and Starts Right at Work

DOROTHY DALTON'S return to the fold from her recent peregrinations in the East has been signaled by a re-summation of work on the part of the lince star in Paramount pictures. Her new picture deals with aspects of the great war that are, however, subsidiary to the love story that runs through the story. The synopsis was written by the well-known publicity expert and scenarioist, H. H. Van Loan, and the continuity was prepared by C. Gardner Sullivan. Bill Nunn Xsell will direct, with Bert Seibel assisting.

A new leading man—Edmund Lowe—has been secured for this picture, in whom Mr. Ince believes he has discovered a splendid actor, combining good looks with talent. Thomas Guise has returned to play a role in this picture. Others in the cast are B. Sprotle and Fred Starr. Save for a child Miss Dalton has the only feminine role.

Tefft Johnson to Direct
Madge Evans for World

TEFFT JOHNSON, a director of many well known screen successes, has been engaged by World Pictures to direct Madge Evans in "Young Harbor." Work on this picture will start at the studio at Fort Lee, N. J., on August 1.

Mr. Johnson was born in Washington, D. C., and educated at Georgetown College. After having played twelve years with Leland's Players, he was engaged by Miss Leslie Carter in "Heart of Maryland" and Blanche Bates in "Under Two Flags," and other Bosco successes, he became a screen actor. He has appeared in productions of Edison, Vitagraph, Fox, and other companies. As a director the most notable of his efforts were disclosed in "The Turn of the Road" and "The Writing on the Wall." He directed the famous Bobby Connolly series of one-reel comedies. He

Arbuckle Assumes Role of Cafe Kitchen Boss

A 'his studio at Long Beach, Calif., for the sequel "Patty" Arbuckle has completed his Paramount-Aruckle comedy for August release. The title is "The Outing-Coffee," which assumes the role of the boss of a kitchen of a beach cafe, and the ingenious contrivances which he employs in the fulfillment of an earlier promise to meet the appreciation of every housewife. Of course there is a ludicrous and frequently perplexing platitude which "Patty" as an ardent lover has his troubles with persistent rival, Luke. The famous terrier, who recently had his contract renewed to appear in Paramount-Aruckle comedies at a salary of fifty bines a week, has a sirenous and exceedingly useful role, playing the part of a friend in need on more than one occasion.

The heavyweight comedian is assisted by Buster Keaton. "The Studio and Alice Lake. Arbuckle himself directed the picture.

Pre-Bookings for "Inside the Lines." Much interest has been aroused among exhibitors by the announcement that World Pictures will, on August 26, release "Inside the Lines," with Lewis A. Stone, star of the original stage production, in the stellar role. This big production will be released on the regular World program. Exhibitors are realizing that this production should prove to be one of the money-makers of the year, and because they realize this fact they are sending many applications for pre-release showings of the picture to the World. Recent indications are that "Inside the Lines" will be more extensively shown on pre-release bookings than any offering in some time. Marguerite Clayton is seen in support of Mr. Stone.

Art Scenes in "Flower of the Dusk." Art scenes of great beauty in connection with Violas Davis' Metro feature, "Flower of the Dusk," have been conceived and executed by Henri Meissner, art director of international reputation, and John H. Collins, who has directed the production. The picture is a scene very situation of Myrtle Reed's novel of the same name, published by G. P. Putnam's Sons, and star and director have succeeded in capturing the elusive charm that, together with its unique story, has given the book a widespread vogue.

The idealistic scenes in "Flower of the Dusk," which have had the special attention of Mr. Meissner and Mr. Collins in collaboration, are those in which Guy Standing, as Lawrence Austin, visualizes the past romance which has illuminated his whole life.

Harold Lloyd Comedy on All War Program

ANY theaters throughout the country are using an all-war program "Kicking the Germ Out of Germany" and the Harold Lloyd comedy in which Harold does awful things to the German general staff, to say nothing of cannoning the Kaiser.

Lighter subjects, however, occupy Lloyd's attention in the summer program to be released by Pathé. The schedule as now drafted is August 4, "That's Him!"; August 19, "Bride and Groom"); September 1, "Two Scrambled"; September 15, "Hone in His Bonnet."

Lewis to Retire from Stunt Stuff.

Sheldon Lewis states that he presents starring Miss Leah Baird will probably be his last appearance in serial pictures during the past several years. Mr. Lewis has been almost continuously at work in serials, and many times his life, as well as his limbs, have been in more actual danger than that of his screen actuated. His exploits and adventures as the "Clutching Hand," "The Iron Claw," etc., have made his name familiar. The coming Leah Baird serial should add to his laurels.

When the last scene is pictured Mr. Lewis will engage only in straight dramatic roles on the screen and legitimate stage.

First Field Comedy Released August 6.

Elinor Field, the comedienne selected as the leading woman in Strand-Mutual's "Strand's a Game," is to appear as a star in "What Will Father Say?" scheduled for release by Mutual August 6.

The picture deals with the difficulties of a bride and groom, married without parental consent, in winning the blessing of the bridegroom's father. It's a clever skit of the type which has made the Strands so popular.

The topical release of the same week is "A Tam Catastrophe," seventh of the Outing-Chester series of one-reel adventure pictures. The subject deals in the entertaining manner of the Outing-Chester releases with the habits of the beaver. The release date is August 11.

Tefft Johnson also produced a series of juvenile comedies familiarly known as "Sonny Boys." It was because of his understanding of child psychology that World Pictures feels entitled to secure his services for the direct little Miss Evans in her next picture.

"The Great Love" Set for August 12.

D. W. Griffith has put the finishing touches on "The Great Love," the first of his productions for release through Artcraft Pictures, and it has been scheduled for initial presentation August 12.

Scene from "Damaged Good" (Universal).
Eleven Directors Push Production for Metro

Eleven directors are busily engaged in preparing multiple-reel features for Metro Pictures Corporation, in the firm's east and west coast studios. They are a brilliant one, including Edwin Carewe, Albert Capellani, John H. Collins, Charles J. Irwin, Herbert Blache, Wilfred Lucas, Ralph W. Ince, John Ince, Harry L. Franklin, E. Mason Hopper and William S. Davis.

Several big productions have just been completed in both studios, with Maxwell Karger, director of "The Rider of the Dusk," being among those directing the output at the New York centre, and George B. Baker in charge at the firm's west Coast establishment. Other pictures are approaching completion, with still others in the full swing of production. Ethel and Edward Sweeney are the stars who have just completed feature pictures in the eastern branch of studios at 2 West Sixty-first street and at the Biograph studio, while Harold Lockwood, Bert Lytell, May Allison, Anna Q. Nilsson and her co-star, Franklyn Furness, have finished photoplays in the west.

This crop of picture is made ready for release in Metro's All-Star Series are "Our Mrs. McChesney," starring Ethel Barrymore; "The Ghost of the Dusk," with Viola Dana as star, directed by John H. Collins; "Shadow and Substance," starring Bert Lytell with Herbert Blache directing; "A King in Khaki," a Screen Classics, Inc., production starring Harold Lockwood, directed by Fred J. Balshofer, president and general manager of the company; "Butter Blackie's Little Pal," starring Bert Lytell, directed by E. Mason Hopper; "The Return of Robin Hood," a starring vehicle for May Allison, Wilfred Lucas directing, and "In Judgment Of," co-starring Anna Q. Nilsson and comedy star, William S. Davis.

These differ widely in theme and handling, and illustrate Metro's policy of providing a well-balanced program.

De Grasse in Glam Play.

Samuel De Grasse has as his heavy lead one of the strongest parts in the current Louise Glau'm-Paralta Play. Mr. De Grasse is the characterern, with J. Onkings in "Inolerance" and as Charles Sumner in "The Birth of a Nation." In this picture he takes the role of Paul Rehn, who, after a period of twenty years is a German agent in the Champagne district of France. It is an important role, never brought into prominence, however, and Hart van Klaserr, the character, is represented by Mr. De Grasse, who is the man to Berlin has intrusted its preparation and play upon a certain district of the soil of France in 1894.

Path to Release a Washburn.

"The Ghost of the Rancho" is the title of the next by Bryant Washburn release by Pathé. It is the feature of the program released August 11.

Harry Carey in an Owen Wister Story Leads Universal

HARRY CAREY, in a story by Owen Wister, heads the list of Universal productions scheduled for release during the week of August 15. Carey's vehicle, "A Woman's Fool," is the photograph adaptation of "Lin McLean," one of the most popular romances of the west written by Wister. It is to be released as a special attraction and will come to the exhibitor in five reels.

A Pat Sullivan cartoon, entitled "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," heads the list of the latest cabaret and cartoon offerings, all odds one of the funniest offerings released. Universal in a long time, this cartoon is a full reel in length and for plot, suspense and sustained action will more than hold its own. "Give Her Some Gas," the Lyons-Moran Star Comedy, ought to be of universal appeal, particularly as it is a story of a couple who invest in a second-hand flower which they undertake to run sans gas, experience a number of absurdities, and by the time the foot-killer takes a hand in the proceedings, laughs galore have resulted.

"Don't Flirt," with Marcia Moore in the stellar role, is the Nestor for the week. In humorous fashion it puts on the facts that things are not always what they seem and shows what befalls two flirtatious young men who allow appearances to deceive them. In the supporting cast are Ernie Shields, Ed Sedgwick, Ed Baker and Jane Bernoudy.

With the issuance of "The Muffled Man," the second episode of "The Brass Bullet," the action of this newest Universal serial gets well under way.

The title of the Bluebird for the week has already been decided upon, although the feature is completed, cut and sub-titled. An announcement concerning the name under which it will be released will be made shortly.

January 21, the Universal Animated Weekly, Issue 84 of the Universal Screen Magazine, and Issue 95 of the Universal Current Events will be released during the week.

The Moving Picture World, August 10, 1918
Goldwyn Names First Six Releases Under Star Series

Goldwyn believes in starting a drive with its "big guns." This policy is supported with the announcement that the first six fall releases of Goldwyn under Star Series for the coming season are the following:

Miss Farrar's first production to be released under the Goldwyn imprint is a dramatic, present-day story of New York and Monte Carlo. It is an emotional, modern, dramatic piece, a fast, full-of-action melodrama, and a society drama all rolled into one. In this new suspension Farrar is surrounded and supported by an exceptional cast. Herbert Harrison, Virginia Valli, and Charles B. Benedict make up the leading crew. Violet Heming has the other important feminine role and other big parts are played by Hassard Short, Percy Marmon and Maude Turner Gordon.

Mabel Normand returns to the broad comedy that made her famous for her first Star Series production, "Peck's Bad Girl" is the ideal type of vivacious, animated, happy-go-lucky story that Mabel Normand's tremendous following desires to see her have. In the cast are Earle Foxe, Corinne Barker, Hylan, Hatch and other favorites.

Goldwyn believes that Tom Moore, the company's first male star, is going to be one of the surprises of the year in his screen debut in "Just For Tonight." The company is in the unusual position of having been forced by exhibitor demand to star Moore. His success as leading man for three Goldwyn stars was so great that the exhibitors everywhere insisted that his popularity entitled him to be starred in his own right. Lucy Fox, a comparative newcomer in pictures, is Mr. Moore's leading woman, selected by Moore himself. In the cast are Henry Selby, Ethel Grey, Terry and Maude Turner Gordon.

Mae Kennedy's reputation and drawing power attained new heights with "The Service Star," and it is being further increased with "Friend Husband," which may be an ironical title—and may not. Supporting Miss Kennedy are Tom Moore, Baker, Marie de Wolfe, Jenny Dickerson and others.

Goldwyn springs a surprise with the announcement that Will Rogers, an unrivalled entertainer and an unparalleled film personality, will make his first appearance on the Silver Screen already at work in Rex Beach's great story, "Laughing Bill Hyde." Many producers are in pursuit of Will Rogers to the screen and never before have they had a chance of success. But Rex Beach insists that Will Rogers for the name role of his story "because," says Mr. Beach, "Will Rogers is Laughing Bill Hyde, without make-up. All that we will do is take his personality just as he is known across the country and put it into his film." This first big Beach production is being directed by Hobart Henley and the scenario is the work of Willard Mack, executive director of Goldwyn. "It is the best scenario ever made of one of my stories," says Mr. Beach. "I think Bill Mack is a wonder."

In the cast are John Sainpolis, Clarence Oliver, Mabel Ballin and Joseph Herbert.

There is never a chance of a mistake when Mae Marsh has a story that is a combination of humor and serious dramatic. This she has in "Hidden Fires," which also is directed by Hobart Henley. Here again Miss Marsh has kind of material that was enthusiastically approved—the wistful, beautiful type of story like "The Cinderella" that are June Novak and Susan Losten. Rod La Rouge is Miss Marsh's leading man in "Hidden Fires." Other players are Abe H. Francis, Jere Austin and Florida Kingsley.

Metro Completes Three All-Star Series Features

Three of Metro's most anticipated play-photographs saw completion last week. "Miss Mac- ney," the screen adaptation by Luther A. Reed, of Edna Ferber's famous story, starring Ethel Barrymore and directed by Ralph Ince. Miss Barrymore is surrounded by a large and notable company. Included in her company are many members of her stage version of "Our Mrs. McChesney," by George V. Hobart. Huntley Gordon, Lucile Shepherd and Lilian H. Wilfred Lytten, John Daley Murphy and Walter Pericival are in the cast.

Rex Beach's "Secrets of Substance," and directed by Herbert Blache, assisted by Edward Lawrence, is the next on the line. The story is based on the play of the same title by Charles Brackett, with a dramatic and suspense drama of the northwest, by Lois Zellner, and in addition to being a story replete with thrills and excitement, is one calling for unusual sets, some of splendor, some of picturesque quaintness, and with its vast scene showing beautiful scenery. In Miss Story's company are Joan Fontaine, Hurd Hatfield, and George Stevens, Baby Ivy Ward, Lilie Leslie, Tommato, Matilda Brundage, Augustus Perry, Johnny Dixon, Huen Walker and John Corhill.

"Flower of the Dusk," the well known MartinLindley novel First is "Our Miss McChesney," directed by John H. Collins, which is Viola Dana's current starring vehicle, is also practically completed. The story is based on the play of the same title by the playwright, Prominent in the company are Guy Coombs, Howard Hall, Allee Matthies, Miss Milford, Charles Sutton, Negley Breyer, Mrs. L. Ford, Jack McConway and Margaret McIvaid.

"Waifs" to Be Released August 4

"Waifs," with Gladys Hulette and Cyril Scott in the leading roles, will be released by Pathe August 4. Walter Heirs, a popular screen character actor, appears in "Waifs." "Waifs" is a story of New York, and concerns the misadventures of a rich heiress who tires unt the interest of her home and goes into the world to make her own way. How she is rescued from a predicament in which her inex- perience plunges her by a newspaper reporter and how this event evolves into a delightful romance is the basic plot of the play.

"A Law Unto Herself" Soon Ready

In Louise Glauin's Paralta play, "A Law Unto Herself," Miss Glauin will be sur- rounded by Mary Astor, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Dorothy Gish, Muriel Ostrichev, Evelyn Gold, Leslie Howard, and Marius Goring. Work on the production is progressing rapidly, and it will be released by the W. Fox-Hollinocket Corporation the middle of August.

Hayakawa Finishes "The Temple of Dusk," His Second

Work on "The Temple of Dusk," second of the Sessue Hayakawa feature productions, has been completed by the Fox Film Corporation and the picture is now in the cutting room. The picture is regarded as in every way equal to Hayakawa's first production, "His Birthright," which is scheduled for release on September 1. The third picture of the series of eight, for which no name has as yet been selected, is now in work.

Hayakawa believes "The Temple of Dusk" contains all that is best in inter-racial dramas, and is confident that the play will be popular with American audiences because it holds the mirror up to both American and Japanese character, and permits both to see themselves as others see them.

Two well known young women are in the cast, Miss Sylvia Breamer, and Miss Sylvia Breamer. With Lewis Willoughby they play the leading roles. There are twelve gals' girls and eight Japanese actors aside from Hayakawa in the produc- tion.

The story was written by Frances Marion and directed by James Young.

"Fixing the Faker" (Ebeny.)

High speed honors, with a number of close-up new scenes, are expected in the newest Ebeny Comedy release, "Fixing the Faker," which is one of several Film prospectus. This is said to be one of the best of the new series. Names of the release are said to be completed, and the picture will be released later this month.

The Ebeny Comedies are proving popular with the screen audience, and the screen novelties, General reports. In- sumeh of the new series promises in an even higher role, and "Fixing the Faker" anticipates a lively demand for the com- edy novelties during the fall months.
Pathe "All Set" for Release of "Hands Up"

With the approaching release of the first episode of the new Pathe-Astra serial, "Hands Up," for which August 18 has been set as the positive date, Pathe's advertising and publicity departments got their second wind this week, and launched the national advertising and publicity campaign in good shape.

Among the aids for exploitation of "Hands Up" are bill-posting campaigns in 450 cities, serial publication of the novelised version in one of the leading fan magazines, the publication of the serial in large city newspapers, and heralds, brochures, and campaign books printed in several colors.

Pathe reports the advance bookings of "Hands Up" to exceed all its records. A special sales-reel in which are included some of the thrills contained in the first two episodes has been sent to the thirty branch exchanges, where it may be viewed by exhibitors. "Hands Up" is being made at the Astra studio in Los Angeles, with Ruth Roland starring, George Chesebro as her leading man, and a good supporting company.

Frank Keeney Releases Second Calvert Picture

THE Frank A. Keeney Pictures Corporation has set the release date for its picture, "Out of the Night," by E. Lloyd Sheldon, and will shortly place on the market its release, "Dixy Bolton." All of the Keeney pictures thus far produced star Catherine Calvert.

William L. Sherry, who is distributing the Keeney pictures, reports good returns from "A Romance of the Underworld," the first Keeney release, as well as from "Out of the Night." Business has been good, he says, in spite of the hampering effect of hot weather. In several theaters in Brooklyn and elsewhere "A Romance of the Underworld" has been called upon to repeat its drawing power. Mr. Sherry says, has been demonstrated practically everywhere it was shown.

The Keeney forces have completed a fourth picture, "The Girl With a Past," by the late Paul Armstrong, from whose well-known novel of the same name "A Romance of the Underworld" was adapted for the screen.

Fannie Ward Picture for September

Pathe announces a late release date for "A Japanese Nightingale," the most ambitious effort of Fannie Ward. This picture will be released late in September, according to present plans. Large sums of money were spent in staging the subject.

Fox Planning Campaigns for Bigger Film Sales Abroad

SEVERAL campaigns in foreign countries to increase the volume of Fox films sales abroad are under way.

The foreign department has just taken over almost an entire floor in the corporation's offices in the Leavitt Building at 130 West Forty-sixth street, New York. It is an elaborate place, with the executive offices leading off from a beautifully furnished reception room.

At the present time the Fox corporation has five branch offices in South America, with the prospect of others in the near future. Development of the market in Central America is also under way.

Abraham Carlos, general representative of the Fox Film Corporation, will start soon on an extensive trip which will probably cover Cuba, Porto Rico, Mexico and Central America. This trip is in answer to numerous queries from film men in Central American and Cuban cities for increased facilities for getting Fox films. Mr. Carlos will be accompanied by Aquileo Calvo, who has recently been placed in charge of the Latin-American activities of the corporation.

Another Fox representative is traveling down the west coast of South America, cities in that part of the continent having expressed a wish for more Fox films.

Reports from Fox agents all over the world have assured the foreign department that the coming year will be the most successful in the history of the corporation's foreign trade. The good will Fox plays have already established and results have been assured, despite the limited cargo space, by the foresight of the foreign department, which has taken every precaution to see that foreign exchanges receive their films on time.

Country Village at Goldwyn Studio

The Goldwyn studio lot adjoining the main building at Fort Lee, N. J., on which were set the big circus scenes in "Polly of the Circus," starring Mae Marsh, and which later was the site of the artistic reproduction of the Greek-Egyptian temple of Alexandria in Mary Garden's "Thais," has been transformed into a prosperous country village. Storey of every description, a bank, a village hall and a large hotel set among arboroid sidewalks, have been built for Mabel Normand's newest Goldwyn Picture, "Peck's Bad Girl," by Lubo Charwate.

A force of fifty workmen labored day and night for three weeks before the unusual and tremendous motion picture set was completed. The erection of the big hotel and the laying of sidewalks took up most of their time. The scarcity of asphalt furnished the biggest problem, delivery of it being held up owing to the shortage of labor at the asphalt works in Southern New Jersey. To hurry the work Goldwyn studio officials hired ten coal trucks to deliver the desired amount of asphalt.

"The Love Swindle" (Universal).

Universal announces that Ethel Roberts' second vehicle as a Bluebird star will be "The Love Swindle," formerly called "The Poling of Diana." In her second feature Miss Roberts appears as Diana Rosson, who possesses a will of her own plus a fortune which enables her to disregard the mandates of her aunt, who is inclined to regard the modern girl as heading straight for perdition.

Supporting Miss Roberts are Emanuel Turner, Leo White and Clarissa Selwyn. The story will be released the week of August 5.
Triangle Shows War Romance and Crook Story Aug. 4

F Oll the first release on the program for the week of August 4, Triangle presents a picturization of the war romance, "The Price of Applause," which was produced under the direction of Thomas X. Heffron, and features Claire Anderson and Jack Livingston.

This picture is described as a psychological story. Livingston plays the role of a poet, Karl, a weak individual whose highest aspiration is to seek the admiration of the crowds, for which he painfully obtains. But the price advances, and when his poetic creations will no longer call forth the esteem which he seeks so cheaply, he becomes a boastful though thoughtless patriot, winning approval through his dramatic appeal for the fight for democracy. Doris Schroeder specialist in this story, which was written by Nina Wilcox Putnam and Norman Jacobson.

C. H. Wales was the cameraman. "Alias Mary Brown," Triangle's second release for the week of August 4, was written and co-produced by E. Magnus Ingleton. It will serve to introduce Triangle's new leading man, Casson Purgerson, who is featured in this production with Pauline Starke.

It tells how Dick Browning, son of a wealthy man, becomes an accomplice of a notorious gang of crooks when he is driven to desperation by the unscrupulous men who have robbed his father. In a spirit of revenge, stimulated by the hardships which his mother was compelled to endure before her untimely death, Browning manages to get even with the man who caused his downfall. The climax of the story is reached when Dick in the West marries the runaway daughter of one of his father's former foes. She works out her reformation, and in the end they reap the happiness of a clean conscience.

Casson Purgerson is Dick. Pauline Starke is the girl, Betty. H. D'Elia and William Dowling directed this production, with Elgin Leslie at the camera.

Unusual Set for "L'Ocident." Some of the most beautiful and unusual sets ever built in any motion picture studio are those which Screen Dramatist has provided for Mine, Alla Nazimova, in "L'Ocident." This is the great play by Henri Kishmaeker, the scenario for which has been made by June Mathis and Albert Capellani. Mr. Capellani, assisted by Henry Kolker, is also directing the artiste.

The theme of "L'Ocident" reveals an attempted blending of the inherent traits of the east and of the west with the consequent results. Mine, Nazimova plays Hassannah, the Arabian girl, while her husband, Charles Bryant, is the Captain Cadriere who brings so many influences to bear in the life of the young oriental.

For one portion of the play a city of Tangiers, true to atmosphere, was built. The art drawings, as for all of the sets in "L'Ocident," are the work of the celebrated French technical director, Henri Mennessier. The actual building of the set is under the direction of E. J. Shutter.

"Waifs" Rich in Mystery. In "Waifs," the Gladys Hulette picture released by Pathé August 4, there is a fine flavor of detective story mystery that is carefully worked out. "Waifs" is one of the last pictures made by Miss Hulette, who has been lately called "the perfect ingénue."

E Nrico Caruso, the world's greatest tenor, who was recently announced as the latest addition to the star ranks of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, has been working at the large sixty-sixth street studio on the first of the two Artcraft pictures in which he is to appear. Caruso, in the role of a automobile manufacturer, has been under the supervision of the director Edward Jose and his staff of assistants to the end that when the tenor was ready for the camera the filming of the first scenes moved with rapidity and smoothness.

The picture in which Caruso makes his first appearance on the screen is from a story by Margaret Turnbull, titled "My Country Boy." It is the story of an orphan boy, Tomasso Longo, a poor artist, who makes up in sincerity of spirit, what he lacks in wealth, and who finds that he has not seen since childhood. But his claim to the title of worship is secured by a jealous rival, who nearly succeeds in winning the girl away from the poor sculptor. Not until the boy himself (also played by Caruso) appears to identify his cousin in Tomasso able to prove his beauty and ability to live in the waveling affection of Rosa. Carolina White, well known as a comic and operatic singer, has the role of talent, has the role of Rosa; while in the supporting parts are Alida Valli, Wayne, Salvatore Futro and Bruno Zeno, Mr. Caruso's secretary, William J. Scully is acting as assistant to Director Jose and Hai Young is at the camera.

Pauline Frederick started last week on the production of the new Paramount picture following "The Shadow of the Rope." The picturization of the Elks' winter play is being produced by the Fort Lee studio of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, Emile Chautard directing. A fine cast has been chosen to support Miss Frederick. Robert Cain has the part of the weakening husband, Joe Brooks. Windham's Studio will be seen as Jimmy Smith, while the role of Captain Williams, the man who has the most honest approach to a villain which the piece affords, has been given to Frank Lose. Jack Farrell and Vera Bowers appear respectively as the mother and sister of Emma. The scenario is the work of Charles Green.

One of the biggest sets erected at the Fifty-sixth street studio in many a day is that for "Tangled," the coming motion picture of the Triangle company, which will be released September 18. "Tangled" will be a realistic photography of life in a great tenement block. It will be about 12 scenes which will be shot during the next four weeks during the week of August 15. A realistic fire scene was staged, which will furnish only one of the many thrilling moments of this novel comedy-drama.

"Roped and Tied" is Two-Reeler. Evidence that Universal is paying special attention to "Roped and Tied," its new western, is evidenced in "Roped and Tied," a two reel western drama scheduled for release on August 17. For director Neil Hart, Eileen Sedgwick, Joe Hickson and Lila Whyte, provide a story about a cowboy pursuit in the days of the old West. The pictures are shot in the利用的冒险，由Dolly Lewis导演，一个年轻的牛仔徒弟，他要到Hell Gate, Montana, in search of recrea...
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Vol. 15, No. 32, August 10, 1918

Universal’s Drive Against Yellow Dogs Is Now On

THE drive against the yellow dogs that harass the Government conducted by the J. E. Productions, Inc., under the auspices of Anti-Yellow Dog Clubs throughout the United States is on in real earnest. It is reported from the national headquarters of the Anti-Yellow Dog Club in New York City that approximately a million dollars and 200 million miles have been spent in the past twenty years in the battle against the yellow dog menace. Today it is being carried on throughout the country, and every Anti-Yellow Dog Club is doing its part to help the Government in its war effort.

Ethel Clayton’s Picture Is Version of “Leah Kleschna”

THAT Ethel Clayton has been supplied with a splendid vehicle for her advent in Paramount pictures is the conclusion of all who have watched her work in the picture at Hollywood and who know the story, “The Girl Who Comes Back,” and who have seen Ethel Clayton play the title role in the play of the same name. In this film, she is Miss Clayton in her role as a girl who is the daughter of a thief and who has been brought up to believe her profession an honorable one in which she should take sincere pride. Her reformation and the coming of a real love into her darkened life is the theme of a story that is said to be dramatic.

Elliott Dexter is leading man and Theodore Roberts plays the father. Robert G. Vignola is director, assisted by Lou Howland and Edward Schoenbaum did the camera work.

“Money Mad” Is Mae Marsh Story

Mae Marsh, usually seen in charming situations in her screen plays, is disclosed in any number of tense moments in her newest Goldwyn picture, “Money Mad,” to be released August 25. But of course, they are relieved by smiles of her own particular kind.

Steger Gets Rare Shots

In the Nation’s Capital

BY obtaining special permission from the United States Government to photograph scenes in the Army and Navy buildings and Senate building in Washington, Julius Steger, who is directing Marion Davies’ second Select picture, “The Burden of Proof,” accomplished the hitherto impossible since this country’s entrance into the world war. During the work in Washington Mr. Steger was also fortunate in obtaining a new view of the National Capitol from the windows of the Senate building. This is the first time the Capitol building has been photographed from this angle, and picture patrons throughout the country will enjoy a new view of the nation’s principal building.

Work has now been completed on the Washington scenes for Miss Davies’ new picture, and Miss Davies and her company will go to Newport for the exterior scenes, which take place in that city.

“The Burden of Proof” is a live story of love and intrigue, the action of which takes place mostly in Newport and Washington. In the staging and direction of the most important scenes Mr. Steger has been assisted by Fred Hearst, who also has a prominent part in the playboy.

The date of release of the picture has not been announced.

Universal to Make Anti-Rum Film

The merciless eye of the moving picture camera has been turned upon the activities of John Barleycorn, and his sins are to be revealed via the moving picture screen. Information telling of the additional blew given to Old Man Barleycorn has just come from Universal in the form of an announcement which states that the Industrial Department of that company is to produce a one-reel film for the Federated Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

The picture is to be called “Strength from America,” and will not only reveal liquor’s effect upon its users, but will also deal with this evil from the economic standpoint. The latter angle will be founded on facts and figures collected by Charles Stieles, author of “Why Prohibition?” and the editor who will act as general manager of this campaign for the church organization.

Hulette-Hale Comedy-Drama

Heads Path for August 4

PATHE’S program No. 210 for release for the week of August 4 is headed by a five-part comedy drama, “Waifs,” with Gladys Hulette and Elizabeth Hale as co-stars. Marjorie Whitney is a very pretty and very independent daughter and only child of a multi-millionaire. Mr. Hulette and Miss Whitney are very much in love, but he is headstrong and boss of the palace in which she lives.

The comedy element on the program will be furnished by a one-reeler in which Harold Lloyd and Bebe Daniels share honors in one of the best rapid-fire farces that this popular couple have as yet appeared in. Of course there is no plot, for that would spoil everything, but here is as agile and beautiful as ever, and young Lloyd displays some new ideas in the way of slapstick that brand him as the leader in the refined rough-house school, if this paradox may be permitted.

The Official War Review No. 6 will be released August 4, as will the Post Travel Series No. 5, which has as its subject “Venezuela.” Patrons of photoplay theater will find the Venezuela reel unusual. In this film are shown the beautiful cities with magnificent buildings, zoological gardens, universities, and every adjunct of metropolitan life.

Heard-Pathé News No. 64 and No. 65 will be released on this program.

Scene from “The Hypocrites” (General Film).
Lillian Walker to be Starred in Eight Productions

THE formation of a large producing combination, having as its purpose the making of productions for distribution on a co-partnership or co-operative basis, was revealed this week through the announcement that the first of a series of eight pictures in which Lillian Walker is to be starred is now being filmed at the Metropolitan Studio in Los Angeles.

The series produced by the Lillian Walker Pictures Corporation will be one of the units, it is understood, of the new combination. It is known the productions of three additional stars have already been contracted for, and it is said that the new organization will include several well-known producing firms which have heretofore been classed as "independents."

The Lillian Walker Pictures Corporation has taken offices in the Bankers Trust Building, 501 Fifth Avenue. It has as its head as president and general manager Lester Park, who has been largely instrumental in the formation of the new producing combination.

Mr. Park has been extremely active for more than a year in furthering a closer relationship between exhibitor and producer. As both a distributor and producer of pictures he has had an extensive experience.

In the Lillian Walker Pictures Corporation he has surrounded himself with a working staff including, in addition to Mr. Dillon, the director, Fred Wilson as production manager, Don O'Brien as assistant director, and Bert Carber as technical director.

Miss Walker will be presented only in those plays which will give full scope for her inherent charm and attractiveness. They will be of the bright, sunny quality to which she is so well fitted temperamentally, and which allow ample play for those characteristics, including her famous dimples and smile, that have contributed so materially to her popularity.

The first of the series of eight pictures which Miss Walker is now doing is an adaptation by Roy Sommerville of a widely known comedy drama which had a New York and country-wide run of unusual extent. Miss Walker is supported by a carefully selected cast of players.

Love to Begin on "Driving Power."

Montague Love, under the direction of Oscar Apfel, begins work next week at the World studio, at Fort Lee, on "The Driving Power," a semi-weekly exhibit, which was written by Harry O. Hoyt. Mr. Love in this picture will be called upon to create another unique character to hang in his gallery of screen creations.

In "The Driving Power" World Pictures has a story of unusual dramatic tenacity dealing with politics of a metropolitan center where the will of the people is expressed by their voice at the polls is submerged by a political boss whose word is law. Dying, he calls his son to his bedside and bequeaths to him all the power he possesses. The son is built of different stuff and determines to rid the city of the political incubus which has throttled the will of the people and he destroys the machine that has controlled the municipal for many, many years; during the course of which he brings his father's name into the limelight. All of which is done for a woman's love.

Hutchison Back in Form.

The accident from which Charles Hutchison just recovered has apparently not affected his nerve. Director Joseph A. Golden states that the serial-going public will be astonished by the nonchalant daredevilishness of this leading man. Climbing up the walls of burning houses, jumping from runaway autos and leaping from rooftops where a misstep meant death are only a few of the really dangerous hazards which Mr. Hutchison undertakes in the coming serial starring Leah Baird.

The day after his return to the studio one of his tests was the means of attracting a crowd of several thousand onlookers. With the pursuing Sheldon Lewis hot on his trail, Hutchison scales the face of a ten-story building—all under the eagle eye of the camera.

That particular scene was staged downtown in Wall Street and Hutchison evidently was taken for the "Human Fly," who has performed similar hazardous feats on the face of office buildings downtown.

Kerrigan Story Nearly Ready.

McGrew Willis, author of J. Warren Kerrigan's latest Paralta Play offering, "A Burglar for a Night," has provided Mr. Kerrigan with one of the most congenial roles that well-known star has had since he deserted the speaking stage in favor of the celluloid records of romance and adventure. The production will be released by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation in the early part of August. Kerrigan is called upon to portray the character of a young New Yorker, Kirk Marden, the son of the rich Daniel Marden, controller of the destinies of a railroad that his business rivals want to write from his hands.

Lois Wilson will be seen as the heroine. Mr. Kerrigan also will have the support of the familiar team of Elmer, Bob Brown, Herbert Prior, Lydia Yeamans Titus and Arma Roma.

Worsley Working on Fourth Paralta.

Wallace Worsley since joining the Paralta forces has become identified as the director of all of the productions in which Louise Glau has been seen as the star. At the Bruston studios in Los Angeles, where Paralta Plays are being produced, Miss Glau has completed three productions under Mr. Worsley's direction and is now working on the fourth. The plays thus far released include "An Alien Enemy," "Shadowed," and "Welock," which was released by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation the early part of July.

"Winning Grandma" (Pathé).

Pathé announces the release of another Baby Marie Osborne picture, "Winning Grandma," to be released in August. Smiling Sammy, the little colored lad, who is almost a screen star in his right, now, has a prominent part in the festivities set forth in "Winning Grandma." The play is one very aptly suited to Baby Marie, and will cement her hold upon the large following she already has.

Pathé Reports Great Demand for War Films

THE big offensive drive, in which American troops have played so spectacular a part, on the west front in France since July 12 has multiplied the public demand for war films, according to Pathé, and instead of being shelved the pictures of a year ago even are being sought by exhibitors.

The big news from France concerning the achievements of American soldiers, the taking of prisoners and enemy supplies has provided Pathé with public pictures for pictures taken on the front. For instance, the final episode of "Britannia's Bullet" is released July 28, but many exhibitors have only just started showing this war picture, which is in twelve parts and runs twelve weeks.

This feature, coupled with the Official War Review, the Government reel, and the excellent war pictures contained in the semi-weekly Hearst-Pathé News constitutes a war picture program that in many cases is being advertised as the star feature, with the usual play as the second attraction. Every print of the "Whispering Wires of War," a one reel special, is working, it is reported.
Gall Kane’s First of Eight for Mutual Is “Love’s Law”

GALL KANE’S return to the screen after a six months’ absence will be in a series of eight special productions to be made by Gall Kane Productions, and released by the Mutual Film Corporation at intervals of six and eight weeks, beginning with September 1. The first release is “Love’s Law.”

Miss Kane has done some extraordinary work in semi-comedy roles, and her new pictures will give her a chance to display an aptitude for acting of this type, although they will in no sense of the word be comedies.

“Miss Kane has a tremendous box office drawing power, and her new pictures are being produced to deliver the most there is in her name to the screens of the country,” said James M. Sheldon, president of the Mutual, in announcing that the Kane productions would be released as specials.

Courtney Foote appears with Miss Kane in her first picture, a five-reel story of how a girl of birth and talent rose above her environment and won professional recognition and a husband. It is laid in New York today.

George Bunny Resembles His Well-Known Brother

THE motion picture fame of Bunny, cut off by the death of the illustrious John, peer of screen comedians of his day, bids fair to be revived by the deceased filmmaker’s brother, George Bunny, if the latter’s work in support of Madge Kennedy in “Friend Husband,” her latest Goldwyn Picture, can be taken as a criterion.

No one who remembers the inimitable John Bunny and the peculiar style that so endeared him to comedy lovers the world over can fail to see in George Bunny almost an exact counterpart of his famous brother. George is not so stout as John, but otherwise the resemblance is remarkable.

In “Friend Husband” George Bunny has a role that would have well fitted the talents of his brother. In fact, Bunny was engaged for the part because he resembled the dead comedian both facially and in his ability to make big comedy capital out of a not unusual situation.

William J. Kelly in Metro Picture

Olive Tell has as her leading man for her initial picture as a Metro star William J. Kelly. In “Secret Strings,” which in its original form was a short story from the pen of Kate Jordan, later was converted into play form and now has been scenario-

Scenario Editor’s Wife Refuses to Be Barred

HART OF GOLD,” in which Louise Huff will star as her third World production, was written by Lucy Sarver, wife of Charles Sarver, the World scenario editor, and the manner in which the World secured this story is unusual and interesting.

Knowing that her husband would not recommend the purchase of her story, Mrs. Sarver, through a friend, submitted the manuscript direct to the World president. So impressed was the president with the merits of the tale that he purchased it at once, and without the knowledge of Mr. Sarver, had the continuity prepared, the duplicate copies made and the production got in shape for handling over to a director before Mr. Sarver was informed of the purchase.

It is also interesting to know that all the officials of the World company are highly pleased with “Heart of Gold” and consider it a most delightful and effective story.

Gus Metzger Comes to New York Jewel

Gus A. Metzger has come out of the West to take charge of Jewel’s New York City Exchange. Metzger is a pioneer in the film business of Oregon. Northwest exhibitors have known Metzger since the days when the industry was in its infancy. Coming to it from a successful career as an exhibitor, he joined the Film and Supply Company of Oregon, which was taken over by the Universal and recently became Universal Film Exchange, Inc. Since the first Jewel Production was released last fall some thirty Jewel officers have been opened in the United States. The recent summoning of Mr. Metzger from the Portland office to New York is a signal recognition of his successful handling of those features in the Northwest territory.

“That Devil, Bateese” (Universal).

“’That Devil, Bateese’,” a five-reel Bluebird which affords Monroe Salisbury an opportunity to return to the type of role which originally brought him popularity as a Universal star, will be released by that organization during the week of August 15. In the supporting cast are Adda Gleason, Lamar Johnstone, Lon Chaney and Andrew Cobson.
Betwood's First Production Features Star

Lady Tsen Mei appears in "When East Meets West," directed by Ira M. Lowrey—Louis Bennison in "Sandy Burke," a novel Western Comedy Drama, to Be Second Offering of This Company.

The attention of exhibitors who are looking for "something new" is immediately arrested by the announcement from Betwood Film Company to their initial release, "When East Meets West," starring Lady Tsen Mei, said to be the only female Chinese star appearing in films.

In announcing the production, Mr. Bennison comments: "The picture is announced as having a "different" story destined to give the jaded optics of the world another reason for living new today they are continually crying for."

No expense is said to have been spared by Betwood in making a real feature in every respect. The interior settings of Chinese homes are claimed to be more artfully built than any made to date. Miss Mei, as the title character, is a unique personage, representing the flowered kingdom.

In "Sandy Burke," the new production from the Betwood Company, it is said that they have an unusual find, and a star with unusual dramatic ability. The supporting cast includes Robert Elliott as a young American who temporarily succumbs to the lure of Oriental femininity; Ben Hendricks, Jr., in the dual roles of Prince Kang and Ba-tu; Herbert Horton Patte as a designing German diplomat; Marjorie Hitchcock, played by Princess Tau, and Neil Moran as Minister Emmons, together with the following Chinese players: Lai Mon Kim, Joe Chong, Rosie Moey, Lee Poy, Edward Lee, and Gilbert Leong.

The picture, which has appeared with a number of prominent producers, is responsible for the camera work, and it is promised that his work in connection with that of William Cooper, in charge of the plant, formerly the Lubin studio, has developed something unusual in photographic quality.

The story of the production was written by J. Allan Dunn, and was shot in Philadelphia, on the specially built Chinatown set. The Betwood Film Company believes that exhibitors, when they have seen "Sarah Burke," will definitely wish to see more; as they have been presented with something new—exclusively Bennison.

The support of this picture is excellent. Superbly, the lady's support is Virginia Lee, Echlin Gazer, who was the "Duke" in "Johnny Get Your Gun," Alphonse Ethier, Helen Chen, Ruby Long, David Simon, Bennison, Lucy Beaumont, and little Naudia Greystone.

"The exhibitors' demand," says Mr. Lowrey, "for something new and big is entirely justifiable, and we are prepared with our releases to silence the patron who says they are all alike."

Rolfe Signs Director and Prominent Players

UCI activity is manifest in the offices of the Rolfe Productions, Inc., and plans are now under way for the new Houdini serial. The announcement has just been made of the signing of Margaret Marsh, who is one of the best known screen stars in the business. Houdini himself has personally selected Miss Marsh because she seemed to be the one who had all the qualifications necessary for the part he had in view. "I want this to be a 100 per cent. picture," stated Mr. Houdini, president of Rolfe Productions, Inc., and I rely on great deal on Houdini's showmanship and judgment in the matter of cast as well as sets and atmosphere."

Miss Marsh has been in pictures for a number of years, and has been starred by many of the leading companies. Ruth Stonehouse is another stellar light added to the rapidly growing forces of this organization who are now at work in the new serial written by Messrs. Reeve and Logue. Miss Stonehouse has been engaged to play an important role in support of Houdini.

Miss Stonehouse is one of the best known leading women in the picture business, and has an extensive following. She has been starred by several of the leading independent producers, and was selected by Mr. Houdini.

Mr. Rolfe also announces the signing of Burton King to direct the forthcoming Houdini serial.

Mr. King has been busy casting and making plans to begin production at once. He has had a great deal of experience in producing serials, and feature productions with well known stars.

Mr. King has spent the greater part of his life in the theatrical business, and has been starred in a great many productions on the stage, one of them being "Strongheart."

William Haddock has been engaged as assistant to Mr. King.

First Sherman Production Follows Book Absolutely

Harry A. SHERMAN, president of Sherman Productions, Inc., has arranged with New York, with a print of "The Light of Western Stars" to arrange for its distribution. This production is a fine piece of Zane Grey's widely read novel of the same title, and Dustin Farnum appears in the leading role. It is said the outlay of the hundred thousand dollars, and has been five months in the making.

Mr. Sherman states that he is a believer in absolute authenticity in the adaptation of books to the screen, and that as a result of having conducted a chain of picture theaters he has found keen disappointments cheerfully doing all they can in the distorted versions of certain pictured novels. He therefore determined in entering the production field to insist on this point. As a consequence, in filming "The Light of Western Stars" the director was under orders to follow the text of the book absolutely, the scenes were filmed at the exact locations described by the author and the film is a star-studded production, directed by Farnum, to whom the author referred in the first chapter as representing the type of role Farnum portrayed. "The Light of Western Stars" was written by Mr. Grey for Farnum, and the author has written the script as book, making this a unique project. The plot is self-contained and fast moving.

Work on this film was started in February, and it was necessary for the company to have the book in readable form for several months they lived in tents and by auto visited the various locations named by the author. Many of the scenes also took them to El Cajon, New Mexico; Las Osa, Mexico, and thence to old Pueblo. The picture was taken in the interior of Mexico, eighty miles from the nearest railroad, where many scenes were shot.

While showing the vastness of the cactus wilderness were secured.

Gaumont Speeds Up News Reel Service

When the Gaumont Company decided to distribute its news service through independent exchanges it announced that its semi-weekly news-reels, the "News" and "Graphic," would always be first on the screen. One of the best developed news-reel companies in the United States, and a big force of skilled laboratory assistants made it possible to promise the shipment of the News and Graphic on Tuesdays and Fridays, a day ahead of the release of other non-reel picture news.

The success of these, the only news-reels issued on state right market, is said to have made it necessary to double the number of copies of the News and Graphic, but in spite of this the printing and shipping have been speeded up and now less than a half day is required to print, pack and deliver them to the post and express offices.

As might be expected, Tuesdays and Fridays are days of bustle around the Gaumont plant. On these days the employees assemble at an unusually early hour. At 9 o'clock the last mail of the morning is received, the latest minute news-negatives are rushed through the developer, the final assembly of a corps of inspectors project them to see that every scene is correct and in order. They are quickly checked and addressed and rushed to the depots by fast autos.

The studios and laboratories of the Gaumont Company are situated at Flushing, Long Island, New York City and just across the river from the Manhattan section of the city.

While transportation just at this time is subject to delay, the Gaumont news-reel express officials realize the necessity of "speeding" the news, and that they can facilitate the rushing of these important carriers of news events.
Sales of the Week
Activities in the State Right Market
During the Past Seven Days.

Andeau launches rights to "Topical of the Day," in Williamsburg, St. Louis, is announced by Topics of the Day Film Company.

Arrow Film Corporation announces the sale of western territory: To Keystone Distributing Company for eastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey; To National for California, Arizona, and Nevada; To Gaumont News and Graphic to Modern Film Exchange for northern New Jersey; To "The Still Alarmers" and "Fighting the Hun in the Air" to Specialty Film Company for Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana; To "A Husband's Friend" to J. H. Pearce & Sons for Louisiana, Mississippi, and Arkansas.

Mid-West Greater Features Company have secured rights to "Stolen Orders" for Colorado, Ohio, Wyoming, and New Mexico. Through error, statement appeared in our issue of August 3 that this company should have read Wyoming; same should have read Wyoming.

W. H. Productions Company announce the sale of rights to series of Shorty Hamilton reissues to the Standard Film Corporation, Kansas City, for Missouri and Kansas.

Announcement of sales of territory to Babbling Tongues and "Sins of Ambition" to Ace Film Productions, Inc., as follows: To Standard Film Corporation, Minnesota, for Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and northern Wisconsin, and to the L. J. Schaeffer Attractions, Seattle, for Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Nevada.

"Inspiration" to Be Reissued

ANNOUNCEMENT is made by the Arrow Film Corporation that they will release the feature photoplay "Inspiration," in which Audrey Munson, the well known model, appears in the leading role, being slightly altered, retitled, and will be released on the state right market as a main title, which has not yet been selected. A wide-scale campaign of exploitation has been planned in connection with this attraction.

This organization also secured under competitive bidding at a forced sale "Sunset Princess," which they announce is being offered to state right buyers at a small margin of profit. The picture is in five reels, and is an adaptation of the poem, "Yellowstone Pete's Only Daughter," by Walt Whitman, and includes much of the production. Margery Davy is the featured player.

Ruby de Remer Appears
In New Graphic Picture

RUBY DE REMER has been engaged by Director Ivan Abramson for an important role in his new production, "Ashes of the Purple," a new feature photoplay in an important role in the Graphic Film Corporation. This is the first time Miss de Remer has appeared in a feature film in an important role since her recent appearance in "Inheritance Thy Daughter.

The cast of this production is headed by John Hackett, and includes such well-known players as Estelle Shannon, Mabel Julliene Scott, Paula Shaw, William Davidson, and Hugh Thompson.
Gaumont News Shows Captured German Trophies

Miners Working to Prevent Coal Shortage, Army Pigeons Making Record Flight, Views of Big Shell-Making Plant, Enemy Mines Destroyed by Two-Pounders, and Other Interesting Items in This Company's New Reels.

GAUMONT NEWS NO. 18 shows guns and equipment captured from the enemy at a recent raid here, and "Taubé"; also a picture of the S. S. San Diego," which was sunk off Fire Island, England, by a German submarine. In a town near San Francisco when a street car runs wild and turns over. The boys from the H金牌ado radio school, give an exhibition of a new game called the "Chariot Race." Coal miners are shown working at a high speed to prevent a repetition of the coal shortage. Army pigeons make record flight from Kansas City to Chicago. At Camperdown, they have a novel way of teaching the boys how to navigate the big army trucks over all kinds of roads.

Gaumont Graphic No. 17 shows the inside workings of one of Uncle Sam's big war plants where shell cases are made, including the stages of its development from a copper plate to the finished shell cases.

The official picture of the National Coal Association gives an idea of how the coal miners are working so that we may have coal when we need it. 12,500,000 tons in a single day is their new production record. Other interesting subjects include the French War Pictures. Enemy miners work in a two-pounder, and a mine explosion makes a sp-actacular splash when a hit is recorded. In Washington work is being rushed on the greatest office building. In Chicago premier swimmers stage patriotic water carnival. Mexican editors attend review of our sailor boys at Goat Island.

First "Ralph Ince" Film
Will Be an Adaptation

THAT the plans of Associated Pictures, Inc., are rapidly maturing to the production point is stated by Herbert Lubin, an executive of the new organization. The selection of the initial story has been made. The scenario is an adaptation of one of the well known American novels, the author of which has personally prepared the film version, but the author's name and the title will be kept secret for the moment. No touch has been given to the production.

Under the brand name of "Ralph Ince Pictures" this ambitious undertaking by this organization will be directed by Ralph Ince, who, under special arrangements is to direct Ethel Barrymore and Hale Hamilton in two pictures for the Metro Pictures Corporation. Following the completion of these films he will undertake the production of the first Ralph Ince Film Attractions.

Louis Joseph Vance will take an active part in the preparation of the first Ince picture, and is now busyly engaged in that particular work.

Much Interest Aroused
By Tourneur's New Film

KEEN interest is being manifested in Maurice Tourneur's first independent production, a screen adaptation of Cecil HARTDEG's and Seymour Hicks' famous Lane melodrama, "Sporting Life," which will soon be offered to the public.

Mr. Tourneur, who will handle this production, have received numerous letters from exhibitors who want to play "Sporting Life," which he claims is one of the most famous melodramas ever produced at the Drury Lane in London. It has been screened by Mr. Tourneur, who also produced "The Whip," likewise a Drury Lane production, which turned out to be one of the most successful melodramas ever filmed. Many exhibitors who played "The Whip" have written to Miller & Wilk, Inc., as well as a great many who did not, and letters of inquiry have been received from England, Australia, and India.

The big scene of "Sporting Life" is said to be a reproduction of an international prize fight before the London National Sporting Club. This fight takes place in a big London playhouse, and Mr. Tourneur reproduced the theater, galleries, bai- conies, boxes, stage, and pit, with the lighting platform erected in the front of the pit. Every seat is occupied, the aisles jammed. Another big feature of "Sporting Life" is a reproduction of the famous Derby race, which is the great English racetrack.

The cast of "Sporting Life" includes the Blinny Sisters, Willette Kershaw, Ralph Graves, Warren Richmond, Clara Heyers, Charles Craig, and Charles Eldridge.

"Still Alarm" Exploited
by Means of Novel Stunt

THE First National exchange, Denver, employed a novel stunt in connection with exploitation of "The Still Alarm," the Pioneer Film Corporation's feature which they are handling in that territory. By arrangement with the local authorities a series of thrilling stunts were performed by the fire department in front of the America theater. The result is said to have been very successful in attracting patronage to the house.

According to reports from this exchange, a great many bookings are being received on this production, and extra prints have been ordered to take care of the demand.

In New York, "The Still Alarm" has been booked by the Loew, Keith and Proctor, Fox, and other big circuits, and also played to big business at the Hippodrome in Baltimore during a week's run.

Ernest Shipman Secures
Several New Productions

REPORTS received from Ernest Shipman indicate that he has been very busy during his stay in Los Angeles. Not only has he opened an office at that point to be maintained in connection with the one in New York, but he has made arrangement with a number of manufacturers to handle their productions on state rights market, including the first Al Jenning's production, "The Lady in the Dug- out," the Corona Cinema feature, "The Captain of Eve."

Mr. Shipman also announces that the second Francis Ford release, "The Island of Intrigue," has been completed, and that territory on the first production, "Hart- via America," is almost entirely sold. The fifth William H. Clifford production of five reels featuring Shorty Hamilton, "A Prisoner of War," is also finished, while a series of one-reel poem picture plays by Bill Stringer will be released monthly through Mr. Shipman's New York office. Territory on the two-reel Joss Binney comedies have been closed out, which dispos- es of the only comedies handled by the Shipman organization.

Novel Sub-Titling for Fifth Petrova Picture

OFFICIALS of the Petrova Picture Company feel that in the fifth special Petrova production, "The Tiger Woman," they have a film the artistry and smoothness of which will be commented upon by exhibitors and the public. It is claimed to have one of the finest sets of pictorial titles ever seen on the screen.

Originality and beauty is claimed for the main title. Following a photograph of Madame Petrova with outstretched arms on which is carried the usual preliminary wordings, the film then dissolves into a revolving drum effect on which, as it turns, is a foreword illustrated from time to time, with descriptive scenes fading in and out.

The subtitles are said to be the work of artists who have striven to merge the scenes and reading matter into a composition whole. The production is an- nounced for release within the near future.

Blanche Sweet Will Appear in Eight Pictures a Year

BLANCHE SWEET is now in New York for a brief visit after having com- pleted her first picture under Harry L. Garson's management entitled "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." This picture will be returned to the Pacific Coast in about three weeks, when she will begin work on her next picture, "Told in the Hills," which is an adaptation of Mary Ellis Ryan's successful novel. Following this feature, which will be made in the biggest studio, she will be seen in a film version of Rupert Hughes' magazine story, "The Un- pardonable Sin." It is announced that she will be featured by Mr. Garson in eight productions during the current year.

Scene from "When Meets West" (Betzwood).
Three Stars Appearing in Moon Comedy Films

SUNSHINE FILM, INC., announces that Moon comedies have been booked by 159 other motion picture theaters in New York. Emil Harder, who is president of the company, also directs all of the productions. This company has three comedy stars, Lola Venue, Yonnie Faccio, and Shorty Alexander, and the two latest offerings, which are being disposed of on state rights basis, are "Their Unexpected Job," a story dealing with the anti-loafing law.

"Successful Pictures Built, Not Made," Says Abramson

ACCORDING to Ivan Abramson, director general of the Graphic Film Corporation, a successful picture is built, not made. The theme is the foundation, the situations and climaxes are the building material, the story is the architect's plans by which they are put into place, the director is the master builder, and the cast the artisans whose work adds beauty and durability to the structure.

Mr. Abramson's latest production is "When Love Betray," starring Gail Kane, and he is now engaged in making "Ashes of Love."

PICTURE THEATERS PROJECTED.

UCSON, ARIZ.—Opera house here owned by A. V. Grosetta and recently destroyed by fire will be replaced with modern moving picture theater for Broadway Theater Co.
LONG BEACH, CALIF.—J. Roy Myers, 118 W. First street has taken over Laughlin theater at 4th street and Pine avenue.
NEW LONDON, CONN.—Charles J. Duy and Walter T. Murphy have plans by Herbert R. Brewster, 116 Nassau street, New York, for moving picture theater.
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Building at 5th and D streets has been converted into moving picture theater and opened to public. It is known as Criterion and operated by Marcus Notes.

CHICHAGO, ILL.—Star theater, 1452 Milwaukee avenue, has plans by C. Howard Craner, 2325 Dime Bank building, Detroit, Mich., for remodeling theater building.
CHICAGO, ILL.—Henry L. Newhouse, 4630 Prairie avenue, is preparing plans for erection of theater and store building for Goshow Bruce, 7938 Halsted street.

DES MOINES, Ia.—General Amusement Company has taken over Palace theater.

HITHEMA, Ia.—Scene theater is to be remodeled.

MAINE, Ia.—K. T. Florene has disposed of Orient theater to Charles R. Tripp.

MUSCATINE, Ia.—Henry Wittman, owner of American theater, has purchased Grand and plans to make extensive improvements to latter.

SIoux CITY, Ia.—Nathan Dax is preparing to remodel theater. House is to be reopened early in August.

WATERLOO, Ia.—J. E. Hostetler, owner of Crystal theater, has taken over Plaza from Frank Bryant.

BAYON ROUGE, Ia.—Improvements will be made to Louisiana theater.

BATH, ME.—A. L. Tripp of Waterville has contract to remodel Dreamland theater for Bath theater, Inc.

ESCANA, MICH.—W. A. Taylor of Jackson, Mich., has purchased Strand theater and plans extensive improvements.

HOUGHTON, MICH.—Lyric theater has been purchased by Laurium Theater Company.

FOREST LAKE, MINN.—Walker & Goodhue Company have disposed of Forest theater to H. E. Lasky of Minneapolis.

GRAND FORKS, MINN.—A. J. Kavanagh has plans by Bert Keck, First National Bank building, for theater, store and apartment building.

HECTOR, MINN.—S. A. Pettinger has sold Palace theater on Main street to John P. Butler.

WINONA, MINN.—Tony Zabroshi is converting Wesley M. E. Church into moving picture theater.

CARUTHAREVILLE, MO.—Mrs. White has sold Dixie theater.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—Idle Hour theater, care W. D. Scoville, 116 E. 12th street, has plans by Madorie & Field, 1104 Republic building, to remodel one-story moving picture theater, to cost $15,000.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—A. E. Elliott, 117 East 12th street, has let contract to William J. Weiss, 1036 National avenue, to erect one-story moving picture theater, 36' by 70 feet, with seating capacity of 900, and to cost $100,000.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—Grand theater has plans by C. B. Sloan, 321 East 11th street, for remodeling interior of theater at 7th street and Grand avenue.

SPRINGFIELD, MO.—Frank Lloyd succeeds Rush Wilhoit as manager of Princess theater on Commercial street.
Clara Kimball Young Given Great Ovation

Select's Star Received by Enthusiastic Throngs Wherever She Appears in Spokane

—In Seattle Miss Young and Admiral Coontz Lead Parade of 5,000 “Jackies” with Five Bands, Opening Victory Carnival—Talks with Moving Picture World Man.

By S. Clark Patchin, E. 15th Street.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG, captivating, smiling, courtly, and enthusiastic, captured Spokane audiences with a dash fitting to any military organization and in a manner that any king or queen could be proud of when she spent July 15 in Spokane. She made three appearances at the Liberty theater, where "The Claw," in which she was starred, was being presented, this arrangement having been worked out by Manager Sam W. B. Cohn, of the Liberty. He also arranged a private dinner party in honor of Miss Young and her party at the Davenport hotel, where Miss Young was given the state suite.

During the afternoon she appeared at a Red Cross benefit arranged by society matrons of the city at the home of Mrs. John Finch. A short vaudeville performance was given here, and Miss Young was introduced to the audience by Mayor C. M. Fassett. Here, too, the actress won her way quickly into the hearts of her audience.

Capacity Audiences Greet the Star.

At each appearance at the Liberty, Miss Young was greeted by capacity audiences, and at times people were crowded out to the curb line waiting for the next performance so they could get into the house. She was given great ovations in the way of applause at the theater, also upon leaving the house. Standing room was taken both inside of the house and in the lobby, so that a passage way had to be made to permit her to return to the hotel after the performances. She was given automobile trips about the city during the day. W. S. Gilbert, leader of the four-minute speakers for the city and county, introduced her at the theater.

Miss Young’s future pictures are to have happy endings, because she does not believe the picture public wants her to “die” at the end of each offering, according to her statement.

Talks with World Man.

While Miss Young and Mrs. Rudolph were having a visit with Larry Trimble, director of the Washington Motion Picture Corporation, and Edward Horn, a photographer of that company, which has its plant in Spokane, I was introduced to the star, whose reception I shall not soon forget, for she immediately makes one feel at ease, and informed me that Mr. Trimble directed her in her first picture. Miss Young then told of her trip starting at Los Angeles then to San Francisco, where she aided the navy recruiting mission by speaking and helped open a room for the Red Cross. From there she proceeded to Portland, Ore., where she also appeared in the following recruiting mission, the result being 150 enlisted men, and from there she went to Seattle, Wash., where she had played in stock before no-ing into the pictures about eight years ago. Here she was greeted by large audiences at the Coliseum, where many of her former friends gathered to see her. She and Admiral Coontz led a parade which opened the victory carnival arranged for by Seattle society women, the aim being to raise funds for a hospital. There were 5,000 Jackies, five bands, and an escort of supernanettes carrying guns in the line of parade, which proceeded to the big arena, where $3500 was raised toward the hospital fund the first night.

Speaks in Interest of W. S. S.

At Tacoma she was again greeted by capacity audiences, and made two appearances in the Colonial theater, where she spoke in the interest of the Thrift Stamp campaign. Admiral Coontz praised her work in Portland and Seattle, saying think any woman should be,” declared the star.

Addresses 500 in Hotel Lobby.

"I only wish I were a man so I could don a uniform and get into the first-line trenches,” declared Miss Young to an audience of fully 500 men and women who gathered in the lobby of the Davenport hotel, where she was given an ovation. "I am here to talk about Thrift Stamps,” she continued. "Why don’t you business men subscribe to the limit as you should, that’s what I would like to know. You have business ability enough to know that Uncle Sam is offering a wonderful investment in his Thrift Stamps. Isn’t that a lot better than taxing you and not even returning you your principal back? Then you get four per cent interest on the stamps.

"I am moving my residence from New York to Seattle, Washington, and I expect to visit this beautiful city once or twice a year regularly.

Gets 55 Navy Recruits at Theater.

"In Portland, Ore., where I talked a few days ago, there were 50 and 55 of these were enlisted at the theater where I talked. The others joined the ranks. I’ve been very proud of this record because the officer in charge told me that Portland had been combed for months before for volunteers. I have spoken every time a navy or marine officer has requested me to, and I have never turned down a request to speak for any of the campaigns, including the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Armenian, Y. W. C. A., Liberty, and various other. My heart is in the war to the limit, and I want to do my utmost instead of my bit.

“Spokane looks good to me. I love this city from what I have already seen of it. The Davenport hotel is one of the finest in which I have ever had the pleasure of stopping. I am certainly going to return to this city many times after I take up my residence in California, where I have my own production house.”

Leaves for New York.

Miss Young and her party arrived at 7:15 a.m., and left the following morning on route to New York direct. This queen of the screen was accompanied by Harry Garson, her manager, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rudolph, Mr. Rudolph being her publicity man.

What Dallas Exchange Men Are Doing.

Cliff Reid, of the United Theaters Company of America, who was former Dallas Mutual manager, and H. G. Morrow, former First National manager of Dallas, but now with the United Theaters, are in New York for a few weeks.

H. O. Underwood, president of the Matinee Film Company, of Dallas, is spending his vacation in New York.

E. C. Leeves, formerly with the United Theaters Corporation, has joined the sales force of the First National in Texas and Oklahoma territory.
Metro Closes Branches in Canada.

Although the Metro franchise in Canada was acquired by Regal Films, Limited, months ago, the Metro branches in the dominion have just been closed. This development occurs under the Regal Exhibitors' Agreement of 1917 and policy for 1919. Metro releases were immediately stopped in the entire Canadian territory for the first time on that occasion and shortly afterwards the Metro offices were moved to their head offices in Toronto, Montreal and elsewhere.

Gronau Leaves Canadian Universal.

Announcement has been made that Ed Gronau, is no longer associated with the Canadian Universal in Montreal. Gronau had been with the Universal for a number of years, and he severed the connection in order to make new and important arrangements for himself.

Philadelphia News Letter

By P. V. Armato, for North Salford St., Philadelphia Post.

Delegates Return from Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Although slightly disappointed at the outcome of the National Exhibitor's Convention which resulted in the election of Peter Schaefer, of Chicago, for the next president, the majority of delegates and Judge J. O'Donnell returned from Boston in the best of spirits, and expressed themselves contented with the new president. To say that the Canadian contingent enjoyed their stay in Boston particularly in view of the reports from the recent arrivals, and that it was a most royal good time, and they certainly admit it. A delightful treat was the excursion on the steamer to Nantasket Beach which finally ended with one of those famous cabaret dinners, at which E. Brown, in company with his wife and Blatt and his wife, and had a wonderful trip in their respective automobiles while making the journey back and forth. Many stops were made on the route, but one in particular was at Narraganset Pier in Newport, where 5,000 spectators were said to be present in the motoring camp were heard singing several patriotic songs at the completion of their graduation exercises. By good fortune Harry Ernst, son of H. Ernst, Sr., the manager of the Fairhill Palace in Philadelphia, was seen among the boys who were graduating soon to take their place in Uncle Sam's army.

Victoria Runs Metro Film for Week.

Edgar Wolf, the popular vaudeville manager who was recently appointed in charge of the Victoria, one of the largest vaudeville houses in Victoria, was today seen last week, and said that he was highly pleased with his new position. An interesting occurrence was the opening August 5 the Metro's sensational production, "To Hell with the Kaiser," would be presented for another week.

Philadelphia Shorts.

Frank W. Buhrer, general manager of the Stanley Company, besides attending the last day of the Philadelphia Film Trade Show, and having a large number of picture theaters, is at present attending to the booking of Sabskoly and McHugh's vaudeville and other engagements for the latter return from their vacation.

Herbert Ellinger, the president and managing director of other companies, has inaugurated quite a novel and up-to-date arrangement whereby he has been successful in circulating ice-cooled air through the house, which is delighting the large patronage of his beautiful theater.

Pittsburgh Trade Letter

By E. J. McMurtry, 455 Union Arcade, Pittsburgh.

Rent Too High; Theater Closes.

PITTSBURGH, PA.—The Alhambra theater at Beaver Falls has been closed by Mr. Frank M. McGuirk, whose management the theater thrived for about two years. Mr. Hart developed the theater from a run of small shows to a prosperous theater proposition showing moving pictures exclusively, and, with its 500 seats, was doing well. The theater was closed because of an excessive rental asked by the owner. It is understood, however, will be vacating the place.

Smith Takes Over Greenfield Theater.

The Greenfield theater at 708 Greenfield avenue has been taken over by Edward Smith, a former Bloomingfield exhibitor. The house seats about 300, and has been closed for a few weeks.

B. & B. Theater Sold.

The B. & B. theater on Beaver avenue, north side, has been sold by C. P. Michaels to Mr. C. F. McGuirk. The house will open in a week or so after remodeling is completed.

Liebman Buys Wilkay Theater.

The Wilkay theater at Parade street, Erie, which has been in the hands of Mr. Liebman, of East Pittsburgh, who assumed active management last week, has operated a prosperous one, and should enjoy good patronage under the new owner's management.

Columbia Theater Being Rebuilt.

The Columbia theater in Erie, which recently burned down, is being rebuilt as rapidly as possible, and will be ready for business about the last of September.

The theater is owned by the Columbia Theater Company, of which Mr. Potter is manager.

Spokane News Letter

By S. Clark Putchin, E 1811 Eleventh Ave., Spokane, Wash.

Clark with Stilwell Theater Company.

SPokane, WASH.—H. W. Clark, who figured prominently in the Goldstein-Lubin company, which has many branches in the northwest, has come here to take charge of the Stilwell Theater Company. This announcement was made by C. E. Stilwell, president of the company, who has a string of theaters in Spokane and two in Colfax. Mr. Clark succeeds E. P. Coffey, who has gone into the field for the "Eyes of the World."

Mr. Stilwell is busy with improvements and plans for his chains of theaters. In the Class A he is putting in a pianoplayer which is a combination of pipe organ and piano, the same as the instrument he has in the Casino. He has taken a long lease on the Unique theater, which he has taken over as manager for some years and got his start in the moving picture field, and will give the remodel and recreation a place. He will increase its seating capacity from 250 to 500.

Spokane is now both moving picture houses at Colfax, having recently taken over the Bungalow theater there, with J. S. Nelson and associates.

Spokane Brevities.

Mary Garden, "The Splendid Sinner," at the Clemen played to good sized audiences for three days, starting July 16 at the Clemen, and then moved to the Spokane, also 14 others. The house had a feature during the week in Spokane picture houses entitle "The Splendid Sinner," by Liberty: Patty Arbuckle in "Good Night Nurse," at the Clemen; Frank Keenan in "The Stepping Stones at the Majestic; and "Intolerance" at the Lyric.

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD, Aug. 10, 1918

Dailies Give Much Space to Griffith Film

"Hearts of the World" Gets Plenty of Publicity in Toronto Newspapers Before Starting Its Four Weeks' Run at the Allen Theater—Amount Surprises Local Film Men, for Publications Are Most Conservative.

By W. M. Gladish, 33 Wineva Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

Metro Closes Branches in Canada.

Although the Metro franchise in Canada was acquired by Regal Films, Limited, months ago, the Metro branches in the dominion have just been closed. This development occurs under the Regal Exhibitors' Agreement of 1917 and policy for 1919. Metro releases were immediately stopped in the entire Canadian territory for the first time on that occasion and shortly afterwards the Metro offices were moved to their head offices in Toronto, Montreal and elsewhere.

Gronau Leaves Canadian Universal.

Announcement has been made that Ed Gronau, is no longer associated with the Canadian Universal in Montreal. Gronau had been with the Universal for a number of years, and he severed the connection in order to make new and important arrangements for himself.

Philadelphia News Letter

By P. V. Armato, for North Salford St., Philadelphia Post.

Delegates Return from Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Although slightly disappointed at the outcome of the National Exhibitor's Convention which resulted in the election of Peter Schaefer, of Chicago, for the next president, the majority of delegates and Judge J. O'Donnell returned from Boston in the best of spirits, and expressed themselves contented with the new president. To say that the Canadian contingent enjoyed their stay in Boston particularly in view of the reports from the recent arrivals, and that it was a most royal good time, and they certainly admit it. A delightful treat was the excursion on the steamer to Nantasket Beach which finally ended with one of those famous cabaret dinners, at which E. Brown, in company with his wife and Blatt and his wife, and had a wonderful trip in their respective automobiles while making the journey back and forth. Many stops were made on the route, but one in particular was at Narraganset Pier in Newport, where 5,000 spectators were said to be present in the motoring camp were heard singing several patriotic songs at the completion of their graduation exercises. By good fortune Harry Ernst, son of H. Ernst, Sr., the manager of the Fairhill Palace in Philadelphia, was seen among the boys who were graduating soon to take their place in Uncle Sam's army.

Victoria Runs Metro Film for Week.

Edgar Wolf, the popular vaudeville manager who was recently appointed in charge of the Victoria, one of the largest vaudeville houses in Victoria, was today seen last week, and said that he was highly pleased with his new position. An interesting occurrence was the opening August 5 the Metro's sensational production, "To Hell with the Kaiser," would be presented for another week.

Philadelphia Shorts.

Frank W. Buhrer, general manager of the Stanley Company, besides attending the last day of the Philadelphia Film Trade Show, and having a large number of picture theaters, is at present attending to the booking of Sabskoly and McHugh's vaudeville and other engagements for the latter return from their vacation.

Herbert Ellinger, the president and managing director of other companies, has inaugurated quite a novel and up-to-date arrangement whereby he has been successful in circulating ice-cooled air through the house, which is delighting the large patronage of his beautiful theater.
San Francisco Has New Producing Company

G. M. Anderson, of "Broncho Billy" Fame, Herbert Rothchild, A. M. Rosenstien and Judge I. M. Golden Organize Golden Production Company Here—

Studies Located in San Mateo County,

By A. Church, 1507 North St., Berkeley, Cal.

San Francisco, Cal.—The Golden Production Company, a million dollar moving picture corporation, with studios in San Mateo County and the head office in San Francisco, has been formed following the arrival of G. M. Anderson, of "Broncho Billy" fame. Anderson will be the directing genius of the new film corporation, and will also be one of the actors in the film productions. The company plans to be limited to eight complete photodramas a year. Three San Franciscans are interested in the moving picture star in the venture. They are Herbert Rothchild, A. M. Rosenstien, and Judge I. M. Golden. In regard to choosing San Francisco as a producing field, Anderson said, "Our corporation will spare no expense to give the best talent and acts available to San Mateo County for our studios. There the climate is ideal for the taking of pictures. In 100 years we have learned that there were but eight days' difference last year between Los Angeles and San Francisco." Supply Man Off to War.

F. J. Alberti, 100 Gable Gate avenue, who handles National carbons and theater specialties, has left for Fort McDowell, and will serve as a member of the coast training camp getting ready for the trip "over there." He has left the business charge of his company in the hands of Mr. Alberti, and orders are being cared for in the past.

First Marion Davies Film at Strand.

"When I Was a Wives," the picture of which has been running in "The Call," has been secured by the Strand theater for showing from October 1st to April 10th. This is the first picture produced by the Marion Davies Film Company, and it was purchased by the select Pictures Corporation.

Educational Talks in Movie Houses.

The Alameda County Educational Association has asked the Oakland Board of Education to recommend the showing of moving picture houses to permit brief lectures to be given during performances on the role of the moving picture in the social, moral and economic force, as well as for the furtherance of war work. The request was referred by the board to the committee of the whole for a report at the next meeting.

Theater Sales are Numerous.

A number of moving picture theaters in San Francisco and vicinity have changed hands of late through the offices of the United Theater exchange, among these being the one-half interest in the Varsity theater, Berkeley, from J. Hill to R. Elmonds; the World theater at Gilroy, from W. La Ross to W. T. Brooks and Stickley; the Strand theater at Los Gatos, from Welf & Thompson to L. L. Killingsworth, and McPherson's, Hayes theater, of this city, to F. A. Ross.

Select Office May Be Moved.

Plans are being considered for the removal of the offices of the Select Pictures Corporation from the third to the fourth floor of the Easton building at 935 Market street. A larger floor space in the new location would give this branch much more space than it now enjoys and permit of an ideal administration. Negotiations for the contracts for the renewal of Select service and coming and going business have been carried on for the present quarters have become crowded.

War Demands Bring About Changes.

Myron J. Lewis, manager of the San Francisco office of the Famous Players-

San Francisco News Letter

August 10, 1918

Anchors the New Producing Company

By A. Church, 1507 North St., Berkeley, Cal.

San Francisco, Cal.—The Golden Production Company, a million dollar moving picture corporation, with studios in San Mateo County and the head office in San Francisco, has been formed following the arrival of G. M. Anderson, of "Broncho Billy" fame. Anderson will be the directing genius of the new film corporation, and will also be one of the actors in the film productions. The company plans to be limited to eight complete photodramas a year. Three San Franciscans are interested in the moving picture star in the venture. They are Herbert Rothchild, A. M. Rosenstien, and Judge I. M. Golden. In regard to choosing San Francisco as a producing field, Anderson said, "Our corporation will spare no expense to give the best talent and acts available to San Mateo County for our studios. There the climate is ideal for the taking of pictures. In 100 years we have learned that there were but eight days' difference last year between Los Angeles and San Francisco." Supply Man Off to War.

F. J. Alberti, 100 Gable Gate avenue, who handles National carbons and theater specialties, has left for Fort McDowell, and will serve as a member of the coast training camp getting ready for the trip "over there." He has left the business charge of his company in the hands of Mr. Alberti, and orders are being cared for in the past.

First Marion Davies Film at Strand.

"When I Was a Wives," the picture of which has been running in "The Call," has been secured by the Strand theater for showing from October 1st to April 10th. This is the first picture produced by the Marion Davies Film Company, and it was purchased by the select Pictures Corporation.

Educational Talks in Movie Houses.

The Alameda County Educational Association has asked the Oakland Board of Education to recommend the showing of moving picture houses to permit brief lectures to be given during performances on the role of the moving picture in the social, moral and economic force, as well as for the furtherance of war work. The request was referred by the board to the committee of the whole for a report at the next meeting.

Theater Sales are Numerous.

A number of moving picture theaters in San Francisco and vicinity have changed hands of late through the offices of the United Theater exchange, among these being the one-half interest in the Varsity theater, Berkeley, from J. Hill to R. Elmonds; the World theater at Gilroy, from W. La Ross to W. T. Brooks and Stickley; the Strand theater at Los Gatos, from Welf & Thompson to L. L. Killingsworth, and McPherson's, Hayes theater, of this city, to F. A. Ross.

Select Office May Be Moved.

Plans are being considered for the removal of the offices of the Select Pictures Corporation from the third to the fourth floor of the Easton building at 935 Market street. A larger floor space in the new location would give this branch much more space than it now enjoys and permit of an ideal administration. Negotiations for the contracts for the renewal of Select service and coming and going business have been carried on for the present quarters have become crowded.

War Demands Bring About Changes.

Myron J. Lewis, manager of the San Francisco office of the Famous Players-

San Francisco News Letter

August 10, 1918

Anchors the New Producing Company

By A. Church, 1507 North St., Berkeley, Cal.

San Francisco, Cal.—The Golden Production Company, a million dollar moving picture corporation, with studios in San Mateo County and the head office in San Francisco, has been formed following the arrival of G. M. Anderson, of "Broncho Billy" fame. Anderson will be the directing genius of the new film corporation, and will also be one of the actors in the film productions. The company plans to be limited to eight complete photodramas a year. Three San Franciscans are interested in the moving picture star in the venture. They are Herbert Rothchild, A. M. Rosenstien, and Judge I. M. Golden. In regard to choosing San Francisco as a producing field, Anderson said, "Our corporation will spare no expense to give the best talent and acts available to San Mateo County for our studios. There the climate is ideal for the taking of pictures. In 100 years we have learned that there were but eight days' difference last year between Los Angeles and San Francisco." Supply Man Off to War.

F. J. Alberti, 100 Gable Gate avenue, who handles National carbons and theater specialties, has left for Fort McDowell, and will serve as a member of the coast training camp getting ready for the trip "over there." He has left the business charge of his company in the hands of Mr. Alberti, and orders are being cared for in the past.

First Marion Davies Film at Strand.

"When I Was a Wives," the picture of which has been running in "The Call," has been secured by the Strand theater for showing from October 1st to April 10th. This is the first picture produced by the Marion Davies Film Company, and it was purchased by the select Pictures Corporation.

Educational Talks in Movie Houses.

The Alameda County Educational Association has asked the Oakland Board of Education to recommend the showing of moving picture houses to permit brief lectures to be given during performances on the role of the moving picture in the social, moral and economic force, as well as for the furtherance of war work. The request was referred by the board to the committee of the whole for a report at the next meeting.

Theater Sales are Numerous.

A number of moving picture theaters in San Francisco and vicinity have changed hands of late through the offices of the United Theater exchange, among these being the one-half interest in the Varsity theater, Berkeley, from J. Hill to R. Elmonds; the World theater at Gilroy, from W. La Ross to W. T. Brooks and Stickley; the Strand theater at Los Gatos, from Welf & Thompson to L. L. Killingsworth, and McPherson's, Hayes theater, of this city, to F. A. Ross.

Select Office May Be Moved.

Plans are being considered for the removal of the offices of the Select Pictures Corporation from the third to the fourth floor of the Easton building at 935 Market street. A larger floor space in the new location would give this branch much more space than it now enjoys and permit of an ideal administration. Negotiations for the contracts for the renewal of Select service and coming and going business have been carried on for the present quarters have become crowded.

War Demands Bring About Changes.

Myron J. Lewis, manager of the San Francisco office of the Famous Players-
Washington News Letter
By Clarence L. Linn, 622 Riggs Bldg.,
Washington, D. C.

Moore's Theaters Aid Patriotic Fund.
WASHINGTON, D. C.— Moore's Theaters, the Garden and Strand, and the National theater have been quite active with the promotion of a fund raising for the British and Canadian patriotic fund. Last week they obtained $1,632. Several other theaters are said to have made the appeals. This fund is to be used for the maintenance of the wives and dependent children of soldiers and sailors in the District of Columbia, who are accepted at the office of the British and Canadian re-征ouring mission for service in the British Army.

Italian Ambassador Sees War Films.
The official Italian War Films, shown at Politeama, was attended by Sidney B. Lust, created a great deal of interest during the week. Prominent officials of the War Department have expressed interest in the work.

Exult's Work of Film Companies.
The Department of Labor is telling the general public of the work being done by Gaumont, Pathé, Vitagraph, Universal, General, Metro, Goldwyn, Triangle, Mutual, and other film distributing companies, in cooperation with the Farm Service Division of the Employment Service in the release of pictures depicting the progress of the war, and the Italian Ambas-dor of course was interested in the work being done. Several films have been shown since the Italian Government, viewed the films. The pictures take well at this time in view of the great number of Americans who are doing in driving the Australians.

Biron in Control of the American.
David Biron, who operates the Liberty theater, has secured from Harry M. Cranson, president of the company, his consent to his operation. It will be his intention to make a great many changes in his acquisition, and will redecorate the front as soon as possible.

Utica Trade Letter
New Orpheum Theater Improved.
THE new Orpheum has received many summer improvements during the past few weeks, including new auditorium lights, and the poster and photo frames have been newly painted. C. N. Parker, of Niagara Falls, the owner of the theater, was in Utica during the past week placing many improvements in his comfortable neighborhood home.

Linton Attending Convention.
WASHINGTON— A meeting of the Hippodrome theater, this city, and also the Richmond in Herkim and Hippodrome, Little Falls, was held last week on the occasion of the convention being held in Boston all this week.

Ball Resigns from Hippodrome.
Joc Ball, who has been manager of the Hippodrome at Utica, has resigned the management of another house in a distant city. Mr. Ball was the first manager to have a Hippodrome seat in Utica.

Front of Hippodrome Embellished.
The front of the Hippodrome theater has been greatly improved by the erection of a new signboard, the use of the company's poster frames. They are stationary, and very attractive. A large frame holding a banner has been placed in the air over the sidewalk in front of the house, and in this the title of the daily star and feature is placed.

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Films Trade Notes of West Week from Indiana
S. Barrett McCormick of the Circle Theater, Indianapolis, Complimented by Director of the Division of Films Hart on His Advertising Campaign for "Pershing's Crusaders"—Other Items.

By Indiana Trade News Service, 69 Layman Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

Juror Disagrees; Francis Discharged.

GEO. A. WEBB, proprietor of two local motion picture theaters, who was arrested about mid-week desecrating the Sabbath because he had operated his theater on Sunday, was discharged in city court yesterday after the juror had failed to agree on a verdict. The jury was discharged by the court after it had failed to agree.

In disagreeing the jurors were divided on the point as to whether the defendant was guilty of showing pictures of an immoral character.

Chief of Police Week, who filed the affidavit against Francis, has announced that if even Francis attempts to operate his theater Sunday again he will file other affidavits against him. The first arrest grew out of the efforts of the Greater Indianapolis Labor Service and the Women's Auxiliary to abolish Sunday shows. Greensburg is one of the few Indiana cities which does not permit exhibition of Sunday motion picture shows.

Overhauled Theaters Open.

Richmond.—All spick and span, the Murray and Murrette theaters, which have been undergoing a three-week overhaul for the last few weeks, were reopened to the public. The lack of local films on a Tuesday night under the management of the People's Theater Company, of Chicago, with the replacement of Fort Wayne, is the head. The company recently leased the theaters from J. G. Murray, of the Indianapolis lighting business. Capacity crowds attended the reopening.

Novelty Under Strand Management.
Evansville.—The Novelty theater on Main street, near Seventh street, has been taken over by the Strand theater management, and will be operated as a high grade motion picture theater. Manager Russell, of the Strand, added that all will be ready to open under the new management in about ten days.

Johnson Sues Bruner.
Indianapolis.—Robert Johnson, who says he has a part interest in the Washington theater, a motion picture house on Indiana avenue, has brought suit in the circuit court, also a part owner of the theater, asking for the appointment of a receiver. Johnson alleges in his complaint that he and Bruner are partners, and that Bruner has repeatedly refused to permit him to share in the profits.

Rumsey Resigns As Operator at Luna.
Lafayette.—Carl Rumsey has tendered his resignation as motion picture operator at the Luna theater here, and will leave next week to become traveling salesman for the Duncan Meter Works. He will travel through the Northwest. Mr. Rumsey has charge of the motion picture machines at the Luna since the theater was opened.

Morse Visits Film Trade Board.

Ted Morse, who opened the St. Louis branch of the Motion Picture Trade Association about a year ago, was a visitor at the St. Louis Film Board of Trade this week.

George W. Tredell, of the J. H. Kunsky Enterprises, Detroit, spent the week of July 10 in New York arranging his bookings for the coming season.

W. G. Underwood, of the Specialty Film Company, of Dallas, Texas, was a recent Exhibitors Face Two Lightless Nights.

Exhibitors received notice this week that two lightless nights a week probably will be established in Indianapolis because of the amount of the Illinois details of the order to conserve fuel by the Exhibitors of the city. Mrs. A. B. Holmes, of Independence, state.

Vought Books "Over the Top."
Columbia City.—B. J. Vought, manager of the Lyceum theater, at this place, has returned from a trip to Chicago where he booked the Vitagraph picture, "Over the Top," for presentation here August 7 and 8. It is one of the most popular pictures, and is well advertised. The city officials have been advised by the state authorities that the public is to be allowed to make the celebration, but the message said that the curtailing of unnecessary lighting will go into effect when time comes.

McKinney Gives Free Picture Shows.
Washington.—D. A. McKinney, who rec-etted the park concession at Eastside Park, in this city, from Harry Palmer, has arranged for the exhibition of free motion pictures as one of the main attractions. Just what effect the exhibition of free pictures will have on the trade at the downtown motion picture theaters remains to be seen.

Manager Maurice Entertains Soldiers.
Lafayette.—Two bunches of peaches were distributed among the troops who were guests of Manager Maurice at a special showing of "My Four Years in Germany" which took place at the Luna theater, last Saturday night. John Shamiya, a Syrian fruit merchant, whose place of business adjoins the theater on the south side, assisted the show.紧接着, the manager ran the show. The tickets were sold to the servants at their respective places.

Show Films Depicting Child Sports.
South Bend.—Motion picture films illusstrating various activities suitable for children, are being presented jointly by the South Bend and South Bend YMCA as part of the week's activities. LaSalle theater Thursday and Friday. The pictures were filmed by the Fort Morgan Company, of Detroit, and were brought to the last through the efforts of F. E. Bowers, the principal recreation director of South Bend.
Charge Portland Exhibitors Sublet Films

Matter Brought Before Northwest Board of Trade—Organization Takes Action Against Offending Picture Men.
By S. J. Anderson, East Seattle, Wash.

SEATTLE, WASH.—Several Seattle film concerns have brought to the notice of Mr. W. A. Wallach, board of trade man, the fact that two or three exhibitors in Portland have been subletting film houses for shows. The film houses have been receiving pay for it. One or two of them actually went so far as to show the "bills" in their stores one hour to another in the same evening. The matter of collection for the films thus used without authorization is in the hands of the counsel of the Board of Trade, and the members of the organization are arranging to have contracts with the offending exhibitors until the bills are paid.

Kleine Picture Breaks Town Records.
Bellingham.—The showing of "The Unbeliever," at the Bellingham Theater here on July 1 broke all records for motion pictures in that town. The box office cleared over $650, and Fred Wallin, the manager, decided he was fully justified in his recent expenditure of $6,500 on the improvement of the lobby and foyer alone. That same day in the patriotic parade in Bellingham "The Unbeliever" was carried by the Bellingham Kleene manager, and Mr. Walton received the first prize.

Pershing's Film at the Metropolitan.
"Pershing's Crusaders" has been placed by the Exhibitors' exchange in Seattle, the first in a large house, where it is playing to very good business.

E. J. Fisher Elected Secretary.
The Washington Theater Managers' Association met on July 2 and elected Edward J. Fischer secretary to take the place of George King, who resigned in order to be ready to answer the call in the Philippines which came very soon. Mr. Fischer was also appointed as delegate to the National Convention in Boston.

Picture Stars Visit Seattle.
Seattle picture fans have been all "in a flutter" for the last week with Madame Petrova and Clara Kimbell Young within three days of each other, Madame Petrova having come from her tour of the country taken for the purpose of selling War Savings Stamps and Clara Kimbell Young from her tour of twenty-five days, July 11, on her navy recruiting tour of the Pacific Coast cities. Madame Petrova appeared twice at the Liberty theater, where she received a great ovation. At each performance she made a very clever and touching speech and sang a patriotic song, then and her manager, Bob North, collected pledges for the Liberty bond. Before leaving Seattle, Madame Petrova had sold during her tour $50,000 worth of stamps. The Liberty bond subscribed for in Seattle was pledged by J. G. Von Herberg, managing director of the Union and Von Holst's theaters in Seattle. Madame Petrova left Seattle Saturday night for Minneapolis, making her first big jump of her journey homeward.

Clara Kimbell Young made her appearances at Matson's Town Hall Coliseum Tuesday afternoon and evening. She was received with great enthusiasm. Clara Young has been brought through the streets of the downtown section by several companies of navy men, and she afterward addressed a large gathering at the skating arena, obtaining 150 recruits for the navy. In Portland, where she visited just previous to her Seattle visit, she obtained 55 recruits.

She left Wednesday morning for Tacoma, and proceeded Thursday to Spokane.

Publicity Manager Pulls "Good Stunt.
Seattle, July 1.—The Seattle Film Booking Office, Seattle, owns some very handsome decorations to the fact that it is the official downtown eating place for all men in the city. An entire wall has been covered with photographs of Artcraft and Paramount stars, with the names of the girls, all in fine panel frames. The idea was suggested and worked out by A. J. Kennedy, publicity manager at the Seattle Artcraft Paramount office.

Exchange Personal.
C. D. Beale and Alex Singelov are the Seattle appointed salesmen for Kleine in the Washington and Oregon territories.

W. J. Drummond, Northwest manager for the Motion Picture Mutual of Montana, is looking over the new territory which came under his jurisdiction with the closing of the Salt Lake office.

Miss Grace Sanderson left Seattle this week to cover the Montana territory with her secretary. Story of Miss Sanderson.

H. G. Rosebaum, manager of the Artcraft Paramount office is in Spokane this week.

J. E. Madison, formerly office manager of the Seattle Mutual exchange, and well known to local exhibitors, is now in training at Camp Lewis.

Seattle's film row is to lose three of its best known stars this week during training camps this week. They are D. P. Peck, assistant manager of the Exhibitors' Exchange; Frank Cook, manager of the Universal office, and Harry Arthur, Jr., of the Deluxe Feature Film Company.

Exhibitor Personal.
W. E. Tottenbich joined the Alhambra theater, Portland, paid a very pleasant visit to Seattle last week for a visit with several town exhibitors who visited film row were W. H. Conners, Folly theater, Stanley Conners, Universal theater, Western Manager's Company, Aberdeen; Mrs. W. Madison, Charleston; Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Williams, Universal, Portland; A. R. Haynes, St. Paul; Stannard, Gem and Wenatchee theaters, Wenatchee, C. E. McKee, Orpheum, Everett.

Louisville News Letter
By Ohio Valley News Service, 1404 Starks Blvd., Louisville, Ky.

Making Shows More Interesting.
LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Fred Dolle, manager of the Alamo theater, Louisville, in a recent interview stated that the exhibitors could make their shows far more interesting if they could arrange with the local newspapers and associated newspapers with which they might break after the evening newspapers were off the streets and before the morning papers were obtained. In many cases the news is of much interest, but not big enough to warrant the newspaper interest. Of the two or two occasions lately Mr. Dolle has received advance news during the evening performance of Saturday night, there are on the screen with excellent results. He believes that if in the event the theaters could arrange to feature a news item during the evening hours it would make the show more interesting and thereby hold attendance higher at the night shows.

Walter Truuner Dies in Service.
Louisville.—Walter Truuner, 21 years of age, formerly a well known moving picture operator of the Falls Cities, including Louisville, New Albany and Jeffersonville, died on Wednesday, July 17, at a hospital in France of pneumonia. Mr. Truuner enlisted in the navy, and was a second class seaman attached to the transport Eriny. The news was received by his father, W. A. Truuner, of the War Department. He is survived by his mother and two brothers, Edward and J. A. Truuner, both of this city, and L. R. Truuner, Ind., lived in New Albany for several years, and enlisted at Cincinnati. His death is a great loss to any man connected with the picture business of the Falls Cities, although there are many friends here. Mr. Truuner joined the colored Artcraft Boys of any one connected with the picture business of the Falls Cities, although there are many.

Thaters Run Sunday, Despite Decision.
In spite of the decision against the Ben All theater for operating on Sunday the theaters are continuing Sunday operations. The decision of the county board, as reported to the city council by the councilmen's Committee, stated that he had about thirty charges against each house, and that in the case of the Artcraft Boys of any man connected with the picture business of the Falls Cities, although there are many.

Mr. and Mrs. DoIe on Vacation.
Fred Dolle, of the Alamo theater, has gone to Graham Springs, Ky., where he and Mrs. Dolle will spend a three weeks' vacation.

Build Picture Theaters Near Camp.
Reports have been heard for several days past to the effect that the new Armored Force camp at West Point, Ky., and later for Stit kon, Ky., would be moved elsewhere due to high land values. However, recent advices from Washington, while not official, report that the Stit kon location has been approved. The camp at West Point, Ky., it was learned, is subject to overflow during high water in the Ohio River. Camps have been located at West Point, Ky., and Stit kon for picture houses in event the camps overflow. The camp at Stit kon is of 55,000 men, with no theaters within twenty-five miles.

Court House Now a Picture Theater.
Shelbyville, Ky.—The court house was converted into a moving picture theater during the showing of the Ambassador Gerard picture, "My Poor Years in Germany."

News from Maritime Provinces
By Alice Fairweather, care of The Standard, St. John, N. B.

McArthur Resigns from Regal Films
ST. JOHN, N. B.—Mr. R. G. McArthur, formerly of the Metro and recently manager of the Regal Film Company, has decided to resign and will go to Charlottetown to manage a theater there. He has leased the town hall auditorium and has a big house, both suitable for a motion picture house. The other theater in Charlottetown, the Prince Edward, is under lease to F. G. Spencer of St. John.

Holds Benefit for French Red Cross.
Another fine performance was held in the Imperial theater this week, the occasion being the benefit for the French Red Cross. The theater was leased for four performances and pictures were shown, the proceeds being divided with tableaux and songs. The Vitagraph picture "For France" was used, Manager Goldie Shorey, G. Spencer of St. John. The Specialty Film Import, with their usual generosity, gave a beautiful colored film which the proceeds of the net sum of money was raised for the cause and the entertainment was great, as it was the closing show of the season. The news of the French and Americans were being done so splendidly at the front. W. C. McKee and Mr. Truuner died some of his vaudeville to take part in the performance, and asked for girls attired as French maidens. A picture of the Y. W. C. A. usherettes at the Imperial theater was published in the Toronto Sunday Night with an explanation of their patriotic work.
Cincinnati, which Scarcity is progressing:

The reappearance in Cincinnati of Fox's great spectacle, "Cleopatra," featuring Theda Bara, so soon after its recent initial appearance in the city, being set at an hour when most of them could get away.

The Moving Picture World

New Second Vice-President of Baltimorean National League in Convention at Boston Elects J. Louis Rome, Counsel for Maryland Exhibitors' League, and Prominent Exhibitor, for the Office.

By J. M. Shellman, 1902 Mt. Royal Terrace, Baltimore, Md.

Baltimore, Md. J. Louis Rome, counsel for the Maryland Exhibitors' League, was elected second vice-president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America.

Mr. Rome has been connected with the Broadway theater as manager for three years. Prior to this time the Broadway was the 19th Military Police at Camp McClellan.

Victory Rally at Garden.

A patriotic mass meeting and entertainment was held at the Garden Theater, Lexington street at Park avenue, to celebrate the victory of the Allied forces over the Huns on Sunday night, July 21.

The show was given by Charles E. Whitehurst, president of the Garden Theater Company, and arrangements for the affair were made by L. A. DeHoff, his photoplay supervisor. It is understood that Mr. Whitehurst said the show was given so that the people might see what the boys "over there" are actually doing.

There was a program of popular entertaining features, and moving pictures of the "American Battle Front," and "Fighting with the Hallian Front" were shown. The public was admitted free of charge, and a large number of people took advantage of the opportunity to see pictures of the fighters of the various nations.

Cleveland News Letter

By M. A. Malaney, 697 Belmont Blvd., Cleveland, Ohio.

Stork Theater to Open in August.

CLEVELAND, O.—The only large new theater so far to be built in 1918 in Cleveland is almost completed, and will open the early part of August. This is the Stork theater on Lorain avenue, which seats nearly 1,000.

For the new house has been a source of speculation among exhibitors on the west side for several months. Several of the old theaters on the same neighborhood, Reif took a fifteen-year lease on the house at a total rental of $120,000. The building itself cost about $75,000.

Exhibitors are Slow in Slide Returns.

A deplorable condition has resulted in Cleveland exchange poster departments, especially in regard to the return of slides.

One exchange manager said he visited 50 theaters in a week and went into the booths of each one, where he found a total of about 800 slides. About one-third of them were for patriotic red and white, while the rest were for features which the theaters had run.

Roberts Managing Finishing Plant.

J. N. Roberts has purchased an interest in the Mounting & Finishing Company, Stork Building, Cleveland, and is now in charge of the plant.

Mr. Roberts formerly was manager of the Ford building in Portland, Oregon, but has been in New York for several months. Besides mounting the company is in charge of advertising, display and special work.

Erdmann with Famous Players.

George W. Erdmann, who recently left the Cleveland Foursquare office, has accepted a position with the Cleveland Famous Players-Lasky Company. He is now on the road doing special work.

August 10, 1918

Cincinnati News Letter

Use Zoo Animals with "Tarzan" Film.

CINCINNATI, O.—Some rather striking publicity stuff in connection with the opening of the grand opera house of "Tarzan of the Apes," which has been managed by the Cincinnati Zoo authorities, was introduced in the line of advertising that has been sent out. The animals were denied by the fact that the Cincinnati Zoo authorities, have charge of them as a wild life reserve. Some were placed among the tropical foliage in the lobby of the theater, these added exhibits lent an acceptable air to the place for the picture, with its jungle scenes and characters.

Manager Libson Shows "Cleopatra."

Auntie at Zoo. The reappearances in Cincinnati of Fox's great spectacle, "Cleopatra," featuring Theda Bara, so soon after its recent initial appearance in the city, being set at an hour when most of them could get away.

Work on Palace progressing rapidly.

The work on the big Palace theater on sixth street is progressing rapidly since the foundations were put in. Scarcity of labor and some difficulties connected with the movement of materials have hampered progress somewhat, but the work is being pushed with all possible speed, in order that the building be completed as early in the winter as possible. It is not now hoped that it can be finished in the fall, as was originally intended.

Frank Hines, Operator, Dead.

Frank Hines, one of the first moving picture operators in Cincinnati, and a charter member of the local organization of operators, died on Friday, July 2, after a brief illness. His funeral was attended by nearly every operator in the city, being set at an hour when most of them could get away.

Interperses Picture Program with Songs.

The innovation introduced by the management of the Lyric theater in the series of song numbers interspersed through the moving picture programs seems to have had the approval of the public, judging by such comments as have been heard, and by the fact that the feature is being continued. While the effect which was more or less general several years ago among exhibitors to add something to their attractions in the way of vaudeville numbers was long ago dropped as inavdiable, the Lyric idea is to give patrons a little change by the presentation of popular songs rendered in clever style, and the applause which the singers receive indicates that the idea is liked.

Navy Department Thanks Serkowich.

H. Serkowich, secretary of the Moving Picture Exhibitors' League of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as of the Associated Film Exchanges of the Chamber, has been doing splendid work for the Government despite United States entered the war, and is still so engaged, in addition to giving his usual expert attention to the duties of his office.

Aside from aiding in naval recruiting, both in person and by his influence over the moving picture theaters, and doing some other work for the Navy which has been highly successful, Serkowich has guided the operations of the Four-Minute Men in a way which has been highly effective, and has been very helpful to the exhibitors as well. He has been honored by the hearty expression of thanks of the Navy Department, in which his patriotism and energy are warmly referred to.

J. Louis Rome.

had been in other hands, and had been destroyed by fire. He was one of the or- gani-izers of the new company which re- built the structure.

It is stated that when his name was placed on the ballot for the office at the National Convention, which was held in Boston from July 16 to 20 he was unanimously elected.

Frank A. Hornig, president of the Maryland Exhibitors' League, and Louis A. DeHoff, secretary of that organization, who, with Mr. Rome, acted as delegates to the convention, were greatly pleased with the manner in which the Boston exhibitors received and entertained the delegates from all over the country to the convention.

Louis A. DeHoff, who is manager of the New theater, 210 West Lexington street, was named on the War Service Com- mittee, and Frank A. Hornig, who is manager of the Horn and Royal theaters, were named on the Committee of By-laws and Finance.

Baltimore Brevities.

Word has been received by John T. Ford, co-proprietor of Ford's opera house, from his son, Frank M. Ford, that he has ar- rived safely on the other side. About the time war was declared young Ford enlisted in the army, and was assigned to
Detroit Leads in First-Run Picture Shows

Six Big Theaters Have Already Signed Up for Initial Showings—Opening of Fall Season Will Probably Witness Eight.

By Jacob Smith. 719 Free

DETROIT, Mich.—From the increased number of first-run houses in Detroit, one looks very much as if no good picture could be signed up for first-run showings. The Madison, Variety, Showboat, and Olympia are the only big houses that have shown first-run pictures, changing weekly. These are John H. Kunsky houses. The Kunskeys have signed up with LOARSON and Gleicher, who will again show first-run pictures, changing weekly. The Majestic now closed, will reopen sometime in August with big first-run pictures. M. W. McGee continues as the managing director of the Majestic, and the Boulevard will adopt a new policy of first-run pictures. There is considerable talk of the Colonial theater, Woodward, and Sibley going to first-run pictures under its new ownership. The Detroit opera house will open with a first-run picture and will probably continue showing pictures, and they will be the first-run kind.

Several theater owners showing first-run pictures next season puts Detroit in first rank as the leading theater city in the three largest cities. All the other cities have only free-run exclusive picture—the Rialto, Rivoli, and the Strand. Chicago has not signed up for first-run pictures, as the larger cities have only one or two. Think of Detroit with six first-run theaters as a picture city and the probability of there being eight.

The Regent, Woodward and the Grand, which was operated last season as a combination vaudeville and picture house, will start showing first-run pictures. This is the announcement just made by Charles H. Miles, the lessee.

Mr. Miles will have a 56-piece symphony orchestra, and already he has engaged Ward J. Hutton, who for three years led the orchestra at the Majestic theater. Mr. Miles has also engaged Henry Saltrey, who sang for nearly two years at the Majestic, and he speaks of this as his most popular engagement. Mr. Miles has not decided as to the prices, but the policy will be, the safer the better. Mr. Miles plans to open the theater right away, and with performances continuous on Sundays.

Colonial Theater Changes Hands

The Colonial theater, Woodward and Sibley streets, Detroit, seating 1,700, and one of the most beautiful and modern picture houses in the country, has been leased by Frank Farrington to Leo and Lou Cohen and Herman Warren, effective the 1st of August. The lease, which is for the entire building, including stores and offices, runs for twenty-eight years, and the rental the first year is approximately $18,000, with a graduated scale for the balance of the lease period. The new owners are ex-Columbia Colonial, and the change, with popular prices.

Messrs. Cohen and Warren now control the Columbia theater in Detroit, being exceeded only by John H. Kunsky Enterprises and the Woodward Three. Mr. Cohen operates the Colonial they operate the Globe theater on Grand River. The Columbia on Woodward and the others on West Fort street. Ben Cohen and Herman Warren will give the four houses their entire attention. The third partner, Lou Cohen, is in France with the Motor Truck Division of the American Bredes. This combination is almost as good as the old owners and Warren will be on the third floor of the theater building, from where they will transact all their business for their chain of theaters.

Exhibitors’ Directors Board Meets

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Exhibitors’ Association, of Michigan, was held at the Hotel Tuller, July 23. A number of matters were discussed and the board of directors has now decided to request the stockholders of the Exhibitors’ Booking Corporation, of Michigan, for the purpose of granting the sales stockholders the privilege so that the unit can be thoroughly established. Among those present from out of town were W. S. Bales, owner of Battle Creek, and Charles Seaman, of Grand Rapids.

Riley of Colonial Theater Resigns

T. C. Riley, house manager of the Colonial theater, Detroit, and former manager of the Grand Cirrus theater, has tendered his resignation, and will devote most of his time in the future to getting recruits for the United States Navy.

July Draft Hits Film Business

The July draft has hit the film business hard. Among those who have either called or enlisted were the following:

Dave Palferman, office manager of the John H. Kunsky Enterprises, went to Camp Custer.

Ray Branch, formerly with the Universal, and at one time in the theater equipment business, went to Camp Custer.

Forrest Little, shipping clerk of Metro, went to Camp Custer.

George Davidson, booker at the Madison Film exchange, went to Camp Custer.

C. F. Holm, of Universal, is now with the Engineer Corps at Camp Custer.

Leon Welsh, motion picture operator of the Ferry Field theater, went to Camp Custer.

Joseph A. Partahn, bookkeeper at the George Kleine exchange, joined the navy.

Michigan Small Items

Her Wedgell, of the Michigan Motion Picture Supply Company, Detroit, has just taken the Michigan agency for Minusa Sereus and Hertner Transverters.

In addition, Her represents the Simplex and National and claims that he has a strong line of merchandise.

E. H. Weeks, brother of George Weeks, associate manager of the famous Players Lasky exchange in Detroit, has affiliated with the same branch as traveling representatives.

Lipp and Cross, of Battle Creek, have placed a $5,000 order with the United Theater Equipment branch in Detroit for power’s machines, Velvet Gold Fibre screen, and other equipment for their new house and their other chain of theaters.

Paul J. Schloßman, of Muskegon, was in Detroit recently, having toured in Chicago. He reported excellent July business. Mr. Schloßman operates the Regent, Majestic, Rialto, and Elite theaters in Muskegon, and the Robinhood, of Grand Haven, Mich.

George Jackles and William Seifert are now affiliated with the Strand Features, Detroit.

The standard Film Service, Detroit, has purchased the state rights on the Kerigin reissues, short-reel subjects.

A Pledge to Save Is A Pledge to Fight

Buy W. S. S.

Minneapolis News Letter

By John L. Johnston, 719 Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Petrova Nets Big W. S. S. Sale

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Mme. Olga Petrova has departed from the Twin Cities for Berlin, where she will not wear off for a long time, and the W. S. S. (Warner’s Service Society) stamps are about $8,000 richer. Due to this sale Mme. Petrova did not arrive in Minneapolis at the time she expected.

The next day she spoke and sang six numbers in the Twin Cities, reviewed a detachment of Jackies, a naval band, and letter carriers. At the parade over six hundred Jackies paraded and there was a big break by a detachment of jackies, a naval band, and letter carriers. At the parade over six hundred Jackies paraded and there was a big break by a detachment of jackies, a naval band, and letter carriers.

First National Exchange Moves

The First National Exchangers Circuit exchange moved its offices from 719 Hennepin avenue to the fourth floor of the Film Exchange building July 23. In the future the First National will conduct its business entirely separate from the local Universal exchange, whose offices it has shared since the circuit was formed. E. R. Pearson will continue as First National manager, and will add several new men to his staff of workers.

W. F. Bowman Called to Colors

Walter F. Bowman, advertising manager for “The Little Jockeys,” and one of the best known film workers in the territory, will answer Uncle Sam’s call July 26. Mme. Petrova will report to Camp Wadsworth, S. C.

Draft Board Reclassifies Proctor

Ralph O. Proctor, district manager for Fatty, who has been in and around Minneapolis and the surrounding country, has been reclassified in the National Army draft, and has been called to Chicago for examination preparatory to leaving for camp.

Breezes from Film Town

Harry Hellweg, former Metro booker, has joined the road staff of the Universal exchange.

Alex Bernstein, booker for the Kleine exchange, reported to Camp Wadsworth, July 22. Alex is to be succeeded by his sister.

Arthur Solle, booker for the Friedman Palmers Exchange, was at the National Army at Uncle Sam’s request. He will be succeeded by Izzy Friedman.

Harry Doolin, formerly a film man for Westcott, is still another local film man to rally to the colors during the last few weeks.

Lynn S. Card, representing the United States Exhibitors’ Booking Corporation, closed a deal with the Miller, player of the supreme exchange, recently where- by the Supreme has obtained the exclusive re- ductions throughout the Northwest. The pictures to go under Supreme direction are “The Birth of the New, The Crucible of Life,” and “Just a Woman.”
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Thirteen Houston Censors Now Deadheads

By Phil E. Fox, Times-Herald, Dallas, Texas.

DALLAS, TEX.—Down at Houston managers are not permitted to collect the war tax from the members of the board of censors. The Houston City Council at a recent meeting passed an amendment to the ordinance creating the board of censors providing a penalty for the refusal of an exhibitor to admit a member of the board without this tax. This means that members of the board may enter theaters at any time in the course of their official duties without the manager’s consent. The penalty provided is a fine of not less than $25 and not more than $200. There are eleven members of the board, but any three may hold a hearing and render a decision which is binding unless an appeal is taken.

Arrives Safely at a Foreign Port.

Mrs. Roy Brockman, manager of the Queen at McKinney, has received a message saying that her husband, who has reached a foreign port safely. Roy Brockman and his brother, T. S. Brockman, formerly conducted the Queen at McKinney, but when the call for men came he joined the colors and was sent to Camp Travis at San Antonio, Texas. He was sent overseas after a short training.

Unique Lobby Display at Old Mill.

Manager LeRoy Blickel, of Metro, Dallas, got back to town after a visit to his mother up in Indiana in time to see the magnificent manner in which Hulsey’s Old Mill theater will play the “Kaiser.” The Old Mill lobby was a unique symphony in simulated hell fire, the work of a local painter with a big fund of imagination.

Racing to Get World Trophy.

Managers Douglas Hawley, of the Dallas exchange, and Jack Brainard, of the Oklahoma exchange, First National Exhibitors’ Circuit, are running a race with each other in addition to the national race for the Moving Picture World trophy; on the biggest booking of “Pershing’s Crusaders.” Each expects to have his photo, together with that of his salesman, in the World as the winners.

Interesting Texas Brevities.

C. J. Musselman, of the Grand at Paris, has returned from an automobile trip to the seashore at Galveston. He stopped at Dallas on Sunday, on his way home to book “Pershing’s Crusaders” for an early run.

Auditor L. T. Pellerin, of the Dallas office, First National Exhibitors’ Circuit, is back from Oklahoma City, where he installed C. H. Leon as chief bookkeeper.

Tom Gaines, of the Best at Hillsboro, was in Dallas this week with his usual ideas of prices for big features unmodified.

T. R. Barnard, of the Star at Coodele, filled his house to capacity recently when he booked “My Four Years in Germany” by using plenty of appropriate local districts around his town. They came to town on foot, in wagons and autos, he says.

Tennessee Trade Letter

By J. L. Ray, Nashville Banner, Nashville, Tenn.

Pictures and Parks.

NASHVILLE, TENN.—Free moving pictures are being shown in the parks of Nashville each night, with the exception of Sunday; this practice to be continued under the auspices of the city park commission until September 14. The pictures are being distributed among the various parks, a portable projection machine being employed to make the changes.

Navy Recruits Entertained.

Nashville.—Manager Harry Sudekum, of the Princess theater, recently entertained a consignment of fifty young Tennesseans who volunteered in the navy at his house. They were given a reserved block of seats in the theater, and were enthusiastic over the hospitality of Mr. Sudekum prior to their departure for a naval training camp at Newport, R. I.

Memphis Theater Sold.

Memphis.—The Lincoln theater, a negro moving picture house of Memphis, has changed management; and is now on the string with the Grand and Daisy theaters. Several improvements have been noted in both lines of operation and in the program of pictures offered. The Lincoln has been enjoying good business, and has a loyal following among the colored people during the summer months.

Clarksdale House Thrives.

Clarksdale—Manager Utlery, owner of the new Marion theater at Clarksdale, Miss., which is one of the finest in the South, declared recently that his house was enjoying a splendid business since being opened. The theater is located on the ground floor of a new office building, and every item of comfort and quality has been observed in the building making it a first class show house.

Top War Pictures.

Nashville.—“Pershing’s Crusaders,” booked at the Fifth Avenue theater for the week of July 22, was probably the most talked-of war picture appearing in Nashville since the outbreak of the war. It is a picture of constant conflict and adventure, coupled with talk on the streets brought capacity houses each night.

Several of the attractions engaged at the Fifth Avenue for the production. Full double-page advertisements appeared in the Sunday papers. This picture is one of the select few shown in Nashville which was covered in a criticism by a staff member of the newspapers. Critics gave the film a splendid boost.

“New Show Signs.”

Nashville.—New signs are appearing along Nashville’s film row. At the Elite a new arrangement for lobby display has been brought out by the Crescent Amusement Company. The side columns of the lobby have been encased in glass much on the order of a photographer’s gallery. Pictures of portrait size have been exhibited, and have attracted much attention.

At the Fifth Avenue, operated by the same company, the old sign showing the name of the house has been removed and a new oval-shaped affair installed, with a changeable feature which permits the film star’s picture to be shown over the sidewalk in electric light, and with room underneath for the posters. The Princess theater also has a new sign in process of installation, which will add much to the attractiveness of exterior decorative effect.

BUY WAR SAVING STAMPS
Critical Reviews and Comments
Upon Current Productions

“MICKEY”
W. H. Productions Readv with Eight-Reel Feature Starring Mabel

Reviewed by Walter K. Hill.

THE very morning this typist looked at “Mickey” in the projection room she had always been so keen on.  It was one of the first films she had ever seen, and she was thrilled by the performance of Mickey’s “personality” that is a splendid example of direction.  However, Miss Normand was a bit nervous and as the session proceeded she became more and more nervous.  She was about to give up her job when she heard a knock at the door.  It was Mickey.  He came in with the film and asked if she would like to see it.  She said yes, and watched as Mickey’s “personality” was recreated on the screen.

IN THIS ISSUE.

Mickey (W. H. Productions).
Scandal Mongers (Bluebird).
The Drome Lady (Bluebird).
A Gentleman’s Agreement (Vitagraph).
A Soldier’s Oath (Fox).
Beyond the Shadows (Triangle).
Hands Up (Pathé).
Pandora (The New Film).
The Fallen Angel (Fox).
Back to the Woods (Goldwyn).
The Ghost of the Runne (Pathé).
Roulette (Metro).
Mammo (General).
The Courier (Universal).
The Successful Adventure (Metro).

which will bear repeating.  It is difficult at the same time to give the accurate review of a production which must of necessity face the criticism of years with its accompanying changes and strides toward perfection of picture-making.  Scandal Mongers at the time it was produced, some three years ago, was considered one of the best, and was written and produced by a talented feminine director who since that time has worked and advanced.  To those unfamiliar with the idea of “Scandal Mongers” which, by the way, tells its story in its name, we will say briefly that the story consists of incidents which reveal the unspeakable harm wrought by the manufacturer of gossip.  The breaking up of happy homes and the creation of tragedy through its influence are the high points of the story.

“THE DREAM LADY”
Bluebird Adaptation of Margaret Widenemer’s Novel “Why Not?” Features
Carmel Myers.

Reviewed by Margaret J. Macdonald.

The five-part Bluebird production, “The Dream Lady,” is based on a pleasant idea, and is an adaptation of Margaret Widenemer’s novel.  Miss Elsie Jane Wilson directed the picture, with Carmel Myers playing the leading role, supported by Thomas Holding, Kathleen Emerson, Harry V. Meter, Philip McCullough and Elizabeth Janes.  To make the best of a story of this sort in picturized form would require elaborate means, for the reason that its bare is more or less fantastical.  The Bluebird version will, however, be found pleasing; for it would be impossible for the average person not to be interested in making dreams come true.

The story tells of a young girl who has lived with a wealthy uncle who at his death left her a small inheritance.  This inheritance she immediately cashes in at the bank, buys herself the little house on the edge of a wood, for which she has always longed, and becomes what she herself terms a “professional realizer of dreams.”  Here she not only tries to make her own dreams come true, but also finds pleasure in making other people realize their fondest dreams.  A touch of drama is brought into the story when she lends a friend of hers in the choice of an investment.  This book is marked with the realization of her love dreams.

Wow! Another!

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD
August 10, 1918
A GENTLEMAN’S AGREEMENT

Blue Ribbon Vitagraph Production Features Pleasing Cast of Characters

Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

The value of an underlying idea in a story is demonstrated in this five-reel Vitagraph number, adapted from a narrative by Wallace Irwin and directed by David Smith. In this case one of the leading characters, Professor Antree, believes in an old Pagan law that when a man's wife has been saved by another, the life thereafter belongs to the man who saved it. While the action of the plot itself is quite conventional, so far as the various incidents are concerned, there is always this idea back of it all which exerts a steady pull on the interest.

Briedly stated, the hero, Allen Spargo, and Professor Antree both love Theresa Kane. Allen, after winning her promise of marriage, goes west to make his fortune. He is injured in a mining accident and a western girl, through jealousy, writes Theresa that he is dead. Theresa is finally prevailed upon to marry Antree. Allen returns and gives her the wedding the ceremony. Theresa immediately deserts Antree and flies west to join Allen. Antree follows and threatens to kill Allen, but the latter, who had once saved Antree's life, exhibits the jewels in the wall, and on the soldier's departure enters, kills the soldier's wife and steals the jewels. The burned and charred remains of the murder of his wife, is sentenced to life imprisonment. His sentence is later commuted because of a heroic act on the occasion of a prison fire, and through the course of events he comes faces to face with his daughter, who, in a religious vision, saw her father's face. The revealing of the man's crime leaves, the girl free to marry her lover, and lifts the shadow from the character of the father.

BEYOND THE SHADOWS

Five-Reel Triangle Subject Features William Desmond in Story of Northwest.

Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

This entertaining five-reel number was adapted to the screen by Charles J. Olson, Jr., from a story by Ralph E. Westfall, and directed by William Laughlin. It excels in its depiction of the atmosphere of the Northwest, some extremely beautiful locations being shown, and the photography by Steve Norton is one of the strong features of the production.

The story itself is interesting and holds the attention, but it lacks suspense, and the dramatic material suffers from loose construction. It is probable that the picture attempts to show too much. If it had followed up a lesser number of incidents there would have been less jerkiness in the action, and the suspense would have been greater.

William Desmond appears as the hero, a youth named Jean, who undertakes the difficult task of free trading in the fur country, pitting his strength against the crooked company dealers. His own brother, Horace lu Bois, is numbered among the latter under an assumed name. Jessie Redgwick appears as Eleanor Wyatt, an orphan girl, who marries Horace, and later falls in love with Jean.

Many Indians appear in the cast of players and dancers, and there is an air of appropriateness at the present time. William Farnum is intrusted with the title role, a heroic character, which he is so well able to interpret. The picture was directed by Oscar Apfel, who also collaborated with Mary Milholland in the writing of the tragic story, and is of the sort to serve interesting and enthusiasm in the majority of audiences.

According to the story a French soldier bids farewell to wife and child to follow the flag of France to the battlefield. During one of the engagements he not only rescues his wife during a rescue, but is intrusted by a dying count with some family jewels which he has been carrying in his hat. The latter will deliver them safely to the count's heir he goes at the first opportunity to his own home and gives them into the keeping of his wife. The hero, a Villainous character looking through the window watches them. The heroine and a dancer, of the Imperial Court, on the officer's departure enters, kills the soldier's wife and steals the jewels. The burned and charred remains of the murder of his wife, is sentenced to life imprisonment. His sentence is later commuted because of a heroic act on the occasion of a prison fire, and through the course of events he comes faces to face with his daughter, who, in a religious vision, saw her father's face. The revealing of the man's crime leaves, the girl free to marry her lover, and lifts the shadow from the character of the father.

SOLDIER'S OATH

William Farnum Featured in Five-Part Fox Special Interprets Tragic Role.

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

The military character of the five-part Fox special, "A Soldier's Oath," while it does not, strictly speaking, belong to a type of story particularly well adapted to film, there is an air of appropriateness at the present time. William Farnum is intrusted with the title role, a heroic character, which he is so well able to interpret. The picture was directed by Oscar Apfel, who also collaborated with Mary Milholland in the writing of the tragic story, and is of the sort to serve interesting and enthusiasm in the majority of audiences.

According to the story a French soldier bids farewell to wife and child to follow the flag of France to the battlefield. During one of the engagements he not only rescues his wife during a rescue, but is intrusted by a dying count with some family jewels which he has been carrying in his hat. The latter will deliver them safely to the count's heir he goes at the first opportunity to his own home and gives them into the keeping of his wife. The hero, a Villainous character looking through the window watches them. The heroine and a dancer, of the Imperial Court, on the officer's departure enters, kills the soldier's wife and steals the jewels. The burned and charred remains of the murder of his wife, is sentenced to life imprisonment. His sentence is later commuted because of a heroic act on the occasion of a prison fire, and through the course of events he comes faces to face with his daughter, who, in a religious vision, saw her father's face. The revealing of the man's crime leaves, the girl free to marry her lover, and lifts the shadow from the character of the father.

HANDS UP!

First Installsments of New Pathe Serial Appeal to Eye and Imagination.

Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

Not only promise but performance as well may be found in the first episode of the new Pathe serial, "Hands Up!" The first number consists of three reels, and the second and subsequent installments will run two reels. The story is built upon the idea for their imaginative and picturquoise atmosphere and the opportunity for the adventure scenes and the tale, which was written by Gilson and photographed by G. W. Brown, and directed by James Horne, lends itself splendidly to the purpose. It is colorless and unpretentious as it may be, but it is sure, the long arm of coinciidence gets in some sweeping effects at times, but when has the romantic adventure tale been circumscribed by hampering probabilities to any great extent?

Edward Sedgwick and Echo Delane, a young magazine writer, who steps off a train in Southern California, sent to collect material for the life of the medicine man of the Incas occupying the Mission of Sirocco. The meets the hero, "Hands Up!" manager of a nearby ranch, and asks him to take her to the mission. He does so, and the girl finds herself at once in the midst of all sorts of thrilling complications. She has the mark of the Rising Sun upon her brow, and the Incas think she is the girl of prophecy they have been expecting. This same mark also distinguishes her as the chosen heir of the Strange Rancher's downtown.

Some splendid pictorial effects have been achieved in the camera work which makes the Inca's ruins as well as the body of the Incas. The scenes attending the sacrifice have been effectively filmed and there is fine suspense in the action itself.

One of the principal features of mystery connected with the story is the Phantom Rider, who seems destined to play an important role in the story as it proceeds.

FEDORA.

Famous Players-Lasky Production Features Pauline Frederick in Strong Role.

Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

Pauline Frederick runs the emotions of a typical gamut in this five-reel Pathe mount offering. She does a notable piece of screen work as Fedora, heroine of a melodrama of the same name. Her facial expressions in this number are worth the careful study of any moving picture player, and it is evident that she carries one situation after another by the changing reflections in her features. The story of this adventure of love finally rising triumphant over the baser passion, form the chief motive of the film, and one of the splendid camera compositions is the vehicle on the legitimate stage for Fanny Davenport and Sarah Bernhardt.

At the beginning Princess Fedora Romanoff is in love with Count Vladimir. The latter, unknown to herself, is entangled in an affair with Vanda, the wife of Count Ipanoff. Later, Count Ipanoff, the latter, unknown to herself, is entangled in an affair with Vanda, the wife of Count Ipanoff. Later, learning of this, Count Vladimir, her father, Count of St. Petersburg, determined upon revenge.

Fedora follows Count Ipanoff to Paris, where she meets him in company with other Russian exiles, and she makes him confess the crime and he even confesses his crime to her. She sends word of the confession and captures the Count, when he is brought to trial, and on the execution of his brother and the subsequent death of his mother. When she learns that he is a wicked killer, Fedora's passionate hatred turns to love. Ipanoff at first despises her, since her interference had led to the death of her father and mother, but he in turn learns to forgive.

This strong dramatic material makes excellent subject matter for the screen, and has been given proper and spontaneous presentation by the director. Edward José, Jere Austin, as Count Ipanoff, as the heroine, as Count Vladimir, is in every way agreeable. The settings and costumes are in pleasing accord with the story.
"THE FALLEN ANGEL"
Jewel Carmen Gives Pleasing Portrayal of Sister’s Sacrifice in Five-Part Fox Special.

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

THE Governour Morris magazine story, "You Can’t Get Away With It," forms the basis of the five-part Fox special for July 28. "The Fallen Angel," Jewel Carmen, the featured member of the cast, gives a fine portrayal of the role of a girl who sacrifices her good name for the sake of her dependent sisters. The production is well directed and leaves little to be desired in this respect. There is a question, however, as to the whole- some nature of the story. It runs as follows:

Three girls are left almost destitute by the death of a father who had provided them during his lifetime with every luxury. The most energetic of the three, burdened with providing a livelihood for young novelist, where she was released July 28. The story on the contrary is rather insipid, nor has the production been helped by its medium as a magazine serial. It is, and are often lacking in interesting or humorous quality. Miss Normand, however, is "there with the goods." Herbert Rawlinson in the role of a young novelist does good work. The construction of the picture is satisfactory. In fact the director has done well with meager materials.

As the story runs the daughter of a rich lumber man, who was killed in the war, is trying to save her father's lumber mill. She is the only one of her family who can hold her identity as the daughter of the lumber merchant, and she is forced to the cabin of a friend, where she is taken in. She becomes a real man with whom she can fall in love, and undertakes to teach school in a country town where she is well received. She then resolves to be a good person and to take care of her father's estate. However, she is driven to take on the role of a lumber merchant to support herself and her family. She becomes a successful businesswoman and is eventually able to save the lumber mill and live a happy life with her friend.

"THE GHOST OF THE RANCHO"
Lively Five-Reel Pathé Play Presents Combination of Drama and Humor.

Reviewed by Robert C. McElravy.

THIS five-reel subject produced by the Anderson-Bruntnon Company from a story by Arthur Henry Gooden features Bryant Washburn and Rex Mitchell. William Worthington adapted and directed the number.

The tale is amusing and entertaining throughout, and winds up with a ghost story, but it is one of the stories that will shock sensitive observers. The ghost is far too human for that, and even holds up the principal villains at the point of a gun.

Bryant Washburn, always an agreeable player in the lighter roles, is in this instance cast as Jeff Wall, grandson of a millionaire. Jeff has been playing fast and loose with life, having a good time in the cabarets and enjoying himself generally. His grandfather puts his foot down and promises to be good after he has given just one more party. At this affair he falls in love with a girl dancer. Later a shooting occurs, and Jeff takes French leave to catch the supposed murderer.

The ghost adventures follow swiftly upon this action. He finally arrives at a ranch where he finds the woman's home and becomes a telegrapher at the station. Then he sets out to catch a gang of barns, where the supposed murderer, a Mexican, and his followers hold forth.

The action of the opening reels is rather disconnected at times, but the story clears up well, and is free from the obvious speed regulations. Douglas shows up in a little town where life instantly becomes nothing but adventure and excitement. The hero can always fall back on his good girl to be saved—and Fairbanks saves her.

"Saves" must be considered strictly in the sense that Fairbanks would do such things. They are never put into tight squeezes, and Fairbanks vaunts them as jumps, chases, and tosses her out of them timely. Prior to this time the girl and her mother into his trusty Ford, and then "dim out" amid clouds of smoke. The chase continues on good white truck of direction immediately following the title, "One Hundred Years Later"—there is no place for an exceedingly quiet corner of a cemetery.

Half the men who supply Fairbanks with material, are not much of a bunch of originators. Hall to Fairbanks! He is going to achieve the greatest of American amusement records—he will outlive "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

"THE BORDER LEGION"
Adaptation of Zane Grey's Novel Features Turett.

Reviewed by Margaret I. MacDonald.

THE Zane Grey novel, "The Border Legion," has been filmed by Phillip deに入るs. Hunter production of the same name is based, tends to the screen a bevy of dashing men, well-spoiled and endowed with all the qualities of the artists. Blanche Bates appears in the feminine lead, and if one must be frank that she is nothing more than a poor, nor does the role of Joan Randall, the woman for whose love the hillmen make a clean break. As Jack Kells, played by Hobart Bosworth, Eugene Strong playing Jim Cleeve, a never-do-well, and Harvey in the same. Others of the cast are Horace Morgan, Russell Simpson, Arthur Morrison, Hall Montana, Livio Toffano, cousack, and Jeff to the immediate vicinity.

The opener of the piece is a cleverly devised trick to awaken quick interest. Fairbanks is bound arms and feet to a prison wall, and two ferocious looking Mountain men have just hurled a bomb, with lighted fuse, at the Fairbanksian feet. It sizzles and burns in threatening disaster to the pair of acrobatic "understandings" in the picture business. This item starts the interest immediately, and then the plot thickens. Fairbanks is scouring across the hot sands in an American motor chased by a Morgan "desert craft." The more he is chased the more he fractures the sand.
Spoke is in charge of a training camp for men, and when Charley Butts (Douglas Fairbanks) pulls out with a group of men, Spoke is told to swat the ruse of his name. Edward Connelly as Virginia's father gives a conventional interpretation of a Southern gentleman in strained circumstances. A good bit of character work and one responsible for much of the humor is the portrayal of an old구 "mammy" by Pauline Dempsey. Harry Hilliard is satisfactory as Perry. There are many attractive settings and beautiful exteriors, and the photography is excellent.

Comments

A CORRECTION.
The first comment published on page 589 of our issue of July 27 was through error incorrectly titled "Her Moment." This should be "The Locked Heart."

Bluebird Photoplays, Inc.

THE DREAM LADY (Bluebird).—A five-reel screen version of the novel, "Why Not?" by Margaret Wildemere. The picture features Carmel Myers with a competent cast, and is entertaining although not elaborate interpretation of the story which deals with making dreams come true. A full review will be found elsewhere.

SCANDAL MONGERS (Bluebird).—A review of the Lois Weber production, "Scandal," of three years ago. A full review will be found elsewhere.

Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

FEDORA (Paramount), August 12.—A strong five-reel screen version of the famous Sardou play, with Pauline Frederick in the title role. Miss Frederick's performance is a notable one, reflecting as it does some of the fine possibilities of the screen in emotional roles of this type. She is assisted by a strong cast. Reviewed at length elsewhere.

Fox Film Corporation.

THE FALLEN ANGEL (Fox Special), July 25.—Jewel Carmen is featured in "The Fallen Angel," and again proves her right as a member of her profession. The story tells how a young girl sacrifices herself for the sake of her dependent sisters. A full review will be found elsewhere.

A SOLDIER'S OATH (Fox Special).—A five-reel military drama featuring William Farnum. The picture was directed by Oscar Apfel, by whom it was also written, and with Mary Murillo. The story covers a tragedy in the life of a soldier who is entrapped by a comrade with the safe delivery of family jewels. A full review will be found elsewhere.

Greater Vitagraph, Inc.

A GENTLEMAN'S AGREEMENT (Vitagraph), July 27.—A five-reel subject based on a novel by Maurice Ruel and directed by David Smith. Alfred Whitman and Nell Shipman play the leading roles. The plot is unusual, and holds the interest closely. Reviewed at length elsewhere.

Metro Pictures Corporation.

THE DEMON, July 22.—Edith Storey is starred in this interesting comedy drama of the Corsean Hills. It provides good, fast-moving entertainment. The plot is light, and the subject has been treated in a serio-comic vein, almost a burlesque. There is considerable humor, attractive scenes, and good character work. Miss Storey again demonstrating her ability and versatility.

Mutual Film Corporation.

SCREEN TELEGRAM NO. 41 (Mutual), July 28.—Reports that this issue include some splendid scenes on coal mining in Pennsylvania. Other scenes of interest show survivors of the wrecked U. S. Warship San Diego after landing, drilling for oil along the Californian coast, a rodeo at San Jose, Cal., and New York cricket men playing crack players of British War Mission.

SHE—ALMOST PROPOSED (Strand), July 30.—A Billie Rhodes comedy in which a frame-up on the part of the lover's father, mother, and sister causes a lively round-up which almost makes the young lady propose. Finally she gets in the game herself and pretends to elope with her lover's friend. A wedding party at the minister's house with a breathless climax is the result. Mildy entertaining.

THE WHITE WILDERNESS (Outing-Cicero).—Some beautiful scenes in the vicinity of Mount Washington showing a party of mountain climbers ascending this venerable mountain. Sport scenes showing the party on a snow-shoe run to lake placid are amusing, and are followed by skating, curling, skiing, and tobogganing. One of the features of the picture is a ride with the camera man down a toboggan slide.

Pathé Exchange, Inc.

OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW NO. 5 (Pathé), July 28.—This diversified number contains much that is new and interesting. It begins with close-ups of General Foch and his staff, then shows the British fighting in Palestine, the effect of air raids in various parts of France, scenes taken from an aeroplane, a parade of the Allies in Milan, and honoring Old Glory in France. An inspiring number.

BRITISH GUIANA (Post Film—Pathé), July 25.—This gives scenes from the British colony in the northern part of South America, where the production of sugar and rice are among the chief industries. The film also gives attention to the interesting baby crop, which also has been damaged by the blight and the shipping according to the Hindu rites which they observe.

WAIFS (Astra-Pathe), Aug. 4.—A five-reel sequel to the successful comedy type, featuring Gladys Hulette, Creighton Hale and others. The story is fresh and amusing and will attract many. It concerns a young girl who runs away and Alphabet her father and is discovered by some wiseacre's nephew. The number makes a good subject of the "Do Your Wives Decieve?" (Rollo-Pathe), Aug. 11.—A short number, with amusing knockabout moments, though not much to recommend it. The story is managed by a comical policeman and tries to capture a crook known as Limousine Larry. The knockabout is the strongest feature of this average number.

THE BRIDE OF THE SUN (Astra-Pathe).—Episode No. 1 of the new serial, "Hands Up!" in three reels. This introduces the observer to Echo Delane, a young magazine writer, who visits a Mississippi plantation and is led to an article about a band of Innes. She is mistaken for the girl of prophecy and is not recognized as such. However, the girl is being sacrificed by the sun-worshippers. The hero, "Hands Up!", saves her. The story, which is well constructed, has an exciting introduction. It has an abundance of picturesque color and contains many thrilling scenes.

The George Cheesbro playing the leading roles.

THE MISSING PRINCE (Astra-Pathe).—Episode No. 2 of "Hands Up!" in this number. Delane narrowly escapes death at the hands of the sun-worshippers. The hero saves her. The action is well constructed. The Phantom Rider saves both the girl and the hero from certain death. He then kidnaps the girl and Prince Pamper. Echo is expected to be the lost heroine of the strange ranch. The acting is well done by the star players.

Ralph and Josie Scott as the leading players. The story is exciting and well staged.

W. H. Productions, Inc.

MICKEY.—In this presentation W. H. Pickup gives a different Mickey in the form of a young boy in a sensational melodrama, blending comedy and pathos, excitement and thrills in magnificent visual effects. The story is the exciting climax of an engaging story. "Mickey" has everything that a motion picture should have. The science of direction and production. Elsewhere in this issue is a further review.

William L. Sherry Service.

OUT OF THE NIGHT (Kenny).—A six-part adaptation of E. Lourd Sheehan's play directed by James Kirkwood. Catherine Calvert and Herbert Rawlinson are the featured members of the cast. The production is in many ways an intense and interesting story. A full review will be found in next week's issue.

Triangle Film Corporation.

BEYOND THE MOUNTAIN (Triangle).—July 28.—A five-reel subject, from a story by Ralph E. Westfall, featuring William Tabbert and Josie Scott. The story deals with life among the Indians and fur traders of the Canadian Northwest. The story is well constructed and the attractive locations, set forth in clear, sharp photography, but is weakly constructed in an intricate way. Better at length elsewhere.

The WAITERS' BALL (Triangle-Key- systems).—A five-reel subject dealing with Fatty Arbuckle subjects. Fatty appears as cook in a restaurant and some of his usual tricks are featured. Mr. Hoover jealous. In the later scenes at the ball he appears in a lady's ball gown, which is removed from hisotty figure during a general mixup. This contains many laughs and will easily stand another showing.

Universal Film Company.

THE LION'S CLAWS No. 17 (Universal Special).—July 27.—"The Well of Horrors," the new serial which is thrilling in the extreme. The escape of the victims of the lion worshippers from the well into which they have been thrown forms the basis of the episode which ends with their arrival in safety at the Belgian border. A tremendously enthralling number.

THE LION'S CLAWS No. 18 (Universal Special).—Aug. 3.—"Beth's Triumph, or the Doom of the Outcasts," the last part of this number which takes Beth and associates to England, whence they are followed by League retribution. He is shot down by Bath in the midst of a general melee in which underhand methods of Bej Hari are revealed.

THE TRAIL OF NO RETURN (Western).—Aug. 10.—A two-reel western subject, by G. Stanley Sutton, featuring Neal Hart, Babe Sedgwick and Joe Rickson. This has some fresh, unusual plot complications, but is unusually strong for this type of film. The hero invades a bandita lair in the mountains and rescues the girl under exciting circumstances. A strong subject.

DON'T SHOOT (Motions-Film).—Aug. 16.—An amusing episode of a bridgehead held up, with a shot on the eve of his wedding. The crook reforms at the request of his girl and pursues his victim to pay back the fellow who caused his marriage to fall through. This has plenty of action and the plot is slight, but laughable.

THE BRASS BULLET (Universal).—Aug. 16.—A five-reel Western subject of this new serial, with Jack McAbba, Julia Hansen, Chas. Hilli Matties, Joseph Girard and Athol Peard. The hero, a young playwright, is confused in a sawmill by mistake. He escapes to Pecos, Texas, as a young hero, is about to be made the victim of a kidnapping plot. This is brisk and exciting in action, pathetically staged, and promises to be enterprising.

World Pictures Corporation.

HERCULES (World-Pictures).—Aug. 5.—A three-reel story, in which the leading character is Hercules and the courage of his noted ancestor, who once saved the life of his kind. The West Strikes Back, which is particularly good in the opening scenes. The last picture in a series of nine, full of interest, but not so convincing at times as the opening incidents. Mudge Evans and Barbara Kirby are the leading players. It is the very interesting character of Xerxes.

"The Brass Bullet" Is Fast.

Gathering speed with each episode "The Brass Bullet" hits up a pace in its third chapter and once more promises the pace of its predecessors. Universal intends to spare no expense in the staging of this to-be-first-rate Western. With the elaborate settings used and the amount of property destroyed Ben Wilson, who is directing, has demonstrated his mastery in building up the suspense required.

The third episode is entitled "Locked in the Tower."

Lois Wilson in Kerrigan Support.

I. Warren Kerrigan, in "A Burgle for a Nickel," is now being used for his leading woman once more. She will have a role where her manhood opportunities to distinguish himself wherever she is. The athletic type that she portrays is that of the modern woman. A practically perfect girl who can do almost anything in the athletic line—anything from running her own sailboat to being about the most charming bit of femininity imaginable.

Fashion Show in Metro Film.

One of the final scenes of "Our Mrs. Meschey," Ethel Barrymore's shorty to be released August 19, was shot at a Metropolitan Life insurance building on the first street studio, was a veritable feast for the eye inasmuch as it was the exact replica of a fashion show in New York City, and what is more, was an actual exhibition of the advanced styles for our concrete version. The dress and other fashions were on display were evening wraps, evening gowns, afternoon frocks, dinner gowns, cocktail dresses and many others, every one a creation.

"A Hoosier Romance" Set for August 19.

"A Hoosier Romance," the Selig production to be released August 19 by Universal pictures, is a delightful poem of the world-famous poet, James Whitcomb Riley, that has ever been produced for the photoplay.

From the list of Riley's works on which he owns the photoplay rights Mr. Selig selected "A Hoosier Romance" for first presentation on the screen. It was done with Thomas Jefferson, Harry McCoy, and William Hoag under the direction of Em Cohn Campbell.

Edna Goodrich's Picture Finished.

The first of Edna Goodrich's new series of features for Mutual, "Her Husband's House," is about to be released by Miss Hathaway, agent of Mamille Hekeis Justice, is to be released on August 5. The story was chosen by Miss Edna Goodrich as the one best suited to her requirements. The plot deals with a wife's decision to deter her husband from impending ruin. Burton King directed.

New England Bookings for "Hypocrites."

Bookings for George Loane Tucker's seventh version of "The Hypocrites," starring Elizabeth Rich, have been so numerous, and important as to indicate a repertory of the triumph scored by the stage play twelve years ago. General Film Company announces this week. The demands for "The Hypocrites" is particularly strong in the New England territory, according to J. D. Levine, manager of the General's Boston branch. Two important engagements reported from Boston were a week's showing at the Boston theater and a one-week engagement at the theater in Providence, beginning July 28.

Toto Finishes New Comedy.

Toto, the Path-Holin comedian, completed "The Great Water Peril," his one-reel comedy, in jiffy time, for he has been loaned to the treasury circuit, the "big-time" string in the West, for vaudeville purposes for a few weeks. Toto is now happy and happy-go-lucky. Clarice Seymour helps a whole lot in "The Great Water Peril," which will be released in September by Path.

The Toto comedies in the meanwhile have been showing in August 11, "Do Your Wives Decieve?" August 12, "Winged in the Bud"; September 10, "They Die Laughing." etc.

General Film Supplying Sailors.

General Film service is being used to provide entertainment for a number of United States warships stationed in southern waters, according to word received this week from the Atlanta branch. A contract for supplying the Dorothea, the Wave and the Virginia, where including; fifty weeks, was awarded after the Government inspected the product of these companies. General Film's bid was selected, according to a Government official, "for price, for service and for courteous attitude."

August 10, 1918
Advertising Aids for Busy Managers

"THE PRICE OF APPLAUSE"
Triangle Presents the Tragic Story of a Minor Poet Who Died That His Name Might Live, from the Saturday Evening Post Story of the Same Title.

Cast.
Karl ....................... Jack Livingston
Amy ........................ Claire Anderson
Marcarson .................. Joe King
Professor Arnold .......... Walt Whitman

Directed by Thomas N. Heffron.
The Story is based upon the Marcacson, famed of norility, posed as a pro-German, and when the Lusitania was sunk said he was going to France, though not really intending to do so. Carried away by the determination of his friend Marcacson he reached the battle line, lost his nerve, and by a ruse was captured as a German and sent to a British prison camp. Later he learned that America had entered the war, that he was mourned as dead, and his poems had made him famous. Desperate he escapes and returns to America. A friend advises him to reveal his identity, but to join the army and fight for the U.S. Still hesitating he meets a comrade of the prison camp and succeeds in wiping out a nest of spies in a dramatic manner.

Feature Jack Livingston as Karl and Claire Anderson as Amy.

Program and Advertising Phrases: How a Fighting coward redeemed himself by service to the flag he had deserted.
Cowardly conscience makes hero of weak-kneed "Objector."
Fame—Purposely Upon Deserter by Accident of warfare.
Selfish pride impels coward to seek fame in unusual service.
How a cowardly deserter became an unexpected hero.

Advertising Angles: This story made an unusual impression when it ran in The Saturday Evening Post, and its publication is still so recent that you can capitalize the hit it made. It presents many unusual advertising angles, the chief point being the death of the poet and his words "come back to life" in order that his reputation may endure. The central figure—that of a man whose supposed bravery brought his poems to fame and whose return a coward threatened his reputation—is an unusually tragic one, and will stand strong press work. Make a special appeal to the better class of patrons on this by direct solicitation or through your general newspaper work.

"LITTLE MISS GROWN-UP"
General Film Presents Gloria Joy in Another Oakdale Production, Which Gives Full Chance to This Clever Little Star.

Cast.
Nan Grifing ................. Gloria Joy
Grace Grifing ............... Ethel Pepprell
Ethel Grifing ............... Mabel Taliaferro
Robert Grifing ............. Neil Hardin
Anna Grifing ............... Mollie McConnell
James Griffith .............. Daniel Gilfether
Morgan Thornton ............ Edward Saunders
Simple Simon Magee ......... Charles Dudley

Directed by Sherwood McDonald.

The Story: Nan persuades her mother to teach her to dance, but the neighbors are horrified; so Nan is sent to visit her grandmother in the city. She takes her grown-up playmate, Simple Simon, along and hides him in the orchard, and he frightens the servants, who think he is a ghost. Nan, though only a little girl, believes that she is a grown-up for she poses to her aunt's fiancé and is accepted. She prepares to run away, is discovered and is indignant. She demands that her prospective husband choose between her and her growing up. She then chooses the latter and is resigned to her fate, but decides she wants no more of city life.

Feature Gloria Joy as Nan Grifing.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Childish prank pictured in vivid scenes creates playoff of entertaining Quality and good purpose. How a little girl shocked a whole village because she could dance.

"FLOWER OF THE DUSK"
Metro Presents Viola Dana in a Charmingly Sympathetic Adaptation of the Famous Novel of the Same Title by Myrtle Reed.

Cast.
Prologue.
Constance North ............ Viola Dana
Lawrence Austin ........... Guy Coombs
Ambrose North ............. Jack Mcgowan
Miriam ..................... Alice Martin
Mable Austin .................. Bliss Milford
Minister ................... Charles Sutton
The Aunt ................... Magie Breyer
Mrs. L. Ford

The Play.
Barbara North ................ Viola Dana
Ambrose North .............. Howard Hall
Roger Austin ............... Jack Breyer
Miriam ..................... Margaret McCaw
Mable Austin .................. Bliss Milford

Directed by John H. Collins.

The Story: In a quaint New England village live Ambrose North and his daughter Barbara. He is blind and the child is a cripple. They are cared for by Miriam, her mother's sister. Her great friendship is with Roger Austin, who lives across the way. Barbara's mother committed suicide when the child was but two years old, and North feared she did so because he failed to make her happy. In reality she killed herself because her love for Roger took her to the very edge of life and she feared dishonor. She left letters with her sister, explaining her action: But Miriam, withheld them and does not give them to North and Barbara until the
August 10, 1918

THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD

Defending Her Husband's Honor and Risking Her Own Life
Cowardly Husband Permits Wife to Make Supreme Sacrifice.
Grievously Wounded and Injured
Involving Coward-Husband.
Wife Puts to Shame by Her Sacrifice a Weak-willed Husband.
Engaging Story Involving a Domestic Tragedy Narrowly Avoided.

Advertising Angles: Hang your appeal on the star, her attractiveness and rich dress, and add that she is unusually beautiful and tell the women she is wearing next season's styles.

For country towns, use the Exciting Headline: "Who's writing to the Motiograph.
A new arrangement which brings together the right young people to help cure the nation's industries, the importance of which is pointed out to the editor by a young lady from Japan.

Advertising Aids: One each one, three and six sheets. Banner unmounted. One, two and three column cuts and mats.
Program cover cut. Lobby display, 11x14 and 22x28. Press sheet.

Released August 4.

"WAIFS."
Pathes Presents Gladys Hulette in an Astra Production of the Story of a Girl Who Wanted to Pick Out Her Own Husband—The Old.

Cast:
Marjorie Whitney............Gladys Hulette
Marjorie's Father..........J. H. Gilmour
Fitzjames Powers............Elmer Poiindexter
Walter Heirs

Directed by Albert Parker.

The Story: Marjorie Whitney is the only daughter of the multi-millionaire, who longs to see her the wife of Elmer Poiindexter, the nephew of his former business partner, and runs away to New York, where she is found by detectives hired by her father. Old man Whitney suggest that she permitted to have her way and for the nephew to keep an eye on her, and if they are thrown together they may find in love with each other. But this arrangement goes away, and Marjorie is attacked by a convict from whom she is saved by Fitzjames Powers. How the young couple overcome parental objections and visited equal justice upon the righteous and unrighteous provides an entertaining story with a surprising denouement.

Feature: Gladys Hulette as Marjorie Whi

Program and Advertising Phrases: Head-lined with commentators on the marriage of the village girl to the big city.

Marvelous Waxatures
Waxatures in the Mold.

Theatres Equips Theatre for Griffith's

PORTER EQUIPS THEATRE FOR GRiffTH'S

SUPREME TRIPHUM "HEARTS OF THE WORLD." Installs Two Up To The Minute Type S SIMPLEX PROJECTORS with Robin TIME and SPEED INDICATORS in the 44th St. Theatre, New York. The Marvelous PROJECTION of this greatest picture of modern times is synchronized accurately to the fraction of a second with the beautiful music and effects.

B. F. PORTER, 729 7TH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY, 11TH FLOOR
"THE PLUNDERER."
William Fox Presents William Farnum in a 1918 Version of One of His Greatest Earlier Successes.

Cast:

Bill Matthews...........William Farnum
Dick Townsend.........Harry Spangler
Dolly Presby...........Wm. Riley Hatch
Old Belis Park.........J. Gross
Dave Thompson.........Geo. De Carlton
Pedro Arutti...........Joe Whitney
Joan Presby...........Clare Whitney
Lily Meredith..........Elizabeth Eyre

The Story: A young man is left a gold mine and he goes west to work it. He finds that the man who has a claim next to his has killed his mine. Mourning also desperate means to separate the youth from his land. Attempts at murder are nothing to him. The young fights for his mother, another man or his ails until a friend of the youth is killed. Then the fight begins. Bill Matthews appears and down twenty miners. This is one of the stirring moments in the play that works up to a striking climax.

Feature: William Farnum as Bill Matthews and Clare Whitney as Joan Presby.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Rugged Production! Bill Matthews Will Again

Advertising Angles: Dwell upon the fact that this is one of the six Fox productions that were issued worthy of revival in improved form. Tell your patrons that if they liked the story before, they will find the new version even stronger. Take plenty of newspaper space and play up the fact in circuit. All Fox Farnum boasts twenty miners. Advertise "Fight to-night at (house). Big Bill Farnum versus the rest of the mining camp. Don't miss it." Get this on big type posters and paste all around town in the early evening.

Advertising Aids: One, three and six sheets, two styles of each. Lobby displays, $1.50, 11x14, and 22x28. Announcement, slide Cuts, mats and press sheets (cuts are made on special order at rate of 25 cents per column; mats and press sheets are mailed gratis).

Reissue:

BOUND IN MOROCCO

Artcraft Presents Douglas Fairbanks in His Own Production of a Story With a Vivid Algerian Background.

Cast:

The Boy.................Douglas Fairbanks
The Girl.................Pauline Curley
Her Mother.............Edythe Chapman
Ali Pach Shush, their faithful servant........Truly Marshall
Rasha El Harib, Governor of the Province of Harla, Frank Paukwan
Kaid Mahedi al Mechini, Lord High Ambassador to the Court of El Harib
Jay Dwiggins

Directed by Allan Dawn.

The Story: An American boy is motoring in Morocco when the governor of El Harib had him arrested for the murder of his harem. The boy has a thrilling fight with bandits, and on reaching El Harib, after a long and perilous journey, he encounters the bandits, again captured, and finally nears the goal with the help of the faithful Paulkwan, Jeanne and the bold mongrels. Ideal home location. Excellent entanglement. Beautiful homes all around. Get in on this at opening prices. Write at once.

Scotti McKee, 708 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, California.
THE "DEATH DANCE"

Select Pictures Presents Alice Brady in a Startlingly Real Story of Society and the Cabaret.

Cost.
Flora Farnsworth ............ Alice Brady
Arnold Maitland .......... H. E. Herbert
Cynthia Maitland .......... Helen Montrose
Robert Coin .......... Robert Coin
Mme. Boresky .......... Rita Spear
Jones .......... Charles Slaters
Doris Maitland .......... Nadia Gary

Directed by J. Searle Dawley.

The Story: Arnold Maitland becomes embittered when he learns that his wife Flora has promised to marry a cabaret dancer. He goes to the restaurant to have it out with Boresky, but becomes a victim to the charms of Flora Farnsworth. He makes a wager that he will win Flora within a month. Having given her a musical education he plans to take her abroad, so that his desertion may be used by his wife as grounds for a divorce, since she does not wish to use his evidence against him. Maitland is mortally wounded the night before he and Flora are to sail, and he gives her the evidence papers. Flora then becomes Boresky's partner, while Cynthia, Maitland's widow, tiring of her old paramour, decides to get Philip Standish in her meshes. Boresky falls in love with Flora, but he promises to marry Standish. Cynthia, insanely jealous, persuades Boresky to kill Flora, but she is saved by Philip Standish himself.

Feature: Alice Brady as Flora Farnsworth and Maitland Hamilton as Philip Standish.

Program and Advertising Phrases: Story of the Stage Leads Through Baffling Plot to Surprising Finish.

Lure of the Stage Leads Pretty Girl Into Strange Adventures.

Seeing Life Behind the Footlights in Clever Photoplay.

Mysteries of the Stage Revealed in Gripping Photo-play

Alice Brady Seen in Her Latest and Greatest Screen Success.

Baffling Plot Holds Interest for Lovers of Sensational Pictures.

Advertising Angles: Offer this as an inside picture of real life in the light fixtures. Play up the wager made by Maitland, but do most of the publicity on the story since she will better repeat press work than the trite story. Recall her earlier plays and her success in them.

We do not CUT prices but quote SENSIBLE prices for DEVELOPING—PRINTING TITLES—TINTING Camera Work All Work Guaranteed

STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CO.
1828-21 Mallers Bldg., Chicago

THE AUTOMATIC

TICKET SELLING and CASH REGISTER CO., MANUFACTURERS OF

AUTOMATIC MACHINES and all kinds of Theatre Tickets

USED UNIVERSALLY

1735 BROADWAY
N. Y. CITY

We manufacture Complete EXIT Signs

45 to 70 Cents in Quantity
Also Fire Escape Signs and Other Specialties

T. L. ROBINSON & CO.
105 W. Monroe St., Chicago

We have for sale Twenty Million Dollar Mystery, 22 reels; Zodiac, 18 reels; and Million Dollar Mystery, 46 reels. We also have a large stock of new and commercial film in all lengths for all parts of the globe.

Established 1898

THE FILM EXCHANGE

325 West 46th St., New York City
and build up the interest of your patrons in it.

Adverting Aids: Two one-sheets, two three-sheets, one six-sheet, one 21-sheet. Winch & Poster, Herald, Lobby display photographs, 8x10, 11x14, 22x28. Slides. Cuts: two one-column, two two-column, half-column, one corner for one-half-column cut of star, and one one-column and one two-column cuts of star.

"WANTED—A BROTHER"

General Film Presents Gloria Joy in an Oakdale Production in Which the Clever Littleton Enlists a Boy to Take a Playmate's Place.

Cast:
Bob Fanning ............... Gloria Joy
Mrs. Fanning .............. Mingon LeBreton
Mr. Fanning .............. E. H. Archer
Dale Fanning .............. Dan O'Keeffe
Tom Wellsley ............ Julian Dillon
Officer Mulcahy .......... Edward Johnson
Mrs. Barton .............. Ruth Lackaye
James McPherson ........ William Reed

Directed by Robert Ensminger.

The Story: Bob, the shoemaker's daughter, becomes the friend of Tom Wellsley, who is afraid to return home as he has disobeyed his father. The newsboys place a notice for him, and he is sent to prison. Bob takes his place as a newsboy, and Tom escapes from prison and joins a band of robbers. Bob refuses to go with them and finds work on a farm. Bob, searching for him, locates the gang and with the aid of Wellsley, Tom's home meets Tom's father and the two become friends again. Bob's clever riding they discover Tom. Bob brings about a reconciliation and wins a big brother.

Program and Advertising Phrases:

Gloria Joy in "Wanted—a Brother."

"THE DEMON"

Cast:
Ariel ............... Bessie Barriscale
Franklin Shirley .......... George Fisher
Abe Strohman .......... Thomas W. Jordan
Dolly Dugan .......... Mrs. MacTavish
Mr. & Mrs. Kane .......... Myra Davis
Peter Winkenmuller ......... Nick Cogley
Mary Kane .......... Howard Hickman

Directed by Raymond B. West.

The Story: Ariel, a waif of the sea, grows five love boats on the Scottish coast. An airplane is wrecked nearby and shipwrecks the captain, Franklin Shirley, a London aristocrat, back to health. He returns to England, and Ariel, determined to be his equal, follows. In London she finally meets Abe Strohman, a theatrical producer, and through his help becomes a star. Shirley attends the opening performance but is afraid of a vampire she seeks to win him, but realizes she does not want him in that way. Ariel finds the 'vampire.' In the meantime Shirley learns that the girl to whom he was engaged has eloped with another, and that Ariel, and the two find happiness.

Feature: Bessie Barriscale as Ariel and Franklin Shirley as Strohman.

"WARD' O' THE STORM"

Vitagraph Presents Neil Shipman and Alfred Foursquare Unique Series: Ballroom Dance Feature Involving an Unusual Point of Honor.

Cast:
Allen Sparrow .......... Bessie Barriscale
Theresa Kane .......... Franklin Shirley
Neil Shipman .......... George Fisher
Lemuel Antree .......... Thomas W. Jordan
E. H. Archer .......... Mrs. Kane
Mingon LeBreton .................. Mrs. Burkirk
Kate Leonard .......... Patricia Burt
Dale Fanning .......... Hope Harlow
Tom Wellsley .......... Jack Wetherby
Officer Mulcahy .......... Al Garcia

Directed by David Smith.

The Story: The Sparrows, engaged to Theresa Kane, goes west to make his fortune. He meets Kate, who intercepts his letter, and agrees to marry her instead. Theresa finally consents to marry Antree, a student of ancient law. Allan reaches the church just as the ceremony is finished. The man whom he has rescued from death and who has, according to ancient custom, pledged himself to the maiden and become her bond-slayer, Theresa follows Spargo and finally the three meet. Antree threatens to kill Spargo, who recoils as he solemnly and purposely upsets a canoe and is drowned in the rapids.

Feature: Alkrit Whitman as Allen Sparrow and Neil Shipman as Theresa Kane.

Program and Advertising Phrases:

Original Photoplay Filled with Thrills and Adventure, How a Brave Rescue of a "Bird Man" Brought Happiness to Dreary Life, How True Love and Adventure Coupled with Imagination to Bring the Stars in Window While Seeking Fame.

Thrills and Adventure Coupled with Imagination to Bring the Stars in Window While Seeking Fame.

"MARYLEE MIXES IN"

General Film Presents Clever Little Glory Joy in an Oakdale Production in Which the Clever Littleton Enlists a Boy to Take a Playmate's Place.

Cast:
Marylee Deppes .......... Gloria Joy
John Crouweley .......... John Henry
Neil Hardin .......... Emily Depue, her mother
Evel Ritchie .......... Ethel Ritchie Della, her maid
Jolene .......... a factory hand
Charles Dudley .......... Mrs. Peppel
Dr. Baxter .......... slum physician
Dorothy Dancer .......... Gladys Bracken, newspaper woman
Nell Hollman ..........

Directed by Bert Ensminger.

The Story: Marylee's father owns tenements in the slums, while her mother is interested in "charity." At a fancy dance, the mother wins the prize for the guests and decides to take it immediately to the poor, so she slips out of the house. In the meantime, her daughter finds a woman very ill and stays all night trying to help her. The next day she dances and sings the tune she learned from the poor woman, and by the time she is found she falls victim to the same disease as the poor woman. Due to the bond between her father, her eyes finally opened, promises to improve all his properties, while her mother learns the meaning of real charity.

Feature: Gloria Joy as Marylee Deppes.

Program and Advertising Phrases:

How a Little Girl Brought Complete Reformation in Her Father's Sociological Ideas.

Child of Riches Creates a Clean-Up in the Slums of Poverty.

Convictions of Unsanitary Conditions in Great Cities.

Little Girl Turns Reformer and Clean-Up Agent.

Singing and Dancing Sprite Brings Sunshine Into Blighted Lives.

"What's the Corner?" and Redeems Her Father.

Advertising Aids: The theme of this story has been designed to be slightly above the level of the average film.

"ALIAS MARY BROWN"

Triangle Presents Pauline Starke and Casson Furgesson in the Story of a Man Who Made a Right of Two Wrongs.

Cast:
Dick Browning .......... Casson Furgesson
Evelyn Browning .......... Helvet
Dick Browning .......... Watson
Evelyn Browning .......... Eugene Burr
A. C. Davis .......... Sidney Grays
Sidney Grays .......... Uncle
Evelyn Browning .......... Lilacs
F. Thompson .......... Uncle
Sarah Browning .......... Mr. Thompson
Dorothy Browning .......... Betty
Mr. Browning .......... Pauline Starke
Mrs. Browning .......... Alberta Lee

Directed by H. D'Eilea.

The Story: Dick Browning, returning home, finds that his wealthy father has just died after being robbed of everything.
EVERYBODY IS INVITED IN THE PICTURE BUSINESS FOR A GREAT BUSINESS CONFERENCE TO A NATIONAL MOTION PICTURE MEETING.

Open to all at all times.
Second Annual Convention American Exhibitors Association

SHERMAN HOTEL CHICAGO
SEPT. 3-4-5-6-7

Make your Reservation Now

ADDRESS: Convention Committee A.E.A.
Louis Frank, Chairman
5 S. Wabash St. Chicago, Ill.

Frank Remhusch, Secy.
Indiana Trust Bldg. Indianapolis, Ind.

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
by three unscrupulous associates. The check had been forged by Mother, and in revenge he joins a band of crooks. In the character of Mary Brown he has many dark and desperate scenes with girls even with the men who robbed his father. A dramatic incident throws him with the runaway daughter of her father, and in the end this girl later becomes his wife, and in the far west finally works out his reformation after his father has died leaving them in plenty.

Feature Casson Purgeon as Dick Brown

Program and Advertising Phrases:

Advertisements:

- Ad 3: A four-page spread, with a picture of Mother and a good deal of text. The ad is to be run on the front pages of newspapers.

Theatrical News:

- Picture Theaters Projected (Continued from Page 871):
- ONEIDA, N. Y.—Oneida Theater Company has been reorganized with a B. B. Monroe as president.
- ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Grand theater on Plymouth St. to reopen after
- Ad 4: A six-page spread, with pictures and text about the new theater.

Cleveland, Ohio:

- CLEVELAND, O.—Frank Gronek, 3609 East 121st St., is preparing plans for his new theater on East 121st St. to cost $16,000.
- Ad 5: A three-page spread, with pictures and text about the new theater.

Youngstown, Ohio:

- YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Loyd Order of Moose, No. 78, S. F. Sullivan, secretary, have plans by C. C. F. Wesley, Mahoning Building for theater and lodge building to cost $16,000.

Tulsa, Okla.:

- TULSA, OKLA.—Edwards theater and office building on 5th St., between Main and Boston, is rapidly nearing completion. The theater is now being equipped. Mr. and Mrs. John K. Harwood are the owners of the theater and are preparing to open it.

Georgetown, Pa.:

- GEORGETOWN, PA.—Wilson Lank has taken over management of moving picture theater on Main Street.

Reading, Pa.:

- READING, PA.—Hoffman & Company, 1125 South Penn square, Philadelphia, are preparing plans for remodeling of one-story theater building on Main St.

Columbia, S. C.:

- COLUMBIA, S. C.—Warner Theater Company has been incorporated with $60,000 capital. Officers are: R. A. Harwood, president; W. P. Lamberg, vice-president; J. M. Brown, secretary; and B. P. Lee, treasurer.

Chattanooga, Tenn.:

- CHATTANOOGA, TENN.—F. B. Bowker, owner of the Baker Building, has indefinitely deferred erection of new theater and vaudeville theater.

Big Bear, Tex.:

- BIG BEAR, TEXAS.—J. L. Pittman and others have let contract to H. Weber to erect a new theater at Big Bear, cost $10,000.

Dallas, Texas:

- DALLAS, TEXAS.—D. E. Waggoner and others have let contract to Childs & Leamy Construction Company to erect moving picture theater on Commerce street to cost $12,500.

Del Rio, Texas:

- DEL RIO, TEXAS.—Box of San Antonio, Texas, will erect theater here.

Newark, W. Va.:

- NEWARK, W. VA.—Moving Picture Theater, for Peninsula Pioneer Corporation, to cost $50,000.

Norfolk, Va.:

- NORFOLK, Va.—Norfolk Camp Community, 153 Grandy street, has plans by Benjamin F. Mitchell, Seaboard Bank building, for alterations and an addition to Liberty theater for enlisted men.

RICHMOND, Va.:

- RICHMOND, Va.—R. D. Craver and T. T. White, owners of Liberty theater, for Peoples Building, for vaudeville and moving picture theater, to cost $50,000.

NORFOLK, Va.—R. D. Craver and T. T. White, owners of Liberty theater, for Peoples Building, for vaudeville and moving picture theater, to cost $50,000.

Shreveport, La.:

- SHREVEPORT, LA.—Rose theater has been rebuilt, thoroughly renovated and reopened under management of Sam McQueary.

Everett, Wash.:

- EVERETT, WASH.—C. A. Swanston, manager, Princess Theater, has leased new theater to be redecorated and pipe organ installed.

Wausau, Wisc.:

- WAUSAU, WIS.—New Paramount Theater has been opened under management of C. E. Scates.

Skagitville, Wis.:

- SKAGITVILLE, WIS.—J. W. Allender of Lyric theater has taken over the Majestic Theater.

Seattle, Wash.:

- SEATTLE, WASH.—Fruen Brothers has purchased the Majestic theater for between Jackson and King streets, and are planning a new theater.

Wino, Wisc.:

- WINOX, WIS.—Space in Hotel Wino will be converted into a 200-seat moving picture theater.

Huntington, W. Va.:

- HUNTINGTON, W. VA.—A new theater will be built on the site of the old theater which burned down.

White River, Wisc.:

- WHITE RIVER, WIS.—R. J. Brazael is now sole owner of moving picture house formerly conducted by Hrazel & Bosakari.

California, Wisc.:

- CALIFORNIA, WIS.—Management Home Theater has been taken over by Frank von Low.

Milwaukee, Wis.:

- MILWAUKEE, WIS.—J. B. Kakevam, Sr. John W. Siller, Mrs. E. Fink and Bruno E. Fink have resigned from directors of German Theater Company.

McCook, Neb.:

- MCCook, NEB.—A Sharp is having plans prepared for theater to be erected upon site of burned Bijou.

Shibuyan, Wis.:

- SHIBUYAN, WIS.—Herbert V. Priehs, manager, Majestic Theater.

Watertown, Wis.:

- WATERTOWN, WIS.—Thomas Barrett has purchased Majestic theater from Charles K. Johnson.

Waukausa, Wis.:

- WAUCAUSA, WIS.—Lyric theater has been reopened by Charles Cohen.

Wausau, Wis.:

- WAUSAU, WIS.—Gus Schochow has closed his theater in Wausau, and will, in Milwaukee, to remodel store front and build an addition to Bijou theater, to cost $25,000.

Waukesha, Wis.:

- WAUKESHA, WIS.—Gus Schochow is having plans prepared by H. G. Lefley, 314 E. Main, Milwaukee, Wis., for the new building.

Whitewater, Wis.:

- WHITewater, WIS.—Kenneth Ullong will take over Strand theater.
SITUATIONS WANTED.

ORGANIST desires position. First-class musician. Experienced, reliable man. Fine picture player and singer. Good organ and salary essential. "ORGANIST." Box 472, Hagerstown, Maryland.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES.

WE BUY—Second-hand machines of all makes, lenses, calcium lights, tents, chairs, and all theater supplies. Highest prices offered. What have you? Monarch Film Service, 228 Union avenue, Memphis, Tenn.

FOR SALE at a bargain, complete modern motion picture developing and printing laboratory equipment, including Beil & Howell Projector, Ceronian Tanks, printer. For complete list and price, address Stereo Brothers Optical Company, 607 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

FOR RENT on account of moving to our new and larger quarters, Paisley Film Laboratories, fireproof building, including vault and outbuildings, $125 per month. Apply to G. Stabel, Gen. Mgr., Paisley, N. J.

THEATERS FOR SALE OR RENT.

MOVING PICTURE theater, seating 240, only show in northwestern town of 1,200 population; reason for selling have other business. Address City Theater, Mansfield, Wash.

CAMERAS, ETC., FOR SALE.

LISTEN—Cameramen, directors, laboratory managers, exchanges, operators, stamps brings invaluable novelty catalogue concerning you. Eberhard Schneider, 219 Second Avenue, N. Y. City.

DELIBERATE CAMERA for sale, complete, with good, carrying cases and extra magazines. First class condition. Address Motion Picture Department, Ford Motor Company, Detroit, Michigan.

200 FT. DAVICO M. P. Camera, 50 MM. B. & L. Tessar lens, F1.45, with panoramic and tilting top tripod, $675.00. DAVID STERN COMPANY, in business since 1883, 1027-10211 Madison St., Chicago, Illinois.

ADAPTATION, must sacrifice A-1 outfit, camera, tripod, panchromat lamp, tanks, chemicals, printer, reels, magazines, $185.00 cash. Ralph J. Witmer, 12 West Hudson Ave., Dayton, Ohio.

FILMS WANTED.

TO PURCHASE. Advertiser requires educational films for Australia, must be new prints. Send full particulars, price, etc. Cash, care Moving Picture World, New York City.

FILM FOR SALE OR RENT.

EQUIPMENT FOR SALE.

3,000 OPERA CHAIRS, $3.00 each; three asbestos booths, steel rim vault, asbestos curtain; set best and save half. J. P. Redington, Scranton, Pa.

STAGE SCENERY.

SCENERY—Draps painted to order in any size up to 12 x 20 feet, $10. Boon Scene Studios, Hicksville, Ohio.

DON'T BUY A BIG ONE WHEN A LITTLE ONE WILL DO!

Your small wants will be read on this page when they would probably not be noticed so much on another page.

Space in the Classified Department of the MOVING PICTURE WORLD has proven a profitable investment.
COSMOPHOTO FILM.
Hypocrites (Six Parts—Drama).

AUTHOR'S PHOTOPLAYS, INC.
Her Moment (Seven Parts—Drama).

INTERSTATE FILM COMPANY.
The Last Raid of Zepplins L-21.

PROGRESSIVE FILM.
On a Fox Farm (One Part—Educational).

RANCHO SERIES.
(All Two-part Dramas.)
In the Shadow of the Rockies. Where the Sun Sets Red.

VICTORY FILM MFG. CO.
The Triumph of Venus (Five Parts—Drama).

Pathé Exchange, Inc.

RELEASES FOR WEEK OF JULY 21.
Cupid by Proxy (Baby Marie Osborne—Five Parts—Comedy—Drama—Diando).
The House of Hate (Episode No. 20, "Following Old Glory"—Two Parts—Drama—Astra).
Kicking the Germ Out of Germany (Harold Lloyd—One Reel—RKO).
Britain's Bulwarks (No. 11, "The Canadians on the Western Front"—One Reel—Government Official Pictures).
East Indians of Trinidad—British West Indies (One Reel—Educational—Post Film Company).
Allies' Official War Review No. 4 (One Reel—Topical).
Heart Paths News No. 60 (Topical).
Heart Paths News No. 61 (Topical).

RELEASES FOR WEEK OF JULY 28.
The First Law (Froes Castle—Five Parts—Comedy—Drama—Astra).
Beach Nuts (Toto—One Reel—Comedy—Rollin).
Britain's Bulwarks (No. 12, "The Canadians at Vimy Ridge"—One Reel—Government Official Pictures).
East Indians—British Guiana, South America (One Reel—Educational—Post Film Company).
Allies' Official War Review No. 5 (One Reel—Topical).
Heart Paths News No. 62 (Topical).
Heart Paths News No. 63 (Topical).

RELEASES FOR WEEK OF AUGUST 4.
Waltz (Gladdys Haucette—Five Parts—Comedy—Drama—Astra).
That's Him (Harold Lloyd—One Reel—Comedy—Rollin).
Venezuela (One Reel—Educational—Post Film Co. Official War Review No. 6 (One Reel—Topical).
Heart Paths News No. 64 (Topical).
Heart Paths News No. 65 (Topical).

RELEASES FOR WEEK OF AUGUST 11.
The Ghost of the Range (Bryant Washburn—Five Reels—Drama—Pathé).
Do Husband's Die (Toto—One Reel—Comedy—Rollin).
La Guisa to Caracas (One Reel—Educational—Pathé Official War Review No. 7 (Topical).
Heart Paths News No. 91 (Topical).
Heart Paths News No. 67 (Topical).

PARAMOUNT-PARK SEXTETT COMMEND.
June 3—Love Loops the Loop.
June 12—Two Toned Girls.
July 1—Her Screen Idol (Two Parts).
July 15—Ladies First.
July 20—Her Blighted Love.

PARAMOUNT-ARBUCKLE COMEDIES.
Mar. 15—The Will Boy.
April 12—Moonshine (Two Parts—Drama).
July S—Good Night Nurse.

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP.
Paramount Features.
June 23—A Desert Woolwich (Five Parts—Dr.
July 1—The Rake's Shadow (Dorothy Dalton—Five Parts—Drama).
July 1—Sandy (Jack Pickford—Five Parts—Drama).
July 8—The Claws of the Huo (Charles Ray—Five Parts—Drama).
July 13—The City of Dim Faces (Susie Hayward—Five Parts—Drama).
July 15—Uncle Tom's Cabin (Marguerite Clark—Five Parts—Drama).
July 22—The Yarn (Gold Rutledge—Five Parts—Drama).
July 29—Lose That Kid (Wallace Reid—Five Parts—Drama).
Aug. 5—A Nick of the Devil (Charles Ray—Five Parts—Drama).

ARTIFICIAL CATHEDRALS.
June 3—How Could You, Jean? (Five Parts—Drama).
July 8—Ships Are Trained (Wm. S. Hart—Five Parts—Drama).
July 8—We Can't Have Everything (C. B. De Mille—Five Parts—Drama).
July 22—The Great Love (Lilliola Gibbons—Five Parts—Drama).
July 29—The Danger Mark (Felix Ferguson—Five Parts—Drama).
Aug. 5—Bound to Marry (Marie D'Alma—Four Parts—Drama).

PARAMOUNT-HAY PICTURES.
June 7—Subjects on Reel: Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy No. 1: Drowning Ourselves—Advanced Age of Dermatology; Cartoons by Wallace Cartoons.
July 12—Subject on Reel: Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy No. 2: Instilling the Victory Army: In Nature's Gardens; Cartoons by Earl Hurd.
July 22—Subject on Reel: Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy No. 3: An African Game Hunt; Metus Analyzed—First of a series analyzing motion; Cartoons by Bray Studios.
July 29—Subjects on Reel: Why Haters "Fan Out"—Second in a series analyzing motion; Animated Technical Drawing by Dean Parallels.

PARAMOUNT-DRAWN COMICS.
June 7—Rotarius, the Yellowstone of the Antipodes in New Zealand (Eccles).
July 15—Among the Maoris of New Zealand (Eccles).
July 22—Wellingtom and the North Island of New Zealand (Eccles).
July 29—Down South in New Zealand.
Aug. 5—Who's Who in the Zoo (Eccles).

BENJAMIN CHAPLIN—PARAMOUNT SERIES.
"The Silent Symphony.
Apr. 5—The Slave Auction (Ninth Release—Two Parts).
Apr. 15—Under the Stars (Tenth Release—Two Parts).

Producers—Kindly furnish titles and dates of all new releases before Saturday.
It doesn't pay to make counterfeit Simplex parts

Reason No. 1
Unless they are very accurately made, and of the finest materials, they hurt the quality of the projection; and that's the very thing Exhibitors use the Simplex for.

Reason No. 2
To make Simplex parts as we make them, and as they ought to be made, requires an immense outlay for special machinery; and such an investment is not warranted because (a) the Simplex seldom needs repairs, and (b) mighty few Exhibitors could be inveigled into using counterfeits.

To the Wise, this reveals one of the strongest reasons for using the Simplex: the Machine that's so excellently built and that needs so little repairs that it doesn't pay to imitate even its smallest parts.

And Besides, this tells something of the character of the men who sell the Simplex, men who sell the acme of projection without the slightest hope of making a nice additional profit on repairs.

The character of Simplex Projectors, Parts, and Distributors can't be imitated.
List of Current Film Release Dates

ON UNIVERSAL, GOLDWYN, METRO AND TRIANGLE PROGRMS

Universal Film Mfg. Co.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Mutual Film Corp.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STRAIGHT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May 21—Lady Nointe (Comedy)—21-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May 28—Her Rustical Romeo—22-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 4—What the Bird Did—23-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 11—By Pawi Mase—24-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 15—Skeers of Blondes—25-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 23—Her Spoony Affair—26-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 2—Miss Turned (Billie Rhodes)—27-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 9—Her Disenagement Ring (Billie Rhodes—28-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 16—Like Mother Made (Billie Rhodes)—29-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 23—On Her Account (Billie Rhodes)—30-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aug. 6—What Will Father Say—32-CST-1.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MUTUAL STAR PRODUCTION.

June 10—A Square Deal (Five Parts)—Drama—21-PP-1. |
June 15—No Release This Week. |
June 24—Up Romance Road (Five Parts—Dr.)—22-PP-1. |

MUTUAL.

July 10—Screen Telegram (Topical)—38-T-1. |
July 14—Screen Telegram (Topical)—39-T-1. |
July 21—Screen Telegram (Topical)—41-T-1. |
July 24—Screen Telegram (Topical)—42-T-1. |
July 28—Screen Telegram (Topical)—43-T-1. |
Aug. 1—Screen Telegram (Topical)—44-T-1. |
Aug. 4—Screen Telegram (Topical)—45-T-1. |
Aug. 7—Screen Telegram (Topical)—46-T-1. |

OUTING-CHESTER PICTURES.

June 20—(‘Rita) (Drama)—30-CST-1. |
July 7—Kakeute—2-0-1. |
July 14—Magic Mirror—5-0-1. |
July 21—Zuni Kicking Races—4-0-1. |
July 25—A White Wilderness—5-0-1. |
Aug. 8—Back to the Women (The Orpico)—6-0-1. |
Aug. 11—A Dam Catastrophe—7-0-1. |

Goldwyn Distributing Corp.

GOLDWYN FEATURES.

June 2—All Woman (Mae Marsh—Six Parts—Drama)—21-CST-1. |
June 10—The Wrecked Model (Mabel Normand—Six Parts—Comedy—Drums). |
June 30—The Service Star (Mae Marsh—Six Parts—Drama). |
July 14—The Glorious Adventure (Mae Marsh—Five Parts—Drama). |
July 25—Back to the Women (Mabel Normand—Five Parts—Comedy—Drums). |

GOLDWYN SPECIALS.

Heart of the Snagget (Seven Parts—Drama). |
The Manx Man (Seven Parts—Drama). |
For the Freedom of the World (Seven Parts—Drums). |
Blue Blood (Six Parts—Drama). |
Honour’s Cross (Six Parts—Drama). |
Social Ambition (Six Parts—Drums). |

CAPITOL COMEDIES.

May 6—Bill’s Baby (Two Reels).” |
May 20—Bill’s (Two Reels).” |
June 3—Birds of a Feather (Two Reels).” |
June 19—The Millionaire (Two Reels).” |
July 1—Widow’s Might (Two Parts).” |
July 15—Bad’s Knockout (Two Parts).” |
July 29—A Up a Tree (Two Parts).” |
Aug. 12—Billy’s Fortune (Two Parts).” |

Metro Pictures Corporation.

METRO PICTURES CORP.

May 27—Lend Me Your Name (Yorke—Five Parts—Drama).” |
May 27—Pay Day (Five Parts—Drama).” |
June 5—The Only Road (Five Parts—Dr.).” |
June 10—Social Quickands (Five Parts—Drama).” |
June 17—The House of Gold (Five Parts—Dr.).” |
June 24—A Man Named W. (Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 1—Opportunity (Viola Dana—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 8—No Man’s Land (Bert Lytell—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 15—A Successful Adventure (May Allison—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 22—The Demon (Edith Storey—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 29—A Pair of Cupids (Francis X. Bushman—Five Parts—Drama).” |
Aug. 5—The House of Mirch (All-star cast—Five Parts—Drama).” |
Aug. 12—Flowers of the Dust (Viola Dana—Five Parts—Drama).” |
Aug. 19—Judgment of Anna Q. Nilsson—Five Parts—Drama).” |

SCREEN CLASSICS, INC., SPECIALS.

Lost We Forget (Eight Parts—Drama). |
My Own United States (Frohman Production—Eight Parts—Drama). |
The Million Dollar Dollies (Emerald Productions—Eight Parts—Drama). |
Toys of Fate (Seven Parts—Drama). |

Triangle Film Corporation.

Dates and Titles of Triangle Releases Subject to Change Without Notice.

TRIANGLE PRODUCTIONS.

July 7—A Good Loser (Peggy Peers—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 7—Everywoman’s Husband (Gloria Swanson—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 14—Marked Cards (Margery Wilson—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 14—He’s End (William Desmond—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 21—By Proxy (Roy Stewart—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 21—False (Alma Rubens—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 28—Golden Fleece (Joe Benett—Five Parts—Drama).” |
July 28—Beyond the Shadows (William Desmond—Five Parts—Drama).” |
Aug. 4—The Price of Applause (Jack Livingston—Five Parts—Drama).” |
Aug. 4—Alas Mary Brown (Pauline Starke—Five Parts—Drama).” |
Aug. 11—Cactus Chandali (Roy Stewart—Five Parts—Drama).” |
Aug. 25—Beyond the Shadows (William Desmond—Five Parts—Drama).” |

KEYSTONE COMEDY.

June 2—The Poor Fish (Two Parts).” |
June 5—Fliptraps (Two Parts).” |
June 15—Isn’t It Warm? (Two Parts).” |
June 16—Cupid and the Cop (Two Parts).” |
June 20—Pearls Without Price (Two Parts).” |

KEYSTONE COMEDY REISSUES.

July 21—Saved by Wireless (Chester Conklin).” |
July 28—He Did and He Didn’t (Arundale and Backus).” |
Aug. 4—Dizzy Heights and Darling Hearts (Backus).” |
Aug. 11—His Wild Oats (Ford Sterling).” |
Aug. 15—Fatty and Mabel Adrift (Arundale and Backus).” |
Aug. 25—The Other Man (Roscoe Arbuckle).”
Sure Fire Helps to Success

The CHALMERS PUBLISHING CO., publishers of the MOVING PICTURE WORLD and CINE MUNDIAL, the leading trade papers devoted to the Motion Picture Industry, are also publishers of the only library of practical text books dealing with the cinema art adapted to the every-day needs of those already engaged in the business or about to engage in it.

These text books, six in number, have been written by men carefully selected for their proven knowledge of the subjects to be covered, being almost without exception veteran members of the MOVING PICTURE WORLD's editorial staff; entirely without exception these men are at present actively engaged in the motion picture business—they are not dreamers or theorists.

Each text book has been written to provide real help to the individual who reads it—consistent with the unswerving policy of the MOVING PICTURE WORLD—a genuine "Dedication to Service."

Motion Picture Handbook
for Managers and Operators
By F. H. RICHARDSON
Third Edition

The most complete, exhaustive and instructive work ever published on the projection of moving pictures. Contains complete instruction with detail illustrations on all leading makes of American projection machines and practical information on wiring, lenses, carbon settings, screens, theatre equipment, etc., etc. 700 pages and over 300 illustrations, $4.00, postage paid.

Motion Picture Electricity
By J. H. HALLBERG
An up-to-date work on the electrical equipment of picture theatres by a practical electrical expert. Contains chapters on electricity, D.C. and A.C. current, resistance and resistance devices, electric service, wiring, lighting, etc. Also contains practical suggestions and all necessary reference tables on wire sizes and capacity, weights and measures, heat units, etc., etc. 250 pages, illustrated. $2.50, postage paid.

Technique of the Photoplay
By EPES WINTHROP SARGENT
Third Edition

Complete instruction in photoplay writing, including study of plots, how to obtain and how to develop; writing the synopsis; studio requirements; script preparation and marketing; technical terms; examples of actual scripts in facsimile typewriting, etc. 400 pages. $3.00, postage paid.

Picture Theatre Advertising
By EPES WINTHROP SARGENT
A real help and business builder for exhibitors, theatre managers and owners. It tells all about theatre advertising, type, printing and paper, house programs, lobby displays, newspaper advertising, posters, heralds, etc., etc. 300 pages. $2.00, postage paid. P. S.—Mr. Sargent conducts a weekly department in this same style in the Moving Picture World, which contains many up-to-date business-getting ideas.

Modern Theatre Construction
By EDWARD BERNARD KINSILA
Our newest book is one that will fill a long-felt want to those contemplating the building of a theatre. This is a very complete and exhaustive work by an architect with many years of practical experience in theatre and studio construction. Fully illustrated, with considerable data as to requirements, construction cost, building laws, etc. $3.00, postage paid.

Screencraft
or the Making of a Photoplay
By LOUIS REEVES HARRISON
A comprehensive and thought-provoking treatment of the subject in a series of chapters, similar to a university course of lectures, by a successful writer of photoplays. Also contains a complete working scenario and several sample pages of manuscript. 150 pages; illustrated. $2.00, postage paid.

Any of These Publications Sent Promptly Upon Application to Chalmers Publishing Co.

Publishers of the MOVING PICTURE WORLD
516 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY
Schiller Building Chicago, Ill. Wright & Callander Bldg. Los Angeles, Cal.
Order from Nearest Office
List of Current Film Release Dates

GREATERT VITAGRAPH PROGRAM, FEATURE AND STATE RIGHT RELEASES

Greater Vitagraph Inc.

VITAGRAPH FEATURES.

July 15—Love Watchers (Caroline Griffith—Five Parts—Drama).
July 22—To the Highest Bidder (Alice Joyce—Five Parts—Comedy).
Aug. 5—All Man (Harry Moyer—Five Parts—Drama).
Aug. 12—Wild Primrose (Glady's Leslie—Five Parts—Drama).

BIG COMEDIES.

July 1—Bonds and Banners.
July 8—Hindos and Hazards.
July 15—Skippers: Two Parts—Drama.
July 22—Bathing Beauties and Big Boobs.
July 29—Wounded Arts and Wedding Rings.
Aug. 5—Dances and Dangers.
Aug. 12—Shines and Monkey-shines.

DREW COMEDIES.

July 1—Cupid's Column.
July 8—Bohun's Baby.
July 15—The Honeymoon Baby.
July 22—The Cub and the Daisy Chain.
July 29—Their Agreement.
Aug. 5—Miss Steky-Moule-Kiss.
Aug. 12—Miss Varsity.

VITAGRAPH SERIAL.

"The Woman in the Web." July 8—Episode No. 14, "The Crash of Fate" (Two Parts—Drama).
July 15—Episode No. 15, "Out of the Web." (Two Parts—Drama).
July 22—Episode No. 16, "A Fight for Millions." (Two Parts—Drama).

AMERICAN STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CORP.

139 West Forty-sixth Street, New York City.

The Blacksmellers.

S. O. S.

His Vinegar Bath (Tom Brett Comedy).

Twin Bedrooms (Tom Brett Comedy).

Why Not Marry (Tom Brett Comedy).

BETZWOOD FILM COMPANY.

Betzwed, Pa.

Sandy Burke (Louis Benson).

When Enst Meets West (Lady Tien-Nel—Dr.).

BLUEBIRD PHOTOPHAYS, INC.

July 6—The Empty Cab (Harry Carey—Five Parts—Drama).

Winner Takes All (Monroe Salabury—Five Parts—Drama).

Seandal-O-Monger (Lois Weber—Five Parts—Drama)

The Dream Lady (Five Parts—Drama).

The Love Swindle (Five Parts—Drama)

CHRISTIE FILM CORPORATION.

"Los Angeles, Calif.

July 1—Lida.

July 8—Efficiency.

July 15—Just Like Dad.

July 22—This Way Out.

COMMONWEALTH PICTURES Corp.

(Releasing Sparsuk's Original "Yod-a-Vil"

June 3—First release.

July 17—Second release.

July 1—Third release.

July 15—Fourth release.

July 25—Fifth release.

EDUCATIONAL FILMS CORP.

The Following Are One Reel Scenes.

July 15—Mount Lassen in Action (Hammer).

July 22—The Rainbow Bridge (Newman).

Distant: "Living Book of Nature."

July 5—War Times at the Zoo (Half Reel).

July 17—Just Like Dad (Half Reel).

International Cartoon Comedies—Each Half Reel in Length.

July 1—Crabs in the Water (Kaiserjammer).

July 7—Picnic for Two (Kaiserjammer).

July 15—A Heaters Incident (Kaiserjammer).

FIRST NATIONAL EXHIBITORS' CIRCUIT.

Daughter of Destiny (Nina Patrova).

Edward Lewis' The Sign Invisible (Mitchell Lewis).

Herbert Brenon's Empty Pockets.

Herbert Brenon's Fall of the Romanoffs With Alimony (Josephine Whithel).

Perahing's Crusaders.

W. W. HODKINSON CORP.

Releasing Paralta Plays.

June 10—Patriciaists (Jessie Barwise—Five Parts—Drama).

June 24—One Dollar Bill (Warren Kergen—Five Parts—Drama).

July 27—Wedlock (Louise Clain—Five Parts—Drama).

July 31—A Storm at the House (Jessie Barwise—Five Parts—Drama).

JEWEL PRODUCTIONS, INC.

The Doctor and the Woman (Seven Parts—Dr.).

The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin.

A Souk for Sale (Dorothy Phillips—Five Parts—Drama).

The Geyser of Berlin (Century Production—Two Parts).

GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM.

(Montgomery Flagg One-Reel Comedies.

"Girls You Know"—Made by Edison.)

April 24—A Good Sport.

May 6—The starter.

May 22—The Spoiled Girl.

Eskeway (Broncho Billy Series).

June 28—Broncho Billy Wins Out.

July 5—Bronco Billy Trapped.

Hilato De Luxe Productions.

June—The Unachasted Woman (Seven Reels).

Edison.

The Unbeliever (Seven Reels).

SELECT PICTURES.

The Clav (Clara K. Young—Five Reels).

Cecilia of the Pink Roses (Marlon Davies—Five Reels).

Good Night, Paul (Constance Talmadge—Five Reels).

The Whirlpool (Alice Brady—Five Reels).

July—A Pair of Silk Stockings (Constance Talmadge—Five Reels—Drama).

July—The Savage Woman (Clara Kimball Young—Five Reels—Drama).

(Special Releases.)

The Barrier (Seven Parts—Drama).

The Wild Girl (Five Parts—Drama).

WILLIAM L. SHERRY SERVICE.

720 Seventh Ave., N. Y. City.

The Street of Seven Stars (Oris Kenyon—Six Parts—Drama—De Luxe).

A Romance of the Underworld (Keehey Production).

Marriage (Keeney Production).

WORLD PICTURES.

July 8—Tinsel (Kitty Gordon—Five Parts—Drama).

July 15—The Golden Wall (Carlyle Blackwell—Five Parts—Drama).

July 22—Joan of the Woods (Jane Elivgton—Five Parts—Drama).

July 29—Neighbors (Midge Evans—Five Parts—Drama).

Aug. 5—Honeymoon Durbar Castles (Five Parts—Drama).

Aug. 12—The Beloved Blackmail (Carlyle Blackwell—Five Parts—Drama).

WORLD COMEDY RELEASES.

May 27—Main 1-2-3 (Two Parts—Fay Tindar).

June 10—Fried (Two Parts—Marie Dressler).

June 25—Some Job (Fay Tindar—Two Parts).

July 8—Agnies of Azaya (Marie Dressler—Two Parts).

State Right Releases.

ADVANCED MOTION PICTURE CORP.

1493 Broadway, New York City.

The Eleventh Commandment (Drama).

ARROW FILM CORPORATION.

Times Building, New York.

The Struggle for Life (Harry Rap Productions).

The Accidental Husbandman (Harry Rap Productions).

The Million Dollar Mystery (Six Reels—Dr.).

The Fliper of Justice (Drama).

My Husband's Friend (Five Parts—Drama).

ATLANTIC DISTRIBUTING CO.

Times Building, New York City.

Nine-Ten (Five Parts—Drama).

The Devil's Playground (Seven Reels—Drama).

BEAR STATE FILM COMPANY.

220 S. State St., Chicago, Ill.

The Vigilantes (Drama).

Producers.— Kindly Furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.
If his advertisement appears regularly in

CINE-MUNDIAL

—then the export world knows he's an accredited film exporter

RICHARDSON'S
MOTION PICTURE
HAND BOOK
FOR MANAGERS and OPERATORS
Published by
THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD
A carefully prepared guide to perfect projection.

An invaluable help to every individual in the trade who has to do with the mechanical handling of motion picture film or the management of a moving picture theatre.

Over 680 Pages of Text. Illustrations include detail diagrams of the leading makes of projection machines.

Substantially Bound in Red Cloth, $4.00
Sent Postpaid on Receipt of Price by
MOVING PICTURE WORLD
516 Fifth Ave. 917 Schiller Bldg. Wright & Callender Bldg.
New York City Chicago, III. Los Angeles, Cal.

Improve Your Lobby RIGHT at Lowest Cost
FREE OFFER EXPLAINS ALL
WRITE FOR IT TODAY

A Fine Example of big display in small space—occupying no floor room. A M., R. & W. creation.

Our FREE PLAN for your Lobby Improvement shows you exactly what you can do for the amount you want to spend and opens the way for you to make your house front a business-getter. Our FREE offer means that FREE We will plan your improvements and send you sketch of them free.
Write now for full information in detail and FREE Advance Showing of Our Special Combination Sets of Lobby Display Frames and Wall Cases in Full Color. Places you under no obligation. Write today. A postcard will do.

Menger, Ring & Weinstein, Inc.
Manufacturers of Lobby Display Frames and Wall Cases
394 West 42nd Street New York City

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
List of Current Film Release Dates

- BERNARD H. BERNSTEIN.
  923 Longacre Building, New York City.
  The Lion of the Hills." (Wm. S. Hart—Drama.)

- COMMONWEALTH PICTURES CORP.
  Chicago, Ill.
  The Frozen War. (Drama.)

- CHESTER BEECHCROFT.
  501 Fifth Ave., N. Y. City.
  Reclamed.

- COSMOTOPHOTOFILM COMPANY, INC.
  220 West 42nd Street, New York City.
  The Hypocrites. 1 Belle Vue.

- CHEST PICTURES CORP.
  Times Building, New York.
  The Lust of the Age.
  A Grain of Dust.

- M. S. EPSTEIN.
  1416 Broadway, N. Y. C.
  The Depths of the Sea (In a Series of Four Parts—Educational.)

- FOURSQUARE PICTURES.
  729 Seventh Avenue, New York.
  The Eagle's Eye (Episode No. 10—"The Invasion of Canada")—Two Parts—Drama.
  The Sin Woman. Madame Sherri. The Submarine Eye. Should She Obey?

- FROHMANN AMUSEMENT CORPORATION.
  Times Building, New York.
  God's Man.

- GAUMONT CO.
  Flushing, L. I.
  Gaumont News—Released every Tuesday.
  Gaumont Graphic—Released every Friday.
  —The Hand of Vengeance."

-  Episode No. 1. "The Sign of the Bear." (Two Parts—Drama.)
  Episode No. 2. "Scheming for Millions." (Two Parts—Drama.)
  Episode No. 3. The Ambassador's Diamond Love and Lunch. (Two Parts—Drama.)
  Episode No. 4. "The Grey Lady." (Two Parts—Drama.)
  Episode No. 5. "The League of Silence." (Two Parts—Drama.)

- GENERAL ENTERPRISES, INC.
  Longacre Building, New York.
  Mother (Six Parts—Drama—McClure Pictures).
  The Warrior (Seven Parts—Drama—McClure Picture).
  The Lilt (Six Parts—Drama—General Enterprise Feature.)

- GRAPHIC FILM CORPORATION.
  720 Seventh Ave., N. Y. City.
  When Men Betray (Drama.)

- HILLER & WILK.
  Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman. (The Following Are Keystone-Mack Bennett Comedies.)

- Episode No. 1. "The Sign of the Star." (Two Parts—Drama.)
  Episode No. 2. "Narcissus." (Two Parts—Drama.)
  Episode No. 3. "The King, The Queen, and The Divorcee." (Two Parts—Drama.)

- ENTREPRENEUR PICTURES CORP.
  720 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.
  The Stolen Heart. (Wm. S. Hart—Drama.)

- JESTER COMEDY CO.
  220 West 42nd Street, New York. (Featuring Tuesdays.)

- March—His Golden Romance (Two Parts).
  April—All "For" Her (Two Parts).
  May—The Wrong Flat (Two Parts).
  This Is the Life (Two Parts)."

- KING BILLY FILMS CORP.
  729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.

- May 15—The Handy Man.  June 1—Bright and Early.  June 15—Straight and Narrow.

- OHIO PICTURES CORP.
  729 Seventh Avenue, New York.
  Who Knows? (Six Parts—Drama.)
  Loyalty (Drama.)

- PHYSICAL CULTURE PHOTO PLAYS, INC.
  113 West 40th Street, New York.
  Zongar (Drama.)

- PIEDMONT PICTURES CORPORATION.
  729 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. C.

- His Daughter Pays.

- PIioneer film corp.
  130 West 46th St., New York City.

- The Still Alarm (Sept Production).

- PYRAMID COMEDIES.
  220 West 42nd Street, New York.

- In and Out (Two Parts).  Love and Lunch (Two Parts).  Beach Birds (Two Parts).  Beauties and Blunders (Two Parts).

- BARRY ROVER.
  1402 Broadway, New York.

- The Hand of the Hun (Four Parts—Novelty).  The Master Crook.

- RENEWED PICTURES CORP.
  1200 Broadway, New York.

- The Public Defender.  20,000 Leagues Under the Sea.

- SHERMAN PRODUCTIONS.
  The Light of Western Stars.

- ERNST SHIppMAN.
  17 West 44th Street, New York City.

- The Curse of Eve (Six Part Drama).  Francis Ford Producing Company (Releasing Six Feature Pictures Per Year).

- Now Released, Via America (Six Reels).  In Preparation—A Man of Today (Six Reels).  To Follow—The Fourth Generation (Six Reels).

- The Coast Guard Patrol (By Neil Shipman—Seven Part Patriotic Drama).

- A Nugget in the Rough (Five Parts—Comedy—Drama).

- Trophy Girl (Five Parts—Drama).  The Tiger of the Sea (Seven Parts—Drama—by Neil Shipman).

- Bill Shepherd's Poems (A series of one reel patriotic comedy-dramas issued semi-monthly).

- S. & S. PHOTOPLAYS, INC.
  1476 Broadway, New York.

- Redemptors (Six Parts—Drama).

- STATE RIGHTS DISTRIBUTORS, INC.
  Carmen of the Klondike (Seven Parts—Drama).

- STERLING PICTURES CORPORATION.
  729 Seventh Avenue, New York City.

- Great Bradley Mystery (Five Parts—Drama).

- The Mystic Hour (Six Parts—Drama).

- When You and I Were Young (Five Parts—Drama).

- The Golden God (Five Parts—Drama).

- Peg of the Sea (Drama).

- (The Following Are Cartoon Comedies, Each 500 Feet In Length.)

- Mr. Coon.

- Mose is Cured.

- Zippy's Insurance.

- Zippy's Pets.

- The Unknown.

- TRIANGLE FILM CORP.
  1457 Broadway, New York City.

- The Servant in the House.

- The Stolen in the House.

- U. S. EXHIBITORS' BOOKING CO.
  Times Building, New York.

- The Belian.

- Those Who Pay.

- The Zepplin's Last Raid.

- Just a Woman (Steger Production).

- Men.

- The Crucible of Life.

- W. H. PRODUCTIONS.
  71 West 23rd Street, New York.

- (The Following Are Multiple Reel W. S. Hart Subjects, Released in Order Listed.)

- Mickey (Seven Parts).

- The Two-Gun Man in the Bargain (Six Parts—Drama).

- The Bandit and the Freecher (Five Parts—Drama).

- The Hell Hound of Alaska (Five Parts—Dr.).

- (The Following Are Two-Part Hart Productions. Released in Order Listed.)

- The Bad Man.

- The Pugitive.

- A Gentleman from Blue Gulch.

- The Silent Stranger.

- The Marked Deck.

- (The Following Are Mack Bennett-Keystone Comedies, Each Two Reels in Length.)

- A Desperate Scoundrel.

- Soaked and Scorned.

- A Farm Yard Romeo.

- The Hulis-Hula Dance.

- (The Following Are Bessie Boricavo Productions.

- Satan's Pawn.

- M. WEISSBERG.
  Wm. A. Brady Playhouse, 137 West 46th Street, New York City.
  Stolen Orders (Eight Reels—Drama).

Producers—Kindly Furnish Titles and Dates of All New Releases Before Saturday.
The sum total of your efforts is realized only when the DEVELOPER and PRINTER is equal to the task he undertakes.

EVANS' reputation for absolute perfection and reliability will prove the profitable service for you to connect with.

EVANS FILM MFG. CO., 416-24 West 216th St., New York City

Moving Picture Machine Patents My Specialty

PATENTS

WILLIAM N. MOORE

PATENT ATTORNEY

LOAN AND TRUST BUILDING

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The first important step is to learn whether you can obtain a patent. Please send sketch of your invention with $5.00 and I will examine the patent records and inform you whether you are entitled to a patent, the cost and manner of procedure.

Personal Attention Established 25 Years

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD

MINUSA

Gold Fibre Screens

The only screen built to the specifications of the theatre in which it is to be used.

You'd naturally expect the world's largest producers of Moving Picture Screens to construct the best screen. We do!

Write and let us tell you about Minusa screens and send you samples.

MINUSA CINÉ SCREEN CO.

Bamont & Morgan

St. Louis, Mo.

Printing, Developing, Toning, Tinting

Titles

Domestic Foreign

Empire City Film Laboratories, Inc.

345 West 40th Street

New York

The Essential Requirements FOR

Improved Projection ARE

SPEER CARBONS

Speer Alterno Combinations for A. C. Work

AND

Speer Hold-Ark Combinations for D. C. Work

Produce Incomparable Results.

Write today for descriptive folders.
Read the unbiased opinions of operators.

Place an order now with your Supply House.

"The Carbons with a Guarantee"

MANUFACTURED BY

SPEER CARBON COMPANY

ST. MARYS, PA.

Duhem Motion Picture Mfg. Co.

Camera Outfits and Raw Film Supplied

Camera Men Sent Anywhere

965 Market Street

San Francisco, Cal.

A Dependable Mailing List Service

Saves you from 30% to 50% in postage, etc. Reaches all or selected list of theatres in any territory. Includes name of exhibitor as well as the theatre in address. A list of public medium desiring motion picture news. Unaffiliated exchanges looking for features. Supply houses that are properly characterized as such. Producers with address of studios, laboratories and offices. Information in advance of theatres being or to be built.

W74

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY COMPANY

80 Fifth Avenue, New York

Addressing Multigraphing Printing Typewriting

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
The importance of safe-guarding a reputation is not under-estimated at the Eastman factories.

EASTMAN FILM

means a film that is absolutely dependable and uniform—rigid tests and careful inspection prevent its ever meaning anything else.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
Uncle Sam is Pleased with U. T. E. Service and Power's Cameragraph

The primary considerations with the War and Navy Departments in the projection of motion pictures are—SERVICE and EFFICIENCY.

It did not take Uncle Sam long to find out, through the efforts of the officers of the above departments, that the combination of the service rendered by United Theatre Equipment Corporation and the efficiency in projection produced by Power's Cameragraph establishes what is termed "PERFECT PROJECTION," with the highest degree of CONSERVATION in both man power and fuel, because U. T. E. service avoids delay and trouble and the Power's projector gives a picture of GREATER BRILLIANCE with LESS POWER applied at the arc than any other motion picture machine.

As a result, Uncle Sam is glad to place his orders with U. T. E., and the following letter is further proof of our DISCRIMINATION in selecting the HIGHEST CLASS machines and accessories for motion picture projection:

U. S. S. PENNSYLVANIA
July 15, 1918.
United Theatre Equipment Corp.
New York City, N. Y.
Dear Mr. Hornstein:-
The Power's 6-B machine, which was installed on board the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, as well as the Power's No. 6 Road Equipment, are doing wonderful work.
The boys are surely enjoying the pictures projected by these machines, and I wish to state that I have never operated any machines which worked so admirably as these two.
Projection is, beyond a doubt, as good as the finest in any of the largest theatres throughout the country.
These machines deserve much credit for the way in which they hold up after being subjected to concussion and vibration caused by heavy gun fire.
With the kindest regards of the writer, I am
Very truly yours,
(Signed) OLAN L. HAWK,
Motion Picture Operator.

WE ARE EXCLUSIVE DISTRIBUTORS FOR

POWER'S PROJECTORS—HALLBERG MOTOR GENERATORS—GARDINER VELVET GOLD FIBRE SCREEN—"FULCO" PRODUCTS—NATIONAL CARBONS—ACME PORTABLE PROJECTOR—EDISON MAZDA LAMPS—NOVELTY SLIDES AND M. P. SUPPLIES OF HIGH GRADE.

"EVERYTHING FOR THE M. P. THEATRE EXCEPT THE FILM"

United Theatre Equipment Corporation
Executive Offices: 1604 Broadway, New York
Largest Moving Picture Equipment House in the World Service That Serves
Is always accomplished through the use of Power's 6B Cameragraph

With it the Operator achieves complete and perfect expression of his art upon the screen. The Exhibitor's theatre acquires popularity through its perfect projection and the Audience becomes a loyal "booster" because it obtains value received—and more—for its outlay.

These three factors working together accomplish Success. This Universal Service is achieved by

"The Pioneer Projector Of The World"

Nicholas Power Company
Pioneers of Projection
90 Gold St., New York
This Is A Goldwyn Year

Exhibitors everywhere, feeling this, are signing up now for Goldwyn's powerful Star Series productions...
LONG after this war is over the people of your town and every other town will still remember this as the greatest crime of all history —will go to any lengths to see the world’s only reproduction of the atrocious sinking of the Lusitania. Give them the great, overwhelming picture now—the picture that will never have a competitor. Made from 25,000 drawings on gelatine by the famous artist, Winsor McCay requiring 22 months of work. The most dramatic, exciting, thrilling picture ever shown in your house. Use our Special Ads and Posters. Get the cream by booking it today.
COMING!
A Brand New
CHARLIE CHAPLIN
Comedy
"TRIPLE TROUBLE"
NOT a Reissue—NOT a Rehash
But a NEW Film
ESSANAY-CHAPLIN BRAND

To the Exhibitor:
In "Triple Trouble" we are offering you a NEW Charlie Chaplin picture in its entirety. Essanay made this picture with Chaplin when he was at the zenith of his laugh-making powers.

Realizing that the value of Chaplin films were steadily increasing, Essanay held this film in its vaults until the most opportune time for release, which we believe to be NOW.

There has been only one NEW Chaplin film in several months. The public is eager for new Chaplin comedies and will welcome "Triple Trouble" with open arms.

Yours truly,
Essanay Film Mfg. Company

[Signature]
President.

George Kleine System Distributors
HARRY CAREY is, beyond all question, the most human of Western character actors on the Screen today—which means that he is the most profitable for the Exhibitor. His latest production is "HELL BENT," directed by Jack Ford and rich with those inimitable effects which every one who knows HARRY CAREY will go miles to see.

HEN DOROTHY PHILLIPS' name goes up on your front your every patron knows that they'll see a real actress in real drama. "THE MORTGAGED WIFE" is a play with a punch—a UNIVERSAL SPECIAL ATTRACTION by reason of its tremendous intensity, sumptuous sets and the superb acting of one of the most popular figures in Pictures.

The reason why "SMASHING THROUGH," with Herbert Rawlinson, has made so much money for Exhibitors is simply because Star, Story and Staging are of the very highest type. This is a UNIVERSAL SPECIAL ATTRACTION of speed—action—power—and a love story of very much more than the usual appeal.

AE MURRAY has never, in all her career, had a finer vehicle for display of her unique talent than "THE BRIDE'S AWAKENING." Supporting cast, staging, direction—in this really sumptuous production have been carried out regardless of expense. But this is the only way in which a picture can become a UNIVERSAL SPECIAL ATTRACTION.

RISCELLA DEAN! A national favorite, starring in a Production whose wonderful double-exposure photography is one of the marvels of the Screen. See this amazing picture at your nearest Universal Exchange, and your admiration will be equally divided between Actress and Direction. Book "THE TWO-SOUL WOMAN" for something different.

FIRST IT WAS "SHOES"—then "Saving the Family Name"—then "The Mysterious Mrs. M."—then "Idle Wives"—now it's "THE MODEL'S CONFESSION." And Mary MacLaren was never more exquisite than in this Picture, on which money has been lavished without stint. UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO., Carl Laemmle, President, 1600 Broadway, New York.

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
Coming closer every minute!

"For Husbands Only"

Lois Weber's coming fascination for the whole family...

Mildred Harris of "The Price of a Good Time" & "The Doctor and the Woman"

In Answering Advertisements, Please Mention the MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
In the Newspapers

—big, dominating space in cities from Atlantic to Pacific. America is daily reading the Paramount and Arctraft message. Learning what to see—which stars and when and where. And finds it well worth while to look for the Paramount and Arctraft trademarks.

And Now on

At All The Leading

Paramount Motion

—comes a great big poster sheets, for Paramount and will be written big in
In the Magazines

—such as the Saturday Evening Post—full pages and double pages in rapid succession are giving the people no chance to forget what Paramount and Artcraft are doing for motion pictures—for the nation's entertainment—for the individual's diversion.

The Billboards!

Theatres, Everywhere.

and Artcraft Pictures campaign, nothing but 24 Artcraft—and the results box office receipts.

The Evidence of

THESE scenes from Geraldine Farrar's first Star Series Goldwyn production bring to exhibitors everywhere the good news they have wanted about this noted star.

A modern role, modern gowns, scenes and people of today. An emotional drama, a rushing, full-of-action, melodramatic love story for the most famous artist of the screen.

GERALDINE FARRAR in
The TURN OF THE WHEEL
by TEX CHARWATE Directed by REGINALD BARKER makes us, and will make every exhibitor happy, because now she has a wonderful "please-the-public production" that will do tremendous business wherever presented.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION
Samuel Goldfish President Edgar Selwyn Vice President
16 East 42nd Street New York City
Your Own Eyes!

GOLDWYN agrees with the exhibitors of America in the choice of Miss Farrar's future stories. We asked for and received exhibitor help and advice in selecting her material.

Goldwyn called upon and conferred with several hundred exhibitors in large and small cities to obtain in advance the stamp of box-office approval for her six coming productions.

The result of this co-operation between star, producer and exhibitor is dramatic and powerful productions created and made by three great specialist elements all working together in the joint cause of art and profit.

"The Turn of the Wheel" is, beyond question, a "big-money picture" for our exhibitor-customers. Released September 2.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION
Samuel Goldfish, President Edgar Selwyn, Vice President
16 East 42nd Street New York City
EXHIBITORS of America made Tom Moore a star. Goldwyn didn't do it. You forced us to take the step. Your public liked him. Your demand made us act.

"JUST FOR TONIGHT"

By Charles A. Logue
Directed by Charles Giblyn

launches him into national popularity under Goldwyn Star Series policy. You will find him tremendously successful "on his own" in productions of Goldwyn quality. Released September 16.

GOLDFYN PICTURES CORPORATION
Samuel Goldwyn, President
Edgar Selwyn, Vice-President
16 East 42nd Street New York City
26 Capitol Comedies: One Every Second Monday. Released exclusively through Goldwyn.

All the big theatres of the country that are careful and jealous about the quality of their programs and the comedies shown their audiences have booked, or are booking,

“SMILING BILL” PARSONS
in CAPITOL COMEDIES

2,000 exhibitors are playing them because they are the cleanest, fastest, comedies available in the entire market. You can book them independently of all other pictures at fair and equitable rentals.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

16 East 42nd Street  New York City
Tying in Texas to "Hodkinson Copartnership"

Texans are sturdy, keen, hard-headed business men. They "want to know" before giving their support to anything. Confidence, sincerity and principle appeal to them strongly.

These are some of the reasons why the "tying in" of Texas to the Hodkinson Co-Partnership Plan has gone ahead with such rapidity.

Texas is only one sample of what is happening throughout the Union. Every day sees the Hodkinson Co-Partnership Plan doing something—developing and growing.

New product, new representatives and new co-partners mark the mile stones of our progress.

List of Texas Hodkinson Co-Partners

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Company</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Dan. Pond &amp; Bicker</td>
<td>Waco</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. B. Hughes</td>
<td>San Antonio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>P. R. Martin</td>
<td>Tyler</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>R. C. Thompson</td>
<td>Laredo</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W. Livingston</td>
<td>Lubbock</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L. R. Jones</td>
<td>Corpus Christi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. W. Smith</td>
<td>Temple</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. B. Johnson</td>
<td>Big Spring</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. W. Wilson</td>
<td>San Antonio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. R. Brown</td>
<td>San Antonio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. W. Johnson</td>
<td>San Antonio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. W. Wilson</td>
<td>San Antonio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. R. Brown</td>
<td>San Antonio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J. W. Johnson</td>
<td>San Antonio</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

W.W. Hodkinson Corporation

527 Fifth Avenue • New York City

Hodkinson Service at All General Film Exchanges.
THIS is the second of our series of "Service Ads" Below is a suggestion for an attractive ad to the public for Kathleen Clifford in "Angel Child"

Miss Clifford’s beauty, her innate grace and charm of appearance constitute sales points that should be exploited with thoroughness. Her international vaudeville reputation is an asset also.

The treatment suggested below would be particularly acceptable for lobby display paintings and window cards as well.

We are ready to supply electros of the complete ad to exhibitors in any size and in all screens, depending upon whatever purpose they are intended for. See "Angel Child" press matter for further suggestions and ideas.

HODKINSON SERVICE

now consists of

Paragon Plays, Plaza Pictures, J. D. Hampton Productions, Douglas Natural Color Pictures

At all General Film Exchanges

W. W. Hodkinson Corporation • 527 Fifth Avenue
NEW YORK

Kathleen Clifford

Winsome, inimitable Kathleen Clifford, international vaudeville favorite, fairly sparkles her way through "ANGEL CHILD", a comedy of joyous childhood and its mischievous pranks that almost defeat the ends of justice.

Miss Clifford's character work as the Angel Child produces gales of laughter, while her ability to display wonderful garments with grace and charm arouses the keenest interest of all femininity.

See it on Monday and Tuesday.

PALL MALL THEATRE
J. WARREN KERRIGAN

in his fourth Paralta Play

“A Burglar for a Night”

by

F. McGREW WILLIS

Produced under the personal supervision of

ROBERT BRUNTON

Directed by Ernest Warde

in the role of Kirk Marden, J. Warren Kerrigan will be seen as the son of an American railroad magnate; the embodiment of the American spirit to fight for right—and fight fair. In the Orient he meets William Real and befriends him. Upon their return to America he learns that his father is about to be ruined by a business rival. How he steals not only the papers that had been obtained through intrigue, but also the heart of a beautiful girl, presents Mr. Kerrigan in one of the most virile roles that he has ever interpreted.

PARALTA PLAYS, Inc.

DISTRIBUTED THROUGH
“HODKINSON SERVICE”
AT ALL GENERAL FILM EXCHANGES
Attention... Exhibitors of America!

A Triumph Film:
American Red Cross Presents

The Historic Fourth of July
In Paris

Produced by the Bureau of Pictures of American Red Cross.
Booked for a Premiere at the Rivoli Theatre, New York.
Distributed for the American Red Cross by General Film Company.

The first parade of United States Heroes after their triumph on the Marne.
The first wounded American soldiers taking part in the joint celebration of two Republics.
The first view of the newly dedicated Avenue du President Wilson.
The first parade of American Red Cross Nurses back from the battle zone.

And Many Other Stirring Events

The length of this film is approximately 1000 feet. It may be booked at any General Film Company exchange. It is a sure fire attraction—appealing alike to the general public and the millions of devoted American Red Cross Members throughout the country.
Someth'n' about 'em, boys, that slips you the charm of the colorful West—zip full of humor, and drama enough to remind you of that difference between sayin' anything p'ison with a smile and jus' sayin' it!

A Two-Part WOLFVILLE TALE
Every Other Week, as an Alternating Release with One of the Famous O. HENRY Stories. Best Short-Length Features on the Screen Today.
SNAKEVILLE COMEDIES
FIT ALL PROGRAMS

Fifteen minutes of fun that will delight your patrons, especially during the hot weather period. Try one and you will book them all.

Twenty now ready - Ask for them!

BOOK ONLY THE GENUINE
CHARLIE CHAPLIN COMEDIES

The Films that Made Him Famous

One exhibitor writes: "I have booked several of these films as high as five times and filled my house always. Many have not seen them and those who have like them better each time."

WE RECOMMEND THIS LIST

"A Night Out"  "In the Park"  "The Champion"
"His New Job"  "A Woman"  "A Jitney Elopement"
"The Tramp"  "By the Sea"  "Work"
Not father and son, but YANKEE and HUN

LOCKED in a struggle to the death—the ex-Prussian guardsmen, the Kaiser’s spy, and his American-born son!

Physically disqualified, yet “doing his bit” for his country, the boy has unwittingly installed an explosive wire in the big munition factory. And at any moment the lights may be turned on!

The fight—the race against time—the failure of his weak heart—the explosion!

Too late—yet in defeat lies victory!

Under the stars he registers the vow of the loyal American citizen, to avenge—“with my life, if need be”—the wrongs that people of his blood have done.

And on the other side of the war-torn world, his comrades go “over the top” in the greater fight for democracy. The climax of Wyndham Gittens’ stirring six-reel production.

ME UND GOTT

ROMAYNE SUPERFILMS
LOS ANGELES

A DRAMA OF

The Awakening of America
ROLL OF HONOR
THE NAME OF EVERY THEATRE WHICH EXHIBITS
PERSHING’S CRUSADERS
THE FIRST U.S. OFFICIAL WAR FEATURE

will be published in this Roll and the United States Government Division of Films will present a handsome "Victory Screen Pledge" to its proprietors to be used for lobby display and as a memento of their patriotic action.

Names preceded by an asterisk (*) are the week's supply of newcomers on the Honor Roll.

If you have contracted for "Pershing's Crusaders," the name of your theatre positively will appear in this roll. It may be two, or even three weeks afterward, as it takes time to pass the contracts through various departments.

Colorado-N. Mex.—Utah—Wyo.

And All Counties In Idaho North of and Including Idaho County

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>City</th>
<th>State</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Majestic</td>
<td>Grand Junction, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ingram</td>
<td>Miss. Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Opera House</td>
<td>Telluride, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Empress</td>
<td>Laramie, Wyo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iris</td>
<td>Casper, Wyo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frederick</td>
<td>Frederick, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Isis</td>
<td>Longmont, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Rocky Ford, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Columbus</td>
<td>Columbus, N. Mex.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crystal</td>
<td>Cañiza, N. Mex.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thompson</td>
<td>Denver, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ogden</td>
<td>Denver, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Empress</td>
<td>Stratton, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Midway</td>
<td>Burlington, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Model</td>
<td>Louisville, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nelson Hall</td>
<td>N.woit, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hillyard Opera House</td>
<td>Southfield, Utah</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Vansburg, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Rock Springs, Wyo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Liberty</td>
<td>Parma, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arcade Photoplay</td>
<td>Gooding, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chrisman</td>
<td>Swedes, N. Mex.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess</td>
<td>Crested Butte, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gem</td>
<td>Yuma, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rex</td>
<td>St. Anthony, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Orpheum</td>
<td>Righby, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Opera House</td>
<td>Gilman, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bangh</td>
<td>Shoshone, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elite</td>
<td>Limon, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess</td>
<td>Flagler, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Isis</td>
<td>Preston, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Westward—Oregon—Alaska—Seattle

And All Counties In Idaho North of and Including Idaho County

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>City</th>
<th>State</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Isis</td>
<td>Salina, Utah</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>America</td>
<td>Denver, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burley</td>
<td>Burley, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Auditorium</td>
<td>American Falls, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paramount Empress</td>
<td>Bingham, Utah</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Coronado</td>
<td>Los Vegas, N. M.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pastime</td>
<td>Springer, N. M.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rex</td>
<td>Raton, N. Mex.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess</td>
<td>Deming, N. M.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>American</td>
<td>Salt Lake, Utah</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unique</td>
<td>Gunnison, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Columbia</td>
<td>Florence, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peoples</td>
<td>Wiley, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oil Shole</td>
<td>Grand Valley, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lover</td>
<td>Ft. Morgan, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Opera House</td>
<td>Mancos, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rialto</td>
<td>Jerome, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rex</td>
<td>Buhl, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gem</td>
<td>Somerset, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burns</td>
<td>Colo. Springs, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Universal</td>
<td>Holyoke, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emerson</td>
<td>Brush, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Pueblo, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Orpheum</td>
<td>Steamboat Springs, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wray</td>
<td>Wray, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyric or Empress</td>
<td>Ft. Collins, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iris</td>
<td>Boulder, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stirling</td>
<td>Greeley, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>West</td>
<td>Trinidad, Colo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Atlas</td>
<td>Cheyenne, Wyo.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ogden</td>
<td>Ogden, Idaho</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Seaside, Ore.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunset</td>
<td>Astoria, Ore.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Noble</td>
<td>Marshfield, Ore.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Liberty</td>
<td>Salem, Ore.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oregon</td>
<td>Eugene, Ore.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Empire</td>
<td>Anacortes, Wash.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Victory</td>
<td>Tacoma, Wash.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rialto</td>
<td>Bremerton, Wash.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Majestic</td>
<td>Corvallis, Ore.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Illinois

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>City</th>
<th>State</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Motion Picture</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Village</td>
<td>Willimette, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exchange</td>
<td>Wilmington, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Idle Hour</td>
<td>Canton, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strand</td>
<td>Farmingdale, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Royal</td>
<td>Minook, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Star</td>
<td>Ohio, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fox</td>
<td>Aurora, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monogram</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cozy</td>
<td>Durand, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyceum</td>
<td>Wyoming, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Idle Hour</td>
<td>Rossville, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Odd fellows</td>
<td>Mt. Olive, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess</td>
<td>Galva, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Star</td>
<td>Clinton, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gem</td>
<td>Keitthburg, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyric</td>
<td>Clinton, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alco</td>
<td>Olney, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Star</td>
<td>Lincoln, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lawford</td>
<td>Havannah, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minsdale</td>
<td>Minsdale, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Erber's</td>
<td>E. St. Louis, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Washington</td>
<td>Granite City, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Mattoon, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyric</td>
<td>Salem, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Irving</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Irving Pk. Blvd. &amp; Crawford</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Playhouse</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>Rockford, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hoyburn</td>
<td>Evanston, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Orpheum</td>
<td>Champaign, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oak Park</td>
<td>Oak Park, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crescent</td>
<td>Pontiac, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chateau</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B’way &amp; Grace St.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prolie</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>55th &amp; Ellis Ave.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Lakeside ............... Chicago, Ill.
4730 Sheridan Rd.
Kenwood .......... Chicago, Ill.
47th & Kimbch Ave.
Columbus ............. Chicago, Ill.
63rd & Ashland Ave.
Lexington .......... Chicago, Ill.
715 S. Crawford Ave.
Cosmopolitan ......... Chicago, Ill.
78th & Halsted
Peerless .............. Chicago, Ill.
3055 Grand Blvd.
Terminal ............ Chicago, Ill.
3308 Lawrence Ave.
Woodlawn .......... Chicago, Ill.
853 E. 63rd St.
Oakland Sq. ......... Chicago, Ill.
3947 Drexel Bldg.
Celo .......... Chicago, Ill.
7594 N. Clark St.
Lane Court .......... Chicago, Ill.
Centre & Lane Court
Adelphia ............ Chicago, Ill.
7070 N. Clark St.
Metropolitan ......... Chicago, Ill.
47th & Crawford
Milford ............. Chicago, Ill.
Milwaukee & Crawford
Aleazar ............. Chicago, Ill.
69 W. Madison St.
Casino .............. Chicago, Ill.
401 N. Clark
Crystal ........... Chicago, Ill.
2701 W. North St.
Garfield ............. Chicago, Ill.
2844 W. Madison St.
Plaisance ........... Chicago, Ill.
466 N. Parkside Ave.
Gaitety ............ Chicago, Ill.
8205 Commercial Ave.
Marlowe ............. Chicago, Ill.
62nd St. & Stewart Ave.
Schlinder ......... Chicago, Ill.
1005 W. Huron St.
Bryn Mawr .......... Chicago, Ill.
1125 Bryn Mawr Ave.
Linden ............. Chicago, Ill.
83rd & Halsted Sts.
Archer ............. Chicago, Ill.
35th & Archer Ave.
Ike ........ Chicago, Ill.
69th & Racine Sts.
Halffield ........ Chicago, Ill.
55th & Halsted Sts.
Boulevard ........ Chicago, Ill.
55th & Ashland Ave.
Vitagraph .......... Chicago, Ill.
3133 Lincoln Ave.
Biograph ........ Chicago, Ill.
2413 Lincoln Ave.
West End .......... Chicago, Ill.
121 N. Cicero Ave.
Paramount .......... Chicago, Ill.
2618 Milwaukee Ave.
Jackson Park ......... Chicago, Ill.
67th & Stony Island Ave.
Argmore .......... Chicago, Ill.
1040 Argyle Ave.

Knickbocker ........ Chicago, Ill.
6217 Broadway
Michigan .......... Chicago, Ill.
55th & Michigan Ave.
Covent Garden .... Chicago, Ill.
2653 N. Clark St.
Prairie .......... III.
Harrison ........ Chicago, Ill.
Opera House .... Dwight, Ill.
Opera House .... Polo, Ill.
Airadrome .......... Alton, Ill.
Villas .............. Chicago, Ill.
5603 W. 22d St.
Grand .............. Granite City, Ill.
Princess .......... Woodstock, Ill.
Motion Picture ... Chicago, Ill.
618 W. Chicago Ave.
Princess .......... Hoopetown, Ill.
Odd Fellows’ Temple .... Mt. Olive, Ill.
Sacred Heart Church ... Rutland, Ill.
Opera House .... Mt. Carroll, Ill.
Parkway ........ Chicago, Ill.
11065 N. Michigan
Idle Hour .......... Rossville, Ill.
Lyric ........ Casey, Ill.
Oakley .......... Chicago, Ill.
Iris ........ Chicago, Ill.
Plaisance .......... Chicago, Ill.
Paulina .......... Chicago, Ill.
Majestic .......... Streator, Ill.
Windsor Park .... Chicago, Ill.
Julian ........ Chicago, Ill.
Opera House .... Bankin, Ill.
Curtis ........ Downers Grove, Ill.
Brookfield .......... Brookfield, Ill.
Illinois .......... Clue Heights, Ill.
Minsdale .......... Minsdale, Ill.
Garden .......... Harvey, Ill.
Joliet ........ Joliet, Ill.
Hyde Park .......... Chicago, Ill.
Rogers ........ Chicago, Ill.
Buggs ........ Chicago, Ill.
American .......... Chicago, Ill.
Empress .......... Decatur, Ill.
Bijou ........ Carrollton, Ill.
Ameriess .......... Chicago, Ill.
New Apollo .......... Chicago, Ill.
California .... Chicago, Ill.
Park Manor .... Chicago, Ill.
De Lute ........ Lake Forest, Ill.
Marquette .... La Salle, Ill.
Orpheum .......... Ottawa, Ill.
